35 But in every nation hee that o feareth him, and worketh righteouſneſſe, is accepted with him.

36 Ye p knowe the word which God hath ſent to the children of Iſrael, preaching peace by Ieſus Chriſt, which is Lord of all :

37 7 Even the worde which came through all Iudea, ✣ beginning in Galile, after the Baptiſme which Iohn preached :

38 Tovvit, how God q anointed Ieſus of Nazareth with the holy Ghoſt, and with power : who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the devill : for God was with him.

39 And we are witneſſes of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hieruſalem, whome they ſlew, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raiſed up the third day, and cauſed that he was ſhewed openly :

41 Not to all the people, but unto the witneſſes r choſen before of God, even to us which did eat and drinke with him, after he aroſe from the dead.

42 And hee commanded us to preach unto the people, and to teſtifie, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead.

43 To him alſo give all the *Prophets witnes, that through his Name al that beleeve in him, ſhall receive remiſſion of ſinnes.

44 8 While Peter yet ſpake theſe wordes, the holy Ghoſt fell on all them which heard the word.

45 So they of the circumciſion, which beleeved, were aſtonied, as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentiles alſo was powred out the gift of the holy Ghoſt.

46 For they heard them ſpeake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then anſwered Peter, 47 9 Can any man forbidde water, that theſe ſhould not be baptized, which have receiued the holy Ghoſt, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarie certaine dayes.

o By the feare of God, the Hebrewes vnderſtand the whole ſervice of God : whereby we perceive that Cornelius was not void of faith, no more then they were which lived before Chriſts time : and therefore they deale fooliſhly, which build preparative workes & free will upon this place.

p God gave the Iſraelites to vnderſtand, that whoſoever liveth godly, is acceptable to God, of what nation ſoever he be, ſo hee preached peace to men through Ieſus Chriſt, who is Lord not of one nation only, that is of the Iewes, but of all.

7 The ſumme of the Goſpell (which ſhall be made manifeſt at the latter day when Chriſt himſelfe ſhall ſit as iudge both of the quicke and dead) is this, that Chriſt promiſed to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mightie power of God, (which was by all meanes ſhewed) and at length crucified to reconcile us to God, did riſe againe the third day, that whoſoever beleeveth in him ſhould be ſaved through the remiſſion of ſinnes. ✣ Luke 4.14.

q This ſtile is taken from an olde cuſtome of the Iewes, who vſed to anoint their Kings and Prieſtes, whereupon it grew to call them anointed, upon whome God beſtowed giftes & vertues.

r This chuſing of the Apoſtles is properly given to God: for though God be preſident in the lawfull election of miniſters, yet there is in this place a ſecret oppoſition and ſetting of Gods chuſing, and mens voices the one againſt the other, for the Apoſtles are immediatly appointed of God, and the Church Miniſters by meanes. ✣ Iere. 31, 34. Amica. 7, 18. chap. 15 8.

8 The Spirite of God ſealeth that in the heart of the hearers, which the miniſter of the word ſpeaketh by the commandement of God, as it appeareth by the effects.

9 Baptiſme doth not ſanctifie or make them holy which receive it, but ſealeth up and confirmeth their ſanctification.

CHAP. XI.

1 Peter being accuſed for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth himſelfe. 22 Barnabas is ſent to Antiochia, 26 where the diſciples are called Chriſtians : 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Peter being without cauſe reprehended of the unskilfull, and ignorant, doth not obiect that hee ought not to be iudged of any, but openly giveth an account of his doing.

NOw 1 the Apoſtles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had alſo receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come up to Hieruſalem, they of the circumciſion contended againſt him,

3 Saying, Thou wenteſt in to men uncircumciſed, and haſt eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, ſaying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I ſawe this viſion, A certaine veſſell comming downe as it had beene a great ſheete, let downe from heaven by the foure corners, and it came to me.

6 Towarde the which when I had faſtened mine eyes, I conſidered, and ſaw foure footed beaſts of the earth, and wild beaſts, and creeping things, and foules of the heaven.

7 Alſo I heard a voice, ſaying unto me, Ariſe, Peter : ſlay and eate.

8 And I ſaid, God forbid, Lord, for nothing polluted or uncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voice anſwered me the ſecond time from heaven, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three dayes, and all were taken up againe into heaven.

11 Then beholde, immediatly there were three men alreadie come unto the houſe where I was, ſent from Ceſarea unto me.

12 And the Spirit ſaid unto me, that I ſhould go with them, without doubting : moreover, theſe ſixe brethren came with me, and wee entred into the mans houſe.

13 And he ſhewed us, how he had ſeene an Angel in his houſe, which ſtood and ſaid to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſurname is Peter.

14 He ſhall ſpeake wordes unto thee, whereby both thou and thine houſe ſhall be ſaved.

15 And as I began to ſpeake, the holy Ghoſt fell on them, ✣ even as upon us at the beginning.

16 Then I remembred the word of the Lord, how hee ſaid, ✣ Iohn baptized with water, but yee ſhalbe baptized with the holy Ghoſt.

17 For as much then as God gave them a like gift, as he did unto us, when wee beleeved in the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, who was I, that I could let God?

18 2 When they heard theſe things, they helde their peace, and glorified God, ſaying, Then hath God alſo to the Gentiles graunted repentance unto life.

19 ¶ 3 And they which were * ſcattered abroad becauſe of the affliction that aroſe about Steven, went throughout tiſl they came unto Phenice, and Cyprus, and a Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but unto the Iewes onely.

20 4 Now ſome of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, ſpake unto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Ieſus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, ſo that a great number beleeved and turned unto the Lord.

22 5 Then tidings of thoſe things came unto the eares of the Church, which was in Hieruſalem, and they ſent foorth Barnabas, that he ſhould goe unto Antiochia.

23 Who when hee was come and had ſeene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpoſe of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and faith and much people ioyned themſelves unto the Lord.

25 ¶ 6 Then departed Barnabas to Tarſus to ſeeke Saul :

26 And when hee had found him, hee brought him unto Antiochia : and it came to paſſe that a whole yere they were converſant with the Church, and taught much people, inſomuch that the diſciples were firſt called Chriſtians in Antiochia.

a He ſpeaketh of Antiochia which was in Syria and bordered upon Cilicia.

4 The Church of Antioch, the new Hieruſalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

5 The Apoſtles doe not raſhly condemne of the extraordinarie vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

99 There was no contention amongſt the Apoſtles either of vſurping, or of holding places and degrees.

7 God doth so wrap up his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he sendeth upon the earth, that notwithstanding he provideth for it conveniently.
8 All Congregations or Churches make one bodie.
b That is, that thereof the Deacons might succour the poore: for it behooved to have all these things done orderly, and decently, and therefore it is sayd, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the governours of the Church.

27 7 In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem unto Antiochia.

28 And there stood up out of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe under Claudius Cesar.

29 8 Then the disciples every man according to his abilitie, purposed to send b succour unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea.

30 Which thing they also did and sent it to the Elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

a Herod killeth Iames with the sword. 4 And imprisoneth Peter, 8 whome the Angell delivereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himselfe, 23 he is eaten with wormes, and so dyeth.

1 God giveth his Church a truce, but for a lute time.
a This name Herod was common to all them that came of the Rocke of Herod Ascalonites, whose surname was Magnus: but hee that is spoken of here, was nephew to Herod the great sonne to Aristobulus, and father to that Agrippa who is spoken of afterward.
b Violently, his cause being not once heard.
a It is an old fashion of tyrants to procure the favour of the wicked, with the blood of the godly.
3 The tyrants and wicked make a galous for themselves even then when they doe most according to their owne will and fantasie.

d Or of he place where they were assembled but not out of the house.

1 NOw a about that time, a Herod the king stretched foorth his hand to vexe certaine of the Church,

2 And he b killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 a And when he saw that it pleased the Iewes, hee proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of unleavened bread.)

4 3 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to foure quaternions of souldiours to be kept, intending after the Passeover to bring him foorth to the people.

5 4 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church unto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him out unto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiours, bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 ✣ And behold, the Angell of the Lord came upon them, and a light shined in the c house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise quickely. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel said unto him, Gird thy selfe, and bind on thy sandales. And so he did. Then hee said unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knewe not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came unto the yron gate that leadeth unto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one street, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 5 And as he considered the thing, hee came to the house of Mary, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 6 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide d came foorth to hearken, named Rhode,

14 But when she knew Peters voice, shee opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they said unto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonied.

17 7 And he beckened unto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And hee said, Goe shew these things unto Iames and to the brethren: and hee departed and went into an other place.

18 ¶ 8 Now assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiours, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, hee examined the keepers, & commanded them to be led to be punished. And hee went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there aboade.

20 9 Then Herod was angrie with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accorde unto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, & they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land.

21 And upon a day appointed, Herod arayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sate on the iudgement seat, and made an oration unto them.

22 10 And the people gave a shoute, saying, The voice of God, and not of man.

23 11 But immediatly the Angell of the Lord smote him, because he e gave not glorie unto God, so that hee was eaten of wormes, and gave up the ghost.

24 12 And the f word of God grew and multiplyed.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, & tooke with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

7 We may sometimes give place to the rage of the wicked, but yet so that our diligence which ought to be used in Gods businesse, be not a whit slackened.
8 Evill counsell falleth out in the end to the hurt of the devisers of it.
9 A miserable and shamefull example of the end of the enemies of the Church.
10 The flatterie of the people, maketh fooles faine.
11 God resisteth the proud.
e Iosephus recordeth, that this king did not represse those flatterers tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cryed out of their vanitie.

3 2 Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them goe.

false Prophet, being a Iew, named Barieſus,

7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called unto him Barnabas and Saul, and deſired to heare the word of God.

8 4 But Elimas the ſorcerer, (for ſo is his name by interpretation) withſtood them, and ſought to turne away the Deputie from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which alſo is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghoſt, ſet his eyes on him,

10 5 And ſayd, O full of all ſubtilty and all e miſchiefe, the child of the devill, and enemie of all righteouſnes, wilt thou not ceaſe to pervert the ſtraight wayes of the Lord?

11 Now therefore behold, the f hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou ſhalt be blind, and not ſee the ſunne for a ſeaſon. And immediatly there fell on him a miſt and a darkenes, and he went about, ſeeking ſome to leade him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie when hee ſaw what was done, beleeved, and was aſtonied at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 6 Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by ſhippe from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of g Piſidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and ſate downe.

15 7 And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue ſent unto them, ſaying, Ye men and brethren, if ye h have any word of exhortation for the people, ſay on.

16 8 Then Paul ſtood up and beckened with the hand, and ſayd, Men of Iſrael, and ye that feare God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Iſrael choſe our fathers, and i exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of ✠ Egypt, and with an ✠ k high arme brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time * of forty yeeres, ſuffred hee their maners in the wilderneſſe.

19 And he deſtroyed ſeven nations in the land of Chanaan, & * divided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward he gave unto them ✠ Iudges about l foure hundreth and fiftie yeeres, unto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they deſired a * King, and God gave unto them ✣ Saul, the ſonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Beniamin, by the ſpace of m fourtie yeeres.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raiſed up ✠ David to be their King, of whom hee witneſſed, ſaying, I have found David the ſonne of Ieſſe, a man after mine owne heart, which will doe all things that I will.

23 9 Of this mans ſeede hath God * according to his promiſe raiſed up to Iſrael, the Saviour Ieſus:

24 When * Iohn had firſt preached n before his comming the baptiſme of repentance to all the people of Iſrael.

25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his courſe, he ſaid, ✣ Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not he: but behold, there commeth one after mee, whoſe ſhooe of his feete I am not worthy to looſe.

26 10 Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whoſoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this ſalvation ſent.

27 11 For the inhabitants of Hieruſalem and their rulers, becauſe they knew him not, nor yet the wordes of the Prophets, which are read every Sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cauſe of death in him, ✠ yet deſired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him downe from the tree, and put him in a ſepulchre:

30 12 But God * raiſed him up from the dead.

31 And he was ſeene many daies of them, which came up with him from Galile to Hieruſalem, which are his witneſſes unto the people.

32 And we declare unto you, that touching the promiſe made unto the fathers,

33 God hath fulfilled it unto us their children, in that he o raiſed up Ieſus * 13 even as it is written in the ſecond Pſalme, ✣ Thou art my Sonne: this day have I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that hee raiſed him up from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, hee hath ſaide thus, ✧ I will give you the holy things of David, p which are faithfull.

35 14 Wherefore hee ſaieth alſo in another place, * Thou wilt not ſuffer thine holy one to ſee corruption.

36 Howbeit, David after hee had ſerved his time by the counſell of God, hee ✣ ſlept, and was laid with his fathers, and ſaw corruption.

37 But hee whom God raiſed up, ſaw no corruption.

38 15 Be it knowen unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveneſſe of ſinnes.

39 And from q all things, from which ye could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes, by him everie one that beleeveth, is juſtified.

40 16 Beware therefore leaſt that come upon you, which is ſpoken of in the Prophets.

41 ✣ Beholde, yee deſpiſers, and wonder, and vaniſh away: for I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which yee ſhall not beleeve, if a man would declare it you.

42 ¶ 17 And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles beſought, that they would preach theſe wordes to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was diſſolved, many of the Iewes and r Proſelytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which ſpake unto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almoſt the whole citie together, to heare the word of God.

45 18 But when the Iewes ſaw the people, they were full of envie, and ſpake againſt thoſe things, which were ſpoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.

46 16 Then Paul and Barnabas ſpake boldly, and ſayd, It was neceſſary that the word of God ſhould firſt have bene ſpoken unto you: but ſeeing yee put it from you, and iudge your ſelves unworthy of everlaſting life, loe, we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For ſo hath the Lord commanded us, ſaying, ✠ I have made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou ſhouldeſt be the ſalvation unto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were t ordained unto eternall life, beleeved.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was publiſhed thorowout the whole countrey.

50 20 But the Iewes ſtirred certaine u devoute and honourable women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raiſed perſecution againſt Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coaſts.

51 21 But they ✠ ſhooke off the duſt of their feete againſt them, and came unto Iconium.

52 And the diſciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghoſt.

18 The ſavour of one ſelf-ſame Goſpel is unto the reprobate and vnbeleevers, death, and to the elect and ſuch as beleeve life.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are perſecuted at Iconium: 6 At Lyſtra Paul 10 healeth a creeple. 13 They are about to doe ſacrifice unto them, 13 but they forbid it. 19 Paul by the perſwaſion of certaine Iewes, is ſtoned: 23 From thence paſſing thorow divers Churches, 26 they returne to Antiochia.

1 AND it came to paſſe in a Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and ſo ſpake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleeved.

2 And the b unbeleeving Iewes ſtirred up, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles againſt the brethren.

3 2 So therefore they abode there a long time, and ſpake boldly in the Lord, which gave teſtimony unto the word of his grace, and cauſed ſignes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was divided: and ſome were with the Iewes, and ſome with the Apoſtles.

5 And when there was an aſſault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with the rulers, to doe them violence, and to ſtone them,

6 They were ware of it, and c fled unto Lyſtra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and unto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Goſpel.

8 ✠ 3 Now there ſate a certaine man at Lyſtra, impotent in his feete, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had never walked.

9 He heard Paul ſpeake: who beholding him and perceiving that he had faith to be healed,

10 Saide with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feete. And he leaped up, and walked.

11 Then when the people ſaw what Paul had done, they lift up their voices, ſaying in the ſpeach of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to us in the likeneſſe of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter, and Paul Mercurius, becauſe he was the chiefe ſpeaker.

13 Then Iupiters Prieſt, which was before their citie, brought buls with garlands unto the d gates, and would have ſacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apoſtles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their cloathes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 4 And ſaying, O men, why doe yee theſe things? We are even men ſubiect to the e like paſſions that ye be, and preach unto you, that yee ſhould turne from theſe f vaine things unto the living God, ✠ which made heaven and earth, and the ſea, and all things that in them are:

16 5 Who in times paſt ✠ g ſuffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.

17 Nevertheleſſe, he left not himſelfe without witnes, in that he did good and gave us raine from heaven, and fruitfull ſeaſons, filling our hearts with food, and gladneſſe.

18 And ſpeaking theſe things, ſcarſe appeaſed they the multitude, that they had not ſacrificed unto them.

19 6 Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perſwaded the people, * ſtoned Paul, and drewe him out of the citie, ſuppoſing he had beene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the diſciples ſtood round about him, hee aroſe up, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 7 And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Goſpell to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lyſtra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia,

22 8 Confirming the diſciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that wee muſt through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 9 And when they had ordained them Elders by election in everie Church, and prayed, and faſted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleeved.

24 10 Thus they went throughout Piſidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the worde in Perga, they came downe to h Attalia,

26 And thence ſailed to i Antiochia, * from whence they had bene commended unto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearſed all the things that God had done by them, and how hee had opened the doore of faith unto the Gentiles.

28 So there they aboade a long time with the diſciples.

CHAP. XV.

1 Certaine goe about to bring in circumciſion at Antiochia: 6 About which matter the Apoſtle conſult: 19 and what muſt be done, 23 they declare by letters. 36 Paul and Barnabas 39 are at great variance.

Then

THen 1 came downe a certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, yee cannot be saved.

2 2 And when there was great dissention, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeined that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe up to Hierusalem unto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus b being brought foorth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy unto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were received of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleeve, rose up, saying that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the Law of Moses.

6 3 Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose up, and sayd unto them, ✠ 4 Yee men and brethren, ye know that c God while agoe, among us God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleeve.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giving unto them the holy Ghost, even as he did unto us.

9 And he put no d difference betweene us and them, after that ✠ e by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 5 Now therefore, why f tempt ye God, to * lay a yoke on the disciples necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleeve, through the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be saved, even as they doe.

12 6 Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, g Iames answered, saying, Men, and brethren, hearken unto me.

14 7 Simeon hath declared, how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people unto his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 * After this I will returne, and will builde againe the Tabernacle of David, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it up.

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my Name is called, sayeth the Lord, which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the worlde, God h knoweth all his workes.

19 8 Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

20 But that we send unto them, that they abstaine themselves from i filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of olde time hath in every citie them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day.

22 9 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren,

23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, & the Elders, and the brethren, Unto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 10 Forasmuch as we have heard, that certaine which k went out from us, have troubled you with words, and l combred your mindes, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe the Law: to whom we gave no such commandement.

25 It seemed therefore good to us, when wee were come together with one accord, to sent chosen men unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul.

26 Men that have m given up their lives for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.

27 We have therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tell you the same things by mouth.

28 11 For it seemed good to the n holy Ghost, and o to us, to lay no more burden upon you, then these p necessarie things.

29 12 That is, that ye abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selves, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 13 Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they delivered the Epistle, 31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in q peace of the brethren unto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other the word of the Lord.

36 q 14 But after certaine dayes, Paul sayd unto Barnabas, Let us returne and visite our brethren in every citie, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they doe.

1 The Church is at length troubled with dissention within it selfe, and the trouble riseth of the proud and stubburne wittes of certaine evill men. The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saved by his owne righteousnesse apprehended by faith, or we have neede also to observe the Law.

2 Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppresse heresies, whereunto certaine were sent by common consent in the name of all.

b Courteously and lovingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certaine appointed by the Church.

3 The matter is first handled both parts being heard in the assemblie of the Apostles and ancients, and after is communicated with the people.

✠ Chap. 10, 20. and 11, 13.

4 God himselfe in calling of the Gentiles which are uncircumcised, did teach that our salvation doth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Law.

c Word for word, of old time, that is, even from the first time that we were commanded to preach the Gospel, and straightwayes after that the holy Ghost came downe upon us.

d He put no difference betweene us and them, as touching the benefite of his free favour.

e Christ pronounceth them Blessed, which are pure of heart: and here we are plainely taught that men are made such by faith.

5 Peter passing from the Ceremonies to the Lawe it selfe in generall, sheweth that none could be saved, if salvation were to be fought for by the Lawe, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ, because that no man could ever fulfill the Lawe, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle.

f Why tempt ye God, as though hee could not save by faith? * Matth. 23, 4. — 6 A true paterne of a lawfull Councill, were Gods trueth onely reigneth.

g The sonne of Alpheus, who is called the Lords brother. 7 Iames confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the worde of God, therein agreeing to Peter.

✠ Amos 9, 11. h And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.

8 In matters indifferent we may so farre beare with the weakenesse of our brethren, as they may have time to be instructed.

i From sacrifices or from fleshe which were kept in idoles Temples.

9 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and chosen Iudges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannically or upon a Lordlines, neither doth the common multitude set themselves tumultuously against them, which sit as Iudges by the worde of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which have bene so determined and agreed upon.

10 The Councill of Hierusalem concludeth, that they trouble mens consciences, which teach us to seeke salvation in any other meanes then in Christ onely, apprehended by faith, from whence soever they come, and whomsoever they pretend to be authour of their vocation.

l A borrowed kind of speach taken of them which pull downe that that was build up: and it is a very usuall metaphore in the Scriptures: to say the Church is built, for, the Church is planted and stablished.

m Have greatly hazarded their lives.

11 That is, a lawfull Councill, which the holy Ghost ruleth.

n First they make mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seeme to be any mans worke. o Not that men have any authoritie of themselves, but to serve the faithfulnes that they used in their ministerie and labour. p That was no great necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Iewes might more peaceably live together with lesse occasion of quarell. 12 Charitie is requisite even in things indifferent. 13 It is requisite for all people to knowe certainely what to holde in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend upon the pleasure of a few.

q This is an Hebrew kinde of speach, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leave. 14 Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, unlesse they be diligently feene unto, and therefore wesee these Apostles to overlooke such as they had planted, and for this cause also Synodes were instituted and appointed.

37 15 And

15 A lamentable example of diſcord betweene excellent men and very great friends, yet not for prophane or their private affaires, neither yet for doctrine.
16 God vſeth the faultes of his ſeruants to the profite and building of his Church, yet we have to take heed, even in the beſt matters that wee paſſe not meaſure in our heate.

37 15 And Barnabas counſelled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.

38 And Paul thought it not meete to take him unto their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 19 Then where they ſo ſtirred, that they departed aſunder one from the other, ſo that Barnabas tooke Marke, and ſailed unto Cyprus.

40 And Paul choſe Sylas and departed, being commended of the brethren unto the grace of God.

41 And hee went through Syria and Cilicia, ſtabliſhing the Churches.

15 They were in great heate: but herein we habe to conſider the force of Gods counſell: for by this meanes it came to paſſe, that the doctrine of the Goſpel was exerciſed in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul having circumciſed Timotheus, 12 being at Philippi. 14 inſtructed Lydia in the faith. 16 The ſpirit of divination, 18 is by him caſt out: 20 and for that cauſe 22 they are whipped, 24 and impriſoned, 26 Through an earthquake, 27 the priſon doores are opened. 31,32 The Gaoler receiveth the faith.

THen 1 came he to Derbe and to Lyſtra: and beholde, a certaine diſciple was there, named ✠ Timotheus, a womans ſonne, which was a a Iewеſſe and beleeved, but his father was a Grecian,

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lyſtra and Iconium, b reported well.

3 2 Therefore Paul would that hee ſhould goe forth with him, and tooke and circumciſed him, becauſe of § Iewes, which were in thoſe quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Grecian.

4 3 And as they went through the cities, they delivered them c the decrees to keep, ordeined of the Apoſtles and Elders which were at Hieruſalem.

5 And ſo were the Churches ſtabliſhed in the faith, and increaſed in number dayly.

6 ¶ 4 Nowe when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were d forbidden of the holy Ghoſt, to preach the word in Aſia.

7 Then came they to Myſia, and ſought to goe into Bythinia: But the Spirit ſuffered them not.

8 Therefore they paſſed through Myſia, and came downe to Troas.

9 5 Where a viſion appeared to Paul in the night. There ſtood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, ſaying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe us.

10 6 And after he had ſeene the viſion, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being aſſured that the Lord had called us to preach the Goſpel unto them,

11 Then went wee forth from Troas, and with a ſtreight courſe came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis.

12 § And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the parts of Macedonia, and whoſe inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 7 And on the Sabbath day we went out of the citie, beſides a river, where they were wont to c pray: and wee ſate downe, and ſpake unto the women, which were come together.

14 8 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a ſeller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worſhipped God, heard us: whoſe heart the Lord opened, that ſhee attended unto the things, which Paul ſpake.

15 9 And when ſhee was baptized, and her houſhold, ſhee beſought us, ſaying, If ye have iudged me to be faithfull to the Lord, come into mine houſe, and abide there: and ſhe conſtrained us.

16 10 And it came to paſſe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maid having a ſpirit f of divination, met us, which gate her maſters much vantage with divining.

17 Shee followed Paul and us, and cried, ſaying, Theſe men are the ſervants of the moſt high God, which ſhew unto you the way of ſalvation.

18 And this did ſhee g many dayes: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and ſaid to the ſpirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Ieſus Chriſt, that thou come out of her. And he came out the ſame houre.

19 11 Now when her maſters ſaw that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the market place unto the Magiſtrates.

20 12 And brought them to the governours, ſaying, Theſe men which are Iewes trouble our citie,

21 13 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for us to receive, neither to obſerve, ſeeing we are Romanes.

22 14 The people alſo roſe up together againſt them, and the governours rent their cloathes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them ſore, they caſt them into priſon, commanding the Gaoler to keepe them ſurely.

24 Who having received ſuch commandement, caſt them into the inner priſon, and make their feet k faſt in the ſtocks.

25 15 Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and ſung Pſalmes unto God: and the priſoners heard them.

26 And ſuddenly there was a great earthquake, ſo that the foundation of the priſon was ſhaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and every mans bands were looſed.

27 16 Then the keeper of the priſon waked out of his ſleepe, and when hee ſaw the priſon doores open, hee drew out his ſword and would have killed himſelfe, ſuppoſing the priſoners had bin fled.

28 17 But Paul cried with a loude voyce, ſaying, Doe thy ſelfe no harme: for we all are here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas.

30 And brought them out, and ſayd, Syrs, what muſt I doe to be ſaved?

31 And they ſayde, Beleeve in the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, & thou ſhalt be ſaved, and thine houſholde.

32 And they preached unto him the worde of the Lord, and to all that were in the houſe.

33 18 Afterwarde hee tooke them the ſame houre of the night, and waſhed their ſtripes, and was baptized with all that belonged unto him ſtraightway.

34 And when hee had brought them into his houſe, he ſet meate before them, and reioyced that he with all his houſhold beleeved in God.

35 19 And when it was day, the governours ſent the ſergeants, ſaying, Let thoſe men goe.

36 Then

4 And ſome of them beleeved, and ioyned in company with Paul and Silas: alſo of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

5 [3] But the Iewes which beleeved not, mooved with envie, tooke unto them certaine [a] vagabondes and wicked fellowes, and when they had aſſembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made aſſault againſt the houſe of Iaſon, and ſought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drew Iaſon and certaine brethren unto the heads of the citie, crying, Theſe are they which have ſubverted the ſtate of the [b] world, and here they are,

7 Whom Iaſon hath received, and theſe all doe againſt the decrees of Ceſar, ſaying, that there is another King one Ieſus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard theſe things.

9 Notwithſtanding when they had received ſufficient [c] aſſurance of Iaſon and of the other, they let them goe.

10 [4] And the brethren immediatly ſent away Paul and Silas by night unto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Iewes.

11 [5] Theſe were alſo more [d] noble men then they which were at Theſſalonica, which receiued the worde with all readineſſe, and ſearched the Scriptures dayly, whether thoſe things were ſo.

12 Therefore many of them beleeved, and of honeſt women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.

13 [6] But when the Iewes of Theſſalonica knew, that the word of God was alſo preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither alſo, and mooved the people.

14 [7] But by and by the brethren ſent away Paul to goe as it were to the ſea: but Silas and Timotheus aboade there ſtill.

15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him unto Athens: and when they had received a commandement unto Silas and Timotheus that they ſhould come to him at once, they departed.

16 [9] Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his ſpirit was [f] ſtirred in him, when he ſaw the citie ſubiect to [g] idolatry.

17 Therefore hee diſputeth in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market dayly with [h] whomſoever he met.

18 [10] Then certaine Philoſophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoicks, diſputed with him, and ſome ſayd, What will this [i] babbler ſay? Others ſayd, He ſeemeth to be a ſetter foorth of ſtrange gods (becauſe he preached unto them Ieſus, and the reſurrection.)

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into [k] Mars ſtreet, ſaying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou ſpeakeſt, is?

20 For thou bringeſt certaine ſtrange things unto our eares: wee would know therefore what theſe things meane.

21 [11] For all the Athenians and ſtrangers which dwelt there, gave themſelves to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare ſome newes.

22 [12] Then Paul ſtood in the middes of Mars ſtreet, and ſaid, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things yee are too [l] ſuperſtitious.

23 For as I paſſed by, and helde your [m] devotions, I founde an altar wherein was written, VNTO THE [n] VNKNOWEN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worſhip, him ſhewe I unto you.

24 [13] God that made the world, and all things that are therein, ſeeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, ✣ dwelleth not in temples made with hands,

25 ✣ Neither is worſhipped with mens hands, as though he needed any thing, ſeeing he giveth to all life and breath and all things,

26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood all mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath aſſigned the ſeaſons which were ordeined before, and the bounds of their habitation,

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence he saileth to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacie.

AFter 1 these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus,

2 And found a certaine Iew named ✠ Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla (because that a Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and hee came unto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, hee aboade with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents.)

4 a And he disputed in the Synagogue every Sabbath day, and b exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul c forced in Spirit, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 3 And when they resisted and blasphemed, he * shooke his raiment, and said unto them, Your d blood be upon your owne head: I am cleane: from hencefoorth wil I goe unto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And * Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleeved in the Lord with all his house-a Suetonius recordeth that Rome banished the Iewes, because they were alwayes at disquiet, and that by Christes meanes.

2 The trueth ought alwayes to be freely uttered, yet notwithstanding the doctrine may be so moderated, as occasion of the profite that the people take thereby, shall require.

b Exhorted so that he perswaded, & so the word signified.

c Was very much grieved in minde: whereby is signified the great earnestnesse of his minde, which was greatly mooved: for Paul was so zealous that he cleane forgate himselfe. & within a wonderfull courage gave himselfe to preach Christ.

hold: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleeved and were baptized.

9 4 Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake, and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this citie.

11 So he e continued there a yeere and sixe moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12 5 Now when Gallio was deputie of f Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying This fellow perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio sayd unto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an evill deede, O ye Iewes, I would according to g reason maintaine you.

15 But if it be a question of h wordes and i names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selves: for I will be no iudge of those things.

16 And hee drawe them from the iudgement seate,

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beate him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio caried nothing for those things.

18 6 But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, he tooke leave of the brethren, and sailed into Syria, (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that k he had shorne his head in l Cenchrea: for he had made a * vowe.

19 Then hee came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

20 7 Who desire him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent.

21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needes keepe this feast that commeth, in Hierusalem: but I will returne against unto you, ✠ m if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when hee came downe to Cesarea, he went up to Hierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe unto Antiochia.

23 Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia & Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 8 And a certaine Iewe named * Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and n mighty in the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and hee spake fervently in the Spirite, and taught diligently o the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

26 And hee began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when ✠ Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him unto them, and expounded unto him the o way of God more perfectly.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receive him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleeved through p grace.

28 For mightily hee confuted publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

4 God doeth avouch and maintaine the constancie of his servants.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 3 having onely receiued Iohn baptisme, 2 and know not the visible giftes of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Sonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 13 The Iewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuil. 19 Coniuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

1 AND it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorow the upper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

2 And sayd unto them, Haue ye receiued the a holy Ghost since yee beleeued? And they sayd unto him, We haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

3 2 And he sayd unto them, Vnto b what were ye then baptized? And they sayd, Vnto c Iohns baptisme.

4 Then sayd Paul, ✣ Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying unto the people, that they should beleeue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus.

6 So Paul layd his handes upon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophecied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 ¶ Moreover he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God.

9 3 But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking evill of the d way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed dayly in the schoole of one e Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Iesus, both Iewes and Grecians.

11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought unto the sicke, kercheſs, or handkercheſs, & the diseases departed from them, & ŷ evill spirits went out of thē.

13 4 Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, f exorcists tooke in hand to name over them which had evill spirits, the name of the Lord Iesus, saying, We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.

14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iew, the Priest, about seuen which did this.)

15 And the evill spirit answered, and sayd, Iesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the evill spirit was, ranne on them, and overcame them, and g prevailed against them, so that they fledde out of that house, naked and wounded.

17 And this was knowne to all the Iewes and Grecians also which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Iesus was magnified, 18 5 And many that beleeved, came and h confessed, and shewed their works.

19 Many also of them which used curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it i fiftie thousand pieces of silver.

20 So the word of God grewe mightily, and prevailed.

21 ¶ 6 Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the k Spirit to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred unto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.

23 7 And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a silversmith, which made silver l temples of Diana, brought great gaines unto the craftesmen,

25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and sayd, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreouer ye see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous unto us, that this our m portion shall be reprooued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the cōmon place with one assent, and caught ✣ Gaius, and ✣ Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 8 Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring him that he would not present himselfe in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew foorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with his hand, and would haue excused the matter to the people.

34 9 But when they knew that he was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 10 Then the towne clearke when hee had stayed the people, sayd, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddesse Diana, and of the image, which n came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, yee ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.

37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacriledge, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftes men which are with him, haue o matter against any man, the plaw is open, and there are ✣ Deputies: let them accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other a Paul being nothing offended at the rudenesse of the Ephesians, planted a Church among them.

a Those excellent giftes of the holy Ghost, which were in those dayes in the Church.

b Iohn did onely begin to instruct the disciples whom Christ should make perfite.

b In what doctrine then are you taught and instructed?

c To be baptized into Iohn baptisme, is to professe the doctrine which Iohn preached and sealed with his baptisme.

3 For a man to separate himselfe and others from infidels which are utterly desperate, it is not to deuide the Church, but rather to unite it and make it one.

d By this word Way, the Hebrewes vnderstand any kind of life, and here it is taken for Christianitie.

e This was a mans proper name.

4 Satan is constrained to give witnea against himselfe.

f So were they called which cast out deuils by coniuring them in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, they which had the gift of working miracles, and laid their hands on them that were possessed with deuils, were also so called.

g He prevailed against them though they strove never so much.

5 Coniuring and forcerie is condemned by open testimonie, and by the authoritie of the Apostle.

h Confessed their errors, and detested them openly, being terrified with the feare of the iudgement of God: and what is this to eare shrifte?

i They that make the least value of it, reckon it to be about eight hundreth pounds English.

6 Now Paul purposeth to goe to Rome.

k By the motion of Gods Spirit: therefore we may not say that Paul ran hand over head to death, but as the Spirit of God led him.

7 Gaine cloked with a shew of religion is the very cause wherefore idolatrie is stoutly and stubburnely defended.

l These were certaine counterfeit temples with Dianas picture in them, which they bought that worshipped her.

8 There ought to be in all Christians and especially in the Ministers, an invincible constancie, which may not by any stormes or assaults be ouercome, which notwithstanding must suffer it selfe modestly to be governed by wisedome.

9 In steade of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their owne madnesse and outcries, and those are the greatest defences that they haue.

10 An example of a politike man who redeemeth peace and quietnesse with lies, which Paul would never haue done.

40 For we are even in ieopardy to be accused of this dayes sedition, for as much as there is no cause, whereby we may give a reason of this concourse of the people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, hee let the assembly depart.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointed to goe to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching until midnight, 9 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a windowe, 10 he raised him to life: 15 At Miletum, 17 having called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 he declareth what things shall come upon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOw 1 after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples unto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with a many words, he came into Grecia.

3 2 And having taried there three moneths, because the Iewes layd waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, he purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and taried us at Troas.

6 And we sailed foorth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleavened bread, and came unto them to Troas in five dayes, where wee aboade seven dayes.

7 3 And the b first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morow, and continued the preaching unto midnight.

8 4 And there were many lights in an upper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sate in a windowe a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, he overcome with sleepe, fell downe from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

10 But Paul went downe, and layd himselfe upon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selves: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come up againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, having spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, hee so departed.

12 And they brought the boy alive, and they were not a little comforted.

13 5 Then he went before to shippe, and sailed unto the citie Assos, that wee might receive Paul there: for so had hee appointed, and would himselfe goe afoote.

14 Now when he was come unto us to Assos, and we had received him, we came to Mitylenes.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day over against Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 6 For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because hee would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if hee could possible, at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 7 Wherefore from c Miletum, hee sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 8 Who when they were come to him, hee sayd unto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have bene with you at all seasons,

19 Serving the Lord with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came unto me by the layings await of the Iewes,

20 And how I kept d backe nothing that was profitable, but have sheweth you, and taught you openly and throughout every house,

21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Iesus Christ.

22 7 And now beholde, I goe e bound in the Spirit, unto Hierusalem, and know not what things shall come unto me there,

23 Save that the holy Ghost witnesseth in every citie saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare unto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministration which I have received of the Lord Iesus, to testifie the Gospell of the grace of God.

25 And now beholde, I know that hencefoorth ye all, through whom I have gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am f pure from the blood of all men.

27 9 For I have kept nothing backe, but have shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore unto your selves, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Overseers to g feede the Church of God which h hee hath purchased with i that his owne blood.

29 9 For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Moreover of your owne selves shall men arise speaking perverse things, to k draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne every one, both night and day with teares.

32 10 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to give you an l inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.

33 11 I have coveted no mans silver, nor golde, nor apparell.

34 Yea, ye know, that these handes have ministred unto my m necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I have shewed you all things, how that so labouring, ye ought to m support the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lord Iesus, howe that he sayd, It is a blessed thing to give, rather then to receive.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

37 12 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him,

38 Being chiefly sorie for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the shippe.

CHAP. XXI.

Paul goeth toward Hierusalem: 3 at Coos he talketh with Philip the Euangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After hee came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 The Iewes layd hands on him: 32 Lysias the captaine taketh him from them.

A Nd a as we launched foorth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course unto Coos, and the day following unto the Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara.

a Not onely men simply, but even our friends, and such as are endued with the Spirit of God doe sometimes goe about to hinder the course of our vocation: but it is our part to goe forward without all stopping or staggering, after that we are sure of our calling from God.

2 And when wee found a ship that went over unto Phenice, and went abroad, and set forth,

3 And when wee had discovered Cyprus, wee left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyrus: for there the shippe vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seven dayes. And they told Paul through the a Spirit, that he should not goe up to Hierusalem.

a They foretold through the Spirit what danger hanged over Pauls head, and this they did as Prophets: but of a fleshly affection they praied him from going to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, wee departed and went our way, and they all accompanied us with their wives & children, even out of the citie: and we kneeled downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when wee had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when wee had ended the course from Tyrus, wee arrived at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and aboade with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, and came unto Cesarea: and wee entred into the house of b Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the b seven Deacons, and aboade with him.

b He speaketh of the seven Deacons which he mentioned before, Chap. 6.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did c prophecie.

c They had a peculiar gift of foretelling things to come.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when hee was come unto us, hee tooke Pauls girdle, & bound his owne hands & feete, and saide, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliver him into the handes of the Gentiles.

12 And when wee had heard these things, both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe up to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

2 The will of God bridleth all affections in them which earnestly seeke the glory of God.

14 2 So when he would not be perswaded, wee ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes we trussed up our fardels, and went up to Hierusalem.

16 There went with us also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whom wee should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren received us gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with us unto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 3 And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

3 Not that we ought to be proud of our gifts, but to glorifie God.

20 4 So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeve, and they are all zealous of the Law:

4 In things indifferent (of which sort were not the traditions of the Pharises, but the ceremonies of the Law, vntill such time as Christian libertie was more fully revealed to the Iewes) charitie willeth us to conforme or apply our selves willingly so farre as we may, to our brethren which doe not stubbornly and maliciously, resist the trueth, but are not throughly instructed especially if the question be of a whole multitude.

21 Nowe they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to live after the customes.

22 What is then to be done: the multitude must needes come together: for they shall here that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee. We have foure men, which have made a vow,

24 Then take, and d purifie thy selfe with them, and e contribute with them, that they may ✣ shave their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they have bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Law.

d That is, sanctifie thy selfe: for he speaketh not here of the vncleane, but of such as were subiect to the vowe of the Nazarites.

e That it may be known, that they were not onely present at the vowe, but also a chiefe man in it: and therefore it is said afterwards, that Paul declared the dayes of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarites offrings were appointed, yet they might adde somewhat unto them. Num. 6. 11. ✣ Chap. 18, 18. num. 6. 18.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleeve we have written, and determined that they observe no such thing, but that they keepe themselves from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, f declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for every one of them.

f The Priests were to be advertised of the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification: because there were sacrifices to be offered the same day that their vow was ended.

27 5 And when the seven dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) mooved all the people, and layd hands on him,

5 A preposterous zeale is the cause of great confusion, and great mischiefes.

28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men every where against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then alle the citie was mooved, and the people ran together: and they tooke Paul, and drewe him out of the Temple, and foorthwith the doores were shut.

31 6 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an vproare.

6 God findeth some even amongst the wicked and prophane themselves, to hinder the endevours of the rest.

32 Who immediatly tooke souldiers and Centurions, and ran downe unto them: and when they saw the chiefe captaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when hee could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castell.

35 And when hee came unto the grieces, it was so that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should have bene led into the castell, hee saide unto the chiefe captaine, May I speake unto thee? Who saide, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the g Egyptian, who before these dayes raised a sedition, and led out into the wildernesse foure thousand men that were murtherers?

g Touching this Egyptian which assembled thirtie thousand men, reade Iosephus, books 2. chap. 12.

39 Then Paul saide, Doubtlesse, I am a man which am a Iewe, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous citie of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer mee to speake unto the people.

23 And when hee had given him licence, Paul stood on the grieces, and beckened with the hand unto the people, and when there was made great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Iewes heare him a while: 23 But so soone as they cried out, 24 He is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren, and fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that hee spake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said,)

3 1 I am verely a man, which am a Iew, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this citie at the a feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect maner of the Law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prison both men and women,

5 As also the chiefe Priest doth beare me witnes, and all the company of the Elders: of whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound unto Hierusalem, that they might be punished.

6 ¶ And so it was, as I iourneyed, and was come neere unto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.

7 So I fell unto the earth, and heard a voyce, saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou Lord? And he said to mee, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreover they that were with mee, saw in deede a light and were afraide: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake unto me.

10 Then I said, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall be told thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Law, having good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there,

13 Came unto mee, and stood, and said unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight: and that same houre I looked upon him.

14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and shouldest see that Iust one, and shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witnesse unto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.

16 Now therefore why tariest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a traunce,

18 And saw him, saying unto mee, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Hierusalem: for they will not receive thy witnesse concerning me.

19 Then I said, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beat in every Synagogue them that beleeved in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steven was shed, I also stoode by, and consented unto his death, & kept the cloathes of them that b slew him.

21 Then hee saide unto me, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence unto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ 2 And they heard him unto this word but then they lift up their voyces, and said, Away with such a fellowe from the earth: for it is not meete that he should live.

23 And as they c cried & cast off their cloathes, and threw dust into the aire,

24 3 The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that hee should be scourged, & examined, that he might know wherefore they cried so on him.

25 4 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said unto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and told the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him which should have examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after hee knew that he was a d Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because hee would have knowen the certaintie wherefore hee was accused of the Iewes, hee looosed him from his bonds, and commanded the hie Priestes and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 As Paul pleadeth his cause, 2 Ananias commaundeth them to smite him. 7 Dissention among his accusers. 11 God encourageth him. 14 The Iewes laying wait for Paul, 20 is declared unto the chiefe captaine. 27 Hee sendeth him to Felix the Governour.

AND Paul behelde earnestly the Councill, and said, Men and brethren, I have in all good conscience served God vntill this day.

2 2 Then the hie Priest Ananias commaunded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 3 Then said Paul to him, God a will smite thee, thou b whited wall: for thou sittest to iudge me according to the Law, and c transgressing the Law, commandest thou me to be smitten?

4 And they that stood by, said, Revilest thou Gods hie Priest?

5 4 Then said Paul, I knew not brethren, that he was the hie Priest: for it is written, ✣ Thou shalt not speake evill of the ruler of thy people.

6 5 But when Paul perceived that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of the Pharises,

2 Paul making a short declaration of his former life, prooveth both his vocation and doctrine to be of God.

a That is, his dayly hearer: the reason of this speech is this, for that they which teach, sit commonly in the higher place speaking to their schollers which sit upon fourmes beneath: and therefore hee saith, at the feete of Gamaliel.

b This is properly spoken: for Steven was murthered of a sort of cunthroats, not by order of Iustice, but by open force: for at that time the Iewes could not put any man to death by Law.

a Stout and stubburne pride will neither it selfe embrace the trueth, neither suffer other to receive it.

c The description of a seditious burly burly, and of an harebrained and mad multitude.

3 The wisdome of the flesh doeth not consider what is iust, but what is profitable, and therewithall measure the profit, according as it appeareth presently.

4 There is no cause why we may not use those lawfull meanes which God giveth us, to repell, or put away an iniurie.

d Not by Nation, but by the lawe of the citie.

1 Paul against the false accusations of his enemies, setteth a good conscience, for proofe whereof, he repeateth the whole course of his life.

a Hypocrites are constrained at length to betray themselves by their intemperancie.

3 It is lawfull for us so complaine of iniuries, and to summon the wicked to the iudgement seate of God, so that we do it without hatred, and with a quiet and peaceable minde. a It appeareth plainely by the Greeke phrase, that Paul did not curse the hie Priest, but onely pronounce the punishment of God against him. b This is a vehement and sharpe speech, but yet not reproachfull: For the godly man speake roundly, and yet be voyde of the bitter affection of a sharpe and angry minde. c For the Lawe commandeth the Iudge to beare the person that is accused patiently, and to pronounce the sentence advisedly. 4 We must willingly and from the heart give honour to Magistrates, although they be tyrants. ✣ Exod. 22.27. 5 We may lawfully sometimes set the wicked together by the eares, that they may leave off to assault us, so that it be with no hindrance of the trueth.

Phariſes, he cried in the Councill, Men and brethren, * I am a Phariſe, the ſonne of a Phariſe: I am accuſed of the hope and reſurrection of the dead.

7 6 And when hee had ſayd this, there was a diſſenſion betweene the Phariſes & the Sadduces, ſo that the multitude was divided.

8 7 * For the Sadduces ſay that there is no reſurrection, neither d Angel, nor ſpirit: but the Phariſes confeſſe both.

9 8 Then there was a great crie: and the e Scribes of the Phariſes part roſe up, and ſtrove, ſaying, We finde none evill in this man: but if a ſpirit or an Angel hath ſpoken to him, let us not fight againſt God.

10 9 And when there was a great diſſenſion, the chiefe captaine, fearing leſt Paul ſhould have bene pulled in pieces of them, commanded the ſouldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the caſtell.

11 Now the night following, the Lord ſtood by him, and ſaid, Be of good courage, Paul, for as thou haſt teſtified of mee in Hieruſalem, ſo muſt thou beare witneſſe alſo at Rome.

12 10 And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an aſſembly, and bound themſelves f with a curſe, ſaying, that they would neither eate nor drinke till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were moe then fourtie, which had made this conſpiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Prieſts and Elders, and ſaid, Wee have bound our ſelves with a ſolemne curſe, that we will eate nothing, untill wee have ſlaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the Councill, ſignifie unto the chiefe captaine, that he bring him forth unto you to morrow, as though you would knowe ſome thing more perfectly of him, and we, or ever he come neere will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls ſiſters ſonne heard of their laying await, he went, and entred into the caſtell, and told Paul.

17 11 And Paul called one of the Centurions unto him, and ſaid, Take this yong man hence unto the chiefe captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to ſhew him.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and ſayd, Paul the priſoner called me unto him, and prayed mee to bring this yong man unto thee, which hath ſome thing to ſay unto thee.

19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What haſt thou to ſhew me?

20 And he ſayd, The Iewes have conſpired to deſire thee, that thou wouldeſt bring foorth Paul to morrow into the Councill, as though they would inquire ſomewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perſwade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more then fourty men, which have bound themſelves with a curſe, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they have killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promiſe.

22 12 The chiefe captain then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to utter it to no man, that hee had ‖ ſhewed him theſe things.

23 And he called unto him two certaine Centurions, ſaying, Make ready two hundreth ſouldiers, that they may goe to Ceſarea, and horſemen threeſcore and ten, and two hundreth with darts, at the third houre of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horſe, that Paul being ſet on, may me brought ſafe unto Felix the governour.

25 And he wrote an Epiſtle in this maner:

26 13 Claudius Lyſias unto the moſt noble governour Felix ſendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and ſhould have beene killed of them, I came upon them with a garriſon, and reſcued him, perceiving that hee was a Romaine.

28 And when I would have knowen the cauſe wherefore they accuſed him, I brought him foorth into their Councill.

29 There I perceived that hee was accuſed of queſtions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was ſhewed mee, how that the Iewes layd wait for the man, I ſent him ſtraightway to thee, and commanded his accuſers to ſpeake before thee the things that they had againſt him. Farewell.

31 Then the ſouldiers as it was commaunded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris, 32 And the next day, they left the horſemen to goe with him, and returned into the Caſtell.

33 Now when they came to Ceſarea, they delivered the Epiſtle to the governour, and preſented Paul alſo unto him.

34 So when the Governour had read it, he asked of what province he was: and when he underſtood that he was of Cilicia,

35 I will heare thee, ſayd hee, when thine accuſers alſo are come, and commaunded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

f Confirmed Tertullus his saying.

a Tertullus by the devils rhethoricke beginneth with flatterie, maketh an end with lies: but Paul using heavenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple denial.

g Paul pleaded his cause two yeeres before Felix departed out of the province, chap. 24. but he had governed Trachonitie, and Batanea, and Galaunite, before that Claudius made him governour of Iudea: Iosephus in the history of the Iewes warre, lib 2. chap 12.

b They cannot lay foorth before thee and proove by good reasons.

3 Paul goeth in the cause of Religion from a state conterturall to a state of qualitie not onely not denying that obiected against him, but also proving it to be true, to be heavenly and from God, and to be the oldest of all religions.

i Here this word, Heresie, or sect, is taken in good part.

4 Paulin conclusion telleth the thing which was done truely, which Tertullus had before divers wayes corrupted.

k And while I was busie about those things.

l Hereby it appeareth that these of Asia were Saul his enemies, and those that stirred up the people against him. m Whither the Tribune brought me.

5 The Iudge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtfull.

n Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, untill he had better understanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to deferre it till hee heare Lysias, and therefore he gave Paul somewhat more liberty. 6 God is a most faithfull keeper of his servants, and the force of the truth is wonderfull, even amongst men which are otherwise prophane.

9 And the Iewes likewise ſ assented, saying that it was so.

10 a Then Paul, after that the governour had beckened unto him that hee should speake, answered, I do the more gladly answere for my selfe, forasmuch as I know that thou hast beene oft many yeeres a iudge unto this nation,

11 Seeing that thou mayest knowe, that there are but twelve dayes since I came up to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making oproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they b proove the things, whereof they now accuse me.

14 3 But this I confesse unto thee, that after the way (which they call i heresie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeving all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,

15 And have hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves looke for also, shall be both of iust and iniust.

16 And herein I indevour my selfe to have alway a cleare conscience toward God and toward men.

17 4 Now after many yeeres, I came & brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At k what time, certaine Iewes of l Asia found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to have beene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselves say, If they have found any iniuſt thing in mee, while I stood in the m Councill.

21 Except it be for this one voyce, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 5 Now when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and sayd, When I shall more n perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 6 Then hee commaunded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should have ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister unto him, or to come unto him.

24 ¶ And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife o Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called foorth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteousnes & temperance, & of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I have convenient time, I will call for thee.

26 Hee hoped also that money should have beene given him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore hee sent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27 7 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix roome, and Felix willing to p get favour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

p For whereas he had behaued himselfe very wickedly in the province, had it not beene for fauour of his brother Pallas, hee should haue died for: so that we may gather hereby why he would haue pleasured the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix, 6 commaundeth Paul to be brought foorth. 11 Paul appealeth unto Cesar. 14 Festus openeth Pauls matter to king Agrippa. 23 and bringeth him before him, 27 that he may understand his cause.

WHen q Festus was then come into the province, after three dayes hee went up from Cesarea unto Hierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,

3 And desired favour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they layd wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with us: and if there be any wickednesse in the man, let them accuse him.

6 ¶ a Nowe when he had tarried among them no more r then ten dayes, he went downe to Cesarea, and the next day sate in the iudgement seate, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Ierusalem, stoode about him and layd many and grievous complaints against Paul, whereof a they could make no plaine proofe,

8 Forasmuch as he answered that he had neither offended any thing against the law of the Iewes, neither against ſ temple, nor against Cesar.

9 3 Yet Festus willing to get favour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou goe up to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I have done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I have done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things, whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliver me to them: I appeale unto Cesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Councill, hee answered, Hast thou appealed unto Cesar? unto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 ¶ 4 And after certaine dayes, King t Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cesarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause unto the King saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix,

15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the hie Priests and Elders of the Iewes enformed me, and desired to have iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the maner of ſ Romanes for favour to c deliver any man to the death, before that he which is accused, have the accusers before him, and have place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to be brought foorth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood up, they

r Satans Ministers are subtill and diligent in seeking all occasions. but God who watcheth for his, hindreth all their counsels easily.

a We may repell an iniurie iustly, but not with iniurie.

a They could not proove them certainly and with undoubted reasons.

3 God doeth not onely turne away the counsell of the wicked, but also turneth it upon their owne heads.

4 Festus thinking no such thing, even before Kings, bringing to light the wickednesse of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doeth marvellously confirme the Church of God.

t This Agrippa was Agrippa his sonne, whose death Luke spake of before. and Bernice was his sister.

c The Romans use not to deliver any man to be punished before, &c.

7 In a naughty minde that is guilty to it selfe, although, sometime there be some shew of equitie, yet by and by, it will be extinguished: but in the meane season we have neede to patience, and that continuall.

they brought no crime of such things as I suppo-fect:

19 f But had certaine questions against him of their owne d superstitions, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether he would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be reserved to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 6 Then Agrippa sayd unto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morrow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morrowe when Agrippa was come, and Bernice with great e pompe, and were entred into the Common-hall with the chiefe captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought foorth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with us, yee see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes have called upon me, both at Hierusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to live any longer.

25 Yet have I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: nevertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.

26 Of whom I have no certaine thing to write unto my f lord: wherefore I have brought him foorth unto you, and especially unto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.

27 For mee thinketh it unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shew the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 22 with such efficacie of words, 28 that almost he perswaded him to Christianitie. 30 But he and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

THen Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 1 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes:

3 Chiefely, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare mee patiently.

4 2 As touching my life from my childehood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, knowe all the Iewes,

5 Which a knewe me beretofore, even from my b Elders (if they would testifie) that after the c most straight sect of our religion, I lived a Pharise.

6 3 And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelve tribes instantly serving God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O king Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 4 Why should it be thought a thing incredible unto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 * Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: * Chap. 8. 3.
for many of the Saints I shut up in prison, having received authoritie of the high Priests, and when they were put to death, I gave my d sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and e compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, even unto strange cities.

12 At which time, even as I went to * Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the high Priests,

13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven passing the brightnesse of the sunne, shine round about mee, and them which went with me.

14 So when wee were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking unto me, and saying in the Hebrewe tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose to appoint thee a minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare unto thee,

17 Delivering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee,

18 9 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgivenesse of sinnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 6 Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.

20 * But shewed first unto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and thorowout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught me in the * Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 7 Nevertheless, I obtained helpe of God, and continue unto this day, witnessing both to f small and to great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should g suffer, and that he should be the h first that should rise from the dead, and should shew i light unto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 8 And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus sayd with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art beside thy selfe, much learning doeth make thee mad.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the words of trueth, and soberneesse.

26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a k corner.

27 9 O king Agrippa, beleevest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleevest.

28 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, l I would to God that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 10 And when he had thus spoken, the king

d This prophane man calleth the Iewes religion superstition: and that before King Agrippa, no no marvaile: for the rulers of provinces by reason of the majestie of the empire of Rome used to preferre themselves before kings.

1 To have a skilfull iudge is a great and singular gift of God

2 Paul divideth the historie of his life into two times: for the first he calleth his adversaries witnesses: for the latter, the fathers and Prophets.

a What I was, and where, and how I lived.

b That my parents were Pharises.

c The sect of the Pharises was the most exquisite amongst all the sects of the Iewes, for it was better then all the rest.

3 There are three chiefe and principall witnesses of true doctrine God, the true Fathers, and the consent of the Church.

4 He proveth the resurrection of the dead first by the power of God, then by the resurrection of Christ: whereof he is a sufficient witnesse.

d I consented to, and allowed of their doing: for he was not a iudge.

b Secretly, and privily.

9 Paul as it were forgetting himselfe that he stood a prisoner to defend his cause, he forgetteth not the office of his Apostleship.

l I would to God that not onely almost, but thorowly and altogether both thou and all that heare me this day, might be made as I am, my bonds onely except roſe up, and the governour, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themſelves, ſaying. This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

32 Then ſayd Agrippa unto Feſtus, This man might have beene looſed, if he had not appealed unto Ceſar.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7, 9 foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleved. 14 They are toſſed to and fro with the tempeſt. 20, 41 and ſuffer ſhipwracke: 34 Yet all ſafe and ſound 44 eſcape to land.

1 Paul with many other priſoners, and through the midſt of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and ſet forth and commended unto the world with many ſingular teſtimonies. * 2 Cor. 11, 25.

NOw 1 when it was concluded, that we ſhould ſaile into Italie, they delivered both Paul, and certaine other priſoners unto a Centurion, named Iulius, of the band of Auguſtus.

2 And * we entred into a ſhippe of Adramyttium, purpoſing to ſaile by the coaſtes of Aſia, and launched foorth, and had Ariſtarchus of Macedonia, a Theſſalonian, with us.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Iulius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gave him libertie to goe unto his friends, that they might refreſh him.

4 And from thence we launched, and ſailed hard by Cyprus, becauſe the windes were contrary.

5 Then ſailed we over the ſea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a citie in Licia.

6 And there the Centurion found a ſhippe of Alexandria, ſailing into Italie, and put us therein.

a Which was an high hill of Candie.

7 And when we had ſailed ſlowly many dayes, and ſcarce were come againſt Gnidum, becauſe the winde ſuffered us not, we ſailed hard by Candie, neere to a Salmone.

8 And with much adoe ſailed beyond it, and came unto a certaine place called the Faire havens, neere unto the which was the citie Laſea.

b This is meant of the Iewes faſt, which they keepe in the feaſt of expiation, as we reade Levit. 23, 27. which fell in the ſeventh moneth which we call October, and is not good for navigation, or ſailing.

9 a So when much time was ſpent, and ſailing was now ieopardous, becauſe alſo the b Faſt was now paſſed. Paul exhorted them

10 And ſaid unto them, Sirs, I ſee that this voyage will be with hurt, and much damage, not of the lading and ſhip onely, but alſo of our lives.

11 3 Nevertheleſſe the Centurion beleeved rather the governour and the maſter of the ſhippe, then thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul.

12 And becauſe the haven was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counſell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an haven of Candie, and lieth toward the Southweſt and by Weſt, and Northweſt and by Weſt.

13 And when the Southerne winde blew ſoftly, they ſuppoſing to attaine their purpoſe, looſed neerer, and ſailed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there aroſe by c it a ſtormie winde called d Euroclydon.

15 And when the ſhip was caught, and could not reſiſt the winde, we let her goe, and were caried away.

16 And we ran under a little Yle named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boat.

17 Which they tooke up and uſed all helpe, undergirding the ſhip, fearing leaſt they ſhould have fallen unto Syrtes, and they ſtrake ſaile, and ſo were caried.

18 4 The next day when we were toſſed with an exceeding tempeſt, they lightned the ſhip.

19 And the third day wee caſt out with our owne hands the takling of the ſhip.

20 And when neither ſunne nor ſtarres in many dayes appeared, and no ſmall tempeſt lay upon us, all hope that we ſhould be ſaved, was then taken away.

21 5 But after long abſtinence, Paul ſtood forth in the mids of them, and ſaid, Sirs, ye ſhould have hearkened to me, and not have looſed from Candie: ſo ſhould ye have gained this hurt and loſſe.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there ſhall be no loſſe of any mans life among you, ſave of the ſhip onely.

23 For there ſtood by me this night the Angel of God, whoſe I am, and whom I ſerve, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou muſt be brought before Ceſar: and loe, God hath given unto thee freely, all that ſaile with thee.

25 6 Wherefore, Sirs, be of good courage: for I beleeve God, that it ſhall be ſo as it hath beene told me.

26 Howbeit, we muſt be caſt into a certaine Iland.

27 7 And when the fourteenth night was come, as wee were caried to and fro in the e Adriaticall ſea about midnight the ſhipmen, deemed that ſome countrey f approached unto them.

28 And ſounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they ſounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing leaſt they ſhould have fallen into ſome rough places, they caſt foure ancres out of the ſterne, and wiſhed that the day were come.

30 8 Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ſhip, and had let downe the boat into the ſea under a colour as though they would have caſt ankers out of the foreſhip.

31 9 Paul ſaide unto the Centurion and the ſouldiers, Except theſe abide in the ſhip, ye cannot be ſafe.

32 Then the ſouldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 10 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, ſaying. This is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried, and continued faſting, receiving nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your ſafegard: for there ſhall not an g haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus ſpoken, hee tooke bread, and gave thankes to God in preſence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they alſo tooke meat.

37 Now we were in the ſhip in all two hundred threeſcore and ſixteene ſoules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ſhip, and caſt out the wheat into the ſea.

39 11 And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they eſpied a certaine h creeke with a barke, into the which they were minded (if it were poſſible) to thruſt in the ſhip.

40 So when they had taken up the ankers, they committed the ſhippe unto the ſea, and looſed the rudder bonds, and hoiſed up the maine ſaile to the winde, and drew to the ſhore.

41 And when they fell into a place, where i two ſeas meete, they thruſt in the ſhippe: and the forepart ſtucke faſt, and could not be mooved, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 12 Then

5 God ſpareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and choſens ſake.

6 The promiſe is made effectuall through faith.

7 We attaine and come to the promiſed and ſure ſalvation through the midſt of temptation and death it ſelfe.

e For Ptolome writeth, that the Adriaticall ſea beareth upon the Eaſt ſhore of Silicia

f That they drew neere to ſome countrey.

8 There is none ſo foule an act, whereupon diſtruſt and an evill conſcience doe not enforce men.

9 Although the performing of Gods promiſes doth not ſimply depend upon ſecond cauſes, yet they make themſelves unworthy of Gods bountifulneſſe, which doe not embrace thoſe meanes which God offereth them, either upon raſhneſſe or diſtruſt.

10 When the world trembleth, the faithfull alone be not onely quiet, but confirme others by their example.

g This is a proverbe which the Hebrues uſe, whereby is meant, that they ſhalbe ſafe and not one of them periſh.

11 Then are tempeſts moſt of all to be feared and looked for when the port or haven is neereſt.

h A creeke in a ſea within land, as the Adriaticall ſea, and the Perſian ſea i So is Iſthmus called, becauſe the ſea toucheth it on both ſides.

42 12 Then the ſouldiers counſell was to kill the priſoners, leaſt any of them, when he had ſwomme out, ſhould flee away.

43 13 But the Centurion willing to ſave Paul, ſtayed them from this counſell, and commaunded that they that could ſwimme, ſhould caſt themſelves firſt into the ſea, and goe out to land:

44 14 And the other, ſome on boards, and ſome on certaine peeces of the ſhip: and ſo it came to paſſe, that they came all ſafe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The Barbarians curteous towards Paul and his companie. 3 A viper vpon Pauls hand. 6 He ſhaketh it off with no harme. 8 Publius and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita. 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes, 20 the cauſe of his comming: 22 He preacheth Ieſus. 30 two yeeres.

AND when they were come ſafe, then they knew that the Ile was called a Melita.

2 And the Barbarians ſhewed us no litle kindneſſe, for they kindled a fire, and received us every one, becaule of the preſent ſhowre, and becauſe of the cold.

3 1 And when Paul had gathered a number of ſticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and leapt on his hand.

4 2 Now when the Barbarians ſawe the worme hang on his hand, they ſaid among themſelves, This man ſurely is a murtherer, whom, though he hath eſcaped the ſea, yet b Vengeance hath not ſuffered to live.

5 But hee ſhooke off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when hee ſhould have c ſwolne, or fallen downe dead ſuddenly: 3 but after they had looked a great while, and ſawe no inconvenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and ſaid, That he was a God.

7 4 In the ſame quarters, the chiefe man of the Ile (whoſe name was Publius) had poſſeſſions: the ſame received us, and lodged us three dayes courteouſly.

8 And ſo it was, that the father of Publius lay ſicke of the fever, and of a bloodie flixe: to whom Paul entred in, and when hee prayed, hee layde his hands on him, and healed him.

9 5 When this then was done, other alſo in the Ile, which had diſeaſes, came to him, and were healed.

10 6 Which alſo did us great honour: and when wee departed, they laded us with things neceſſarie.

11 7 Now after three moneths wee departed in a ſhip of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Ile, whoſe d badge was Caſtor, and Pollux.

12 And when we arrived at Syracuſe, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence wee fet a compaſſe, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blewe, and wee came the ſecond day to Puteoli:

14 8 Where wee found brethren, and were deſired to tary with them ſeven dayes, and ſo we went toward Rome.

15 9 And from thence when the brethren heard of us, they came to meete us at the e Market of Appius, and at the three tavernes, whom when Paul ſawe, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.

16 So when wee came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the priſoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was ſuffered to dwell by f himſelfe with a ſouldier that kept him.

17 10 And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together, and when they were come, hee ſaide unto them, Men and brethren, though I have committed nothing againſt the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I delivered priſoner from Hieruſalem into the handes of the Romanes.

18 Who when they had examined me, would have let me go, becauſe there was no cauſe of death in me.

19 11 But when the Iewes ſpake contrarie, I was conſtrained to appeale unto Ceſar, not becauſe I had ought to accuſe my nation of.

20 For this cauſe therefore have I called for you to ſee you, and to ſpeake with you: for that hope of Iſraels ſake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they ſaid unto him, We neither received letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that ſhewed or ſpake any evill of thee.

22 But wee will heare of thee what thou thinkeſt: for as concerning this ſect, we know that everie where it is ſpoken againſt.

23 12 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many unto him into his lodging, to whom hee expounded, g teſtifying the kingdome of God, and perſwading them thoſe things that concerne Ieſus, both out of the Lawe of Moſes, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 13 And ſome were perſwading with the things which were ſpoken, and ſome beleeved not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themſelves, they departed, after that Paul had ſpoken one word, to wit, Well ſpake the holy Ghoſt by Eſaias the Prophet unto our fathers,

26 14 Saying.* Goe unto this people, and ſay, By hearing ye ſhall heare, and ſhall not underſtand, and ſeeing ye ſhall ſee, and not perceive.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes have they h winked, leaſt they ſhould ſee with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and underſtand with their hearts, and ſhould returne that I might heale them.

28 15 Be it knowen therefore unto you, that this ſalvation of God is ſent to the Gentiles, and they ſhall heare it.

29 16 And when hee had ſaid theſe things, the Iewes departed, and had great reaſoning among themſelves.

30 17 And Paul remained two yeeres full in an houſe hired for himſelfe, and received all that came in unto him,

31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching thoſe things which concerne the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, with all boldneſſe of ſpeech, without let.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE ROMANES.

CHAP. I.

1 He first sheweth on what an heavie his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then bee commendeth the Gospell, 16 by which God stretcheth out his power to those that are subiect 17 to faith, 21 the wicked are guilty of wilfull thanklesnesse to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 29 so that they cannot bee excused at all since of sinne.

PAVL a a servant of IESUS Christ called to be b an Apostle, * c put apart to preach the Gospel of God,

2 (Which bee had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 Concerning his d Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord (which was e made of the seed of David f according to the flesh,

4 And g declared h mightily to be the sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)

5 i By whome wee have received k grace and Apostleship (that l obedience might be given unto the faith) for his name m among all the Gentiles,

6 Among whome ye be also the n called of Iesus Christ:

7 To all you that be at Rome beloved of God, called to be Saints: o Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

8 p First I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is q published thorowout the r whole world.

9 For God is my witnesse (whom I serve in my s spirit in the t Gospell of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you,

10 Alwayes in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might have a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come unto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestowe among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened:

12 That is, that u I might be comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.

13 Now my brethren, I would that yee should not be ignorant, how that I have oftentimes purposed to come unto you (but have bene let hitherto) that I might have some fruit also among you, as I have among the other Gentiles.

14 I am debter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the unwise.

15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am readie to preach the Gospell to you also ỹ are at x Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospell of Christ: y for it is the z power of God unto salvation to every one that beleeveth, to the Iew first, and also to the a Grecian.

17 b For by it the righteousnesse of God is revealed from c faith to faith: d as it is written, * The iust shall live by faith.

18 e For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against f all ungodlinesse, and unrighteousnesse of men, which withholde the g trueth in unrighteousnesse.

19 h For asmuch as that, which may be known of God, is manifest in i them, for God hath shewed it unto k them,

20 For the invisible things of him, that is, his eternall power and God head, are seene by the creation of the world, being l considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

21 Because that when they knewe God, they m glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but became n vaine in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkenesse.

22 When they o professed themselves to be wise, they became fooles,

23 For they turned the glorie of the p incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and foure footed beasts, and of creeping things.

24 q Wherefore r also God s gave them up to their hearts lusts, unto uncleanesse, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselves:

25 Which turned the trueth of God unto a lye, and worshipped and served the creature, forsaking the Creator which is blessed for ever, Amen.

26 For this cause God gave them up to vile affections: for even their women did change the naturall use into that which is against nature,

a The first part of the Epistle containing a most profitable preface unto verse 16.

a He mooveth the Romanes to give diligent eare unto him in that hee sheweth tha hee commeth not in his owne name, but as Gods messenger unto the Gentiles, intreateth with them of the weightiest matter, that is promised long since of God, by many faithfull witnesses, and now at the length performed indeede.

a A Minister, for this worde servant, is not taken in this place, as set against this word, Freeman, but declareth his ministerie and office.

b Whereas hee said before in a generall tearme, that he was a minister, now becommeth to a more speciall name, and saith he is an Apostle, and that he tooke not upon him this office of his owne head, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romanes doeth nothing but his duetie.

c Appointed of God to preach the Gospell.

3 By declaring the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, he stirreth up the Romanes to good consideration of the matter whereof hee entreateth: So then bee sheweth that Christ (who is the very substance and summe of the Gospell) is the onely sonne of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the seed of David, but touching his divine and spirituall nature, whereby he sanctified himselfe, is begotten of the Father from everlasting, as by his mightie resurrection manifestly appeareth.

d This is a plaine testimonie of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties.

e Which tooke flesh of the virgin, David his daughter.

f As or is man: for this word Flesh, by the figure Synechdoche, is taken for man.

g Shewed and made manifest.

h The divine and mightie power is set against the weaknesse of the flesh, for that overcame death.

i Of whom

k This mervailous liberall and gracious gift, which is given mee, the least of all the Saints, to preach &c.

Ephes 3.8.

l That men through faith might obey God.

m For his Names sake.

n Which through Gods goodnesse, are Christes.

o Gods free good will: by peace, the Hebrewes meane a prosperous successe in all things.

4 He procureth their favourable patience: in that he reckoneth up their true commendation and his true Apostolike good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himselfe to witnesse.

p Because your faith is such, that it is commended in all Churches.

q In all Churches.

r Very willingly and with all my heart.

s In preaching his Sonne.

t Though Paul were never so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.

u He meaneth all them that dwell in Rome, though some of them were not Romanes. Looke the end of the epistle.

5 The second part of the Epistle unto the beginning of the 9 Chap. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say: to shew that there is but one way to attaine unto salvation (which is set forth unto us of God in the Gospell, without any difference of nations) and that is Iesus Christ apprehended by faith.

x God his mightie and effectuall instrument to save men by.

y When this word Grecian, is set against this word Iewe, then doth it signifie a Gentile.

6 The confirmation of the former proposition: we are taught in the Gospell that we are iustified before God by faith which encreaseth dayly: and therefore also saved.

z From faith which encreaseth dayly.

7 The proofe as well of the first as the second proposition, out of Abakuk, who attributeth and giveth unto faith both iustice and life before God.

* Abak 2.4.

8 Another confirmation of that principall question: All men being considered in themselves or without Christ, are guiltie both of godlinesse, and also unrighteousnesse, and therefore are subiect to condemnation: Therefore must they needs seeke righteousnes in some other.

a Against all kind of ungodlinesse.

b By trueth, Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into favour with God but that their owne reason might condemne them of wickednesse both against God and man.

9 Their ungodlinesse hee proveth hereby, that although all men have a most cleare and evident glasse wherein to behold the everlasting and almightie nature of God, even in his creatures, yet have they fallen away from those principles to most foolish and grosse divises of their owne braines, in constituting and appointing the service of God.

d Thos seeke not God, and yet them acknowledgeth him as God by his workes, Cicero.

e They did not honour him with that honour, and service which was meet for his everlasting power and Godhead.

f As if he said, became so mad of themselves.

g Or, to ugly contemptible.

h For the true God they spoke another.

10 The unrighteousnesse of men bee setteth forth first in this, that even against nature following their lusts, they defiled themselves one with another, by the iust iudgement of God.

i The contempt of religion, is the fountaine of all mischiefe.

k Was a iust iudge

28 11 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, even so God delivered them up vnto a [m] reprobate minde, to doe these things which are not conuenient,

29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednesse, couetousnesse, maliciousnesse, full of enuie, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers,

30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boasters, inuenters of euill things, disobedient to parents, without vnderstanding, [n] couenant breakers, without naturall affection, such as can neuer be appeased, mercilesse.

31 Which men, though they knew the [o] Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not onely doe the same, but also [p] fauour them that doe them.

11 He prooueth the vnrighteousnesse of man by a large rehearsall of many kindes of wickednesse, from which if not from all, yet at the least from many of them) no man is altogether free.

m into a mad and froward minde, whereby it commeth to passe, that the conscience being once put out, and hauing almost no more remorse of sinne, men runne headlong into all kind of wickednesse.

n Vnmindfull of their couenants and bargaines. o By the Law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themselues termed the Law of nations. p Are fellowes and partakers with them in their wickednesse, and besides that, commend them which doe amisse.

CHAP. II.

1 He conuinceth them which would seeme to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and sayth that they are least of all to be excused. for if they were wel and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselues would be found guilty in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other they pronounce sentence against themselues.

a Paul alledgeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as every man is perswaded of in his mind, so that the deuil himselfe is not able to plucke them cleane out.

b Considering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward shew.

2 A vehement and grieuous crying out against them that please themselues, because they see more then other do, and yet are no whit better then others are.

1 THerefore [a] thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.

2 But we [a] know that the iudgement of God is according to [b] trueth, against them which commit such things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?

4 [2] Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, *[c] heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,

6 3 * Who will reward every man according to his workes:

7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke [d] glory, and honour, and immortalitie, euerlasting life:

8 But vnto them that are contentious, and disobey the [e] trueth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shall be [f] indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation and anguish shall be vpon the soule of every man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian.

10 But to every man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian.

11 For there is [g] no respect of persons [h] with God.

3 He commeth to the matter, and sayth that God will render to euery man according to his workes, and that he will not be partiall in iudgement, but will giue to euery man according to his deserts.

4 Or despisest thou the great goodnesse of God, which he hath shewed vnto thee, and wilt not be amended?

5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,

*6 3 * Who will reward every man according to his workes:*

7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke glory, and honour, and immortalitie, euerlasting life:

8 But vnto them that are contentious, and disobey the trueth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shall be indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation and anguish shall be vpon the soule of every man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian.

10 But to every man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian.

11 For there is no respect of persons with God.

12 For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Law, shalbe iudged by the Law.

13 5 (For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God, but the doers of the Law shall be [i] iustified.

14 6 For when the Gentiles which haue [i] not the Lawe, doe by [k] nature the thinges conteined in the Lawe, they hauing not the Lawe, are a Law vnto themselues.

15 Which shew the effect of the Law [l] written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witnes & their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing.)

16 7 At the day when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to [m] my Gospel.

17 [3] [8] Behold, thou art called a Iew, and restest in the Law, and gloriest in God,

18 And knowest his will, and [n] [9] tryest the things that differ from it, in that thou art instructed by the Law:

19 And perswadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse,

20 An instructer of them which lack discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the [o] forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the [p] law.

21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale?

22 Thou that saiest, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adulterie? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacriledge?

23 Thou that glorifest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonourest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, * as it is written.

25 9 For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou doe the Law: but if thou be a transgressour of the Law, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore 9 if the vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Law, shall not his [r] vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not [s] vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Law) condemne thee which by the [t] letter and circumcision art a transgressour of the Law?

28 For hee is not a Iewe, which is one [u] outward:

4 He applieth that generall accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.

5 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Lawe doeth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Lawe doe iustifie.

h Shall be pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seate: which is true iudgede, if any such could be found that had fulfilled the law: but seeing Abraham was not iustified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by workes

6 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Gentiles who although they haue not the Lawe of Moses, yet they haue no reason whereby they may excuse their wickednes in that they haue somewhat written in their hearts in stead of a Law, as men that forbid, and punish some things as wicked, and command and commend other some as good.

i Not simply, but in comparison of the Iewes.

k Command honest things, and forbid dishonest.

l This knowledge is a naturall knowledge. 7 God deferreth many iudgements, which notwithstanding he will execute at their conuenient time by Iesus Christ, with a most straight examination, not onely of wordes and deedes, but of thoughts also, be they neuer so hidden or secret. m As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach. 8 Here prooueth by the testimonie of Dauid, and the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefits vpon the Iewes, in giuing them also the Lawe, but that they are the most vnthankefull and vnkindest of all men. n Canst thie and discerne what things swarue from Gods will. 9 Or allowest the things that are excellent. o The way to teach and frame other in the knowledge of the trueth. p As though he said, that the Iewes vnder a colour of an outward serving of God, challenged all to themselues, when as indeed, they did nothing lesse then obserue the Lawe. * Esai 52.5. ezech. 36.20. 9 Here precisely preuenteth their obiection, which set an holinesse in circumcision, and the outward observation of the Law: So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, doeth not onely not iustifie, but also condemne them that are indeed circumcised, of whome requireth that which is signified: that is to say, cleannesse of the heart and the whole life, according to the commandement of the Law. so that if there be a man uncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is farre better and more to be accounted of then any Iewe that is circumcised according to the flesh only. q This is the figure Metonymia, for, if the uncircumcised. r The state and condition of the uncircumcised. s He which is uncircumcised by nature and blood. t Paul vseth sometimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskin, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spirit and end of the ceremonie, is true holinesse and righteousnesse whereby the people of God is knowen from prophane and heathenish men, u By the outward ceremonie onely.

ward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

29 But he is a Iew which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the [x] spirit, not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

CHAP. III.

1 He giveth the Iewes some 2 preferment, for the covenants sak', 4 but yet such as wholly dependeth on Gods mercie. 9 That both Iewes and Gentiles are sinners, 11 he proveth by Scriptures: 19 and shewing the use of the Law. 28 He concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

WHat [1] is then the preferment of the Iew? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much every maner of way: for [a] chiefly, because unto them were of credit committed the [b] oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not [c] beleeve? shall their unbeleefe make the [d] faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be [e] iustified in thy words, and overcome, [f] when thou art iudged.

5 [2] Now if our [g] unrighteousnes commend the righteousnes of God, what shall we say? is God unrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as [h] a man.)

6 God forbid: (els how shall God iudge the world?)

7 [3] For if the [i] veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme, that we say) why doe we not evill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 [4] What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we have already prooved, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are [k] under sinne,

10 As it is written, * There is none righteous no not one.

11 There is none that understandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They have all gone out of the way: they have beene made altogether unprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 * Their throat is an open sepulchre: they have used their tongues to deceit: the poyson of aspes is under their lips,

14 * Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitternesse.

15 * Their feete are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction and calamity are in their wayes:

17 And the [l] way of peace they have not known.

18 * The feare of God is not before their eyes.

19 [5] Now wee knowe that whatsoever the [m] law saieth, it saieth it to them which are under the lawe, that [6] every mouth may be stopped, and all the world be [n] subiect to the iudgement of God.

20 Therefore by the [o] workes of the law shall no [p] flesh be [q] iustified in his [r] sight: for by the Law commeth the knowledge of sinne.

21 7 But now is the righteousnes of God made manifest without the Law, having witnesse of the Law, and of the Prophets.

22 [8] Iesu vvit, the righteousnesse of God by the faith of [s] Iesus Christ, unto all, and upon all that beleeve.

23 For there is no difference: for all have sinned, and are deprived of the [t] glory of God,

24 9 And are iustified [u] freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus,

25 [10] Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his [x] blood, to declare his righteousnesse, by the forgivenesse of the sinnes that y are passed,

26 Through the [z] patience of God, to shew at [a] this time his righteousnesse, that hee might be [b] iust, and a [c] iustifier of him which is of the [d] faith of Iesus.

27 [11] Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what [e] Law? of workes? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore wee conclude, that a man is iustified by faith, without the workes of the Lawe.

29 [12] God, is hee the God of the [f] Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, even of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God, who shall iustifie [g] circumcision of faith, and uncircumcision through faith.

31 [13] Doe wee then make the Lawe of [h] none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, wee [i] establish the Law.

x Whose force is inward, and in the heart.

1 The first meeting with, or preventing an obiection of the Iewes: what then, have the Iewes no more preferment then the Gentiles? yes, that have they, sayth the Apostle, on Gods behalfe: for he committed the tables of the covenant to them, so that the unbeliefe of a few, can not cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, and who also useth their unworthines to commend and set foorth his goodnesse.

a The Iewes state and condition was chiefest.

c Brake the covenant.

d The faith that God gave.

e That thy iustice might be plainely seene.

f Forasmuch as thou shewedst forth an evident token of thy righteousnes, constancie and faith by preserving him who had broken his covenant.

2 Another prevention, issuing out of the former answer: that the iustice of God is in such sort commended and set foorth by our unrighteousnesse, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world, and therefore a most severe revenger of unrighteousnesse.

3 Therefore I speake not these words in mine owne person as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wiselome, which is not subiect to the will of God.

4 Another answere to the first obiction: that the Iewes, if they be considered in themselves, are no better then other men are: as it hath beene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophet.

n Be found guilty before God.

o By that that the Law can by us be performed.

p Flesh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force: for it is put to shew the contrarietie betwixt God and man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing else but a piece of flesh defiled with sinne, and God who is most pure and most perfit in himselfe.

q Absolved before the iudgement seate of God.

r A secret setting of the righteousnesse which is before men, be they never so iust, against the iustice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousnesse can stand before God, but the righteousnesse of Christ onely.

5 Therefore saieth the Apostle, Least that men should perish, God doth now exhibite that, which he promised of old, that is to say, a way whereby we may be iustified and saved before him

6 The conclusion of all the former disputation, from the 8 verse of the first Chapter. Therefore saith the Apostle, No man can hope to be iustified by any Law, whether it be that generall Law, or the particular Law of Moses, and therefore to be saved: seeing it appeareth (as we have already prooved) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that all men are sinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the sight of God.

7 The matter, as it were of this righteousnesse, is Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, and for this end offered to all people, as without him all people are shut out from the kingdome of God.

8 Which wee give to Iesus Christ, or which resteth upon him.

9 Therefore this righteousnesse touching us, is altogether freely given, for it standeth upon those things which we have not done our selves, but such as Christ hath suffered for our sakes, to deliver us from sinne.

10 God then is the authour of that free iustification, because it pleaseth him: and Christ is hee, which suffered punishment for our sinnes, and in whom wee have remission of them: and the meane whereby wee apprehend Christ, is faith.

11 To be short, the end is the setting foorth of the goodnesse of God, that by this meanes it may appeare, that hee is mercifull indeede, and constant in his promises, as hee that freely, and of meere grace iustifieth the beleevers.

12 Another argument of an absurditie: if iustification depended upon the Law of Moses, then should God be a Saviour to the Iewes onely. Againe: if hee should save the Iewes after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, hee should not be one and like himselfe. Therefore hee will iustifie both of them after one selfe same manner, that is to say, by faith. Moreover, this argument must be ioyned to that which followeth next, that this conclusion may be firme and evident.

13 The taking away of an obiection: yet is not the Law taken away therefore, but is rather established, as it shall be declared in his proper place.

x Whose name of Blood, calleth us backe to the figure of the olde sacrifices, the truth and substance of which sacrifices is in Christ. y Of those sinnes which wee committed when we were his enemies. z Through his patience, and suffering nature. a To wit, when Paul wrote this. b That he might be found exceeding true and faithfull. c Making him iust, and without blame by imputing Christs righteousnesse unto him. d Of the number of them which by faith ly hold upon Christ: contrarie to whome, are they which looke to be iustified by circumcision, that is, by the Law.

e By what doctrine? now the doctrine of workes hath his condition ioyned with it, If thou doest: and the doctrine of faith hath this condition, If thou beleevest.

b Vaine, voide, to no purpose, and of no force.

i Wee make it effectuall and strong.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

1 How proveth that which he sayd before of faith, by example of Abraham, 3, 6 and the testimonie of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateth upon this word, Imputation.

1 A new argument of great weight taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleevers: And this is the proposition: if Abraam be considered in himselfe by his works, he hath deserved nothing wherein to reioyce with God. a by works, as appeareth in the nexth verse.

2 A preventing of an obiection: Abraham may well reioyce and extoll himselfe amongst men, but not with God.

3 A confirmation of the propositon: Abraham was iustified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his works.

4 The first proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deserveth any thing by his labor, the wages is not counted by favour, but by debt: but to him that hath done nothing, but beleeveth in him which promiseth freely, faith is imputed. b To him that hath deserved any thing by his worke. c Is not reckoned nor given him. d That maketh him which is wicked in himselfe, iust in Christ.

WHat 1 shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the a flesh?

2 2 For if Abraham were iustified by works, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.

3 3 For what sayeth the Scripture? Abraham beleeved God, and it was counted to him for righteousnesse.

4 4 Now to him that b worketh, the wages is not c counted by favour, but by debt:

5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeveth in him that d iustifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousnesse.

6 5 Even as David declareth the blessednesse of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousnesse without works, saying,

7 Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sinnes are covered.

8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne.

9 6 Came this e blessednesse then upon the circumcision onely, or upon the uncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed unto Abraham for righteousnesse.

10 7 How was it then imputed? when hee was circumcised, or uncircumcised? not when hee was circumcised, but when he was uncircumcised.

11 8 After, hee received the f signe of circumcision, as the g seale of the righteousnes of the faith which he had, when he was uncircumcised, 9 that hee should be the father of all them that beleeve, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also.

12 10 And the father of circumcision, not unto them onely which are of the circumcision, but unto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when he was uncircumcised.

13 11 For the promise that hee should be the h heire of the world, was not given to Abraham, or to his seed, through the i Law, but through the righteousnesse of faith.

14 For if they which are of the k Law, be heires, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.

15 13 For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.

16 14 Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace: and the promise might be sure to all the l seed, 15 not to that onely which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham who is the father of us all,

17 (As it is written, I have made thee a 16 father of many nations) even before m God whom he beleeved, who n quickneth the dead, & o calleth those things which be not, as though they were.

18 17 Which Abraham above hope, beleeved under hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seed be.

19 And he p not weake in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now q dead, being almost an hundred yeere old, neither the darkenesse of Saraes wombe,

20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through unbeliefe, but was strengthened in the faith, and gave r glory to God,

21 Being s fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to do it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnesse.

23 18 Now it is not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnesse,

24 But also for us, to whom it shall be imputed for righteousnesse, which beleeve in him that raised up Iesus our Lord from the dead,

25 Who was delivered to death for our t sinnes, and is risen againe for our iustification.

5 Another proofe of the same confirmation: David putteth blessednes in free pardon of sinnes, therefore iustification also. 6 A new proposition: that this manner of iustification belonged both to the uncircumcised, and also to the circumcised: as is declared in the person of Abraham. e This saying of David, where he pronounceth them blessed. 7 He proveth that it belongeth to the uncircumcised (for there was no doubt of the circumcised) in this sort: Abraham was iustified in uncircumcision, therefore this iustification belongeth also to the uncircumcised. Nay, it doeth not appertaine to the circumcised in respect of the circumcision, much lesse are the uncircumcised shut out for their uncircumcision. 8 A preventing of an obiection: why then was Abraham circumcised, if he were already iustified? That the gift of righteousnes (sayth he) might be confirmed to him. f Circumcision, which is a signe: as we say, the Sacrament of Baptisme, for Baptisme which is a Sacrament. g Circumcision was called before a signe, in respect of the outward ceremony: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that signe, that is, to what end it is used, to wit, not onely to signifie, but also to seale up the righteousnesse of faith, whereby we come to possesse Christ himselfe, for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly indeed, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the word, doe represent. 9 An applying of the example of Abraham to the uncircumcised beleevers, whose father also he maketh Abraham. 10 And applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleevers, whose father Abraham is, but yet by faith. 11 A reason why the seed of Abraham is be esteemed by faith, because that Abraham himselfe through faith was made partaker of that promise, whereby he was made the father of all nations. h That all nations of the world should be his children: or by the world may be understand the land of Canaan. i For works that he had done or upon this condition that he should fulfill the Law.

12 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law, and therefore it should be frustrate: the other: that the condition of faith should be ioyned in vaine to that promise which should be apprehended by works. k If they be heires which have fulfilled the Law.

13 A reason of the first confirmation, why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Lawe: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and us, but rather denounceth his anger against us, forsomuch as no man can observe it.

14 The conclusion of this argument. The salutation and iustification of all the posteritie of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith, which layed hold on the promise made unto Abraham, and which promise Abraham himselfe first of all layed hold on. l To all the beleevers.

15 That is to say, not onely of them which beleeve and are also circumcised according to the Lawe, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the children of Abraham.

16 This fatherhood is spirituall, depending onely upon the vertue of God, who made the promise. m Before God, that is, by a spirituall kinred, which had place before God, and maketh us acceptable to God. n Who restored to life. o With whom these things are already, which as yet are not in deed, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing.

17 A description of true faith, wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set foorth in the example of Abraham. p Very strong and constant. q Void of strength, and unmeet to get children. r Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true. s A description of true faith. 18 The rule of iustification is alwayes one, both in Abraham and in all the faithfull: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sinnes in Christ our mediatour, raised him from the dead, that we also being iustified, might be saved in him. t To pay the ransome for our sinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He amplifieth 2 Christ's righteousnesse, which is layed hold on by faith, 5 who was given for the weake, 8 and sinfull. 14 He compareth Christ with Adam. 17 Death with Life, 30 and the Law with Grace.

THen being 1 iustified by faith, we have peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ.

2 ✣ 2 By whom also through faith wee have a had this accesse unto this grace b wherein wee c stand, 3 and d reioyce under the hope of the glory of God.

3 4 Neither that onely, but also we ✣ reioyce in tribulations, 5 knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience,

1 Another argument taken of the effects: we are iustified with that, which truely appeaseth our conscience before God: but faith in Christ doth appease our conscience, and not the Law, as it was before sayd, therefore by faith wee are iustified, and not by the Law. ✣ Ephes. 2, 18. 2 Whereas quietnesse of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giver of faith it selfe, and in whom faith it selfe is effectuall. a We must here know, that wee have yet still this same effect of faith. b By which grace, that is, by which gracious love and good will, or that state wherunto wee are graciously taken. c We stand stedfast. 3 A preventing of an obiection against them which beholding the dayly miseries and calamities of the Church, think that the Christians dreame, when they bragge of their felicities: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicitie is layed up under hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they doe no lesse reioyce for that happinesse, then if they did presently enioy it. d Our mindes are not onely quiet and setled, but also we are marveilously glad, and conceive great ioy for that heavenly inheritance which waiteth for us.

4 Tribulation it selfe giveth us divers and sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doth it make us miserable. ✣ Iam. 1, 2. 5 Afflictions accustome unto patience, and patience assureth us of the goodnesse of God, and this experience confirmeth, and fostereth our hope, which never deceiveth us.

4 And

4 And patience experience, and experience hope,

6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloved of God, and this is nothing els but that which we call faith: wherof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted.

u Wherewith he loveth us.

7 A sure comfort in adversitie, that our peace and quietnesse of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loved them that were of no strength and while they were yet sinners, that hee died for them, how can he neglect them being now sanctified and living in him?

f In time fit and convenient, which the father hath appointed.

Hebr. 9. 15. 1. pet. 3. 14.

9 An amplifying of the love of God toward us, so that we cannot doubt of it, who delivered Christ to death for the unjust, and for them of whom he could receive no commoditie, and (that more is) for his very enemies.

5 6 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the c love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is given unto us.

6 7 For Christ, when wee were yet of no strength, at his f time died for the * ungodly.

7 8 Doubtlesse one will scarse die g for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God h setteth out his love toward us, seeing that while wee were yet i sinners, Christ died for us.

9 Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shallbe saved from k wrath through him.

10 For if when wee were enemies, wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.

11 9 And not onely so, but we also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.

12 10 Wherefore, as by l one man m sinne entred into the world, and death by sinne, and so death went over all men: n in whom all men have sinned.

13 11 For unto the o time of the Law was sinne in the world, but sinne is not p imputed, while there is no law.

14 12 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over q them also that sinned not after the like r maner of the transgresion of Adam, 13 which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 14 But yet the gift is not so as is the offence: for if through the offence of s that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.

16 15 Neither is the gift so, as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence unto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to t iustification.

17 16 For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receive that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousnesse, u reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.

18 17 Likewise then, as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the x iustification of life.

19 18 For as by one mans y disobedience z many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one, shall many also be made righteous.

20 19 Moreover, the Law a entred thereupon, that the offence should abounded: nevertheless, where sinne abounded, there grace b abounded much more:

21 That as sinne had reigned unto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousnesse unto eternall life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

1 To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit, and pronounced righteous.

16 The third difference is, that the righteousnesse of Christ being imputed unto us by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his posterity to death.

u By partaken of true and everlasting life.

17 Therefore to be short, as by one mans offence, the guiltines came on all men, to make them subiect to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousnesse of Christ, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleevers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of everlasting life.

x Not onely because our sinnes are forgiven us, but also because the righteousnesse of Christ is imputed unto us.

18 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stocks of rootes, so that out of the one, sinne by nature, out of the other, righteousnesse by grace doeth spring fourth upon others.

y So then, sinne entred not into us onely by following the steppes of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance.

z This word, Many, is set against this word, A few.

19 A preventing of an obiection: why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? that men might be so much the more guiltie, and the benefit of God in Christ Iesus be much the more glorious.

a Beside that distaste which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Law entred.

b Grace was powred so plentifully from heaven, that it did not onely counterpaile sinne, but about measure passed it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He commeth to sanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Christes righteousnesse, he proveth 4 by an argument taken of Baptisme, 12 and thereupon exhorteth to holinesse of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

1 He passeth now to another benefit of Christ, which is called sanctification or regeneration.

WHat f shall we say then? Shall we continue still in g sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2 2 How shall we, that are h dead to sinne, live yet therein?

3 3 Know ye not, that ✣ all wee which have bene baptized into c Iesus Christ, have bene baptized into his death?

4 ✣ We are buried then with him by baptisme into his death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead d to the glory of the Father, so e we also should * walke in newnesse of life.

5 ✣ For if wee be planted with him to the a In that corruption: for though the guiltinesse of sinne be not imputed to us, yet the corruption remaineth still in us: the which Sanctification on that followeth Iustification fulfilleth by litle and litle.

2 The benefit of Iustification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inseparably, and both of them proceed from Christ, by the grace of God: Now sanctification is the abolishing of sinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whose place succeedeth the cleanesse and pureneſſe of nature reformed.

b They are sayd of Paul to be dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the vertue of Christ, that that naturall corruption is deed in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruits, and on the other side, they are sayd to live to sinne, which are in the flesh, that is, whom the spirit of God hath not delivered from the slaverie of the corruption of nature.

3 There are three parts of this Sanctification, to wit, the dead of the olde man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the newe man, defending into us from the vertue of the death, buriall, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefit our baptisme is the signe and pledge. ✣ Gal. 3. 27.

c To the end that growing up in one with him, we should receive his strength, to quench sinne in us, and to make us new men. ✣ Colosſ. 2. 12.

d That Christ himselfe being discarged of his infirmitie and weakenesse, might live in glory with God for ever.

e And wee which are his members rise for this ende, that being made partakers of the selfe same vertue, we should begin to leade a new life, as though we were already in heaven. * Ephes. 4. 23. colosſ. 3. 3. hebr. 12. 1. 1. pet. 2. 1.

4 The death of sinne and the life of righteousnesse, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing up into one with him, cannot be separated by any meanes, neither in death nor life, where by it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which lived still to sinne: and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not, and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as he sayd before, the Law is not subuerted, but established by faith. ✣ 2. Cor. 6, 14. 2. tim. 2, 11.

6 An exhortation to contend and strive with corruption and all the effects thereof.

o By reigning, Saint Paul meaneth that chiefetie and high rule, which no man striveth against, and if any do, yet it is in vaine.

p To sinne, as to a Lord or tyrant.

q Your mind and all the powers of it.

r As instruments to commit wickednesse withall.

f similitude of his death, even so shall we g be to the similitude of his resurrection.

6 Knowing this, that our h old man is crucified with i him, that the body of k sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serue sinne.

7 1 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.

8 Wherefore, if wee be dead with Christ, wee beleeve that we shall live also with him,

9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion over him.

10 For in that he died he died m once to sinne: but in that he liveth, he liveth to n God.

11 Likewise thinke ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are alive to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.

12 6 Let not sinne o reigne therefore in your mortal body, ‡ ye should obey it in the lusts therof:

13 Neither p give ye your q members, as r weapons of unrighteousnes unto sinne: but give your selves unto God, as they that are alive from the dead, and give your members as weapons of righteousnes unto God.

14 7 For sinne shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the Law, but under grace.

15 ‡ What then? shall we sinne, because we are not under the Law, but under grace? God forbid.

16 ✣ Know ye not, that to whom soever ye give your selves as servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sinne unto death, or of obedience unto righteousnesse?

17 9 But God be thanked, that ye have bene the servants of sinne, but ye have obeyed from the heart unto the s forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were delivered.

18 Being then made free from sinne, yee are made the servants of righteousnesse.

19 I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as ye have given your members servants to uncleanes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now give your members servants unto righteousnesse in holinesse.

20 For when ye were the servants of sinne, yee were t freed from righteousnesse.

21 10 What fruite had ye then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the u ende of those things is death.

22 But now being freed from sinne, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit in holinesse, and the end, everlasting life.

23 11 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

s To a forme of doctrine, whereunto we were delivered, that is, to the Gospel.

t Free from the bondage of sinne.

u The reward or paiment.

‡ Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, unto life everlasting.

CHAP. VII.

1 He declareth what it is, to be no more under the Law. 2 by an example taken of the Lawe of marriage, 7, 12 And least the Lawe should seeme faultie, 14 he proveth it: that our sinne is the cause, 15 that the same is an occasion of death, 17 which was given us unto life. 21 He setteth out the battell betweene the flesh and the spirit.

KNow, ye not, brethren, (for I speake to them that know the Lawe) that the Law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth?

2 ✣ For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bonnd by the Law to the man, while hee liveth: but if the man be dead, shee is delivered from the Law of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liveth, shee taketh another man, shee shallbe a called an ✣ adultheresse: but if the man be dead, shee is free from the Lawe, so that she is not an adultheresse, though shee take another man.

4 2 So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Law by the b body of Christ, that ye should be unto an other, even unto him ŷ is raised up from the dead, that we should bring forth c fruit unto d God.

5 3 For when we e were in the flesh, the f affections of sins, which were by the g law, had h force in our members, to bring fruit unto death,

6 But now we are delivered from the law, he i being dead k in whom we were l holden, that we should serue in m newnesse of Spirit, and not in the oldnesse of the n letter.

7 4 What shall we say then? Is the Law sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knew not sinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowen o lust, except the Law had sayd, * Thou shalt not lust.

8 But sinne tooke an occasion by the commandement, and wrought in me all maner of concupiscence: for without the law sinne is p dead.

9 5 For I once was alive, without the 4 lawe: but when the commandement r came, sinne revived,

10 But I ſ died: and the same commandement which was ordained unto life, was found to be unto me unto death.

11 For sinne tooke occasion by the commandement, and deceived me, and thereby slew me.

12 6 Wherefore the Law is ✣ holy, and that t commandement is holy, and iust, and good.

a By propounding the similitude of a marriage, he compareth the state of man both before and after regeneration together. The law of matrimony, saith he, is this, that so long as the husband liveth, the marriage abideth in force, but if he be dead, the woman may marry againe.

✣ 1 Cor. 7. 32.

a That is, shee shall be an adultheresse, by the consent & iudgment of all men.

2 An application of the similitude thus. So, saith he, dorsh it fare with us: for now we are ioyned to the spirit, as it were to the second husband, by whom we must bring foorth new children: we are dead in respect of the first husband, but in respect of the lattes we are as it were raised from the dead.

b That is, in the body of Christ, to give us to understand how straight and nere that fellowship is betwixt Christ and his members.

c He calleth the children, which the wife had by her husband, fruit.

d Which are acceptable to God.

3 A declaration of the former sayieg: for the concupiscence (saith hee) which the law stirred up in us, were in us as it were an husband, of whom we brought forth very deadly and cursed children. But now since that husband is dead, and so consequently being delivered from the force of that killing law, we have passed into the governance of that spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten and dead, but lively children.

e When we were in the state of the first marriage, which he calleth in the next verse following the oldnes of the letter.

f The motions that egged us to sinne, which shew their force even in our minds.

g He saith not, of the law, but by the law, because they spring of sin which dwelleth within us, and take occasion to worke thus in us, by reason of the restraint that the law maketh, not that the fault is in the law, but in our selves.

h Wrought their strength.

i As if he said, The bond which bound us, is dead, and banished away; insomuch, that sinne which held us, hath not now wherewith to hold us.

k For this husband is within us.

l Satan as an unjust possessor, for he brought us in bondage of sinne and himselfe deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we stand willingly.

m As becommeth them, which after the death of their old husband are ioyned to the spirit: as whom the spirit of God hath made new men.

n By the letter he meaneth the Law, in respect of that olde condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh but to deafe men, and therefore it is dumbe and dead to us, as touching the fulfilling of it.

4 An obiection: what then? are the law and sinne all one, and do they agree together? nay, saith he: Sinne is reproved and condemned by the law. But because sinne cannot abide to be reproved, and was not in a manner felt until it was provoked and stirred up by the law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outragious, and yet by no fault of the law.

o By the word, Lust, in this place he meaneth not evill lusts themselves, but the fountaine from whence they spring: for the very heathen philosophers themselves condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly, but as for this fountaine of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very seat of that naturall and uncleane spot and filth.

* Exo. 20. 17. deut. 5. 21.

p Though sinne be in us, yet it is not knowen for sinne, neither doth it forage, as it rageth after that the law is knowen.

5 He setteth himselfe before us for an example, in whom all men may beholde, first what they are of nature before they earnestly thinke upon the Law of God: to wit, blockish, and headie to sinne and wickednes, without all true sense and feeling of sinne, then what maner of persons they become, when their conscience is reproved by the testimonie of the law, to wit, stubburne, and more enflamed with the desire of sinne, then ever they were before.

q When I knew not the law, then me thought I lived in deed: for my conscience never troubled mee because it knew not my disease.

r When I began to understand the commandement.

ſ In sinne, or by sinne.

6 The conclusion: That the lawe of it selfe is holy, but all the fault is in us which abuse the law.

✣ 1. Tim. 1. 8. t Touching not coveting.

7 The proposition: That the Law is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not onely discovered, but also stirred up, and tooke occasion thereby to rebell, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence commeth guiltinesse, and occasion of death.

u Beareth it the blame of my death?

x That sinne might shew it selfe to be sinne, and bewray it selfe to be that, which is in deed.

y As still as it could, shewing all the venime it could.

8 The cause of this matter, is this: Because that the Law requireth a heavenly pureness, but men, such as they be borne, are bondslaves of corruption, which they willingly serve.

9 He setteth himselfe, being regenerate, before us, for an example, in whom may easily

13 7 Was that then which is good, u made death unto mee? God forbid: but sinne, that is might x appeare sinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sinne might be y out of measure sinfull by the commandement.

14 8 For wee know that the Law is spirituall, but I am carnall, sold under sinne.

15 9 For I 10 allow not that which I do: for what I 11 would, that do I not: but what I hate, ỹ doe I.

16 If I doe then that which I would not, I consent to the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but z sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 12 For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present w̃ me: but I find a no means to performe ỹ which is good.

19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the evill, which I would not, that doe I.

20 Now if I doe that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

21 13 I finde then that when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that evill is present with me.

22 For I delight in the Law of God, concerning the b inner man.

23 But I see another Lawe in my members, rebelling against the Law of my e minde, and leading mee captive unto the law of sinne, which is in my members.

24 14 O d wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death!

25 I e thanke God through Iesus Christ our Lord. Then I f my selfe in my minde serve the Law of God, but in my flesh, the law of sinne.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit, 3 howsoever they be as yet burdened with sinnes: 9 For they live through that Spirit, 14 Whose testimonie, 15 driven away all feare, 18 and relieveth our present miseries.

NOw 1 then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which a walke not after the a flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 3 For the b Law of the Spirit of c life which is in d Christ Iesus, hath e freed me from the Law of sinne and of death.

3 4 For (that that was f impossible to the Law, in as much as it was weake, because of the g flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in the simulitude of h sinfull flesh, and for i sinne, k condemned sin in the flesh,

4 That that l righteousnes of the Lawe might be fulfilled s in us, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 6 For they that are after the m flesh, savour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 7 For the wisedome of the flesh is death: but the wisedome of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 8 Because the wisedome of the flesh is enimitie against God: 9 for it is not ṡubiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can be.

8 13 So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 11 Now ỹe are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, because ỹ spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not ỹ Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

1 A conclusion of all the former disputation from vers. 16. of chap. 1. even to this place: Seeing that we being iustified by faith in Christ, doe obtaine remission of sins and imputation of righteousnes, & are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, that they that are grafted into Christ by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation.

a The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of sanctification, which is begun in us, doe not ingraft us into Christ, but doe declare that wee are grafted into him.

a Follow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not sayd to live after the flesh that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he slep away.

3 A preventing of an obiection: seeing that the vertue of the spirit which is in us, is so weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that have that vertue? because saith he, that vertue of the quickening spirit which is so weake in us, is most perfit and most mighty in Christ, and being imputed unto us which beleeve, causeth us to be accounted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption, and death in us. Therefore hitherto Paul disputed of remission of sins, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, and also of sanctification which is begun in us: but now he speaketh of the perfit imputation of Christs manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: for our sinnes are defaced by the blood of Christ, and the guiltines of our corruption is covered with the imputation of Christs obedience: and the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinfull sinne) is healed in us by little and little, by the gift of sanctification, but yet it lacketh besides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christes owne flesh, which also is to us imputed.

b The power and authority of the Spirit, against which it set the tyranny of sin. c Which mortifieth the olde man, and quickeneth the new man. d To wit, absolutely and perfitely. e For Christs sanctification being imputed unto us, perfiteth our sanctification which is begun in us.

4 He vseth no argument here, but expoundeth the mystery of sanctification, which is imputed unto us: for because, that the vertue of the law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfit: and for that it rather kindled the disease of sin, then did put it out and extinguish it, therefore God cloathed his Son with flesh like unto our sinfull flesh, wherein he vtterly abolished our corruption that being accounted thorowly pure and without fault to him apprehended and layd hold on by faith, we might be found to have fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth. and therefore that there might be no condemnation in us.

f Which is not proper to the Law, but commeth by our fault. g In man not borne anew, whose disease the law could not heale it. h Of mans nature which was corrupt through sin, untill he sanctified it. i To abolish sin in our flesh. k Shewed that sin hath no right in us. l The very substance of the law of God might be fulfilled: or that same which the law requireth, that wee may be found iust before God: for if with our iustification there be ioyned that sanctification which is imputed to us, we are iust, according to that perfect forme which the Lord requireth.

5 He returneth to that which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in us, is a sure testimony of our ingrafting into Christ: which is a most plentifull fruit of a godly & honest life. 6 A reason why to walke after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the spirit agreeth and is meet for them: because, saith he, that they which are after the flesh, savour the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit, the things of the spirit. m They that live as the flesh leadeth them. 7 He prooveth the consequent: Because that whatsoever the flesh favoureth, that ingendreth death: and whatsoever the spirit savoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life everlasting. 8 A reason and proofe why the wisedome of the flesh is death: because saith he it is the enemy of God. 9 A reason why the wisedome of the flesh is enemy to God: because it neither will neither can be subiect to him. And by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate. 13 The conclusion: therefore they that walke after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not ingrafted into Christ.

11 He commeth to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the spirit. of whom we have to understand contrary things to the former: and first of all he defireth what it is to be in the spirit, or to be sanctified, to wit, to have the spirit of God dwelling in us: then he declareth, that sanctification is so ioyned and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no meanes be separated, appeare the strife of the Spirit and the flesh, and therefore of the Law of God and our wickednes. For since that the Law in a man not regenerate bringeth foorth death onely, therefore in him it may easily be accused: but seeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth foorth good fruit, it doth better appeare that evill actions proceede not from the Law, but from sinne, that is from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also, what the true vse of the Law is, in reprooving sinne in the regenerate, unto the end of the chapter, as a litle before (to wit, from the seventh verse unto this fifteenth) he declared the vse of it in them which are not regenerate. 10 The deedes of my life, saith he, answere not, nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the consent of my will with the Law, and repugnancie with the deedes of my life, it appeareth evidently, that the Law and a right ruled will do perswade one thing, but corruption which hath her seate also in the regenerate, another thing. 11 It is to be noted, that one selfe same man is said to will and not to will, in divers respects: to wit, he is said to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that that he is such an one as he was borne. But because the part which is regenerate, at length becommeth conquerour, therefore Paul sustening the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sinneth willingly were something without a man, although after warde hee granteth that this evill is in his flesh, or in his members.

z That naturall corruption, which cleaveth fast even to them that are regenerate, and not cleane conquered.

12 This vice, or sinne, or law of sinne, doeth wholy possesse those men which are not regenerate, and hindreth them or holdeth them backe that are regenerate.

a This doeth in deede agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a newe man: for where the Spirit is not, how can there be any strife there.

13 The conclusion: As the Law of God exhorteth to goodnesse, so doeth the Lawe of sinne (that is, the corruption wherein wee are borne) force unto wickednesse: but the Spirit, that is, our minde, in that that it is regenerate, consenteth with the Lawe of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondslave to the Law of sinne. Therefore to be short, wickednesse and death are not of the Law, but of sinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor doe good, but will, and doe evill: But in them that are regenerate, it striveth against the Spirit or lawe of the minde, so that they cannot either life so well as they would, or be so voyde of sinne as they would.

b The inner man, and the newe man are all one, and are answerable and set as contrary to the olde man: neither doeth this word, Inner man, signifie mans minde and reason, and the olde man, the powers that are under them, as the Philosophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatsoever is either without or within a man, from toppe to toe, so long as that man is not borne a new by the grace of God.

c The Law of the minde in this place, is not to be understood of the minde as it is naturally, and as our minde is from our birth, but of the minde which is renewed by the Spirit of God.

14 It is a miserable thing to be yet in part subiect to sinne, which of it owne nature maketh us guiltie of death: but we must cry to the Lord who will by death it selfe at length make us conquerours as wee are already conquerours in Christ.

d Wearied with miserable and continuall conflict.

e Hee recovereth himselfe, and sheweth us that he resteth onely in Christ.

f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, to confesse that they are imperfit.

10 12 And if Christ be in you, the [a] body is dead, becauſe of ſinne: but the Spirit is life for righteouſneſſe ſake.

11 13 But if the Spirit of him that raiſed up Ieſus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raiſed up Chriſt from the dead, ſhall alſo quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that [o] dwelleth in you.

12 14 Therefore brethren, wee are debters not to the fleſh, to live after the fleſh:

13 15 For if ye live after the fleſh, yee ſhall die: but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye ſhall live.

14 16 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the ſonnes of God.

15 17 For yee have not received the [p] Spirit of bondage, to [q] feare againe: but ye have received ŷ Spirit of [r] adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 The ſame Spirit beareth witneſſe with our ſpirit, that we are the children of God.

17 18 If vve be children, vve are alſo [ſ] heires, even the heires of God, and heires annexed with Chriſt: 19 if ſo be that wee ſuffer with him, that we may alſo be glorified with him.

18 20 For I [t] count that the afflictions of this preſent time are not worthy of the glory, which ſhall be ſhewed unto us.

19 21 For the fervent deſire of the [u] creature waiteth when the ſonnes of God ſhall be reveiled,

20 Becauſe the creature is ſubiect to [x] vanitie, not of it [y] owne will, but by reaſon [z] of him, which hath ſubdued it under [a] hope,

21 Becauſe the creature alſo ſhall be delivered from the [b] bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the ſonnes of God.

22 For wee know that every creature groneth with us alſo, and [c] travaileth in paine together unto this preſent.

23 22 And not onely the creature, but we alſo which have the firſt fruites of the Spirit, even wee doe ſigh in our [d] ſelves, waiting for the adoption, even 4 [e] the redemption of our body.

24 23 For wee are ſaved by hope: but [f] hope that is ſeene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he ſeeth?

25 But if we hope for that we ſee not, wee doe with patience abide for it.

26 24 Likewiſe the Spirit alſo [g] helpeth our infirmities: for wee know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it ſelfe maketh [h] requeſt for us with ſighs, which cannot be expreſſed.

27 But hee that ſearcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the [i] meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh requeſt for ŷ Saints, [k] according to the vvill of God.

28 25 Alſo we know that [l] all things worke together for the beſt unto them that love God, even to them that are called of his [m] purpoſe.

29 For thoſe which hee knew before, he alſo predeſtinate to bee made like to the image of his Sonne, that hee might be the firſt borne among many brethren.

30 Moreover, whom he [n] predeſtinate, them alſo he called, and whom he called, them alſo he iuſtified, and whom he iuſtified, them he alſo glorified.

31 26 What ſhall we then ſay to theſe things? If God be on our ſide, who can be againſt us?

32 Who ſpared not his owne Sonne, but gave him for us all to death, how ſhall he not with him [o] give us all things alſo?

33 27 Who ſhall lay any thing to the charge of Gods choſen? it is [p] God that iuſtifieth.

34 Who ſhall condemne? it is Chriſt which is dead: yea, or rather, which is riſen againe, who is alſo at the right hand of God, and maketh requeſt alſo for us.

35 Who ſhall ſeparate us from the love of [q] Chriſt? ſhall tribulation, or anguiſh, or perſecution, or famine, or nakednеſſe, or perill, or ſword?

36 As it is written, ✣ For thy ſake are we killed al day long: we are counted as ſheep for ŷ ſlaughter:

37 [r] Neverthelеſſe, in all theſe things wee are more then conquerers through him that loved us.

38 For I am perſwaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things preſent, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, ſhall be able to ſeparate us from the love of God, which is in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord.

10 12 [a] Hee confirmeth the faithfull againſt the reliques of fleſh and ſinne, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to ſay, a lumpe) which is not yet purged from the earthly ſhrines in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy ſucceſſe of their combate, becauſe that even the leaſt ſparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteouſneſſe, is the ſeede of life.

n The fleſh, or all that which as yet ſticketh faſt in the leſſe of ſinne, and death.

13 A confirmation of the former ſentence: You have the ſelfe ſame Spirit, which Chriſt hath. Therefore at length it ſhall die the ſame in you, that it did in Chriſt to wit, when all infirmities being utterly layd aſide, and death overcome, it ſhall cloath you with heavenly glory.

o By the vertue and power of it, which ſhewed the ſame might firſt in our head, and dayly worketh in his members.

14 An exhortation to oppreſſe the fleſh dayly more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, becauſe (ſaith he) you are debters unto God, for ſo much as you have received ſo many benefits of him. 15 Another reaſon of the profit that enſueth: for ſuch as ſtrive and fight valiantly, ſhall have everlaſting life. 16 A confirmation of this reaſon: they be the children of God, which are governed by his Spirit, therefore ſhall they have life everlaſting. 17 He declareth and expoundeth by the way in theſe two verſes, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is given to the beleevers: becauſe ſaith hee, they have received the grace of the Goſpel, wherein God ſheweth himſelfe, not (as before in the publiſhing of the Law) terrible and fearefull, but a moſt benigne and loving father in Chriſt, ſo that with great boldnes we call him Father, the holy Ghoſt ſealing this adoption in our hearts by faith.

p By the Spirit is ment the holy Ghoſt, whom we are ſaid to receive, when he worketh in our minds.

q Which feare is ſtirred up in our minds by the preaching of the Law.

r Which ſeaſoneth our adoption in our minds, and therefore openeth our mouthes.

18 A proofe of the conſequent of the confirmation: becauſe that he which is the Sonne of God, doth enioy God with Chriſt.

ſ Partakers of our fathers goods, and that freely, becauſe we are children by adoption.

19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the ſonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the croſſe, as Chriſt himſelfe did: and therewithall openeth unto them fountaines of comfort: as firſt, that we have Chriſt a companion and fellow of our afflictions: ſecondly, that we ſhall be alſo his fellowes in that everlaſting glory. 20 Thirdly that this glory which we looke for, doth a thouſand parts ſurmount the miſery of our afflictions.

21 Fourthly, he plainely teacheth us that wee ſhall certainely be renued from that confuſion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continuall, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the ſinne of man: for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, ſo ſhall it at length be reſtored with the elect.

u All this world. x Is ſubiect to a vaniſhing and fliting ſtate. y Not by their naturall inclination. z That they ſhould obey the Creatours commandement, whom it pleaſed to ſhew by their fickle eſtate, how greatly he was diſpleaſed with man. a God would not make the world ſubiect to everlaſting curſe, for the ſinne of man, but gave it hope that it ſhould be reſtored. b From the corruption which they are now ſubiect to, they ſhall be delivered and changed into that bleſſed ſtate of incorruption, which ſhall be revealed when the ſonnes of God ſhall be advanced to glory.

c By this word is meant, not onely exceeding ſorow, but alſo the fruit that followeth of it.

22 Fiftely, if the reſt of the world looke for a reſtoring, groning as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieve us alſo to ſigh, yea, let us be more certainely perſwaded of our redemption to come, foraſmuch as we have the firſt fruits of the Spirit.

d Even from the bottome of our hearres.

e That laſt reſtoring, which ſhall be the accompliſhment of our adoption.

23 Sixtly, hope is neceſſarily ioyned with faith: ſeeing then that we beleeve thoſe things, which we are not yet in poſſeſſion of, and hope reſpected not the thing that is preſent, we muſt therefore hope and patiently wait for that which we beleeve ſhall come to paſſe.

f This is ſpoken by the figure Metonymie: Hope, for that which is hoped for.

24 Seventhly. There is no cauſe why we ſhould faint under the burden of afflictions, ſeeing that prayers miniſter unto us a moſt ſure helpe, which can not be fruſtrate, ſeeing they proceed from the ſpirit of God, which dwelleth in us.

g Beareth our burden, as it were that we faint not under it.

h Provoketh us to prayers, and telleth us as it were within, what we ſhall ſay, and how we ſhall grone.

i What ſobs and ſighs proceed from the inſtinct of his Spirit.

k Becauſe he teacheth the godly to pray according to Gods will.

25 Eightly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods providence for our great profit, who as he choſe us from the beginning, ſo hath hee predeſtinate us to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring us in his time, being called and iuſtified, to glory, by the croſſe.

l Not onely afflictions, but whatſoever els.

m He calleth that, Purpoſe, which God hath from everlaſting appointed with himſelfe according to his good will and pleaſure.

n He uſeth the time paſt, for the time preſent, as the Hebreyve uſe, who ſometime ſet downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is paſt, to ſignifie the certeinty of it: and he bad alſo a regard to Gods continuall working.

26 Ninthly, wee have no cauſe to feare that the Lord will not give us whatſoever is profitable for us, ſeeing that he hath not ſpared his owne Sonne to ſave us.

o Give us freely.

27 A moſt glorious and comfortable concluſion of the whole ſecond part of this Epiſtle, that is, of the treatiſe of iuſtification. There are no accuſers that we have neede to be afraid of before God, ſeeing that God himſelfe abſolveth us as iuſt: and therefore much leſſe neede we to feare damnation, ſeeing that we reſt upon the death and reſurrection, the almightie power and defence of Ieſus Chriſt. Therefore what can there be ſo weightie in this life, or of ſo great force and power, that might feare us, as though we might fall from the love of God, wherewith he loveth us in Chriſt: Surely nothing. Seeing that it is in it ſelfe moſt conſtant and ſure, and alſo in us being confirmed by ſtedfaſt faith.

p Who pronounceth us, not onely guiltleſſe, but alſo perfitly iuſt in his Sonne.

q Wherewith Chriſt loveth us.

✣ Pſal. 44. 22.

r We are not onely not overcome with ſo great and many miſeries and calamities, but alſo more then conquerours in all of them.

u Mans will knoweth no other cauſes of love or hatred, but thoſe that are in the perſons, and thereupon this election riſeth.

11 He anſwereth firſt touching them which are choſen to ſalvation in chuſing of whom he denieth that God may ſeeme vniuſt, although he chuſe and predeſtinate to ſalvation them that are not yet borne, without any reſpect of worthineſſe: becauſe he bringeth not the choſen to the appointed end, but by the meanes of his mercie, which is a cauſe next under predeſtination. Now mercy preſuppoſeth miſerie, and againe miſerie preſuppoſeth ſinne or voluntarie corruption of mankind, and corruption preſuppoſeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreover mercy is ſhewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iuſtification and ſanctification, ſo that at length we come to glorification, as the Apoſtle will ſhew afterward. Now all theſe things, orderly following the purpoſe of God, doe clearely proove that he can by no meanes ſeeme vniuſt in loving and ſaving his. ✣ Exod. 33, 19. o I will be mercifull and favourable to whom I liſt to be favourable. p I will have compaſſion on whomſoever I liſt to have compaſſion. 32 The concluſion of the anſwere: Therefore God is not iniuſt in chuſing and ſaving of his free goodnes, ſuch as it pleaſeth him, as he alſo anſwered Moſes, when hee prayed for all the people. q By will, he meaneth the thought and endeavour of heart, and by running, good works: to neither of which he giveth the prayſe, but onely to the mercy of God.

13 Now hee anſwereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, and hath appointed to deſtruction, without any reſpect of unworthines. And firſt of all hee prooveth this to be true, by alleadging the teſtimonie of God himſelfe touching Pharao, whom he ſtirred up to this purpoſe that he might be glorified in his hardning and iuſt puniſhing. r God ſo ſpeaketh unto Pharao in the Scripture, or the Scripture bringeth in God ſpeaking to Pharao, Exod. 9, 16. s Brought thee into this world. 14 Secondly, he bringeth the end of Gods counſell, to ſhewe that there is no unrighteouſnes in him. Now this chiefeſt end, is not properly and ſimply the deſtruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their righteouſ puniſhment.

15 A concluſion of the fullanſwere to the firſt obiection: therefore ſeeing God doth not ſave them whom hee freely choſe according to his good will and pleaſure, but by iuſtifying and ſanctifying them by his grace, but councell in ſaving them cannot ſeeme vniuſt. And againe, there is no vniuſtice in the everlaſting counſell of God touching the deſtruction of them whom he liſteth to deſtroy, for that he hardeneth before he deſtroyeth: Therefore the third anſwere for the maintenance of Gods iuſtice is the everlaſting counſell of reprobation, conſiſteth in this word Hardening: which notwithſtanding be concealed in the former verſe, becauſe the Hiſtory of Pharao was wel knowen. But the force of the word is great: for Hardning, which is ſet againſt Mercy, preſuppoſeth the ſame thinge that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and againe corruption preſuppoſeth a perfit ſtate of creation. Moreover, this hardning alſo is voluntary, for God ſo hardneth being offended with corruption, that he vſeth their owne will whom he hardneth, to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruits of Hardning, to wit, unbeliefe and ſinne, which are the true & proper cauſes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to deſtruction? becauſe he will: why doeth hee harden? becauſe they are corrupt: why doeth he condemne? becauſe they are ſinners. Where is then unrighteouſneſſe? Nay, if hee ſhould deſtroy all after this ſame ſort, to whom ſhould he doe iniurie? t Whom it pleaſed him to appoint, to ſhew his favour upon. 16 An other obiection, but onely for the reprobate, riſing upon the former anſwere. If God doe appoint to everlaſting deſtruction, ſuch as hee liſteth, and if that cannot be hindred notwithſtanded that he hath once decreed, how doth he iuſtly condemne them, which periſh by his will?

17 The Apoſtle doeth not anſwere that it is not Gods will, or that God doth not either reiect or elect according to his pleaſure, which thing the wicked call blaſphemie, but he rather granteth, his adverſarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it muſt of neceſſitie ſo fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an vniuſt revenger of the wicked: for ſeeing it appeareth by manifeſt proofe that this is the will of God and his doing, what impudencie is it for man, which is but duſt and aſhes to diſpute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Now if any man ſay that the doubt is not ſo diſſolved and anſwered, I anſwere, that there is no ſurer demonſtration in any matter, becauſe it is grounded upon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteouſneſſe. 18 An amplification of the former anſwere, taken from a comparíſon, whereby alſo it appeareth that Gods determine counſell is ſet of Paul the hieſt of all cauſes, ſo that it departeth not upon any reſpect of ſecond cauſes, but doth rather frame and direct them. ✱ Eſai. 45, 9. u This ſimilitude agreeth very fitly in the firſt creation of mankinde.

2 The third part of the Epiſtle, even to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul aſcendeth to the heighercauſes of faith: and firſt of all becauſe he purpoſed to ſpeake much of the caſting off of the Iewes, he uſeth an inſinuation, declaring by a double or triple oathe, and by witneſſing of his great deſire towards their ſalvation, his ſingular love towards them, and therewithall granting unto them all their prerogatives.

a The Apoſtle loved his brethren ſo entirely, that if it have bene poſſible, he would have bene ready to have redeemed the caſting away of the Iſraelites with the loſſe of his owne ſoule for ever: for this word ſeparate, betockeneth as much in this place.

Hee anſwereth therefore, that Gods word is true, although that Iſrael be caſt off: for the election of the people of Iſrael is ſo generall and common, that notwithſtanding the ſame, God chuſeth by his ſecret counſell, ſuch as it pleaſeth him. So then this is the propoſition and ſtate of this Treatiſe: The grace of ſalvation is offered generally in ſuch ſort, that notwithſtanding it, the efficacie thereof perteineth onely to the elect. h Iſrael in the firſt place, is taken for Iaakob: and in the ſecond, for the Iſraelites. * Gen. 21, 12. hebr. 11, 18. 4 The firſt proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne houſe, wherein Iſaac onely was counted the ſonne, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Iſmael alſo was borne of Abraham, and circumciſed before Iſaac. i Iſaac ſhall be the true and naturall ſonne, and therefore heire of thy bleſſing. 5 A generall application of the former proofe or example. k Which are borne of Abraham by the courſe of nature. ✱ Gal. 4, 28. l Which are borne by vertue of the promiſe. 6 A reaſon of that application: Becauſe that Iſaac was borne by the vertue of the promiſe, and therefore hee was not choſen, nay hee was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promiſe is the fountaine of predeſtination, and not the fleſh from which promiſe the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be borne elect: and not that they be firſt borne and then afterward elected, in reſpect of God who doth predeſtinate. ✣ Gene. 18, 10. 7 Another forcible proofe, taken from the example of Eſau and Iacob, which were both borne of the ſame Iſaac, which was the ſonne of the promiſe, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at divers as Iſmael and Iſaac were: and yet notwithſtanding, Eſau being caſt off, onely Iacob was choſen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodneſſe of Iacobs might be thought to be the cauſe of his election, neither any wickednes of Eſaus, of his caſting away. * Gen. 25, 21. m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleaſed him to chuſe one, and refuſe the other. 8 Paul ſaith not, might be made, but being made, might remaine. Therefore they are deceived which make forſeene faith the cauſe of election, and foreknowen infidelitie the cauſe of reprobation. 9 He prooveth the caſting away of Eſau by that, that hee was made ſervant to his brother: and prooveth the chuſing of Iacob by that that hee was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the firſt begotten. And leaſt that any man might take this ſaying of God, and referre it to eternall things, the Apoſtle ſheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moſes, that the ſervitude of Eſau was joyned with the hatred of God, and the Lordſhip of Iacob with the love of God. ✣ Gen. 25, 23.

23 And that hee might declare the z riches of his glory upon the veſſels of mercie, which he hath prepared unto glory?

24 24 Even us whom he hath called, not of the a Iewes onely, but alſo of the Gentiles.

25 25 As he ſaith alſo in Oſee, ✣ I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloved, which was not beloved.

26 And it ſhall be in the place where it was ſaide unto them, * Yee are not my people, that there they ſhall be called, The children of the living God.

27 26 Alſo Eſaias cryeth concerning Iſrael, * Though the number of the children of Iſrael were as the ſand of the ſea, yet ſhall but a remnant be ſaved.

28 For hee will make his account, and gather it into a b ſhort ſumme with righteouſneſſe: for the Lord will make a ſhort count in the earth.

29 ✣ And as Eſaias ſaid before, Except the Lord of c hoaſtes had left us a d ſeede, we had bene made as Sodome, and had bene like to Gomortha.

30 27 What ſhall we ſay then? That the Gentiles which followed e not righteouſneſſe, have attained unto righteouſneſſe, even the righteouſneſſe which is of faith.

31 28 But Iſrael which followed the Law of righteouſneſſe, could not attaine unto the Law of righteouſneſſe.

32 Wherefore? Becauſe they ſought it not by faith, but as it were by the f workes of the Lawe: for they have ſtumbled at the ſtumbling ſtone,

CHAP. X.

1 He handleth the effects of election, 3 that ſome refuſe, and ſome embrace. 4 Chriſt, who is the end of the Lawe. 15 How ſheweth that Moſes foretolde the calling of the Gentiles, 13 and Eſaias the hardning of the Iewes.

BRethren, 1 mine hearts deſire and prayer to God for Iſrael is, that they might be ſaved.

2 For I beare them record that they have the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 2 For they a being ignorant of the righteouſneſſe of God, and going about to b ſtabliſh their owne righteouſneſſe, have not ſubmitted themſelves to the righteouſneſſe of God.

4 ✣ 3 For Chriſt is the c ende of the Lawe for righteouſneſſe unto d every one that beleeveth.

5 4 For Moſes thus deſcribeth the righteouſnes which is of the Lawe, * That the man which doeth theſe things, ſhall live thereby.

6 But the righteouſnes which is of faith, ſpeaketh on this wiſe, * e Say not in thine heart, Who ſhall aſcend into heaven? (that is to bring Chriſt from above.)

7 Or, Who ſhall deſcend into the deepe? (that is to bring Chriſt againe from the dead.)

8 5 But what ſaith it? ✣ The f worde is neere thee, even in thy mouthe, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 6 For if thou ſhalt g confeſſe with thy mouth the Lord Ieſus, and ſhalt beleeve in thine heart, that h God raiſed him up from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaved:

10 For with the heart man i beleeveth unto righteouſneſſe, and with the mouth man confeſſeth to ſalvation.

11 7 For the Scripture ſaith,* Whoſoever k beleeveth in him, ſhall not be aſhamed.

12 For there is no difference betweene the Iew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord over all, is rich unto all that call on him.

13 ✣ 8 For whoſoever ſhall call upon the Name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaved.

1 Purpoſing to ſet foorth in the Iewes an example of marveilous obſtinacie. he uſeth an inſinuation.

2 The firſt entrance into the vocation unto ſalvation, is to renounce our owne righteouſneſſe: the next is, to embrace that righteouſneſſe by faith, which God freely offereth us in the Goſpel.

a The ignorance of the Law which was ought to know, accuſeth them before God, eſpecially it excuſeth not them that are of his houſhold.

3 The proofe: The Law it ſelfe hath reſpect unto Chriſt, that ſuch as beleeve in him ſhould be ſaved. Therefore the calling to ſalvation by the workes of the law is vaine and fooliſh, but Chriſt is offered for ſalvation to every beleever.

c The end of the Law is to iuſtifie them that keepe the Law: but ſeeing we do not obſerve the Law thyrogh the fault of our fleſh, wee attaine not unto this ende: but Chriſt fulfilleth this diſeaſe, for he fulfilled the Law for us.

d Not onely to the Iewes, but alſo to the Gentiles. 4 That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Chriſt, that is a manifeſt proofe, for that is propounded ſuch a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but of Chriſt onely: which being imputed unto us by faith, our conſcience is quieted, ſo that now no man can aske, Who can aſcend up into heaven, or bring us from hell, ſeeing the Goſpel teacheth that both of thoſe is done by Chriſt, and that for their ſakes, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them. * Levit. 18, 5. ezek. 20, 11. gal. 3, 12. ✣ Deut. 30, 12. e Thinke not with thy ſelfe, as men that are ſtaggering uſe to doe. 5 Vocation commeth by the worde preached. ✣ Deuter. 30, 14. f By the word, Moſes underſtoode the Law which the Lord publiſhed with his owne voyce: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Goſpell which was the perfection of the Law. 6 That is indeede true faith which is ſetled not onely in the head, but alſo in the heart of man, whereof alſo wee give teſtimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Chriſt as to our alone and onely Saviour, even as hee ſetteth foorth himſelfe in his word. g If thou profeſſe plainely, ſincerely, and openly, that thou takeſt Ieſus onely to be thy Lord and Saviour. h The Father, who is ſaide to have raiſed the Sonne from the dead: and this is not ſpoken to ſhut out the divinitie of the Sonne, but to ſet foorth the Fathers counſell touching our redemption in the reſurrection of the Sonne. i Faith is ſaide to iuſtifie, and furthermore ſeeing the confeſſion of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confeſſion is the way to come to ſalvation, it followeth that faith is alſo ſaid to ſaue. 7 Now hee proveth the other part which he propounded afore in the fourth verſe, to wit, that Chriſt calleth whomſoever hee liſteth without any difference, and this hee confirmeth by a double teſtimonie. * Iſai. 28, 16. k To beleeve in God is to yeelde and conſent to God his promiſe of our ſalvation by Chriſt, and that not onely in generall, but when wee know that the promiſes perteine to us whereupon riſeth a ſure truſt. ✣ Ioel 2, 32.

19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankinde not yet made, (but in the Creators minde) to a lumpe of clay: whereof afterward God made and doeth dayly make, according as he purpoſed from everlaſting both ſuch as ſhould be elect, and ſuch as ſhould be reprobate, as alſo this word, making, declareth

20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention was onely made of veſſels to diſhonour: yet he ſpeaketh of the other alſo in this anſwere, for that he prooveth the Creator to be iuſt in either of them, as the rule of contraries doeth require.

21 Seeing then, that in the name of diſhonour, the ignominie of everlaſting death is ſignified, they ſpeake with Paul, which ſay, that ſome are made of God to moſt iuſt deſtruction: and they are offended with this kind of ſpeech bewray their owne folly.

22 The ſecond anſwere is this, that God, moreover and beſides that he doeth iuſtly decree whatſoever he doeth decree, uſeth that moderation in executing of his decree, as declareth his ſingular lenitie even in the reprobate in that, that he ſuffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and ſingular benefits, untill at length hee iuſtly condemne them: and that to good end and purpoſe, to wit, to ſhew himſelfe to be an enemie and revenger of wickednesſe, that it may appeare what power hee is of by theſe ſevere iudgements, and finally by compariſon of contraries to ſet foorth indeede, how great his mercie is towards the elect.

z The unmeaſurable and marveilous greatneſſe. 24 Having eſtabliſhed the doctrine of the eternall predeſtination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect: hee commeth now to ſheweve the uſe of it, teaching us that wee ought not to ſeeke the teſtimonie of it in the ſecret counſell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifeſt and ſet foorth in the Church, propounding unto us the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceived.

a Hee ſaith not that all and every one of the Iewes are called, but ſome of the Iewes, and ſome of the Gentiles. 25 Our vocation or calling is free and of grace, even as our predeſtination is: and therefore there is no cauſe why either our owne unworthineſſe, or the unworthineſſe of our anceſtors ſhould cauſe us to thinke that wee are not the elect and choſen of God, if we be called of him, and ſo embrace through faith the ſalvation that is offered us. ✣ Hoſ. 2, 23. 1 Pet. 2, 10. * Hoſ. 1, 10. 26 Contrarywiſe, Neither any outwarde generall calling, neither any worthineſſe of our anceſtors is a ſufficient witneſſe of election, unleſſe by faith and beliefe wee anſwere Gods calling: which thing come to paſſe in the Iewes, as the Lord had foorewarned. * Iſai. 10, 21.

b God purpoſeth to bring the unkinde and unthankefull people to an extreme fewneſſe. * Iſai. 1, 9. c Armies, by which word the chiefeſt power that is, is given to God. d Even a very fewe. 27 The declaration and manifeſtation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to paſſe in the Gentiles.

e So then, the Gentiles had no workes to prepare and procure Gods mercies before hande: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they ſought not for, the mercie of God is to be thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attained not to that which they ſought after, they can thanke none for it but themſelves, becauſe they ſought it not aright.

28 The pride of men is the cauſe that they contemne vocation, ſo that the cauſe of their damnation neede not to be ſought for any other where but in themſelves. ✣ Seeking to come by righteouſneſſe, they followed the Lawe of righteouſneſſe.

9 That is, true faith, which seeketh God in his word, and that preached according as God hath appointed in the Church.
✣ Isa.52,7. nahum.1,15.
10 Whersoever faith is, there is also the word, but not contrary wise, wheresoever the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reiect the word.
l He speaketh this because of the Iewes.
✣ Isai.53,1. Iohn 12,38.
11 A conclusion of the former gradation: we must ascend from faith, to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the testimonie of our election.
m By Gods commandement.
12 An obiection: If calling be a testimonie of election, were not the Iewes called? why should I not graunt that, saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not bene called? much lesse can I say, that the Iewes were not called. ✣ Psal.19,3. 13 The defender and maintainer of the Iewes cause, goeth on still to aske, whether the Iewes also knew not God which called them. Esay (saith the Apostle) denieth it, and witnesseth that the Gospell was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and universall calling, which is set foorth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of it selfe of small or no efficacie, unlesse it be apprehended or layd holde on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by unbeleefe it is made unprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance. ✣ Deuter.32.21. n He calleth all prophane people, a nation that is no nation, that they are not saide to live but to die, which are appointed for everlasting condemnation. ✣ Isa.65,1. o Speaketh without feare.

14 But howe shall they call on him, in whom they have not beleeved? 9 and how shall they beleeve in him, of whom they have not heard? and how shall they heare without a preacher?
15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, ✣ How beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!
16 10 But they have not l all obeyed the Gospell: for Esaias saith, ✣ Lord, who hath beleeved our report?
17 11 Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the m word of God.
18 12 But I demaund, Have they not heard? * No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world.
19 13 But I demaund, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, ✣ I will provoke you to envie by a n nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.
20 ✳ And Esaias is o bolde, and saith, I was found of them that sought mee not, and have bene made manifest to them that asked not after mee.
21 And unto Israel hee saith, * All the day long have I stretched foorth mine hand unto a disobedient, and gainesaying people.

CHAP. XI.

a Least the casting off of the Iewes should be limitted according to the outward appearance, 4 hee sheweth that Elias was in times past deceived: 16 and that, seeing they have an holy roote, 23 many of them likewise shall be holy.
13 24 o Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 and crieth out, that Gods iudgements are unsearcheable.

I Demand then, i Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for 2 I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.
2 3 God hath not cast away his people which he a knew before. 4 Know yee not what the Scripture saith of Elias, how hee communeth, with God against Israel, saying,
3 * Lord, they have killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine Altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life?
4 But what saith the answere of God to him? ✣ I have b reserved unto my selfe seven thousand men, which have not bowed the knee to c Baal.

6 5 And if it be of grace, it is c no more of workes: or els were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace: or els were worke no more worke.

10 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not, and bow downe their backe alwayes.
11 7 I demaund then, Have they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, salvation commeth unto the Gentiles, to provoke them to follow them.
12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the k riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their l aboundance be?

And hereby we may learne, that the severitie of God serveth aswell to the setting foorth of his glory as his mercie doeth, and also that God prepare himselfe a way to mercie, by his severitie, so that we ought not rashly to despaire of any man, nor proudly triumph over other men, but rather provoke them to an holy emulation, that God may be glorified in them also.
k By riches he meaneth the knowledge of the Gospell an everlasting life: and by the world, all nations dispersed thorowout the whole world. l Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception shall come to Christ. 8 Hee witnesseth by his owne example, that hee goeth before all other in this behalfe. m I make noble and famous. n It shall come to passe that when the Iewes come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were quicken againe, and rise up from death to life. 9 The nation of the Iewes being considered in their stocke and roote, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut of. Therefore in iudging of our brethren, wee must not sticke in their unworthinesse, to thinke that they are at once all cast off, but wee ought to consider the roote of the Covenant, and rather goe backe to their ancestors which were faithfull, that wee may know that the blessing of the Covenant resteth in some of their posteritie, as we also finde proofe hereof in our selves. o Hee alludeth to the first fruits of the loaves by the offring whereof all the whole croppe of corne was sanctified, and they might use the rest of the yeere following with good conscience. p Abraham,

1 Now the Apostle sheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore hee teacheth us that all the Iewes in particular are not cast away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce rashly of private persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not. 2 The first proofe, I am a Iew, and yet elected, therefore wee may and ought fully resolve upon our election, as hath bene before saide: but of another mans we cannot be so certainely resolved: and yet ours may cause us to hope well of others.
3 The second proofe: Because that God is faithfull in his league or Covenant, although men be unfaithfull: So then seeing that God hath said, that hee will be the God of his unto a thousand generations, wee must take heede, that wee thinke not that the whole race and offspring is cast off, by reason of the unbeliefe of a few, but rather, that wee hope well of every member of the Church, because of Gods league and Covenant.
a Which he loved and chose from everlasting. 4 The thirde proofe, taken from the answere that was made to Elias: even then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knewe his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and number. Whereupon this also is concluded, that we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that even the most watchfull and sharpe sighted pastours thinke it to be cleane extinct and put out, ✳ 1 King.19,10.

17 ✝ 10 And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Olive-tree, wast graft in q for them, and made r partaker of the root, and fatnesse of the Olive-tree:

18 s Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou beares not the roote, but the roote thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well: through unbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high minded, but t feare.

21 For if God spared not the u naturall branches, take heede, least he also spare not thee.

22 11 Behold therefore the x bountifulnesse, and severitie of God: toward them which have fallen, severitie: but toward thee, bountifulnesse, if thou continue in his y bountifulnesse, or els thou shalt also be cut off.

23 12 And they also, if they abide not still in unbeliefe, shallbe grafted in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Olive-tree, which was wilde by z nature, and wast grafted contrary to nature in a a right Olive-tree, howe much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their owne Olive-tree?

25 13 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (least yee should be arrogant in your b selves) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, untill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be c come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saved, as it is written, ✝ The deliverer shall come out of Sion, and shall turne away the ungodlinesse from Iacob.

27 And this is my covenant to them, * When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 14 As concerning the d Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the e election, they are beloved for the fathers sakes.

29 15 For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 16 For even as yee in times past have not beleeved God, yet have nowe obteined mercy through their unbeliefe:

31 Even so now have they not beleeved by the mercy shewed unto you, that they also may obtaine mercy.

32 For God hath shut up all in unbeliefe, that he might have mercy on all.

33 17 O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisedome, and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his g iudgements, and his h wayes past finding out!

34 ✝ 18 For who hath knowen the mind of the Lord? or who was his counseller?

35 Or who hath given unto him i first, and hee shallbe recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for k him are all things: to him be glory for ever. Amen.

16 Another reason, because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubbornesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of this mercie which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselves also be partakers of the same benefit, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saved, onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not have beene so manifest, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had saved the nation of the Iewes without this interruption. f Both Iewes and Gentiles 17 The Apostle crieth not as astonished with this wonderfull wisedome of God, which here teacheth us, ought to be religiously reverenced, and not curiously and prophanely to be searched beyond the compasse of that that God hath revealed unto us. g The course that bee holdeth in governing all things both generally and particularly. h The order of his counsels and doings. ✝ Iob 41.2. Esai 40.13. 1.Corinth 2.16. 18 Hee bridleth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, because that God is above all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainely godlesse to measure him by our folly. Moreover because he is debtor to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done unto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must referre all things to his glory, much lesse may wee contend and debate the matter with him. i This saying overthroweth the doctrine of foreseene workes and merits. k To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new workes which hee worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 Hee exhorteth 2 to that worship which is acceptable to God, 9 to love unfained, 14, 20 even towards our enemies.

I Beseech 1 you therefore brethren, a by the mercies of God, that yee b give up your c bodies a d living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your e reasonable serving of God.

1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chiefe points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in deducing of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giveth generall precepts and grounds: the chiefe whereof is this, that every man consecrate himselfe wholly to the spirituall service of God, and doe as it were

2 2 And fashion not your selves like unto this world, but be yee changed by the renewing of your f minde, that yee may ✝ proove what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 3 For I g say through the grace that is given unto me, to every one that is among you, that no man h presume to understand above that which is meete to understand, but that he understand according to i sobrietie, as God hath dealt to every man the * measure of k faith.

sacrifice himselfe, trusting to the grace of God. a By this preface hee sheweth that Gods glory is the utmost end of all our doings. b In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is every where. c Your selves: in times past, other bodies then our owne, now our owne must be offered. d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as have the spirit of life in them. e Spirituall. 2 The second precept is this. That we take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, but that we wholly renouncing this world, set before us as our marke, the will of God, as it is manifested and opened unto us in his word. f Way then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a Castell, not for mans free will, which the Popish Schoolemen dreame on, if the minde must be renued. Looke Ephesians 1.18. and 2.5. and 4.23. and Colossians 2.2. ✝ Ephesians 5.17. 1.Thess 4.3. 3 Thirdly, hee admonisheth us very earnestly, that every man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, and that every man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath given him. g I charge. h That he please not himselfe too much, as they doe, which perswade themselves they know more then indeede they doe. i We shall be sober, if we take not that upon us, which we have not, and if we bragge not of that we have. * 1.Corin 12.11. ephes.4.7. k By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, and the gifts which the holy Ghost powreth upon the faithfull,

t See that thou stand in awe of God modestly and carefully. u He calleth them naturall, not because they had any holinesse of nature, but because they were borne of them whom the Lord set apart for himselfe, from other nations, by his league and covenant which he freely made with them. 11 Seeing the matter is selfe declareth that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetuall) wee must take good heede, that that be not found in our selves, which wee thinke blame worthy in others, for the election is sure, but they that are truely elect and engraffed, are not proud in themselves with contempt of other, but with due reverence to God, and love toward their neighbour, runne to the marke which is set before them. x The tender and loving heart. y In that state which God his bountifulnesse hath advanced thee unto: and wee must marke here, that hee speaketh not of the election of every private man which remaineth stedfast for ever, but of the election of the whole nation. 12 Many are now for a reason cut off, that is, are without the roote, which in their time shallbe graffed in: and againe there are a great sort, which after a sort, and touching the outward shewe, seeme to be ingraffed, which notwithstanding through their owne fault afterward are cut off and cleane cast away, which thing is especially to be considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes. z Understand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so derived from him to his posteritie, a Into the people of the Iewes which God had sanctified of his meere grace: and he speaketh of the whole nation, not of every one part. 13 The blindenesse of the Iewes is neither so universall that the Lord hath no elect in that nation, neither shall it be continuall: for there shall be a time wherein they also (as the Prophets have forewarned) shall effectually imbrace that which they doe now so stubbornly for the most part reiect and refuse. b That yee be not proud within your selves. 6 Into the Church. ✝ Esai. 59. 20. * Esai. 27. 9. 14 Againe, that he may ioyne the Iewes and Gentiles together as it were in one body, and especially may teach what duety the Gentiles owe to the Iewes hee beareth this into their heads, that the nation of the Iewes is not utterly cast off without hope of recovery. d Forasmuch as they received it not. e In that, that God respecteth not what they deserve, but what he promised to Abraham. 15 The reason or proose: because the covenant made with that nation of life everlasting, cannot be frustrate and vaine.

4 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is because God hath not committed every thing to be done of every man: and therefore, he doeth backwardly, and not onely unprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, wearieth himselfe and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diversitie and inequalitie of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commodity: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed, that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth that no man might be grieved thereat, seeing that the use of every private gift is common.

3 That which he spake before in generall, he applieth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with great danger. And he divideth them into two sorts, to wit, into Prophets, and Deacons, and againe he devideth the Prophets into doctours, and Pastours. And of Deacons hee maketh three sorts: to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Church coffers, whom hee calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the governours of discipline, who are called Seniors or Elders: the third to be such as properly served in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widowes were.

4 4 For as wee have many members in one body, and all members have not one office,

5 So wee being many, are one body in Christ, and every one, one anothers members.

6 ✣ a Seeing then that wee have gifts that are divers, according to the grace that is given unto us, whether we have prophecie, let us prophecie according to the b portion of faith.

7 Or an office, let us wait on the office: or he that c teacheth, on teaching:

8 Or he that d exhorteth, on exhortation: hee that e distributeth, let him doe it ✣ with simplicitie: he that f ruleth, with diligence: he that g sheweth mercy, with cheerefulnesse.

9 h Let love be without dissimulation, * Abhorre that which is evill, and cleave unto that which is good.

10 * Be affectioned to love one another with brotherly love. In giving honour, goe one before another.

11 Not slouthfull to do service, fervent in spirit, i serving the Lord, 12 k Reioycing in hope, patient in tribulation, ✣ continuing in prayer.

13 * l Distributing unto the m necessities of the Saints: ✣ giving your selves to hospitalitie.

14 ✣ Blesse them which persecute you: blesse, I say, and curse not.

15 Reioyce with them that reioyce, and weepe with them that weepe.

16 Be like affectioned one towards another: * be not hie minded: but make your selves equall to them of the n lower sort: be not o wise in your selves.

17 * Recompense to no man evill for evill: procure things honest in the sight of all men.

18 ✣ If it be possible, as much as in you is, have peace with all men.

19 Dearely beloved, * avenge not your selves, but give place unto wrath: for it is written, ✣ Vengeance is mine: I will repay, saith the Lord.

20 ✣ Therefore if thine enemie hunger, feede him: if he thirst, give him drinke: for in so doing thou shalt heape p coales of fire on his head.

21 Be not overcome of evill, but overcome evill with goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee willeth that we submit our selves to Magistrates: 8 To love our neighbour: 13 To love uprightly, 14 and to put on Christ.

L Et ✣ a every a soule be subiect unto the higher b powers: for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are c ordained of God.

2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receive to themselves condemnation.

3 ✣ For magistrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for evill. ✣ Wilt thou then be without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou have praise of the same:

4 For he is the minister of God for thy wealth: d but if thou doe evill, feare: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to e take vengeance on him that doeth evill.

5 ✣ Wherefore we must be subiect, not because of wrath onely, but d also for conscience sake.

6 ✣ For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselves for the same thing.

7 ✣ Give to all men therefore their duery, tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whom e feare: honour, to whom ye owe f honour.

8 ✣ Owe nothing to any man, but to love one another: for hee that loveth another, hath fulfilled the g Law.

9 For this, * Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not bare false witnes, Thou shalt not covet: and if there be any other commandement, it is h briefly comprehended in this saying, even in this, * Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy selfe.

10 Love doth not evill to his neighbour: therefore is love the ✣ fulfilling of the Law.

11 ✣ And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleepe: for now is our salvation neerer, then when wee beleeved it.

12 The night is past, and the day is i at hand, let us therefore cast away the workes k of darkenesse, and let us put on the armour of light,

13 So that we walke honestly, as in the day: not in * gluttonie, and drunkennesse, neither in chambering.

1 Now he sheweth severally, what subiects owe to their Magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which hee sheweth, that no man is free: and in such sort that it is not onely due to the highest Magistrate himselfe, but also even to the basest, which hath any office under him.

a Yea, though an Apostle, though an Euangelist, though a Prophet: Chrysostome. Therefore the tyranny of the Pope over all kingdomes must downe to the ground.

a A reason taken of the nature of the thing it selfe: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiour should be subiect unto them?

3 Another Argument of great force: Because God is authour of this order: so that such as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himselfe: wherefore they cannot but purchase to themselves great miserie and calamity.

b Be destributed: for some are greater, some smaller.

4 The third argument taken from the end wherefore they were made, which is most profitable: for that God by this meanes preserveth the good and bridleth the wicked, by which words the Magistrates themselves are put in minde of that duetie which they owe to their subiects.

5 An excellent way to beare this yoke, not onely without grieve, but also with great profit. 6 God hath armed the Magistrate even with a revenging sword. c By whom God revengeth the wicked. 7 The conclusion: Wee must obey the Magistrate, not onely for feare of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate have no power over the conscience of man, yet seeing hee is Gods minister) hee cannot be resisted by any good conscience. d So farre as lawfully we may: for if unlawfull things be commanded us, we must answere as Peter teacheth us, It is better to obey God then men. 8 Hee reckoneth up the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subiects. ✣ Mat.22.21. e Obedience, and that from the heart. f Reverence, (which as reason is) we must give to the Magistrate. 9 He sheweth how very fewe iudgements need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life, as no man may iustly require any thing of us, besides that onely that we owe one to another, by the perpetuall law of charity. 10 He commendeth charitie as an abridgement of the whole Law. g He hath not onely done one commandement, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth. * Exod.20.14. deut.5.18. h But the whole Law commandeth nothing els but that we love God and our neighbour. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duelies we owe one to another, we must restraine this word, Law to the second Table. ✣ Levit.19.11. mat.21.39. marke 12.31. gal.5.14. iam.2.8. ✣ 1.Tim.1.5. 12 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also it selfe putteth us in mind of our duetie, seeing that this remaineth after that the darkenesse of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of Gods trueth be driven out of us, that we order our life according to that certaine & sure rule of all righteousnesse and honesty, being fully grounded upon the vertue of the Spirit of Christ. i In other places we are sayd to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twilight. k That kinds of life, which they leade, that flee the light. ✣ Luke 21.34.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Hee willeth that we so deale with the weake in faith, 16 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And on the other side he commandeth them not rashly to iudge of the stronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 and charitie. 22 Christian liberty may consist.

1 Him a that is weake in the faith, b receive unto you, but not for c controversies of disputations.

2 2 One c beleeveth that hee may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbs.

3 3 Let not him that eateth, dispise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for ✣ God hath received him.

4 ✣ 5 Who art thou that condemnest another mans servant? he standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shall be established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 6 This man esteemeth one day above another day, and another man counteth every day alike: 1 let d every man be fully perswaded in his minde.

6 8 He that e observeth the day, observeth it to the Lord: and hee that observeth not the day, observeth it not to the f Lord. He that g eateth, eateth to the Lord: 9 for he giveth God thanks: and he that eateth h not, eateth not to the Lord, and giveth God thanks.

7 10 For none of us liveth to i himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe.

8 For whether wee live, wee live unto the Lord; or whether we die, wee die unto the Lord: whether wee life therefore, or die, wee are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore died and rose againe, and revived, that hee might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke.

10 11 But why doest thou condemne thy brother? or why doest thou despise thy brother? ✣ for we shall all appeare before the iudgement seat of Christ.

11 For it is written, ✣ I k live, saith the Lord, and every knee shall bowe to me, and all tongues shall l confesse unto God.

12 So then every one of us shall give accounts of himselfe to God.

13 12 Let us not therefore iudge one another any more: but use your iudgement rather in m this that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother.

14 13 I knowe, and am perswaded through the n Lord Iesus, that there is nothing uncleane of it o selfe: but unto him that iudgeth any thing to be uncleane, to him it is uncleane.

15 But if thy brother be grieved for the meat, nowe walkest thou not charitably: ✣ 14 destroy not him with thy meete, for whom 15 Christ died.

16 16 Cause not your commoditie to be evill spoken of.

17 17 For the kingdome of God, is not meate nor drinke, but righteousnesse, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoever in p these things serveth Christ, is acceptable unto God, and is approoved of men.

19 18 Let us then followe those things which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another.

3 Now be sheweth how we ought to behave our selves toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the use of them, not of malice, or damnable superstition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefit of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, and so that we apply our selves to their ignorance in such matters according to the rule of charitie.

a Doe not for a matter or thing that is indifferent, and such as you may doe or not doe, shun his company, but take him to you. b To make him by your doubtfull and uncertaine disputations go away more in doubt then he came, or start backe with a troubled conscience. 2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meates, which some thought was necessarily to be observed as a thing prescribed by the Law (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the contrary side, such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospell, knew well that this schoolemaistership of the Law was abolished. c Ignoreth by faith. 3 In such a matter, saith the Apostle, Let neither them which know their libertie, proudly despise their weake brother, neither let the unlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they understand not.

4 The first reason: Because that seeing both he that eateth, and he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither he which eateth not, can iustly be contemned, neither he which eateth be iustly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the sixth verse following. ✣ Iam 4.12. 6 Another reason which hangeth upon the former: why the ruder and more unlearned ought not to be condemned of the more skilfull, as men without hope of salvation: Because, saith the Apostle, he that is ignorant to day may be indued to morow with further knowledge, so that be also may stand sure. Therefore it belongeth to God, and not unto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation. 6 Another example of the difference of dayes according to the law. 7 He setteth against this contempt, and hastie or rash iudgements, a continuall desire to profite, that the strong may be certainely perswaded of their libertie, of what maner and fort it is, and how they ought to use it: and against the weake may daily profit, least either they abuse the gift of God, or these please themselves in their infirmitie.

d That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth and is perswaded by Iesus Christ, that nothing is uncleane of it selfe, and this perswasion must be grounded upon the word of God. 8 A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience do and omit: for seeing that the difference of dayes and meates was appointed by God, how could they, which as yet understood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Saviour, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knew the benefit of Christ in this behalfe, did with good conscience neither observe dayes nor meates. Therefore saith the Apostle, verse 10. Let not the strong condemne the weake for these things, seeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let them knowe that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Law, and were deceived by simple ignorance: and not of malice (for to such the Apostles yeelded not, no not for a moment) nor suspition, but of a religious feare of God. e Observeth precisely. f God shall iudge whether they doe well or no: And therefore you should rather strive about this, how every one of you may be allowed of God, then to thinke upon other mens doings. g He that maketh no difference of meates. 9 So the Apostle sheweth that he speaketh of the faithfull, both strong and weake. But what if we have to doe with infidels? Then must we here take heed of two things, as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstitions among things indifferent, as they did which sate downe to meate in Idols Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to idoles, in the butchers shambles, and to eate it at home in a private banquet) we wound not the conscience of our weake brother.

h He that toucheth not meates which he taketh to be uncleane by the Law.

10 We must not sticke, saith he, in the meate it selfe, but in the use of the meate, so that he is iustly to be reprehended that liveth so, that he casteth not his eyes upon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply, that we might eate this meate or that.

i Hath respect to himselfe onely, which he hath never utter after their sort, Doth well to his owne soule.

11 The conclusion: wee must leave to God his right: and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience is affected, are either good or evill, the strong must not despise their weake brethren, much lesse condemne them. But this consequent cannot be taken of equall force in the contrary, to wit, that the weake should not iudge the strong, because the weake doe not knowe, that they which doe not observe a day, and eate, observe it not to the Lord, and eate to the Lord, as the strong men knowe, that the weake which observe a day and eate not, observe the day to the Lord, and eate not to the Lord. ✣ 2. Cor. 1, 10. ✣ Isa. 45, 23. Philip. 2, 10.

k This is a forme of an oathe, proper to God onely, for he and none but he liveth, and hath his being of himselfe. l Shall acknowledge mee from God. 12 After that hee hath concluded what is not to be done, he sheweth what is to be done: to wit, wee must take heede that we doe not utterly cast downe with abusing our libertie, our brother which is not yet strong. m Hee rebuketh by the way, these malicious iudgers of others, which occupie their heads about nothing, but to finde fault with their brethrens life, whereas they should rather bestowe their wits upon this, that they doe not with their disdainfulnesse either cast their brethren cleane downe, or give them some offence. 13 The preventing of an obiection: It is true that the schoolemaistership of the Law is taken away by the benefite of Christ, to such as know it, but yet notwithstanding wee have to consider in the use of this libertie, what is expedient, that wee may have regard of our weake brother, seeing that our libertie is not lost thereby.

Which thing they doe, that presume to eate with the offence of any brother, and so give him occasion to goe backe from the Gospel.

15 Another argument: We must followe Christes example: who was so farre from destroying the weake with meate, that hee gave his life for them. 16 Another argument: for that by this meanes the libertie of the Gospell is evill spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoever, and boldeneth us to all thiogs. 17 A generall reason, and the ground of all the other arguments. The kingdome of heaven consisteth not in these outwarde things, but in the studie of righteousnesse, and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost. p He that liveth peaceably, and doeth righteously through the holy Ghost. 18 A generall conclusion: The use of this libertie, yea and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edyfying of one another, in so much that wee esteeme that thing unlawfull by reason of the offence of our brother, which is of it selfe pure and lawfull.

20 Destroy not the worke of God for meates ſake: ✣ all things indeede are pure: but it is evill for the man which eateth with offence.

3 2 For Chriſt alſo would not pleaſe himſelfe, but as it is written, * The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.

2 A confirmation taken of the example of Chriſt, who ſuffered all things to bring not onely the weake, but alſo his moſt cruell enemies, overcomming them with patience, to his Father.

* Pſal. 69. 10.

4 3 For whatſoever things are written, aforetime, are written for our learning, that we through patience, and comfort of the d Scriptures might have hope.

3 The preventing of an obiection: Such things as are cited out of the examples of the ancients, are propounded unto us to this end and purpoſe, that according to their example of our Fathers, we ſhould in patience and hope beare one with another.

c By Moſes and the Prophets.

d The Scriptures are ſaide to teach and comfort, becauſe God uſeth them to teach and comfort his people withall. 4 Wee muſt take an example of patience, of God: that both the weake and the ſtrong ſerving God with a mutuall conſent, may bring one another to God, as Chriſt alſo received us unto himſelfe, although we were never ſo unworthy. ✣ 1.Corinth 1.10 e He did not diſdaine us, but received us of his owne accord, to make us partakers of Gods glory. 5 An applying of the example of Chriſt to the Iewes, whom he vouchſafed this honour of the promiſes which he made unto their fathers, although they were never ſo unworthie, that he executed the office of a miniſter amongſt them with marvellous patience. Therefore much leſſe ought the Gentiles deſpiſe them for certaine faults, whom the Soone of God ſo much eſteemed. f Of the circumciſed Iewes, for as long as he lived, he never went out of their quarters. g That God might be ſeene to be true. 6 An applying of the ſame to the Gentiles, whom alſo the Lord of his incomprehenſible goodneſſe had regard of, ſo that they are not to be contemned of the Iewes as ſtrangers.

5 Now the God of patience and conſolation give you that yee be * like minded one towarde another, according to Chriſt Ieſus.

6 That yee with one minde, and with one mouth may praiſe God, even the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

7 Wherefore receive ye one another, as Chriſt alſo e received us to the glory of God.

8 5 Nowe I ſay, that Ieſus Chriſt was a miniſter of the f circumciſion, for the g trueth of God, to confirme the promiſes made unto the fathers.

9 6 And let the Gentiles praiſe God for his mercie, as it is written, ✣ For this cauſe I will h confeſſe thee among the Gentiles, and ſing unto thy Name.

10 And againe hee ſaith, * Reioyce, ye Gentiles with his people.

11 And againe, ✣ Praiſe the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laud ye him all people together.

12 And againe Eſai. 5 ſayth, ✣ There ſhall be a roote of Ieſſe, and he that ſhall riſe to reigne over the Gentiles, in him ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

14 8 And I my ſelfe alſo am perſwaded of you, my brethren, that i ye alſo are full of goodneſſe, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admoniſh one another.

17 9 I have therefore whereof I may reioyce in Chriſt Ieſus in thoſe things which pertaine to God.

18 For I dare not ſpeake of any thing, which n Chriſt hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deede,

19 With the o power of ſignes and wonders, by the power of the ſpirit of God: ſo that from Hieruſalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I have cauſed to abound the Goſpel of Chriſt.

20 Yea, ſo I enforced my ſelfe to preach the Goſpel, not where Chriſt was named, leaſt I ſhould have built on another mans foundation.

21 But as it is written, ✣ To whom he was not ſpoken of, they ſhall ſee him, and they that heard not, ſhall underſtand him.

22 ✣ 10 Therefore alſo I have beene oft let to come unto you:

23 But nowe ſeeing I have no more place in theſe quarters, and alſo have * bene deſirous many yeeres agone to come unto you,

24 When I ſhall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I truſt to ſee you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I have bene ſomewhat filled with your company,

25 But now goe I to Hieruſalem, to p miniſter unto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleaſed them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine diſtribution unto the poore Saints which are at Hieruſalem.

27 11 For it hath pleaſed them, and their detters are they: ✣ for if the Gentiles be made partakers of their ſpirituall things, their duetie is alſo to q miniſter unto them in carnall things.

28 When I have therefore performed this, and have r ſealed them this f fruite, I will paſſe by you into Spaine.

TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

x After the salutation, 10 which is in effect is an exhortation, 12 He reprehendeth the Corinthians sects and divisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humilitie: 20 For overthrowing all worldly wisedome. 23. 35 he advanceth onely the preaching of the crosse.

x The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithstanding so, that alwayes he letteth them to wit, that he is the servant of God, and not of man.

PAul 1 called to be an 2 Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother 3 Sosthenes,

2 4 Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are ✻ 5 sanctified in a Christ Iesus, ✣ Saintes by b calling, ✻ with all that c call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in every place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 6 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 7 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is given you in Iesus Christ.

5 That in all things ye are made rich in him g in d all kinde of speach, and in all knowledge:

6 9 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene e confirmed in you:

7 So that yee are not destitute of any gifte: ✻ 10 wayting for the f appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

8 ✻ 11 Who shall also confirme you unto the ende, that ye may be g blameleſſe in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ.

9 * God is b faithfull, by whom ye are called unto the fellowship of his sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.

2 If he be an Apostle then hee must be heard, although he sometimes reprehend them sharpely, seeing hee hath not his owne cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the commandements of Christ.

3 He joyneth Sosthenes with himselfe, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses.

4 It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish it. ✻ Acts 15,9. 1 Thess. 4,7.

5 A true definition of the Catholique Church, which is one. a The father sanctifieth us, that is to say, separateth us from the wicked, in giving us to his Sonne, that we may be in Him, and we in him. ✣ Rom. 1,7. ephes. 1,1. coloss. 1,22. 1. Tim. 1,9. Titus 1,3. b Whom God of his gracious goodnes and meere love hath separated for himselfe: or whom God hath called to holinesse; the first of these two expositions sheweth from whence our sanctification commeth, and the second sheweth to what ende it tendeth. ✻ a Tim. 1,21. c He is said properly to call on God, who crieth unto the Lord when hee is in danger, and craveth help at his handes: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the service of God: and therefore to call upon Christes Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. 6 The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ Iesus given of the Father. 7 Going about to condemne many vices, hee begineth with a true commendation of their vertues, least hee might seeme after to descend to chiding being mooved with malice or envie: yet so, that hee referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ. That the Corinthians might be more athamed to prophane and abuse the holy gifts of God. 8 He toucheth that by name, which they most abused.

d Seeing that whiles wee live here, wee knowe but in part and prophesie in part, this worde (All) must be restrained to the present state of the faithfull: but by speach hee meaneth not a vaine kinde of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused. 9 He sheweth that the true use of these gifts consisteth herein, that the mightie power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might evidently appeare how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition. e By those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost. ✻ Titus 2,21. Philip. 3,20. 10 He sayeth by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselves so much in those gifts which they had received, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to bee looked for. f Hee speaketh of the last comming of Christ. ✣ 1. Thess. 3,13. and 5,23.

11 Hee testifieth that he hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterwarde. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our salvation is onely the worke of God. g He calleth them blamelesse, not whome man never found faults with, but with whome no man can justly finde fault, that is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whome there is no condemnation. See Luke 2,6. ✻ 1. Thess. 5,24.

h True and constant, who doeth not onely call us, bee giveth us the gift of perseverance also. 12 Having made an end of the preface, hee commeth to the matter it selfe, beginning with a most grave obtestation, as though they should heare Christ himselfe speaking and not Paul.

Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that 13 yee all speake one thing, and that there be no dissentions among you: but be yee i knit together in one minde, and in one iudgement.

11 14 For it hath bene declared unto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentations among you.

12 Now k this I say, that every one of you saith, I am Pauls, and I am ✣ Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christ.

13 15 Is Christ divided? was 16 Paul crucified for you? either were ye 17 baptized into the name of Paul?

14 18 I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but ✣ Crispus, and Gaius, 15 Least any should say, that I had baptized in to mine owne name.

16 I baptized also the houshold of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 19 For CHRIST sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel, 20 not with ✻ 1 wisedome of words, least the 21 crosse of Christ should be made of none effect.

13 The first part of this Epistle, wherein his purpose is to call back the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occasion of discord. So then this first part concerneth the taking away of schismes. Now a schisme is when men which otherwise agree and consent together in doctrine, doe yet separate themselves one from another.

i Knit together, as a bodie that consisteth of all his partes fitly knit together.

14 He beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of an objection: for that be understood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissentions, because that some did hang on one doctor, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselves, that they neglected all doctours and teachers, calling themselves the disciples of Christ onely, shutting forth their teachers. k The matter I would say to you, is this.

✻ Acts. 18,24. 15 The first reason why schismes ought to be eschewed: because Christ seemeth by that meanes, to be devided and torne in pieces, who cannot be the head of two divers and disagreeing bodies, beeing himselfe one. 16 Another reason: Because they cannot without great iniurie to God so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they doe, which allow whatsoever some man speaketh, even for his persons sake: as these men allowed one selfe same Gospell beeing uttered of one man, and did loathe it being uttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth downe his owne name not onely to grieve no man, but also to shewe that he pleadeth not his owne cause.

17 The third reason taken of the forme and end of Baptisme, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man doe not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if hee hang upon some certaine teachers, and dispise others, he forsaketh Christ: for if hee hold Christ the onely master, hee woulde heare him, teaching by whomsoever. 18 He protesteth that hee speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through Gods providence bee is void of all suspition of challenging disciples unto himselfe, and taking them from others. Whereby wee may understand that not the schollers onely, but the teachers also are beere reprehended, which gathered themselves flockes apart. ✣ Acts 18,8. 19 The taking away of an objection, that hee gave not himselfe to baptize many among them: not for the contempt of Baptisme, but because hee was chiefly occupied in delivering the doctrine, and committed them that received his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had store. And so hee declared sufficiently how farre hee was from all ambition: whereas on the other side they whome hee reprehendeth, as though they gathered disciples unto themselves and not unto Christ, bragged most ambitiously of members, which they had baptized. 20 Now he turneth himselfe to the doctours themselves, which pleased themselves in brave and ambitious eloquence, to the ende that they might drawe more disciples after them. Hee confesseth plainely that hee was unlike unto them, opposing gravely as it became an Apostle, his example against their perverse iudgements: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the observing of a godly simplicitie, both in wordes and sentences in teaching of the Gospell. * Chap. 2,13. 2. Pet 1,16. l With eloquence: which Paul casteth off from him not onely, as not necessarie, but also as flat contrarie to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heavenly, not of man, and voide of painted wordes. 21 The reason why he vsed not the pompe of words, and painted speach: because it was Gods will to bring the worlde to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might understand, that this worke was done of God himselfe without the arte of man. Therefore as salvation is set foorth unto us in the Gospell by the crosse of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, so God would have the manner of the preaching of the crosse most different from those meanes, with which men doe vse to drawe and entise other, either to heare or beleeve: therefore it pleased him by a certaine kind of most wise folly, to triumph over the most foolish wisedome of the world, as he had said before by Esay, that he would. And hereby we may gather, that both those doctours which were puffed up with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers strayed farre away from the end and marke of their vocation.

m The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinde of speach which we vse.

18 For that m preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but unto us, which are saued, it is the ✠ a power of God.

✠ Rom.1.16.

19 22 For it is written, ✠ I will destroy the wisedome of the wise, and will cast away the understanding of the prudent.

n It is that wherein he declareth his marueilous power in saluing his elect, which would not so euidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any hope of man: for so man might attribute that to himselfe, which is proper onely to the crosse of Christ.

20 Where is the wise? where is the o Scribe? where is the p disputer of this world? hath not God made the wisedome of this world foolishnesse?

o Esa.26.14.

21 23 For seeing the q worlde by wisedome knew not God in the r wisedome of GOD, 24 it pleased God by the f foolishnesse of preaching to saue them that beleeue:

p Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendeth thy dayes in turning thy bookes?

22 ✠ 25 Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seeke after wisedome.

23 But wee preach Christ crucified: unto the Iewes, euen a stumbling blocke, and unto the Grecians, foolishnesse:

24 But unto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wisedome of God.

25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men.

26 26 For brethren, you see your t calling, how that not many wise men u after the flesh, not many mightie, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weake things of the world, to confound the mighty things,

28 And vile things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which x are not, to bring to y nought things that are.

q By the world hee meaneth all men which are not borne anewe, but remaine as they were: when they were first borne.

r In the workemanship of this world, which hath the marueilous wisedome of God ingraued in it, so that every man may beholde it.

24 The goodnesse of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to punish the pride of the world, he is very prouident and carefull, for the saluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooles, that they may be wise to God.

f So calleth the preaching of the Gospel as the enemies supposed it: but in the meane season he taunteth them very sharpely, who had rather charge God with folly, then acknowledge their owne and crave pardon for it.

25 A declaration of that which he said that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, saith he, to them whom God had not indued with new light, that is to say, to all men, being conhidered in themselues: for the Iewes require miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit and wisedome, and therefore they doe not onely not beleeue the Gospel, but also they mocke at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great vertue and wisedome of God, but such as those onely which are called, doe perceiue. God shewing most plainely, that euen then when madde men thinke him most foolish, he is farre wiser then they are: and that he surmounteth all their might and power, when he vseth most vile and abiect things, as it hath appeared in the fruite of the preaching of the Gospell.

26 A confirmation taken of those things which came to passe at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, insomuch that the philosophers of Greece were driuen to shame, when they saw that they could doe nothing with their wisedome and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called Idiots and unlearned. And herewithall doeth hee beate downe their pride, for God did not preferre them before those noble and wise men because they should be proud, but that they might be constrained euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lorde, by whose mercies, although they were the most abiects of all, they had obtained in Christ, both this wisedome, and all things necessarie to saluation.

t What way the Lorde hath taken in calling you.

u After that kind of wisedome which men make account of, as though there were none else: who because they are carnall, know not spirituall wisedome.

x Which is mans iudgements are almost nothing.

y To shew that they are vaine and unprofitable, and nothing worth. See Romanes 3.31.

29 That no z flesh should reioyce in his presence,

z Flesh is oft as we see, taken for the whole man: and he vseth this word flesh, very fitly, to set the weake and miserable condition of man and the maiestie of God, one against the other.

30 But ye are a of him in Christ Iesus, 27 who of God is made unto us wisedome and righteousnesse, and sanctification, and redemption.

a Whom hee cast downe before, now he lifteth vp, yea, higher then all men: yet so, that he shewith them that all their worthinesse is without themselues, that is standeth in Christ, and that of God.

31 That, according as it is written, ✠ b He that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

27 He teacheth that especially and above all things, the Gospel ought not to be contemned, seeing it containeth the chiefest things that are to be desired, to wit, true wisedome, the true way to obtaine righteousnesse, the true way to liue honestly and godly, the true deliuerance from all miseries and calamities.

✠ Ier.9.24. 2.Cor.10.17.

b Let him yeld all to God and giue him thankes: and so by this place is mans free will beaten downe, which the Papist so dreame of.

CHAP. II.

1 He setteth downe a platforme of his preaching. 4 which was base in respect of mans wisedome. 7,13 but noble in respect of the spirituall power and efficacie. 14 And so concludeth that flesh and blood cannot rightly iudge thereof.

A Nd 1 I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with ✠ excellencie of wordes, or of wisedome, shewing unto you the a testimonie of God.

1 He returneth to the 17 verse of the former Chapter, that is to say, to his owne example: confessing that he wed not amongst them either excellencie of words, or enticing speech of mans wisedome, but with great simplicitie of speech, both knew and preached Iesus Christ crucified, humble and abiect, as touching the flesh.

2 For I b esteemed not to knowe any thing among you, ✠ saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

b I purposed not to professe any other knowledge, but the knowledge of Christ and him crucified.

3 ✠ And I was among you in c weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

c He setteth weakenesse, against excellencie of wordes, and therefore ioyneth with it feare and trembling, which are the companions of true modestie, not such feare and trembling as terrifie the conscience, but such as are contrary to vanitie and pride.

✠ Chap.1.17. 2.Pet.1.16.

4 Neither stood my worde, and my preaching in the ✠ enticing speech of mans wisedome, d but in plaine d evidence of the Spirit and of power.

2 He turneth that now to the commendation of his ministery, which he had granted to his aduersaries: for his vertue and power which they knewe well enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no worldly helpe ioyned with it.

d By playne euidence he meaneth such a proofe, as is made by certaine and necessary reasons.

5 3 That your faith should not be in the wisdome of men, but in the power of God.

3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profit, because they might thereby knowe manifestly, that the Gospell was from heaven. Therefore hee priuily rebuketh them, because that in seeking vaine ostentation, they willingly deprived themselues of the greatest helpe of their faith.

6 4 And wee speake wisedome among them that are e perfect: not the wisedome of this world, neither of the f princes of this world, which come to nought.

4 Another argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Gospell, which is true wisedome, but knowen to them onely which are desirous of perfection: and is vnsauerie to them which otherwise excell in the worlde, but yet vainely and frailly.

e Those are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection alreadie, but such as tend to it. 3.12 Phil.3.15. to that perfect, is set against weake.

f They that are wisers, richer or mightier then other men are.

7 5 But we speake the wisedome of God in a g misterie, euen the hid wisedome, 6 which God had determined before the worlde, unto our glory.

5 He sheweth the cause why this wisedome cannot be perceiued of those excellent worldly wittes: to wit, because indeed it is so deepe, that they cannot attaine unto it.

g Which men could not so much as dreame of.

8 7 Which none of the princes of this world had knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the h Lord of glory.

9 He taketh away an obiection: if it be so harde when and how is it knowen? God, sayeth hee, determined with himselfe from the beginning, that which his purpose was to bring foorth at this time out of his secretes for the saluation of men.

7 He taketh away another obiection: why then, how commeth it to passe, that this wisedome was so reiected of men of highest authority, that they crucified Christ himselfe? Paul answereth: because they knew not Christ such as hee was.

h That mightie God, full of true maiestie and glorie. Now this place hath in it a most euident proofe of the diuinitie of Christ, and of ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhoode alone, is vouched of the Godhead ioyned with the manhood: which kind of speach, is called by the old fathers, a making common of things belonging to some one, with other to whom they doe not belong.

9 8 But

9 s But as it is written, ✠ The things which eye hath not seene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into i mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 9 But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the spirit k searcheth all things, yea, the deepe things of God.

11 10 For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the l spirit of a man, which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now wee have receiveth not the m spirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, 11 that wee might n know the things that are given to us of God.

13 12 Which things also we speake, not in the ✠ wordes which mans wisedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, o comparing spirituall things with spirituall things.

14 13 But the p naturall man perceiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishnesse unto him, neither can hee know them, because they are q spiritually discerned.

15 14 But he that is spirituall, r discerneth all things: yet 15 he himselfe is iudged of s no man.

16 ✠ 16 For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that he might t instruct him? But wee have the u minde of Christ.

s Another obiection: But how could it be that those witty men could not perceive this wisedome? Paul answereth: Because we preach those things which passe all mans understanding.

✠ Esa. 64.4.

i Man can not so much as thinke of them, much lesse conceive them with his senses.

9 A question: if it surmount the capacitie of men, how can it be understood of any man, or how can you declare and preach it? by a peculiar lightning by Gods spirit, wherewith whosoever is inspired, he can enter even to the very secrets of God.

k There is nothing so secret and hidden in God, but the Spirit of God pearceth into it.

10 He setteth that forth by a similitude, which hee spake of the inspiration of the Spirit. As the force of mans wit searcheth out things pertaining to man, so doeth our mind by that power of the holy Ghost, understand heavenly things. l The minde of man, which is indued with ableneſſe to understand and iudge. m The Spirit which we have received, doth not teach us things of this world, but lifteth us up to God: and this place teacheth us against the Papists, what faith it is, from whom it commeth, and what force it is of. 12 That which he spake generally, he restraineth now in those things which God hath opened unto us of our salvation in Christ: least that any man should separate the Spirit from the preaching of the word and Christ: or should thinke that those fantasticall men are governed by the Spirit of God, which wandring beside the worde, thrust upon us their vaine imaginations for the secrets of God. n This word (know) is taken here in his proper sense, for true knowledge, which the Spirit of God worketh in us. 12 Now he returneth to his purpose, and concludeth the argument which hee began vers. 6. and it is thus: the words must be appʼyed to the matter, and the matter must be set forth with words which are meete and convenient for it: now this wisedome is spirituall and not of man, and therefore it most be delivered by a spirituall kinde of reacting, and not by entising wordes of mans eloquence, that the simple, and yet wonderfull maiestie of the holy Ghost may therein appeare. ✠ Chap 1.17. 2.pet 1.16 o Applying the words unto the matter, to wit, that as wee teach spirituall things, so must our kinde of teaching be spirituall. 13 Againe he preventeth an offence of stumbling blocke: how commeth it to passe that so fewe allow these things? This is not to be marveiled at, sayeth the Apostle, seeing that men in their natural power (as they termed them) are not indued with that faculkie, whereby spirituall things are discerned (which faculkie commeth another way) and therefore they accompt spirituall wisedome as folly: and it is as if he should say, It is no marvaile that blinde men cannot iudge of colours, seeing that they lacke the light of their eyes, and therefore ligat is to them as darkenesse. p The man that hath no further light of understanding then that which he brought with him, euen from his mothers wombe, as Iude defineth it, Iude 19.

q By the vertue of the holy Ghost. 14 He amplifieth the matter by contraries.

r Understandeth and discerneth. 15 The wisedome of the flesh, saith Paul, determined nothing certainely, no not in it owne affaires, much esse can it discerne strange, that is spirituall things. But the Spirit of God, wherewith spirituall men are indued, can be deceived by no meanes, and therefore be reproved by no man.

s Of no man: for when the Prophets are iudged of the Prophets, it is the Spirit that iudgeth, and not the man. ✠ Esa. 40.13. rom. 11.34. 16 A reason of the former saying: for he is called spirituall: which hath learned that by the vertue of the Spirit, which Christ hath taught us. Now if that which we have learned of that Master, could be reproved of any man, hee must needes be wiser then God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not onely foolish, but also wicked, which thinke that they can devise some thing that is either more perfect, or that they can teach the wisedome of God a better way then they knewe or taught, which undoubtedly, were indued with Gods Spirit. t Lay his head to his, and teach him what he should doe. u We are indued with the Spirit of Christ, who openeth unto us those secrets, which by all other meanes are unsearchable, and also all truth whatsoever.

CHAP. III.

1 He yeeldeth a reason why hee preached small matters unto them: 4 He sheweth how they ought to esteeme of Ministers: 6 The ministers office. 10 A true forme of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawen away to prophane things, 18 through the proud wisedome of the flesh.

A Nd i I could not speake unto you, brethren, as unto spirituall men, but as unto a carnall, even as unto babes in Christ.

2 I gave you milke to drinke, and not b meate: for ye were not yet c able to beare it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnall; for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnall, and walke as d men?

4 For when one saith, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are ye not carnall?

5 2 Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the ministers by whom yee beleeved, and as the Lord gave to every man?

6 3 I have planted, Apollos watred, but God gave the increase.

7 So then, neither is hee that planteth any thing, neither he that watreth, but God that giveth the increase.

8 And he that planteth, and hee that watreth, are one, ✠ and every man shall receive his wages, according to his labour.

9 For we together are Gods e labourers, yee are Gods husbandry, and Gods building.

10 According to the grace of God given to mee, as a skilfull master builder, I have layd the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: ✠ but let euery man take heede howe hee buildeth upon it.

11 5 For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is laid, which is Iesus Christ.

12 6 And if any man builde on this founda-

i Having declared the worthinesse of heavenly wisdome and of the Gospel, & having generally condemned y blindenes of mans mind, now at length he applieth it particularly to the Corinthians: calling them carnall, that is, such in whom as yet the flesh prevaileth against the spirit. And he bringeth a double testimony of it: first, for that he had prooved them to be such, inso much that he deale with them no otherwise then with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godlines: and secondly because they shewed indeed by these dissensions, which sprang up by reason of the ignorance of the vertue of the Spirit, and heavenly wisdome, that they had profited very little or nothing.

k He calleth them carnall, which are as yet ignorant: and therefore to expresse it the better, he tearmeth them babes. b Sub. stantiall meate, or strong meate. c To be fed by me with substantiall meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew up in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching, first with milke, then with strong meat, which difference was onely but in manner of teaching. d By the square and compasse of mans wit and iudgement. 2 After that he hath sufficiently reprehended ambition teachers, and their foolish esteeme: now hee sheweth how the true ministers are to be esteemed, that we ought not unto them, more or lesse then wee ought to doe. Therefore hee teacheth us, that they are they by whome we are brought to faith and salvation, but yet as the ministers of God, and such as doe nothing of themselves, but God so working by them as it pleaseth him to furnish them with his gifts. Therefore we have not to marke or consider what minister it is that speaketh, but what is spoken: and wee must depend onely upon him which speaketh by his servants. 3 He beautifieth the former sentence with two similitudes: first comparing the companie of the faithfull, to a fielde which God maketh fruitfull, when it is sowed and watered through the labour of his servants: next, by comparing it to an house, which in deede he Lord buildeth, but by the hands of his workemen, some of whome, hee vseth in laying the foundation, others in building of it up. Now, both these similitudes tend to this purpose, to shewe that all things are wholly accomplished by Gods onely authoritie and might, so that wee must onely have an eye to him. Moreover, although that God vseth some in the better part of the worke: we must not therefore contemne other, in respect of them, and much lesse may wee divide, or set them apart (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labour in Gods businesse, and in such sort, that they serve to finish one selfe same worke, although by a divers manner of working, insomuch that they neede one another's helpe. ✠ Psal 62.12 Ga.4.6.5.

e Serving under him: Now they which serve under another, doe nothing of their owne strength, but as it is given them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that service. Looke chap. 15.10. and 2. Cor. 3.6. and all the increase that commeth by their labours, doth so proceed from God, that no part of the praise of it may be given to the vnder servant. 4 Now hee speaketh to the teachers themselves, which succeeded him in the Church of Corinth: and in their person, to all that were after or shall be Pastours of Congregations, seeing that they succeed into the labour of the Apostles, which were planters and chiefe builders. Therefore hee warneth them first, that they perswade not themselves that they may build after their owne fantasie, that is, that they may propound and set foorth any thing in the Church, either in matter, or in kinde of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chiefe builders.

5 Moreover he sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Iesus, from which they may not turne away one iote in the building up of his building. 6 Thirdly, he sheweth that they must take head that the upper part of the building be answerable to the foundation: that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoever pertaineth to the edifying of the flocke, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to golde, silver, and precious stones, of which matter, Isaias also and Iohn in the Revelation built the heavenly citie. And to these are opposite, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vaine questions or decrees: and bables to be short, all that kinde of teaching which serveth to ostentation. For false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not here, are not said properly to be built upon this foundation, unlesse peradventure in shew onely.

tion, golde, silver, precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble.

13 7 Every mans worke shallbe made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shallbe revealed by the fire: and the fire shall trie every mans worke of what sort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that he hath built upon, abide, he shall receive wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, he shall lose, but 8 he shallbe saved himselfe: nevertheless yet as it were by the fire.

16 ✣ 9 Know yee not that yee are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man f destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 10 Let no man deceive himselfe: If any man among you seeme to be wise in this world, let him be a foole, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisedome of this world is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, ✣ He g catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 * And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

21 11 Therefore let no man h reioyce in men: for all things are i yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the 12 world, or life, or death, whether they be things present, or things to come, even all are yours,

23 And ye Christs, and Christ Gods.

7 He testifieth, as indeed the truth is, that all are not good builders, no nor some of them which stand upon this one and onely foundation: but how soever this worke of evill builders, sayth he, stand for a season, yet shall it not alwayes deceive, because that the light of the truth appearing at length, as day shall dissolve this darknes, and shew what it is. And as that stuffe is tried by the fire, whether it be good or not, so will God in his time by the touch of his Spirit and word, trie all buildings, and so shall it come to passe, that such as be found pure and found, shall still continue so, to the praise of the workemen; but they that are otherwise, shallbe consumed, and vanish away, and so shall the workman be frustrate of the hope of his labour, which pleased himselfe in a thing of nought. 8 He taketh not away hope of salvation from the unskilfull and foolish builders, which hold fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rethoricians rather then pastours of Corinth: but he addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this triall of their worke, and also abide the losse of their vaine labours. * Chap. 6, 19. 2. Cor. 6, 16. 9 Continuing still in the metaphore of a building, he teacheth us that this ambition is not onely vaine, but also sacrilegious: For he sayth that the Church is as it were the Temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated unto himselfe by his Spirit. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men: he sheweth that they profane the Temple of God, because those vaine artes wherein they please themselves so much, are as he teacheth, so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which wickednesse shall not be suffered unpunished. f Defileth it, and maketh it uncleane, being holy: and surely they do defile it, by Paul his iudgement, which by fitthly eloquence defile the puritie of the Gospel. 10 He concludeth by the contrary, that they professe pure wisedome in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men, and if they be mocked of the world, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisedome of God, and as he will have them to be wise. ✣ Iob 5, 13. g For they never so craftie, yet the Lord will take them when he shall discover their treacherie. * Ysal 44, 11. 11 He returneth to the proposition of the 2 verse, first warning ỹ hearers, that henceforward they esteeme not as lords, those whom God hath appointed to be ministers: and not lords of their salvation, which thing they doe, that depend upon men, and not upon God, that speaketh by them. h Please himselfe. i Helps, appointeth for your benefit. 12 He passeth from the persons to the things themselves, that his argument may be more forcible, yea, hee ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to shew us that wee rest our selves no not in Christ himselfe, in that that he is man, but because he carieth us up even to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himselfe every where, that hee was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himselfe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 he sheweth that humilitie ought rather to be an honour then a shame unto him. 9 Hee bringeth in proofe, whereby it may evidently appeare, 10 that hee neither had care of glory, 11 nor of his belly. 17 He commendeth Timothie.

1 He concludeth the duetie of the beasten towards their ministers,

LEt 1 a a man so thinke of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God:

2 2 And as for the rest, it is required of the

that they esteeme them not as lords; and yet notwithstanding, that they give eare unto them, as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this end and purpose, that they may receive as it were at their hands, the treasure of salvation which is drawen out of the secrets of God. a Every man. 2 Last of all, he warneth the ministers that they also behave themselves not as lords, but as faithfull servants, because they must render an account of their stewardship unto God.

3 3 As touching me, I passe very little to be iudged of you, 4 or of mans b iudgement: no, 5 I iudge not mine owne selfe.

4 For I know nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth me, is the c Lord.

5 6 Therefore ✣ iudge nothing before the time, untill the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall every man have d praise of God.

6 7 Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively applied unto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your sakes, that ye might learne e by us, that no man presume above that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause.

7 8 For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not received? if thou hast received it, why reioycest thou, as though f thou hadst not received it?

8 9 Now ye are full: now yee are made rich: ye reigne as kings without us, and would to God ye did reigne, that we also might reigne with you.

9 For I thinke that God hath set foorth us the last Apostles, as men appointed to death, for we are made a g gasing stocke unto the world, and to the Angels, and to men.

10 We are fooles for Christ sake, and ye are wise in Christ: we are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable, and we are despised.

11 Vnto this houre we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and have no certaine dwelling place.

12 ✣ And labour, working with our owne hands: we are reviled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 * We are evill spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the h filth of the world, the offsskowring of all things, unto this time.

14 10 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved children I admonish you.

15 For though ye have tenne thousand instru-

3 Because in reprehending others, he set himselfe for an example, he vseth a preoccupation or preventing of an objection, and vsing the gravity of an Apostle, he sheweth that he careth not for the contrary iudgements that they have of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not set forth himselfe as they did. And hee bringeth good reasons why hee was nothing mooved with the iudgements which they had of him. 4 First, because that that which men iudge in these cases of their owne braines, is no more to be accounted of then when the unlearned doe iudge of wisedome. b Word for word, Day, after the maner of speech of the Cilicians. 5 Secondly, sayth he, how can you iudge how much or how little I am to be accounted of, seeing that I my selfe which knowe my selfe, better then you doe, and which dare professe that I have walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding chalenge any thing to my selfe? for I know that I am not unblameable, all this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore should I please my selfe as you doe. c I permit my selfe to the Lordes iudgement. 6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office, to esteeme every man according to his value, because hee knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement perteineth not to you. ✣ Matth 7, 1. d One could not be praised above the rest, but the other should be blamed: and he mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this sore was this, that they gave more to some men then meet was. 7 Having reiected their iudgement, he setteth fooith himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie, as one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teaches names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke upon him, as it were, their shame: so farre was hee from preferring himselfe to any. e By our example, which chose rather to take other mens faults upon us, then to carpe any, by name. 8 Hee sheweth a good meanes to bridle pride: first, if thou consider how rightly thou exempest thy selfe out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou have some thing more then other men have, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifulnesse. And what wise man is he that will bragge of another goodnesse, and that against God? f There is nothing then in us of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we have, we have it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confesse. 9 Hee descendeth to a most grave mocke, to cause these ambitious men to blush even against their willes. g Hee that will take a right view how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyingly boasteth that hee is his successour, let him compare the delicates of the Popish court with Saint Pauls state, as we see it here. ✣ Acts 10, 34. 1. thess. 2, 9. 2 thess. 3, 8. * Matth. 5 44. Luke 23, 34. Acts 7, 60. h Such as by sweeping is gathered together. 10 Moderating the sharpenesse of his mocke, hee putteth them in minde to remember of whome they were begotten in Christ, and that they should not doubt to followe him for an example, although hee seeme vile according to the outward shew, in respect of others, yet mighte by the efficacie of Gods Spirit, as they had had triall thereof in themselves.

ctours in Christ, yee have yee not many fathers: for in Christ Iesus I have begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you, be followers of mee.

17 For this cause have I sent unto you Timotheus, which is my beloved sonne, and faithfull in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my i wayes in Christ, as I teach every where in every Church.

18 11 Some are puffed up as though I would not come unto you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, ✣ if the Lord will, and I will know, not the k words of them which are puffed up, but the power.

20 For the kingdome of God is not in word, but in power.

21 12 What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the l spirit of meeknesse?

i What way and rule I follow every where in teaching the Churches.

11 Last of all he descendeth also to Apostolike threatnings, but yet chiding them as a father, least by their disorder he be constrained to come to punish some among them.

✣ Acts 19, 21. Iames 4. 15.

k By wordes, hee meaneth their painted and coloured kind of eloquence, against which he setteth the vertue of the Spirit.

12 A passing over to another part of this Epistle, wherein he reprehended more sharply a very hainous offence, shewing the use of ecclesiasticall correction.

l Meekely affected towards you.

CHAP. V.

2 That they have wincked at him who committed incest with his mother in law. 3, 6 hee sheweth should cause them rather to be ashamed, then to rejoyce: 10 Such kinde of wickednesse is to be punished with excommunication, 12 least other be infected with it.

1 They are greatly to be reprehended which by suffering of wickednesse, set forth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned of the infidels.

2 There are none more proud, then they that least know themselves.

3 Excommunication ought not to be committed to one mans power, but must be done by the authoritie of the whole Congregation, after that the matter is diligently examined.

a In mind, thought and will.

b Calling upon Christ his Name.

4 There is no doubt but that iudgement is ratified in heaven, wherein Christ himselfe sitteth as Iudge.

IT 1 is heard certeinly that there is fornication among you, and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should have his fathers wife.

2 2 And ye are puffed up, and have not rather sorowed, that he which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 3 For I verely as absent in bodie, but present in a spirit, have determined already as though I were present, that hee that hath thus done this thing,

4 When yee are gathered together, and my spirit, in the b Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, 4 by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

5 5 Be c delivered unto Satan, for the 6 destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Iesus.

6 7 Your reioycing d is not good: know ye not that a litle leaven leaveneth the whole lumpe?

7 8 Purge out therefore the olde leaven, that ye may be a new clumpe, as ye are unleavened: for Christ our f Passeover is sacrificed for us.

8 Therefore let us keepe the g feast, not with olde leaven, neither in the leaven of maliciousnesse and wickednesse: but with the unleavened bread of sincerities and trueth.

5 The excommunicate is delivered to the power of Satan, in that, that he is cast out of the house of God.

c What it is to be delivered to Satan, the Lord himselfe declareth when he saith, Let him be unto thee as an Heathen and Publican, Matth. 18, 17. that is to say, to be disfranchised, and put out of the right and libertie of the citie of Christ, which is the Church, with us which Satan is lord and master.

6 The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should utterly perish, but that hee may be saved, to wit, that by this meanes his flesh may be tamed, that he may learne to live to the Spirit.

7 Another end of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it must of necessitie be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.

d It naught, and not grounded upon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickednesse found among you.

8 By alluding to the ceremonie of the Passeover, hee exhorteth them to cast out that uncleane person from amongst them. In times past, sayeth hee, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Passeover, to eate leavened bread: insomuch that hee was holden as uncleane and unworthie to eat the Passeover, whosoever had but tasted of leaven. Nowe our whole life must be as it were the feast of unleavened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is slaine, must cast out both of themselves, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impuritie.

e By lumpe he meaneth the whole body of the Church, every member whereof must be unleavened bread, that is, be renewed in spirit, by plucking away the olde corruption.

f The lambe of our Passeover.

g Let us leade our whole life, as it were a continuall feast, honestly and uprightly.

9 9 I wrote unto you in an Epistle, that yee should not company together with fornicatours,

10 And not h altogether with the fornicatours of this world, or with the covetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must goe out of the world.

11 But now I have written unto you, that yee company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or covetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eat not.

12 10 For what have I to doe to iudge them also which are without? doe ye not iudge them that are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among your selves that wicked man.

9 Now he speaketh more generally, and that which hee spake before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it perteineth to others, which are knowen to be wicked, and such as through their naughtie life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communitie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meat, either he meaneth those feasts of love whereat the Supper of the Lord was received, or els their common usage and maner of life which is rightly to be taken, least any man should thinke that after matrimonie were broken by excommunacation, or such duelties kindered and cut off thereby, as wee owe one to another: children to their parents, subiects to their rulers, servants to their maisess, and neighbour to neighbour, to win one another to God.

h If you should utterly abstaine from such mens company, you should goe out of the world: therefore I speake of them which are in the very bosome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom you must labour by all meanes possible, to bring them to Christ.

10 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they must be left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 He inueigheth against their contention in law matters. 6 wherewith they vexed one another under iudges that were infidels, to the reproach of the Gospel, 9 and then sharpely threatneth fornicatours.

DAre 1 a any of you, having businesse against another, be iudged b under the vniust, 2 and not under the Saints?

1 The third question is of civill iudgements: Whether it be lawfull for one faithfull to draw another faithfull before the iudgement seat of an infidell? He answereth that it is not lawfull, for offence sake, for it is not evill of it selfe.

a As if he sayd, Are ye become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughing stocke to prophane men?

b Before the unjust.

2 3 Doe yee not know that the Saints shall iudge the world? If the world then shalbe iudged by you, are yee unworthie to iudge the smallest matters?

3 Know ye not that we shall iudge the Angels? how much more things that perteine to this life?

4 4 If then yee have c iudgements of things perteining to this life, set them up which are d least esteemed in the Church.

5 5 I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels.

7 6 Nowe therefore there is altogether

2 Headdeth that hee doeth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another, if need so require, but yet under holy iudges. 3 He gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull can not seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the world, and of the devils, with his Sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes: which may be hy equitie, and good conscience, determined. 4 The conclusion, wherein he prescribeth a remedie for this mischiefe: to wit, if they end their private affaires betwixt themselves by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, sayth he, is sufficient. Therefore he condemneth not iudgement seats, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the magistrate: for hee speaketh nor of iudgements which are practised betweene the faithfull and the infidels, neither of publique iudgements, but of controversies which may be ended by private arbiters.

d Even the most abiect among you.

5 He applieth the generall proposition to a particular, alwayes calling them backe to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their owne excellencie, from whence all these mischiefs sprang. 6 Now hee goeth further also, and although by granting them private arbiters out of the Congregation of the faithfull, he doth not simply condemne, but rather establish private iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished, they should not need to vse that remedie neither.

e infirmitie in you, that yee goe to law one with another: 7 ✠ why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather sustaine ye not harme?

8 ✠ Nay, ye your selves doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherite the kingdome of God? ‖ Be not deceived: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers,

10 Nor theeves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall inherit the kingdome of God.

11 And such were * some of you: but yee are washed, but ye are sanctified, but yee are justified, in the f Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 ‖ ✠ 9 8 All things are lawfull unto me, but all things are not profitable, I may doe all things, but I will not be brought under the h power of any thing.

13 10 Meates are ordeined for the bellie, and the bellie for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Nowe the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised up the Lord, and ✠ shall raise us up by his power.

15 11 Know yee not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 12 Doe yee not know, that he which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? ✠ for i two, saith he, shall be one flesh.

17 But he that is ioyned unto the Lord, is one spirit.

18 13 Flee fornication: every sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but hee that committeth fornication sinneth against his owne body.

19 14 Knowe yee not, that * your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, which ye have of God? and 15 ye are not your owne.

20 ✠ For yee are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are Gods.

13 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kinde of filthines. 14 The thirde argument: Because a fornicatour is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God. * Chap 3.17. 2.Cor 6,16. 15 The fourth argument: Because we are not our owne men, to give our selves to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought us, and that with a great price, to the ende that both in body and soule, wee should serve to his glory. ✠ Chap.7,13. 1 pet.1,18.

CHAP. VII.

1 Intreating here of marriage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18,20 he willeth every man to contented with his lot. 25 He sheweth what the ende of virginitie should be, 35 and who ought to marry.

1 NOwe concerning the things a whereof yee wrote unto me, It were b good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Nevertheless, to avoyd fornication, let every man have his wife, and let every woman have her owne husband.

3 * 2 Let the husband give unto the wife c due benevolence, and likewise also the wife unto the husband.

4 3 The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: & likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, 4 except it be with consent for a time, that yee may d give your selves to fasting and prayer, and againe come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 5 But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I e would that all men were even as I my selfe am: but every man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

8 6 Therefore I say unto the f unmaried, and unto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide even as I doe.

9 But if they can not abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to g burne.

10 # 9 And unto the maried I cōmand, not I, but the Lord. Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if she depart, let her remaine unmaried, or be reconciled unto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 8 But to the remnant I speake, and not the Lord, If any brother have a f wife that beleeveth not, if she be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleeveth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

1 Hee teacheth concerning marriage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessarie for the avoiding of fornication: but so that neither one man may have many wives, or any wife many husbands. a Touching these matters wherof ye wrote unto me. b Commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefes with it, and that by reason of corruption of our first estate. * 1.pet.3.7. 2 Secondly, hee sheweth that the parties married, must with singular affection entirely love one the other. c This word (due) conteineth all kind of benevolence, though he speake ment of one sort then of the other, in that that followeth. 3 Thirdly, he warneth them that they are each in other power, as touching the body, so that they may not defraud one another. 5 Hee addeth an exception, unlesse the one abstaine from the other by mutuall consent, that they may the better give themselves to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, hee warneth them to consider what is expedient, least by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they be stirred up to incontinencie. d Do nothing els. 5 Fiftly, he teacheth that marriage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which have not the gift of continency, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God. e I wish. 6 Sixtly, he giveth the selfe same admonition touching the second marriage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as have the gift of continencie: otherwise they ought to marrie againe, that their conscience may be at peace. f This whole place is flat against them which condemne second marriages. g So to burne with lust, that either they will yeelde to the temptation, or els we cannot call upon God with a quiet conscience. * Mat.5.32. and 19.9. mar.10,11,12. luke 16,18. 7 Seventy, he forbiddeth contentions and publishing or divorces (for he speaketh not heere of the fault of whoredome, which was then death even by the law of the Romans also) whereby hee affirmeth that the band of marriage is not dissolved, and that from Christ his mouth. 8 Eighly, he affirmeth that those marriages which are already contracted betweene a faithfull, and an unfaithfull or infidell, are firme, so that the faithfull may not forsake the unfaithfull.

e A weakeneſſe of mind in which is ſaid to be in them that ſuffer themſelves to be overcome of their luſts, and it is a fault that ſquareth greatly from temperancie and moderation, ſo that he nippeth them which could not put up an iniurie done unto them.

7 This pertaineth chiefly to the other part of the reprehenſion, to wit, that they went to lawe even under infidels, whereas they ſhould rather have ſuffered any loſſe, then to have given that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather depart from our right, then trie the vtermoſt of the Law haſtily, and upon an affection to revenge an iniurie. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he ſaith that they muſt repent, unleſſe they will be ſhut out of the inheritance of God. ✠ Matth. 5.39. luke 6,29. tom. 12,19.

8 Now he prepareth himſelfe to paſſe over to the fourth treatiſe of this Epiſtle, which concerneth matters indifferent: debating this matter firſt, how men may well vſe women or not: which queſtion hath three branches, fornication, matrimonie, and a ſingle life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage he commandeth to ſome, as a good and neceſſary remedy for them, to other hee leaveth it free: And other ſome he diſſwadeth from it, not as vnlawfull, but as diſcommodious, and that not without exception. As for ſingleneſſe of life (vnder which alſo I comprehend virginitie) he inioyneth it to no man: yet he perſwadeth men vnto it, but not for it ſelfe, but for another reſpect, neither all men not without exception. And being about to ſpeake againſt fornication, he beginneth with a generall reprehenſion of thoſe vices, wherewith that rich and riotous citie moſt abounded: warning and teaching them earneſtly, that repentance is vnſeparably ioyned with forgiveneſſe of ſinnes, and ſanctification with iuſtification. * Tit.3.3. f In Ieſus.

9 Secondly, hee ſheweth that the Corinthians doe ſimply offend in matters indifferent. Firſt, becauſe they abuſed them: next, becauſe they vſed indifferent things, without any diſcretion, ſeeing the vſe of them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that he doeth not vſe them a right, which immoderately abuſeth them, and ſo becommeth a ſlave vnto them. g Whatſoever: but this generall word muſt be reſtrained to things that are indifferent. h Hee is in ſubiection to things that are indifferent, whatſoever he be that thinketh he may not be without them, which is a flattering kinde of ſlaverie vnder a colour of libertie, which ſtabbeth vpon ſuch men.

10 Secondarily, becauſe they counted many things for indifferent which were of themſelves vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongſt meere naturall and lawfull deſires, as well as meate and drinke: Therefore the Apoſtle ſheweth, that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates, ſaith hee, were made for the neceſſary vſe of mans life, which is not perpetuall. For both meates, and all this maner of nouriſhing are quickely aboliſhed. But we muſt not ſo thinke of the vncleanneſſe of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary e e) as Chriſt alſo is given vnto the Father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue wherewith hee alſo riſe againe. * Rom.6,5. 12 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it. 12 A proofe of the ſame argument: A harlot and Chriſt are cleane contrary, ſo are the fleſh and the Spirit: therefore hee that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Chriſt, which vnitie is pure and ſpirituall. * Gen. 24. mat.19.5. mar.10.8. epheſ.5.3. i Moſes doeth not ſpeake theſe words of fornication, but of marriage: but ſeeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnall and fleſhly copulation, we cannot ſay that the Apoſtle abuſeth his teſtimony. Againe, Moſes hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expreſſeth both here and in Matthew 19.5. becauſe he ſpeaketh onely but of man and wife: whereupon the opinon of them that vouch it to be lawfull to have many wives, is beaten downe: for he that companieth with many, is ſundred as it were into many parts.

14 9 For the unbeleeving husband is h ſanctified to the i wife, and the unbeleeving wife is ſanctified to the k husband, elſe were your children uncleane: but now are they l holy.

15 10 But if the unbeleeving depart, let him depart: a brother or a ſiſter is not in ſubiection in m ſuch things: 11 but God hath calleth us in peace.

16 For what knoweſt thou, O wife, whether thou ſhalt ſave thine husband? Or what knoweſt thou, O man, whether thou ſhalt ſave thy wife?

17 12 But as God hath diſtributeth to every man, as the Lord n hath called every one, ſo let him walke: and ſo ordaine I in all Churches.

18 13 Is any man called being circumciſed? let him not o gather his uncircumciſion: is any called uncircumciſed? let him not be circumciſed.

19 Circumciſion is nothing, and uncircumciſion is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 ✣ Let every man abide in the ſame vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a ſervant? p care not for it: but if yet thou mayeſt be free, uſe it rather.

22 For he that is called in the q Lord, being a ſervant, is the Lords freeman: likewiſe alſo he that is called being free, is Chriſtes ſervant.

23 ✣ 14 Ye are bought with a price; be not the ſervants of men.

24 15 Brethren, let every man, wherein be was called, therein abide with r God.

25 16 Now concerning virgins, I have no commandement of the Lord: but I give mine ſadviſe, as s one that hath obtaine mercie of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I ſuppoſe then u this to be good for the x preſent neceſſitie: I meane that it is good for a man ſo to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a wife? ſeeke not to be looſed: art thou looſed from a wife? ſeeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takeſt a wife, thou ſinneſt not: and if a virgine marrie, ſhe ſinneth not: nevertheleſſe, ſuch ſhall have trouble in the y fleſh: but I z ſpare you.

29 And this I ſay, brethren, becauſe the time is a ſhort, hereafter that both they which have wives, be as though they had none:

30 And they that b weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that buy, as though they poſſeſſed not:

31 And they that vſe this c world, as though they vſed it not: for the d faſhion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would have you without care. The unmarried careth for things of the Lord, howe he may pleaſe the Lord.

33 But hee that is married, e careth for the things of the worlde, howe hee may pleaſe his wife.

34 There is difference alſo betweene a virgine and a wife: the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that ſhe may be holy, both in body and in ſpirit: but ſhe that is married, careth for the things of the world, how ſhe may pleaſe her husband.

35 And this I ſpeake for your owne g commoditie, not to tangle you in a ſnare, but that ye followe that which is honeſt, and that ye may cleave faſt unto the Lord without ſeparation.

36 17 But if any man thinke that it is uncomely for his virgine, if ſhee paſſe the flowre of her age, and need ſo require, let him doe what he will, he h ſinneth not: let them be married.

37 Nevertheleſſe, hee that ſtandeth firme in his i heart, that he hath no k need, but hath power over his owne will, and hath ſo decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virgine, he doeth well.

38 So then hee that giveth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giveth her not to marriage, doeth l better.

39 18 The wife is bound by the m law, as long as her husband ✣ liveth: but if her husband be dead, ſhe is at libertie to marrie with whom ſhee will, onely in the n Lord.

40 But ſhee is more bleſſed, if ſhee ſo abide in my iudgement: ✣ and I thinke that I have alſo the Spirit of God.

9 He anſwereth an obiection: But the faithfull is defiled by the ſocietie of the unfaithfull. The Apoſtle denieth that, and prooveth that the faithfull man with good conſcience may uſe the veſſell of his unfaithfull wife, by this that their children which are borne of them, are accounted holy (that is, conteined within the promiſe) for it is ſaid to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy ſeed.

h The godlineſſe of the wife is of more force, to cauſe their coupling together to be accounted holy, then the infidelitie of the husband is, to prophane the marriage.

i The infidell is not ſanctified or made holy in his owne perſon, but in reſpect of his wife, hee is ſanctified to her.

k To the faithfull husband.

l This place deſtroyeth the opinion of them that would not have children to be baptized, and their opinion alſo, that make baptiſme the very cauſe of ſalvation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by vertue of the covenant, even before Baptiſme, and baptiſme is added as the ſeale of that holineſſe.

10 He anſwereth to a queſtion: what if the unfaithfull forſake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, ſayth he, becauſe he is forſaken of the unfaithfull.

11 Leaſt any man upon preſence of this libertie ſhould give occaſion to the unfaithfull to depart, hee giveth to underſtand, that marriage contracted with an infidel, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be poſſible the infidel may be wonne to the faith.

12 Taking occaſion by that which he ſayd of the bondage and libertie of matrimonie, he digreſſeth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward ſtate and condition of mans life, as Circumciſion and uncircumciſion, ſervitude and libertie: warning every man generally to live with a contented minde in the Lord, what ſtate of condition ſoever hee be in, becauſe that thoſe outward things, as to be circumciſed or uncircumciſed, to be bound or free, are not of the ſubſtance (as they terme it) of the kingdome of heaven.

13 Notwithſtanding hee giveth us to vnderſtand, that in theſe examples all are not of like ſort: becauſe that circumciſion is not ſimply of it ſelfe to be deſired, but ſuch as are bound may deſire to be free. Therefore herein onely they are equall, that the kingdome of God conſiſteth not in them, and therefore theſe are no bindera nce to obey God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place unto the end of the tenth Chapter, hee willeth them not to be at the Gentiles profane bankets. 8 He reſtraineth the abuſe of Chriſtian libertie. 11 and ſheweth that knowledge muſt be tempered with charitie.

And

1 He entreth to entreate of an other kind of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idoles, or the vse of flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all hee remooveth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in vsing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meates was for unskilfull men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth all these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simplie rest in this knowledge. The reason is, that unlesse our knowledge be tempered with charitie, it doeth not onely not availe, but also doeth much hurt,

A Nd as touching things sacrificed unto idols, wee know that wee [a] all have knowledge: knowledge [b] puffeth up, but loue [c] edifieth.

2 Now, if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing, yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4 [a] Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed unto [d] idoles, we know that an idole is [e] nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords.)

6 Yet unto us there is but one God, which is that Father, [f] of whom are all things, and we [g] in him, and [*] [h] one Lord Iesus Christ, [i] by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 [3] But every man hath not that knowledge: for [4] many having [k] conscience of the idole, untill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed unto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 [5] But meate maketh us not acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, have we the more: neither if we eate not, have we the lesse.

9 But take heede least by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

because it is the mystresse of pride: nay it doeth not so much as deserve the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the love of God, and therefore from the love of our neighbour. a This generall worde is to be abridged as appeareth verse 7. for there is a kinde of taunt in it, as wee may perceive by the next verse. b Ministreth occasion of wantie and pride, because it is voyde of charitie. c Instructed our neighbour.

2 The application of that answere to things offered to idoles: I graunt, saith hee, that an idole is in deede a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, therefore that meate cannot be made holy or prophane by the idole: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect vse those meates as any other. d This worde (Idole) in this place is taken for an image which is made to present some godhead, that worship might be given unto it: whereupon came the worde (idolatrie) that is to say, Image service. e It is a vaine dreame. f When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, Hee is named the beginning of all things. g Wee have our being in him.

* Iohn 13.13. chapter 12.3. h But as the Father is called Lord, so is the Sonne, God: therefore this word (One) doeth not respect the persons, but the nature. i This worde (By) doeth not signifie the instrumentall cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Sonne worke together, which is not so to be taken, that wee make two causes, seeing they have both but one nature, though they be distinct persons.

3 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which doe not know that which you know. Now the iudgements of outward things depend not onely upon your conscience, but upon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applied not onely to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren. 9 An applying of the reason. There are many which cannot care of things offered to idoles, but with a wavering conscience, because they thinke them to be uncleane: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to doe that which inwardly they thinketh displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast bene the occasion of this mischiefe. k By conscience of the idole, hee meaneth the secret iudgement that they had within themselves, whereby they thought all things unclean that were offered to idoles, and therefore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be evill, it maketh them evill. 5 A preventing of an obiection: Why then, shall we therefore be deprived of our libertie? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianitie although you abstaine for your brethrens sake, as also if you receive the meate, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meates: but to vse our libertie with offence of our brethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse whereof is cleane contrary, to wit, to vse it, as in vsing of it wee have consideration of our weake brethren. 6 An other plainer explication of the same reason, propounded in the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did evill accompt of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offence doe easie, as it shall be declared in his place.

11 [7] And through thy knowledge shall the [*] weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 [8] Now when yee sinne so against the brethren, & wound their weake conscience, yee sinne against Christ.

13 [‡] [9] Wherefore if meate offende my brother, I will eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

(for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou wouldest not sitte downe to meate in idoles temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother, hardning his weake conscience by this example to doe evill, for whose salvation Christ himselfe hath dyed? ‡ Rom. 14.15. 8 An other amplification: Such offending of our weake brethren rebounded unto Christ, and therefore let not those men thinke that they have to doe onely with their brethren. † Rom. 14.21. 9 The conclusion, which Paul concludeth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exact that of other, which hee will not be first subiect unto himselfe. I had rather (saith hee) abstaine for ever from all kinde of flesh, then give occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, much lesse would I refuse in any certaine place or time for any brothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

7 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which inderde is none

CHAP. IX.

1 He declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gave him, 15 he willingly abstained, 18,22 least in things indifferent hee should offend any. 24 He sheweth that our life is like unto a race.

AM [1] I not an Apostle? am I not free? [2] have I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my worke [a] in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle unto other, yet doubtlesse I am unto you: for ye are the [b] seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 [3] My defence to him that [c] examine mee, is this,

4 [4] Have we not power to [d] eate and to drink?

5 Or have we not power to lead about a wife being a [e] sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I onely and Barnabas, have not we power not to worke?

7 [5] Who [g] goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 [6] Say I these things [h] according to man: saith not the Law the same also?

9 For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, * Thou shall not muzzell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for [i] oxen?

10 Either sayeth hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, and that hee that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

1 Before he proceedeth any further in his proposed matter of things offered to idoles, he would shew the cause of all this mischiefe, and also take it away: to wit, that the Corinthians thought themselves not bound to depart from a iote of their libertie for any mans pleasure. Therefore he propoundeth himselfe for an example and that in a matter almost necessarie. And yet he speaketh severally of both, but first of his owne person. If (saith he) you allcadge for your selves that you are free, and therefore will vse your libertie, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle?

3 He proveth his Apostleship by the effectes, in that that he was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongst them by their conversion. And all these things he setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wise that might be, debase themselves for the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that hee could to winne them to God when they were vtterly reprobate and without God. a By the Lord. b As a seale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apostleship. 3 Hee addeth this by the way, as if he would say, So farre it is off, that you may doubt of my Apostleship, that I vse, to refute them which call it into controversie, by opposing those things which the Lord hath done by me amongst you. c Which like Iudges examine mee and my doings. 4 Now touching the matter it selfe, he saith, Seeing that I am free, and truely an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, one of all things offered to idoles) but be maintained by my labours, yea and keepe my wife also, as the residue of the Apostles lawfully doe, as by name, Iohn and Iames, the Lords cousins, and Peter himselfe? d Vpon the expense of the Church? e One that is a Christian and a true beleever? f Not to live by the worke of our hands?

5 That hee may not seeme to burden the Apostles, hee sheweth that it is iust that they doe, by an argument of comparison, seeing that souldiers live by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruites of their labours, and shepheards by that that commeth of their flockes. g Vseth to goe a warfare? 6 Secondly he bringeth foorth the authoritie of Gods institution by an argument of comparison. h Have I no better ground then the common custome of men? * Deut. 25.4. 1.tim. 5.18. i Was it Gods proper drift to provide for oxen, when he made this Law? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.

✣ Rom.1.1,17.
7 An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for neither in so doing doe we require a reward meete for our deserts.
8 An other argument of great force: other are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawfull for me, yea rather for me then any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any discommoditie, then the Gospel of Christ should be hindered.
k The word signifieth aright and interest, whereby he giveth us to understand that the ministers of the word must of right and duetie be found of the Church.

n Because they preach the Gospel. It followed by this place, that Paul gote no living neither would have any other man get by any commoditie of masse, or any other such superstitious trumperies.

11 ✣ 7 If wee have sowen unto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if wee reape your carnall things?
12 8 If others with you be partakers of this k power, are not we rather? nevertheless, we have not used this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospell of Christ.
13 9 Doe ye not knowe, that they which minister about the ✣ holy things, eate of the l things of the Temple? and they which waite at the altar, are m partakers with the altar?
14 So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach the Gospel, should live n of ✣ Gospel.
15 But I have used none of these things: neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done unto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine.
16 For though I preach the Gospel, I have nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is laid upon me, and woe is unto me, if I preach not the Gospel.
17 For if I doe it willingly, I have a reward, but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed unto me.
18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ o free, that I abuse not mine authority in ✣ Gospel.

21 To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe:
22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to q all men, that I might by all meanes save some.

24 11 Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiveth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.
25 And every man that prooveth masteries, s abstaineth from all things: and they doe it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an uncorruptible.
26 I therefore so runne, not as uncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre.
27 But I beate downe my t body, and bring it into subiection, least by any meanes after that I have preached to other, I my selfe should be u reproveth.

o By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it.

r That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospel, may receive fruit by the Gospel.
11 He bringeth in another cause of this mischiefe, to wit, that they were given to gluttonie, for there were solemne bankets of sacrifices, and the riote of the Priests was alway yet too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to righteousnesse, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to be restrained from these baukets: but contrariwise, the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his owne example, to sobrietie and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they cannot be fit to runne or wrestle (as then the games of Isthmies were) which pamper up their bodies, and therefore affirming that they can have no reward, unlesse they take another course and stade of life.

Nowe, moreover and besides that these things are fitly spoken against them which frequented idoles feastes, the same also seeme to be alleaged to this ende and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that those things are not of such great weight, that God will be angry with them if they vse them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be bap-

3 [b] But I will that yee know, that Chriſt is the [*] head of every man: and the man is the womans head: and God is [c] Chriſtes head.

4 Every [d] man praying or prophecying having any thing on his head, diſhonoureth his head.

5 [e] But every woman that prayeth or prophecieth bareheaded, diſhonoureth her head: [f] for it is even one very thing, as though ſhe weare ſhaven.

6 Therefore if the woman be not covered, let her alſo be ſhorne: and if it be ſhame for a woman to be ſhorne or ſhaven, let her be covered.

7 [g] For a man ought not to cover his head: foraſmuch as he is the [*] image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 [h] For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 [*] [i] For the man was not created for the womans ſake: but the woman for the mans ſake.

10 [k] Therefore ought the woman to have [l] power on her head, becauſe of the [m] Angels.

[b] Reaſontaught downe God, in Chriſt our mediatour, for the ende and marke not onely of doctrine but alſo of eccleſiaſticall comelineſſe. Then applying it to the queſtion purpoſed touching the comely apparell both of men and women in publike aſſemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is ſo ſubiect to Chriſt, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him for the preeminences of the ſexe. * Epheſ. 5, 23. a In that, that Chriſt is our mediatour. 3 Hereof he gathereth that if men doe either pray or preach in publike aſſemblies having their heads covered (which was then a ſigne of ſubiection) they did as it were ſpoile themſelves of their dignitie, againſt Gods ordinance. b It appeareth that this was a politike law ſerving onely for the circumſtances of the time, that Paul lived in, by this reaſon, becauſe in theſe our dayes, for a man to ſpeake bareheaded in an aſſembly, is a ſigne of ſubiection. 4 And in like ſort he concludeth, that women which ſhew themſelves in publike and eccleſiaſticall aſſemblies without the ſigne and token of their ſubiection, that is to ſay, uncovered, ſhame themſelves.

[c] The firſt argument taken from the common ſence of man, for ſomuch as nature teacheth women, that it is diſhoneſt for them to come abroad bareheaded, ſeeing that the hath given them thicke and long haire, which they doe ſo diligently trimme and decke, that they can in no wiſe abide to have it ſhaven. 6 The taking away of an obiection. Have not men alſo haire given them? I grant, ſaith the Apoſtle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this ende and purpoſe, that the glory of God ſhould appeare in his rule and authoritie: but the woman was made, that by profeſſion of her obedience, ſhee might more honour her husband. [d] Gen. 1, 26. and 5, 1. and 9, 6. coloſ. 3, 10. 7 He proveth the inequalitie of the woman, by that that the man is the matter wherof woman was firſt made. [e] Gent. 2, 21. 8 Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans ſake. 9 The concluſion: Woman muſt be covered, to ſhew by this external ſigne their ſubiection. [f] A covering which is a token of ſubiection. 10 What this meaneth, I doe not yet vnderſtand.

[m] He that would have you tempted for yours profites ſake, will give you an iſſue to eſcape out of the tentation.

[n] Now returning to thoſe idoles feaſts, that he may not ſeeme to dally at all, firſt he promiſeth that hee will uſe no other reaſons then ſuch as they knew very well themſelves. And he uſeth an induction borowed of the agreement that is in the things themſelves. The holy bankets of the Chriſtians are pledges, firſt of all of the communitie that they have with Chriſt, and next, one with another. The Iſraelites alſo doe ratifie in their ſacrifices, their mutuall conjunction in one ſelfe ſame religion: therefore ſo doe the idolaters alſo ioyne themſelves with their idoles or devils rather (for idoles are nothing) in thoſe ſolemne bankets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of devils, and therefore you muſt eſchew it: For you can not be partakers of the Lord and of Idoles together, much leſſe may ſuch bankets be accounted for things indifferent. Will ye then ſtrive with God? [o] Of thankeſgiving: whereupon, that holy banket was called the Euchariſt, that is, a thankeſgiving. [p] That is, as yet obſerve their ceremonie. [q] Are conſenting and guiltie, both of that worſhip and ſacrifice. [r] Have any thing to doe with the devils, or enter into that ſocietie which is begunne on the devils name. [s] The heathen and prophane people were wont to ſhut up and make an ende of their feaſtes which they kept to the honour of their gods, in offering meate offerings & drinke offerings to them, with bankets and feaſtings. * Chap. 6, 12. [t] Comming to another kinde of things offered to idoles, hee repeateth that generall rule, that in the uſe of things indifferent we ought to have conſideration not of our ſelves only, but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many things which of themſelves are lawfull, which may be evill done of us, becauſe of offence to our neighbour. [u] Looke afore, Chap. 6, 13. 7 An applying of the rule to the preſent matter: Whatſoever is ſolde in the ſhambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lords hand, and eate it either at home with the faithfull, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a private banket: but yet with this exception, valeſſe any man be preſent which is weake, whoſe conſcience may be offended, by ſeeing meates offered to idoles before them: for then you ought to have conſideration of their weakeneſſe. [x] The fleſh that was ſacrificed, was uſed to be ſolde in the ſhambles, and the price returned to the prieſts. [y] Pſalme 24, 1. [z] All thoſe things whereof it is full. [a] A reaſon: for we muſt take heed that our libertie be not evill ſpoken of, and that the benefit of God which we bought to uſe with thankeſgiving be not changed into impietie, and that through our fault, if wee chuſe rather to offend the conſcience of the weake, then to yeeld a little of our libertie in a matter of no importance, and ſo give occaſion to the weake to iudge in ſuch ſort of us, and of Chriſtian libertie. And the Apoſtle taketh theſe things upon his owne perſon, that the Corinthians may have ſo much the leſſe occaſion to oppoſe any thing againſt him.

[o] If I may through Gods benefite eate this meate, or that meate, why ſhould I through my fault cauſe that benefite of God to turne to my blame?

[p] The concluſion: We muſt ordaine our lives in ſuch ſort, that we may be as much as may be to the glory of God, and to the profite of our neighbour.

11 A digression which the Apostle useth, least that which he spake of the superioritie of men, and lower degrees of women in consideration of the policie of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequalitie. Therefore he teacheth that men have in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are borne by the meanes of women, and this ought to put them in minde to observe the degree of every sexe, in such sort, that mutuall conjunction may be cherished. d By the Lord.

12 He vrgeth the argument taken from the common sence of nature.

e To be a covering for her, and such a covering as should procure another.

13 Against such as are stubburnly contentious, we have to oppose this, that the Churches of God are not contentious.

14 Hee passeth now to the next treatise concerning the right administration of the Lords supper. And the Apostle useth this sharper preface, that the Corinthians might understand, that whereas they observed generally the Apostles commandements, yet they soully neglected them in a matter of greatest importance. 15 To celebrate the Lords Supper aright, it is requisite that there be not only consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not prophaned. 16 Although that schismes and heresies proceed from the devill, are evill, and yet they come not by chance, nor without cause, and they turne to the profite of the elect. f Whom experience hath taught to be of sound Religion and godlinesse. g This is an vnusuall kinde of speach, whereby the Apostle denieth that flatly, which many did not well. h Eateth his meate and drinketh not till other come. 17 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the love feastes, for their abuse, although they had bene a long time and with commendation used in Churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles. 18 Wee must take a true forme of keeping the Lords Supper, out of the institution of it, the praise whereof are these, touching the Pastours, to shewe foorth the Lords death, by preaching his word: to blesse the bread and the wine by calling upon the name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliver the bread broken to be eaten, and the cuppe received to be drunke with thanksgiving. And touching the people, that every man examine himselfe, that is to say, to proove both his knowledge, and also faith and repentance: to shewe forth the Lords death, that is, in true faith to yeeld unto his word and institution: and last of all, to take the bread at the ministers hand, and to eate it, and to drinke the wine, and give God thankes: This was Pauls and the Apostles manner of ministring. % Matt. 26.26. marke 14.22. luke 22.19. i This word (Broken) putteth us unto us Christ his manner of death, for although his legges were not broken, as the theeves legges were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and sorne, and bruised.

14 11 Nevertheleſſe, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man d in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, ſo is the man alſo by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 12 Iudge in your ſelves, Is it comely that a woman pray unto God vncovered?

14 Doeth not nature it ſelfe teach you, that if a man have long haire, it is a ſhame unto him?

15 But if a woman have long haire, it is a praiſe unto her: for her haire is given her for a e covering.

16 13 But if any man luſt to be contentious, we have no ſuch cuſtome, neither the Churches of God.

17 g 14 Now in this that I declare, I praiſe you not, that yee come together, not with profite, but with hurt.

18 15 For firſt of all, when yee come together in the Church, I heare that there are diſſentions among you: and I beleeve it to be true in ſome part.

19 16 For there muſt be hereſies even among you, that they which are f approoved among you, might be knowen.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, it is g not to eate the lords Supper.

21 For every man when they ſhould eate, taketh his owne ſupper b afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 17 Have ye not houſes to eate and to drinke in? deſpiſe ye the Church of God, and ſhame them that have not? what ſhall I ſay to you? ſhall I praiſe you in this? I praiſe you not.

23 18 For I have received of the Lord that which I alſo have delivered unto you, to wit, That the Lord Ieſus in the night when he was betrayed, tooke bread,

24 ✠ And when he had given thankes, he brake it, and ſaid, Take, eate: this is my body, which is i broken for you: this doe yee in remembrance of me.

25 After the ſame maner alſo he tooke the cup, when he had ſupped, ſaying. This cup is the Newe Teſtament in my blood: this do as oft as ye drinke it in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as yee ſhall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe, yee ſhew the Lords death till he come.

27 19 Wherefore, whoſoever ſhall eate this bread, and drinke the cuppe of the Lord k unworthily, ſhall be guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 ✠ 20 Let l every man therefore examine himſelfe, and ſo let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For hee that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, becauſe he m diſcerneth not the Lords body.

30 21 For this cauſe many are weake, and ſicke among you, and many ſleepe.

31 For if wee would n iudge our ſelves, wee ſhould not be iudged.

32 But when wee are iudged, we are chaſtened of the Lord, becauſe we ſhould not be condemned with the world.

33 22 Wherefore, my brethren, when yee come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 23 And if any man be hungry, let him eate at home, that ye come not together unto condemnation. 24 Other things will I ſet in order when I come.

19 Whoſoever contemne the holy Sacrament, that is, uſe them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it ſelfe, that is of Chriſt, and ſhall be grievouſly punished for it.

k Otherwiſe then meete is ſuch myſteries ſhould be handled.

✠ 2 Cor 13.5.

20 The examination of a mans ſelfe, is of neceſſitie required in the Supper, and therefore they ought not to be admitted unto it, which can not examine themſelves: as children, furious and madde men, alſo ſuch as either have no knowledge of Chriſt, or not ſufficient, although they profeſſe Chriſtians Religion: and others ſuch like. l This place beateth downe the faith of credo, or the wrapped faith, which the Papiſts maintaine. m Hee is ſaid to diſcerne the Lords body, that hath conſideration of the worthineſſe of it: and therefore commeth to eate of his meate with great reverence. 21 The prophaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his myſteries, is ſharpely puniſhed of him, and therefore ſuch a miſchiefe ought diligently to be prevented by iudging and correcting of a mans ſelfe. n Try and examine our ſelves by faith and repentance, ſeparating your ſelves from the wicked. 22 The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place for private ſuppers. 23 The Supper of the Lord was inſtituted not to feed the belly, but to feede the ſoule with the communion of Chriſt, and therefore it ought to be ſeparate from common banquets. 24 Such things as pertaine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other ſuch like, the Apoſtle tooke order for in Congregation, according to the conſideration of times, places and perſons.

CHAP. XII.

1 To drawe away the Corinthians from contention and pride, he ſheweth that ſpirituall gifts are therefore diverſly beſtowed, 7 that the ſame being loyally to eth other imployed, 12 we may grow vp together into one body of Chriſt in ſuch equall proportion and meaſure, 20 as the members of mans body doe.

NOw a concerning ſpirituall gifts, brethren, I would not have you a ignorant.

1 Now he entreth into the third part of this treatiſe, touching the right uſe of ſpirituall gifts, wherein he giveth the Corinthians plainly to underſtand, that they abuſed them: for they that excelled, bragged ambitiouſly of them, and ſo robbed God of the praiſe of his gifts: and having no conſideration of

2 a Yee knowe that yee were b Gentiles, and were caried away unto the dumbe idoles, as yee were led.

3 ✠ Wherefore I declare unto you, that no man ✠ ſpeaking by the ſpirit of God, calleth Ieſus ✠ c execrable: alſo no man can ſay that Ieſus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghoſt.

4 ✠ Now there are diverſities of gifts, but the d ſame Spirit.

5 And there are diverſities of adminiſtrations, but the ſame Lord.

6 And there are diverſities of ✠ operations, but

2 a He proveth the ſame by comparing their former ſtate with that wherein they were at this time indued with thoſe excellent gifts. b Not touching their ſervice and the Covenant, mere ſtrangers. 3 The concluſion: Knowe you therefore, that you cannot ſo much as move your lippes to honour Chriſt withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghoſt. ✠ Mar. 9.31. ✠ John 13.13. chap. 8.6. phil 2.11. c Doeth curſe him, or by any meanes whatſoever diminiſh his glory. ✠ In the ſecond place, hee layeth another foundation, to wit, that theſe gifts are divers, as the functions alſo are divers, and their offices divers, but that one ſelfe ſame Spirit, Lord and God is the giver of all theſe gifts, and that to one end, to wit, for the profit of all. d The Spirit is plainely diſtinguiſhed from the gifts. ✠ So Paul calleth that forward force which commeth from the holy Ghoſt, and maketh men fit to wonderfull things.

their brethren abuſed to a vaine oſtentation, and ſo robbed the Church of the uſe of thoſe gifts. On the other ſide, the inferiour ſort envied the better, and were about to make a departure, ſo that all that body was as it were ſcattered and rent in peces. So then hee going about to remedie theſe abuſes, willeth them firſt to conſider diligently, that they have not theſe gifts of themſelves, but from the free grace and liberalitie of God, to whoſe glory they ought to beſtow them all. e Ignorant to what purpoſe theſe gifts are given you.

God

God is the same which worketh all in all.

f The holy Ghost openeth and sheweth himselfe freely in giving of these gifts.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is f given to every man, to g profit withall.

g To the use and benefit of the Church.

8 5 For to one is given by the Spirit the word of h wisedome: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is given faith by the same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the i operations of great workes: and to another, k prophecie: and to another, the l discerning of spirits: and to another, diversities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 * And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to every man severally 6 as he will.

12 7 For as the bodie is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the bodie, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: 8 even so is m Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are wee all baptized into n one body, whether wee be Iewes, or Grecians, whether wee be bond, or free, and have bene all made to o drinke into one Spirit.

14 9 For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 10 If the foote would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 11 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But nowe hath God disposed the members every one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the bodie?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

h That is, the word of wisedome. i By operation hee meaneth those great workings of Gods mighty power, which passe and excell amongst his miracles, as the delivery of his people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which hee did by Elias against the Priests of Baal, in sending downe fire from heaven to consume his sacrifice: and that which hee did by Peter in the matter of Ananias and Saphira. k Foretelling of things to come. l Whereby false prophets are knowen from true, where in Peter passed Philip in discovering Simon Magus, Acts 8. 20. m Rom. 12. 3. ephes. 4. 15. 6 Hee addeth moreover some thing else, to wit, that although these gifts are unequall, yet they are most wisely divided, because the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this distribution. 7 He setteth foorth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This sayeth hee, is manifestly seene in the bodie, whose members are divers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one body. 8 The applying of the similitude. So must wee also thinke, sayeth hee, of the mysticall body of Christ, for all wee that believe, whether wee be Iewes or Gentiles, are by one selfesame Baptisme ioyned together with our head, that by that meanes, there may be framed one body compact of many members: and wee have drunke one selfe same spirit, that is to say, a spirituall feeling, perceiverance and motion common to us all, out of one cuppe.

n To be come one body with Christ. o By one quickening drinke of the Lordes blood, wee are made partakers of his onely Spirit. 9 Hee amplifieth that which followed of the similitudes, as if hee should say: The vnitie of the body is not onely not left by this diversitie of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those were divers members. 10 Nowe hee buildeth his doctrine upon the foundations which hee had layed: and first of all hee continueth in his purposed similitude and afterward hee goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all hee speaketh unto them which would have separated themselves from those whome they envied, because they had not such excellent gifts as they: nowe this is, sayeth hee, as if the foote should say it were not of the body, because it is not the hand: or the eare, because it is not the eye. Therefore all parres ought rather to defend the vnitie of the body, being coupled together to serve one the other. 11 Againe, speaking to them, hee sheweth them that if that should come to passe which they desire, to wit, that all should be equall one to another, there would followe a destruction of the whole body, yea and of themselves: for it could not be a body, vnlesse it were made off many members knit together, and divers one from the other. And that no man might finde fault with this division as vnequall, hee addeth that God himselfe hath coupled all these together. Therefore all must remaine coupled together, that the body may remaine in safety.

21 12 And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I have no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I have no neede of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the bodie, which seeme to be p more feeble, are necessary.

23 And upon those members of the bodie, which wee thinke most unhonest, put wee more q honestie on: and our vncomely parts have more comelinesse on.

24 For our comely parts neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together: and hath given the more honour to that part which lacked,

25 Least there should be any division in the bodie: but that the members should have the same r care one for another.

26 13 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Now ye are the bodie of Christ, and members for your r part.

28 * And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, t helpers, u governours, diversitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? have all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interpret?

31 14 But desire you the best gifts, and I will yet shew you a more excellent way.

12 Now one the other sid, hee speaketh honestly to them which were indued with more excellent gifts, willing them not to despise the infirmities as vnprofitable, and as though they served to no use: for God, sayeth hee, hath in such sort tempered this inequalitie, that the more excellent and beautifull members can in no wise lacke the more abiect and such as we are ashamed of, and that they should have more care to see unto them, and to cover them: that by this meanes the necessitie which is on both parts, might keepe the whole body in peace and concord: that although if each part be considered apart, they are of divers degrees and conditions, yet because that are ioyned together, p Of the rest. q Wee have a communitie both in commodities and discommodities smallest and vilest offices, and therefore small accounted of, of more carefully cover them. r Should bestow their operations and offices to the profit and preservation of the whole body. 13 Nowe hee applieth the same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are divers functions and divers gifts, it is their duetie, not to offend one against another, either by envie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in love and charitie one with another, every one of them bestow to the profit of all, that which hee hath received, according as his ministery doeth require. s For all Churches where, soever they are dispersed thorow the whole world, are divers members of one body. * Ephesians 4. 11. t The offices of Deacons. u He setteth foorth the order of Elders which were the maintainers of the Churches discipline. 14 How teacheth them that are ambitious and envious, a certaine holy ambition and envie, to wit, if they give themselves to the best gifts, & such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excell one another in love, which surpasseth all other gifts.

they have a communitie both in commodities and discommodities smallest and vilest offices, and therefore small accounted of, of more carefully cover them. r Should bestow their operations and offices to the profit and preservation of the whole body. 13 Nowe hee applieth the same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are divers functions and divers gifts, it is their duetie, not to offend one against another, either by envie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in love and charitie one with another, every one of them bestow to the profit of all, that which hee hath received, according as his ministery doeth require. s For all Churches where, soever they are dispersed thorow the whole world, are divers members of one body. * Ephesians 4. 11. t The offices of Deacons. u He setteth foorth the order of Elders which were the maintainers of the Churches discipline. 14 How teacheth them that are ambitious and envious, a certaine holy ambition and envie, to wit, if they give themselves to the best gifts, & such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excell one another in love, which surpasseth all other gifts.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He sheweth that there are gifts so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if Charitie be away: 4 and therefore he dispraiseth vnto the commendation of it.

THough 1 I speake with the tongues of men and a Angels, and have not love, I am as sounding brasse, or a b tinkling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all c faith, so that I could remoove ✠ mountaines, and had not love, I were nothing.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I give my body, that I be burned, and have not love, it profiteth me nothing.

1 Hee reasoneth first of Charitie, the excellencie whereof he first sheweth by this, that without it, all other gifts are as nothing before God, which thing he proveth partly by an induction, and partly also by an argument taken of the end, where fore those gifts are given. For to what purpose are those gifts, but to Gods glory, and the profite of the Church, as is before proved? so that those gifts without Charitie, have no right use. a A very earnest kind of amplifying a matter, as if hee sayd, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not vse them to the benefit of my neighbour, it were nothing els but a vaine and prattling kind of babbling. b That giveth a rude and no certaine sound. c By faith, he meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which iustifieth, which cannot be void of Charitie as the other may. ✠ Mat. 17, 20.

1 He deſcribeth the force and nature of charity, partly by a comparison of contraries, and partly by the effects of it ſelfe: whereby the Corinthians may underſtand, both how profitable it is in the Church, and how neceſſary: and alſo how farre they are from it: and therefore how vainely and without cauſe they are proud.

4 2 Loved ſuffreth long: it is bountifull: love envieth not: love doth not boaſt it ſelfe: it is not puffed up:

5 It doth e no uncomely thing: it ſeeketh not her owne thing: it is not provoked to anger: it thinketh no evill:

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but f reioyceth in the trueth:

7 It ſuffreth all things: it beleeveth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 3 Love doth never fall away, though that prophecyings be aboliſhed, or the tongues ceaſe, or g knowledge vaniſh away.

9 4 For we know in h part, and wee prophecie in part.

10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part ſhallbe aboliſhed.

11 5 When I was a childe, I ſpake as a childe: I underſtoode as a childe, I thought as a childe: but when I became a man, I put away childiſh things.

12 6 For i nowe we ſee thorow a glaſſe darkely: but then ſhall vvee ſee face to face. Nowe I know in part: but then ſhall I knowe even as I am knowen.

13 7 And now abideth faith, hope and love, even theſe three: but the chiefeſt of theſe is love.

d Word for word deſtroyeth wrath.
e It is not comelie.
f Reioyce that rightneouſnes in the righteous. For the Ebrewes meane by truth, righteouſnes.
3 Againe he commendeth the excellencie of charitie, in that that is ſhall never be aboliſhed in the Saints, where as the other gift which are neceſſary for the building up of the Church, ſo long as we live here, ſhall have no place in the world to come. g The way to get knowledge, is by prophecying. 4 The reaſon: Becauſe we are now in that ſtate, that wee have neede to learne dayly, and therefore we have neede of thoſe helpes, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and alſo of them that teach them. But to what purpoſe ſerve they then, when wee have obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which ſerve now but for them which are impetfit, and goe by degrees to perfection? h We learne imperfectly. 5 He ſetteth foorth that that he ſayd, by an excellent ſimilitude, comparing this life to our infancie or childhood, wherein we ſtagger and ſtammer rather then ſpeake, and thinke and underſtand but childiſh thiugs, and therefore have neede of ſuch things as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: But when we become men, to what purpoſe ſhould wee deſire that ſtammering, thoſe childiſh toyes, and ſuch like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little? 6 The applying of the ſimilitude of our childhood to this preſent life, wherein wee darkely behold heavenly things, according to the ſmall meaſure of light which is given us, through the underſtanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and miniſters of the Church: of our mans age and ſtrength, to that heavenly and eternall life, wherein when we behold God himſelfe preſent, and are lighted with his full and perfect light, to what purpoſe ſhould we deſire the voice of man, and thoſe worldly things which are moſt imperfect? But yet then, ſhall all the Saints be knit both with God, and betweene themſelves with muſt fervant love, and therefore charitie ſhall not be aboliſhed, but perfected, although it ſhall not be ſhewed to forth and entertained by ſuch manner of duties as peculiarly and onely belong to the infirmitie of this life.
i All this muſt be underſtood by compariſon. 7 The concluſion: As if the Apoſtle ſhould ſay, Such therefore ſhall be our condition then: but nowe we have three things, and they remaine ſure if wee be Chriſtes as without which true religion cannot conſiſt, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And among theſe, charitie is the chiefeſt, becauſe it ceaſeth not in the life to come as the reſt doe, but is perfected and accompliſhed. For ſeeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promiſed, and are to come, when wee have preſently gotten them, to what purpoſe ſhould wee have faith and hope? but yet there at length ſhall wee truely and perfectly love both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Hee commendeth the gifts of prophecying: 7 and by a ſimilitude taken of muſicall inſtruments, 12 he teacheth the true uſe of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 but taketh away the abuſe: 34 And forbiddeth women to ſpeake in the Congregation.

1 He inferreth now of that, that he ſpake before: Therefore ſeeing charitie is the chiefeſt of all, before all things ſet it before you as chiefe and principall: and ſo eſteeme thoſe things as moſt excellent: which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecie, that is to ſay, the gifts of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was contemned in reſpect of other gifts, although it be the chiefeſt and moſt neceſſary for the Church) and not thoſe which for a ſhew ſeeme to be marveilous as the gifts of tongues, when a man was ſuddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of it ſelfe was not greatly to any uſe, unleſſe there were an interpreter. a What prophecie is, he ſheweth in the third verſe.

FOllowe 1 after love, and covet ſpirituall gifts, and rather that ye may a prophecie.

2 2 For hee that ſpeaketh a ſtrange b tongue, ſpeaketh not unto men, but unto God, for no man heareth him: howbeit in the c ſpirit he ſpeaketh ſecret things.

3 But he that prophecieth, ſpeaketh unto men to d edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that ſpeaketh ſtrange language, edifieth himſelfe: but hee that prophecieth, edifieth the e Church.

5 I would that ye all ſpake ſtrange languages, but rather that yee prophecied: for greater is hee that prophecieth, then hee that ſpeaketh divers tongues, except hee expound it, that the Church may receive edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come unto you ſpeaking divers tongues, what ſhall I profit you, except I ſpeake to you, either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine?

7 3 Moreover things without life which give a ſound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a diſtinction in the ſounds, how ſhall it be knowen what is piped or harped?

8 And alſo if the trumpet give an uncertaine ſound, who ſhall prepare himſelfe to battell?

9 So likewiſe you, by the tongue, except yee vtter words that have f ſignification, how ſhall it be vnderſtood what is ſpoken? for ye ſhall ſpeake in the ayre.

10 4 There are ſo many kinds of voyces (as it commeth to paſſe) in the world, and none of them is dumbe.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I ſhalbe unto him that ſpeaketh a Barbarian, and he that g ſpeaketh, ſhalbe a Barbarian unto me.

12 5 Even ſo, foraſmuch as yee covet ſpirituall gifts, ſeeke that ye may excell unto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that ſpeaketh a ſtrange tongue, h pray that he may interpret.

14 6 For i if I pray in a ſtrange tongue, my k ſpirit prayeth: but mine underſtanding is l without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the ſpirit, but I will pray with the m underſtanding alſo: I will ſing with the ſpirit: but I will ſing with the underſtanding alſo.

2 He reprehendeth their perverſe judgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it given? to wit, to the intent that the myſteries of God might be the better knowen to a great ſort. Thereby it is evident that Prophecie, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to ſerve, is better then this: and therefore the Corinthians did judge amiſſe, in that they made more account of the gifts of tongues then of prophecying: becauſe forſooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuſe of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vſed tongues in the Congregation, without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to ſome profit of him, that ſpake them, yet he corrupted the right vſe of that gift, becauſe there came thereby no profit to the hearers: and common aſſemblies were inſtituted and appointed not for any private mans commodity, but for the profit of the whole company.
c By that inſpiration which he had received of the Spirit, which not withſtanding he abuſeth, when he ſpeaketh myſteries which none of the company can underſtand. d Which may further men in the ſtudie of godlineſſe. e The company. 3 He ſetteth foorth that which he ſaid, by a ſimilitude, which he boroweth and taketh from inſtruments of muſicke, which although they ſpeake not perfectly, yet they are diſtinguiſhed by their ſounds, that they may be the better vſed.
f That doe fitly vtter the matter it ſelfe. 4 He proveth that interpretation is neceſſarily to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifold variety of languages, inſomuch that if one ſpeake to another without an interpreter, it is as if he ſpake not.
g As the Papiſts in all their ſermons and they that ambitiouſly powre out ſome Hebrew or Greeke words in the Pulpit before the unlearned people, thereby to get them a name of deepe learning. 5 The concluſion: if they will excell in thoſe ſpirituall gifts, as it is meet, they muſt ſeeke the profit of the Church, and therefore they muſt not vſe gift of tongues, unleſſe there be an interpreter to expound the ſtrange & unknowen tongue, whether it be himſelfe that ſpeaketh, or another interpreter. h Pray for the gift of interpretation. 6 A reaſon: Becauſe it is no ſufficient for us to ſpeake ſo in the Congregation, that wee our ſelves doe worſhip God in ſpirit, that is, according to the gift that we have received, but we muſt alſo be underſtood of the company, leſt that be unprofitable to other which we have ſpoken. i If I pray, when the Church is aſſembled together, in a ſtrange tongue. k The gift and inſpiration which the ſpirit giveth me, doth his part, but onely to my ſelfe. l Ne fe uit commeth to the Church by my prayers. m So that I may be underſtood of other, and may inſtruct other. 7 An other reaſon: Seeing that the whole Congregation muſt agree to him that ſpeaketh, and alſo witneſſe this ſpoken? n Onely without all conſideration of the hearers. o He that ſitteth as a private man. p So then ove uttered the prayers, and all the company anſwered, Amen,

seeing he knoweth not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verely giuest thankes well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thanke my God, I speake languages more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speake q five words with mine vnderstanding, that I might also instruct others, then ten thousand words in a strange tongue.

20 9 Brethren, be not ✣ children in vnderstanding, but as concerning maliciousnes be children, but in vnderstanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the r Law it is written, ✣ By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speake unto this people: yet so shall they not heare mee, saith the Lord.

22 10 Wherefore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleeve, but to them that beleeve not: but prophecying serveth not for them that beleeve not, but for them which beleeve.

23 11 If therefore, when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speake strange tongues, there come in they that are s vnlearned, or they which beleeve not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeveth not, or one vnlearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all,

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, & so he will fall downe on his face and worship God, and say plainely that God is in you in deede.

26 12 What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as every one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath revelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done unto edifying.

27 13 If any man speake a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

29 14 Let the Prophets speake, two or three, and let the other iudge.

30 And if any thing be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may have comfort.

32 And the t spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.

34 15 * Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but they ought to be subiect, as also ✲ the Law saith.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church.

36 16 Came the worde of God out from you? either came it unto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himselfe to be a Prophet, or u spirituall, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write unto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 17 And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 18 Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophecie, and forbid not to speake languages.

40 Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

3 He propoundeth himselfe for an example, both that they may be ashamed of their foolish ambition, and also that he may shewe all suspition of envie.

q A very few words.

9 How he reproveth them freely for their childish folly, which see not how this gifte of tongues which was given to the profite of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an instrument of curing, seeing that this same also is contained amongst the punishments wherewith God punished the stubburnes of the people, that he dispersed them amongst straungers, whose language they vnderstood not.

✣ Mat. 18.3.

r By the Law he vnderstandeth all the whole Scripture.

✣ Isai. 28, 11.

10 The conclusion: Therefore the gift of tongues serveth to punish the vnfaithfull and vnbeleevers, vnlesse it be referred to prophecie (that is to say, to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is spoken, be by that meanes vnderstood of the hearers.

11 Another argument: The gift of tongues without prophecie is not onely vnprofitable to the faithfull: but also doth very much hurt as well to them as to the vnfaithfull which should be wonne in the publike assemblies.

For by this meanes it commeth to passe, that the faithfull seeme to other to be madde, much lesse can the vnfaithfull be instructed thereby. f Luke Actes 4.13.

12 The conclusion: The edifying of the Congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spirituall gifts.

13 The maner how to use the gift of tongues. It may be lawfull for one or two, or at the most for three, to use the gift of tongues, one after another in an assembly, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there be none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speake to himselfe alone.

14 The manner of prophecying: Let two or three propound, and let the other iudge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the word of God or no: If in this examination the Lord give any man nought to speake, let them give him leave to speake. Let every man be admitted to prophecie, severally and in his order, so farre foorth as it is requisite for the edifying of the Church. Let them be content to be subiect each to others iudgement.

15 Women are commanded to be silent in publike assemblies, and they are commanded to aske of their husbands at home. ✲ 1. Tim. 2, 12. & Gen. 3, 16.

16 A generall conclusion of the recreatise of the right use of spirituall gifts in assemblies: with a sharpe reprehension, least the Corinthians might alone seeme to themselves to be wise.

u Skilfull in knowing and iudging spirituall things.

17 The Church ought not to care for such as be stubburnely ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to go forward notwithstanding in those things which are right.

18 Prophecie ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospel that Paul preached. 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul sawe Christ. 9 He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose again, and we all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemie, death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beasts. 35 How the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam, 47 The first and second man. 51 We shall all be changed, we shall not all sleepe. 55 Deaths sting. 57 Victorie. 58 Constancie and stedfastnesse.

MOreover, 1 ✣ brethren, I declare unto you the Gospell which I preached unto you, which yee have also received, and wherein yee a continue,

2 And whereby yee are saved, if yee keepe in memory, after what maner I preached it unto you, b except ye have beleeved in vaine.

3 For first of all, I delivered unto you that which I received, how that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the ✲ Scriptures,

4 And that he was buried, and that he arose the third day according to the * Scriptures,

5 ✣ And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the c twelve.

6 After that, he was seene of more then five hundreth brethren at d once: whereof many remaine unto this present, and some also are asleepe.

7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.

8 * ✣ And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 * For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

10 ✣ But by the grace of God I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more aboundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so have ye beleeved.

12 ¶ 3 Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen

1 The sixth treatise of this Epistle, concerning the resurrection: and he use h a transition, or passing over from one matter to another, shewing first that he bringeth no newe thing, to the end that the Corinthians might understande that they had begun to swarve from the right course: and next that he goeth not about to entreate of a trifling matter, but of another chiefe point of the Gospel, which if it be taken away, their faith must needes come to nought. And so at the length he beginneth in this treatise at Christs resurrection, which is the ground and foundation of ours, and confirmeth it first by the testimonie of the Scriptures, and by the witnesse of the Apostles,

a In the profession wherof you continue yet. b Which is very absurd, and cannot be, but that they beleeve, must reape the fruite of faith. ✲ Isai. 53, 5. 1 pet. 2, 24. * Ionas 2, 1. ✲ Iohn 20, 19. c Of those twelve Christ had and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelve, though Iudas was put out of the number. d Not severall times, but together and at one instant. * Actes 9, 5. 2 Hee maintaineth by the way, the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credit among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might be of force and weight amongst them. In the meane season he compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine divine art, with certaine other, that he maketh himselfe inferiour to them all. ✣ Ephes. 3, 8. Ephes. 3, 7.

3 The first argument to proove that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe.

from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 4 For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

14 5 And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine.

15 And wee are found also false witnesses of God: for wee have testified of God, that he hath raised up Christ: whom he hath not raised up, if so be the dead be not raised.

16 6 For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.

17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vaine: 7 ye are e yet in your sinnes.

18 8 And so they which are asleepe in Christ, are perished.

19 9 If in this life onely we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 10 But now is Christ risen from the dead, 11 and was made the ✣ f first fruites of them that slept.

21 12 For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be g made alive.

23 13 But every man in his ✣ owne order: the first fruites is Christ, afterwarde, they that are of Christ, at his comming shall rise againe.

24 14 Then shallbe the h end, when he hath delivered up the kingdome to God, even the Father, when he hath put downe i all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For he must reigne * till he hath put all his enemies k vnder his feete.

26 The l last enemie that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 ✣ For he hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when he saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put downe all things vnder him.)

28 And when all things shall be subdued unto him, m then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect unto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that n God may be all in all.

29 15 Els what shall they doe which are baptized o for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 16 Why are wee also in ieopardie every houre?

31 By our p reioycing which I have in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 17 If I have fought with beastes at Ephesus q after the maner of men, what advantageth it me, if the death be not raised up? ✣ 18 let us r eate and drinke: for to morow we shall die.

33 19 Be not deceived: evill speakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to live righteously, and sinne not: for some have not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 20 But some man will say, How are the dead raysed up? and with what body come they foorth?

36 21 O foole, that which thou soweſt, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou soweſt, thou soweſt not that bodie that shall bee, but bare corne as it falleth, of wheat, or of some other.

38 22 But God giveth it a body at his pleasure,

4 The second by an absurditie. If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is not Christ risen againe.

5 The proofe of that absurditie by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen againe, the preaching of the Gospel is in vaine, and the credite that you gave vnto it is vaine, and wee are liars.

6 He repeteth the same argument taken of an absurditie, purposing to shew how faith is in vaine if the resurrection of Christ be taken away.

7 First, seeing death is the punishment of sinne, in vaine should we beleeve that our sinnes were forgiven us, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Christ rose not from death.

e They are yet in their sinnes, which are not sanctified, nor have obtained remission of their sinnes. 8 Secondly, vnlesse that this be certaine that Christ rose againe, all they which died in Christ, are perished. So then what profit commeth of faith? 6 The third argument which is also taken from an absurditie: for vnlesse there be another life, wherein such as trust and beleeve in Christ shall be blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable. 10 A conclusion of the former argument. Therefore Christ is risen againe. 11 Hee putteth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the argumen that followeth. Christ is risen againe. Therefore shall wee the faithfull (for of them he speaketh) rise againe: Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set foorth unto us, to be considered of, not as a private man apart and by himselfe, but as the first fruites: And he taketh that which was knowen to all men, to wit, that the whole heape is sanctified in the first fruites. ✣ Colos. 1. 18. revelat. 1. 5.

f Hee alludeth to the first fruites of corne, the offering whereof sanctified the rest of the fruits. Another confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sinne came over all, so from one man Christ, life commeth unto all: that is to say, that all the faithfull, as they die, because by nature they were borne of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him. g Shall rise by the vertue of Christ. 13 Hee doeth two things together: for he sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding he farre passeth them, both in time (for he was the first that rose againe from the dead) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life and glorie. Then by this occasion hee passeth in the next argument. ✣ 1. Thes. 4. 13. 14 The fourth argument, wherewith also he confirmeth the other, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the maner of his reigne, that the Father will be shewed to be King in his Sonne who was made man, to whom all things are made subiect (the promiser onely except) to the end that the Father may afterwardes triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And he maketh two parts of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne, wherein the Fathers glorie consisteth: to wit, the overcomming of his enemies (whereof some must be deprived of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they never so proud and mightie, and other must be vtterly abolished as death) and a plaine and full delivery of the godly from all enemies, that by this meanes God may fully set foorth the body of the Church, cleaving fast vnto their head Christ, his kingdome and glory as a king in his subiects. Moreover he putteth the first degree of this kingdome in the resurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full conjunction of the members with the head, which shall be in the latter day. Now all these tende to this purpose, to shew that vnlesse the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can be King above all, neither Christ be Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be overcome, nor the glory of God be full in his Sonne, nor his Sonnes in his members. h The shutting vp and finishing of all things. i All his enemies which shall be spoiled of all the power they have. * Psal. 110. 1. Acts 2, 34. heb. 1, 13. and 10, 13.

k Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the forme of a seruant, in which respect he ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was given him of his Father.

l The shutting vp of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put vnder his feet, then must it needes be that death also shall be subdued vnder him.

✣ Psal. 8. 6. Heb. 2, 8.

m Not because the Sonne was not subiect to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distresse, and not yet wholly partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the Saints which lie in the graves shall not be glorified vntill the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath vs subiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, hee is subiect to his father together with vs: August. booke 1. chap. 8. of the Trinitie.

n By this high kinde of speech is set foorth an incomprehensible glorie which floweth from God, and shall fil all of vs, as we are ioyned together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reserve his preeminence. 15 The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptisme, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead, that is to say, that they may have a remedy against death because that Baptisme is a token of regeneration.

o They that are baptized, to this end and purpose, that death may be put out to them or to rise againe from the death, whereof baptisme is a seale. 16 The sixth argument: Vnlesse there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so dayly cast them selves into danger of so many deaths?

p As though he said, I die dayly, as all the miseries I suffer, can well witnesse, which I may truely boast of, that I have suffered amongst you. 17 The taking away of an obiection: but thou Paul didst ambitiously, as commonly men are woont to doe when thou diddest fight with beasts at Ephesus: That is very like, saith Paul, for what could that advantage me, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for?

q Not vpon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but carried away with vaine glory for a certaine headinesse. ✣ Isai. 22. 13. 18 The seventh argument which dependeth upon the last: if there be no resurrection of the dead, why doe we give our selves to any thing els, save to eating and drinking?

r These are speeches that Epicures use. 19 The conclusion with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heede of the naughtie companie of certaine: from whence hee sheweth that this mischiefe sprang: warning them to bee wise with sobrietie unto righteousnesse. 20 Now that he hath prooved the resurrection, he discloseth their dolishnesse, in that they scoffingly demanded, how it could be that the dead should rise againe, and if they did rise againe they asked mockingly, what manner of bodies they should have. Therefore he sendeth these fellowes which seemed to themselves to be marveilous wise and wittie, to be instructed of poore rude husbandmen. 21 Thou mightest have learned either of these, saith Paul, by daily experience: for seedes are sowen and rotte, and yet notwithstanding so farre it is off, that they perish: that contrariwise they grow up farre more beautifull: and whereas they are sowen naked and drie, they spring up greene from death by the vertue of God: and doeth it seeme incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that indued with a farre more excellent qualitie?

s Wee see a diversitie both in one and the selfe same thing which hath now one forme, and then another, and yet keepeth it owne kinde, as it is evident in a graine which is sowen barre but springeth up farre after another sort: and also in divers kinds of one selfe same sort, as amongst beasts: and also among things of divers sortes, as the heavenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why we should reiect either the resurrection of the bodies, or changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible or strange.

even to every seed his owne bodie.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another of fishes, and another of birds:

40 There are also heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glorie of the heavenly is one, and the glorie of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glorie of the sunne, and another glorie of the moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glorie.

42 23 So also is the resurrection of the dead, The bodie is s sowen in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in t dishonour, and is rised in glorie: it is sowen in weakenesse, and is raised in u power.

44 24 It is sowen a naturall bodie, and is raised a spirituall bodie: there is a naturall body, and there is a spirituall bodie.

45 25 As it is also written, The x first man ✣ Adam was made a living soule: and the last Adam was made y a quickening spirit.

46 26 Howbeit that was not first which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is spirituall.

47 The first man is of the earth, earthly: the second man is the Lord from z heaven.

48 27 As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

49 And as wee have borne the b image of the earthly, so shall we beare the image of ❡ heavenly.

50 28 This say I, brethren, that c flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdome of God, neither doth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 29 Behold, I shew you a d secret thing, Wee shall not all sleepe, but we shall all be changed, 52 In e a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last ❡ trumpet: for the trumpet shall blowe, and the dead shall be raised up incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortall must put on immortalitie.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then shall be brought to passe the saying that is written, ✣ Death is swallowed up into victorie.

55 O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victorie?

56 The sting of death is sinne: and the strength of sinne is the Law.

57 ❡ But thankes be unto God, which hath given us victorie through our Lord Iesus Christ.

58 30 Therefore my beloved brethren, bee yee stedfast, unmooveable, abondant alwayes in the worke of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the f Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He exhortath them to helpe the poore brethren of Hierusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timothie, 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.

1 Concerning a the gathering for the Saintes, as I have ordained in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also.

2 Every a first day of the weeke, let every one of you put aside by himselfe, and lay up as God hath b prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoever ye shall allow by c letters, them will I send to bring your liberalitie unto Hierusalem.

4 a And if it be meet that I goe also, they shall goe with me.

5 Nowe I will come unto you, after I have gone through Macedonia (for I will passe through Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that yee may bring mee on my way, whithersoever I goe.

7 For I will not see you now in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 And I will tarie at Ephesus untill Pentecost.

9 For a great doore and d effectuall is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.

10 ❡ Now if Timotheus come, see that hee be e without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, even as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him: but convey him foorth f in peace, that hee may come unto me: for I looked for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall have convenient time.

13 ❡ Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quite you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in love.

15 Now brethren, I beseech you (ye know the house of g Stephanas that it is the first fruits of Achaia, and that they have h given themselves to minister unto the Saints.)

16 That yee be i obedient even unto such, and to all that helpe with us and labour.

17 I am glad of the comming of Stephanas and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they have supplied the want of you.

18 For they have comforted my k spirit and yours: Acknowledge therefore such men.

23 Hee maketh three manner of qualities of the bodies being raised: Incorruption, to wit, because they shall be found, and altogether of a nature that can not be corrupt: Glory, because they shall be adorned with beautie and honour: Power, because they shall continue everlasting without meat, drinke, and all other helpes, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it selfe from corruption.

s Is buried, and man is bid as seed in the ground.

t Void of honour, void of glorie, and beautie.

u Freed from the former weaknesse, whereas it is subiect to such alteration and change, that it cannot maintaine it selfe without meat and drinke, and such other like helpes.

24 He sheweth perfitly in one word, this change of the qualitie of the bodie by the resurrection, when he saith, that of a naturall bodie, it shall become a spirituall body, which two qualities being cleane different, the one from the other, bee straightway expounded, and set forth diligently.

25 That is called a naturall bodie, which is quickened and maintained by a living soule onely, such as Adam was, of whome all wee are borne naturally: and that is said to be a spirituall, which together with the soule is quickened with a farre more excellent vertue: to wit, with the Spirit of God, which descendeth from Christ the second Adam into us.

x Adam is called the first man, because hee is ❡ roote as it were from whence wee spring: & Christ is the latter man: because hee is the beginning of all them that are spirituall, and in him wee are all comprehended. ✣ Gen. 2.7.

y Christ is called a Spirit, by reason of that most excellent nature, that is to say, God who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a living soule, by reason of the soule which is the best part in him.

26 Secondly he willeth the other of this double state or qualitie to be observed, that the naturall was first. Adam being created of the clay of the earth: and the spirituall followed and came upon it, to wit, when as the Lord being sent from heaven endued our flesh which was prepared and made fit for him, with the soules of the Godhead.

z Wallowing in dust, and wholly given to an earthly nature.

a The Lord is said to come downe from heaven by that kinde of speech whereby that which is proper to one is vouched of another.

27 He applyeth both the earthly naturalnesse of Adam (if I may so say) to our bodies, so long as they are naturally conversant on earth, to wit, in this life, and in the grave: and also the spirituall nature of Christ to the same our bodies, after that they are risen againe and heavenly.

b Not a vaine and false image, but such an one as had the matter with it indeede.

28 The conclusion: We cannot be partakers of the glorie of God, unlesse we put off all that grosse and filthie nature of our bodies subiect to corruption, that the same bodie may be adorned with incorruptible glorie.

c Flesh and blood are taken here for a living bodie, which cannot attaine to corruption, unlesse it put off corruption.

29 He goeth further, declaring that it shall come to passe that they which shall be found alive in the latter day, shall not descend into that corruption of the grave, but shall be renued with a sudden change, which change is verie requisitie: and that the certaine enioying of the benefite and victorie of Christ, is deferred unto that latter time.

d A thing that hath beene hid, and never known hitherto, and therefore worthie that you give good eare unto it.

e Hee sheweth us that the time shall be verie short. ❡ Mat. 24.31. 1. Thess. 4.16.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

a He beginneth with the praiſe of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath ſuffered in Aſia. 10 and how happely God aſſiſted him. 17 He ſaith it was not upon any lightneſſe, that he came not, according to his promiſe.

PAUL 1 an Apoſtle of IESUS Chriſt, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God, our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

3 ✣ a a Bleſſed be God, even the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, the Father of [b] mercies, and the God of all comfort,

4 Which comforteth us in all our tribulation, that wee may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we our ſelves are comforted of God.

5 For as the [c] ſufferings of Chriſt abound in us, ſo our conſolation aboundeth through Chriſt.

6 4 And whether we be afflicted, it is for your conſolation and ſalvation, which is [d] wrought in the enduring of the ſame ſufferings, which we alſo ſuffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your conſolation and ſalvation.

7 And our hope is ſtedfaſt concerning you, in as much as wee knowe, that as ye are partakers of the ſufferings, ſo ſhall yee be alſo of the conſolation.

8 5 For brethren, we would not have your ignorant of our affliction, which came unto us in Aſia, who we were preſſed out of meaſure paſſing ſtrength, ſo that we altogether [e] doubted even of life.

9 Yea, wee received the ſentence of death in [f] our ſelves, becauſe wee ſhould not reſt in our ſelves, but in God, which raiſed the dead.

10 Who delivered us from ſo [g] great a death, and doeth deliver us: in whom we truſt, that yet hereafter he will deliver us.

11 ✣ 6 So that yee labour together in prayer for us, 7 that for the gift beſtowed upon vs for manie, thankes may be given by many perſons for us.

12 8 For our reioycing is this, the teſtimonie of our conſcience, that in ſimplicitie & godly [h] pureneſſe, and not in fleſhly wiſdome, but by the [i] grace of God we have had our converſation in the world, and moſt of all to youwards.

13 For we write [k] none other things unto you, then that ye read or els that ye acknowledge, and I truſt ye ſhall acknowledge unto the [l] end.

14 Even as yee have acknowledge us partly, that we are your [m] reioycing, even as ye are ours, in that [n] day of our Lord Ieſus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded firſt to come unto you, that ye might have had a [o] double grace,

16 And to paſſe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia, unto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 9 When I therefore was thus minded, did I vſe lightneſſe? or mind I thoſe things which I mind, according to the [p] fleſh, that with mee ſhould be, [q] Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 10 Yea, God is [r] faithfull, that our word toward you, was not Yea, and Nay.

19 11 For the Sonne of God Ieſus Chriſt, who was preached among you by us, that is, by me, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, [s] was not Yea, and Nay: but in [t] him it was Yea.

20 12 For all the promiſes of God in him are Yea, and are in [u] him Amen, unto the glory of God through [x] us.

1 See the declaration of ſuch ſalutacions in the former Epiſtles.

* Epheſ. 1, 3. 1 Pet. 1, 3.

a He beginneth after his manner with thankeſgiving, which notwithſtanding (otherwiſe then he was wont) he applyeth to himſelfe: beginning his Epiſtle with the ſetting forth of the dignitie of his Apoſtleſhip, conſtrained (as it ſhould ſeeme) by their importunitie, which tooke an occaſion to deſpiſe him by reaſon of his miſerie. But he anſwereth that he is not ſo afflicted, but that his comforts doe exceed his afflictions, ſhewing the ground of them, even the mercie of God the Father in Ieſus Chriſt.

b To him be praiſe and glorie given.

b Moſt mercifull. 3 The Lord doeth comfort us to this ende purpoſe that wee may ſo much the more ſurely comfort others. c The miſeries which wee ſuffer for Chriſt, or which Chriſt ſuffereth in us. d 4 Hee denyeth that either his afflictions wherewith hee was often afflicted, or the conſolations which hee received of God, may iuſtly be deſpiſed, ſeeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occaſion to be confirmed by either of them.

d Although ſalvation be given us freely, yet becauſe there is a way appointed us wherewith wee muſt come to it, which is the race of an innocent and upright life, which wee muſt runne, therefore wee are ſayde to worke our ſalvation, Philippians 2, 12. And becauſe it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in us, therefore is hee ſaide to worke the ſalvation in us by thoſe ſelfe ſame things by which wee muſt paſſe to everlaſting life after that wee have once overcome all incombrances. 5 Hee witneſſeth that hee is not onely not aſhamed of his afflictions, but that he deſireth alſo to have all men know the greatneſſe of them, and alſo his deliverie from them: although it be not yet perfite.

e I know not at all what to doe, neither did I ſee by mans helpe which way to ſave my life.

f I was reſolved within my ſelfe to die,

g From theſe great dangers.

* Rom. 15, 30.

6 That he may not ſeeme to boaſt himſelfe, he attributeth all to God, and therewith alſo confeſſeth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithfull.

7 The ende of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious unto us.

8 Secondly he putteth away an other ſlander, to wit, that he was a light man, and ſuch a one as was not lightly to be credited, ſeeing that he promiſed to come unto them, and came not. And firſt he ſpeaketh of the ſimplicitie of his mind, and ſinceritie, which they know both by his voice when he was preſent, and they ought to acknowledge it alſo in his letters, being abſent: and moreover hee proteſteth that he will never be otherwiſe.

h With cleerenes, and holy and true

Truſting to that very wiſedome, which God of his free goodneſſe hath given me from heaven. k He ſayeth he writteth barely and ſimply: for he that writteth in coulloured ſort, is rightly ſaid to write otherwiſe then wee reade: and this hee ſaieth the Corinthians ſhall knowe and like of very well. l Perfitely. m In Paula reioycing in the Lord was, that hee had wonne the Corinthians: and they themſelves reioyced that ſuch an Apoſtle was their inſtructour, and taught them ſo purely and ſincerely. n When he ſhall ſit as iudge. o Another benefit. 9 He putteth away their ſlander and falſe report by denying it, and firſt of all in that that divers went about to perſwade the Corinthians, that in the preaching of the Goſpell, Paul agreed not to himſelfe: for this was the matter and the caſe. p As men doe, which will raſhly promiſe any thing, and change their purpoſe at every turning of an hand. q That I ſhould ſay and vnſay a thing. 10 He calleth God to witneſſe, and for iudge of his conſtancie in preaching and teaching one ſelfe ſame Goſpell. r True, and of whoſe faithfulneſſe it where horrible wickedneſſe to doubt. 11 He ioyneth alſo with himſelfe, his fellowes as witneſſes, with whome hee fully conſented in teaching one ſelfe ſame thing, to wit, one ſelfe ſame Chriſt. s Was not divers and wavering. t That is in God. 12 Laſt of all he declareth the ſumme of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promiſes of ſalvation ſure and ratified in Chriſt. u Chriſt is ſet foorth to exhibite and fulfill them moſt aſſuredly and without all doubt. x Through our miniſterie.

13 Hee attributeth the praiſe of this conſtancie, onely to the grace of God, through the holy Ghoſt, and therewithall concludeth that they cannot doubt of his faith, and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, ſeeing that they themſelves doe know all this to be true.

21 13 And it is God which ſtabliſhed us with you in Chriſt, and hath anointed us.

22 Who hath alſo ſealed us, and hath given the y earneſt of the Spirit in our hearts.

23 14 Nowe, I call God for a record unto my z ſoule, that to ſpare you, I came not as yet unto Corinthus.

24 15 Not that wee have dominion over your faith, but wee are helpers of your a ioy: for by faith ye ſtand.

y An earneſt, is, whatſoever is given to confirme a promiſe. 14 Now comming to the matter, he ſweareth, that he did not onely, not lightly alter his purpoſe of comming to them, but rather that he came not unto them for this cauſe, that hee might not be conſtrained to deale more ſharpely, with them being preſent, then he would.

z Againſt my ſelfe and to the danger of mine owne life. 15 Hee remooveth all ſuſpition of arrogancie, declaring that hee ſpeaketh not as a Lord unto them, but as a ſervant, appointed of God to comfort them.

a Hee ſetteth the ioy and peace of conſcience, which God is author of, againſt tyrannous feare, and therewithall ſheweth the end of the Goſpell.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee excuſeth his not comming unto them, 2 and priuily reprehendeth them: 4 Hee ſheweth that ſuch is his affection towards them, 5 that he never reioyceth but when they are mercie. 6 Perceiving the adulterer (whom he commanded to be delibered up to Satan) to repent, hee requeſteth that they forgive him. 12 Hee mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

BUt I determined thus in my ſelfe, that I would not come againe to you in a heavineſſe.

a Cauſing griefe amongſt you, which hee ſhould have done if he had come to them before they had repented them.

2 For if I make you ſorie, who is he then that ſhould make me glad, but the ſame which is made ſorie by me?

3 And I wrote this ſame thing unto you, leaſt when I came, I ſhould take heavineſſe of them of whom I ought to reioyce: this b confidence have I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

b For I truſted that you would take that out of the way ſoorthwith, which you knew I was diſcontented with, conſidering how you are perſwaded that my ioy is your ioy.

4 For in great affliction, and anguiſh of heart I wrote unto you with many teares: not that yee ſhould be made ſory, but that ye might perceive the love which I have, ſpecially unto you.

1 He paſſeth to another part of this Epiſtle: which notwithſtanding is put amongſt the firſt, whereunto he returneth afterward, and he handleth the releaſing and unlooſing of the inceſtuous perſon, becauſe he ſeemed to have given ſufficient teſtimonie of his repentance: ſhewing the true vſe of excommunication, to wit, that it proceed not of hatred, but of love, and ſo end, leaſt if we keepe no meaſure, we ſerve Satan the devill.

5 2 And if any had cauſed ſorowe, the ſame hath not made c me ſory, but d partly (leaſt I ſhould more e charge him) you all.

6 It is ſufficient unto the ſame man, that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that nowe contrariwiſe yee ought rather to f forgive him, and comfort him, leaſt the ſame ſhould be ſwallowed up with overmuch heavineſſe.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would g confirme your love towards him.

9 For this cauſe alſo did I write: that I might know the proofe of you, whether yee would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom yee forgive any thing, I forgive alſo: for verely if I forgave any thing, to whom I forgave it, for your ſakes forgave I it in the h ſight of Chriſt.

11 Leaſt Satan ſhould circumvent us: for we are not ignorant of his i enterpriſes.

12 ¶ 2 Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Chriſts Goſpel, and a doore was opened unto me of the Lord.

13 I had no reſt in my ſpirit, becauſe I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leave of them, and went away into Macedonia.

c As if he ſayd, All that ſorrewe is ſo cleane wiped away, as though he had never felt it. d As for me (ſaith Paul) I have no more to doe with him. e Leaſt I ſhould overchange him, who is hardened enough of himſelfe, which I would be glad were taken from him. f That whereas before you puniſhed him ſharply, you would now forgive him. g That at my entreatie you would declare by the conſent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother. h Truely and from the heart. i Of his miſchievous counſell and deviliſh will.

2 He returneth to the confirmation of his Apoſtleſhip, and baingeth forth the teſtimonies, both of his labour, and alſo of Gods bleſſing.

14 Now thankes be unto God, which alwayes maketh us to triumph in Chriſt, and maketh manifeſt the k ſavour of his knowledge by us in every place.

k He alludeth to the anoynting of the Prieſts, and the incenſe of the ſacrifices.

15 3 For we are unto God the ſweete ſavour of Chriſt, in them that are ſaved, and in them which periſh.

3 He denie h that ought ſhould be taken away from the dignitie of his Apoſtleſhip, becauſe they ſawe evidently that it was not received with like ſucceſſe in every place,

16 To the one we are the ſavour of death, unto death, and to the other the ſavour of life, unto life: 4 and who is ſufficient for theſe things?

17 ✣ For we are not as many, which make l marchandiſe of the word of God: but as of ſincerite, but as of God in the ſight of God ſpeake we in Chriſt.

nay rather very many reiected and deteſted him, ſeeing that he preacheth Chriſt, not onely as a Saviour of them that believe, but alſo as a Iudge of them that contemne them. 4 Againe, he putteth away all ſuſpition of arrogancie, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom he ſerveth ſincerely, and without all diſhoneſt affection: whereof he maketh them witneſſes even to the 6. verſe of the next chapter.

✣ Chap. 4, 2. l We doe not handle it craftily and covetouſly, or leſſe ſincerely then we ought: and he vſeth a metaphore which is taken from buckſters, which vſe to play the falſe harlots with whatſoever commeth into their hands.

CHAP. III.

1 He deſireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 He is a miniſter not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 He ſheweth the difference of the Law, and the Goſpell, 13 that the brightneſſe of the Law doth rather dimme the ſight then lighten it: 18 But the Goſpell doth make manifeſt Gods countenance unto us.

DOe wee beginne to praiſe our ſelves againe? or need we as ſome other, Epiſtles of recommendation unto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epiſtle, written in our hearts, which is underſtood and read of all men.

3 In that ye are a manifeſt, to be the Epiſtle of Chriſt, b miniſtred by us, and written, not with yncke, but with the Spirit of the c living God, i not in tables of ſtone, but in fleſhly tables of the heart.

a The Apoſtle frometh his ſpeach wiſely that by little and little he may come from the commendation of the perſon, to the matter it ſelfe.

b Which I tooke paines to write as it were.

c By the way he ſetteth the vertue of God, againſt the yncke wherewith Epiſtles are commonly written, to ſhew that it was wrought by God.

4 And ſuch d truſt have we through Chriſt to God:

5 Not that wee are ſufficient of our ſelves, to thinke any thing, as of our ſelves: but our e ſufficiencie is of God,

6 2 Who alſo hath made us able miniſters of the Newe Teſtament, not of the f letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life.

d This boldneſſe we ſoe we, and thus gloriouſly may we boaſte of the worthineſſe and fruit of our miniſterie. e In that we are fit and meet to make other men partakers of ſo great a grace.

1 He alludeth by the way, to the compariſon, of the outward miniſterie of the Prieſthood of Levi, with the miniſterie of the Goſpell, and the Apoſtolical miniſterie, which he handleth afterward more fully.

2 Hee amplifieth his miniſterie and his fellowes: that is to ſay, the miniſterie of the Goſpell, comparing it with the miniſterie of the Law, which hee conſidereth in the perſon of Moſes, by whom the Law was given: againſt whome he ſetteth Chriſt the author of the Goſpell. Now this compariſon is taken from the verie ſubſtance of the miniſterie. The Law is as it were a writting of it ſelfe dead, and without efficacie: but the Goſpel, or new covenant, is as it were the very vertue of God it ſelfe, in renewing, iuſtifying, and ſaving of men. The Law propoundeth death, accuſing all men of wrightouſneſſe: The Goſpell offereth and giveth righteouſneſſe and life. The governance of the Law ſerved for a time to the promiſe: The Goſpell remaineth to the end of the world. Therefore what is the glorie of that in compariſon of the maieſtie of this?

f Not of the Law, but of the Goſpell. g Imprinted and ingraven: ſo that by this place we may plainly perceive, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but even of the ten commandements. h This word Glory, betokeneth a brightneſſe, and a maieſtie, which was bodily in Moſes, but ſpiritually in Chriſt.

countenance (which glory is gone away.)

8 How shall not the i ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministery of condemnation was glorious, much more doeth the ministration of k righteousnes exceede in glory.

10 For even that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which should be l aboliished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 3 Seeing then that we have such trust, we use great boldnesse of speech.

13 ✠ 4 And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile upon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke unto the m ende of that which should be aboliished.

14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for untill this day remaineth the same covering untaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is layd over their hearts.

16 Nevertheless when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shall be taken away.

17 Now the n Lord is the ✠ Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

18 5 But we all behold as in a mirrour the glorie of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

i Wherely God offereth, yea and giveth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life.
k To wit of Christ, which being imputed to us as our owne, we are not onely not condemned, but also we are crowned as righteous.
l The Law, yea, & the ten commandements themselves, together with Moses, is aboliished, if we consider the ministerie of Moses a part by it selfe.
3 Hee sheweth wherein standeth this glory of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it setteth foorth plainely and evidently, that which the Lawe shewed darkely, for it sent them that heard it to be healed of Christ, which was to come, after it had wounded them.
✠ Exod. 34. 34.
4 He expoundeth by the way the allegorie of Moses his covering, which was a token of the darkenesse and weakenesse that is in men, which were rather dulled by the bright shining of the Lawe, then lightned, which covering was taken away by the comming of Christ, who lightneth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that we may be brought from the slaverie of this blindnesse, and set in the liberty of the light, by the vertue of Christs Spirit.
m Unto the very bottome of Moses his ministerie.
n Christ in that spirit which taketh away that covering by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law it self is called us, though in vaine, because it speaketh to dead men, untill the spirit quickeneth us.
✠ John 4. 14.
5 Going forward in the allegory of the covering, he compareth that Gospel to a glasse, which although it be most bright and sparkeling, yet doeth it not onely not dazel their eyes which looke in it, as the law doth, but also transformeth them with his beames, so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ sayd unto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himselfe was the onely light. We are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because we are partakers of Gods Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that commeth after, and that, setting them his owne example and his fellowes.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He sheweth that he hath so laboured in preaching the Gospel, 4 That such are even blinded of Satan, who doe not perceive the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in earthen vessels, 10 who are subiect to many miseries: 16 and therefore hee exhorteth them by his owne example to be courageous, 17 and contemne this present life.

1 Now he plainly witnesseth that both he and his fellowes (through the mercy of God) do their vocation and duetie uprightly and sincerely, neglecting all dangers.
a Though we are broken in pieces with miseries and calamities, yet we yeelde not.

THerefore, 1 seeing that wee have this a initerie, as we have received mercie, we b faint not:

2 But have cast from us the b cloakes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle wee the word of God c deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth we approve our selves to every mans counscience in the sight of God.

3 2 If the Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

b Subtilitie, and all kinde of deceite, which men hunt after, as it were dennes and lurking holes, to cover their foule dealings withall.
c This is it that in the former Chapter he called, making marchandise of the word of God.
2 An objection: Many heare the Gospel and yet are no more lightened thereby then by the preaching of the Law. Hee answereth. The fault is in the men themselves, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, who ruleth in this world. And yet notwithstanding doeth he and his fellowes set foorth the most cleare light of the Gospel to be seene and beholden, seeing that Christ whom onely they preach, is he in whom only God will be knowen, and as it were seene.

4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds that is, of the infidels, that the d light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the e image of God, should not shine unto them.

5 3 For we preach not our selves, but Christ Iesus the Lord, and our selves your servants for f Iesus sake.

6 For God ✠ g that commaunded the light to shine out of darkenesse. is he which hath shined in our hearts, to give the h light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 4 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of us.

8 We are afflicted on every side, yet are we not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.

9 Wee are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 6 Every where we beare about in our bodie the i dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.

11 For we which k live, are alwayes delivered unto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might be made manifest in our l mortall flesh.

12 7 So then death worketh in us, and life in you.

13 8 And because we have the same m spirit of faith, according as it is written, ✠ I beleeved, and therefore have I spoken, wee also beleeve, and therefore speake.

14 Knowing that hee which had raised up the Lord Iesus, shall raise us up also by Iesus, and shall set us with you.

15 9 For all things are for your sakes, that that most plenteous grace by the thankesgiving of many, may redound to the praise of God.

16 Therefore wee faint not, 10 but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is o renewed daily.

17 For our p light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth unto us a farre most excellent and an eternall weight of q glorie:

18 While we looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

d The light of plaine and light some preaching, which setteth forth the glory of Christ.
e In whom the Father setteth forth himselfe to be seene and beholden.
3 He removeth according to his accustomed maner all suspition of ambition: avouching that he teacheth faithfully, but as a servant, and witnessing that all this light which he and his fellowes give to other, proceedeth from the Lord.
f To preach this selfe same Iesus to you.
✠ Gen. 1. 3.
g Which made onely with his word.
h That being lightened of God, we should in like sort give that light to others.
4 He taketh away a stumbling block, by which was darkened amongst some, the bright shining of the ministerie of the Gospell, to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men, Paul answereth that he and all his fellowes are as it were earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.
5 Hee bringeth marveilous reason, why the Lord doth so afflict his chiefest servants, to the end saieth hee that all men may perceive that they stand not by any mans vertue, but by the singular vertue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but never perish.
6 An amplyfication of the former sentence. Wherein he compareth his afflictions to a daily death, and the vertue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death.
i So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithfull, but especially the ministers, are in.
k Which live, that life, to wit, by the spirit of Christ, among so many and so great miseries.
l Subiect to that miserable condition.
7 A very cunning conclusion, as if hee would say, Therefore to be short, wee die, that you may live by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, and they caused not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience.
8 He declareth the former sentence, shewing that hee and his fellowes die in a sort to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselves doe first beleeve that, which they propound to others to beleeve, to wit, that they also shall be saved together with them in Christ.
m The same faith by the inspiration of the Spirit.
✠ Psa. 116. 10.
9 Hee sheweth how this constancie is preserved in them, to wit, because they respect Gods glorie, and the salvation of the Churches committed unto them.
n When it shall please God to deliver me, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefite which shall be powred upon me, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thankesgiving of many.
10 Hee addeth as it were a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he profiteth daily: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be sustained in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternall glorie.
o Whereby new strength, that the outward man be not overcome with the miseries which come freshly one upon the necke of another, being maintained and upholden with the strength of the inward man.
p Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselves, but because they passe away quickely, when as indeed our wholelife is of no great long continuance.
q Which remaineth for ever firme and stable, and can never be shaken.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

1 He continueth in the same argument. 6 touching the continual hope of salvation. 8 through faith. 11 not to praise himselfe. 14 stirring he hath God and his Church before his eyes. 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newnesse of life in Christ.

FOr [a] we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, wee have a building given of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heavens.

2 For therefore we sigh, desiring to be [a] cloathed with our house, which is from [d] heaven.

3 [a] Because that if we be cloathed, we shall not be found [*] naked.

4 For in deed wee that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened because wee would not be uncloathed, but would be cloathed upon, that mortalitie might be swallowed up of life.

5 And he that hath [c] created us for this thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

6 3 Therefore we are alway [d] bolde, though we know that whiles we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For wee walke by [e] faith, and not by sight.)

8 Nevertheless, we are [f] bolde, and love rather to remoove out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we [g] covet, that both dwelling at home, and remooving from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 [*] 4 For we must all [h] appeare before the judgement seat of Christ, that every man may receive the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or evill.

11 5 Knowing therefore that [i] terrour of the Lord, we perswade men, and we are made manifest unto God, and I trust also that we are made manifest in your consciences.

12 [*] 6 For wee praise not our selves againe unto you, but give you an occasion to rejoyce of us, that yee may have to answere against them, which rejoyce in the [k] face, and not in the heart.

13 7 For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God; or whether we be in our right minde, we are it unto you.

14 8 For the love of Christ [l] constraineth us, 15 Because wee thus judge, that if [m] one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which live, should not hencefoorth [n] live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 9 Wherefore, hencefoorth know we no man after the flesh, [o] yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet not hencefoorth know we him no more.

17 11 Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be [a] new creature. [*] Old things are passed away: beholde, all things are become new.

18 12 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled us unto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath given unto us the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes unto them, and hath [p] committed to us the word of reconciliation.

20 Now then are we ambassadours for Christ: as though God did beseech you through us, wee pray you in Christes stead, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be [q] sinne for us, which [r] knew no sinne, that wee should be made the [s] righteousnesse of God in him.

1 Taking occasion by the former comparison, hee compareth this miserable body, as it is in this life, to a traile and bodie like tabernacle, against which hee setteth the heavenly Tabernacle, so terming that sure and everlasting condition of this fine body glorified in heaven, insomuch, sayeth he, that we are not onely not addicted to this tabernacle, but also doe with sobbes and sighs desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glory to come, is put within the search of the dignitie of the ministrie, as the other was, wherof we spake in the beginning of the second Chapter.

a Hee calleth the glory of immortalitie, which we shall be as it were cloathed with, a garment.

b Heavenly, not that the substance of it is heavenly, but for the glory of it.

2 An exposition of the former saying: we doe not without cause, desire to be clad with the heavenly house, that is, with that everlasting and immortall glory, as with a garment: for when we depart hence, we shall not remaine naked, having once cast off the covering of this bodie, but we shall take our bodies againe, which shall put on, as it were another garment besides: and therefore we sigh not for the vnsearchable of this life, but for the desire of a better life. Neither is this desire in vaine, for we are made to that life, the pledge wherof we have, even the Spirit of adoption. * Revel. 16. 15. c He meaneth that first creation, to give us to understand, that our bodies were made to this end, that they should be cloathed with heavenly immortality. 3 Hee inferreth upon that sentence which went next before, thus, Therefore, seeing that we know by the Spirit, that we are strangers so long as we are here, we patiently suffer this variance (for we are now so with God, that we beholde him but by faith, and are therefore now absent from him) but so that we aspire and have a longing always to him: therefore also we behave our selves so, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we live here, and when we goe from hence to him. d He calleth them (bolde) which are always resolved with a quiet & settled minde to suffer what dangers soever, nothing doubting, but their end shall be happy. e Faith of those things which we hope for, and not having God presently in our view. f And yet we are in such sort bolde, and doe so passe on our pilgrimage with a valiant and quiet minde, that yet no withstanding, we had rather depart hence to the Lord. g And seeing it is so, we strive to live so, that both in this our pilgrimage here wee may please him, and that at length wee may be received home to him. * Rom. 14. 10. 4 That no man might thinke it to pertaine to all, which he spake of that heavenly glory, hee addeth, that every one shall first render an account of his pilgrimage, after that he is departed from hence.

h We must all appeare personally, and enquiry shall be made of us, that all may see, how we have lived. 5 Now hee poseth own, and taking occasion of the former sentence, returneth to the former chapter verse 16 confirming his owne sinceritie and his fellowes. i That terrible judgement. 6 Hee remooveth all suspition of pride, by a new reason, because it is behoovable, not for his part, but for theirs, that his Apostleship be counted sincere against the vaine ostentation of a few others.

k In outward disguisings, and that coloured shew of mans wisedome and eloquence, and not in true godlinesse, which is sealed in the heart.

7 The meaning is: Even when I am mad (as some men thinke of me) whilest I seeme as a foole to boast my selfe, I doe it for your profit, no lesse then when I preach the Gospel simply unto you.

l He goeth forward to putting away all ambition or desire of estimation and boasting, for the love of Christ, sayth he, compelleth us hereunto, that seeing he died for us all, which were dead when as we lived as our selves (that is, while we were yet given to these earthly affections) wee in like sort should consecrate our whole life which we have received of him, to him (to wit) being indued with the holy Ghost to this end and purpose, that wee should meditate upon nothing but that which is heavenly. m Hee speaketh here of sanctification, whereby it commeth to passe that Christ liveth in us. n Lo. the Romans chapter 6. and 7. 9 Hee sheweth what it is, not to live to our selves, but to Christ, to wit, to knowe no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to be so conversant amongst men, as not to care for those worldly and carnall things, as they doe which respect a mans stocke, his countrey, forme, glorie, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly doate, and wherein themselves. 10 An amplification: This is, sayeth hee, so true, that we doe not now thinke carnally of Christ himselfe, who hath nowe left the world, and therefore must be consider ed of us spiritually. 11 An exhortation for every man which is renewed with the Spirit of Christ, to meditate heavenly things, and not earthly. o As a thing made anew of God, for though a man be not new created when God giveth him the Spirit of regeneration, but one by his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding it pleased the holy Ghost to speake so, to teach us, that we must attribute all things to the glorie of God: not that we are stockes and blockes, but because God createth in us, both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. * Esa. 43. 19 revelation 21. 5.

12 Hee commendeth the excellencie of the ministerie of the Gospell: both by the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the author of that ministerie, and also by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it annouseeth atonement with God, by free forgiveneste of our sinnes, and justification offered unto us in Christ, and that so lovingly and liberally, that God himselfe doeth after a sort pray me by the mouth of his ministers, to have consideration of themselves, and not to despise so great a benefit. And whee hee so sayeth, hee plainely reproveth them which falsly challenged to themselves the name of pastours. p Vsed our labour and travell. q A sinner, not in himselfe, but by imputation of the guilt of all our sinnes to him. r Who was cleane voide of sinne. s Righteous before God, and that with right, in as much as he is not offensuall to us, but being offensuall in Christ, God imputeth it to us through faith.

CHAP. VI.

1 He exhorteth them to leade their lives as is becommeth Christians. 3 neither to be dismayed in tribulations. 9 nor puffed up with glory. 14 to avoid all uncleannesse. 16 conforting that they are the temples of the living God.

SO [1] we therefore as workers together beseech you, that yee receive not the grace of God in vaine.

1 Men doe not onely need the ministery of the Gospel, before they have received grace, that they may be partakers of it, but also after they have received grace, that they may continue in it.

2 [2] For he sayeth, [*] I have heard thee in a time [a] accepted, and in the day of salvation have I

2 In that that grace is offered, it is of the grace of God, who hath appointed time and seasons to all things, that we may take occasion when it is offered. * Esa. 49. 8. a Which I of my free mercy and love towards thee, liked of and appointed: at which time God powred out that his mercifulnesse in the gospel upon us.

succoured

ſuccoured thee: beholde now the accepted time, beholde now the day of ſalvation.

3 [3] Wee give no occaſion of offence in any thing, that our miniſterie ſhould not be reprehended.

4 But in all things we [b] approoue our ſelves as * the miniſters of God, [4] in much patience, in afflictions, in neceſſities, in diſtreſſes.

5 In ſtripes, in priſons, in [c] in tumults, in labours,

6 [5] By watchings, by faſtings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long ſuffering, by kindneſſe, by the holy Ghoſt, by love unfained,

7 By the [d] word of trueth, by the [e] power of God, by the [f] armour of righteouſneſſe on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honour, and diſhonour, by evill report, and good report, as deceivers, and yet true:

9 As unknowen, and yet knowen: as dying, and beholde, we live, as chaſtened, and yet not killed:

10 As ſorowing, and yet alway reioycing: as poore, and yet making many rich: as having nothing, and yet poſſeſſing all things.

11 [6] O Corinthians, our mouth is [g] open unto you, our heart is made large.

12 Ye are not [h] kept ſtrait in us, but ye are kept ſtrait in your owne bowels.

13 Now for the ſame recompenſe, I ſpeake as to my children, Be you alſo inlarged.

14 [7] Be not unequally yoked with the infidels: for * what fellowſhip hath righteouſnes with unrighteouſneſſe? and what communion hath light with darkneſſe?

15 And what concord hath Chriſt with Beliall? or what [k] part hath the beleever with the infidel?

16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? * for yee are the Temple of the [l] living God: as God hath ſayd, * I will [m] dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

17 * Wherefore come out from among them, and ſeparate your ſelves, ſayth the Lord, and touch none uncleane thing, and I will receive you,

18 * And I will be a Father unto you, and yee ſhall be my ſonnes and daughters, ſayeth the Lord Almighty.

3 He ſheweth the Corinthians a patterne of a true miniſter, in his owne example, and Timotheus and Silvanus, to the end, that (as he purpoſed from the beginning) he might procure authoritie to himſelfe and his like.

b Declare and ſhew indeed.

* 1. Cor. 4. 1.

4 Hee firſt of all reckoneth up thoſe things which are neither alwayes in the miniſters, nor without exception, unleſſe it be according to the affection of the minde, patience onely except, which alſo is one of the vertues which ought to be alwayes in a good miniſter.

c In toſsing to and fro, finding no place of reſt and quietneſſe.

5 Secondly, hee reckoneth up ſuch vertues as are neceſſary, and ought alwayes to be in them, and whereby as by good armour, all leſs and hinderances may be overcome.

d Preaching of the Goſpel.

e Power to worke miracles, and to bring under the wicked.

f Vprightneſſe.

6 Going about to rebuke them, hee ſayth firſt, that he dealeth with them ſincerely and with an open and plaine heart, and therewithall complaineth that they do not the like in loving againe their Father. g The opening of the mouth and heart, betoketh a moſt earneſt affection in him that ſpeaketh, as it fareth commonly with them that are in ſome great joy. h You are in mine heart, as in an houſe, and that no narrowe or ſtrait houſe, for I have opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly ſtrait laced to me ward. i After the manner of the Hebrewes, he calleth theſe tender affections which reſt in the heart, bowels. 7 Now he rebuked them boldly, for that they became fellowes with infidels in outward idolatry, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epiſtle, the concluſion whereof is, that ſuch as the Lord hath vouchſafed the name of his children, muſt keepe themſelves pure, not only in mind, but alſo in body, that they may wholly be holy unto the Lord. * Eccleſ. 13. 18. k What can there be between them? * 1 Cor. 3. 16. and 6. 19. l He ſetteth the living God againſt idols. * Levit. 26. 11. m God dwelleth with us, becauſe Chriſt is become God with us. * Iſa. 52. 11. * Iere. 31. 1.

CHAP. VII.

1 Leſt by overmuch urging them he ſhould diſmay their tender minds, 2 he proveth that all that he ſayd, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bare unto them: 8 and therefore they ſhould not be offended, that he made them ſory, 10 and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

SEeing then we have theſe promiſes, dearely beloved, let us cleanſe our ſelves from all filthineſſe of the [a] fleſh and ſpirit, and finiſh our ſanctification in the feare of God.

a Both of bodie and ſoule, that by their meanes the ſanctification may be perfect, conſiſting in both the parts thereof.

2 [1] [b] Receive us: we have done wrong to no man: we have corrupted no man: we have defrauded no man.

3 I ſpeake it not to your [c] condemnation: for I have ſayd before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and live together.

4 I uſe great boldneſſe of ſpeech toward you: I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our fleſh had no reſt, but we were troubled on every ſide, fightings without, and terrours within.

6 But God, that comforteth the [d] abiect, comforted us at the [e] comming of Titus:

7 And not by his comming onely, but alſo by the conſolation wherewith hee was comforted of you, when he told us your great deſire, your mourning, your fervent minde to me ward, ſo that I reioyced much more.

8 [a] For though I made you ſory with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceive that the ſame Epiſtle made you ſory, though it were but for a ſeaſon.

9 I now reioyce, not that ye were ſory, but that ye ſorowed to [f] repentance: for ye ſorowed godly, ſe that in nothing ye were hurt by us.

10 For [g] godly ſorow cauſeth repentance unto ſalvation, not to be repented of: but the worldly ſorow cauſeth death.

11 For beholde, this thing that ye have beene godly ſory, what great care hath it wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your ſelves: yea, what indignation: yea what feare: yea, how great deſire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what revenge: in all things yee have ſhewed your ſelves, that yee are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote unto you, I did not it for his cauſe that had done the wrong, neither for his cauſe that hath the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the [h] ſight of God might appeare unto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, becauſe ye were comforted: but rather wee reioyced much more for the ioy of Titus, becauſe his ſpirit was refreſhed by you all.

14 For if that I have boaſted any thing to him of you, I have not bene aſhamed: but as I have ſpoken unto you all things in trueth, even ſo our boaſting unto Titus was true.

15 And his ioward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you all, and how with feare and trembling yee received him.

16 I reioyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

1 He returneth againe from that admonition to his owne perſon, opening the teſtimonies both of his faithfulneſſe and alſo of his continuall good will towards them.

b Let me have ſome place amongſt you, that I may teach you.

c To condemne you of unkindnes or treachery.

d Whoſe hearts are caſt downe, and are very far ſpent.

e With thoſe things which Titus tolde me of you at his comming, to wit, how fruitfully you reade over my letters, moreover and beſides that, I am exceedingly refreſhed with his preſence.

2 An obiection: But thou haſt handled us roughly: the Apoſtle anſwereth that he uſed not this roughnes without griefe. And hee addeth moreover, that he is alſo glad now that he drave them to that ſorow, although it was againſt his will, ſince it was ſo profitable unto them: for there is a ſorow not onelie praiſe worthy, but alſo neceſſary, to wit, whereby repentance groweth by certaine degrees, for the which repentance hee praiſeth them highly. And this is the firſt part of this Epiſtle.

f Inſomuch that that ſorow did you much good toward the amending of your leudnes and ſinnes.

g Godly ſorow is when we are not terrified with the feare of puniſhment, but becauſe we feele we have offended God our moſt mercifull Father: contrary to this, there is one other ſorow, that onely feareth puniſhment, of when a man is vexed for the loſſe of ſome worldly goods: the fruit of the firſt, is repentance, the fruit of the ſecond, is deſperation, unleſſe the Lord helpe ſpeedily. h It was not coloured nor counterfeit, but ſuch as I dare ſtand to before God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth them by the example of the Macedonians, 9 and alſo you of Chriſt himſelfe, 14 to be liberall toward the ſaints: 16 for which purpoſe, he ſheweth that Titus, 23 and another brother came unto them.

WE [1] doe you alſo to wit, brethren, of the [a] grace of God beſtowed upon the Churches of Macedonia,

1 The firſt part of this epiſtle containing divers exhortations to ſtirre the Corinthians to liberality, wherewith the poverty of the Church of Hieruſalem might be holpen in time convenient. And firſt of all he ſetteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwiſe were brought by great miſerie to extreme povertie, to the ende that they ſhould follow them. a The benefit that God beſtowed upon the Churches,

ches

b For those manifolde afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not onely not quaile their ioyfull readinesse, but also made it much more excellent, and famous.
c Of their owne accord they were liberall
d He calleth that, Grace, that other men would have called a burden. And this verse is to be expounded by the fifth verse.
e He amplifieth the forwardnes of the Macedonians, in this, that they also desired Paul to stirre up the Corinthians to accomplish the giving of almes, by sending againe of Titus unto them.
3 Thirdly he warneth them that they deceive not their expectation which they have conceived of them.
a At the request of the Macedonians.
f Then appeareth the naturalnesse of our love, when as in deede, and that frankely and freely, we helpe our brethren, even for Christ his sake.
4 The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.
5 He taketh good heede that hee seeme not to yeeld it out of them by constraint, for unlesse it be voluntarie, God doeth not accept it.
g Not onely to doe, but also to doe willingly: for he noteth out a readie willingnes without any inforcement by any other men, much lesse came it of ambition and vainglory.
6 Against such as use to excuse themselves, because they are not rich, as though it were onely proper to rich men to helpe the poore.
7 Christian liberalitie is mutuall, that proportion may be observed.
* Exod. 19.18.

2 Because in b great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreme povertie abounded unto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power they were c willing.

4 And prayed us with great instance that wee would receive the d grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 a And this they did, not as we looked for: but gave their owne selves, first to the Lord, and after unto us by the will of God.

6 That wee should exhort Titus, that as hee had begun, so hee would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in every thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love towards us, even so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 e This say I not by commandement, but because of the f diligence of others: therefore proove I the f naturalnesse of your love.

9 4 For yee know the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, that hee being rich, for your sakes became poore, that yee through his povertie might be made rich.

10 5 And I shew my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which have begun not to doe onely, but also to g will, a yeere agoe.

11 Now therefore performe to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, even so yee may performe it of that which ye have.

12 6 For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 7 Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieved: But upon h like condition,

14 at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke: That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie.

15 As it is written, * Hee that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had not the lesse.

16 8 And thanks be unto God, which had put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, be was so carefull that of his owne accord he went unto you.

18 And wee have sent also with him the brother, whose praise is in the Gospel thorowout all the Churches.

19 (And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellow in our iourney, concerning this k grace that is ministred by us unto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde.)

20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this l aboundance that is ministred by us.

21 * Providing for honest things, not onely before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And wee have sent with them our brother, whom wee have oft times proved to be diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I have in you.

23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to you ward: or of our m brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the n glory of Christ.

1 Why, albeit he thinke well of their ready willes, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 hee yeeldeth a reason: 6 He compareth almes to seede sowing, 10 which God doeth repay with great gaine.

FOr 1 as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write unto you.

2 For I know your readines of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you unto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath provoked many.

3 Now have I sent the brethren, least our reioycing over you should be in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I have sayd) be ready.

4 Least if they of Macedonia come with mee, and finde you unprepared, we (that wee may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my a constant boasting.

5 Wherefore, I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before unto you, and to finish your benevolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of benevolence, and not as of b niggardinesse.

6 1 This yet remember, that hee which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and he that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7 As every man c wisheth in his heart, so let him give, not * d grudgingly, or of e necessitie: * for God loveth a cheerefull giver.

8 And God is able to make f all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes having all sufficiencie in all things, may abound in g every good worke,

11 That on all parts ye may be made rich unto all liberalitie, which causeth through us thanksgiving unto God.

1 He wisely meeteth with the suspition which the Corinthians might conceive, as though the Apostle in urging them so carefully, should doubt of their good will: Therefore he wisheth that hee doeth it not to teach them what they ought to helpe the Saints, seeing that he had become Surety for them to the Macedonians, but onely to stirre them up which were running of themselves to the ende that all things might both be in a better readinesse, and also be more plentifull.

a He sheweth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what revenge he is armed against the cabillations of the wicked. 7 and that, when he is present, his deedes have no lesse power, 11 then his wordes have force when he is absent.

1 He returneth to the defence of his Apostleship, but so that he useth this authoritie therein: for hee warneth them earnestly and gravely, using also terrible threatnings to shew themselves such as are apt to be instructed. And he reasoneth certaine proud men which made no better accompt of him, then of a bragging Thraso, in that he used to be sharpe against them when he was absent: because they sawe no great maiestie in him after the maner of men, and besides, had prooved his lenitie, notwithstanding that in his absence, he had written to them sharpely. Therefore first of all he professeth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Christ: but if they continue still to despise his gentlenesse, he protesteth unto them that he will shew in deede how

NOw a I Paul my selfe beseech you by the meekenesse, and a gentlenesse of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bolde toward you being absent:

2 And this I require you, that I neede not to be bolde when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to be bolde against some, which esteeme us as though we walked b according to the flesh.

3 a Nevertheless, though wee walke in the flesh, yet we do not warre after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warrefare are not c carnall, but mightie through d God, to cast downe holdes.)

5 Casting downe the imaginations, and every high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, a and bringing into captivitie every thought to the obedience of Christ.

6 And having ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 a Looke ye on things after the e appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that he is Christes, let him consider this againe of himselfe, that as he is Christes, even so are we Christes.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath given us for edification, and not for your destruction, I should have no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters.

10 For the letters, sayeth he, are sore and strong, but his bodily presence is weake, and his speach is of no value.

11 Let such one thinke this, that such as wee are in word by letters, when wee are absent, such will we be also, in deede, when we are present.

12 f For we b dare not make our selves of the number, or to compare our selves to them, which praise themselves: but they understand not that they measure themselves with i themselves, and k compare themselves with themselves.

13 But we will not reioyce of things, which are not within our measure, * but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed unto us a measure to attaine even unto you.

14 For wee stretch not our selves beyond our measure, as though we had not attained unto you: for even to you also have wee come in preaching the Gospel of Christ.

15 Not boasting of things which are m without our measure: that is, of others mens labours: and wee hope, when your faith shall increase, to be magnified by you according to your line abundantly,

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to reioyce in n another mans line: that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 *6 But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 For he that praiseth himselfe, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord praiseth.

CHAP. XI.

a He testifieth that for the great love's sake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled 5 to utter his owne praises: 9 and that he beswea his labor on them without any rewards, 13 that the false apostles should not surpasse him in any thing. 22 whom he farre excelled in those things which are praise worthy in deed.

WOuld a to God, ye could suffer a little my foolishnesse, and in deed, ye suffer me.

2 For I am ielous over you, with a godly iealousie: for I have prepared you for one husband, to b present you as a pure virgine to Christ:

3 But I feare least as the * serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupt from the simplicity that is in d Christ:

4 a For if he that commeth, preacheth e another Iesus whom we have not preached: or if ye receive another spirit whom yee have not received: either another Gospel which ye have not received, ye might well have suffered him.

5 Verely I suppose that I was not inferiour to the very chiefe Apostles.

6 3 And though I be f rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we have bene made manifest to the uttermost, in all things.

7 4 Have I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that ye might be exalted, & because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and tooke wages of them to do you service.

9 And when I was present with you, and had need, * I was not slouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking unto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia, a That nature which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iustice. b As though I had no other aide and helpe then that which outwardly I seeme to have: and therefore Paul setteth his flesh, that is, his weake condition and state, against his spirituall and Apostolique dignitie. 2 Secondly he witnesseth, that although he be like unto other men, yet hee commeth furnished with that strength, which no bodies of man can match, whether they resist by craft and deceit, or by force and might, because he warreeth with divine weapons. c Are not such as men get them authoritie with all one of another, and doe great actes. d Stand upon that infinite power of God. 3 An amplification of this spirituall vertue, which in such sort conquereth the enemies be they never so crafte and mightie, that it bringeth some of them by repentance unto Christ, and iustly revengeth others, that are stubburnly obstinate separating them from the other which suffer themselves to be ruled. 4 Hee beateth into their heads that same matter, with great weight of wordes and sentences.

e Do ye iudge of things according to the outward shew. f Not being told of it by mee. g He noteth our some one that was the seeder man of this speech.

5 Being constrained to refell the foolish bragges of certaine ambitious men, he witnesseth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falsly perswade themselves of themselves: and as for himselfe, although hee bragge of excellent things, yet bee will not passe the boundes which God hath measured him out, according whereunto he came even unto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and trusteth that hee shall goe further, when they have so profited that hee shall not need to tary any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto to adde d an amplification, in that hee never succeeded other men in their labours. h This is spoken after a taunting sort.

i Yea a divine perswasion that they have of themselves, they take upon them they care not what. k They contemne all other, and measure all their doings onely by themselves. l Of those things which God hath not measured to me. * Epist. 4, 7.

m As though God had divided the whole world among the apostles, to be husbanded. n In countreys which other men have prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Gospell.

* Iere. 9, 24. 1. Corinth. 1, 31.

1 He somewhat mitigateth that which he spake of himselfe, and therewith also prepareth the Corinthians to heare other things, witnessing that he seeketh nothing else but to approve himselfe to God, whose glory he onely seeketh.

2 He granteth that after a sort he playeth the foole in this vaunting of things, but he addeth that he doth it against his will, for their profit because hee seeth them deceived by certaine vaine and crafty men, through the craft and subtilitie of Satan.

a He speaketh as a wooer, but yet at one that seeketh them not for himselfe, but for God.

b To marrie you together.

2 He sheweth that they deceive themselves, if they looke to receive of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gift of the holy Ghost. e A more perfect doctrine of Iesus Christ. 3 He confesseth the slanders of those Thrasoes, I grant, sayth he, that I am not so eloquent an Orateur, but yet they can not take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, wherewith you have had good proofe, and that every manner of way. f Paul lacked not that kinde of eloquence which is meet for man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kinde of speech, which so many now a dayes hunt after and so love. 4 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascall, and lived by the labour of his owne hands. But herein, sayth the Apostle, what can you lay against me, but that I was content to take any paines for your sakes, and when I lacked, to travell for my living with mine owne handes in yam, and parsly also when poverty constrained mee. 10 The g trueth of Christ is in me, that this reioycing shall not be h shut up against mee in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I love you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I doe, that will I doe, that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like unto us in that wherein they i reioyce.

13 k For such false apostles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marveile: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an Angel of k light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselves, as though they vvere the ministers of righteousnesse, whose end shallbe according to their workes.

16 l I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or else take me even as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a litle.

17 That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it vvere foolishly, in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also.

19 For ye suffer fooles gladly, because that yee are wise.

20 m For ye suffer, even if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

21 I speake as concerning the i reproach: as though that we had bene m weake: but wherein any man is bold (I speake foolishly) I am bolde also.

28 s Beside the things which are outward, I am combered dayly, and have the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weake, and I am not weake? Who is offended, and I burne not?

CHAP XII.

1 He deth even unwillingly make rehearsall, 3 of the heavenly visions, 4 that were revealed unto him, 6 for which though he might in deede glory, yet he will not, 10 being privy of his owne infirmities: 11 but they drive him to this kinde of folly, 20 in that they give eare to certaine vaine glorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

IT a is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce: for I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man a in Christ above fourteene yeeres agoe, (whether he vvere in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken up unto the b third heaven.

3 And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth.)

4 How that he was taken up into c Paradise, and heard words which d cannot be spoken, which are not e possible for man to utter.

5 a Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it be of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the trueth: but I refraine, lest any man should thinke of me above that hee seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

7 a And least I should be exalted out of measure through the aboundance of revelations, there was given unto me a f pricke in the flesh, the messenger of g Satan to buffet me, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lord h thrise that it might depart from me.

9 And he sayd unto me, My grace is sufficient

9 He addeth this in conclusion further, that the Corinthians might be ashamed to despise him, upon whose care almost all Churches depended, as it was plainely seene by experience.

10 He turneth that against the adversaries, which they obiected against him: as if he should say, They alledge my calamities, to take away my authoritie from me: but if I would boast my selfe, I would take no better argument: and God himselfe is my witnesse that I devise and forge nothing.

1 He goeth forward to his purpose, and because those bragging mates boasted of revelations, he reckoneth up those things which lift him up above the common capacitie of men: but he useth a prefiace, and excuseth himselfe advisedly.

a I speake this in Christ, that is, I is spoken without vaine glory, for I facke nothing but Christ Iesus onely.

And here unto grew it, that that blessed seate of the glory of God is called by that name.*

d Which no man is able to utter.

e Which the Saints themselves are not by any meanes able to expresse, because it is God himselfe. Thus doeth Clemens Alexandrinus expound this place, Strom. 5.

2 To remoove all suspicion of ambition hee witnesseth that hee braggeth not of those things as of his owne, but as out of himselfe, and yet notwithstanding saieth nothing, least by this occasion other men should attribute more unto him then in deede hee is: and therefore he had rather glory in his miseries.

3 An excellent doctrine: why God will have even his best servants to be vexed of Satan and by all kinde of temptations, to wit, least they should be too much puffed up, and also that they may be made perfect by that continuall exercise.

f He meaneth concupiscence, that sticketh fast in us, as it were a pricke, in so much that it constrained Paul himselfe being regenerate, to cry out, I doe not that good that I would, &c. And he calleth it a pricke, by a borrowed kinde of speach taken from thornes, or stumpes, which are very dangerous and hurtfull for the feete, if a man walke through woods that are put downe.

g Which setteth those lusts on fire.

h Oft.

f An amplification: so farre is he from being ashamed of this act, that he hath also resolved with himselfe to doe no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may alwayes be truely sayd, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disdaineth the Corinthians, but that these Thasoes may never hinde the occasion which they have already sought for, and be in the meane season may see some thing before them to follow, that at length they may truely say, that they are like to Paul.

g This is a forme of an oath, as if he sayd, let me not be thought to have any trueth in me.

h I shall be always open to me.

i Paul alwayes sayeth all occasions they could, to be equall to him. And therefore seeing they had rather eate up the Corinthians, then preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take something: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that meanes to be equall to him: for they made such a shew of zeale and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glosing kinde of eloquence, that some of them even disprised Paul: but he shewed that all this is nothing but colours and painting.

6 Now at length he painteth out these fellowes in their colours, forewarning that it will come to passe, that they will at length betray themselves, what countenance soever they make of zeale that they have to Gods glory.

k By light is meant the heavenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers. 7 Hee goeth forward boldly, and using a vehement Ironie of kinde of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contend as a foole before them being wise, with those lolly fellowes touching those externall things, to wit, touching his flocke, his ancesters, and valiant acts. 8 Before he commeth to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who perswading themselves to very wise men, did not marke in the meane season that those false apostles abused their simplicitie for advantage. l As if he sayd, in respect of that reproach which they doe unto you (I speake it) which surely is as evil as if they did beate you. m Paul is called weake in that he seemeth to the Corinthians a vile and abiect man, a beggerly artificer, a most wretched and miserable idiot, whereas notwithstanding therein Gods mightie power was made manifest. ✣ Phil. 3. 5. n Paul being honourable indeed, defendeth his ministery openly, not for his owne sake, but because he sawe his doctrine come into hazard. o In danger of present death. p He alludeth to that that is written, Deut. 25. 3. and moreover this place sheweth us, that Paul suffred many things which Luke passed over. q Of the Romane Magistrates. ✣ Acts 16. 23. ✣ Acts 14. 19. ✣ Acts 27. 14. r Painfulnes is a troublesome sickne, as when a man is weary and would rest, he is constrained to fall to new labour.

15 And I will most gladly bestow, and will be bestowed for your soules: though the more I love you, the lesse I am loved.

16 6 But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.

20 8 For I feare least when I come, I shall not find you such as I would: and that I shalbe found unto you, such as ye would not: and least there be strife, envying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I feare least when I come againe, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleannesse, and fornication, and wantonnesse which they have committed.

k He concludeth that hee will onely see his miseries against the vaine braggers of the false apostles, and therewith also excuseth himselfe, for that by their importunitie, he was constrained to speake so much of these things as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subverted, his doctrine must needes fall.

i That I might feele the vertue of Christ more and more: For the weaker that our tabernacles are, the more doeth Christs vertue appeare in them.

k I doe not onely take them patiently and with a good heart, but also I take great pleasure in them.

5 Againe he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of those things whereby God had sealed his Apostleshippe amongst them, and against he defendeth by certaine arguments, how farre hee is from all courtousnesse, and also how he is affectioned towards them.

l The arguments whereby it may well appeare, that I am in deede an Apostle of Iesus Christ.

m I was not slouthfull in getting my living with mine owne hands, that I might not be burdensome to you. 6 He putteth away another most grievous slaunder, to wit, that he did subtilly and by others make his gaine and profite of them. 7 Hee concludeth, that hee writeth not these things unto them, as though hee needed to defend himselfe, for hee is guiltie of nothing: but because it is behoveable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie who instructed them. n As it becommeth him to speake truely and sincerely, that professeth himselfe to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian. 8 Having confirmed his authoritie unto them, he rebuketh them sharpely, and threatneth them also like an Apostle, shewing that he will not spare them hereafter, unlesse they repent, seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 3 He denounceth the sharper vengeance toward them, 5 who have a perfect triall of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 10 At length hee praieth for their repentance, 11 And wisheth them prosperitie.

LO this is the third time that I come unto you. ✤ In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand.

2 I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene present the second time, so write I now being absent to them, which heretofore have sinned, and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare,

3 1 Seeing that yee seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in mee, which towarde you is not weake, but is a mightie in you.

4 For though hee was crucified concerning b his infirmitie, yet liveth hee through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we shall live with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 ✤ 2 Proove your selves whether ye are in the faith: examine your selves: knowe yee not your owne selves, how that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 3 But I trust that yee shall knowe that wee are not reprobates.

7 Nowe I pray unto God that yee doe none evill, not that we should seeme approoved, but that yee should doe that which is honest: though wee be as c reprobates.

8 For wee can not doe any thing against the trueth, but for the trueth.

9 For wee are glad when we are weake, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, even your d perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, least when I am present, I should use sharpenesse, according to the power which the Lord hath given mee, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 4 Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you.

12 5 Greet one another with an * holy kisse. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all. Amen.

✤ Deut. 19, 17. mat. 18, 16. Iohn 8. 17. hebr. 10, 28.

1 A most sharpe reprehension, for that, while they despise the Apostles admonitions, they tempt Christes owne patience: and also while they contemne him as wretched and miserable, they lay nothing here in against him, which is not common to him with Christ.

a And will be most mightie to be revenged of you, when needs shalbe.

b As touching that base forme of a servant which he tooke upon him when he abased himselfe.

‡ 1. Cor. 11, 28.

2 He confirmeth that which he spake of the vertue of God appearing in his ministerie, and hereby the mutuall relation betweene the peoples faith, and the ministers preaching, that they must either reverence his Apostleship, upon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemne themselves of infidelitie, and must confesse themselves not to be of Christes body. 3 He mitigateth that sharpenesse, trusting that they will shew themselves towards their faithfull Apostles, apt and willingly to be taught: adding this moreover, that he passeth not for his owne fame and estimation, so that hee may serve to their salvation, which is the onely marke that he shooteth at. c In mens iudgement. d That all things may be in good order among st you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which have been shaken and out of place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian mans life. 5 He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well unto them. * 1. THE

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

x Straight after the salutation, 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for revolting. 9 from his Gospel. 15 which he receiued from God. 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

PAVL x an Apostle (not a of men, neither by b man, * but by c Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead.)

2 And all the brethren which are with me unto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ,

4 d Which gave himselfe for our sinnes, that he might deliver us * from this present evil e world according to the will of God even our Father,

5 To whom be glory for ever and ever, Amen.

6 f I marveile that ye are so soone g remooved away unto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ.

7 h Which is not another Gospel, save that there be some which trouble you, and intend to i pervert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heaven preach unto you otherwise then that which we have preached unto you, let him be k accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now againe, If any man preach unto you otherwise, then that yee have received, let him be accursed.

10 l For now preach I b mans doctrine or Gods? or goe I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the servant of Christ.

11 * m Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither received I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the i revelation of Iesus Christ.

13 n For ye have heard of my conversation in time past, in the Iewish religion, how that ♣ I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it,

14 And profited in the Iewish religion above many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the k traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had l separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace.)

16 To reveale his Sonne m in mee, that I should preach him * among the Gentiles immediatly, n I communicated not with o flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe unto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and aboade with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apostles saw I, save Iames the Lords brother.

20 Now the things which I write unto you, behold, I witnesse p before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was unknowen by face unto the Churches of Iudea which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard onely some say, He which persecuted us in time past, nowe preached the q faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

1 A salutation comprehending in few words, the summe of the Apostles doctrine, and also besides straightway from the beginning, shewing the gravitie meete for the authoritie of an Apostle, which he had to maintaine against the false apostles.

4 He sheweth who is the authour of the minister generally: for herein the whole ministery agreeth, that whether they be Apostles, or Shepheards, or Doctours, they are appointed of God.

b He toucheth the instrumental cause: for this is a peculiar prerogative to the Apostles, to be called immediatly from Christ.

♣ Titus 1.3.

c Christ no doubt is man, but bee is God also, and head of the Church, and in this respect to be exempted out of the number of men.

1 The summe of the true Gospel is this, that Christ by his onely offering, saveth us being chosen out from the world, by the free decree of God the Father. ♣ Luke 1.74.

d Out of that most corrupt state which is without Christ.

3 The first part of the Epistle wherein he witnesseth that he is an Apostle, nothing inferiour to those chiefe disciples of Christ, and wholly agreeing with them whose names the false apostles did abuse. And he beginneth with chiding, reproving them of lightnesse for that they gave eare so easily unto them which perverted them and drew them away to a new Gospel.

e He useth the passive voyce, to cast the fault upon the false apostles, and he useth the time that now is, to give them to understand, that it was not already done, but in doing. 4 He warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Gospels, and therefore whatsoever these false apostles pretend which had the Law, Moses and the Fathers in their mouthes, yet they are in deede so many corruptions of the true Gospel, insomuch that hee himselfe, yea and the very Angels themselves, (and therefore much more these false apostles) ought to be holden accursed, if they goe about to change the least iote that may be in the Gospel, that hee delivered to them before.

f For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free iustification, then iustification by the Law, or by our deserving. g Looke Rom. 9.3. 5 A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it selfe, and also from that maner which he useth in teaching, for neither, saith hee, did I teach those things which pleased men as these men doe which put part of salvation in externall things, and workes of the Law, neither went I about to procure any mans favour. And therefore the matter it selfe sheweth that that doctrine which I delivered unto you, is heavenly. h Hee toucheth the false apostles who had nothing but men in their mouthes, and he, though hee would derogate nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God and not men. * 1. Cor. 15.1. 6 A second argument to proove that this doctrine is heavenly, because hee had it from heaven, from Iesus Christ himselfe, without any mans helpe, wherein hee excelleth them whom Christ taught here on earth after the maner of men. i This place is to be understood of an extraordinary revelation, for otherwise the Sonne alone revealed his Gospel by his Spirit, although by the ministery of men which Paul shutteth out here. 7 Hee prooveth that hee was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the history of his former life, which the Galatians, themselves know well enough: for saith hee, it is well knowen in what schoole I was brought up, even from a childe, to wit amongst that deadly enemies of the Gospel. And that no man may cavill and say that I was a scholler of the Pharises in name onely and not in deede, no man is ignorant, how that I excelled in Pharisaisme, and was suddenly made of a Pharise, an Apostle of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to be instructed of men.

k Hee calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because he was not only a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharise to his father.

l He speaketh of Gods everlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, wherein he maketh three degrees, that everlasting counsaile of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of workes for sience.

m To me, and this is a kinde of speech which the Hebrues use, whereby this is given us to understand, that this gift commeth from God.

♣ Ephes 3.8.

n Because it might be objected, that indeede he was called of Christ in the way, but afterward, was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I said before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though he delivered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, and as though hee were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hierusalem but onely fifteene dayes, where hee saw onely Peter & Iames, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Iewes, which knew him onely by name so farre off was it, that he was there instructed of men. o With any man in the world. p That is a kinde of oath. q The doctrine of faith.

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel. 3 he declareth by the example of Titus being uncircumcised, 11 and also by his admonishing the same against Peters dissimulation. 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free iustification by Christ, &c.

THen a fourteene yeers after, I went up againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went up by revelation, and declared unto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, least by any meanes I should runne, or had runne b in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with mee, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised.

4 To wit, for the c false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in privily to spie out our liberty which we have in Christ Iesus, that they

1 Now he sheweth how he agreeth with the Apostles, with whom he granted that he conferred touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, fourteene yeeres after his conversion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselves thereto, which traiterously layd wait against him but in vaine: neither did they adde the least iote that might be to the doctrine which hee had preached, but contrarywise they gave to him and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles. a Unfruitfully, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubted not of it, but because there were certaine reports cast abroad of him, that hee was of another opinion then the rest of the Apostles were, which thing might have hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore he laboured to remedy this sore. b Which by deceit, and counterfait holynesse crept in amongst the faithfull.

5 To whom we gave not place by c subiection for an houre, that the d trueth of the Gospel might continue with e you.

6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: * God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me above that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they sawe that the Gospel over the f uncircumcision was committed unto mee, as the Gospel over the circumcision was unto Peter:

8 (For hee that was mighty by Peter in the Apostleship over the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles.)

9 And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was given unto me, which are g counted to be pillars, they gave to me and to Barnabas the right h hands of fellowship, that wee should preach unto the Gentiles, and they unto the circumcision.

10 Warning onely that wee should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 i And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him to his l face: for he was to be condemned.

12 m For before that certaine came from Iames, hee ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himselfe, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas was k led away with them by that their hypocrisie.

14 But when I saw, that they went not the l right way to the m trueth of the Gospel, I saide unto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iew, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why n constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 o We which are Iewes p by nature, and not p sinners of the Gentiles.

16 q Knowe that a man is not iustified by the works of the Law, but by the faith of Iesus Christ, even we, I say, have beleeved in Iesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the workes of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Law, r no flesh shalbe iustified.

17 *4 If then while s we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, wee our selves are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I builde againe the things that I have destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the t Law, that I might live unto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I live, yet not u I any more, but Christ liveth in mee: and in that that I nowe live in the x flesh, I live by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loved me, and given himselfe for me.

21 *5 I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousnesse be by the Lawe, then Christ died without a y cause.

c By submitting our selves to them, and betraying our owne libertie.
d The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being corrupt with any of these mens false doctrines.
e Vnder the Galatians name, he understandeth all nations.
* Deuter. 10, 17. 2. chron. 19, 7. iob 34. 19. acts 10, 34. rom. 2, 11. ephes. 6, 9. col. 3, 25. 1. pet. 1, 17.
f Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among the Iewes.
g Whom alone and onely, these men count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to deceive you.
h They gave us their hand in token that we agreed wholly to the doctrine of the Gospel.
i Before all men.
k Another most vehement proofe of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine which he had delivered concerning free iustification by faith onely, because that for this thing onely he reprehended Peter at Antioch, who offended herein, in that for a few Iewes sakes which came from Hierusalem, he played the Iew, and offended the Gentiles which had beleeved.
k By example rather then by iudgement.
l Word for word, with a right foote, which be setteth against halting and dissembling which is backward.
m He calleth the trueth of the Gospel both the doctrine it selfe, and also the use of doctrine, which we call the practise.
n Hee saith they were constrained, which played the Iewes by Peters example.
3 The second part of this Epistle, the state whereof is this: we are iustified by faith in Christ Iesus without the workes of the Law: which thing he propounded in such sort, that first of all hee meeteth with an obiection, (for I also saith hee am a Iew, that no man may say against mee, that I am an enemie to the Law,) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the expresse witnesse of David.
o Although we be Iewes, yet we preach iustification by faith because we know undoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Law.
p So the Iewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods covenant.
q In Iesus Christ.
r No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby is meant that the nature of man is utterly corrupt.
* Rom. 3, 19.
4 Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their obiection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iustification by faith, because say they, men are by this meanes withdrawen from the study of good workes. And in this sort is the obiection. If sinnes should be iustified through Christ by faith without the Law, Christ should approve sinners, and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministerie. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sinne in the beleevers: For so saith hee, doe men flee unto Christ, through the terrour and feare of the Law that being quit from the curse of the Law and iustified, they may be saved by him, that together therewithall, he beginneth in them by little and little, that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: to the end that this old man being abolished by the vertue of Christ crucified, Christ may live in them, and they may consecrate themselves to God. Therefore if any man give himselfe to sinne after he hath received the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel but himselfe, for that he destroyeth the worke of God in himselfe.
s He goeth from iustification to sanctification, which is another benefit we receive by Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith.
t The Law that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth us to Christ. and he onely causeth us to die to the Law indeede, because that by making us righteous, he taketh away from us the terrour of conscience, and by sanctifying us, causeth through the mortifying of lust in us, that it cannot take such occasion to sinne by the rest of sinne which the Law maketh, as it did before Rom. 7, 10, 11.
u The same that I was before.
x In this mortall body.
y This second argument taken of an absurditie: if men may be iustified by the Law, then was it not necessary for Christ to die.

CHAP. III.

1 He rebuketh them, for suffering themselves to be drawen from the grace of free iustification in Christ, most lively set out unto them. 6 Hee bringeth in Abrahams example. 10 Declaring the effects. 21 and cause of the giving of the Law.

1 Foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the trueth, to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your a sight, and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Received ye the b Spirit by the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of c faith preached?

3 * Are ye so foolish, that after ye have begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the d flesh?

4 3 Have yee suffered so many things in vaine? if so be it be even in vaine.

5 4 Hee therefore that ministreth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth hee it through the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 5 Yea rather as e Abraham beleeved God, and it was * imputed to him for righteousnesse.

7 6 Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 7 For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel unto Abraham, saying, * 8 In thee shall all the Gentiles be f blessed.

9 So then they which be of faith, are blessed g with faithfull Abraham.

1 The third reason or argument taken of those gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith they were indued from heaven after they had heard and beleeved the Gospel by Pauls ministerie: which seeing they were so evident to all mens eyes, that they were as it were lively images, wherein they might behold the trueth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no lesse then if they had behold with their eyes Christ himselfe crucified, in whose onely death they ought to have their trust, he marveileth how it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.
a Christ was laid before you, so notably and so plainely, that you had his lively image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had bene crucified before you.
b Those spirituall graces and gifts, which were a seale as it were to the Galatians, that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.
c Of the doctrine of faith.
2 The fourth argument mixed with the former, & it is double, If the Law be to be ioyned with faith, this were not to goe forward, but backward, seeing that those spirituall gifts which were bestowed upon you, are more excellent then any that could proceed from your selves. And moreover, it should follow, that the Law is better then Christ. because it should perfect and bring to end that, which Christ began onely.
d By the, flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spirituall working of the Gospell.
3 An exhortation by maner of upbraiding, that they doe not in vaine suffer so many conflicts.
4 He repeateth the third argument, which was taken of the effect, because hee had interlaced certaine other arguments by the way.
5 The first argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds. The first, That Abraham was iustified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousnesse according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doeth most plainely witnesse.
e Looke Rom. 4.
* Gen. 15, 6. rom. 4, 3. iames 2, 23.
6 The second, that the sonnes of Abraham must be esteemed and accounted of by faith.
7 The third, that all people that beleeve, are without exception, comprehended in the promise of the blessing.
8 Gene. 12, 3. & 18, 18. & 22, 18. & 26, 4. & 28, 14.
8 A proofe of the first and second grounds, out of the worde of Moses.
f Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith.
9 The conclusion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say all the Gentiles that beleeve) blessed. that is to say, freely iustified.
g With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to give us to understand that the blessing commeth not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posteritie is blessed.

10 The sixth argument: the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contrarier, thus. They are accursed which are of the workes of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousnes by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith: that is, they which have righteousnesse by faith.

11 A proofe of the former sentence or proposition: and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is hee that fulfilleth not the whole Law.

✣ Deut.27.26.

12 The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfilleth the Law. Therefore no man is iustified by the Law. Or els, All are accursed which seeke righteousnesse by the workes of the Law. And there is annexed also this maner of proofe of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousnesse, & life are attributed to faith. Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law. ✣ Hab.2.4.rom.1.17.heb.10.10. 13 Here is a reason shewed of the former consequence: Because the Lawe promiseth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iustifieth and giveth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousnesse and life to faith, taketh it from the Lawe, seeing that faith iustifieth by imputation: and the Law by the performing of the worke. * Leuit.18.5. 14 A preventing of an obiection: How then can they be blessed whom the Law pronounceth to be accursed? Because Christ susteined the curse which the Law laid upon us, that we might be quit from it. 15 A proofe of the answere by the testimonie of Moses. ✣ Deut.21.23. h Christ was accursed for us, because he bare the curse that was due to us, to make us partakers of his righteousnesse. 16 A conclusion of all that was sayd before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons: to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ and also that the Iewes themselves, of whose number the Apostle counteth himselfe to bee cannot obtaine that promised grace of the Gospel which he calleth the Spirit, but onely by faith. And the Apostle doth severally apply the conclusion both to the one and the other, preparing himselfe a way, to the next argument, wherby he declareth that that one onely seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwise be ioyned and growe up together, but by faith in Christ. 17 He putteth forth two generall rulers before the next argument, which is the seventh in order: That one is, that it is not lawfull to breake covenants and contracts which are iustly made and according to Law amongst men, neither may any thing be added unto them: The other is, that God did so make a covenant with Abraham, that hee would gather together his children which consist both of Iewes and Gentiles into one body (as appeare by that which hath bene said before) For he did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seedes, (which things notwithstanding should have bene sayd, if he had many and divers seedes, as the Gentiles apart and the Iewes apart,) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seede, as of one. i I will use an example which is common among you, that you may be ashamed you give not so much to Gods covenants, as you doe to mans. ✣ Heb.9.17. k Authentically, as we call it. 28 He putteth forth the summe of the seventh argument, to wit, that both the Iewes and Gentiles growe together in to one body of the seede of Abraham, in Christ onely: so that all are one in Christ, as it is afterward declared, vers. 21. l Paul speaketh not of Christs person, but of two peoples, which grew together in one in Christ. 19 The eight argument taken of comparison, thus: If a mans covenant (being authenticall) be firme and strong, much more Gods covenant. Therefore the Law was not given to abrogate the promise made to Abraham, which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the end whereof did hang of Christ. m Which tende to Christ. 20 An enlarging of that argument, thus: Moreover and besides that the promise is of it selfe firme and strong, it was also confirmed with the prescription of long time, to wit of 430. yeeres, so that it could in no wise be broken. 21 An obiection: We grant that the promise was not abrogated by the covenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyne the Law with the promise. Nay, saith the Apostle, these two cannot stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both be given by the Law and also by promise, for the promise is free: whereby it followeth, that the Law was not given to iustifie, for by that meane the promise should be broken. n By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the seed, which is, that God should be our God, that is to say, that by vertue of the covenant that was made with faithfull Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that meanes be blessed of God as well as he.

10 For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: 11 For it is written, ✣ Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them.

11 12 And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is evident: ✣ for the iust shall live by faith.

12 13 And the Law is not of faith: but * the man that shall doe these things, shall live in them.

13 14 Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law, made a curse for us, (15 for it is written, ✣ h Cursed is every one that hangeth on tree.)

14 16 That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

15 17 Brethren, I speake as i men doe: * though it be but a mans covenant, when it is k confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.

16 Now to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. He saith not, and to the seedes, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seede, as of one, 18 which is l Christ.

17 19 And this I say, that the covenant that was confirmed afore of God m in respect of Christ, the 20 Law which was foure hundreth and thirty yeeres after, cannot disanull, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 21 For if the n inheritance be of the Lawe, it is no more by the promise, but God gave it freely unto Abraham by promise.

19 22 Wherefore then serveth the Law? It was added because of the o transgressions, till the seed came, unto the which the promise was made: 23 and it was p ordained by q Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Nowe a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: 24 but God is one.

21 25 Is the Lawe then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had beene a Lawe given which could have given life, surely righteousnesse should have bene by the Lawe.

22 But the r Scripture hath * concluded s all vnder sinne, that the t promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should be given unto them that beleeve.

23 26 But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Law, as vnder a garison, and shut up unto u that faith, which should afterward be revealed.

24 Wherefore the Law was our schoolemaster to bring us to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vndera scholemaster.

26 27 For ye are all the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus.

27 28 For all ye that are y baptized into Christ, have z put on Christ.

28 There is neither Iew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all a one in Christ Iesus

29 And if ye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seede, and heires by promise.

22 An obiection which riseth of the former answere: If the inheritance be not by the Law (at the least in part) then why was the Law given, after that the promise was made? Therefore saith the Apostle, to reproove men of sinne, and so teach them to looke unto Christ: in whom at length that promise of saving all people together, should be fulfilled, and not that the Law was given to iustifie men.

o That men might understand, by discovering of their sinnes, to the onely grace of God, which he revealed to Abraham, and that in Christ.

p Vntill the partition wall was broken downe, and that full seede sprang up, framed of two peoples, both of Iewes and Gentiles: for by this word Seede, we may not understand Christ alone by himselfe, but coupled and ioyned together with his body. 23 A confirmation of the former answere taken from the maner and forme of giving the Law: for it was given by Angels striking a great terrour into all, and by Moses a Mediatour comming betweene Now they that are one, needs no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the least, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law is false and the Mediatour, were witnesses of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himselfe, and abolish the promise, or adde the Law unto the promise 7 Commanded and ordered, or proclaimed. r By the service and ministerie. 24 A taking away of an obiection, least any man might say, that sometimes by consent of the parties which have made a covenant, something is added to the covenant, or the former covenants are broken. This, saith the Apostle, commeth not to passe in God, who is alwayes one, and the selfe same, and like himselfe. 25 The conclusion uttered by a maner of asking a question, and it is the same that was uttered before vers. 7. but proceeding of another rule: So that the argument is new, and is this: God is alwayes like unto himselfe: Therefore the Law was not given to abolish the promises But it should abolish them if it gave life for by that meanes it should iustifie, and therefore it should abolish that iustification which was promised to Abraham and to his seede by faith. Nay it was rather given to bring to light the guiltinesse of all men, to the end that all beleevers fleeing to Christ promised might be freely iustified in him. s By this word, Scripture, he meaneth the Law. ✣ Rom.3.9. t All men and whatsoever commeth from man.

u In every one of these words there lyeth an argument against the merits of workes, for all these words, promise, faith, Christ, might be given, to beleevers are void of merites, and not one of them can stand with deserving workes. 26 Now there followeth another handling of the second part of this Epistle: the state whereof is this: although the Law (that is, the whole governement of Gods house according to the Law) doe not iustifie, is it therefore to be abolished, seeing that Abraham himselfe was circumcised, and his posteritie held still the use of Moses Law? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be abolished, because it was instituted for that end and purpose, that it should be as it were a schoolemaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in deede, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacie of the Spirit. x The cause why wee were kept vnder the Law, is set downe here-27 Because age changeth not the condition of servants, hee addeth that we are free by condition, and therefore, seeing we are out of our childehoode, wee have no more neede of a keeper and Schoolemaster. 28 Vsing a generall particle, least the Iewes at the least should not thinke themselves bound with the band of the Law, hee pronounceth that Baptisme is common to all beleevers, because it is a pledge of our deliverie in Christ, as well to the Iewes as to the Grecians, that by this meanes all may be truely one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seede to Abraham and inheritours of everlasting life. y He setteth Baptisme secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of. z The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be covered with him, that it may be throughly holy, and without blame. a You are all as one: and so is this great knot and coniunction signified.

CHAP. IV.

1 Being deliuered from the bondage of the Lawe, 4 by Christes comming, 9 it is very absurd to slide backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 Hee calleth them againe therevnto to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospell, 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.

1 Hee declareth that by another double similitude, which he sayd before concerning the keeper and scholemaster: For hee saith, that the Law, (that is the whole governement of Gods house according to the Law) was as it were a tutour or overseer appointed for a time, untill such time as that protection and overseeing, which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne liberrie, and should live as children, and not as servants. Moreover, hee sheweth by the way, that that governance of the Law, was as it were an A B C. and as certaine principles, in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.

a This is added, because he that is alwayes vnder a tutor and gouernour, may hardly be counted a freeman.

b The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as were by rudiments, and afterward powred out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

THen I say, that the heire as long as hee is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is vnder tutours and governours, a vntill the time appointed of the Father.

3 Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage vnder the b rudiments of the world.

4 2 But when the c fulnesse of time was come, God sent forth his Sonne made of a d woman, and made vnder the Lawe,

5 That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we * might receive the e adoption of the sonnes.

6 3 And because ye are sonnes, God hath f sent foorth the g Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a h servant, but a sonne: now if thou be a sonne, thou art also the i heire of God through Christ.

8 4 But even then, when yee knewe not God, yee did service vnto them, which by nature are not gods:

9 But nowe seeing ye know God, yea, rather are knowen of God, howe turne yee againe vnto impotent and k beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will be in bondage l againe?

10 Yee obserue dayes, and moneths, and times, and yeeres.

11 I am in feare of you, least I have bestowed on you labour in vaine.

12 5 Be ye as I (for I am even as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye have not hurt me at all.

13 And ye know, how through m infirmitie of the flesh, I preached the Gospel unto you at the first.

14 And the n trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiveth me as an Angel of God, yea, as o Christ Iesus.

15 p What whas then your felicitie? for I beare you record, that if it had bene possible, yee would have plucked out your owne eyes, and have given them unto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth?

17 They are ielous over you q amisse: yea, they would exclude you, r that yee should altogether love them.

18 But it is a good thing to love s earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you.

19 My little children, of whom I travaile in birth againe, untill Christ be formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you now, that I might t chance my voice: for I am in doubt of you.

21 6 Tell me, ye that u will be under the Law, doe ye not heare the Law?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, * one by a servant, and ✠ one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the servant, was borne after the x flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by y promise.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for z these mothers are the a two Testaments, the one which is Agar of mount b Sina, which gendreth unto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it c answered to Hierusalem which nowe is) and d she is in bondage with her children.

26 But Hierusalem, which is e above, is free: which is the mother of us all.

27 7 For it is written, * Reioyce thou barren that beareſt no children: breake foorth, & cry, thou that travaileſt not: for the f desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband.

28 ✣ Therefore, brethren, wee are after the g maner of Isaac, children of the h promise.

29 But as then hee that was borne after the i flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the k Spirit, even so it is now.

a This is added, because he that is alwayes vnder a tutor and gouernour, may hardly be counted a freeman.

b The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as were by rudiments, and afterward powred out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

c The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended, and therefore Christ could not have come either sooner or later.

d Hee calleth Marie a woman, in respect of the sexe, and not as the word is used in a contrary sense to a virgine still.

e The adoption of the sonnes of Gods is from everlasting, but is revealed and shewed in the time appointed for it.

3 Hee sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at libertie, that in the meane season we must be governed by the Spirit of Christ, which reigning in our hearts, may teach us the true service of the Father. But this is not to serve but rather to enioy true liberalitie, as it commeth sonnes and heires.

f By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if we have his Spirit, we are his sonnes, and if we are his sonnes, then are we free.

g The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth up our adoption in Christ, and maketh us a full assurance of it.

h The word, servant, is not taken here for one that liveth in sinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Law, which is proper to the Iewes.

i Partaker of this blessings.

4 He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Iewes might have pretended some excuse as men that were borne and brought up, in that service of the Law. But seeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatrie to Christian liberty: what pretence might they have to go backe to those impotent and beggerly rudiments?

k They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselves without Christ: and againe, for that by that meanes they gave good testimonie that they were beggers in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men, to fall backe from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing els but to cast away riches, and to follow beggerly.

5 He mitigateth and qualifieth those things wherein he might have seemed to have spoken somewhat sharply, very artificiously and divinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be vtterly desperate when they reade these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnes with teares, and desire pardon.

m Many afflictions. n Those dayly troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.

o For my ministeries sake.

p What a talke was there abroade in the world among the men, how happie you were?

q For they are ielous over you for their owne commodities.

r That they may conuey all your love from me to themselves.

s He setteth his owne true and good love, which was earnestly bent towards them, against the naughtie vicious love of the false apostles.

t Vse other words among you.

6 Because the false apostles alwayes vrged this, that vnlesse the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profite them nothing at all: and this diffension of them which beleeved of the circumcision, against them which beleeved of the vncircumcision, was full of offence: the Apostle, after divers arguments whereby he hath refuted their error, bringeth foorth an allegorie, wherein hee sayeth the holy Ghost did shadow not unto us all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to passe, that two sorts of sonnes should have Abraham a father common to both, but not with like succesſe: for as Abraham begate Ismael, by the common course of nature, of Agar his bondmaid and a stranger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promise and by grace onely, and the first was noe onely not heire, but also persecuted the heire: So there are two covenants, and as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two covenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promise according to which covenant Abrahams children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes which seeke righteousnes by that covenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heires, nay they shall at length bee cast out of the house, as they that perfecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hierusalem or in Sion, (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, believers by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) do rest themselves in free promise, and they onely by the right of children shall be partakers of the fathers inheritance, and those servants shalbe shut out.

x As all men are, and by the common course of nature.

y By vertue of the promise, which Abraham layd hold on for himselfe and his true seed, for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing children.

z These doe represent and shadowe foorth.

a They are called two covenants, one of the old Testament, and other of the New: which were not two in deede, but in respect of the times, and the diversitie of the gouernement.

b He maketh mention of Sina, because that covenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadowe.

c Looke how the case standeth betwixt Agar and her children, even so standeth it betweene Ierusalem and hers.

d That is, Sina. e Which is excellent, and of great account. Hee sheweth that in this allegorie, hee that followed the steppes of Esay, who foretold that the Church should bee made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which onely spiritually should be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fruitfull Agar, even then foreshewing the casting off of the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles.

* Esa. 54. 1. f Shee that is destroyed and wasted.

✠ Rom. 8. 9. g After the maner of Isaac who is the first begotten of the heavenly Hierusalem, as Ismael is of the slavish Synagogue. h That seede, unto which the promise belongeth. i By the common course of nature. k By the vertue of Gods promise and after a spirituall maner.

30 But what saith the Scripture? ✻ Put out the servant and her sonne: for the sonne of the servant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman.

31 g Then brethren, we are not children of the servant, but of the free woman.

CHAP. V.

1 Having declared that we came of the free woman, hee sheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and how wee should use the same, 16 that we may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

STand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 1 ✠ Beholde, I Paul say unto you, that if yee be a circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to every man, which is circumcited, that he is bound to keepe the whole Law.

4 Ye are ✻ b abolished from Christ whosoever are c justified by the Law, ye are fallen from grace.

5 g For wee through the d Spirit waite for the hope of righteousnesse through faith.

6 3 For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, neither 4 vncircumcision, 5 but e faith which worketh by love.

7 6 Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?

8 7 It is not the perswasion of f him that calleth you.

9 ✻ 8 A little leaven doeth leaven the whole lumpe.

10 9 I have trust in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whosoever he be.

11 10 And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the crosse abolished.

12 11 Would to God they were even cut off which doe g disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye have bene called unto libertie: 12 onely use not your libertie as an occasion unto the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14 13 For h all the Law is fulfilled in one word, which is this, ✠ Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 14 If ye bite and devoure one another, take heede least ye be consumed one of another.

16 15 Then I say, ✠ Walke in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lusts of the flesh.

17 For the i flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrarie one to another, so that ye cannot doe the same things that ye would

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Law.

19 16 Moreover the works of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannes, wantonnesse,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath contentions seditions, heresies,

21 Envie, murthers, drunkennesse, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also have tolde you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherite the kingdome of God.

22 But the k fruite of the Spirit is love, ioy, peace, long suffering, gentlenesse, goodnesse, faith,

23 Meekenes temperancie: 17 against such there is no law.

24 For they that are Christs, have crucified the flesh with the affections and the lustes.

25 If we l live in the Spirit, let us also walke in the Spirit.

26 18 Let us not be desirous of vaine glorie, provoking one another, envying one another.

2 Another obtestation wherein he plainely witnesseth that iustification of workes, and iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the service of the Law and was chiefly urged of the false Apostles.

✠ Acts 15.11. a Circumcision is in other places called the seale of righteousnesse, but here we must have consideration of the circumstance of the Baptisme come in the place of circumcision. And moreover Paul reasoned according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their salvation. ✻ 1. Cor. 1.17. b That is, as he himselfe expoundeth it afterwards, ye are fallen from grace. c That is, seeke to be iustified by the Law, for in deede no man is iustified by the Law. 2 He privily compareth the new people with the old: for it is certaine that they also did ground all their hope of iustification and life in faith and not in circumcision, but for that their faith was wrapped in the ex ernall and ceremoniall worship: but our faith is bare and content with spirituall worship. d Through the Spirit, which ingendreth faith. 3 He addeth a reason, for that now circumcision is abolished seeing that Christ is exhibited unto us with full plentie of spirituall circumcision. 4 He maketh mention also of vncircumcision, least the Gentiles should please themselves in it as the Iewes doe in circumcision 5 The taking away of an objection: If all that worship of the Lawe be taken away, wherein then shall we exercise our selves? In charitie. Loyeth Paul: for faith, whereof we speake, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruits of charitie e So is true faith distinguished from counterfeit faith: for charitie is not ioyned to faith as a fellow fellow, to helpe forward our iustification with faith. 6 Against he childeth the Galatians, but with an admiration and therewithall a praise of their former race, to the end that he may make them more ashamed. 7 He playeth the part of an Apostle with them, and useth his authoritie, denying that that doctrine can come from God which is contrary to his. f Of God ✠ 1. Corinth. 5.6. 8 Hee addeth this, that he may not seeme to contend upon a trifle, warning them diligently (by a similitude which he boroweth of leaven, as Christ himselfe also did) not to suffer the purity of the Apostolical doctrine, to be infected with the least corruption that may be. 9 He mitigateth the former reprehension, casting the fault upon the false Apostles against whom he denounceth the horrible iudgement of God. 10 Hee willeth them to consider how that he seeketh not his owne profit in this matter, seeing that he could eschewe the hatred of men, if he would joyn Iudaisme with Christianitie 11 An example of a true Pastour inflamed with the zeale of Gods glorie and love of his flocke. g For they that preach the Law, cause mens consciences alwayes to tremble.

12 The third part of this Epistle, shewing that the right use of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being delivered from the slavery of sinne and the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit we should serve unto one an others salvation through love.

13 He propoundeth the love of our neighbour as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto alleageth the testimonie of the Law.

b This particle (All) must be restrained to the second table.

15 He acknowledgeth the great weakenesse of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but he willeth them to remember that they are indued with the Spirit of God, which hath delivered them from the slavery of sinne and so of the Law so farre forth as it is the vertue of sinne, that they should not give themselves to lustes. ✠ Rom 13.14. 1. pet 2.11 i For the flesh dwelleth even in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth although not without great strife, as is largely set foorth. Rom. 7 16 He setteth us that particularly which he spake generally, reckoning up some effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruites of the Spirit, that no man may presume ignorance. k Therefore they are not the fruits of free will but so farre forth as our will is made free by grace. 17 Least that any man should obiect, that Paul plaied the Sophister, as one who urging the Spirit urgeth nothing but that which the Law commaunded, he sheweth that he requireth not that liberall and outward obedience but spirituall which proceedeth not from the Law, but from the Spirit of Christ which doeth beget us againe, and must and ought to be the ruler and guider of our life. l If we be inuested and endued with the quickening Spirit, which causeth us to die to sinne and live to God let us shew it in our deedes that is by holinesse of life 18 He addeth peculiar exhortations according as he knewe the Galatians subiect to diverse vices: and first of all he warneth them to take heede of ambition, which vice hath two fellowes backbiting and envie, out of which two it cannot be but many contentions must needes arise.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nowe he entreateth particularly of charitie towards such as offende. 6 toward the Ministers of the word, 10 and those that are of the houshoulde of faith. 12 Not like unto such who have a counterfeit zeale of the Law, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

BRethren, 1 If a man be a suddenly taken in any offence, ye which are b spirituall c restore such one with the d spirit of meekenesse, 2 considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted.

1 He condemneth immoderate rigour, because that brotherly reprehension ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekenesse 2 Through the malice of the flesh and the devill b Which are upholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit. c Labour to fill up that that is wanting in him. d This is a kind of speech which the Hebrewes use giving to understand thereby, that all good gifts come from God. 3 He toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most severe iudges, which forget their owne infirmities.

3 He sheweth that this is the end of reprehensions, to raise up our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppresse him. Therefore every one must seeke to have commendation of his owne life by approving of himselfe, and not by reprehending others.

e Christ, in plaine and flat words, calleth the commandement of charitie, his commandement.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himselfe in his imagination.

4 But let every man proove his owne worke: and then shall he have reioycing in him selfe onely and not in another.

5 ✻ 4 For every man shall beare his owne burden.

6 5 Let him that is taught in the worde, make him that hath taught him, partaker of f all his goods.

7 6 Bee not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reape.

8 For hee that soweth to his g flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reape life everlasting.

9 ✻ 7 Let vs not therefore be wearie of well doing: for in due season we shall reape, if wee faint not.

10 8 While we have therefore time, let vs doe good unto all men, but especially unto them, which are of the houshold of faith.

5 It is meet that masters should be found by their seruiters, so farre forth as they are able.

f Of whatsoeuer he is h, according to his ability.

✣ 1 Cor. 9. 7.

6 He commendeth liberalitie towards the poore, and first of all chiefely them which were not ashamed to pretend this and that, and all because they would not helpe their neighbours, as though they could deceive God: and afterward compareth almes to a spirituall sowing, which shall have a most plentifull harvest, so that it shall be very profitable: and compareth covetous nigardlinesse to a carnall sowing, whereof nothing can be gathered but such things as fade away, and perish by and by.

g To the commodities of this present life.

✻ 2 Thes. 3. 13.

7 Against such as are liberall at the beginning, but continue not, because the harvest seemeth to be deferred very long, as though the seede time and the harvest were at one instant.

8 They that are of the houshold of faith, that is, such as are ioyned with us in the profession of one selfe same religion, ought to be preferred before all other, yet so notwithstanding that our liberalitie extend to all.

11 ✻ 9 Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine owne hand.

12 As many as desire to make a h faire shew in i the flesh, they constraine you to be circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the k crosse of Christ.

13 For they themselves which are circumcised keepe not the Law, but desire to have you circumcised, that they might reioyce in l your flesh.

14 10 But God forbid that I should m rejoyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world.

15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a newe creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shallbe upon them, and mercy, and upon the n Israel of God.

17 11 From hencefoorth let no man put me to businesse: for I beare, in my bodie the o markes of the p Lord Iesus.

18 12 Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your q spirit, Amen.

9 The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principall end and purpose: to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselves to be led out of the way by the false apostles: and he painteth out those false apostles in their colours, reproouing them of ambition, as men that do not that which they do for any affection and zeale they have to the Law, but only for this purpose, that they may purchase themselves favour amongst their owne sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians.

i In keeping of ceremonies.

k For the preaching of him that was crucified.

l That they have entangled you in Iudaisme, and yet he harpeth on the forme of circumcision.

10 He sticketh not to compare himselfe with them, shewing that on the contrary part hee reioyceth in those afflictions which he suffereth for Christs sake, and as he is despised of the world so doth he in like sort esteeme the world as nought: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite.

m When Paul vseth this word in good sense of part, it signifieth to rest a man selfe wholly in a thing, and to content himself therewith.

n Vpon the true Israel, whose praise is of God, and not of men. Rom. 2. 29

11 Continuing still in the same metaphore, he opposeth his miseries and the markes of those stripes which he bare for Christ sake, against the skarre of the outward circumcision, as a true marke of his Apostleship.

o Markes which are burnt into a mans flesh, as they used in old time, to marke their servants that had run away from them.

p For it importeth much, whose markes we beare: for the cause maketh the Martyr, and not the punishment.

12 Taking his farewell of them, he wisheth them grace, and the Spirit against the deceits of the false apostles, which laboured to beat those outward things into their braines.

q With your minde and hearts.

1 PE. 1. 2.

PAul 1 an Apostle of Iesus Christ by the will of God, to the ✻ Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the a faithfull in Christ Iesus:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 ✣ 2 Blessed be God, 3 and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 4 which hath blessed us, with b all spirituall blessing in c heavenly things in 5 Christ,

2 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he handleth all the partes of our salvation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and using divers exhortations and beginning after his maner with thanksgiving.

3 The efficient cause of our salvation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

4 The next finall cause, and in respect of us, is our salvation, all things being bestowed upon us which are necessarie to our salvation, which kinde of blessings is heavenly and proper to the elect.

b With all kinde of gracious and bountifull goodnesse which is heavenly indeede, and from God onely.

c Which God our Father gave us from his high throne from above: or because the Saints have those gifts bestowed in them, which belong properly to the citizens of heaven.

5 The matter of our salvation is Christ, in whom only wee are indued with spirituall blessing and unto salvation.

4 6 As hee hath chosen us in d him, before the foundation of the world, 7 that we e should f be holy, and without blame g before him in love:

5 8 Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ h in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will.

6 9 To the i praise of the glorie of his grace, 10 wherewith hee hath made us freely accepted in his belooved.

7 11 By whom wee have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveneesse of sinnes, according

6 He declareth the efficient cause, or by what meanes God the Father saveth us in his Sonne. Because saith he, he chose us from everlasting in his Sonne.

d To be adopted in him.

7 He expoundeth the next finall cause, which he maketh double, to wit, sanctification and iustification, whereof he will speake hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holinesse of life cannot be separated from the grace of election: and againe what pureneese soever is in us, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his mercie chosen us.

e Then God did not chuse us, because we were, or otherwise should have beene holy, but to the end we should be holy.

f Being clothed with Christs righteousnesse.

g Truely, and sincerely.

8 Another plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also of eternall election: whereby God is saith to have chosen us in Christ, to wit, because it pleased him to appoint us our when we were not yet borne whom he would make to be his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to be sought, but in the free mercie of God, neither is faith which God foresaw, the cause of predestination, but the effect.

h God respecteth nothing, either that present is, or that is to come, but himselfe onely.

9 The vttermost and chiefest finall cause is the glory of God the Father, who saveth us freely in his Sonne.

i That as his bountifull goodnesse deserveth all praise, so also it should be set foorth and published.

10 Another finall cause more neere, is our iustification, while that he freely accounteth us for iust in his Sonne.

11 An expounding of the materiall cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is he onely, whose sacrifice by the mercy of God is imputed unto us, for forgiveneese of sinnes.

ding

ding to his rich grace:

8 12 k Whereby he hath bene abundant toward us in l all wiſedome and underſtanding.

9 And hath opened unto us the m myſterie of his will 13 according to his good pleaſure, which he hath purpoſed in him.

10 14 That in the diſpenſation of the fulneſſe of the times, hee might n gather together in one all things, both which are in heaven, and which are in earth, even in Chriſt:

11 15 In whome alſo wee are choſen when wee were predeſtinate according to the purpoſe of him, which worketh o all things after the counſell of his owne will,

12 That we, which p firſt truſted in Chriſt, ſhould be unto the praiſe of his glorie:

13 16 In whom alſo ye have truſted, after that yee heard the q worde of trueth, even the Goſpel of your ſalvation, wherein alſo after that yee beleeved, yee were r ſealed with the holy ſ Spirit of promiſe.

14 Which is the earneſt of our inheritance, for the t redemption of that libertie purchaſed unto the praiſe of his glorie.

15 17 Therefore alſo after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Ieſus, and love toward all the Saints,

16 I ceaſe not to give thankes for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 18 That the God of our Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, that Father of u glorie, might give unto you the Spirit of wiſedome, and revelation through the x acknowledge of him,

18 That the eyes of your underſtanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the y hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 19 And what is the exceeding greatneſſe of his power toward us, which beleeve, ✻ according to the working of his mightie power,

20 10 Which hee wrought in Chriſt, when hee raiſed him from the dead, and ſet him at his z right hand in the heavenly places,

21 Farre above all principalitie, and power, and might, and domination, and every a Name, that is named, not in this world onely, but alſo in that that is to come,

22 21 And hath made all things ſubiect under his feet, and hath given him over all things to be the b head to the Church,

23 Which is his body, even the c fulneſſe of him that filleth all in all things.

20 The Apoſtle willeth us to behold in our meſſias, our Chriſt with the eye of faith, that moſt excellent power and glorie of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers although it be as yet vnſeene darke in us, by reaſon of the ſeigniorie of the croſſe and the weakeneſſe of the fleſh.

z To be ſet on Gods right hand, is to be partaker of the ſoveraigntie which he hath over all creatures.

a Every thing whatſoever it be, or above all things he they of never ſuch power or excellencie.

21 That we ſhould not thinke that that excellent glorie of Chriſt is a thing wherewith we haue nought to doe, he witneſſeth that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body muſt be ioyned to his head, which other wiſe ſhould be a maymed thing without the members: which notwithſtanding is not of neceſſitie (ſeeing that the Church is rather quickened and ſuſtained by the onely vertue of Chriſt, ſo farre off is it, that hee needeth the fulneſſe thereof) but of the infinite goood will and pleaſure of God who vouchſafeth to ioyne us to his Sonne.

b Inſomuch that there is nothing but is ſubiect to him.

c For the love of Chriſt is ſo great toward the Church, that though he doe fully ſatisfie all with all things, yet he eſteemeth himſelfe but a maymed and unperfect head, unleſſe he have the Church ioyned to him as his bodie.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to ſet out the grace of Chriſt, he putteth a compariſon, calling them to mind, 5 that they were altogether caſtawayes and aliants, 5 that they are ſaved by grace. 13 and brought neere. 16 by reconciliation through Chriſt, 17 publiſhed by the Goſpel.

AND 1 ✣ you hath he quickened, that were a dead in a treſpaſſes and ſinnes,

1 Hee declareth againe the greatneſs of Gods good will, by comparing that miſerable ſtate wherein we are borne, with that dignitie whereunto we are advanced by God the Father in Chriſt. So that he deſcribeth that condition in ſuch ſort, that he faith, that touching ſpirituall motions wee are not onely borne halfe dead, but wholy and altogether dead.

✣ Col. 2. 13.

2 3 Wherein, in times paſt ye walked, 4 according to the courſe of this worlde, and b after the prince that ruleth in the aire, even the ſpirit, that now 5 worketh in the c children of diſobedience.

3 6 Among whome we alſo had our converſation in time paſt in the luſtes of our d fleſh, in fulfilling the will of the fleſh, and of the minde, and 7 were by nature the e children of wrath, as well as f others.

4 8 But God which is rich in mercie, through his great love wherewith he loved us,

5 Even when wee were deade by ſinnes, hath quickened us together in Chriſt, by whoſe grace ye are ſaved.

6 And hath raiſed us up g together, and made us ſit together in the heavenly places in Chriſt Ieſus.

a Looke Rom. 6. 2.

11 Now he commeth at length to the formall cauſe, that is to ſay, to vocation or preaching of the Goſpel, whereby God executeth that eternall counſell of our free reconciliation and ſalvation in Chriſt. And putting in place of the Goſpel all wiſedome and underſtanding, he ſheweth how excellent it is.

k By which gracious goodneſſe and bountifulneſſe.

l In perfect and ſound wiſedome.

m For unleſſe the Lord had opened unto us that myſterie, we could never have ſo much as dreamed of it out ſelves.

13 Not onely the election, but alſo the vocation proceedeth of meere grace

14 The Father exhibiteth and gave Chriſt, who is the head of all the elect unto the world, at that time which was convenient, according as he moſt wiſely diſpoſed all times from everlaſting. And Chriſt is he in whome all the elect from the beginning of the worlde, (otherwiſe wandering and ſeparated from God) are gathered together: of which ſome were then in heaven when hee came into the earth, (to wit, ſuch as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being founde upon the earth, were gathered together of him and the reſt dayly gathered together.

n The faithfull are ſayd to be gathered together in Chriſt, becauſe they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

15 He applyeth ſeverally the benefite of vocation to the beleeving Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that even they alſo may not attribute their ſalvation neither to themſelves, nor to their ſtocke, nor to any other thing, but to the onely gracious and mercie of God, both becauſe they were called, and alſo becauſe they were firſt called.

o All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, wee are not ſtockes, for hee giveth us grace both to will and to be able to doe thoſe things that are good, Philip. 2. 13.

p Hee ſpeaketh of the Iewes.

16 Nowe hee maketh the Epheſians (or rather all the Gentiles equall to the Iewes, becauſe that notwithſtanding they came laſt, yet being called by the ſame Goſpell, they embraced it by faith, and were ſealed up with the ſame ſpirite which is the pledge of election, untill the inheritance it ſelfe be ſeene, that in them alſo the glorie of God might ſhine fourth, and be manifeſted.

q That worde which is trueth indeede, becauſe it commeth from God.

r This is a borrowed kinde of ſpreche taken of a ſeale, which being put to any thing, maketh a difference betweene thoſe things that are authenticall, and others that are not.

ſ With that Spirite, which bringeth not the Law, but the promiſe of free adoption.

t Full and perfect.

17 Hee returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of thoſe things that went before: the firſt is, that all good things come to us from God the Father in Chriſt, and by Chriſt, that for them he may be praiſed of us. The ſecond is that all thoſe things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charitie) are increaſed in us by certaine degrees, ſo that we muſt deſire increaſe of his grace from whome wee have the beginning, and of whom we hope for the end.

18 The cauſes of faith, are God the Father lightning our minds with his holy ſpirit, that we may embrace Chriſt opened unto us in the Goſpel, to the obtaining of everlaſting life, and the ſetting fooreth of Gods glorie.

u Full of maieſtie.

x For it is not enough for us to have knowen God once, but we muſt know him everie day more and more.

y What bleſſings they are which he calleth you to hope for whome he calleth to Chriſt.

19 The excellencie of faith is declared by the effects: becauſe the mightie power of God is ſet foorth and ſhewed therein.

✻ Chap. 3. 7. col. 2. 12.

b Looke Rom. 6. 2.

So then he calleth them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortalitie of them which are damned is no life: ſo this knitting together of bodie and ſoule is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the Spirit of God.

a He ſheweth the cauſe of death, to wit, ſinnes.

3 He proveth by the effects that all were ſpiritually dead.

4 He proveth this evil to be univerſall: in ſomuch as all are ſlaves of Satan.

b At the pleaſure of the prince.

5 Men are therefore ſlaves to Satan, becauſe they are willingly rebellious againſt God.

c They are called the children of diſobedience, which are given to diſobedience.

6 After that hee hath ſeverally condemned the Gentiles, hee confeſſeth that the Iewes, amongſt whome he numbreth himſelfe, are not a whit better.

d By the name of fleſh in the ſcripture, hee meaneth the whole man, which he deuideth into two parts: into the fleſh, which is the part that the Philoſophers terme without reaſon, and into the thought, which they call reaſonable: ſo that he leaveth nothing in man halfe dead: but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the ſonne of wrath.

7 The concluſion: All men are borne ſubiect to the wrath and curſe of God.

e Men are ſaide to be children of wrath paſſively, that is to ſay, guiltie of everlaſting death by the iudgement of God, who is angrie with them.

f Prophane people which know not God.

8 Now hereof followeth another member of the compariſon, declaring our excellencie: to wit, that by the vertue of Chriſt we are delivered from that death, and made partakers of eternall life, to the end that at length we may reigne with him. And by divers and ſundry meanes hee beareth this into their heads, that the efficient cauſe of this benefite is the free mercie of God: & Chriſt himſelfe is the materiall cauſe: and faith is the inſtrument which alſo is the free gift of God: and the end is Gods glorie.

g To wit, as hee addeth after ward in Chriſt, for as yet this is not fulfilled in us, but onely in our head, by whoſe Spirit we have begun to die to ſinne, and live to God, untill that worke be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are as ſure of that we looke for, as we are of that we have received alreadie.

7 That he might shew in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnes toward us in Christ Iesus.

8 For by [b] grace are yee saved through faith, and that not of your selves. it is the gift of God,

9 9 Not of workes, least any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are [i] his workemanship created in Christ Iesus unto good workes, which God hath ordained, that we should walke in them.

11 10 Wherefore remember that yee beeing in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and [k] called vncircumcision of them, which are [l] called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands,

12 That ye were, I say, at that time [m] without Christ, and were [n] aliants from the common-wealth of Israel, and were [✣] strangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 11 But now in Christ Iesus, yee which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Christ.

14 12 For hee is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,

15 [✣] In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commaundements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one new man in himselfe, so making peace,

16 And that hee might reconcile both unto God in [o] one bodie by his crosse, and [p] slay hatred thereby,

17 13 And came, and preached peace to you which were afarre off, and to them that were neere,

18 For [q] through him we both have an entrance unto the Father by one Spirit.

19 14 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the houshold of God.

20 15 And are built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the [r] chiefe corner stone, 21 In whome all the building [s] coupled together, groweth unto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whome yee also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

FOr [1] this cause, I Paul [a] the [2] prisoner of Iesus Christ for you Gentiles.

2 If yee have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is given me to youwarde.

3 That is, that God by revelation hath shewed this mysterie unto mee (as I wrote above in fewe wordes,

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may knowe mine understanding in the mysterie of Christ.)

5 Which in [b] other ages was not opened unto the sonnes of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also, and of the same [b] bodie, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gifte of the grace of God given unto mee through the effectuall working of his power.

8 Even unto mee the least of all Saints is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ.

9 And to make cleare unto all men what the fellowship of the mysterie is, which from the beginning of the world hath beene hid in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ,

10 [2] To the intent, that nowe unto principalities and powers in heavenly places, might be knowen by the Church the [c] manifold wisedome of God.

11 According to the [d] eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord

12 By whome we have boldnesse and entrance with confidence, by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glorie.

14 3 For this cause I bowe my knees unto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ,

15 (Of whome is named the whole [e] familie in heaven and in earth.)

16 That he might graunt you according to the [f] riches of his glorie, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the [g] inner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith:

18 That yee, beeing rooted and grounded in [h] love, may be able to comprehend with all Saints, [i] what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to knowe the [k] love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all [l] fulnesse of God.

20 4 Vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding aboundantly above all that wee aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in us,

21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Iesus, throughout all generations for ever, Amen.

h So then, Grace, that is, of say, the gift of God, and faith, doe stand one with another, to which two these are contrarie. To be saved by our selves, or by our workes. Therefore what meane they which would ioyne together things of so contrarie nature?

9 He taketh away expresly and namely from our workes the praise of iustification, seeing that the good workes themselves are the effects of grace in us.

i He speaketh here of grace, and not of nature: therefore he the workes never so good, looke what they are, they are it of grace.

10 Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not only as the Iewes, by nature, but also after an especiall sort, strangers and without God: and therefore they ought so much the rather remember that same so great a benefite of God.

k You were called no otherwise then Gentiles, that all the world might witnesse of your uncleannesse.

l Of the Iewes which were knowe from you by the marke of circumcision, the marke of the covenant.

m Hee beginneth first with Corist, who was the end of all the promises n You had no right of title, to the common-wealth of Israel.

✣ Rom. 9.4.

11 Christ is the onely bond of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God.

12 As by the ceremonies and worship appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were divided from the Gentiles, so now Corist, having broken downe the partition wall, ioyneth them both together, both in himselfe, and be wixt themselves, and to God. Whereby it followeth that whosoever stablished the ceremonies of the Lawe, maketh the grace of Christ void: and of none effect.

✣ Col 2.14.

o He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Law, which represented that true and one y sacrifice.

p For hee destroyed death by death, and fastened it as it were to the crosse.

13 The preaching of the Gospell is an effectuall instrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles.

q Christ is the gate as it were, by whome we come to the Father, and the holy Ghost is as it were our lodes man who leadeth us.

14 The conclusion: The Gentiles are taken in to the fellowship of salvation. And he describeth the excellencie of the Church, calling it the citie and house of God.

15 The Lord committed the doctrine of salvation, first to the Prophets, and then to the Apostles the ende whereof, and matter as it were and substance is Christ. Therefore that is indeede the true and Catholique Church, which is builded upon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spirituall temple consecrated to God.

r That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the buildings.

s So that God is the workeman not only of the foundation, but also of the whole building.

1 He maintaineth his Apostleship against the offence of the crosse, whereon also he taketh an argument to confirme himselfe, affirming that hee was not onely appointed an Apostle of the mercie of God but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on every side to salvation: because God had so determined it from the beginning. Although he deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsell.

a These wordes, The prisoner of Iesus Corist are taken passively, that is to say, I Paul am cast into prison for maintaining the glory of Christ.

b He meaneth not that none knewe the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very few knew of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets, had it revealed unto them very darkely, and undersigned.

2 The vnlooked for calling of the Gentiles was as it were a glasse to the heavenly Angels, wherein they might behold the marvelous wisedome of God.

c God never had but one way onely, to save men by: but it had divers fashions and formes.

d Which was before all beginnings.

3 He teacheth by his owne example, that the efficicie of the doctrine dependeth upon the grace of God, and therefore wee ought to praye prayers with the preaching and hearing of the worde: which are needfull not onely to them which are youngings in religion, even to the oldest also, that they growing up more and more by faith in Christ, beeing confirmed with all spirituall giftes may be grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable love, wherewith God the Father hath loved us in Christ, seeing that the whole family, whereof part is already received into heaven and part is yet to be on earth, dependeth upon that adoption of the heavenly Father, to his onely Sonne.

e All that whole people which hath but one houshold Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Corist.

l Which passeth all the capacitie of man: so, to comprehend it fully in his minde: for otherwise who so hath the Spirite of God, perceiveth so much (according to the measure that God hath given him) as is sufficient to salvation.

m So that we have aboundant riches, whatsoever things are requisite to make us perfite with God.

CHAP. IIII.

These three laſt Chapters containe precepts of maners. 1 He exhorteth them to mutuall loue. 7 Sundry giftes are therefore beſtowed of God, 16 that the Church may be built up. 18 Hee calleth them from the vanitie of infidels, 25 from lying, 29 and from filthy talke.

1 Another part of the Epiſtle containing precepts of Chriſtian life, the ſumme whereof is this, that every man behaue himſelfe as it is meete for ſo excellent grace of God.

I Therefore, 1 being priſoner in the Lord, pray you that yee walke worthy of the a vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 With all humbleneſſe of mind, and meekeneſſe, with b long ſuffering, ſupporting one another through loue,

3 Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptiſme,

6 One God and Father of all, which is c aboue all, and d through all, and e in you all.

7 But vnto every one of us is giuen grace according to the meaſure of the f gift of Chriſt.

8 Wherefore he ſaith, When he aſcended vpon hie, he ledgcaptivity captive, & gaue gifts vnto mē.

9 (Nowe, in that hee aſcended, what is it but that hee had alſo deſcended firſt into the h loweſt parts of the earth?

10 Hee that deſcended, is even the ſame that aſcended, farre above all heauens, that hee might i fill k all things.)

11 6 Hee therefore gaue ſome to be l Apoſtles, and ſome m Prophets, and ſome n Euangeliſts, and ſome o Paſtours, and Teachers,

12 7 For the repairing of the Saints, for the worke of the miniſterie, and for the edification of the p body of Chriſt,

13 8 Till we all meete together (in the q vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the meaſure of the r age the fulneſſe of Chriſt:

14 9 That wee henceforth be no more children, 10 wauering and caried about with every winde of doctrine, by the f deceite of men, and

2 With the ſame glory, where vnto we are called. Therefore whoſoeuer breaketh charitie, breaketh all theſe things aſunder. c Who only hath the chiefe authority ouer the Church. d Who onely powreth forth his prouidence, through all the members of the Church. e Who only is ioyned together with us in Chriſt. 5 Heeteacheth us, that we in deede are all one body, and that all good giftes proceede from Chriſt onely, who reigneth in heaven, hauing mightily conquered all his enemies; from whence he heapeth all giftes vpon his Church:) but yet notwithſtanding theſe giftes are diuerſly and ſundry wayes diuided according to his will and pleaſure, and therefore every man ought to be content with that meaſure that God hath giuen him, and to beſtow it to the common profite of the whole body. f Which Chriſt hath giuen. g A multitude of captiues. h Lowne to the earth, which is the loweſt part of the world. i Fill with his giftes. k The Church. 6 Firſt of all he reckoneth vp the Eccleſiaſticall functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a ſeaſon, as Apoſtles, Prophets, Euangeliſtes, and partly ordinary and perpetuall, as Paſtours and Doctours. l The Apoſtles were theſe twelue, vnto whom Paul was afterward added, whoſe office was to plant Churches throughout all the world. m The Prophets office was one of the chiefeſt, which were men of a marueilous wiſedome, and ſome of them could foretell things to come. n Theſe the Apoſtles vſed as fellowes in the execution of their office, being not able to anſwere all places themſelues. o Paſtours are they which gouerne the Church, and Teachers are they which gouerne the ſchooles. 7 He ſheweth the ende of Eccleſiaſticall functions, to wit, that by the miniſterie of men all the Saints may ſo growe vp together, that they may make one myſticall body of Chriſt. p The Church. 8 The vſe of this miniſterie is perpetuall ſo long as we are in this world that is, vntill that time that hauing put off the fleſh, and throughly and perfitely, agreeing betwixt our ſelues, we ſhall be ioyned with Chriſt our head, which thing is done by that knowledge of the Sonne of God increaſing in vs, and he himſelfe by litle and litle growing vp in vs vntill we come to be a perfit man, which ſhall be in the world to come, when God ſhall be all in all. q In that moſt neere coniunction which is knit and faſtened together by faith. r Chriſt is ſaid to growe vp to full age, not in himſelfe, but in vs. 9 Betwixt our childhood (that is to ſay, a very weake ſtate, while as we doe yet altogether wauer) and our perfitage, which we ſhall haue at length in another world, there is a meane, to wit, our youth, and ſtedie going forward to perfection. 10 He compareth them which reſt not themſelues vpon the word of God, to litle boates which are toſſed hither and thither with the doctrines of men, as it were with contrary windes, and therewithall forewarneth them that it commeth to paſſe not onely by the lightneſſe of mans braine, but alſo by the craftineſſe of certaine, which make as it were an art of it, s With theſe vncertaine chances which toſſe mans to and fro.

1 with craftines, whereby they lay in wait to deceiue. t By the deceit of thoſe men which are very well practiſed in deceiuing of others.

15 11 But let us follow the trueth in loue, and in all things, grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Chriſt.

16 By whom all the bodie being coupled and knit together by euery iounct, for ſ furniture thereof (according to the u effectuall power, which it in the meaſure of euery part) receiueth x increaſe of the body, vnto the edifying of it ſelfe in y loue.

17 12 This I ſay therefore and teſtifie in the Lord, that yee henceforth walk not as ✣ other Gentiles walke, in z vanitie of their mind.

18 Hauing their vnderſtanding darkened, and being ſtrangers from the a life of God through the ignorance that is in them, becauſe of the hardneſſe of their heart:

19 Which being b paſt feeling, haue giuen themſelues vnto wantonneſſe, to worke all vncleanneſſe, euen with c greedineſſe.

20 13 But ye haue not ſo learned Chriſt,

21 If ſo be ye haue heard him, and haue bene taught by him, d as the trueth is in Ieſus,

22 ✣ That is, that yee caſt off, concerning the converſation in time paſt, e that olde man, which is corrupt through the deceiueable luſts,

23 And be renewed in the f ſpirit of your mind,

24 And put on the new man, which, g after God is created vnto h righteouſneſſe, and i true holines.

25 14 Wherefore caſt of lying, and ſpeake euerie man trueth vnto his neighbour: for we are members one of another.

26 15 Be k angry, but ſinne not: let not the ſunne goe downe l vpon your wrath,

27 Neither giue place to the deuill.

28 16 Let him that ſtole, ſteale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his hands the thing which is m good, that hee may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.

29 17 Let no n corrupt cõmunication proceed out of your mouthes: but y which is good to the vſe of edifying, ý it may miniſter o grace vnto the hearers.

30 18 And grieue not the holy Spirit of God, u Of Chriſt, who in maner of the ſoule, quickeneth all the members.

x Such increaſe as is meete the body ſhould haue.

y Charitie is the knitting of the lims together.

12 He deſcendeth to the fruits of Chriſtian doctrine, and reaſoneth firſt vpon the principles of manners, and actions, ſetting down a moſt graue

comparíſon betweene the children of God, and them which are not regenerate: For in theſe men all the powers of the minde are corrupted and their minde is giuen to vanity, and their ſenſes are darkened with moſt groſſe miſtinneſſe, and their affections are ſo accuſtomed by little and little to wickednеſſe, that at length they run headlong into all vnclеannes, being vtterly deſtitute of all iudgement. ✣ Rom. 1. 21. f If the nobleſt parts of the ſoule be corrupt, what is man but corruption only? g Whereby God liſteth to them. h Void of all iudgement. c They ſtriue to paſſe one another as though there had bin ſome gaine to be gotten by it. 13 Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true and lively knowledge of Chriſt, which haue other principles of their doings far different, to wit, holy and honeſt deſires, and a mind clean changed by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt, from whence proceed alſo like effects, as a iuſt and holy life in deed. d As they haue learned which acknowledge Chriſt indeed and in good earneſt. ✣ Col. 3. 8. e Your ſelues. f Where there ought to be bene the greateſt force of reaſon, there is the greateſt corruption of all which waſteth all things.

g After the image of God. h The effect and end of the new creation. i Not ſtained nor counterfeit. 14 He commendeth ſeuerally certain peculiar Chriſtian vertues and firſt of all he requireth trueth (that is to ſay, ſincere maners) condemning all deceit and diſſembling, becauſe we are born one for another. 15 He teacheth vs to bridle our anger in ſuch ſort, that although it be not, yet that it brake not out, and that it be ſtraitwayes quenched before we ſleepe, leſt Satan taking occaſion to giue vs euill counſel through the wicked counſeller, deſtroy vs. k If it ſo fall out, that you be angrie, yet ſin not: that is, bridle your anger, and do not wickedly put that in execution, which you haue wickedly conceiued. l Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an atonement quickely for all matters. 16 Hee deſcendeth from the heart to the hands condemning theft: and becauſe that men which giue themſelues to this wickednes, vſe to pretend poverty, he ſheweth that labor is a good remedy againſt poverty, which God bleſſeth in ſuch ſort that they which labour haue alwayes ſome ouerplus to helpe other, ſo far it is from this that they are conſtrained to ſteale other mens goods: m By labouring in things that are holy, and profitable to his neighbour. 17 He bridleth the tongue alſo, teaching vs ſo to temper our talke, that our hearers minde be not only not deſtroyed, but alſo inſtructed. n Word for word, rotten. o By grace he meaneth that, whereby men may profit to the going on forward, in godlines and loue. 18 A generall precept againſt all exceſſe of affections which dwell in the part of the mind: which they call, Angry: and he fetteth againſt them the contrary meanes. And vſeth a moſt vehement preface, how we ought to take heed that wee grieue not the holy Spirite of God through our immoderatneſſe and intemperancie, who dwelleth in vs to this ende to moderate all our affections.

by whom ye are sealed unto ☧ day of redemption.

31 Let all bitternesse, and anger, and wrath, crying, and evill speaking be put away from you, with all maliciousnesse.

32 Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiving one another, 19 even as God for Christes sake, freely forgave you.

CHAP. V.

3 Least, in those vices which he reprehended, they should set light by his admonition, 5 he terrifieth them by denouncing severe iudgement, 8 and stirreth them forward: 15 Then hee descendeth from generall lessons of manners, 31 to the particular dueties of wives, 15 and husbands.

BE yee therefore followers of God, as deare children.

2 * And walke in love, even as Christ hath loved us, and hath given himselfe for us, to be an offering and a sacrifice of a sweete swelling savour to God.

3 ✠ But fornication, and all uncleanesse, or covetousnes, let it not be once named among you, as it becommeth Saints,

4 Neither filthinesse, neither fooliſh talking, neither [a] iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giving of thankes.

5 [1] For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither uncleane person, nor covetous person, which is an [b] idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ, and of God.

6 * Let no man deceive you with vaine words: for, for such things commeth the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.

7 [3] Be not therefore companions with them.

8 For ye were once darkenesse, but are now [c] light in the Lord: walke as children of light.

9 (For the fruit of the [d] Spirit is in all goodnesse, and righteousnesse, and trueth.)

10 Approoving that which is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And have no fellowship with the unfruitfull works of darknes, but even [e] reproove them rather.

12 For it is shame even to speake of the things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things when they are reproved of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.

14 Wherefore [f] hee saieth, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand up from the [g] dead, and Christ shall give thee light.

15 [4] Take heede therefore that yee walke circumspectly, not as fooles, but as ✠ wise,

16 [h] Redeeming the season: for ☧ [i] daies are evill.

17 ✲ Wherefore, be yee not unwise, but understand what the will of the Lord is.

18 [5] And be not drunken with wine, wherein is [k] excesse: but be fulfilled with the Spirit.

19 Speaking unto your selves in Psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing and making melodie to the Lord in your [l] hearts,

20 Giving thankes alwayes for all things unto God even the Father, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, 21 [6] Submitting your selves one to another in the feare of God.

22 ¶ ✠ [7] Wives, submit your selves unto your husbands, [8] as unto the Lord.

23 ✠ [9] For the husband is the wives head, even as Christ is the head of the Church, [10] and the same is the Saviour of his body.

24 [11] Therefore as the Church is in subiection to Christ, even so let the wives be to their husbands in every thing.

25 ¶ * [12] Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the Church, and gave himselfe for it,

26 [13] That he might [m] sanctifie it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the [n] word,

27 That he might make it unto himselfe a glorious Church, [o] not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

28 [14] So ought men to love their wives, as their owne bodies: he that loveth his wife, loveth himselfe.

29 For no man ever yet hated his [p] owne flesh, but nourished and cherisheth it, even as the Lord doeth the Church,

30 For we are members of his bodie, [q] of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 * For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall [r] cleave to his wife, and they twaine shall be one flesh.

32 [15] This is a great secret, but I speake concerning Christ, and concerning the Church.

33 [16] Therefore every one of you, doe ye so: let every one love his wife, even as himselfe, and let the wife see that she feare her husband.

19 An argument taken from the example of Christ, most grave & vehement, both for pardoning of those iniuries which have bene done unto us by our greatest enemies, and much more for having consideration of the miserable, & vsing moderation and gentle behaviour towards all men.

1 Now he commeth to another kind of affections, which is in that part of the mind, which men call covetous or desirous: and he reprehended fornication, covetousnesse, and iesting very sharpely.

a Iestes which men cast one at another: that no lightnesse be seene, nor evill example given, nor any offence mooved by evill words or backbiting.

2 Because these sinnes are such that the most part of men count them not for sinnes, he awaketh the godly, to the end they should so much the more take heede to themselves from them, as most hurtfull plagues.

b A bondslave to idolatrie, for the covetous man thinketh that his life standeth in his goods.

k All kind of riot, ioyned with all manner of filthines and shamefulnesse.

✠ Colos. 3,18. titus 2,5. 1 pet. 3,1.

7 Nowe he descendeth to a familie, dividing orderly all the parts of a familie. And he saith that the duetie of wives consisteth herein, to be obedient to their husbands.

8 The first argument, for they cannot be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the author of this subiection.

✠ 1. Cor 11 3.

9 A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimonie, as Christ is the head of the Church.

10 Another argument: Because the good estate of the wife dependeth of the man, so that this sub-follow evill examples, therefore the Apostle warneth the godly to remember alwayes that the other are but as it were darkenesse, and that they themselves are as it were light. And therefore the other commit all villanie (as men are wont in the darke) but they ought not onely not to follow their examples, but also (as the property of the light is) reproove their darkenesse and to walke so (having Christ that true light going before them, as it becommeth wise men. c The faithfull are called light, both because they have the true light in them which lighteneth them, and also because they give light to other, inasmuch, that their honest conversation reproveth the life of wicked men. d By whose force we are made light in the Lord. e Make them open to all the world, by your good life. f The scripture, or God in the Scripture. g He speaketh of the death of sinne. 4 The worse and more corrupt that the maners of this world are, the more watchfull ought we to be against all occasions, and respect nothing but the will of God. ✠ Colos. 4,5. h This is a metaphore taken from the merchants: who preferre the least profit that may be, before their pleasures. i The times are troublesome and sharpe. ✲ Rom. 12,2. 1 thess. 4 3. 5 He setteth the sober and holy assemblies of the faithfull, against the dissolute bankets of the unfaithfull, in which the praises of the onely Lord must ring, be it in prosperitie or adversitie.

*mission is not onely iust, but also verie profitable: as also the salvation of the Church is of Christ, although farre otherwise 11 The conclusion of the wives duetie towardes their husbands. * Colos. 3,19. 12 The husbandes duetie towardes their wives, is to love them as themselves, of which love, the love of Christ toward his Church is a lively patterne. 13 Because many men pretende the infirmities of their wives to excuse their owne hardnesse and cruelties, the Apostle willeth us to marke what manner of Church Christ gate, when hee ioyned it to himselfe, and how hee doeth not onely not loathe all her filth and uncleannesse, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleannesse, untill hee have wholly purged it.*

*m Make it holy. n Through the promise of free iustification and sanctification in Christ, received by faith. o The Church, as it is considered in it selfe, shall not bee without wrinkle, before it come to the marke it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is cleane and without wrinkle. 14 Another argument: Every man loveth himselfe, even of nature: therefore hee striveth against iust nature that loveth not his wife: hee prooveth the consequent, first by the mysticall knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who sayeth, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be devided p His owne bodie. q Hee alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our coupling together with Christ. which is wrought by faith, but is sealed by the Sacrament of the supper. * Genes. 2,24. mat. 19,5. mark. 10,7. 1 corinth. 6,16. r Looke Matth. 19 5 15 That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives is) hee sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spirituall and such as farre differeth from the common capacitie of man: as which consisteth by the vertue of the Spirite, and not of the flesh by faith, and by no naturall band. 16 The conclusion both of the husbands duetie towards his wife, and of the wives towrad her husband.*

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee sheweth the dueties of children, 5 servants, 9 and masters: 10 Then he speaketh of the fierce battell that the faithfull have, 12 and what weapons wee must vse in the same. 21 In the end he commendeth Tychicus.

Children,

1 He commeth to another part of a familie, and sheweth that the duetie of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience unto them. * Colosſ. 3. 20.
2 The first argument: because God hath so appointed: whereupon it followeth also, that children are so far forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swarve from the true worship of God.
a For the Lord is authour of all fatherhood, and therefore we must yeeld such obedience as he will have us.
3 The second argument: because this obedience is most iust.
♣ Exod. 20, 12. deut. 5, 16. eccleſ. 3, 9. matth. 15, 4. marke 7, 10. 4 A proofe of the first argument. 5 The third argument, taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: because the Lord vouchsafed this commandement amongst the rest, of a speciall blessing. b With a specially promise: for otherwise the second commandement hath a promise of mercy to a thousand generations, but that promise is generall. 6 It is the duetie of fathers to vse their fatherly authoritie moderately, and to Gods glory. c Such informations and precepts, as being taken out of Gods booke are holy and acceptable to him. 7 Now he ascendeth to the third part of a familie, to wit, to the duetie both of the masters and of the servants. And he sheweth that the duetie of servants consisteth in an heartie love and reverence to their master. * Colosſ. 3, 22. titus 2, 9. 1. pet. 2, 18. 8 He mitigateth the sharpenesse of service, in that they are spiritually free, notwithstanding the same, and yet that spirituall freedome taketh not away corporall service, insomuch that they cannot be Christs, unlesse they serve their masters willingly and faithfully, so farre forth as they may with safe conscience. d With carefull reverence: for slavish feare is not allowable, much lesse in Christian servants. 9 To cut off occasion of all pretences, hee teacheth us that it is Gods will that some are either borne or made servants, and therefore they must respect Gods will, although their service be never so hard. e Being mooved with a reverence to God ward, as though ye served God himselfe. 10 Although they serve unkinde and cruell masters, yet the obedience of servants is no lesse acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free. 11 It is the duetie of masters to use the authoritie that they have over their servants modestly, and holily, seeing that they in another respect have a common master, which is in heaven, who will iudge both the bond and the free. ♣ Deut. 10, 17. 2. chro. 16, 7. iob 34, 19 acts 10, 34. rom. 2, 11. gal. 2, 6. colosſ. 3, 25. 1. pet. 1, 17. f Either of freedome or bondage. 10 Hee concludeth the other parts of this Epistle with a grave exhortation, that all be ready, and fight constantly, trusting to spirituall weapons, untill their enemies be cleane put to flight. And first of all hee warneth us to take the armour of God, whereby onely our enemy may be dispatched.

CHildren, 1 * obey your parents a in the a Lord, 3 for this is right.
2 ♣ 4 Honour thy father and mother (5 which is the first commandement with b promise.)
3 That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth.
4 6 And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in instruction and c information of the Lord.
5 7 *Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters, 8 according to the flesh, with d feare and trembling in singlenesse of your hearts, as unto Christ,
6 Not with service to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the servants of Christ, 9 doing the will of God from the heart.
7 With good will, serving the e Lord, and not men,
8 10 And know ye that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall hee receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free,
9 11 And ye masters, doe the same things unto them, putting away threatning: and know that euen your master also is in heaven, neither is there *f respect of person with him.
10 ¶ 12 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.
11 Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the devil.
12 14 For we wrestle not against flesh & g blood, but against ♣ h principalities, against powers, and against the worldly governours, the princes of the darkenesse of this world, against spirituall wickednesse, v which are in the high places.
13 14 For this cause take unto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to resist in the i evill day, and having finished all things, stand fast.
14 Stand therefore, and your loines girded about with verity, and having on the breastplate of righteousnesse, 15 And your feet shod with the k preparation of the Gospel of peace.
16 Above all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith yee may quench all the fierie darts of the wicked,
17 And take the helmet of Salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.
18 And pray alwayes with all maner prayer and supplication in the l spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseverance & supplication for all Saints,
19 And for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel,
20 Whereof I am the ambassadour in bonds, that therein I may speake boldly, as I ought to speake.
21 ¶ 15 But that yee may also know mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull minister in the Lord, shall shew you of all things.
22 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts.
23 Peace be with the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
24 Grace be with all them which love our Lord Iesus Christ, to their m immortality, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome vnto the Ephesians, and sent by Tychicus.

11 Secondly he declareth that our chiefest and mightiest enemies are invisible, that we may not thinke that our chiefest conflict is with mo. g Against men, which are of a fraile and brittle nature, against which are set spirituall subtilties, more mighty then the other by a thousand parts.
* Chap. 2, 2.
h He giveth these names to the evill angels, reason of the effectes which they worke: not that they are able to doe the same of themselves, but because God giveth them the bridle.
14 Hee sheweth that these enemies are put to flight with the only armour of God, to wit, with uptightenes of conscience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Gospel, faith, and to be short, with the word of God, and using dayly earnest prayer for the health of the Church, and especially, for the constancie of the true, godly, and valiant ministers of the word.
i Looke Chapter 5, 16.
k That the preparation of the Gospel may be as it were shoes to you and is it very fitly called the Gospell of peace, for that seeing we have to go to God through most dangerous ranks of enemies, this may incourage us to goe on manfully, in that we know by the doctrine of the Gospell, that we take our iourney to God, who is at peace with us. l That holy prayers may proceed from the holy Spirit.
15 A familiar and very amiable declaration of his state, together with a solemne prayer, wherewith Paul is woont to end his Epistles.
m To life everlasting.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 Having testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he intreateth of himselfe and his bonds: 22 And prickеth them forward by his owne example, 27 and exhorteth them to vnity, 28 and patience.

1 The marke whereat he shooteth in this Epistle, is to confirme the Philippians by all meanes possible, not onely not to faint, but also to go forward. And first of all, he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to go forward: which thing he saith, he hopeth fully they will do, and that by the testimony of their lively charity, but in the meane season hee referreth all things to the grace of God. a By the Bishops are meant both the Pastours, which have the dispensation of the word and the Elders, that governe: and by Deacons are meant those that were afterward of the treasury of the Church, and had to looke unto the poore.

PAul 1 and Timotheus the servants of IESUS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Iesus, which are at Philippi, with the a Bishops and Deacons:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ:
3 I thanke my God, having you in perfect memorie,
4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse)
5 Because of the b fellowship which ye have in the Gospel, from the c first day unto now.
6 And I am perswaded of this same thing, that he that hath begunne this good worke in you, will performe it untill the d day of Iesus Christ,
7 As it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I have you in remembrance, that both in my e bands, and in my defence, and confirmation of the Gospell, you all were partakers of my f grace.

b Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel.
c Ever since I knew you.
d The Spirit of God will not forsake you unto the very latter end, untill your mortall bodies shall appeare before the iudge.

ment of Christ, to be glorified. e A true proofe of a true knitting together with Christ.
f He calleth his bands, grace, as though he had received some singular benefit.

8 2 For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.

9 3 And this I pray that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement.

10 That yee may allow those things which are best, that ye may be pure, and without offence, until the day of Christ,

11 Filled with the g fruits of righteousnesse, which are by Iesus Christ unto the glorie and praise of God.

12 ¶ 4 I would ye understood, brethren, that the things which have come unto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bandes h in Christ are famous thorowout all the i iudgement hall, and in all other places.

14 Insomuch that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankely speake the k Word.

15 Some preach Christ even through envy and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention, and not l purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bands.

17 But the others of love, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospel.

18 5 What then: yet Christ is preached all maner wayes, whether it be under a m pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioy: yea, and will ioy.

19 For I know that this shall turne to my salvation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ.

20 6 As I fervently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to me both in life and in death advantage.

22 7 And whether to live in the n flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I know not.

33 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loosed, and to be with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Nevertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith,

26 That yee may more abundantly reioyce in IESUS CHRIST for me, by my comming to you againe.

27 ¶ Onely let your conversation be as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or els be absent, I may heare of your matters, that ye o continue in one spirit, and in one minde, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 9 And in nothing feare your adversaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of salvation, and that of God.

29 10 For unto you it is given for Christ, that not onely ye should beleeve in him, but also suffer for his sake.

30 11 Having the same fight, which yee saw in me, and now heare to be in me.

2 Hee declareth his good will towards them, therewithall shewing by what meanes chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit: by continuall prayer.

3 Hee sheweth what thing wee ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may be able to discerne things that differ one from another) and also in charity, that even to the end we may give our selves to good works indeed, to the glory of God by Iesus Christ.

g If righteousnesse be the tree, and good workes the fruits, then must the Papists needes be deceived, when they say that works are the cause of righteousnesse.

4 He preventeth the offence that might come by his persecution, whereby divers tooke occasion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he answereth, that God hath blessed his imprisonment in such wise, that he is by that meanes become more famous, and the dignitie of the Gospel by this occasion is greatly inlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet indeed.

h For Christ his sake.

i In the Emperours court.

k The Gospel is called the word, to set forth the excellencie of it.

l Not with a pure minde: for otherwise their doctrine was pure.

5 He sheweth by setting foorth his owne example, that the ende of our afflictions is true ioy: and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Christ, which he giveth to them that aske it.

m Under a goodly colour and shew: for they made Christ a cloake for their ambition and envie.

6 We must continue even to the end, with great confidence, having nothing before our eyes but Christes glory onely, whether wee live or die.

7 An example of a true shepheard, who maketh more account how he may profit his sheepe, then he doth of any commodity of his owne whatsoever.

n To live in this mortall body.

8 Having set downe those things before, in maner of a Preface, hee descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all adversitie in such sort, that they admit nothing unworthie the profession of the Gospel.

o The word signifieth, to stand fast, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast, and shrinkle not a foot.

9 We ought not to be discouraged, but rather incouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine, and practise against us: seeing that they are certaine witnesses from God himselfe, both of our salvation, and of the destruction of the wicked.

10 He prooveth that his saying, that persecution is a tooken of our salvation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth upon his owne, as he doth the gift of faith.

11 Now hee sheweth for what purpose hee made mention of his afflictions.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them above all things, 3 to humilitie, 6 and that by the example of Christ. 19 He promiseth to send Timotheus shortly unto them, 26 and excuseth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

IF 1 there be therefore any consolation in a Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any b compassion and mercie,

2 Fulfill my ioy, that ye be like minded, having the c same love, being of one accord, and of one iudgement.

3 That nothing be done through contention or vainglory, but that in meeknesse of mind every man esteeme other better then himselfe.

4 Looke not every man on his owne things, but every man also on the things of other men.

5 2 Let the same mind be in you that was even in Christ Iesus,

6 Who being in the d forme of God, e thought it no robbery to be f equall with God:

7 But he made himselfe of g no reputation, and tooke on him the h forme of a servant, and was made like unto men, and was found in shape as a man.

8 He humbled himselfe, and became obedient unto the death, even the death of the crosse.

9 3 Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and given him a i name above every name.

10 That at the Name of Iesus should k every knee bow, both of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth.

11 And that l every tongue should confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lord, unto the glory of God the Father.

12 4 Wherefore my beloved, as ye have alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence onely, but now much more in mine absence: so m make an end of your owne salvation with feare and trembling.

13 5 For it is God which worketh in you both n the will and the deed, even of his good pleasure.

14 6 Doe all things without * murmuring and reasonings,

1 A most earnest request to remoove all those things, whereby that great and speciall consent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it commeth to passe, that they separate themselves one from another.

a Any Christian comfort.

b If any feeling of inward love.

c Like love.

2 Hee setteth before them a most perfit example of all modestie and sweete conversation, Christ Iesus, whom we ought to follow with all our might: who abased himselfe so farre for our sakes, although he be above all, that hee tooke upon him the forme of a servant, to wit, our flesh willingly, subiect to all infirmities, even to the death of the crosse.

d Such as God, himselfe is, and therefore God, for there is none is all parts like to God, but God himselfe.

e Christ, that glorious and everlasting God, knew that he might rightfully and lawfully not appeare in the base flesh of man, but remaine with maiesty meet for God: yet he chose rather to debase himselfe.

f If he Sonne be equall to the Father, then is there of necessity an equallity, which Arrius, that Heretike, denieth: and if the Sonne be compared with the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius, that heretike, denieth.

g Hee brought himselfe from all things, as it were, to nothing.

h By taking our manhood upon him.

3 Hee sheweth the most glorious event of Christes submission, to teach us, that modestie is the true way to true praise and glorie.

i Dignity and renowme, and the matter with it.

k All creatures shall at length be subiect to Christ.

4 The conclusion: We must goe on to salvation with humilitie and submission, by the way of our vocation.

m He is sayd to make an end of his salvation, which runneth in the race of righteousnesse.

5 A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that wee have nothing in us praise worthy, but it commeth of the free gift of God, and is without us, for we have no abilitie or power, so much as to will well (much lesse to doe well) but onely of the free mercie of God.

n Why then, we are not stocks, but yet we doe not will well of nature, but onely because God hath made of our naughty will a good will.

6 He describeth modestie by the contrary effects of pride, teaching us that it is farre both from all malicious, and close or inward hatred, and also from open contentions and brawlings.

* 1. Pet. 4. 9.

15 7 That ye may be blamelesse, and pure: and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as ✣ lights in the world.

16 Holding forth the o worde of life, 8 that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I have not runne in vaine, neither have laboured in vaine.

17 Yea, and though I be offered up upon the p sacrifice, and service of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.

18 For the same cause also be yee glad, and reioyce with me.

19 9 And I trust in the Lord Iesus, to sende ✣ Timotheus shortly unto you, that I also may be of q good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I have no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 * For r all seeke their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christs.

22 But yee know the proofe of him, that as a sonne with the father, hee hath served with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send as soone as I know how it will goe with me,

24 And I trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessary to sende my brother Epaphroditus unto you my companion in labour, and fellow souldier, even your messenger, and he that ministred unto mee such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heavinesse, because ye had heard that he had bene sicke.

27 And no doubt hee was sicke, very neere unto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him onely, but on me also, least I should have sorow upon sorow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee should see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the lesse sorowfull.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the f worke of Christ hee was neere unto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that service which was lacking on your part toward me.

7 To be short, he requireth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightened with the word of God, they may shine in the darkenesse of this world

o The Gospel is called the word of life, because of the effects which it worketh.

8 Againe he pricketh them forward, setting before them his true Apostolike care that hee had of them, comforting them moreover, to the ende they should not be sorie for the greatnesse of his afflictions, no not although he should die to make perfite their oblation with his blood, as it were with a drinke offering.

p Or if he said, I brought you Philippians to Christ, my desire is that you present your selves a lively sacrifice to him, and then shall it not grive mee to be offered up as a drinke offering to accomplish this your spirituall offering.

9 Moreover hee confirmeth their mindes both by sending backe Epaphroditus unto them, whose fidelitie towards them, and great paines in helping him, hee commendeth: and also promising to sent Timothie shortly unto them, by whose presence they shall receive great commoditie, and hoping also to come himselfe shortly unto them, if God will.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee refuteth the vaine boasting of the false apostles. 7 and setteth Christ against them. 10 Hee setteth out the force and nature of faith, 13 that laying all things aside, they may be partakers of the Crosse of Christ, 18 the enemies whereof, hee noteth out.

1 A conclusion of those things which had bene before said, to wit, that they go forward cheerefully in the Lord.

MOreover, a my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. It grieveth me not to write the same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogs: beware of evill workers: beware of the b concision.

a It grieveth me not to write the same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heed and beware of false apostles, which ioyne Circumcision with Christ (that is to say, iustification by workes, with free iustification by faith) and braye into mens heads the ceremonies which are abolished: for true exercises of godlinesse and charitie. And hee calleth them dogges as prophane barkers, and evill workemen, because they neglected true workes and did not teach the true vse of them. To be short, he calleth them Concision, because it urging Circumcision, they cut off themselves and others from the Church.

b Which you have often times heard of mee. b Hee alludeth to Circumcision, of the name whereof whiles they boasted, they cut asunder the Church.

3 3 For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and have no confidence c in the flesh:

4 4 Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I.

5 Circumcised the eight day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Beniamin, * an Ebrew of the Ebrewes, ✣ by the Law a Pharise.

6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the Law, I was unrebukeable.

7 But the things that were d vantage unto me, the same I counted losse for Christes sake.

8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke e all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whom I have counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to be doung, that I might f winne Christ,

9 And might be found in g him, that is, h not having mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, even the righteousnesse which is of God through faith,

10 7 That I may i know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the 6 fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable unto his death,

11 If by any meanes I might attaine unto the k resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am I comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I have attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endevour my selfe unto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the marke, for the prise of the hie calling of God in Christ Iesus.

15 7 Let us therefore as many as be m perfect, be thus minded: and if yee be otherwise minded, God shall reveale even the same unto you.

16 Nevertheless, in that whereunto we are come, let us proceed by one rule, that wee may minde one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as ye have us for an ensample.

18 8 * For many walke, of whom I have tolde you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the crosse of Christ:

3 He sheweth that we ought to vse true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by the vertue of Christ, we may serve God in purite of life.

c In outward things, which pertaine nothing to the soule.

5 He doubteth not to prefer himselfe even according to the flesh, before those perverse hote vigers of the Law, that all men may know that he doeth with good iudgement of minde, lightly esteeme all those outward things: forsomuch as he lacketh nothing which hath Christ, nay, the confidence of our workes can not stand with the free iustification in Christ by faith.

✣ 2. Cor. 11. 22.

✣ Act. 23. 6.

d Which is accounted for vantage.

e He shutteth out all workes, as well these that go before, as those that come after faith.

f That in their place I might get Christ, & if a poore man become rich: so farre off am I from losing any thing.

g In Christ: for they that are found without Christ, are subiect to condemnation.

h That is, to be in Christ, to be found not in a mans owne righteousnesse, but cloathed with the righteousnesse of Christ imputed to him.

5 This is the end of righteousnesse by faith touching us, that by the vertue of his resurrection wee may escape from death. i That I may feele him indeed, and have a tryall of him. 6 The way to that eternall salvation is to follow Christ his steps, by afflictions and persecutions untill we come to Christ himselfe, who is our marke whereat we shoot, and receive that reward whereunto God calleth us in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlinesse against those vaine ceremonies of the Law, wherein the false apostles put the summe of godlinesse. k To life everlasting, which floweth the resurrection of the Saints. l For we runne not, but so farre forth, as we are layde holde on of Christ, that is, as God giveth us strength, and herwith us the way. 7 The conclusion of this exhortation standing upon three members: The one, that such as have profited in the trueth of this doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant, and understand not these things, and doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, and should be gently borne withall, untill they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteeme the false apostles by their fruits: wherein he doubteth not to set foorth himselfe for an example.

m He said before that he was not perfect. So that in this place he calleth them perfect, which have some what profited in the knowledge of Christ, and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude and ignorant, as he expoundeth himselfe in the next verse following.

8 Hee painteth out the false apostles in their colours, not upon malice or ambition, but with sorow and teares, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that is ioyned with affliction) they regard nothing els, but the commodities of this life, that is to say, that flowing in peace, quietnesse, and all worldly pleasures, they may live in great estimation amongst men: whose miserable end he foresaweth them of.

1 From particular exhortations, 5 he commeth to generall. 10 He ſaith that hee tooke ſuch ioy in their readineſſe to liberalitie, 12 that he will patiently beare the want.

THerefore, 1 my brethren, beloved and longed for, my ioy and my a crowne, ſo continue in the b Lord, ye beloved.

2 2 I pray Euodias, and beſeech Syntiche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

7 And the g peace of God which paſſeth all underſtanding, ſhall preſerve your h heartes and mindes in Chriſt Ieſus.

8 7 Furthermore, brethren, whatſoever things are true, whatſoever things i are honeſt, whatſoever things are iuſt, whatſoever things are pure, whatſoever things are worthy love, whatſoever things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praiſe, thinke on theſe things.

10 8 Nowe I reioyce alſo in the Lord greatly, that now at the laſt your care for me ſpringeth afreſh, wherein notwithſtanding ye were carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.

12 And I can be l abaſed, and I can abound: every where in all things I am m inſtructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to have want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Chriſt, which ſtrengtheneth me.

14 Notwithſtanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 9 And ye Philippians know alſo that in the n beginning of the Goſpel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with mee, concerning the matter of giving and receiving, but ye onely.

16 For even when I was in Theſſalonica, ye ſent once, and afterward againe for my neceſſitie.

17 10 Not that I deſire a gift: but I deſire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I have receiued all, and have plentie: I was even filled, after that I had received of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an o odour that ſmelleth ſweete, a ſacrifice acceptable and pleaſant to God.

19 And my God ſhall fulfill all your neceſſitie through his riches with glory in Ieſus Chriſt, 20 Vnto God even our Farther be praiſe for evermore, Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Chriſt Ieſus. The brethren, which are with me, greete you.

which is fitly divided into three treatiſes: for firſt of all he expoundeth the true doctrine according to the order of the caſes, beginning from this verſe to the 24. And from thence he beginneth to apply the ſame to the Coloſſians with divers exhortations to the 6 verſe of the ſecond Chapter. And laſt of all in the third place even to the third Chapter, hee refuteth the corruption of true doctrine.
5 The efficient cauſe of our ſalvation is the onely mercie of God the Father, who maketh us meete to be partakers of eternall life, delivering us from the darkeneſſe wherein wee were borne, and bringing us to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Sonne. h In ſtat glorious and heavenly kingdome. ✠ Matth 3.17. and 17.5. 2.Pet 1.17. 6 The matter itſe ſe of our ſalvation is Chriſt the Sonne of God, who hath obteined remiſſion of ſinnes for us, by the offering up of himſelfe. 7 A lively deſcription of the perſon of Chriſt, whereby wee vnderſtand that in him onely, God ſheweth himſelfe to be ſeene: who was begotten of the Father before any thing was made, that is, from everlaſting, by whome alſo all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom alſo they doe conſiſt, and whoſe glory they ſerve.

And thus is iuſtification deſcribed of the Apoſtle, which is one and the chiefeſt part of the diſeaſe of Chriſt. n The whole Church. 10 Sanctification is another worke of God in us by Chriſt, in that that he reſtored us (which hated God extremely, and were wholly and willingly given to ſinne) to his gratious favour, in ſuch ſort, that hee therewithall puriſieth us with his holy Spirit, and conſecrateth us to righteouſneſſe, e With a framed kinde of talke made to perſwade. ✣ 1. Cor. 5.3. f The maner of your Eccleſiaſticall diſciplint. g Doctrine. h So then Chriſt hangeth not upon mens traditions.

4 He bringeth all corruptions to three kindes: The first is that, which resteth of vaine and curious speculations, and yet beareth a shew of a certaine subtill wisedome.

5 This is a word of warre, and it is as much as to drive or cary away a spoile or bootie.

5 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vaine, and standeth onely upon custome and fained inspirations.

6 The third kinde was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the world, (that is to say, the ceremonie of the Law) with the Gospel.

k Principles and rulers, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were vnder a scholemaster.

7 A generall confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needes be a false religion, which addeth any thing to Christ.

the faith, as ye have beene taught, abounding therein with thankesgiving:

8 4 Beware least there be any man that i spoile you through philosophie, & vaine deceit, through the traditions of men, 6 according to the k rudiments of the world, 7 and not after Christ.

9 8 For l in him m dwelleth n all the fulnesse of the Godhead o bodily.

10 And yee are compleete in him, which is the head of all principalitie and power.

11 9 In whom also yee are circumcised with ✣ circumcision made without handes, by putting off the p sinfull body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ,

12 10 In that yee are ✣ q buried with r him through baptisme, 11 in whom yee are also raised up together through the faith of the operation of s God, which raised him from the dead.

13 ✱12 And you which were dead in sinnes, 13 and in the vncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiving you all your trespasses,

14 14 And putting out to ✣ t hand-writing of ordinances that was against us, which was contrarie to us, hee even tooke it out of the way, and fastened it upon the crosse,

15 And hath spoyled the u Principalities, and Powers, and hath x made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the y same crosse.

16 15 Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moone, or of the Sabbath dayes,

17 Which are but a shadow of things to come: but the z body is in Christ.

8 A reason: Because onely Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth farre above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more. l By these words, it sheweth a distinction of the natures. m This word Dwelleth) noteth out unto vs the ioyning together of those natures, so that of God and Man is one Christ. n These words set downe most perfect Godhead to be in Christ. o The knitting together of God and man, is substantiall and essentiall. 9 Nowe hee dealeth perfectly against the third kinde, that is to say, against them which vrgeth the Iewish religion: and first of all, hee denieth that wee have neede of the Circumcision of the flesh, seeing that without it wee are circumcised within, by the vertue of Christ. ✱ Rom.2,29 p These many wordes are vsed to shewe what the olde man is, whom Paul in other places calleth the bodie of sinne. 10 The taking away of an obiection: t wee ne ede not so much as the externall signe which our fathers had, seeing that our baptisme is a most effectuall pledge and witnesse, of that inward restoring and renuing. ✣ Rom.6,4. ephes.1,19.

9 Looke Rom.6,4. r So then all the force of the matter commeth not from the very deede done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of us in o the water by a Minister that maketh us to be buried with Christ, as Papists say, that even for the very actes sake, wee become verely Christians, but it commeth from the vertue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ and faith. 11 One end of Baptisme is the death and buriall of the old man, and that by the mightie power of God onely, whose vertue wee lay hold on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ.

s Through faith which commeth from God. ✱ Ephes.1,1. 12 An other end of Baptisme is, that wee which were dead in sinne, might obteine free remission of sinne; and eternall life, through faith in Christ who dyed for us. 13 A new argument which lyeth in these fewe words, and it is thus: Vncircumcision was no hinderance to you, why you being iustified in Christ, should not obteine life, therefore you neede not circumcision to the attainement of salvation. 14 He speaketh now more generally against the whole service of the Law, and sheweth by two reasons that it is abolished: First, to what purpose should hee that hath obteined remission of all his sinnes in Christ require those helpes of the Law? Secondly because that if a man doe rightly consider those rites, he shall finde that they were so many testimonies of our guiltinesse, whereby we manifestly witnessed as it were by our owne hand-writing that wee deserved damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that hand writing by his comming and fastening it to the crosse, triumphed over all our enemies, were they never so mightie. Therefore to what end and purpose should we now use those ceremonies, as though we were still guiltie of sinne, and subiect to the tyrannie of our enemies. ✣ Ephes.2,15. t Abolishing the rites and ceremonies. u Satan and his angels. x As a conquerour made by a shew of those captives, and put them to shame. y The crosse was as a chariot of triumph. No conquerour could have triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did upon the crosse. 15 The conclusion: wherein also he nameth certaine kindes as the difference of dayes and meates, and proveth by a new argument that wee are not bond unto them: to wit, because those things were shadowes of Christ to come, but wee possesse him nowe exhibited unto us. z The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadowes.

18 16 Let no man at his pleasure beare rule over you by a humblenesse of minde, and worshipping of Angels, 17 advancing himselfe in those things which hee never saw, 18 b rashly puft up with his fleshly minde,

19 19 And holdeth not the c head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by ioynts and bands, increaseth with the increasing of d God.

20 20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, e as though ye lived in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 21 As, Touch not, Taste not, Handle not.

22 22 Which all perish with the using, 23 and are after the commandements & doctrines of men.

23 24 Which things have in deede a shewe of f wisedome, in g voluntarie religion and humblenesse of minde, and in h not sparing the body, which are things of no value, saith they perteine to the i filling of the flesh.

16 He disputeth against the first kinde of corruptions, and setteth downe the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kinde of false religion he confuteth, first, this way: because that they which being in such a worship, attribute that vnto themselves which is proper onely to God, to wit, authoritie to binde mens consciences with religion although they seeme to bring in these things by humblenesse of minde.

a By a foolish humblenesse of minde: for otherwise humblenesse is a vertue. For these Angels worshippers blamed such of pride, as would go straight to God, and vse no other vnder meanes besides Christ. 17 Secondly, because they rashly thrust upon them for oracles, those things which they neither saw nor heard, but devised of them selves, 18 Thirdly, because these things have no other grounde, whereupon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which please themselves without all measure in their owne dueties. b Without reason. 19 The fourth argument, which is of great waight because they spoyle Christ of his dignitie, who onely is sufficient both to nourish, and also to increase his whole body. c Christ. d With the encreasing which commeth from God. 20 Now last of all hee fighteth against the second kinde of corruptions, that is to say, against meere superstitions, invented of men, which partly deceive the simplicitie of some with their craftinesse, and partly with very foolish superstitions, and to be laughed at: as when godlinesse, remission of sinnes, or any such like vertue is put in some certaine kind of meate and such like things, which the inventours of such rites themselves vnderstand not, because in deede it is not. And hee vseth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who established a new covenant with his blood, you be delivered from those externall rites wherewith it pleased the Lord to prepare the world as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would yee be burdened with traditions, I wrote not what, as though yee were citizen of this world, that is to say, as though yee depended upon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cause why before verse 8. he followed another order then he doeth in the confutation: because he sheweth thereby what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise after which in processe of time succeeded grosse superstition, against which mischiefes the Lord set at length that service of the Law, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation he began with the abolishing of the Law service, that hee might shew by comparison, that those false services ought much more to be taken away. e As though your felicitie stood in these earthly things, and the kingdome of God were not rather spirituall. 21 An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and use of speech. 22 An other argument: The spirituall and inward kingdome of God cannot consist in these outward things, and such as perish with the using. 23 The third argument: Because God is not the authour of these traditions, and therefore they doe not binde the conscience. 24 The taking away of an obiection. These things have a goodly shew, because men by this meanes, seeme to worship God with a good minde and humble themselves, and neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper vp and cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselves are of no value, for so much as they perceive not to things that are spirituall and everlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh. f Which seeme in deede to be some exquisit thing, and so wise devices as though they came from heaven. g Hence sprang the works of supererogation, as the Papists terme them, that is to say, needelesse workes, as though men performed more then is commanded them, which was the beginning and the very ground whereon Monks merits were brought in. h A lively description of Monkerie. i Seeing they stand in meat and drinke, wherein the Kingdome of God doeth not stand.

22 ¶ 14 ✻ Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things not with eye service as men pleasers, but in singlenesse of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatsoever ye doe, doe it heartly, as to the Lord, and not to men,

24 Knowing that of the Lord yee shall receive the [p] rewarde of the inheritance: for yee serve the Lord Christ.

25 15 But he that doeth wrong, shall receive for the wrong that hee hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

b So he calleth that shew of religion, which he spake of in the former Chapter.

4 A reason taken of the efficient causes and others: you are dead as touching the flesh, that is, touching the olde nature which seeketh after all transitory things, and on the other side, you have begun to live according to the Spirit, therefore give your selves to spirituall and heavenly, and not to carnall and earthly things.

5 The taking away of an obiection: whiles we are yet in this world, we are subiect to many miseries of this life, so that the life that is in us, is as it were hidden: yet notwithstanding we have the beginnings of life and glory, the accomplishment whereof lieth now in Christes and in Gods hand, shall be assuredly and manifestly performed in that glorious comming of the Lord.

6 Let not your dead nature be any more effectuall in you, but let your living nature be effectuall. Now the force of nature is knowen by the motions. Therefore let the affections of the flesh die in you, and let the contrary motions which are spirituall, live. And be reckoned up a great long scroule of vices, and their contrary vertues. ✻ Eph. 5. 3.

c The motions and lustes that are in us, are in this place very properly called members, because that the reason and will of man corrupted, doeth use them as the body doeth his members. d Vseth to come. 7 A definition of our newe birth taken of the parts thereof, which are the putting off of the old man, that is to say, of the wickednesse which is in us by nature, and the restoring and repairing of the new man, that is to say of pureneesse which is given us by grace: but both of them are but begunne in us in this present life, and by certaine degrees finished: the one dying in us by little and little, and the other comming to the perfection of another life, by litle and little.

8 Newnesse of life consisteth in knowledge, which transformeth man to the image of God his maker, that is to say, to the sincerity and pureneesse of the whole soule.

e Hee speaketh of an effectuall knowledge. 9 Hee telleth them againe, that the Gospell doeth not respect those externall things, but true iustification and sanctification in Christ onely, which have many fruites, as he reckoneth them up heere: But commendeth two things especially, to wit, godly concord, and continuall studie of Gods worde. f So put on, that you never put off. g Those most tender affections of exceeding compassion. h Which bindeth and knitteth together all the duties that passe from man to man. i Rule and governe all things. k Yee are ioyned together into one body through Gods goodnesse, that you might helpe one another as fellow members. l By Psalmes he meaneth all godly songs, which were written upon divers occasions, and by hymnes, all such are conteine prayse of God, and by spirituall songs, other more peculiar and artificious songs which were also in praise of God, but they were made fuller of musicke. ✻ 1. 11 Hee requireth of husbands, that they love their wives, and use them gently. ✻ Ephes. 5, 1.

12 He requireth of children, that according to Gods Commandement they be obedient to their parents.

o In the Lord, and so is it expounded, Ephes. 5, 19.

13 Of parents, that they be gentle towards their children. 14 Of servants that fearing God himselfe to whom their obedience is acceptable, they reverently, faithfully and from the heart, obey their masters. ✻ Ephes. 9, 5. titus 2, 9. 1. pet. 2, 18.

p For that that you shall have duely obeyed your masters, the time shall come, that you shall be made sonnes of servants, and then shall you knowe this of a surety, which shall be when you are made partakers of the heavenly inheritance. 15 He requireth of masters that being mindfull how that they themselves also shall render an account before that heavenly Lord and Master, which will reuenge wrong full doings without any respect of masters or servants, they shew themselves iust and upright with equitie, unto their servants.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He therefore beginneth with thankeſgiving, 4 to put them in minde that whatſoever was praiſe worthy in them, it came of Gods goodneſſe: 8 and that they are enſamples unto others.

PAul, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, unto the Church of the Theſſalonians, vvhich is in God the Father, and in the Lord Ieſus Chriſt: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

2 1 We give God thankes alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 2 Without ceaſing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent love, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, in the ſight of God, even our Father,

4 Knowing, beloved brethren, that ye are a elect of God.

5 3 For our Goſpel was not unto you in word onely, but alſo in power, and in the holy Ghoſt, and in b much aſſurance, as yee know after what maner we were among you for your ſakes.

6 4 And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, and received the worde in much affliction, with c ioy of the holy Ghoſt,

7 So that yee were as enſamples to all that beleeve in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you ſounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith alſo which is toward God, ſpread abroad in all quarters, that wee neede not to ſpeake any thing,

9 For d they themſelves ſhew of us what maner of entring in wee had unto you, 5 and how yee turned to God from idoles, to ſerve the living and true God.

10 And to looke for his ſonne from heaven, whom hee raiſed from the dead, even Ieſus which delivereth us from e that wrath to come.

1 An example of a right Chriſtian reioycing: whereby alſo we learne, that ſuch as have great gifts in them are in two ſorts bridled, to wit, if they conſider that they have received all from God and that continuance muſt be deſired at his hands, where unto alſo the whole Epiſtle exhorteth the Theſſalonians.

2 He commendeth them for three ſpeciall gifts. effectuall faith. continuall love, and patient hope: to the end they might be aſhamed being indued with ſuch excellent gifts, not to continue in Gods election.

a Word for word, that your election is of God.

3 Another reaſon why they ought in no wiſe ſtart backe but continue to the end, becauſe they cannot doubt of his doctrine which hath bene ſo many wayes confirmed unto them. even from heaven as they themſelves did well know. b Paul ſheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruits of his preaching, to wit, by theſe gifts of ỹ holy Ghoſt, and that certaine aſſurance which was thorowly ſetled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the croſſe.

4 Another reaſon, becauſe even to that day, they embraſed the Goſpel with great cheerefulneſſe, inſomuch that they were an example to all their neighbours: ſo that it ſhould be more ſhame to them to faint in the mid-race. c With ioy which commeth from the holy Ghoſt. d All the beleevers. 5 It is no true converſion to forſake idoles, vnleſſe a man therewithall worſhip the true and living God in Chriſt the onely redeemer. e This word (That) is not put here without cauſe: and by (wrath) is meant that revenge and puniſhment, wherewith the Lord will iudge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

CHAP. II.

1 He declareth how faithfully he preacheth the Goſpel unto them, 5 ſeeking neither gaine, 6 nor praiſe of men: 10 and he proveth the ſame by their owne teſtimonie: 14 that they did courageouſly beare perſecution of their countrey men: 17 that he deſireth very much to ſee them.

FOr 1 ye your ſelves know, brethren, that our entrance in unto you was not in vaine.

2 2 But even after that we had ſuffered before, and were ſhamefully entreated at ✣ Philippi, (as yee know) we were bold in a our God, to ſpeake unto you the Goſpel of God, with much ſtriving.

3 3 For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor b by vncleaneſſe, nor by guile.

4 4 But as we were c allowed of God, that the Goſpel ſhould be committed unto us, ſo we ſpeake, not as they that pleaſe men, but God, which d approoveth our hearts.

5 Neither yet did we ever uſe flattering words, as yee know, nor coloured covetouſneſſe, God is record.

6 5 Neither ſought wee praiſe of men, neither of you, nor of others, when wee might have bene e chargeable, as the Apoſtles of Chriſt.

7 But wee were f gentle among you, even as a nource cheriſheth her children.

8 6 Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to have dealt unto you, not the Goſpel of God only, but alſo our owne ſoules, becauſe ye were deare unto us.

9 7 For yee remember, brethren, ✣ our labour and travaile: for wee loboured day and night, becauſe wee woulde not bee chargeable unto any of you, and preached unto you the Goſpel of God.

10 8 Ye are witneſſes, and God alſo, how holily and iuſtly, and vnblameably we behaved our ſelves among you that beleeve.

11 9 As ye know how that wee exhorted you, and comforted, and beſought every one of you, (as a father his children.)

12 10 That ye * would walke worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdome and glorie.

13 11 For this cauſe alſo thanke wee God without ceaſing, that when yee received the word of God, which yee heard of us, yee received it not as the worde of men, but as it is in deede the word of God, which alſo worketh in you that beleeve.

1 That which he touched before ſhortly concerning his Apoſtleſhip, he handleth now more at large, and to that end and purpoſe which we ſpake of

c Seeing there is this difference betweene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men chuſe, they reſpect the qualities of thoſe things which ſtand before them, but God ſindeth the reaſon of his councell onely in himſelfe, it followeth, that ſeeing we are not able to thinke a good thought, that whomſoever he firſt chuſeth to theſe holy callings, he maketh them able, and doth not finde them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth upon his mercie. d Which liketh and alloweth of them. 5 To ſubmit himſelfe even to the baſeſt, to winne them, and eſchew all pride. e When I might lawfully have lived upon the expences of the Church. f We were not rough, but eaſie, and gentle, as a nource that is neither ambitious nor covetous, but taketh all paines as patiently, as if ſhe were a mother. 6 To have the flocke that is committed vnto him in more eſtimation, then his owne life. 7 To depart with his owne right rather then to be chargeable to his ſheepe. ✣ Act. 20, 34. 1. cor. 4. 12. 2. theſ. 3, 8. 8 ☞ excell other in example of godly life. 9 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly mind and affection. 10 To exhort all men diligently and earneſtly to lead a godly life. * ephes. 4, 1. phil 1, 27 col. 1, 10 11 Having approoved his miniſterie, he commendeth againe (to that end and purpoſe that I ſpake of) the cheerefulneſſe of the Theſſalonians, which was anſwerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

14 12 For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in g Christ Iesus, becauſe yee have alſo ſuffered the ſame things of your owne h countrey men, even as they have of the Iewes,

15 13 Who both killed the Lord Iesus & their owne Prophets, and have perſecuted us away, 14 and God they pleaſe not, and are contrary to i all men,

16 And forbid us to preach unto the Gentiles, that they might be ſaved, to k fulfill their ſinnes alwayes: for the l wrath of God is come on them to the utmoſt.

17 15 Foraſmuch, brethren, as wee m were kept from you for a ſeaſon, concerning ſight, but not in the heart, wee enforced the more to ſee your face with great deſire.

18 Therefore we would have come unto you (I Paul, at leaſt once or twiſe) but Satan hindred us.

19 For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not even you it in the preſence of our Lord Iesus Chriſt at his comming?

20 Yea, ye are our glorie and ioy.

CHAP. III.

1 To ſhew his affection towards them, he ſendeth Timothie unto them: 6 Hee is ſo moved by the report of their proſperous ſtate. 9 that he cannot give ſufficient thanks, 11 and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

WHerefore ſince wee would no longer forbare, we thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,

2 ✣ And have ſent Timotheus our brother and miniſter of God, and our labour fellow in the Gospell of Chriſt, to ſtabliſh you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man ſhould be mooved with theſe afflictions: 1 for ye your ſelves knowe, that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verely when we were with you, we told you before that wee ſhould ſuffer tribulations, even as it came to paſſe, and ye know it.

5 Even for this cauſe, when I could no longer forbeare, I ſent him that I might know of your faith, leſt, the tempter had tempted you in any ſort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.

6 2 But now lately when Timotheus came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have good remembrance of us alwayes, deſiring to ſee us, as we alſo doe you,

7 Therefore brethren, wee had conſolation in you, in all our affliction and neceſsitie through your faith.

8 For now are wee a alive, if yee ſtand faſt in the Lord.

9 For what thankes can wee recompenſe to God againe for you, for all the ioy wherewith wee reioyce for your ſakes before our God,

10 Night and day, ✣ praying exceedingly, that wee might ſee your face, and might b accompliſh that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himſelfe, even our Father, and our Lord Iesus Chriſt, guide our iourney unto you.

12 3 And the Lord encreaſe you, and make you abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we doe toward you:

13 ✣ To make your hearts ſtable and unblameable in holineſſe before God even our Father, at the comming of our Lord Iesus Chriſt with all his Saints.

CHAP. IV.

1 He exhorteth them, 3 to holines, 9 and brotherly love.
13 He forbiddeth them to ſorow after the maner of infidels:
15 Heeſetteth out the hiſtorie of our reſurrection.

ANd 1 furthermore wee beſeech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye a increaſe more and more, as yee have received of us, how ye ought to walke, and to pleaſe God,

2 For ye know what commandements we gave you by the Lord Iesus.

3 ✣ 2 For this is the will of God even your b ſanctification, and that yee ſhould abſteine from fornication.

4 3 That every one of you ſhould know, how to poſſeſſe his veſſel in holineſſe and honour,

5 4 And not in the luſt of concupiſcence, even as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 * 5 That no man oppreſſe or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is avenger of all ſuch things, as we alſo have told you before time, and teſtified.

7 * For God hath not called us unto uncleanneſſe, but unto holineſſe.

8 Hee therefore that c deſpiſeth theſe things, deſpiſeth not man, but God who hath even given you his holy Spirit.

9 6 But as touching brotherly love, yee neede not that I write unto you: ✣ for yee are taught of God to love one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verely yee doe unto all the brethren, which are thorowout all Macedonia: but we beſeech you brethren, that ye increaſe more and more.

11 7 And that ye ſtudy to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne buſineſſe, 8 and to worke with your owne hands, as we commanded you.

12 That yee may behave your ſelves honeſtly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking unto you.

13 ¶ 9 I would not brethren, have you ignorant 10 concerning them 11 which are aſleepe, that ye ſorow not even as other which have no hope.

14 12 For if we beleeve that Iesus is dead, and is riſen, even ſo them which ſleepe in d Iesus, will God e bring with him.

10 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they ſuffered of their owne people, becauſe they were afflicted of their owne countreymen: which came aſwell (ſaith he) to the Churches of the Iewes, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

g Which Chriſt hath gathered together.

h Even of them which are of the ſame countrey, and the ſame towne that you are of.

13 He preventeth an offence which might be taken, for that the Iewes eſpecially above all other perſecuted the Gospel. That is no new thing, ſayth hee, ſeeing they ſlewe Chriſt himſelfe and his Prophets, and have baniſhed me alſo. 14 He foretelleth the utter deſtruction of the Iewes, leaſt any man ſhould be mooved by their rebellion.

i For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdome of God themſelves, nor ſuffer other to enter in.

k Vntill the wickednesſe of theirs which they have by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be growen ſo great that the meaſure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

l The iudgements of God being angrie, which in deede appeared ſhortly after in the deſtruction of the citie of Hieruſalem, whither many reſorted then out of diuers provinces, when it was beſieged. 15 He meeteth with an obiection, why he came not to them ſtraightwayes being in ſo great miſerie, I deſired oftentimes (ſaith he) and it lay not in mee, but Satan hindred my endevours, and therefore I ſent Timothie my faithfull companion unto you, becauſe you are moſt deere to me.

m Were kept aſunder from you, and as it were orphans.

✣ Acts 16.1.

1 The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction, is a moſt ſure remedie againſt all affliction.

a Becauſe they have hitherto gone ſo well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an end of the reſt of the iourney, ſeeing that therein alſo they ſhall doe him their Apoſtle a great pleaſure.

a For now you can not otherwiſe thinke me ſafe and in good caſe, unleſſe you goe forward in religion and faith.

✣ Rom.1.10. and 15.23.

b Paul was conſtrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leave the building which he had ſcarſe begun: And for that cauſe he had left Silas and Timothie in Macedonia, and when Timothie came to Athens to him, he ſent him back againe ſtraightway. So that he deſireth to ſee the Theſſalonians, that he may thereby throughly accompliſh their faith and religion, that was as yet imperfect.

3 Another part of the Epiſtle, wherein he ſpeaketh of the duelies of a Chriſtian life. And he ſheweth that the perfection of a Chriſtian life conſiſteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and inward puritie of the heart, the accompliſhment whereof notwithſtanding is deferred to the next comming of Chriſt, who will then perfect his worke by the ſame grace, wherewith he begun it in us. ✣ Chap.5.23. 1.cor.1.8.

1 Divers exhortations, the ground whereof is this, to be mindfull of thoſe things, which they have heard of the Apoſtle.

a That ye labour to excell more and more, and daily paſſe your ſelves. ✣ Rom.12.2. Epheſ.5.17.

2 This is the ſumme of thoſe things, which he delivered them, to dedicate themſelves wholly to God. And he condemneth plainely all filthineſſe through luſt, becauſe it is altogether contrary to the will of God.

b Looke Iohn 19.17.

3 Another reaſon, becauſe it deſileth the body.

4 The third, becauſe the Saints are diſcerned from them which know not God, by honeſtie and puritie.

* 1 Cor.6.8.

5 Secondly, he reprehendeth all violent oppreſſion and immoderate deſire, and ſheweth moſt ſeverely as the Prophet of God, that God will revenge ſuch wickednesſe, ✣ 1. Cor. 1.2.

c Theſe commandements which I gave you. 6 Thirdly, he requireth a readie minde to all maner of loving kindneſſe, and exhorteth them to proſite more and more in that vertue. ✣ Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1.Iohn 2.8. and 4.22. 7 He condemneth unquiet braines, and ſuch as are curious in matters which appertaine not unto them.

8 Hee rebuketh idleneſſe and ſlouthfulneſſe, which vices whoſoever are given unto fall into other wickednesſe, to the great offence of the Church. 9 The third part of the Epiſtle, which is enterlaced among the former exhortations (which hee returneth unto afterward) wherein he ſpeaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the reſurrection, and of the latter day. 10 We muſt take heede that we doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they uſe to doe which thinke that they are utterly periſhed. 11 A confirmation: for death is but a ſleepe of the body (for hee ſpeaketh of the faithfull) untill the Lord commeth. 12 A reaſon of the confirmation, for ſeeing that the head is riſen, the members alſo ſhall riſe, and that by the vertue of God. d They die in Chriſt, which continue in faith, whereby they are graffed into Chriſt, even to the laſt gaſpe. e Will call their bodies out of their graves, and ioyne their ſoules to them againe.

15 13 For this say wee unto you by the f word of the Lord, that g we which live, and are remaining in the comming of the Lord, shall not prevent them which sleepe.

16 For the Lord himselfe shall descend from heaven with a h shout, and with the voyce of the Archangel, and ✣ with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

17 Then shall we which live and remaine, be i caught up with them also in the cloudes, to meete the Lord in the aire: and so shall wee ever be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort your selves one another with these words.

3 The maner of the resurrection shalbe thus: The bodies of the dead shalibe as it were raised out of sleep, at the sound of the trumpet of God, Christ himselfe shall descend from heaven. The Saints (for he speaketh properly of them which shall then be found alive together with the dead which shall rise, shalbe taken up into the cloudes to meete the Lord, and shallbe in perpetuall glory with him.

f In the Name of the Lord, as though he himselfe speake unto you. g He speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whom the Lord shall finde alive at his comming, because that time is uncertaine, and therefore every one of us ought to be in such a readinesse, as if the Lord were comming at every moment. h The word which the Apostle useth here, signifieth properly that incouragement which mariners use one to another when they altogether with one shout put foorth their oares and rowe together. ✣ 1.Cor.15,52. i Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

CHAP. V.

1 Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christs comming, 6 he warneth them to be ready dayly to receive him: 11 and so giveth them sundry good lessons.

1 The day that God hath appointed for his judgement we know not. But this is sure that it shall come upon men when they looke for nothing lesse. a Luke Acts 1,7.

BUt 1 of the times and a seasons, brethren, yee have no neede that I write unto you.

2 For ye your selves know perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, even as a thiefe in the night.

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safety, then shall come upon them sudden destruction, as the travaile upon a woman with childe, and they shall not escape.

2 Returning to exhortations he warneth us which are lightned with the knowledge of God, that it is our duetie not to live securely in deliciousnesse, lest we be suddenly taken in a dead sleepe in pleasures but contrari wise to have an eye to the Lord, and not suffer our selves to be oppressed with the cares of this world, for that is meet for the darknesse of the night, and this for the light.

4 2 But ye, brethren, are not in darkenesse, that that day shall come on you, as it were a thiefe.

5 Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkenesse.

6 Therefore let us not sleepe as doe other, but let us watch and be sober.

7 For they that sleepe, sleepe in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.

3 We must fight with faith and hope, much lesse ought we lie carelesly snorting. ✣ Esa.59,17.ephes. 6,17.

8 3 But let us which are of the day, be sober, ✣ putting on the brestplate of faith and love, and the hope of salvation for an helmet.

9 4 For God hath not appointed us unto wrath, but to obtaine salvation by the meanes of our Lord Iesus Christ.

10 5 Which died for us, that whether we wake or sleepe, we should live together with him.

4 He pricketh us forwards by seeing most certaine hope of victorie before us. 5 The death of Christ is a pledge of our victorie, for therefore he died, that we might be partakers of his life of vertue, yea even whiles we live here.

11 6 Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, even as you doe.

6 We must not onely watch our selves but we are also bound to stir up and confirme one another.

12 7 Now we beseech you brethren, that yee b acknowledge them which labour among you, and are over you in the c Lord, and admonish you.

13 That yee have them in singular love for d their workes sake. 8 Be at peace among your selves.

7 We must have great consideration of them which are appointed to the ministerie of the word, and government of the Church by God, and doe their duetie.

14 9 We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are e out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weake: be patient toward all men.

15 10 ✣ See that none recompense evill for evill unto any man: but ever follow that which is good, both toward your selves, and toward all men.

16 11 Reioyce evermore.

17 ✣ Pray continually.

18 In all things, give thankes, for this is the f will of God in Christ Iesus toward you.

19 12 Quench not the Spirit.

20 Despise not g prophecying.

21 Try all things, and keepe that which is good.

22 13 Abstaine from all h appearance of evill.

23 Now the very God of peace i sanctifie you thorowout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soule and body, may be kept blamelesse unto the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

24 14 * k Faithfull is hee which calleth you, which will also l doe it.

25 15 Brethren, pray for us.

26 Greete all the brethren with an holy kisse.

27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read unto all the brethren the Saints.

CHAP. I.

1 He commendeth the increase of faith and charitie, 4 and the patience of the Thessalonians: 6 And describing Gods vengeance against such as oppresse the godly, 10 he teacheth the godly to waite for the last iudgement.

PAul and Silvanus, and Timotheus, unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ:

3 A proofe: God is iust: therefore he will worthily punish the uniust, and will doe away the miseries of his people.

5 ✣ a Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that yee may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

6 b For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, rest c with us, ✣ when the Lord Iesus shall shewe himselfe from heaven with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendring vengeance unto them, d that doe not know God, and which obey not unto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ.

9 Which shall be punished with everlasting perdition from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When hee shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marveilous in all them that beleeve (e because our testimonie toward you was beleeved) in that day.

11 f Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of g this calling, and fulfill h all the good pleasure of his goodnesse, and the i worke of faith with power.

12 That the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ.

5 A most glorious description of the second comming of Christ, to be set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked. 6 There is no knowledge of God unto salvation, without the Gospel of Christ. 7 The children of God shallbe counted by the faith which they have in the Gospel, which is preached unto them by the Apostles. 8 Seeing that we have the marke set before us, it remaineth that we goe unto it. And we goe to it by certaine degrees of causes: first by the free love and good pleasure of God, by vertue whereof all other inferiour causes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling of Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in us, and us in Christ.

b By (calling) he meaneth not the very acte of calling, but that selfe same thing whereunto we are called, which is the glory of that heavenly kingdome. c Which he determined long since, onely upon his gracious and mercifull goodnesse toward you. d So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in us: and we see here plainely that the Apostle leaveth nothing to free will, to make it checkemate with Gods working therein, as the Papists dreame.

CHAP. II.

a He sheweth that the day of the Lord shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith. 3 and that Antichrist be revealed, 8 whose destruction he setteth out. 13 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie.

1 The second part of the Epistle, containing an excellent prophecie of the state of the Church which shall be from the Apostles time unto the latter day of iudgement.

NOw 1 we beseech you, brethren, by the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our a assembling unto him,

2 2 That ye be not suddenly mooved from your minde, nor troubled neither by b spirit, nor by c word, nor by d letter, as it were from us, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

3 Let no man deceive you by any meanes: 3 for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that e that man of sinne be disclosed, even the sonne of perdition.

4 Which is an adversarie, and f exalteth himselfe against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: 4 so that he doeth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing himselfe that he is God.

5 5 Remember yee not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things?

6 And now ye know g what withholdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.

7 6 For the mysterie of iniquitie doeth already worke: 7 onely he which now h withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way.

8 8 And then shall i that wicked man be revealed, ✣ whom the Lord shall k consume with the Spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightnesse of his comming,

9 9 Even him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all his power, and signes, and lying wonders,

10 And in all deceiveableneſse of unrighteousneſſe, among them that perish, becausе they received not the love of the trueth, that they might be saved.

11 And therefore God shall send them a strong delusion, that they should beleeve lies,

12 That all they might be damned which beleeved not the trueth, but l had pleasure in unrighteousneſſe.

13 10 But wee ought to give thankes alway to God for you, brethren beloved of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation, through m sanctification of the Spirit, and the n faith of trueth.

14 Whereunto he called you by our o Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lord Iesus Christ.

15 11 Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and keepe the instructions, which ye have bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Iesus Christ our Lord, and our God, even the Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace,

17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every word and good worke.

4 He foretelleth that Antichrist, (that is, whosoever he be that shall occupie that seate that falleth away from God) shall not reigne without the Church, but in the very bosome of the Church.

5 This prophecie was continually declared to the Auncient Church, but it was neglected of them that followed.

6 What hindreth and stayeth.

6 Even in the Apostles time the first foundations of the Apostolicall seate were layed, but yet so, that they deceived men.

7 He foretelleth that when the empire of Rome is taken away, the seate that falleth away from God shall succeede and shall hold his place, as the olde writers Tertullian, Chrysostome and Hierome do expound it.

h He which is now in authoritie and ruleth all, to wit, the Romane Empire.

3 That wickednes shall at length be detected by the word of the Lord, and utterly be abolished by Christes comming.

i Word for word, that lawlesse fellow: that is to say, hee that shall tread Gods Law cleane under foote. ✣ Isai. 11. 4. k Bring to nought. l With his word: for the true Ministers of the word are as a mouth, whereby the Lord breatheth out that mightie and everlasting word, which shall breake his enemies in sunder, as it were an yron rodde. 9 He foretelleth that Satan will bestow all his might and power, and use all false miracles that he can to establish that seate, and that with great successe, because the wickednesse of the world doeth so discerne it: yet so, that onely the unlawfull shall perish through his deceit. m Which are partly false, and partly wrought to establish a falshood. n A most mightie working to deceive them. o They liked lies so well, that they had pleasure in them which is the great madnesse that may be. 10 The elect shall stand stedfast and safe from all these mischiefes. Now election is knowen by these testimonies: Faith is gathered by sanctification: faith, by that that we accord unto the trueth: trueth by calling through the preaching of the Gospel: from whence we come at length to a certaine hope of glorification. p To sanctifie you. q Faith which layeth hold not upon lies, but upon the trueth of God, which is the Gospel. r By our preaching. 11 The conclusion remaineth then, that we continue in the doctrine which was delivered unto us by the mouth and writings of the Apostles, through the free good will of God which comforteth us with an invincible hope, and also in all godlinesse our whole life long.

CHAP. III.

1 He desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospell with their prayers. 6 and to withdraw themselves from those, who through idlenes, 11 and curiositie perverted good order: 2 Whom hee excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

FUrthermore, 1 brethren, ✣ pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free passage and be glorified, even as it is with you.

2 And that we may be delivered from a unreasonable

1 He addeth now consequently according to his maner divers admonitions: The first of them is, that they make prayers for the increase and free passage of the Gospel, and for the safetie of the faithfull ministers of the same. ✣ Ephes. 6. 19. colos. 4. 3.

a Which have no care of their duetie.

It is no marveile that the Gospel is hated of so many, seeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding, the Church shall never be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded and stayed upon the faithfull promise of God.

sonable and evill men: 2 for all men have not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithfull, which will stablish you, and keepe you from b evill.

4 3 And we are perswaded of you through the Lord, that yee both doe, and will doe the things which we warne you of.

5 4 And the Lord guide your hearts to the love of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 5 We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that yee withdraw your selves from every brother that walked inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he received of us.

7 6 For ye your selves know, ✣ how ye ought to follow us, ✣ for we behaved not our selves inordinately among you.

8 Neither tooke wee bread of any man for nought; but we wrought with labour and travaile night and day, because wee would not be chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we have not authority, but that we might make our selves an ensample unto you to follow us.

10 For even when we were with you, this wee warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he should not c eate.

11 For wee heare, that there are some which walke among 7 you inordinately, and worke not at all, 8 but are busie bodies.

12 9 Therefore them that are such, we warne and exhort by our Lord Iesus Christ, that they worke with quietnesse, and eate their owne bread.

13 10 And ye brethren, be not wearie in well doing.

14 11 If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and have no 12 companie with him, 13 that he may be ashamed.

15 14 Yet count him not as an enemie, but admonish him as a brother.

16 15 Now the Lord himselfe of peace give you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all.

17 16 The salutation of mee Paul, with mine owne hand, which is the token in every Epistle: so I write.

18 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

7 How great a fault idlenesse is, he declareth by that that God created no man in vaine or to no purpose, neither is there any unto whom he hath not allotted as it were a certaine standing and roome. Whereupon it followeth, that the order which God hath appointed is troubled by the idle, yea, broken, which is great sinne and wickednesse.

8 He reprehendeth a vice which is joyned with the former, whereupon follow an infinite sort of mischiefs: to wit, that there are none more busie in other mens matters then they which neglect their owne.

9 The Lord commandeth, and the Apostles pray in the Name of Christ, first that no men be idle, and next, that every man doe quietly and carefully see to doe his duetie in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him.

10 Wee must take heede that some mens unworthinesse cause us not to be slacker in well doing.

11 Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate.

12 We must have no familiaritie nor fellowship with the excommunicate.

13 The end of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the salvation of the sinner, that at least through shame he may be driven to repentance.

14 We must so eschew familiaritie with the excommunicate, that we diligently seeke all occasions and meanes that may be to bring them againe into the right way.

15 Prayers are the seales of all exhortations.

16 The Apostle subscribeth his letters with his owne hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

5 Fourthly, hee saith, that idle and lasie persons ought not to be relieved of the Church, nay, that they are not to be suffered. 6 Least he might seeme to deale hardly with them, he setteth foorth himselfe for an example, who besides his travaile in preaching laboured with his hands, which he saith he was not simply bound to doe. ✣ 1.Cor. 11.1. ✣ 1.Thes.4.11. c What shall we do then with those idle bellied Monkes, and sacrificing Priests? A Monke (saith Socrates booke 8. of his Tripartite historie) which worketh not with hands, is like a thiefe.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

Setting forth a perfect paterne of a true Pastour, whose office especially consisteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vaine questions set apart, he teach those things, 5 which further charitie and faith: 12 and that his authoritie be not condemned, 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

a First of all he avoucheth his owne free vocation, and also Timothies, that the one might be confirmed by the other: and therewithall he declareth the summe of the Apostolicall doctrine, to wit, the mercie of God in Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.

a There is a much difference betwixt mercy and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cause: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he chose us in Christ, and mercie is that free iustification which followeth it.

PAul 1 an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the ‖ commandement of God our Saviour, and of our Lord Iesus Christ our hope,

2 Vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, a mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord.

3 2 As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest warne some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 3 Neither that they give heede to fables and b genealogies which are endlesse, which breede questions rather then godly edifying which is by faith.

5 4 ✣ For the end of the c commandement is d love out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfained.

6 5 From the which things some have erred, and have turned unto vaine iangling.

7 6 They would be doctours of the Lawe, and yet understande not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme.

8 7 And we knowe, that the Law is good, if a man use it lawfully.

9 8 Knowing this, that the Law is not given unto a e righteous man, but unto the lawlesse and disobedient, to the ungodly, and to f sinners, to the unholy, and to the prophane, to murtherers of fathers and mothers, to manslayers,

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menstealers, to liers, to the periured, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to wholsome doctrine,

11 9 Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, 10 which is committed unto me.

b He meeth out one kinde of vaine questions. 4 The second admonition is, that the right use and practise of the doctrine must be joyned with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charitie, and a good conscience, and true faith. ✣ Rom. 13, 10. c Of the Law.

d There is neither love without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.

5 That which he spake before generally of vaine and curious controversies, he applieth to them, which pretending a zeale of the Law, dwelled upon outward things, and never made an end of babbling of foolish trifles.

6 There are none more unlearned, and more impudent in usurping the name of holinesse, then fooliish sophisticall babblers.

7 The taking away of an objection. He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right use and practise of it.

8 He in deede escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doeth not abhorre it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giveth himselfe with all his heart to observe it: and not he that maketh a vaine babbling of outward and curious matters.

e And such an one is he, whom the Lord hath indued with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghost. f To such as make an arte as it were of sinning. 9 He setteth against fond and vaine babbling, not onely the Law, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholsome doctrine conteined in the commandements of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the vertue whereof these babblers knew not. 10 A reason why neither any other Gospel is to be taught then hee hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospell beside that which God committed to him.

12 11 Therefore,

11 He maintaineth of necessitie his Apostleship against some that did carpe at his former life, debasing himselfe, even to hell, to advance Christes onely mercie, wherewith he aboliſhed all those his former doings.

12 11 Therefore I thanke him which hath made me g strong, that is, Christ Iesus our Lord: for hee counted mee faithfull, and put mee in his service.

13 When before I was a h blaſphemer, and a perſecuter, and an oppreſſer, but I was received to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through unbeliefe.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant 12 with faith and love, which is in Christ Iesus.

15 13 This is a i true saying, and by all meanes worthie to be received, that ✣ Christ Iesus came into the worlde to save sinners, of whome I am chiefe.

16 Notwithſtanding for this cauſe was I received to mercie, that Iesus Christ ſhould firſt ſhewe on me al long ſuffering unto the emſample of them, which ſhall in time to come beleeve in him unto eternall life.

17 14 Nowe unto the king everlaſting, immortall, invisible, unto God k only wiſe, be honour, and glorie, for ever, and ever, Amen.

18 15 This commaundement commit I unto thee, ſonne Timotheus, according to the prophecies, which went before upon thee, that thou l by them ſhouldeſt fight a good fight,

19 Having m faith and a good conſcience, 16 which ſome have put away, and as concerning faith, have made ſhipwracke.

20 Of whome is Hymeneus, and Alexander, ✲ 17 whome I have n delivered unto Satan, that they might o learne not to blaſpheme.

12 He prooveth this change by the effects, for that, that he that was a prophane man, is become a beleever: and he that did moſt outragiously perſecute Christ, turneth now in love towards him.

13 He turneth the reproach of the adversaries upon their owne head, ſhewing that this ſingular example of the goodneſſe of God redoundeth to the commoditie of the whole Church.

i Worthie to be beleeved. ✣ Matth. 4. 13. mark. 2. 17. 14 Hee breaketh out into an exclamation, even for very zeale of minde, for that he cannot ſatiſfie himſelfe in amplifying the grace of God. k Looke Iohn 17. 3. 15 The concluſion of both the former fatherly admonitions, to wit, that Timothie ſtriving manfully againſt all lets, being called to the miniſterie according to many prophecies which went before of him, ſhould both maintaine the doctrine which he had received, and keepe alſo a good conſcience. l By the helpe of them. m Whole ſome and ſound doctrine. 16 Whoſoever keepe not a good conſcience, doe looſe alſo by little and little the gift of underſtanding: which he prooveth by two moſt lamentable examples. ✣ 1. Cor. 5. 5. 17 Such as fall from God, and his religion, are not to be ſuffered in the Church, but rather ought to be excommunicated. n Caſt out of the Church, and ſo delivered them to Satan. o That by their ſmart they might learne what it is to blaſpheme.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men. 4, 5 and that for two cauſes: 8 and therefore hee willeth all men in all places to pray. 9 and declareth in what apparell, 11 and with what modeſtie, women ought to behave themſelves in holy aſſemblies.

1 Having diſpatched thoſe things which pertaine to doctrine, he ſpeaketh now in the ſecond place of the other part of the miniſterie of the word, to wit, of publike prayers. And firſt of all declaring this queſtion, for whome we ought to pray, he teacheth that we muſt pray for all men, and eſpecially for all manner of magiſtrates, which thing was at that time ſomewhat doubted of, ſeeing that kings, yea and the moſt part of magiſtrates were at that time enemies of the Church. 2 An argument taken of the end: to wit, becauſe that magiſtrates are appointed to this end, that men might peaceably and quietly live in all godlineſſe and honeſtie, and therefore muſt we commend them eſpecially to God, that they may faithfully execute ſo neceſſarie an office. a This word contayneth all kind of dueſie, which is to be uſed amongſt men in all their affaires. 3 Another argument, why Churches of Congregations ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kinde, age, or order: to wit, becauſe the Lord by calling of all ſorts, yea ſometime thoſe that are greateſt enemies to the Goſpell, will have his Church gathered together after this ſort, and therefore prayers to be made for all.

I Exhort therefore, that firſt of all ſupplications, prayers, interceſsions, and giving of thankes be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, a that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlineſſe, and a honeſtie.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the ſight of God our Saviour.

4 3 Who will that all men ſhall be ſaved, and come unto the acknowledging of the trueth.

5 4 For there is one God, and one Mediatour betweene God and man, vvhich is the b man Christ Iesus,

6 Whom gave himſelfe a ranſome for all men, s to be that teſtimonie in due time,

7 ✲ Whereunto I am ordained a preacher and an Apoſtle (I ſpeake the trueth in Christ, and lye not) even a teacher of the Gentiles in c faith and veritie.

8 6 I will therefore that the men pray, everie where d lifting up pure hands without e wrath, or f doubting.

9 ✲ 7 Likewiſe alſo the women, that they aray themſelves in comely apparell, with ſhamefaſtneſſe and modeſtie, not with broyded haire, or gold, or pearles, or coſtly apparell,

10 But (as becommeth women that profeſſe the feare of God) with good works.

11 Let the woman learne in ſilence with all ſubiection.

12 ✲ I permit not a woman to teach, 8 neither to vſurpe authoritie over the man, but to be in ſilence.

13 9 For ✣ Adam was firſt formed, then Eve.

14 ✲ 10 And Adam was not 8 deceived, but the woman was deceived, and was in the tranſgreſſion.

15 11 Notwithſtanding, through bearing of children ſhe ſhall be ſaved, if they continue in faith and love, and holineſſe with modeſtie.

4 God would not els be manifeſted to be the onely God of all men, unleſſe he would ſhew his goodnes in ſaving of all ſorts of men: neither ſhould Christ be ſeene to be the onely Mediatour betweene God and all ſorts of men, by having taken upon him that nature of man which is common to all men, unleſſe he had ſatisfied for all ſorts of men, and made interceſſion for all.

b Christ Iesus which was made man.

5 A confirmation, becauſe that even to the Gentiles in the ſecret of ſalvation now opened and made manifeſt, the Apoſtle himſelfe being appointed properly to this office, which he doeth faithfully and ſincerely execute.

✲ 2. Tim. 1, 11. c Faithfully and ſincerely: and by faith he meaneth wholeſome and ſound doctrine, and by trueth, an upright and ſincere handling of it. 6 He hath ſpoken of the perſons for whome we muſt pray: and now he teacheth that the difference of places is taken away: for in times paſt, one onely nation, and in one certaine place came together to publike ſervice: but now Churches or Congregations are gathered together every where (orderly and decently) and men come together to ſerve God publikely with common prayer, neither muſt wee ſtriue for the nation or for the purification of the bodie, or for the place, but for the mind to have it cleane from all offence, and full of ſure truſt and confidence. d Hee puniſh the ſigne for the thing it ſelfe, the lifting up of hands, for the calling upon God. e Without theſe griefes and offences of the mind, which hinder us from calling upon God with a good conſcience. f Doubting which is againſt faith. Iam. 1. 6. ✣ 1. Pet. 3. 3. 7 Thirdly he appointeth women to learne in the publike aſſemblies with ſilence and modeſty, being comely apparelled without any ryot or exceſſe in their apparell.

✲ 1. Cor. 14. 34. 8 The firſt argument, why it is not lawfull for women to teach in the Congregation, becauſe by this meanes they ſhoulde be placed aboue men, for they ſhould be their maſters: which is againſt Gods ordinance. 9 He prooveth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is ſubiect to man, firſt by that, that God made the woman after man, for mans ſake. ✲ Gen. 1. 27, and 27. 21. ✣ Gen. 3, 6. 10 Then becauſe that after ſinne God enioyned the woman this puniſhment, for that the man was deceived by her. n Adam was deceived, but through his wives meanes, and therefore ſhe is ſhortlily for this cauſe ſubiect to her husband, and ought to be. 11 He addeth a comfort by the way, that their ſubiection hinderth not but that women may be ſaved as well as men, if they behave themſelves in thoſe burdens of mariage holily and modeſtly, with faith and charitie.

CHAP. III.

2 Hee ſetteth out Biſhops, 8 and Chriſtian deacons with their wives, 12 children and family, 15 he calleth the Church the houſe of God.

1 Having diſpatched the treatiſe, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as alſo of publike prayer, he now in the thirde place commeth to the perſons themſelves, ſpeaking firſt of Paſtours and afterward of Deacons, and beſyde a preface, that the Church may knowe that theſe be certaine and ſure rulers. 2 A Biſhopricke or the miniſterie of the worde is not an idle dignitie, but a worke and that an excellent worke: and therefore a Biſhop muſt be furniſhed with many vertues both at home and abroad. Wherefore it is requiſite before hee be choſen, to examine well his learning, his gifres, and ableneſſe, and his life. a Hee ſpeaketh not here of ambitious ſeeking, then the which there cannot be a worſe fault in the Church, but generall of the mind, and diſpoſition of man, framed and diſpoſed to helpe and edifie the Church of God, when and wheresoever it ſhall pleaſe the Lord. ✲ Titus 1. 6. b Therefore hee that ſhutteth our married men from the office of Biſhops, onely becauſe they are marryed, is Antichriſt.

c A common tipler, and one that will ſit by it.

g Honour and eſtimation. h Bold and aſſured confidence without feare. 6 Paul purpoſing to adde many peculiar things pertaining to the dayly office of a Paſtour, ſpeaketh firſt a word or two concerning his comming to Timothie, that he would be ſo much the more carefull, leaſt at his comming he might be reprooved of negligence. 7 The Paſtour hath alwayes to thinke, how that he is occupied in the houſe of the living God, wherein the reaſon of the trueth is kept. i To wit, in reſpect of man: for the Church reſteth upon that corner ſtone, Chriſt, and is the preſerver of the trueth, but not the mother. 8 There is nothing more excellent then this trueth wherof the Church is the keeper and preſerver here amongſt men, the miniſtery of the word being appointed to that ende and purpoſe: for it teacheth us the greateſt matters that may be thought of, to wit, that God is become viſible in the perſon of Chriſt by taking our nature upon him: whoſe Majeſtie notwithſtanding in ſo great weakeneſſe was manifeſted many wayes, inſomuch that the light of it pearced the very Angels: and to conclude, he being preached unto the Gentiles was received of them, and is now placed above in glorie unſpeakeable. k The power of the Godhead ſheweth it ſelfe ſo marvelouſly in that weake fleſh of Chriſt, that though he were a weake man, yet all the worlde knoweth he was, and is God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He condemneth as well falſe doctrine, 3 of mariage and the chiefe of meates. 7 as alſo prophane fables: 8 and commendeth the godly exerciſe, 13 and the daily reading of the Scriptures.

1 He ſetteth againſt that true doctrine, falſe opinions, which he foreteleth that certaine ſhall fall away from God and his religion, ſhall bring in by the ſuggeſtion of Satan, and ſo that a great number ſhall give eare to them. a From the true doctrine of God. 2 Although hereticks counterfeite holineſſe never ſo much, yet they have no conſcience. b For they will as it were practiſe the art of diſguiſe perſons and players, that we may not thinke they will the lurking in ſome one corner, or keepe any reſemblance of ſoundneſſe. c Whoſe conſcience waxed ſo hard, that there grew an hard fleſh over it, and ſo became to have a canker on it, and now at length required of very neceſſitie to be burned with an hote yron.

NOw 1 the Spirit ſpeaketh evidently, that in the latter times ſome ſhall depart from the a faith, and ſhall give heed unto ſpirits of errour, and doctrines of devils,
2 2 Which ſpeake lyes through b hypocriſie, and have their conſciences burned with an hote yron,
3 3 Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abſtaine from meates 4 which God hath created 5 to be received 6 with giving thankes of them which beleeve and know the trueth.
4 7 For every creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refuſed, if it be received with thankſgiving.
5 8 For it is d ſanctified by the e word of God, and prayer.
6 9 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of theſe things, thou ſhalt be a good miniſter of Ieſus Chriſt, which haſt beene nouriſhed up in the words of faith, and of good doctrine which thou haſt continually f followed.
7 10 But caſt away prophane, and olde wives fables, 11 and exerciſe thy ſelfe unto g godlineſſe.
8 12 For bodily exerciſe profiteth little: but godlineſſe is profitable unto all things, which hath the promiſe of the life preſent, and of that that is to come.
9 13 This is a true ſaying, and by all meanes worthie to be received.
10 For therefore wee labour and are rebuked, becauſe we truſt in the living God, which is the Saviour of all men, ſpecially of thoſe that beleeve.
11 Theſe things warne and teach.
12 14 Let no man deſpiſe thy youth, but be unto them that beleeve, an enſampie, in worde, in converſation, in love, in ſpirit, in faith and in pureneſſe.
13 15 Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.
14 Deſpiſe not the gifte that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecie with the laying on of the hands of the companie of the Elderſhip.
15 Theſe things exerciſe, and give thy ſelfe unto them, that it may be ſeene how thou profiteſt among all men.
16 Take heede unto thy ſelfe, and unto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou ſhalt both h ſave thy ſelfe, and them that heare thee.

3 He ſette h downe two kindes of this falſe doctrine, to wit, the Law of ſole life, and difference of meats.
4 He proveth that he iuſtly called ſuch doctrines deviliſh. firſt, becauſe the teachers of them make lawes of things which are not their owne: for have they created the meats?
5 Secondly, becauſe they overthrow with their decrees, the end which are not their owne: for wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that we ſhould uſe them
6 Thirdly, for that by this meanes they rob God of his glory, who will be honoured in the uſe of them And herewithall the Apoſtle declareth that we muſt uſe the liberalitie of God ſoberly, and with a good conſcience.
7 He ſetteth an Apoſtolicall rule, for taking away the difference of meats againſt that falſe doctrine.
8 He veſeth Gods benefits rightly, which acknowledgeth the giver of them by his word, and calleth upon him. d It is ſo made pure and holy in reſpect of us, ſo that we may uſe it with a good conſcience, as received at the Lords hand e Wee confeſſe and acknowledge that God is the maker and giver of thoſe creatures which weeuſe. Secondly, that we are of the number of thoſe, who through Chriſtes benifite have recovered that right over all creatures, which Adam loſt by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we crave of the Lord, that we may uſe thoſe meates with a good conſcience which we receive at his handes Fourthly, wee make an end of our eating and drinking, with thankeſgiving and prayer: and ſo are our meates ſanctified to us. 9 The concluſion with an exhortation to Timothie, to propound theſe things diligently to the Churches, which hee had tucked of the Apoſtle, even in a manner from the teate. f Never departing from the ſide of it. 10 He ſetteth againe true doctrine not only againſt that falſe and apoſtaticall doctrine, but alſo againſt all vaine and curious ſubtilties. 11 It is not onely requiſite that the miniſter of the word be found in doctrine, but alſo that his life be godly and religious. g In the true ſerving of God. 12 Godlineſſe conſiſteth in ſpirituall exerciſe, and not in outwarde auſtereneſſe of life, which thou haſt be ſome thing to be acquainted of, if it be rightly weed. yet is it in no wiſe comparable with godlineſſe: For it profiteth not of it ſelfe, but through the benefite of another, but this hath the promiſe both of the life preſent, and of that that is to come. 13 Hee goeth a little from his matter, and ſheweth that they which give themſelves to godlineſſe, although they are afflicted and reproached, are notwithſtanding not to be counted miſerable as other men are, becauſe they are not afflicted for that cauſe that other men are, and the end of toem both is farre different one from the other. For howe can God forſake his, which is boun. itull even towardes his enemies? And hee willeth that this doctrine be well beaten into their heades. 14 Now we bee returneth to that exhortation, ſhewing which are the vertues of a Paſtour, whereby hee may come to be reverenced, although hee be but young, to wit, ſuch ſpeech and life as are witneſſes of cnaritie, zeale, faith, and purnie: but there is no mention made of the crofier ſtaffe, ring, cloake and ſuch other foolith and childiſh toyes. 15 The private exerciſe of Paſtours, is continual reading of the Scriptures, whenceour they may drawe matter of wholeſome doctrine and exhortation, both to themſelves and to other. h Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching; and therefore the miniſters of the worde are ſo ſaide to ſave themſelves and other, for that in them the Lord hath put the worde of reconciliation.

CHAP. V.

1 Having set downe a manner how to rebuke all degrees. 5 Hee intreateth of widowes, who then were chosen for the service of the Church: 17 Then hee commeth to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the bodie.

1 Of keeping measure in private reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kinds.

2 The Apostle giveth these rules touching the care of widowes.

a Have care of those widowes which have need of helpe.

3 Widowes children and nephewes must take care for their parents, according to their abilitie.

4 The first reason, because that, that which they bestow upon theirs, they bestow it upon themselves.

5 Another because nature it selfe teacheth us to recompense our parents.

6 The third: because this duetifulnes pleaseth God.

7 The second rule: Let the Church have care of such as are widowes indeede, that is to say, such as are poore and destitute of helpe of their own friends, and live godly and religiously.

8 The third rule: Let widowes that live in pleasure, and neglect the care of their owne familie, be holden and accompted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse then very infidels.

9 The fourth rule: Let none under threescore yeeres olde, be taken into the number of widowes, to serve the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproach of vnchastitie, and are well reported of for their diligence, charitie, and integritie.

REbuke 1 not an elder, but exhort him as a father, and the yonger men as brethren.

2 The elder women as mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all pureneſſe.

3 2 Honour widowes, which are widowes in deede.

4 3 But if any widowe have children or nephewes, let them learne firſt to ſhewe godlineſſe 4 toward their owne houſe, and 5 to recompenſe their kinred: 6 for that is an honeſt thing, and acceptable before God.

5 7 And ſhe that is a widowe in deede and left alone, truſteth in God, and continueth in ſupplications and prayers night and day.

6 8 But ſhee that liveth in pleaſure, is dead, while ſhe liveth.

7 Theſe things thereof warne them of, that they may be blameleſſe.

8 If there be any that provideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his houſeholde, hee denieth the faith, and is worſe then an infidell.

9 9 Let not a widow be taken into the number under threeſcore yeere olde, that hath beene the wife of b one husband.

10 And well reported of for good workes: if ſhe have nouriſhed her children, if ſhe have lodged the ſtrangers, if ſhee have c waſhed the Saints feete, if ſhe have miniſtred unto them which were in adverſitie, if ſhee were continually given unto every good worke.

11 10 But d refuſe the yonger widowes: for when they have begun to waxe wanton againſt Chriſt, they will marrie.

12 Having damnation, becauſe they have broken the firſt faith.

13 11 And likewiſe alſo being idle they learne to goe about from houſe to houſe: yea they are not onely idle, but alſo pratlers and buſibodies, ſpeaking things which are not comely.

14 12 I will therefore that the younger women marrie, and beare children, and governe the houſe, and give none occaſion to the adverſarie to ſpeake evill.

15 For certaine are alreadie turned backe from Satan.

16 13 If any faithfull man or faithfull woman have widowes, let them miniſter unto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may be ſufficient for them that are widowes indeed.

10 Hee teacheth what manner of widowes are to be received into the number of widowes, and what are not.

11 Another reaſon: becauſe they are for the moſt part pratlers and buſie bodies, and gadders up and downe, neglecting their charge and duetie.

12 The fifth rule: Let yonger widowes marrie and governe their houſes godly.

13 The ſixth rule: Let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with theſe expenſes.

17 ¶ 14 The Elders that rule well, let them be had in e double honour, f ſpecially they which labour in the word and doctrine.

18 For the Scripture ſayth, g Thou ſhalt not mouſell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and h The labourer is worthie of his wages.

19 15 Againſt an Elder receive none accuſation, but under two or three witneſſes.

20 16 Them that ſinne, rebuke openly, that the reſt alſo may feare.

21 ¶ * 17 I charge thee before God and the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and the elect Angels, that thou obſerve theſe things, without preferring one to another, and doe nothing partially.

22 18 Lay hands i ſuddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens ſinnes: keepe thy ſelfe pure.

23 19 Drinke no longer water, but vſe a little wine for thy ſtomackes ſake, and thine often infirmities.

24 20 Some mens ſinnes are open before hand, and goe before unto iudgement: but ſome mens follow after.

25 21 Likewiſe alſo the good workes are manifeſt before hand, and they that are otherwiſe cannot be hid.

14 Now he giveth rules, and ſheweth how he ought to behave himſelfe with the Elders that is to ſay, with the Paſtours and ſuch as have the governance in the diſcipline of the Church, which is preſident of their company. The firſt rule: Let the Church or Congregation ſee unto this eſpecially, as God himſelfe hath commaunded, that the Elders that doe their duetie well, be honeſtly maintained.

e Woe muſt be more carefull for them, then for the reſt.

f There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended upon the government onely, and looked to the manners of the Congregation, the other did beſide that, attend upon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation. ✤ 1 auteronomie 25.4. 2. Corinthians 9.9. ✤ Matthew 10,10. Iuke 10,7. 15 The ſecond rule: Let no accuſation be admitted againſt an Elder, but under two or three witneſſes. 16 The third rule: Let the Elders ſo conuicted be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to others. * Chapter 6.13. 17 The fourth rule: Let ſinceritie be vſed without any preiudice or reſpect of perſons in the Eccleſiaſticall proceedings, (eſpecially againſt the elders) becauſe God himſelfe is there preſent, and the Lord Ieſus Chriſt with a multitude of Angels. 18 The firſt rule: Let the miniſter laye handes ſuddainely on no man. Let him not be faultie her-in either by favouring any mans follie, or perverſe affection: If ought be done otherwiſe then well of his fellowes, let him keepe his conſcience pure. ‡ as much as in thee lyeth doe not raſhly admit any whatſoever, to any Eccleſiaſticall function. 19 The ſixth rule: Let the Elders have indifferent conſideration of their health, in the manner of their dyet. 20 Becauſe hypocrites ſometimes creep into the miniſterie, although there be never ſo great diligence vſed, the Apoſtle willeth the Paſtours not to be troubled therefore, or ſlacke any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, becauſe the Lord hath appointed a time to diſcover the faults of ſuch men; and it is our parts to take heede that wee offende not therein. 21 Another comfort belonging to them, which ſometime are ſlaundered and miſreported of.

CHAP. VI.

1 He ſheweth the duetie of ſervants: 10 and what a miſchievous evill covetouſneſſe is: 13 and having ſpoken ſomewhat of rich men, he once againe forbiddeth Timothie 20 to cumber himſelfe with vaine babblings.

LEt 1 as many ſervants as are under the yoke, count their maſters worthy of all honour, a that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not evill ſpoken of.

2 3 And they which have beleeving maſters, let them not deſpiſe them, becauſe they are brethren, but rather doe ſervice, becauſe they are faithfull, and beloved, and a partakers of the benefite. ¶ Theſe things teach and exhort.

1 Hee addeth alſo rules for the ſervants duetie towardes their maſters: whereupon no doubt there were many queſtions then mooved by them, which tooke occaſion by the Goſpell to trouble the common ſtate. And this is the firſt rule: Let ſervantes that are come to the faith, and have infidels to their maſters, ſerve them notwithſtanding with great fidelitie.

a The reaſon: leaſt God ſhould ſeeme by the Doctrine of the Goſpell to ſtirre up men to rebellion and all wickednes. 3 The ſecond rule: Let not ſervants that are come to the faith, and have alſo maſters of the ſame profeſſion and religion, abuſe the name of brotherhode, but let them ſo much the rather obey them.

a Let this be ſufficient, that as touching thoſe things which pertaine to everlaſting life, they are partakers of the ſame good will and iuſte of God, as their maſters themſelves are.

4 A generall concluſion, that theſe things ought not onely to be ſimply taught, but muſt with exhortations be diligently beaten into their heads.

5 He condemneth everally, and excommunicateth or caſteth out of the Church as proud men, ſuch as content not themſelves with Chriſts doctrine, (that is to ſay, the doctrine of godlineſſe) but weaxie both themſelves and others in vaine queſtions, (for all other things are vaine) becauſe they content not themſelves in Chriſts doctrine: and as lying deceivers, becauſe they favour or ſound of nothing but vanitie: as madde men, becauſe they trouble themſelves ſo much in matters of nothing: as miſchievous plagues, for that they cauſe great contentions, and corrupt mens mindes and iudgement: to be ſhort, as prophane and wicked, becauſe they abuſe the precious name of godlineſſe and religion to filthly lucre.

3 5 If any man teach otherwiſe, and conſenteth not to the wholeſome words of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and to the doctrine which is according to godlineſſe.

4 Hee is puft up and knoweth nothing, but doteth about queſtions and b ſtrive of wordes, whereof commeth envie, ſtrive, railings, evill ſurmiſings,

5 Froward c diſputations of men of corrupt mindes and deſtitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlineſſe: from ſuch ſeparate thy ſelfe.

6 6 But godlineſſe is great gaine, if a man be content with that hee hath.

7 7 For wee brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out.

8 Therefore when wee have foode and raiment, let us therewith be content.

9 8 For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and ſnares, and into many fooliſh and noyſome luſtes, which drowne men in perdition and deſtruction.

10 For the deſire of money is the roote of all evill, which while ſome luſted after, they erred from the faith, and d pearced themſelves thorow with many ſorowes.

11 9 But thou, O e man of God, flee theſe things, and follow after righteouſneſſe, godlineſſe, faith, love, patience, and meekeneſſe.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay holde of eternall life, whereunto thou art alſo called, and haſt profeſſed a good profeſſion before many witneſſes.

13 * 10 I charge thee in the ſight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Ieſus Chriſt, which under Pontius Pilate ‡ witneſſeth a good confeſſion.

14 That thou keepe this commandement without ſpot, and unrebukeable, untill the appearing of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

15 Which in due time he ſhall ſhewe, that is f * bleſſed and Prince onely, the King of kings and Lord of lords.

16 Who onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine unto, ✣ whom never man ſawe, neither can ſee, unto whom be honour and power everlaſting, Amen.

17 11 Charge them that are rich in g this world, that they be not high minded, and that they ✱ truſt not in uncertaine riches, but in the h living God, (which giveth us abundantly all things to enioy.)

18 That they doe good, and be rich in good works, and be ready to diſtribute, and communicate,

19 * 12 Laying up in ſtore for themſelves a good foundation againſt the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life.

20 13 O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed unto thee, and avoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppoſitions of ſcience falſly ſo called,

21 Which while ſome i profeſſe, they have erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

¶ The firſt Epiſtle to Timotheus, written from Laodicea, which is the chiefeſt city of Phrygia Pacatiana.

3 a Striving about words and not about matter: and by words he meaneth all thoſe things which have no pith in them, and whereby we can reape no profite. b Such as we ſee in thoſe ſhameleſſe ſchooles of Poperie, which are nothing elſe but vaine babbling and prating. 6 Hee turneth away fully the name of gaine and lucre, confeſſing that godlineſſe is great gaine, but farre after an other ſort, to wit, becauſe it bringeth true ſufficience. 7 Hee mocketh their folie, which doe ſo greedily gape after fraile things, that they can in no wiſe be ſatisfied, and yet notwithſtanding they cannot enioy that exceſſe. 8 He frayeth Timothie from covetouſneſſe after another ſort, to wit, becauſe it draweth with it an infinite ſort of luſts, and thoſe very burtfull, wherewith covetous men doe torment themſelves ſo farre foorth, that in the ende they caſt away from them their faith and ſalvation. d So sowe and griefe do as it were pearce thorow the minde of man, and are the harveſt and true fruits of covetouſneſſe. 9 A peculiar exhortation to divers vertues, wherewith it behooveth the Paſtours eſpecially to be furniſhed. e Whom the Spirit of God ruleth.

11 He addeth for an overplus as it were a ſharpe admocition to the rich, that they chiefly take heede of two miſchiefs, to wit, of pride, and deceitfull hope, againſt which he ſetteth three excellent vertues, hope in the living God, liberalitie towards their neighbour, and gentle conditions. g In things pertaining to this life, with whom thoſe men are compared which are rich in good workes.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

1 He commendeth Timotheus faith, 6 and exhorteth him to go on faithfully in the charge committed unto him: 8 and that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the revolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apoſtleſhip. 14 He willeth him to have care of the thing committed unto him, 16 and prayſeth Onesiphorus.

PAul an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt by the will of God, a according to the promiſe of life which is in Chriſt Ieſus.

a Sent of God to preach that life which he promiſed in Chriſt Ieſus.

2 To Timotheus my beloved ſonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

3 1 I thanke God, ✣ whome I ſerve from mine b elders with pure conſcience, that without ceaſing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day.

1 The chiefeſt marke that he ſhooteth at in this Epiſtle, is to confirme Timothie to continue conſtantly and manfully even to the end, ſetting firſt before him the great good will hee beareth him, and then reckoning up the excellent gifts which God would as it were have to be by inheritance in Timothie, and his anceſtours, which might ſo much the more make him bound to God. ✣ Act.22,3. b From Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob: for he ſpeaketh not of Phariſaiſme, but of Chriſtianiſme.

4 Deſiring to ſee thee, mindfull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy:

5 When I call to remembrance the unfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt firſt in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am aſſured that it dvvelleth in thee alſo.

6 2 Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou c ſtirre up the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands,

7 For God hath not given to us the Spirit of d feare, but of power, and of love, and of a ſound minde.

8 3 Be not therefore aſhamed of the teſtimo-

z He warneth us to ſet the invincible power of the Spirit, which God hath given us, againſt thoſe ſtormes which may and doe come upon us.

c The gift of God is as it were a certaine lively flame kindled in our hearts, which the fleſh and the devill go about to put out; and therefore we on the contrary ſide muſt labour as much as we can to foſter and keepe it burning. d To pearce us thorow, and terrifie us, as men whom the Lord will deſtroy. 3 He prooveth that the ignominie or ſhame of the croſſe is not onely not to be aſhamed of, but alſo that it is glorious and moſt honourable: firſt, becauſe the Goſpel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the teſtimonie of Chriſt: and ſecondly, becauſe at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them,

9 4 Who hath saved us, and called us with an ✣ holy calling, not according to our ✣ works, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was h given to us through Christ Iesus i before the * world was.

10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Saviour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitie unto k light through the Gospel.

11 ✣ 5 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 6 For the which cause I also suffer these things, 7 but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have beleeved, and I am perswaded that he is able to keepe that which I have committed to him against that day.

13 8 Keepe the true paterne of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and love which is in Christ Iesus.

14 9 That woorthy thing, which was committed to thee, keepe 10 through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in us.

15 11 This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord give mercie unto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chaine,

17 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord graunt unto him, that he may finde mercy with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministred unto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

e For his sake. f The Gospel after a sort is sayd to be afflicted in them that preach it. g Through the power of God.

4 Hee sheweth with how great benefits God hath bound us to maintaine boldly and constantly his glorie which is joyned with our salvation, and reckoneth up the causes of our salvation, to wit, that free and eternall purpose of God to save us in Christ which was to come: whereby it should come to passe, that wee should at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, to Christ the destroyer of death and authour of immortalitie.

✣ Titus 3 5.

h He sayeth that that grace was given us from everlasting, unto which we were predestinate from everlasting. So that the doctrine of forestene faith and forestene works, is cleane contrary to the doctrine which preached and teacheth the grace of God. i Before that course of yeeres, which hath runne on ever since the beginning of the world. * Rom. 16,25. ephes. 1,4. col. 1,26. tit. 1,2. k Hath caused life and immortality to appeare.

✣ 1. Tim. 2.7. 5 That is, the Gospel which the Apostle preached. 6 Hee confirmeth his Apostleship by a strange argument, to wit, because the world could not abide it, and therefore it persecuted him that preached it. 7 By setting his owne example before us, he sheweth us how it may be that wee shall not be ashamed of the crosse of Christ, to wit, if wee be sure that God both can and will keepe the salvation which he hath as it were layd up in store by himselfe for us against that day. 8 He sheweth wherein hee ought to be most constant, to wit, both in the doctrine it selfe, the abridgement whereof is faith and charitie, and next in the maner of teaching it, a lively paterne and shape whereof Timothie knew in the Apostle. 9 An amplification taken of the dignitie of so great a benefit committed of the ministers.

10 The taking away of an obiection. It is an hard thing to doe it, but the Spirit of God is mighty, who hath inwardly indued us with his vertue. 11 He preventeth an offence which arose by the meanes of certaine that fell from God and the religion, and vttereth also their names, that they might be knowen of all men. But he setteth against them the singular faith of one man, that one onely good example might counterpoise and weigh downe all evill examples.

CHAP. II.

2 The better to set out perseverance in the Christian warfare, 3 he taketh similitudes 4 from soulaiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 How sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then hee warneth Timothie to divide the word of trueth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to do all things modestly.

THou 1 therefore, my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of me, by a many witnesses, the same deliver to faithfull men, which shallbe able to teach other also.

2 The conclusion of that former exhortation, which hath also added unto it declaration how that they do not keepe that worthy thing that is committed unto them which keep it to themselves, but they rather which do most freely communicate it with other, to the end that many may bee partakers of it without any mans losse or hinderance. a When many were by, which can beare witnesse of the same things.

2 Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of b this life, because hee would please him that hath chosen him to be souldier.

5 3 And if any man also strive for a masterie, he is not crowned, except he strive as he ought to doe.

6 4 The husbandman must labour before hee receive the fruits.

7 5 Consider what I say, and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.

8 6 Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seed of David, was raised againe from the dead according to my Gospel,

9 7 Wherein I suffer trouble as an evill doer, even unto bondes: but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I suffer all things for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the salvation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glory.

11 8 It is a true saying, For if we be ✣ c dead together with him: we also shall live together with him.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reigne together with him: ✣ if we deny him, he also will deny us.

13 If * wee beleeve not, yet abideth he faithfull: he cannot deny himselfe.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and d protest before the Lord, that they strive not about words, which is to no profit, but to the perverting of the hearers.

15 9 Studie to shew thy selfe approoved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, dividing the word of trueth e aright.

16 f Stay profane and vaine babblings: 10 for they shall increase unto more ungodlinesse.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymeneus and Philetus.

18 Which as concerning the trueth have erred from the marke, saying that the resurrection is past alreadie, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 11 But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let every one that g calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquitie.

b With affaires of house holde, or other things that belong to other ordinarie business. 3 The third admonition: The ministerie is like to a game or rushing, wherein men strive for the victory, and no man is crowned unlesse he strive according to the lawes which are prescribed, be they never so hard and painfull.

4 Another similitude tending to the same end: no man may looke for the harvest, unlesse hee first take paines to plow and sowe his ground.

5 All these things cannot be understood, and much lesse practised, unlesse wee aske of God, and be give us understanding.

6 He confirmeth plainely two principles of our faith, which are alwayes assaulted of heretikes, the one whereof (to wit, that Christ is the true Messias made man of the seed of David) is the ground of our salvation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit, that he is risen againe from the dead.

7 The taking away of an obiection: Trueth it is, that he is kept in prison, as an evill doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should goe about to derogate credit from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did blesse his ministerie, nay rather, that example of this his captivitie and patience did sundrie wayes confirme the Church in the hope of a better life.

8 The fourth admonition: wee ought not to contend upon words and questions, which are not onely unprofitable, but also for the most part hurt full: but rather upon this, how we may frame our selves to all maner of patience, and to doe also with Christ (that is to say, for Christes Name) because that is the plaine way to the most glorious life: as contrariwise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the trueth of God, although by such meanes they procure most certaine destruction to themselves.

✣ Rom. 6,5. c If we be afflicted with Christ, and for Christes sake. ✣ Matt. 10,33. marke 8,38. * Rom. 3,3. and 9,6. d Call God to witnesse, or as a iudge: as Moses, Ioshua, Samuel, and Paul himselfe did, Acts 20. 9 The fifth admonition: A minister must not be an idle disputer, but a faithfull steward in dividing aright the word of trueth, insomuch that hee most stop the mouthes of other vaine baolers. e By adding nothing to it neither overstipping any thing, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to beare, and what is fit to edifying. f Marke and watch, and see they creepe not on further. 10 He discovereth the subtilitie of Satan, who beginning with these principles draweth us on little and little to ungodlinesse through the meanes of that wicked and profane babling, still creeping on: which he proveth by the horrible example of them that taught, that the resurrection was alreadie past. 11 A digression: wherein he salveth that offence that rose by their falling away: shewing first, that the elect are out of all danger or any such falling away: secondly, that they are knowen to God and not to us: and therefore it is no marvell if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but we must take heed that we be not like them, but rather that we be indeed, such as we are sayd to be.

g That serveth and worshippeth him, and is as it were named of him, a faithfull man or Christian.

5 He condemneth everally, and excommunicateth or caſteth out of the Church as proud men, ſuch as content not themſelves with Chriſts doctrine, (that is to ſay, the doctrine of godlineſſe) but weazie both themſelves and others in vaine queſtions, (for all other things are vaine) becauſe they content not themſelves in Chriſts doctrine: and as lying deceivers, becauſe they favour or ſound of nothing but vanitie: as madde men, becauſe they trouble themſelves ſo much in matters of nothing: as miſchievous plagues, for that they cauſe great contentions, and corrupt mens mindes and iudgement: to be ſhort, as prophane and wicked, becauſe they abuſe the precious name of godlineſſe and religion to filthly lucre. b Striving about words and not about matter: and by words he meaneth all thoſe things which have no pith in them, and whereby we can reape no profite. c Such as we ſee in thoſe ſhameleſſe ſchooles of Poperie, which are nothing elſe but vaine babbling and prating. 6 Hee turneth away fitly the name of gaine and lucre, confeſſing that godlineſſe is great gaine, but farre after an other ſort, to wit, becauſe it bringeth true ſufficience. 7 Hee mocketh their folie, which doe ſo greedily gape after fraile things, that they can in no wiſe be ſatisfied, and yet notwithſtanding they cannot enioy that exceſſe. 8 He frayeth Timothie from covetouſneſſe after another ſort, to wit, becauſe it draweth with it an infinite ſort of luſts, and thoſe very burtfull, wherewith covetous men doe torment themſelves ſo farre foorth, that in the ende they caſt away from them their faith and ſalvation. d So sowne and griefe do as it were pearce thorow the minde of man, and are the harveſt and true fruits of covetouſneſſe. 9 A peculiar exhortation to divers vertues, wherewith it behooveth the Paſtours eſpecially to be furniſhed. e Whom the Spirit of God ruleth.

3 5 If any man teach otherwiſe, and conſenteth not to the wholeſome words of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, and to the doctrine which is according to godlineſſe.

4 Hee is puft up and knoweth nothing, but doteth about queſtions and b ſtrive of wordes, whereof commeth envie, ſtrive, railings, evill ſurmiſings,

5 Froward c diſputations of men of corrupt mindes and deſtitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlineſſe: from ſuch ſeparate thy ſelfe.

6 6 But godlineſſe is great gaine, if a man be content with that hee hath.

7 7 For wee brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out.

8 Therefore when wee have foode and raiment, let us therewith be content.

9 8 For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and ſnares, and into many fooliſh and noyſome luſtes, which drowne men in perdition and deſtruction.

10 For the deſire of money is the roote of all evill, which while ſome luſted after, they erred from the faith, and d pearced themſelves thorow with many ſorowes.

11 9 But thou, O e man of God, flee theſe things, and follow after righteouſneſſe, godlineſſe, faith, love, patience, and meekeneſſe.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay holde of eternall life, whereunto thou art alſo called, and haſt profeſſed a good profeſſion before many witneſſes.

13 * 10 I charge thee in the ſight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Ieſus Chriſt, which under Pontius Pilate ‡ witneſſeth a good confeſſion.

14 That thou keepe this commandement without ſpot, and unrebukeable, untill the appearing of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

15 Which in due time he ſhall ſhewe, that is f * bleſſed and Prince onely, the King of kings and Lord of lords.

16 Who onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine unto, † whom never man ſawe, neither can ſee, unto whom be honour and power everlaſting, Amen.

17 11 Charge them that are rich in g this world, that they be not high minded, and that they * truſt not in uncertaine riches, but in the h living God, (which giveth us abundantly all things to enioy.)

18 That they doe good, and be rich in good works, and be ready to diſtribute, and communicate,

19 * 12 Laying up in ſtore for themſelves a good foundation againſt the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life.

20 13 O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed unto thee, and avoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppoſitions of ſcience falſly ſo called,

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

He commendeth Timotheus faith, 6 and exhorteth him to go on faithfully in the charge committed unto him: 8 and that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the revolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apoſtleſhip. 14 He willeth him to have care of the thing committed unto him, 16 and prayſeth Onefiphorus.

PAul an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt by the will of God, a according to the promiſe of life which is in Chriſt Ieſus.

2 To Timotheus my beloved ſonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

3 1 I thanke God, † whome I ſerve from mine b elders with pure conſcience, that without ceaſing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day.

4 Deſiring to ſee thee, mindfull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy:

5 When I call to remembrance the unfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt firſt in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am aſſured that it dwelleth in thee alſo.

6 2 Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou c ſtirre up the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands,

7 For God hath not given to us the Spirit of d feare, but of power, and of love, and of a ſound minde.

8 8 Be not therefore aſhamed of the teſtimo-

a Sent of God to preach that life which he promiſed in Chriſt Ieſus.
1 The chiefeſt marke that he ſhooteth at in this Epiſtle, is to confirme Timothie to continue conſtantly and manfully even to the end, ſetting firſt before him the great good will bee beareth him, and then reckoning up the excellent gifts which God would as it were have to be by inheritance in Timothie, and his anceſtours, which might ſo much the more make him bound to God. † Acts 22.3. b From Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob: for he ſpeaketh not of Phariſaiſme, but of Chriſtianiſme.

z He warneth us to ſet the invincible power of the Spirit, which God hath given us, againſt thoſe ſtormes which may and doe come upon us.
c The gift of God is as it were a certaine lively flame kindled in our hearts, which the fleſh and the devill go about to put out; and therefore we on the contrary ſide muſt labour as much as we can to foſter and keepe it burning. d To pearce us thorow, and terrifie us, as men whom the Lord will deſtroy. 3 He prooveth that the ignominie or ſhame of the croſſe is not onely not to be aſhamed of, but alſo that it is glorious and moſt honourable: firſt, becauſe the Goſpel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the teſtimonie of Chriſt: and ſecondly, becauſe at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them, nie of our Lord, neither of me e his prisoner : but be partaker of the afflictions of the f Gospel according to the g power of God.

9 4 Who hath saved us, and called us with an ✣ holy calling, not according to our ✣ works, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was h given to us through Christ Iesus i before the * world was.

10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Saviour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitie unto k light through the Gospel.

11 ✣ 5 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 6 For the which cause I also suffer these things, 7 but I am not ashamed : for I know whom I have beleeved, and I am perswaded that he is able to keepe that which I have committed to him against that day.

13 8 Keepe the true paterne of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and love which is in Christ Iesus.

14 9 That woorthy thing, which was committed to thee, keepe 10 through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in us.

15 11 This thou knoweſt, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me : of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord give mercie unto the house of Onesiphorus : for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chaine,

17 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord graunt unto him, that he may finde mercy with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministred unto me at Ephesus, thou knoweſt very well.

e For his sake. f The Gospel after a sort is sayd to be afflicted in them that preach it. g Through the power of God. 4 Hee sheweth with how great benefits God hath bound us to maintein boldly and constantly his glorie which is joyned with our salvation, and reckoneth up the causes of our salvation, to wit, that free and eternall purpose of God to save us in Christ which was to come, whereby it should come to passe, that wee should at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, to Christ the destroyer of death and authour of immortalitie.

10 The taking away of an obiection. 17 That the e man of God may be abſolute, being made perfect unto all good works.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He chargeth him to preach the Goſpel with all diligence, 3 in that ſo miſerable a time: 6 that his death is hard at hand, 8 yet ſo, that as a conqueroure hee maketh haſte to a glorious triumph. 10 He ſheweth the cauſe why he ſendeth for Timothie. 11 even by reaſon of his preſent ſtate.

I 1 Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which ſhall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdome,

2 Preach the word: be inſtant, in ſeaſon, and out of ſeaſon, improoue, rebuke, exhort with all long ſuffering and doctrine.

3 2 For the time will come when they will not ſuffer wholeſome doctrine: but having their eares itching, ſhall after their owne luſts get them an heape of teachers,

4 And ſhall turne their eares from the trueth, and ſhallbe given unto 2 fables.

5 3 But watch thou in all things: ſuffer adverſitie: doe the worke of an Euangeliſt: b cauſe thy miniſtery to be thorowly liked of.

6 4 For I am now ready to be c offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I have fought a good fight, and have finiſhed my courſe: I have kept the faith.

8 For henceforth is layd up for me the crowne of righteouſneſſe, which the Lord the righteous Iudge ſhall give mee at that day: and not to mee onely, but untoall them alſo that love that his appearing.

9 5 Make ſpeed to come unto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forſaken me, and hath d embraced this preſent world, and is departed unto Theſſalonica. Creſcens is gone to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.

11 ✣ Onely Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for he is profitable unto mee to miniſter.

12 And Tychicus have I ſent to Epheſus.

13 The cloake that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou commeſt, bring with thee, and the books, but ſpecially the parchments.

14 Alexander the copperſmith hath done mee much evill: the Lord reward him according to his works.

1 The principall and chiefe of all admonitions, being therefore propoſed with a moſt earneſt charge, is this: That the word of God be propounded with a certaine holie importunitie, as neceſſitie requireth: but ſo, that a good and true ground of the doctrine be layd, and the vehemencie be tempered with all holy meekeneſſe.
2 Faithfull Paſtours in times paſt tooke all occaſions they could, becauſe men were very prompt and ready to returne to their fabels.
a To falſe and unprofitable doctrines, which the world is now ſo bewitched withall, that it had rather the open light of the truth were vtterly put out, when it would come out of darkneſſe.
3 The wickedues and falling away of the world, ought to cauſe faithfull miniſters to be ſo much the more carefull.
b Proove and ſtrengthen by good & ſubſtantiall proofe, that thou art the true miniſter of God.
4 Hee foretelleth his death to be at hand, and ſetteth before them an excellent exemple, both of invincible conſtancie and ſure hope. c To be offered for a drinke offering: and he alludeth to the powring out of blood or wine which was uſed in ſacrifices. 5 The laſt part of the Epiſtle, ſeizing forth grievous complaints againſt certaine, and examples of ſingular godlineſſe in every place, and of a minde never wearied. d Contented himſelfe with this world. ✣ Coloſſ.4,10,14.

5 The eight admonition, which is moſt precious: A Paſtour muſt be wiſe by the word of God only: wherein we have perfectly delivered unto us, whatſoever pertaineth either to diſcerne, knoow and eſtabliſh true opinions, and to confute falſe, and furthermore, to correct evill matters, and to frame good.

16 At my first answering no man assisted mee, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened mee, that by me the preaching might be fully beleeved, and that all the Gentiles should heare: and I was delivered out of the mouth of the e lyon.

e Of Nero.

18 And the Lord will deliver mee from every f evill worke, and will preserve me unto his g heavenly kingdome: to whom be prayse for ever and ever. Amen.

f Preserve me pure from committing any thing unworthy my Apostleship.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TITVS.

CHAP. I.

6 He sheweth what kinde of men ought to be chosen Ministers: 10 howe vaine babblers mouthes should be stopped: 12 and through this occasion hee toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Iewes, who put holinesse in outward things.

PAul, a a servant of God, & an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods b elect, & the acknowledging of the trueth, which is according unto godlines.

1 He voucheth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for the Cretenses sake) both by the testimonie of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

a Minister, as Christ himselfe, in that that he was a minister and head of the Prophets, is called a servant, Esa.42,1.

b Of these whom God hath chosen.

2 Vnto the c hope of eternall life, which God that cannot lye, hath d promised before the ✣ e world began:

a The faith wherein all the elect consent, is the true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this ende, that worshipping God aright they may at length obtain life everlasting according to the promise of God, who is true, which promise was exhibited to Christ in due time according to his eternall purpose.

3 But hath made his worde manifest in due time through the preaching, which is ✣ committed unto mee according to the commandement of God our f Saviour:

4 To Titus my naturall sonne according to the common faith, 5 Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ our Saviour.

5 6 For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the things that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in every citie as I appointed thee.

6 * If any be unreprooveable, the husband of one wife, having faithfull children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are g disobedient.

7 For a Bishop must be unreprooveable, as Gods h steward, not i froward, not angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre,

8 But harborous, one that loveth goodnesse, k wise, righteous, holy, temperate,

9 ℓ Holding fast that faithfull worde according to doctrine, 9 that hee also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and convince them that say against it.

c Hope is the ende of faith. d Freely, and of his meere liberalitie. e Looke 2.Tim.1,9. 2.pet.1,20. ✣ Rom.16.25 ephes.3,9. coloss.1,26 1.tim 1,9. 3 This trueth is no other where to be sought, but in the preaching of the Apostle. ✣ Gal.1,1. f This word (Saviour) doth onely signifie a preserver of life, but also a giver of life. 4 The Apostle moveth the Cretenses to heare Titus, by setting foorth his consent and agreement with him in the faith, and therewithall sheweth by what speciall note we may distinguish true ministers from false. 5 There is but one way of salvation common both to the Pastour and the flocke. 6 The first admonition, to ordeine Elders in every citie. * 1.Tim.3.2. g This word is proper to horses and oxen, which will not abide the yoke. 7 The second admonition, what faults pastours (whom hee comprehended afore under the worde Elders) ought to be voyd of, and what vertues they ought to have. h Whom the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts. i Not hard conditioned, and evill to please. k Circumspect, of a sound judgement, and of a singular example of moderation. ℓ The thirde admonition: The Pastour must hold fast that doctrine, which the Apostles delivered, and pertaineth to salvation, leaving all curious and vaine matters. 9 The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine unto use, which consisteth in two things, to wit, in governing them which shew themselves apt to learne, and confuting the obstinate.

10 10 For there are many disobedient and vaine talkers and deceivers of mindes, chiefly they of the l Circumcision,

10 An applying of the generall proposition to a particular: The Cretenses above all other neede sharpe reprehensions: both because their minds are naturally given to lies and slouthfulnesse, and because of certaine covetous Iewes, which under a colour of godlinesse joyned partly certaine vaine traditions, and partly olde ceremonies with the Gospel.

l Of the Iewes, or rather of these Iewes, which went about to joyne Christ and the Law together.

11 Whose mouthes must be stopped, which subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucres sake.

12 m One of themselves, even one of their owne Prophets said, The Cretians are alwayes lyars, evill beasts, slow bellies.

13 This witnesse is true: wherefore convince them m sharply, that they may be found in the faith.

14 And not taking heed to ✣ Iewish fables, and commandements of men, that turne away from the trueth.

15 11 Vnto the pure * are all things pure, but unto them that are defiled, and unbeleeving, is nothing pure, but even their o mindes & consciences are defiled.

16 They professe that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable and disobedient, and unto every good worke reprobate.

m Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet upon Laertius and Cicero in his first booke of Divination. n Roughly and plainely, and goe not about the bush with them. ✣ 1.Tim.1,4.

11 Hee sheweth in few words, that puritie consisteth not in any externall worship, and that is according to the olde Law, (as in difference of meats, and washing and other such things which are abolished) but in the minde and conscience: and whosoever teach otherwise, know not what is true religion indeed, and also are nothing lesse then that they would seeme to be. * Rom.14,20. o If our mindes and consciences be unclean, what cleannesse is there in us before regeneration?

CHAP. II.

1 He setteth out the duelties of sundry persons and states, 6 and willeth him to instruct the Church in manners. 11 Hee draweth an argument from the end of our redemption, 12 which is, that we live godly and uprightly.

BUt 1 speake thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,

1 The first admonition: The doctrine must not onely be generally pure, but also be applied to all ages and orders of men, according to the diversity of circumstances.

2 2 That the elder men be watchfull, grave, temperate, sound in the faith, in love, and in patience:

a What are the chiefest vertues for old and yong, both men & women: and how they ought to be stirred up into them continually.

3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behaviour, as becommeth holinesse, not false accusers, not subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things.

4 That they may instruct the young women to be sober minded, that they love their husbands, that they love their children,

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWES.

THe drift and end of this Epistle, is to shew that Iesus Christ the Sonne of God both God and man is that true eternall and onely Prophet King and high Priest that was shadowed by the figures of the olde Lawe, and is now indeed exhibited of whom the whole Church ought to be taught governed and sanctified.

CHAP. I.

a To shew that the doctrine which Christ brought, is most excellent, in that it is the knitting up of all prophecies. 4 he advanceth him above the Angels: 10 And proveth by divers testimonies of the Scripture, that he farre passeth all other.

1 The first part of the generall proposition of this Epistle: The Sonne of God is in deede that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that that God after a sort and in shadowes signified by his Prophets and hath fully openeth his Fathers will to the world.

a So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing must be added to this latter.

b Which one Sonne is God and man.

2 The second part of the same proposition: The same Sonne is appointed of the Father to be our king and Lord, by whom also he made all things, and in whom onely he setteth foorth his glory, yea and himselfe also to be beholden of us, who teareth up and susteineth all things by his will and pleasure.

c Possessour and equall compartner of all things with the Father.

d That is, whatsoever hath been at any time, is, or shalbe.

e Col. 1.15.

f But in whom that glorie and Maiestie of the Father shineth, who is otherwise infinite, and cannot be beholden.

g Susteineth, defendeth and cherisheth.

3 The third part of the same proposition. The same Sonne executed the office of the hie Priest in offering up himselfe, and is our onely and most mightie Mediatour in heaven

h This sheweth that the sufficiency of that his sacrifice is notwithstanding most acceptable to the Father, but also is everlasting, and furthermore how farre this high Priest passeth all the other high Priests.

4 Before he commeth to declare the office of Christ he setteth foorth the excellencie of his person, and first of all he sheweth him so to be man that therewithall hee is God also.

i Dignitie and honour. 5,6 7,8.9. ✠ He prooveth and confirmeth the divinitie of Christ manifested in the flesh by these sixe evident testimonies, whereby it appeareth that he farre passeth all Angels, in so much that he is called both Sonne, and God, in verses 5,6 8.10.13. ✠ Psal 2.7 chap. 5.5. ✠ The Father begate the Sonne from everlasting, but that everlasting generation was made manifest and represented to the world in his time, and therefore he addeth this world (To day) 2 Sam. 7 14. 1 chron 22.10. ‖ The Lord was not contens to have spoken it once, but repeateth it in another place. ✠ Psal. 97.7.

a That of he inferreth, that good heede must be given to Christes doctrine: 9 And he setteth him out unto us even as our brother in our flesh, that we may with a good will yeelde up our selves wholy unto him.

4 ✣ God bearing witnesse thereto, both with c signes and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his owne will?

5 3 For he hath not put in subiection unto the Angels the f world to come, whereof we speake.

6 4 But ✣ one in a certaine place witnessed, saying, g What is man, that thou shouldest be mindefull of him? or the h sonne of man, that thou wouldest consider him?

7 Thou i madest him a little inferiour to the Angels: thou crownedst him with k glory and honour, and hast set him above the workes of thine hands.

8 * Thou hast put all things in subiection under his feete. And in that he hath put all things in subiection under him, he left nothing that should not be subiect unto him. 5 But wee yet see not all things subdued unto him.

9 6 But wee l see Iesus crowned with glory and honour, ✲ which was made little m inferiour to the Angels, 7 through the n suffering of death, that by Gods grace he might o taste death for 8 all men.

10 9 For it became p him, for whom are these things, and by whome are all these things, 10 seeing that hee brought many children unto glory, 11 that he should consecrate the p Prince of their salvation through afflictions.

11 12 For he that r sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of 1 one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren,

12 13 Saying, ✣ I will declare thy Name unto my brethren: in the middes of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

13 14 And againe, ✣ I will put my t trust in him. And againe, * u Beholde, here am I, and the children which God hath given me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are g partakers of flesh and blood, he also himselfe likewise tooke part with them, that hee might destroy ✣ through death, him that had the y power of death, that is, the z devill.

15 And that hee might deliver all them, which for feare of a death were all their life time subiect to bondage.

16 15 For he in no sort tooke on him the b Angels nature, but hee tooke on him the c seede of Abrahaam.

17 16 Wherefore in d all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be e mercifull, and a f faithfull hie Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the sinnes of the people.

18 For in that he suffered, and was g tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

d By the Apostles. Marke 16.20.

e This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called figures, because they appeare one thing, and represent another: and they are called wonders, because they represent some strange and unaccustomed things and vertues, because they give us a glimse of Gods mightie power.

3 If it were an hainous matter to condemne the Angels which are but servants, much more hainous is it to contemne that most mightie King of the restored world.

f The worlde to come, whereof Christ is Father, Esa.2.6. or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Gospell.

4 He sheweth that the use of this kingly dignitie consisteth herein, that men might not onely Christ recover that dignitie which they have lost, but also might be through him advanced above all things, which dignitie of men David describeth most excellently. ✣ Psal.8.6. g What is man that thou shouldest have so great regard of him, and doe him that honour? h He calleth all the citizens of that heavenly kingdome as they are considered in themselves, before that God giveth them the libertie, of that citie in Christ, Man, and Son of man.

i This is the first honour of the citizens of the world to come, that they are next the Angels. k For they shall be in very great honour, when they shalbe partakers of the kingdome. And he speaketh of the thing that shalbe, as though it were already, because it is so certaine. * 1 Cor.15.27. 5 An obiection: But where is this so great rule and dominion? 6 The answere: This is already fulfilled in Iesus Christ our head, who was for a time for our sakes inferiour to the Angels, being made man: but now is advanced into most high glory. l By this vertue and power which appeareth manifestly in the Church. ✲ Phil.2.8. m Who abased himselfe for a season, and tooke upon him the shape of a servant. 7 He sheweth the cause of this obiection, 10 wit, to taste of death for our sakes, that so doing the part of a redeemer, he might not onely be our Prophet and King, but also our high Priest. n That hee might die. o Feele death. 8 Herein consisteth the force of the argument: for wee could not at length be glorified with him, unlesse hee had bene abased for us even all the faithfull. And by this occasion the Apostle commeth to the other part of the declaration of Christes person, wherein hee prooveth him to be in such sort God, that hee is also man. 9 Hee prooveth moreover by other arguments, why it behoveth the Sonne of God who is the true God (as he prooveth a little before) to become man notwithstanding, subiect to all miseries, sinne onely except. p God 10 First of all, because the Father, to whose glory all these things are to be referred, purposed to bring many sonnes unto glory. And how could hee have men for his sonnes, unlesse his onely begotten Sonne had become brother to men? 11 Secondly, The Father determineth to bring whose sonnes to glory, to wit, out of that ignominie wherein they lay before. Therefore the Sonne shou'd not have bene seene plaiuely to be made man, unlesse hee had bene made like unto other men, that he might come to glory by the selfe same way, by the which he should bring other: yea rather, it became him which was Prince of the salvation of other, to be consecrated above other, although those afflictions, Prophet, King, and Priest, which are the partes of that principalitie for the salvation of other. q The Chiefetaine, who as he is chiefest in dignitie, so is hee the first begotten from among the dead amongst many brethren. 12 The ground of both the former arguments: for neither should wee be sonnes through him, neither could he be consecrate through afflictions, unlesse hee hath bene made man like unto us. But because this Sonnehoode dependeth not upon nature onely, for no man is accompted the sonne of God, unlesse that besides that he is a sonne of a man, he be also Christs brother (which is by sanctification, that is, by becomming one with Christ, who sanctifieth us through faith) therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit, of all the faithfull, whom therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren. r He useth the time that now is, to shew us that we are yet still going on, and increasing in this sanctification, and by sanctification he meaneth our separation from the rest of the world, our cleansing from sinne, and our dedication wholly unto God, all which Christ alone worketh in us. s One, of one selfe same nature of man.

13 That which he taught before of the incarnation of the sanctifier, he applieth to the propheticall office.

✣ Psal.22.25.

14 He applieth the same to the kingly power of Christ in delivering his from the power of the devill and death.

✣ Psal.18.2.

t I will commit my selfe to him, and to his defence.

* Esai.8.18.

u This Esai speaketh of himselfe and his disciples, but betokening thereby all ministers as also his disciples signifie the whole Church. And there fore seeing Christ is the head of the Prophets and ministers, these wordes are more rightly verified of him, then of Esay. x Are made of flesh and blood which is a fraile and brittle nature. * Hos 13.14. 1.cor.15.55. y The devill is sayd to have the power of death, because he is the authour of sinne: and from sinne commeth death, and for this cause he eggeth us dayly to sinne. z He speaketh of one as of the Prince, ioyning to him secretly all his angels. a By (death) thou must understand here that death which is ioyned with the wrath of God, as it must needes be, if it be without Christ. then the which there can be nothing devised more miserable.

15 Hee expounderh these words of flesh and blood; shewing that Christ is true man, and that not by turning his divine nature, but by taking of mans nature. And he meaneth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalfe. b The nature of Angels. c The very nature of man. 16 Hee applieth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not have benefit, unlesse he had become man, and that like unto us in all things, sinne onely except. d Not onely as touching nature, but qualities also. e That he might be truely touched with the feeling of our miseries. f Doing his office sincerely. g Was tried and egged to wickednesse by the devill.

CHAP. III.

1 Now he sheweth how farre inferiour Moses is to Christ,
5,6 even so much as the servant to the Master: and so he bringeth in certaine exhortations and threatnings taken out of David,
8 against such as either stubburnely resist,
12 or els are very slowe to obey.

1 WHerefore, a holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly vocation, consider the a Apostle and high Priest of our b profession Christ Iesus:

2 a Who was faithfull to him that hath c appointed him, even as ✲ Moses was in all his house.

3 4 For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moses, inasmuch as he which had builded the house, hath more honour then the house.

4 For every house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

5 5 Now Moses verely was faithfull in all his house, as a servant, for a witnesse of the things

1 Having layd the foundation, that is to say, declared and prooved both the natures of one selfe same Christ, he giveth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, King, and Priest: and as touching the office of teaching and governing, compareth them with Moses and Ioshua, unto the 24. verse of the next chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth b that which he purposeth to speake of, with a most grave exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the onely everlasting teacher, governour, and high Priest. a The Embassadour or messenger, as Rom.15.8 he is called the minister of circumcision. b Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we professe. c He confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all because Christ Iesus was appointed such a one of God: secondly, because he throughly executed the offices that his Father enioyned him. c Apostle and high Priest. 3 Now hee commeth to the comparison with Moses, and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers over Gods house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after hee sheweth that there is great unlikelinesse in that similitude.

✲ Num.12.7. 4 The first comparison: The builder of the house is better then the house it selfe, therefore is Christ better then Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house. 5 An other comparison: Moses was a faithfull servant in this house, that is, in the Church, seeing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and governeth his house as Lord.

which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Sonne, over his owne house, 6 whose d house we are, if we hold fast that e confidence and that reioycing of that hope unto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, ✣ To day if ye f shall heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the g provocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wilderneſſe,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, prooved me, and saw my works fourtie yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and sayd, They h erre ever in their heart, neither have they knowen my wayes.

11 Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 7 Take heed brethren, least at any time there be in any of you an evill heart, and unfaithfull, to depart away from the living God.

13 But exhort one another dayly, i while it is called to day, least any of you be hardened through the deceitfulneſſe of sinne.

14 8 For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure unto the end that k beginning, wherewith we are upholden,

15 1 So long as it is sayd, To day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation.

16 For some when they heard, provoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whom was hee displeased fourtie yeeres? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, ✣ whose carkeises fell in the wilderneſſe?

18 And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but unto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of unbeliefe.

6 He applieth the former doctrine to this end exhorting all men by the words of David to beare the Sonne himselfe speake, and to give full credit to his wordes, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternall rest.

d To wit, Christes.

e He calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby we crie, Abba that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence he joyneth hope.

✣ Psal. 95, 8. chap. 4. 7.

f So that God was to speake once against after Moses.

g In the day that they vexed the Lord, or broke with him.

h They are brutish and madde.

7 Now weying the words of David, he sheweth first by this word, To day, that wee must not neglect the occasion while we have it: for that word is not to be restrained to Davids time, but it comprehendeth all that time wherein God calleth us.

i While to day lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to us.

8 Now he considereth these words, If you heare his voyce, &c. shewing that they are spoken and meant of the hearing of faith against which he seeth hardening through unbeliefe.

k That beginning and trust and confidence: and after the manner of the Hebrewes, he calleth that beginning, which is chiefest.

1 So long as this voyce soundeth out.

✣ Num. 14. 37.

CHAP. IV.

1 He inyeth exhortation with threatning, lest they, even as their fathers were be deprived of the rest offered unto them. 11 but that they endeavour to enter into it. 14 And so he beginneth to intreate of Christes Priesthood.

LEt us feare therefore, least at any time by forsaking the promise of entring into his rest, any of you should seeme to be deprived.

2 1 For unto us was the Gospel preached as also unto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, because it was not a mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 2 For wee which have beleeved, doe enter into rest, as he said to the other, ✣ As I have sworne in my wrath, If they shall enter into any rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For hee spake in a certaine place of the seventh day on this wise, ✣ And God did rest the seventh day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereunto, and they to whom it was first preached, entred not therein for unbeliefs sake:

7 Againe hee appointed in David a certaine day, by To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is said, * This day, if yee heare his voyce, harden not your hearts.

8 For if b Iesus had given them rest, then would he not after this have spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

10 c For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne works, as God did from his.

11 3 Let us studie therefore to enter into that rest, least d any man fall after the same ensample of disobedience.

12 4 For the e word of God is lively, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sword, and entreth thorow, even unto the dividing asunder of the s soule and the h spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in i his sight: but all things are naked and open unto his eyes, with whom we have to doe.

14 5 Seeing then that we have a great hie Priest, which is entred into heaven, even Iesus the Sonne of God, let us k holde fast our profession.

15 6 For we have not an high Priest, which can not be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.

16 Let us therefore goe boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may receive mercie, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

✣ Gene. 2. 2. deut. 5. 14.

* Chap. 3. 7.

b He speaketh of Ioshua the sonne of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our true rest, so was Ioshua a figure of Christ.

c As God rested the seventh day, so must we rest from our workes, that is, from such as proceede from our corrupt nature.

3 He returneth to an exhortation.

d Least any man become a like example of infidelitie.

4 An amplification taken from the nature of the word of God, the power whereof is such, that it entreth even to the deepest and most inward and secret parts of the heart, wounding them deadly that stubburne, & plainely quicking the beleevers.

e The doctrine of God, which is preached both in the Law and in the Gospel.

f He calleth the word of God lively by reason of the effects it worketh in them to whom it is preached.

g He calleth that the soule, which hath the affections resident in it.

h By the spirit, he meaneth that more blest part which is calleth the minde.

i In Gods sight.

5 Now he entreth into the comparison of Christes Priesthoode with Aarons, and declareth even in the very beginning the marveilous excellencie of this Priesthood, calling him the Sonne of God and placing him in the seat of God in heaven, plainely and evidently setting him against Aarons Priests, and the transitorie tabernacle: which comparisons he setteth foorth afterward more at large.

k And let it not goe out of your hands.

6 Least he might seeme by this great glory of our high Priest, to stay and stoppe us from going unto him, he addeth straightwayes after, that he is notwithstanding our brother in deede, (as hee prooved it also before) and that hee accounteth all our miseries, his owne, to call us boldly to him.

CHAP. V.

1 First he sheweth the duetie of the hie Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to be our hie Priest, 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

FOr 1 every hie Priest is taken from among men, and is ordeined for men, in things pertaining to God, 2 that he may offer both a giftes and b sacrifices for sinnes.

2 Which is c able sufficiently to have compassion d on them that are ignorant, and that are

1 By these words, His voyce, he sheweth that David meant the preaching of Christ, who was then also preached, for Moses and the Prophets respected none other.

a He compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drinke, which being drunke, that is to say, heare, profiteth nothing, unlesse it be tempered with faith.

2 Least any man should obiect, that those words were meant of the land of Canaan, and of Moses doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawen to Christ, and to eternall life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two manner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one, of the seventh day, wherein God is sayd to have rested from all his works: another is said to be that same, whereinto Ioshua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereunto we are called and that he prooveth by two reasons. For seeing that David so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, useth these words, To day, and threatneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refuseth then the voyce of God that sounded in their eares, we must needs say that he meant another time then the time of Moses, and another rest then the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is, that everlasting rest, wherein we begin to live to God after that the race of this life ceaseth: as God reteth the seventh day from those his workes, that is to say, from making the world. Moreover, the Apostle therewithall signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan and all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospel onely.

1 The first part of the first comparison of Christes high Priesthood, with Aarons: Other hie Priests are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men. 2 The first part of the second comparison. Others as weake, are made hie Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmitie in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their owne and the peoples name offer giftes and sacrifices, which are witnesses of common faith, and repentance. a Offering of things without life. b Beastes which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sinnes and offences. c Fit and meete. d On them that are sinfull: for in the Hebrew toogue, under ignorance and errour is every sinne meant, even those sinns that is voluntarie.

c For that he himſelfe becareth about with him a nature ſubiect to the ſame diſcommodities and vices.

4 The other part of the ſecond compariſon: Chriſt being exceedingly afflicted, and exceedingly mercifull, asked not for his ſinnes, for he had none, but for his feare, and obtained his requeſt, and offered himſelfe for all his.

g While he lived here with us, in our weake and fraile nature.

h To deliuer him from death. i He learned indeed what is to haue a Father, whom a man muſt obey. 5 The other part of the firſt compariſon: But Chriſt was conſecrate of God the Father as the authour of our ſalvation, and an hie Prieſt for ever, and therefore he is ſo a man, that notwithſtanding he is far above all men. k Looke chap 2, 10.

5 So likewiſe Chriſt tooke not to himſelfe this honour to be made the hie Prieſt, but he that ſayd unto him, ‡ Thou art my ſonne, this day begate I thee, gave it him.

CHAP. VI.

1 He briefly toucheth the childiſh ſlouthfulneſſe of the Hebrewes, 4 and terrifieth them with ſeuere threatnings: 7 He ſtirreth them up to endeuour in time to go forward: 9 He hopeth well of them: 13 He alledgeth Abrahams example: 17 And compareth faith that taketh holde on the word, 19 unto an ancre.

a The firſt principles of Chriſtian religion, which we cal the Catechiſme.

1 Certaine principles of a Catechiſme, which comprehend the ſumme of the doctrine of the Goſpel, were given in fewe words and briefly to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profeſſion of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demanded of them which were not as yet received members of the Church, at the dayes appointed for Baptiſme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancie, when handes were layed upon them. And of thoſe articles, two are by name recited: the reſurrection of the fleſh, and the eternall iudgement. 7 He addeth a vehemencie to his exhortation, and a moſt ſharpe threatning of the certaine deſtruction that ſhall come to them which fall from God and his religion. ✠ Chapter 10, 26. matth. 12, 45. 2. pet. 2, 10. b He ſpeaketh of a generall backſliding, and ſuch as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of ſinnes which are committed through the frailtie of man againſt the firſt and the ſecond table. c We muſt marke the force of this word, for it is one thing to beleeue as Lydia did, whoſe heart God opened, Acts 16, 13. and another thing to haue ſome taſte.

1 Herefore, leaving the doctrine of the a beginning of Chriſt, let us be led forward unto perfection, 1 not lying againe the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptiſmes, and laying on of handes, and of the reſurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this will we doe if God permit.

4 2 ‡ For it is b impoſsible that they which were once lightened, and have c taſted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghoſt,

5 And have taſted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come,

6 If they fall away, ſhould be renued againe by repentance: ſeeing they d crucifie againe to themſelves the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him.

7 3 For the earth which drinketh in the raine that commeth oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meete for them by whom it is dreſſed, receiveth bleſsing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reprooved, and is neere unto curſing, whoſe end is to be burned.

9 4 But beloved, we have perſwaded our ſelves better things of you, and ſuch as accompany ſalvation, though we thus ſpeake.

10 5 For God is not unrighteous, that he ſhould forget your worke, and labour of love, which yee ſhewed toward his Name, in that ye have miniſtred unto the Saints, and yet miniſter.

11 And wee deſire that every one of your ſhew the ſame diligence, to the full aſſurance of hope unto the end,

12 6 That ye be not ſlouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherit the promiſes.

13 7 For when God made the promiſe to Abraham, becauſe he had no greater to ſweare by, hee ſware by himſelfe,

14 Saying, ✠ Surely I will e abundantly bleſſe thee, and multiply thee marveilouſly.

15 And ſo after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promiſe.

16 For men verely ſware by him that is greater then themſelves, and an oathe for confirmation is among them an end of all ſtrife.

17 So God, willing more f abundantly to ſhew unto the heires of promiſe the ſtableneſſe of his counſell, bound himſelfe by an oathe,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is unpoſsible, that God ſhould lie, wee might have ſtrong conſolation, which have our refuge to lay holde upon that hope that is ſet before us,

19 8 Which hope wee have, as an acre of the ſoule, but ſure and ſtedfaſt, and it entreth into that which is within the vaile,

20 9 Whither the forerunner is for us entred in, even Ieſus that is made an hie Prieſt for ever after the order of Melchi-ſedec.

d As men that hate Chriſt, and as though they crucified him againe, make him a mocking ſtocke to all the world, and that to their owne deſtruction, as Iulian the Apoſtate, or backſlider did.

3 He ſetteth foorth the former threatning with a ſimilitude.

4 Hee mitigateth and aſſwageth all that ſharpneſſe, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.

5 He praiſeth them for their charitie, thereby encouraging them to goe forward, and to holde out to the end.

6 Hee ſheweth what vertues chiefly they have neede of to goe forward conſtantly, and alſo to profit: to wit, of charitie, and patience: and leaſt any man ſhould obiect and ſay, that theſe things are impoſſible to be done, he willeth them to ſet before themſelves the examples of their anceſters, and to follow them.

7 Another pricke to pricke them forward: Becauſe the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if we continue to the end, for God hath not onely promiſed it, but alſo promiſed it with an oathe.

✠ Gene 12, 2. and 17, 1. and 22, 17.

e I will heape up benefits moſt plentifully upon thee. f More then was needefull, were it not for the wickedneſſe of men which beleeue not God, no though he ſweare. 8 He likeneth hope to an ancre: becauſe that even as an ancre being caſt into the bottome of the ſea, ſtayeth the whole ſhip, ſo doeth hope alſo enter even into the very ſecret places of heaven. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old tabernacle, and by this meanes returneth to the compariſon of the Prieſthood of Chriſt with the Leviticall. 9 Hee repeateth Davids wordes, wherein all thoſe compariſons whereof he hath before made mention, are ſignified, as he declareth in all the next chapter.

CHAP. VII.

1 He hath hitherto ſtirred them up, to marke diligently what things are to be conſidered in Melchi-ſedec, 15 wherein he is like unto Chriſt. 20 Wherefore the Law ſhould give place to the Goſpel.

For this 1 Melchi-ſedec ‡ was King of Salem, the Prieſt of the moſt high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the ſlaughter of the Kings, and a bleſſed him:

2 To whom alſo Abraham gave the tithe of all things, who firſt is by interpretation King of righteouſneſſe: after that, he is alſo King of Salem, that is, King of peace.

1 Declaring thoſe words, According to the order of Melchi-ſedec, whereupon that compariſon ſtandeth of the Prieſthood of Chriſt with the Leviticall: firſt Melchi-ſedec himſelfe is conſidered as the figure of Chriſt, and theſe are the heades of that compariſon. Melchi-ſedec was a King and a Prieſt: and ſuch an one in deede is Chriſt alone. He was a King of peace and righteouſneſſe: ſuch an one in deed is Chriſt alone. ‡ Gen. 14, 18. a With a ſolemne and Prieſtly bleſſing.

2 An other figure: Melchi-ſedec ſet before vs to be conſidered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father nor his mother, nor his anceſters, nor his death are written of: and ſuch an one indeede is the Sonne of God, to wit, an everlaſting Prieſt: as he is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man without father wonderfully conceived.

3 An other figure: Melchi-ſedec in conſideration of his Prieſthood was above Abraham, for hee tooke tenths of him, and bleſſed him as a Prieſt: Such an one in deed is Chriſt, upon whom dependeth even Abrahams ſanctification and all the beleevers, and whom all men ought to worſhip and reverence as the author of all.

✣ Num. 18, 21.

b Were begotten of Abraham.

c He ſpeaketh of the publike bleſſing which the Priests uſed.

4 A double amplification. The firſt, that Melchiſedec tooke the tenths, as one immortall (to wit, in reſpect, that he is the figure of Chriſt, for his death is in no place made mention of, and David ſetteth him foorth as an everlaſting Prieſt) but the Levitticall Prieſts, as mortall men, for they ſucceede one another: the ſecond, that Levi himſelfe was tithed in Abraham by Melchi-ſedec. Therefore the Prieſthood of Melchi-ſedec (that is, Chriſtes who is pronounced to be an everlaſting Prieſt according to his order) is more excellent then the Levitticall. 5 The third treatiſe of this Epiſtle, wherein after hee hath prooved Chriſt to be a King, a Propher and a Prieſt, hee now handleth diſtinctly the condition and excellencie of all theſe offices, ſhewing that all theſe were but ſhadowes in all other, but in Chriſt they are true and perfect. And hee beginneth with the Prieſthoode, wherewith alſo the former treatiſe ended, that by this meanes all the parts and members of this diſputation, may better hang together. And firſt of all hee prooveth that the Levitticall Prieſthood was imperfect, becauſe another Prieſt is promiſed a long time after according to another order, that is to ſay, of another maner of rule and faſhion.

d If the Prieſthood of Levi could have made any man perfite.

6 Hee ſheweth how that by the inſtitution of the new Prieſthood, not onely the imperfection of the Prieſthood of Levi was declared, but alſo that it was changed for this: for theſe two cannot ſtand together, becauſe that firſt appointment of the tribe of Levi, did ſhut foorth the tribe of Iuda, and made it alſo inferiour to Levi: and this latter doeth place the Prieſthood in the tribe of Iuda.

e Of the inſtitution of Aaron. f Had any thing to doe about the altar. 7 Leaſt any man might obiect, that the Prieſthood indeed was tranſlated from Levi to Iuda, but yet notwithſtanding the ſame remaineth ſtill, hee both weigheth and expoundeth theſe wordes of David, for ever, according to the order of Melchi-ſedec, whereby alſo divers inſtitution of Prieſthood is well perceived. 8 He prooveth the diverſitie and excellencie of the inſtitution of Melchi-ſedecs Prieſthood, by this, that the Prieſthood of the Law did ſtand upon the outward and bodily anointing: but the ſacrifice of Melchiſedec is ſet out to be everlaſting and more ſpirituall.

g Not after the ordination, which commandeth fraile and tranſitorie things, as was done in Aarons conſecration, and all that whole Prieſthood. ✣ Pſalme 110, 4. chap. 5, 6.

3 2 Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither end of life: but is likened unto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Prieſt for ever.

4 3 Now conſider how great this man was, unto whom even the Patriarke Abraham gave the tithe of the ſpoiles.

5 For verely they which are the children of Levi, which receive the office of the Prieſthood, have a ✣ commandement to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they b came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But hee whoſe kinred is not counted among them, received tithes of Abraham, and bleſſed him that had the promiſes.

7 And c without all contradiction the leſſe is bleſſed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receive tithes: but there he receiveth them, of whom it is witneſſed, that he liveth.

9 4 And to ſay as the thing is, Levi alſo which receiveth tithes, payeth tithes in Abraham.

10 For hee was yet in the loines of his father Abraham, when Melchi-ſedec met him.

11 5 If therefore d perfection had bene by the Prieſthood of the Levites (for under it the Lawe was eſtabliſhed to the people e) what needed it furthermore, that another Prieſt ſhould riſe after the order of Melchi-ſedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 6 For if the Prieſthood be changed, then of neceſsitie muſt there be a change of the e Law.

13 For hee of whom theſe things are ſpoken, pertaineth unto another tribe, whereof no man f ſerved at the altar.

14 For it is evident, that our Lord ſprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moſes ſpake nothing touching the Prieſthood.

15 7 And it is yet a more evident thing, becauſe that after the ſimilitude of Melchi-ſedec there is riſen up another Prieſt.

16 8 Which is not made Prieſt after the g Law of the carnall commandement, but after the power of the endleſſe life.

17 For hee teſtifieth thus, ✣ Thou art a Prieſt for ever, after the order of Melchi-ſedec.

18 9 For the h commandement that went afore, is diſanulled, becauſe of the weakneſſe thereof, and unprofitableneſſe.

19 For the Law made nothing perfite, but the bringing in of a better hope, made perfite, whereby we draw neere unto God.

20 10 And foraſmuch as it is not without an oathe (for theſe are made Prieſts without an oathe:

21 But this is made with an oathe by him that ſayd unto him, ✣ The Lord hath ſworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Prieſt for ever, after the order of Melchi-ſedec.)

22 By ſo much is Ieſus made a ſuerty of a better Teſtament.

23 11 And among them many were made Prieſts, becauſe they were not ſuffered to endure, by the reaſon of death.

24 But this man, becauſe hee endureth ever, hath a Prieſthood, which i cannot paſſe from one to another.

25 Wherefore, hee is k able alſo perfectly to ſave them that come unto God by him, ſeeing hee ever liveth to make interceſsion for them.

26 12 For ſuch an hie Prieſt it became us to have, which is holy, harmeleſſe, undefiled, ſeparate from ſinners, and made higher then the heavens:

27 Which needeth not dayly as thoſe hie Prieſts to offer up ſacrifice, ✣ firſt for his owne ſinnes, and then for the peoples: 13 for l that did hee m once, when he offered up himſelfe.

28 For the Law maketh men hie Prieſts, which have infirmitie: but the n word of the oathe 14 that o was ſince the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is conſecrated for evermore.

9 Againe, that no man might obiect that the laſt Prieſthood was added to make a perfite one, by the coupling of them both together, hee prooveth that the firſt was abrogated by the latter, as unprofitable, and that by the nature of them both. For how could thoſe corporall and tranſitorie things ſanctifie us, either of themſelves, or being joyned with another?

h The ceremoniall lawe.

10 Another argument whereby hee prooveth that the Prieſthoode of Chriſt is better then the Prieſthood of Levi. becauſe it was eſtabliſhed with an oathe but theirs was not ſo.

✣ Pſal. 110, 4.

11 An other argument tending to the ſame purpoſe. The Levitticall Prieſts (as mortall men) could not be everlaſting, but Chriſt as he is everlaſting, ſo hath he alſo an everlaſting Prieſthood, making moſt effectuall interceſsion for them which by him come unto God.

i Which cannot paſſe away. k Hee is ſit and meet.

12 An other argument: Theſe are requited in an hie Prieſt innocencie, and perfect pureneſſe, which may ſeparate him from ſinners for whom hee offereth. But the Levitticall hie Prieſtes ſhall not be found to be ſuch, for they offer firſt for their owe ſinnes: But Chriſt onely is ſuch a one: and therefore the true and onely hie Priest. ✣ Levit. 16, 11.

13 An other argument which notwithſtanding hee handleth afterward: The Levitticall Prieſtes offered ſacrifice after ſacrifice, firſt for themſelves, and then for the people. But Chriſt offered not for himſelfe, but for other, not ſacrifices, but himſelfe, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to ſeeme ſtrange, ſayth he, forſomuch as they are weake, but this man is conſecrated an everlaſting Prieſt, and that by an oathe.

m It was ſo done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offered againe any more. n The commandement of God which was bound with an oathe. 14 An other argument taken of the time: former things are taken away by the latter.

o Exhibited.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To proove more certainely that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, 5 hee ſheweth that they were appointed to ſerve the heavenly paterne. 8 He bringeth in the place of Ieremie, 15 to proove the amendment of the olde covenant.

NOwe 1 of the things which wee have ſpoken, this is the ſumme, that wee have ſuch an high Prieſt, that ſitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maieſtie in heavens,

1 He briefly repeateth that whereunto all theſe things are to be referred, to wit, that we have a farre other high Prieſt then thoſe Levitticall high Prieſts are, even ſuch a one as ſitteth at the right hand of the moſt high God in heaven.

2 2 And is miniſter of the a Sanctuary, 3 and of that b true Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man.

2 They of Levi were high Prieſtes in an earthly ſanctuary, but Chriſt is in the heavenly. a Of heaven.

3 4 For every high Prieſt is ordeined to offer both gifts and ſacrifices: wherefore it was of neceſsitie, that this man ſhould have ſomewhat alſo to offer.

3 They of Levi exerciſed their Prieſtoood in a fraile tabernacle, but Chriſt beareth about with him a farre other tabernacle, to wit, his body which God himſelfe made to be everlaſting, as it ſhall afterward be declared, chap. 9, 11. b Of his coate.

4 He bringeth a reaſon why it muſt needes be that Chriſt ſhould have a bodie (which he calleth a tabernacle which the Lord pight and not man) to wit, that he might have what to offer: for otherwiſe he could not be an high Prieſt. And the ſelfe ſame body is both the tabernacle and the ſacrifice.

5 Hee giveth a reason why he said that our hie Priest is in the heavenly sanctuary and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, hee could not ministre in the earthly sanctuarie, seeing, there are yet Leviticall Priestes, which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be paternes of that perfite example. And to what purpose should the paternes serve when the true and originall example is present.
✠. Exod. 25,40. actes 7,44.
6 He entreth into the comparison of the olde and transitorie Testament or covenant being but for a time, whereof the Leviticall Priestes were mediatours, with the new, the everlasting Mediatour whereof is Christ, to shew that this is not onely better than that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this.
7 He prooveth by the testimonie of Jeremie, that there is a second Testament or covenant, and therefore that the first was not perfite. ✠ Iere. 31,31,32,33,34. rom. 11,27. chap. 10,16. c He calleth it an house, as it were one familie of the whole kingdome: for whereas the kingdome of David was divided into two factions, the Prophet giveth us to understand that through the new Testament they shalbe ioyned together againe in one. 8 The conclusion: Therefore by the latter and the new, the first and olde is taken away, for it could not be called new if it differed not from the old. And againe that same is at length taken away, which is subiect to corruption, and therefore imperfect.

4 5 For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priestes that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who serve unto the paterne and shadowe of heavenly things, as Moses was warned by God when he was about to finish the Tabernacle, ✠ See, sayd he, that thou make all things according to the paterne, shewed to thee in the mount.

6 6 But now our hie Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, in as much as he is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which is established upon better promises.

7 7 For if that first Testament had bene unblameable, no place should have bene sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them hee saith, ✠ Beholde, the dayes will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with c the house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a new Testament:

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

11 And they shall not teach every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will be mercifull to their unrighteousnesse, and I will remember their sinnes and their iniquities no more.

13 8 In that he saith a new Testament, he hath abrogate the olde: nowe that which is disanulled and waxed old, is ready to vanish away.

CHAP. IX.

a Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonies of the Law, 11 unto the trueth set out in Christ, 25 he concludeth that now there is no more neede of an other Priest, 24 because Christ himselfe had fulfilled these duties under the new covenant.

THen 1 the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a a worldly Sanctuary,

2 For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after the b second vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the c Holiest of all,

4 Which had the golden censer, and the Arke of the Testament overlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and * Aarons rod that had budded, and the * tables of the Testament.

5 ✠ And over the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the d mercie seate: of which things we will not now speake particularly.

a A division of the first Tabernacle which hee calleth worldly, that is to say, transitorie and earthly into two parts, to wit, into the holy places and the Holiest of all.
a An earthly and a fitting.
b He calleth it the second vaile, not because there were two vailes, but because it was behinde the Sanctuarie or the first Tabernacle.
c The holiest Sanctuary. * Num. 7,10. * 1 King. 8,9. 2. chron. 5,10. ✠ Exo. 31,22.
d The Hebrewes call the cover of the Arke of the covenant, the mercie seate, whom both the Grecian and we follow.

6 2 Now when these things were thus ordeined, the Priest went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the service.

7 But into the second went the ✠ hie Priest alone, once every yeere, not without blood which he offered for himselfe, and for the e ignorances of the people.

8 3 Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing,

9 4 Which was a figure f for that presente time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the service,

10 5 Which onely stood in meates and drinkes, and divers washings, and carnall rites, g which were enioyned, untill the time of reformation.

11 6 But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, 7 by a h greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with handes, that is, not of this building, 12 8 Neither by the blood of i goates and calves: but by his owne blood entred hee in once unto the holy place, and obteined eternall redemption for us.

13 ✠ 9 For if the blood of bulles and of goats, and the ashes of an heffer, sprinkling them that are uncleane, sanctifieth as touching the k purifying of the flesh,

14 How much more shall the * blood of Christ which through the eternall Spirit offered himselfe without fault to God, * purge your conscience from l dead workes, to serve the living God?

15 10 And for this cause is he the Mediatour of

2 Now he commeth to the sacrifices which he divideth into those dayly sacrifices, and that yeerely and solemne sacrifice, with the which the high Priest onely, but once every yeere entring into the Holiest of all with blood, offered for himselfe and the people.
✠ Exod. 30,10. levit. 16,2.
e For the sinner. Looke Chap. 5,2.
3 Of that yeerely rite and ceremonie he gathereth that the way was not by such sacrifices opened into heaven, which was shadowed by the Holiest of all: For why did the hie Priest alone enter in thither shutting out all other, and that to offer sacrifices there both for himselfe and for others, and after did shut the Holiest of all againe?
4 An obiection: If the way were not opened into heaven by those sacrifices (that is to say, If the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies used? to wit, that men might be called backe to that spirituall example, that is to say, to Christ, who should correct all those things at his comming.
f For that time that that figure had to last.
5 An other reason why they could not make cleane the conscience of the worshipper, to wit, because they were outward and carnall or corporall things.
g For they were as you would say a burden, from which Christ delivered us.
6 Now hee entreth into the declaration of the figures, and first of all comparing the Leviticall high Priest with Christ, (that is to say, the figure with the thing it selfe) hee attributeth to Christ the administration of good things to come, that is, everlasting, which those carnall things had respect unto.
7 An other comparison of the first corruptible Tabernacle with the latter (that is to say, with the humane nature of Christ) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, whereinto the Sonne of GOD entred, as the Leviticall high Priestes into the other which was fraile and transitorie.
h By a more excellent and better.
8 An other comparison of the blood of sacrifices with Christ. The Leviticall high Priestes entring by those their holy places into their Sanctuary, offered corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Christ entring into that holy bodie of his, entred by it into heaven it selfe, offering his owne most pure blood for an everlasting redemption: For one selfe same Christ answereth both to the hie Priest, and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and the offering themselves, as the trueth to the figures, so that Christ is both the high Priest, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all these both truely, and for ever.
i For in this yeerely sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kindes of sacrifices, the one a goate, the other a heifer, or calfe.
✠ Leviticus 16,14. numbers 19,4.
9 If the outward sprinkling of blood and ashes of beastes, was a true and effectuall signe of purifying and cleansing, how much more shall the thing it selfe and the trueth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those externall Sacraments, that is to say, his blood which is in such sort mans blood, that it is also the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an everlasting vertue of purifying and cleansing, doe it?
k Hee considereth the signes apart, being separate from the thing it selfe.
* 1. Pet. 1,19. 1 Iohn 1,7. revelation 1,5. ✠ Luke 1,74.
l From sinnes which proceede from death, and bring foorth nothing but death.
10 The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beastes did not purge sinnes, the new Testament which was before time promised, whereunto those outward things had respect, is now indeed established, by the vertue whereof all transgressions might be taken away, and heaven indeede opened unto us: whereof it followeth that Christ shed his blood also for the Fathers: For hee was shadowed by those olde ceremonies, otherwise, unlesse they had served to represent him, they had bene nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not as concerning the vertue of it, (that is to say, remission of sinnes) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing it selfe was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was indeede exhibited to the world, and fulfilled all things which were necessary to our salvation.

the newe Testament, that through ✣ death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receive the promise of eternall inheritance.

16 11 For where a Testament is, there must the death of him that made the Testament.

17 ✣ For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is alive.

18 12 Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to the people, m according to the Law, hee tooke the blood of calves and of goates, with water and purple wooll and hyssope, and n sprinkled both the booke, and all the people,

20 * Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels,

22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessarie, that the o similitudes of heavenly things should be purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices then are these.

24 13 For Christ is not entred into the holy places that are made with handes, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuarie: but is entred into very heaven, to appeare now in the sight of God for us,

25 14 Not that he should offer himselfe often, as the high Priest entred into the holy place every yeere with other blood,

26 15 (For then must he have often suffered since the foundation of the world) but now in the p end of the world hath he bene made manifest, once to put away q sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.

27 And as it is appointed unto men that they shall r once die, and after that commeth the iudgement:

28 So ✣ Christ was once offered to take away the sinnes of f many, 16 and unto them that looke for him, shall hee appeare the second time without sinne unto salvation.

11 A reason why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediatour, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectuall by death, and therefore that it might be effectuall, it must needes be that he that made the Testament, should die.

12 There must be a proportion betweene those things which purifie, and those which are purified: Vnder the Law all those figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the booke, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the figures of heavenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should be purified with some matter and ceremony of the same nature to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, wooll, hyssope. But under Christ all things are heavenly, an heavenly tabernacle, an heavenly sacrifice, an heavenly people, an heavenly doctrine, and heaven it selfe is set open before us for an everlasting habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with that everlasting offering of the quickening blood of Christ.

m As the Lord had commanded. n He useth to sprinkle. * Exod. 24.8. o The similitudes of heavenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be set foorth with earthly things, as with the blood of beast, and woll, and hyssope. But under Christ all things are heavenly, and therefore they could not but be sanctified with the offering of his lively blood. 23 Another double comparison: The Levitical hie Priest entred into the Sanctuarie, which was made indeed by the commandement of God, but yet with mens hands, that it might be a paterne of another more excellent, to wit, of the heavenly place. But Christ entred even into heaven it selfe. Againe, he appeared before the Arke, but Christ before God the Father himselfe.

24 Another double comparison: The Levitical hie Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his owne: he every yeare once iterated his offering: Christ offering himselfe but once, abolished sinne altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come. 15 An argument to proove that Christs offering ought not to be repeated: Seeing that sinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is prooued that sinnes cannot be purged, but by the onely blood of Christ: he must needs have died oftentimes since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christes oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the vertue of it extendeth both to sinnes that were before, and to sinnes that are after his comming. p In the latter dayes.

q That whole root of sinne. r He speaketh of the naturall state and condition of man: For as for Lazarus and certaine other that died twise, that was no usuall thing but extraordinarie, and as for them that shall be changed, their changing is a kind of death. 1.Cor.15.51. * Rom.5.8. 1.pet.3.18. f Thus the generall promise is restrained to the elect onely: and we have to seeke the testimonie of our election: not in the secret counsell of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climbe up from the lowest step to the highest, there to finde such comfort as is most certaine, and shall never be mooved. 16 Shortly by the way he setteth out Christ as Iudge, partly to terrifie them, which do not rest themselves in the onely oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keepe the faithfull in their duetie, that they goe not backe,

CHAP. X.

1 He proveth that the sacrifices of the Law were unperfite, 2 because they were yeerely renewed. 5 But that the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetuall. 6 hee proveth by Davids testimonie: 19 Then he addeth an exhortation, 29 and severely threatneth them that reiect the grace of Christ. 36 In the end he praiseth patience, 38 that commeth of faith.

FOr 1 the law having the shadow of good things to a come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the comers thereunto.

2 For would they not then have ceased to have bene offered, because that the offerers once purged, should have had no more conscience of sinnes?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes every yeere.

4 For it is unpossible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes.

5 b Wherefore when he b commeth into the world, he saith, ✣ Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but ac bodie hast thou ordained me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I said, Loe, I come (in the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should do thy will, O God,

8 Above, when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt-offerings, and sinne-offerings, thou wouldest not have, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Law.)

9 Then said hee, Loe, I come to doe thy will, O God, he taketh away the d first, that he may stablish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, even by the offring of the body of Iesus Christ once made.

11 3 And every Priest * standeth dayly ministring, and oft times offereth one manner of offering, which can never take away sinnes:

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, ✣ sitteth at ever at the right hand of God,

13 4 And from henceforth tarieth * till his enemies be made his footstoole.

14 For with one offering hath he consecrated for ever them that are sanctified.

15 5 For the holy Ghost also beareth us record: for after that he had said before,

16 * This is the Testament that I will make

1 He prevented a privie objection. Why then were those sacrifices offered? the Apostle answereth first touching that yeerely sacrifice which was the solemnest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made every yeere a remembrance againe of all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie: for to what purpose should those sinnes which are purged be repeated againe, and wherefore should new sinnes come to be repeated every yeere, if those sacrifices did abolish sinne?

a Of things which are everlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

a A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Law could not doe it, therefore Christ speaking of himselfe as of our high Priest manifested in the flesh, witnesseth evidently that God resteth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Sonne our hie Priest, in which obedience he offered up himselfe once to his Father for us. b The Sonne of God is sayd to come into the world, when he was made man. ✣ Psal.40.7. c It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou hast pearsed mine eares thorow, that is, thou hast made me obedient, and willing to heare. d That is, the sacrifices, to establish the second, that is, the will of God. 3 A conclusion, with the other part of the comparison. The Levitical hie Priest repeateth the same sacrifices dayly in his sanctuarie: whereupon it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those offrings, neither those hie Priests could take away sinnes. But Christ, having offered one sacrifice once for the sinnes of all men, and having sanctified his owne for ever, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, having all power in his handes. e At the altar.

✣ Chap.1.13. psal.110.1. 1.cor.15.25. 4 He preventeth a privie obiection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding we are subiect to sinne and death, whereunto the Apostle answereth, that the full efficacie of Christs vertue hath not yet shewed it selfe, but shall at length appeare when hee will at once put to slight all his enemies, with whom as yet we strive. * Chapter 1.13. 5 Although there doe yet remaine in us reliques of sinne, yet the worke of our sanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth upon the selfe same sacrifice which never shall be repeated: and that the Apostle prooveth by alledging againe the testimonies of Jeremie, thus, Sinne is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lord saith that it shall come to passe, that according to the forme of it, he will no more remember our sinnes: Therefore we neede now no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but we must rather rejoice, that we may now through faith be partakers of that sacrifice. * Jer.31. 33.rom.11.27. chap.8.8.

1 An applying of the former examples, whereby we ought to be stirred up to runne the whole race, casting away all stops and impediments.

2 2 b Looking unto Iesus the authour and finisher of our faith, who for the c ioy that was set before him, endured the crosse, and despised the shame, and is set at the right hand of the throne of God.

a For sinne beseeeth us on all sides, so that we cannot escape out.
2 He setteth before us as the marke of this race, Iesus himselfe our captaine, who willingly overcame all the roughnesse of the same way.
b As it were upon the marke of our faith.
c Whereas he had all kind of blessednes in his hand and power, yet suffered willingly the ignominie of the crosse.

3 3 Consider therefore him that endureth such speaking against of sinners, least ye should be wearied and faint in your mindes.

4 4 Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sinne.

5 5 And yee have forgotten the consolation, which speaketh unto you as unto children, ‡ My sonne, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

3 An amplification taken of the circumstance of the person, and the things themselves, which he compareth betwixt themselves: for how great is Iesus in comparison of us, and how farre more grievous things did he suffer then wee?

6 For whome the Lord loveth, hee chasteneth: and he scourgeth every sonne that he receiveth.

7 If yee endure chastening, God offered himselfe unto you as unto sonnes: for what sonne is it whome the father chasteneth not?

4 Hee taketh an argument of the proof which commeth to us by Gods chastisements, unlesse wee be in fault. First of all because sinne, or that rebellious wickednesse of our flesh, is by this meanes turned.

8 If therefore ye be without correction, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sonnes.

5 Secondly, because they are testimonies of his fatherly good will towarde us, insomuch that they shew themselves to be bastards, which cannot abide to be chastened of God. ‡ Prov. 3. 11.

9 6 Moreover wee have had the fathers of our bodies which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: should we not much rather be in subjection unto the father of spirits, that we might live?

6 Thirdly, if all men yeeld this right to fathers, to whom next after God wee owe this life, that they may rightfully correct their children, shall wee not be much more subject to that our Father, who is the Author of the spirituall and everlasting life?

10 7 For they verely for a few dayes chastened

7 An amplification of the same argument: Those fathers have corrected us after their fashe, for some fraile and transitorie profite: but God chasteneth and instructed us for our singular profite, to make us partakers of his holinesse: which thing although these our senses doe not presently perceive, yet the end of the matter proveth it.

6 He toucheth them which mixed an eternall worship, and especially the difference of meates, with the Gospel, which doctrine hee plainely condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefite of Christ.

e Which observed the difference of them superstitiously.

7 He refuteth their errour by an apt and fit comparison. They which in times past served the Tabernacle, did not eate of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sinne into the holy place by the hie Priest. Moreover these sacrifices did represent Christ our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serve the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the service of the Law: but let not us be ashamed to follow him out of Hierusalem, from whence hee was cast out and suffered: for in this also Christ, who is the trueth, answereth that figure, in that he suffered without the gate.

5 5 If any of you lacke e wisedome, let him aske of God, which giveth to all men liberally, and reproacheth no man, and it shallbe given him.

6 ✻ But let him aske in faith, and f waver not: 6 for he that wavereth, is like a wave of the sea, tost of the winde, and caried away.

d That wherewith your faith is tryed, to wit, those manifolde temptations. 6 The third argument propounded in maner of an exhortation, that true and continuall patience may be discerned from fained and for a time. The crosse is as it were the instrument wherewith God doeth polish and fine us. Therefore the worke and effect of afflictions, is the perfecting of us in Christ. 5 An answere to a privy objection: It is easily sayd, but it is not so easily done. He answereth that we needein this case a farre other maner of wisedome, then the wisedome of man, to iudge those things best for us, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shall easily obtaine this gift of wisedome, if we aske it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountifull and liberall.

e By wisedome he meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine whereof mention was made before, to wit, where fore we are afflicted of God, and what fruit we have to reape of affliction. ✣ Mat. 7, 7 mar. 11, 24. luk. 11, 9. iob 14. 13. and 16. 23. f Why then, what neede other Mediatour? 6 A digression or going aside from his matter, against prayers which are conceived with a doubting minde, whereas we have a certaine promise of God, and this is that second part of the Epistle. g In all his thoughts and his deeds.

7 He returneth to his purpose, repeating the proposition, which is, that we must reioyce in the crosse, for it doeth not presse us downe, but exalt us. h Who is afflicted with povertie, or contempt, or with any kind of calamitie. 8 Before he concludeth, he giveth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how we ought to vse prosperitie, which is plentie of all things: to wit, so that no man therefore please himselfe, but be so much the more voide of pride. i Who hath all things at his will.

m The third part of this Epistle, wherein he desendeth from outward tentations, that is, from afflictions, whereby God trieth us, to inwarde, that is, to those lustes whereby we are stirred up to doe evill. The summe is this: Every man is the author of these temptations to himselfe, and not God: for wee beare about in our bosomes that wicked corruption, which taketh occasions by what meanes soever, to stirre up evill motions in us, whence out at length proceed wicked doing, and in conclusion followeth death the iust reward of them. m When he is provoked to doe evill. 12 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot bee the authour of evill doing in us, because hee defireth not evill.

n By sinne is meant in this place actuall sinne. 13 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the authour of all goodnes, and so, that hee is alwayes like himselfe: how then can he be thought to be authour of evill? o From him who is the fountaine and authour of all goodnesse. p Hee goeth on the metaphore: for the sunne by his manifold and sundrie kindes of turning, maketh houres, dayes, monethes, yeeres, light & darkenesse. 14 The fourth part concerning the excellencie & fruite of the worde of God. The summe is this: we must beare the worde of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seede, wherewith God of his free favour and love hath begotten us unto himselfe, picking us out of the number of his creatures. And the Apostle condemneth two faultes, which doe greatly trouble us in this matter, to wit, for that we so please our selves, that wee had rather speake our selves then heare God speaking: yea, we snuffe and are angrie when we are reprehended: against which faults, hee setteth a peaceable and quiet mind, and such an one as is desirous of puritie. q This is it which Paul calleth gracious favour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our salvation.

r As it were an holy kind of offering, taken out of the residue of men.

man

man be ſwift to heare, ſlowe to ſpeake, and ſlowe to wrath.

20 For the wrath of man doeth not accompliſh the righteouſneſſe of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthineſſe, and ſuperfluitie of malicioufneſſe, and receive with meekeneſſe the word that is graffed in you, which is able to ſaue your ſoules.

22 ✠ 15 And be yee doers of the word, and not hearers onely 16 deceiving your owne ſelues.

23 17 For if any heare the word, and doe it not, he is like unto a man, that beholdeth his u naturall face in a glaſſe.

24 For when he hath conſidered himſelfe, hee goeth his way, and forgetteth immediatly, what maner of one he was.

25 But who ſo looketh in the perfect lawe of liberrie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, ſhalbe bleſſed in his x deed.

26 18 If any man among you ſeeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiveth his owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.

27 19 Pure religion and undefiled before God, even the Father, is this, to z viſit the fatherleſſe, and widowes in their adverſitie, and to keepe himſelfe unſpotted of the world.

8 4 But if ye fulfill the † royall Law according to the Scripture, which ſaieth, Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelfe, ye doe well.

9 But if yee regard the perſons, ye commit ſinne, and are rebuked of the Law, as tranſgreſſours.

10 5 For whoſoever ſhall keepe the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guiltie of all.

11 6 For he that ſaid, Thou ſhalt not commit adulterie, ſayd alſo, Thou ſhalt not kill. Nowe though thou doeſt none adulterie, yet if thou killeſt, thou art a tranſgreſſour of the Law.

12 7 So ſpeake ye, and ſo doe, as they that ſhall be iudgeth by the Law of libertie.

13 For there ſhall be condemnation mercileſſe to him that ſheweth not b mercie, and mercie reioycerh againſt condemnation.

14 8 What availeth it my brethren, though a man ſaith, he hath faith, when he hath no workes? can that faith ſaue him?

15 9 For if a brother or a ſiſter be naked and deſtitute of dayly food,

16 And one of you ſay unto them, Depart in peace? warme your ſelves, and fill your bellies, notwithſtanding ye give them not thoſe things, which are needfull to the bodie, what helpeth it?

17 Even ſo the faith, if it have no workes, is dead in it ſelfe.

18 But i ſome man might ſay, Thou haſt the faith, and I have workes: ſhew me thy faith out of thy workes, and I will ſhewe thee my faith by my workes.

19 10 Thou beleeveſt that there is one God: thou doeſt well: the devils alſo beleeve it, and tremble.

20 11 But wilt thou underſtand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father k iuſtified through workes, ✠ when he offered Iſaac his ſonne upon the altar?

22 Seeſt thou not that the faith l wrought with his workes? and through the workes was the faith made m perfect.

23 And the Scripture was n fulfilled which ſaieth, ✠ Abraham beleeved God, and it was imputed unto him for righteouſneſſe: and hee was called the friend of God.

MY 1 brethren, have not the faith of our a glorious Lord Ieſus Chriſt ‖ in reſpect of perſons.

2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in alſo a poore man in vile raiment,

3 And yee have a reſpect to him that weareth the gay cloathing, and ſay unto him, Sit thou here in a b goodly place, and ſay unto the poore, Stand thou there, or ſit here under my ſtoolſtoole,

4 Are ye not partiall in c your ſelves, and are become Iudges of evill thoughts?

5 2 Hearken my beloved brethren, hath not God choſen the d poore of this world that they ſhould be rich in faith, and heires of the kingdome which he promiſed to them that love him?

6 But ye have deſpiſed the poore. 3 Doe not the rich oppreſſe you by tyranny, and doe they not draw you before the iudgement ſeats?

7 Doe not they blaſpheme the worthy Name after which ye be e named?

1 That which God appointeth.

2 By meekeneſſe, he meaneth modeſtie, and whatſoever is contrary to an hautie and proude ſtomacke.

✠ Matth. 7, 21. rom. 2, 13.

15 Another admonition. Therefore is Gods word heard, that wee may frame our lives according to the prescript thereof.

16 He addeth reaſons, and thoſe moſt weighty: firſt, becauſe they that doe otherwiſe, doe very much hurt themſelves.

17 Secondly, becauſe they loſe the chiefeſt uſe of Gods word, which correct not by it the faults that they know.

u He alludeth to that naturall ſpot, ſo which is contrary that puritie whereunto we are borne againe, the liuely image whereof we behold in the Law.

x Behaving himſelfe ſo: for workes ſhewe faith.

18 The third admonition: The word of God preſcribeth a rule not onely to doe well, but alſo to ſpeake well.

y The fountaine of all brabling, and curſed ſpeaking, and ſorcinelle, is this, that men know not themſelves.

19 The fourth: the true ſervice of God ſtandeth in charitie toward our neighbours (eſpeciall ſuch as neede others helpe, as the fatherleſſe and widowes) and puritie of life.

z To have a care of them, and to helpe them as much as we can.

CHAP. II.

a Hee ſaith, that to have reſpect of perſons is not agreeable to Chriſts faith, 14 which to profeſſe in woras is not enough, unleſſe 15 we ſhewe it alſo in deedes of mercie and charitie. 21 after the example of Abraham.

‖ The fifth: Charitie which proceedeth from a true faith cannot ſtand with the accepting of perſons: which hee prooveth plainely by letting foorth their example, who with the reproach or diſdaine of the poore, honour the rich.

a For if we know what Chriſts glory is, and eſteemed it as we ought to doe, there would not be ſuch reſpect of perſons as there is.

✠ Leuit. 2, 15. deut. 1, 17. and 16. 19. prou. 24, 23.

b In a worſhipfull and honourable place.

c Have yee not (which you ought not to doe) by this meanes with your ſelves iudged one man to be preferred before another? 2 Hee ſheweth that they are perverſe and naughtie Iudges, which preferre the rich before the poore, by that that God on the contrary ſide preferreth the poore, whom he hath enriched with true riches before the rich.

d The needie and wretched, and (if we meaſure it after the opinion of the world) the beriefi abiects of all men. 3 Secondly, he prooveth them to be madde men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and curſed, conſidering that they perſecute the Church, and blaſpheme Chriſt: for hee ſpeaketh of wicked and prophane rich men, ſuch as the moſt part of them have bene alwayes, againſt whom hee ſetteth the poore and abiect.

e Word for word, which is called upon of you.

4 The concluſion: Charitie which God preſcribeth cannot agree with the accepting of perſons, ſeeing that we muſt walke in the kings high way.

f The Law is ſaid to be royall and like the Kings high way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Law calleth every one our neighbour, without reſpect, whom we may helpe by any kind of duety.

5 A newe argument to prooue the ſame concluſion: They do not love their neighbours, which neglect ſome, and ambitiouſly honour other: for he doeth not obey God, which curteth off from the commandements of God that, that is not ſo commodious for him, nay he is rather guiltie generally for the breach of the whole Lawe, although he obſerve the reſidue.

g Not that all ſinnes are equall, but becauſe in that breaketh one title of the Law offendeth the maieſtie of the Lawe giver.

6 A proofe: becauſe the Lawemaker is alwayes one and the ſelfe ſame, and the body of the Law cannot be divided.

7 The concluſion of the whole treatiſe: we are upon this condition delivered from the curſe of the Law by the mercie of God, that in like ſorte we ſhould maintaine and cheriſh charitie and good will one towardes another, and who ſo doeth not ſo, ſhall not taſte of the grace of God.

h He that is hard and curſt to againſt his neighbour, or elſe helpeth him not, he ſhall find God an hard and rough Iudge to himſelfe ward.

8 The fifth place which hangeth verie well with the former treatiſe, touching a true and lively faith. And the propoſition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not foorth workes, is not that faith whereby wee are iuſtified, but an image of faith: or elſe this, they are not iuſtified by faith, which ſhewe not the effects of faith.

9 The firſt reaſon taken of a ſimilitude: If a man ſay to one that is hungrie, Fill thy bellie, and yet giveth him nothing, this ſhall not be true charitie: ſo if a man ſay he beleeveth, and bringeth forth no workes of his faith, this ſhall not be a true faith: but a certaine dead thing ſet out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to brag, unleſſe he will openly incurre reprehenſion, ſeeing that the cauſe in underſtood by the effects.

i Nay, thus may every man beare downe the pride.

10 Another reaſon taken of an abſurditie: If ſuch a faith were the true faith whereby we are iuſtified, the devils ſhould be iuſtified: for they haue that, but yet notwithſtanding they tremble, and are not iuſtified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.

11 The third reaſon from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but hee in offering his ſonne, ſhewed himſelfe to have that faith which was not void of workes, and thetefore he received a true teſtimonie when it was ſaid, that faith was imputed to him for righteouſneſſe.

k Was he not by his workes knowen and found to be iuſtified? for he ſpeaketh not here of the cauſes of iuſtification, but by what effects we may know that a man is iuſtified.

✠ Geneſ. 22, 10. l Was effectuall and fruitfull with good workes.

m That the faith was declared to be a true faith, and that by workes.

n Then way the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainely, how truely it was written of Abraham. ✠ Geu. 25, 6. rom. 4, 3. galat. 3, 6.

24 12 Ye see then how that of workes a man is o iustified, and not of p faith onely.

25 13 Likewise also was not ✣ Rahab the harlot iustified through workes, when she had receiued the messengers, and sent them out another way?

26 14 For as the body without the spirit is dead, even so the faith without works is dead.

12 The conclusion: he is onely iustified that hath that faith which hath workes following it.
o It is proued to be iust.
p Of that dead and fruitles faith which you boast of.

13 A fourth reason: taken from a like example of Rahab the harlot, who also prooued by her workes that she was iustified by a true faith. ✣ Iosh. 2. 1.

14 The conclusion repeated againe: faith which bringeth not forth fruits and works, is not faith, but a dead carcase.

CHAP. III.

3 The shewe that a Christian man must gouerne his tongue with the bridle of faith and charitie. 6 hee declareth the commodities and mischiefes that insue thereof. 15 and how much mans wisedome 17 differeth from heavenly.

MY q brethren, be not many masters, r knowing that wee s shal receiue the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things wee ‖ sinne all. If any man sinne not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

3 t Beholde, wee put bitters into the horses mouthes, that they should obey us, and wee turne about all their bodie.

4 Behold also the shippes, which though they be so great, and are driuen of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whithersoeuer the gouernour listeth.

5 Euen so the tongue is a litle member, and boasteth of great things: u beholde, howe great a thing a litle fire kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a b worlde of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole bodie, and c setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birdes, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man.

8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an unruly euill, full of deadly poyson.

9 6 Therewith blesse we God euen the Father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after the 7 similitude of God.

10 8 Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 Doeth a fountaine send foorth at one place sweete water and bitter?

12 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring forth olives, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweete.

13 9 Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him shew by good conuersation his works in meekenesse of wisedome.

14 But if yee haue bitter enuying, and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be lyars against the trueth.

2 The first part or place: Let no man vsurpe (as most men ambitiously doe) authority to iudge and censure others righteously.
3 A reason: Because they prouoke Gods seuerities against themselues, which do so curiously and rigorously condemne others, being themselues guiltie and faultie.
a Vnlesse we forcease from this maistrilike and proud finding fault with others.
‖ Or, stumble.
3 The seuenth place, touching the brideling of the tongue, inyoned with the former. so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not iustly be found fault withal, seeing it is a rare we vse to bridle the tongue.
4 He sheweth by two similitudes, the one taken from the bridles of horses, the other from the rudders of ships, how great matters may be brought to passe by the good moderation of the tongue.
5 On the contrary part he sheweth how great discommodities arise by the intemperancie of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the ende that men may so much the more diligently giue themselues to moderate it.
b An heape of all mischiefes.
c It is able to set the whole worlde on fire.
6 Amongest other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reprooveth backbiting and speaking euill of our neighbours, euen in them especially which otherwise will seeme godly and religious.
7 Hee denieth by two reasons, that God can be praised by that man, that vseth cursed speaking, or to backbite: first because man is the image of God, which whosoeuer reuerenceth not doth not honour God himselfe.
8 Secondly because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stande the one with the other.
9 The eight part which hangeth with the former, touching meekenesse of minde, against which he setteth enuie and a contentious minde. And in the beginning he stoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all these mischiefes, to wit, a false perswasion of wisedome, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisedome, but that is heavenly, and frameth our mindes to all kinde of true moderation and simplicitie.

15 This wisedome descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensuall, and deuilish.

16 For where envying and strife is, there is sedition, and all maner of euill works.

17 But the wisedome that is from above, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to be intreated, full of d mercie and good fruites, without iudging, and without hypocrisie.

18 10 And the fruite of righteousnesse is sowen in peace, of them that make peace.

d He setteth mercy against the fierce and cruell nature of man, and for with that heavenly wisedome bringeth forth good fruits, for he that is heavenly wise, referreth all things to Gods glory, and the profit of his neighbour.

10 Because the world perswadeth it selfe that they are miserable which live peaceably and simply, on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth that they shall at the length reape the harvest of peaceable righteousnes.

CHAP. IV.

1 Hee reckoneth up the mischiefes that proceede of the workes of the flesh. 7 Hee exhorteth to humilitie. 8 and to purge the heart 3 from pride, 10. backbiting, 14 and the forgetfulnesse of our owne infirmitie.

FRom 1 whence are warres and contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleasures, that fight in your members?

2 Ye lust, and haue not: ye envie, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtaine: ye fight, and warre, and get nothing, 2 because ye aske not.

3 Ye aske, and receiue not, because ye aske amisse, that yee might lay the same on your pleasures.

4 3 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know yee not that the amitie of the worlde is the enimitie of God? Whosoeuer therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himselfe the enemie of God.

5 4 Doe ye thinke that the Scripture sayeth in vaine, The spirit that dwelleth in us, lusteth after enuie?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore saith, ✣ God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble.

7 ✣ 5 Submit your selues to God: resist the deuill, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw neere to God, and he will draw neere to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 6 Suffer afflictions, and sorow ye, and weepe: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your ioy into a heavinesse.

10 * Cast downe your selues before the Lord, and he will lift you up.

11 7 Speake not evill one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evill of his brother, or hee that condemneth his brother, speaketh evill of the Law, and condemneth the Lawe: and if thou condemnest the Lawe, thou art not an observer of the Law, but a iudge.

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certaine other causes of warres and contentions, to wit, vnbrideled pleasures, and immoderate lustes, by their effects for so much as the Lord doth worthily make them voyd, so that they bring nothing els to them in whom they are, but incurable torments.
2 He reprehendeth them by name, which are not ashamed to goe about to make God the minister and helper of their lusts and pleasures, in asking things which either are of themselves unlawfull, or being lawfull, take them to wicked purposes and vses.
3 An other reason why such vnbrideled lustes and pleasures are vtterley to be condemned, to wit, because that he that giueth himselfe to the worlds diuorceth himselfe from God, and breaketh the band of that holy and spirituall mariage.
4 The taking away of an obiection: Indeede our mindes runne headlong in to these vices, but wee ought so much the more diligently take heede of them: which care and studie shall not be in vaine, seeing that God resisteth the stubburne, and giueth that grace to the modest and humble that surmounteth all those vices. ✣ Prou. 3. 34. 1 peter. 5. 5. ✣ Ephes. 4. 27.
5 The conclusion: Wee must set the contrary vertues against these vices, and therefore whereas wee obeyed the suggestions of the deuill, wee must submit our mindes to God, and resist the deuill, with a certaine and assured hope of victorie: To be short, wee must employ our selues to come neere vnto God by puritie and sincerity of life.
6 Hee goeth on in the same comparison of contraries, and setteth against those prophane ioyes an earnest sorowe of minde, and against pride and arrogancie, holy modestie.
a By this worde the Greciant meant an heavinesse ioyned with shamefastnesse, which is to be seene in a cast downe countenance, and folded as it were upon the ground.
* 1. Pet. 5. 6.
7 Hee reprehendeth most sharpely another double mischiefe of pride: the one is in that the proude and arrogant will have other men to live according to their will and pleasure, and therefore they doe most arrogantly condemne whatsoever pleaseth them not: which thing cannot bee done without great injurie to our onely Lawe maker, for by this meanes his Lawes are found fault withall, as not circumspectly enough written, and men challenge that vnto themselves which properly belongeth to God alone, to binde by a Law vpon mens consciences.

11 There

* Rom. 14, 4.

12 There is one Lawgiver, which is able to save, and to destroy, * Who art thou that iudgest another man?

13 a Goe to now, ye that say, To day or to morrow wee will goe into such a citie, and continue there a yeere, and buy and sell, and get gaine,

14 (And yet ye cannot tell what shallbe to morrowe. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a little time, and afterward vanisheth away.)

15 For that ye ought to say, ✣ If the Lord will, and if we live, we will doe this or that.

16 But now ye reioyce in your boastings: all such reioycing is evill.

17 * Therefore to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to thim it is sinne.

a The other fault is this: that men doe so confidently determine upon these and those matters and businesses, as though that euery moment of their life did not depend of God.

✣ 1 Cor 4, 19.

9 The conclusion of all the former treatises: The knowledge of the will of God doeth not onely nothing at all profite, unlesse the life be answerable unto it, but also maketh the sinnes farre more grievous.

CHAP. V.

1 He threatneth the rich with Gods severe iudgement, for their pride, 7 that the poore hearing the miserable end of the rich, 8 may patiently beare afflictions, 12 as Iob did, 14 even in their distresses.

GOe 1 to nowe, yee rich men: weepe, and howle for your miseries that shal come upon you.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.

3 Your gold and silver is cankered, and the rust of them shallbe a witnesse against you, and shal eat your flesh, as it were fire. Ye have heaped up treasure for the last dayes.

4 Behold, the hire of the labourers, which have reaped your fieldes (which is of you kept backe by fraude) crieth, and the cries of them which have reaped, are entred into the a eares of the Lord of hoastes.

5 Yee have lived in pleasure on the earth, and in wantonnesse. Yee have b nourished your hearts, as in a c day of slaughter.

6 Yee have condemned, and have killed the iust, and he hath not resisted you.

1 He denounceth utter destruction of the wicked and prophane rich men, and such as are drowned in their riotousnesse, mocking at their foolish confidence when as there is nothing indeed more vaine then such things.

a The Lord who is more mightie then ye are, hath heard them.

b Ye have pampered up your selves.

c The Hebrewes call a day that is appointed to solemne banketting, a day of slaughter or feasting.

7 2 Bee patient therefore, brethren, unto the comming of the Lord. 3 Beholde, the husbandman waiteth for the, precious fruite of the earth, and hath long patience for it, untill hee receive the former, and the latter raine.

8 Be ye also patient therefore, and settle your hearts: for the comming of the Lord draweth neere.

9 4 d Grudge not one against another, brethren, least yee be condemned: 5 behold, the iudge standeth before the doore.

2 He applieth that to the poore, which he spake against the rich, warning them to wait for the Lords coming patiently, who will reuenge the injuries which the rich men doe them. 3 The taking away of an objection: Although his comming serve to linger, yet at the least we must follow the husbandmen, who doe patiently waite for the times that are proper for the fruites of the earth. And againe, God will not deferre the least iote of the time that he hath appointed. 4 Commendeth Christian patience, so that whereas other through impatience use to accuse one another, the faithfull on the contrary side complaine not although they receive injurie.

d By grudging, hee meaneth a certaine inward complaining which betokeneth impatience. 5 The conclusion: The Lord is at the doore, who will defend his owne, and revenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble our selves.

10 6 Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffering adversitie, and of long patience, which have spoken in the name of the Lord.

11 Beholde, we count them blessed which endure. Yee have heard of the patience of Iob, and have knowen what e end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.

12 7 But before all things, my brethren, ✣ sweare not, neither by heaven, nor by earth, nor by any other oathe: but let f your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, least ye fall into condemnation.

13 8 Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merry? Let him sing.

14 9 Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with ✣ g oyle in the h Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shall save the sicke, and the Lord shall raise him up: and if he have committed i sinnes, they shallbe forgiven him.

16 10 Acknowledge your faultes one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: 11 for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be fervent.

17 * Helias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not raine, and it rained not on the earth for three yeeres and sixe moneths.

18 And he prayed againe: and the heaven gave rayne, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 12 Brethren, * If any of you hath erred from the trueth, and some man hath k converted him.

20 Let him know that hee which hath converted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall save a soule from death, and shal hide a multitude of sinnes.

6 Because most men are wont to object, that it is good to repell iniuries by what meanes soever, he setteth against that, the examples of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God as a most bounti. full Father, never forsaketh his.

e What end the Lord gave.

7 Because even the best men sometimes throughimpatience breake out into oathes sometime lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth us to detest such wickednesse, and to accustome our tongues to simple and true talke.

✣ Matth 5, 34.

f That that you have to say or affirme, speake or affirme it simply, and without an oathe: and that that you will denie, denie it simply and flatly.

8 He sheweth the best remedie against all afflictions, to wit, prayers which have their place both in sorrow and ioy.

9 Hee sheweth peculiarly, to what physicians especially wee must goe. When wee are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then also couldе cure the bodie. (for so much as the gift of healing was then in force and take away the chiefest cause of sicknesses and diseases, by obteining for the sicke through their prayers and exhortations, remission of sinnes. ✣ Marke 6, 13. g This was a signe of the gift of healing: and nowe seeing wee have the gift no more, the signe is no longer necessary. h By calling on the Name of the Lord. i Hee hath reason in making mentions of sinnes, for diseases are for the most part sent because of sinnes. 10 Because God pardoneth their sinnes which confesse and acknowledge them, and not theirs which iustifie themselves, therefore the Apostle addeth, that wee ought freely to confesse one with another touching those inwarde diseases, that wee may helpe one another with our prayers. 11 Hee commendeth prayers by the effectes that come of them, that all men may understand that there is nothing more effectuall then they are, so that they proceede from a pure minde.

* 1. Kings 17, 1. and 18, 45. Iuke 4, 25. 12 The taking away of an objection: All reprehensions are not condemned, seeing that on the contrary part there is no thing more acceptable to God, then to call into the way a brother that was wandring out of the way. ✣ Matth. 8, 15. k Hath called him backe from his way.

1 Hee extolleth Gods mercie shewed in Christ, which wee lay holde on by faith, and possesse through hope, 10 whereof the Prophets foretolde. 13 Hee exhorteth, 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and so wholly yeeld themselves to God.

PETER an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

1 Peter purposing to speake of the dueties of a Christian life, reasoneth first of the principles and beginning of all Christian actions, rising farre higher then nature, and carying us also farre above the same. For he sheweth that wee which are otherwise of nature sinners, were through the free mercie of God the Father first chosen from everlasting: then according to that everlasting decree, were by a certaine second creation made his sonnes in Christ his onely begotten, by whose Spirit we are inwardly changed, and by whose blood we also are reconciled, to the end that as Christ himselfe rose againe from the dead, we also might be received into that same heavenly and everlasting glory. a Or according to the purpose of God, who never altereth nor changeth the same. b That being set apart from the rest of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrate to God, Ephes. 1, 5.

3 Bleſſed be God, even the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which according to his abounc Everlaſting hope. dant mercie hath begotten us againe unto a c lively hope by the reſurrection of Ieſus Chriſt from the dead,

To an inheritance immortall and undefiled, and that withereth not, reſerved in heaven for us.

6 Wherein ye reioyce, though now for a ſeaſon (if neede require) ye are in heavineſſe, through manifold tentations.

7 That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that periſheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found unto your praiſe, and honour and glory at the e appearing of Ieſus Chriſt:

8 Whome yee have not ſeene, and yet love him, in whome nowe, though yee ſee him not, yet doe you beleeve, and reioyce with ioy unſpeakeable and glorious,

9 Receiving the ‖ end of your faith, even the ſalvation of your ſoules.

10 3 Of the which ſalvation the Prophets have inquired and ſearched, which prophecied of the grace that ſhould come unto you.

11 Searching when or what time the Spirit which teſtified before of Chriſt which was in them, ſhoulde declare the ſufferings that ſhould come unto Chriſt, and the glory that ſhould followe.

12 Unto whome it was revealed, that not unto themſelves, but unto us they ſhoulde miniſter the things which are ſhewed unto you by them which have preached unto you the Goſpell by the holy Ghoſt f ſent downe from heaven, the which things the Angels deſire to beholde.

13 4 Wherefore g girde up the loynes of your minde: be ſober, and truſt h perfectly on that grace 6 that is brought unto you, 7 in the revelation of Ieſus Chriſt,

2 Nowe hee ſheweth by what way wee come unto that glory, to wit, through all kinde of afflictions, wherein notwithſtanding faith maketh us ſo ſecure, that wee are not onely not overcome with ſorowe, but alſo through the beholding of God himſelfe (who otherwiſe is inviſible) with the eyes of faith are unſpeakeably ioyfull: becauſe all ſuch things, as they are but for a time, ſo are they not applied unto us to deſtroy us, but as it were by fire to purge us, and to make us perfite, that at the length we may obteine ſalvation.

d This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the ende, when as that great reſtoring of all things ſhalbe, which all creatures looke for, Rom. 8. 19.

e He ſpeaketh of the ſecond comming of Chriſt. ‖ Orverward. 3 He putteth a difference betweene true faith, that is to ſay, that faith which onely hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apoſtles, and falſe faith: Afterward hee maketh two degrees of one and the ſelfe ſame faith, according to the maner of the divers revelations, when as iudeede it is but one onely faith: Thirdly, he ſayth, that the preaching of the Apoſtles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels. f He alludeth to the prophecie of Ioel, which was exhibited upon the day of Pentecoſt, in the Apoſtles, as it were in the firſt fruits of the holy Ghoſt, which this ſame our Peter declareth. Act. 2, 6. 4 Hee goeth from faith to hope, which is indeede a companion that can not be ſundred from faith: and he uſeth an argument taken of compariſon: We ought not to be wearied in looking for ſo excellent a thing, which the very Angels waite for with great deſire. g This is a borrowed ſpeach, taken of a common uſage amongſt them: for by reaſon that they woare long garments, they could not travaile unleſſe they girded up themſelves: and hence it is that Chriſt ſayde, Let your loynes be girded up. 5 He ſetteth forth very briefly, what maner of hope ours ought to be, to wit, continual, untill we enioy the thing we hope for: then, what we have to hope for, to wit, grace (that is, free ſalvation) revealed to us in the Goſpell, and not that, that men doe raſhly and fondly promiſe to themſelves. h Soundly and ſincerely. 6 An argument to ſtirre up our mindes, ſeeing that God doeth not wait till wee ſeeke him, but cauſeth ſo great a benefit to be brought even unto us.

7 Hee ſetteth out the end of faith, leaſt any man ſhould promiſe himſelfe, either ſooner or later that full ſalvation, to wit, the latter comming of Chriſt: and therewithall warneth us, not to meaſure the dignitie of the Goſpell according to the preſent ſtate, ſeeing that that which we are now, is not yet revealed,

14 8 As obedient children, not faſhioned your ſelves unto the former luſtes of your ignorance:

8 Hee paſſeth from faith and hope, to the fruites of them both, which are underſtoode in the name of obedience: And it conſiſteth in two things in renouncing our luſtes, and living godly: which luſtes have their beginning of that blindneſſe wherein all men are borne: but holineſſe proceedeth from the grace and favour of GOD, which adopteth us, and therefore regenerateth us, that the father and the children may be of one diſpoſition.

2 Having laid for the foundation the Spirit of God effectually working by the word, and having built thereupon three vertues which are the grounds of all Christian actions, to wit, faith, hope and charitie: now he proceedeth to a generall exhortation. the first member whereof is, that we flee all shewe, both of secret and also open malice.

3 The second is, that being newly begotten and borne of the new seede of the uncorrupt word, drawing and sucking greedily the same word as milke, we should more and more as it were growe up in that spirituall life.

a Or, be-commeth new men.

b Or, dor vaste.

3 He commendeth that spirituall nourishment for the soveereignesse and profite of it

4 He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, and useth another kinde of borowed speech alluding to the Temple Therefore he sayeth, that the companie of the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and spirituall building, built of live y stones, the foundation whereof is Christ, as a lively stone sustaining all that are i yned unto him wi h his living vertue, and knitting them together with himselfe, although this so great a treasure be neglected of men. 5 Going forward in the same similitude, hee compareth us now to Priestes placed to this ende in that spirituall temple, that wee should serve him with spiri ual worship, that is, with holinesse and righteousnes: but as the temple, so is the Priesthood bui t upon Christ, in whom onely all ou spirituall offerings are accepted. ✣ Revel 1.6.

6 He prooveth it by the testimonie of the Prophet Esai. * Esai 28.16 rom.9.33.

7 By setting the most blessed condition of the believers, and the most miserable of the rebellious one against another, hee pricketh forward the beleevers, and triumpheth over the other: and also preventeth an offence which ariseth hereof, that none doe more resist this doctrine of the Gospell, then they which are chiefest amongst the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote these things, the Priestes and Elders and Scribes. Therefore he answereth first of all that there is no cause why any man should be astonished at this their stubbornesse, as though it were a strange matter, seeing we have beene forewarned so long before, that it should so come to passe: and moreover, that it pleased God to create and make certaine to this selfe same purpose, that the Sonne of God might be glorified in their iust condemnation. Thirdly, for that the glory of Christ is hereby set foorth greatly whereas notwithstanding Christ remayneth the sure head of his Church, and they that stumble at him, fall downe and ouerthrow themselues and not Christ. Forthly, although they be created to this ende and purpose, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributed to God, but to their owne obstinate stubbornesse which commeth betweene Gods decree and the execution thereof or their condemnation, and is the true and proper cause of their destruction. ✣ Psal. 118 22. matth 21.42. luther 4.11. ✱ Isaih. 8.14. rom 9.33

8 The contrary member, to wit, he describeth the singular excellencie of the elect: and also lest any man should doubt whether hee be chosen or not, the Apostle calleth us backe to the effectuall calling, that is, to the voyce of the Gospell sounding both in our eares and minders by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby wee may certainely understand that everlasting decree of our salvation, (which otherwise is most secret and hidden) and that through he onely mercy of God, who freely chuseth and calleth vs Therefore this onely remaineth, sayth he, that by all meanes possible wee set foorth so great goodnesse of the most mightie God.

yet they cease not to fight against our salvation. 13 The fourth argument: taken of the profit of so doing: for by this meanes wee provide for our good name and estimation, whilest wee compell them at length to change their minders, which speake evill of us. ✱ Chap. 3. 16. 14 The fifth argument, which also is of great force: Because the glory of God is greatly set foorth by that meanes whilest by example of our honest life, even the most prophane men are brought unto God, and submit themselves unto him. ✱ Matth. 5, 16. b When God shall also have mercy on them. 15 That which he speake generally, he now expounded by parts, describing severally every mans duety And first of al he speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Lawes, and also to the Magistrates both higher and lower,

✣ Rom. 13. 1. c By ordonnances, is meant the framing and ordering of civill government: which hee calleth ordinance of man, not because man invented it, but because it is proper to men. 16 The first argument: because the Lord is the authour and reuenger of this policie of men, that is, which is set amongst men: and therefore the true seruants of the Lord must abour all others be diligent obseruers of this order.

17 He preuenteth a cauill which is made by some, that say they will obey K ngs and the higher Magistrates, and yet contemne their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authoritie which sent them. 18 The second argument taken of the end of this order, which is not onely most profitable, but also very necessary: seeing that by this meanes vertue is rewarded, and vice punished: wherein the quietnesse and happinesse of this life consisteth. 16 Hee declareth the first argument more amply, shewing that Christian libertie doeth amongst all things (suit, or not at all consist herein, to wit, to cast off the bridle of Lawes, (as at this time some altogether vnskilfull in the Kongdome of God reported) but rather in this, that living boldly according to the will of God, wee shou d make manifest to all men, that the Gospel is not a cloake for sinne and wickednesse, seeing we are so for from free, that yet we are still the seruants of God, and not of sinne. 20 He diuideth the ciuill life of man, by occasion of those things which he spake into two generall parts, to wit, into those duties which priuate men owe to priuate men, and especially the faithfull to the faithfull, and into that subjection wherby inferiours are bound to their superiours: but so, that Kings be not made equall to God, seeing that feare is due to God, and honour to Kings d Be charitable and dutifull towardes all men. ✣ Chap. 1. 22. rom. 12. 10. e The assemblie and fellowship of the brethren, as Zach. 12. 14 ✣ Ephes. 5 6 colos. 3 22. 21 He goeth to the duetie of seruants towards their masters, which he describeth with these words, that seruants submit themselues willingly and not by constraint, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward and sharpe maisters ✱ 1. Cor. 7. 20. 22 The taking away of an objection: Indeed the condition of seruants is hard, especially if they haue froward masters, but this their subjection shal beare much the more acceptable to God, if his will prevaile more with seruants, then he masters iniuries.

20 For what praise is it, if when ye be buffeted for your faults, yee take it patiently? but and if when ye doe well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

4 But let it bee the 4 hidden man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meeke and quiet spirit, which is b before God a thing much set by.

5 4 For even after this manner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, tire themselves, and were subiect to their husbands.

6 As Sara obeyed Abraham, and * called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, while ye doe well, 5 not being afraid of any terrour.

7 * 6 Likewise ye husbands, c dwell with them as men of d knowledge, 7 giving e honour unto the woman, as unto the weakes f vessell, 8 even as they which are heires together of the g grace of life, 9 that your prayers be not interrupted.

f The woman is called a vessell after the manner of the Hebrewes, because the husband vseth her as his fellow and helper to liue faithfully before God.

8 The third argument: for that they are equall in that which is the chiefest (that is to say, in the benefit of eternall life) which otherwise are vnequall as touching the gouernance and conversation at home, and therefore they are not to be despised although they be weake.

8 10 Finally, be ye all of one mind: one suffer with another: love as brethren: be pittifull, be courteous.

9 * 11 Not rendring evill for evill, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrariwise bleesse, 12 knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing.

11 * Let him eschew evill and doe good; let him seeke peace and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his eares are open unto the prayers: and the i face of the Lord is against them that do evill.

13 14 And who is it that will harme you, if ye follow that which is good?

15 But l sanctifie the Lord God in your hearts: 16 and be ready alwayes to give an answere to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekenesse and reverence.

16 Having a good conscience, that when they speake evill of you as of evill doers, they may be ashamed which slander your good conversation in Christ.

17 17 For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, then for evill doing.

g Of that gracious and free benefite wherevnto we haue euerlasting life giuen vs.

1 In the third place he setteth forth the wives duetie to their husbands commanding them to be obedient.

2 He speaketh namely of them which had husbands that were not Christians, which ought so much the more be subiect to their husbands, that by their honest and chaste conversation they may give them to the Lord

* 1 Tim. 2.9.

3 He condemneth the riot and excesse of women and setteth forth their true apparelling such as is precious before God: to wit, the inward and incorruptible which consisteth in a meeke and quiet spirit. 4 Who hath his feare fastened in the heart: so that the bad man is set against the outward decking of the body. b Precious indeed, and so taken of God. 4 An argument taken of the example of women, and especially of Sara, who was the mother of all beleevers. * Gen. 18.12

5 Because women fare of nature fearefull, hee giveth them to vnderstand, that he requireth of them that subiection, which is not wrong out of them either by force or feare.

* 1 Cor. 7.3. 6 He teacheth husbands also their duties, to wit, that the more vnderstanding and wisedome they have, the more wisely and circumspectly they behave themselves. c Do all the duties of wedlocke. d The more wisedome the husband hath, the more circumspectly hee must behave himselfe in bearing those commodities, which through the womans weakenesse oft times cause trouble both to the husband and the wife. 7 The second argument, because the wife notwithstanding that she is weaker by nature then the man, is an excellent instrument of the man made to farre most excellent vses: whereupon it followeth that she is not therefore to be neglected because she is weake, but on the contrarie part she ought to be so much the more cared for. e Having an honest care of her.

* Psal. 34.13. 13 After cet obiection, But this our patience shall be nothing else but a flesching and hardening of the wicked to their wickednesse, to make them to set upon vs more boldly, and to destroy vs. (Nay saith the Apostle by the words of David) to liue without doing hurt, and to follow after peace when it fleeth away, is the way to the happie and quiet peace. And if to be any man be afflicted for doing iustly, the Lord maketh all things, and will in his time deliver the godly, whichcary unto him, and will destroy the wicked. h Leade a blessed and happy life. * Isai. 3.16. i This word (Face) ast the maners of the Hebrewes, is taken vp (anger.) 14 The second argument: when the wicked are provoked, they are more wayward: therefore they must rather be overcome with good turnes: And if they cannot be gotten by that meanes also, yet notwithstanding wee shall be blessed if we suffer for righteousnesse sake. * Matth 6.10. 15 A most certaine counsell in afflictions, be they never so terrible, to be of a constant minde, and to stand fast. But how shall we attaine unto it? If we sanctifie God in our minds and hearts, that is to say, if we rest upon him, as one that is Almighty, that loveth mankinde, that is good and true indeede. * Esai. 8, 12.13. k Be not dismayed as they are. l Giue him all praise and glory, and hang onely on him. 16 Hee will have us when we are afflicted for righteousnesse sake, to be carefull not for redeeming of our life either with denying or renouncing the truth, or with like violence, or any such meanes: but rather to give an account of our faith boldly, and yet with a meeke spirit, and full of godly reverence, that the enemies may not have any thing iustly to obiect, but may rather be ashamed of themselves. 17 A reason which standeth upon two generall rules of Christianitie, which notwithstanding all men allow not of. The one is, if we must needs suffer afflictions, it is better to suffer wrongfully then rightfully: the other is this because we are so afflicted, not by happe, but by the will of our God. * Rom. 5.6. 1.peter. 2.15. 18 A proofe of either of the rules, by the example of Christ himselfe our chiefe patterne who was afflicted, not for his owne sinnes (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Fathers decree. 19 An argument taken of comparison: Christ the iust suffered for vs that are vniust, and shall it grieve vs that are vniust to suffer for the iustes cause? 20 Another argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth vs to his Father that same way that he went himselfe, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not onely set before us for an example to follow, but also hee holdeth us up by vertue in all the difficulties of this life, vntil he bring us to his Father.

21 Another argument taken of the happy end of theſe afflictions, wherein alſo Chriſt goeth before us both in example and vertues, as one who ſuffered moſt grievous torments even unto death, although but in one part onely of him, to wit, in the fleſh or mans nature, but yet became conqueror by the vertue of his divinity.

bring vs to God, 21 and was put to death concerning the m fleſh, but was quickened by the ſpirit.

19 22 By ‖ the which he alſo went, and preached vnto the ‖ ſpirits that are in priſon.

20 Which were in time paſſed diſobedient, when n once the long ſuffering of God aboade in the dayes of * Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight o ſoules were ſaued in the water.

21 23 Whereof the baptiſme that now is, anſwering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the fleſh, but a confident demaunding with a good conſcience maketh to p God) ſaueth us alſo 24 by the reſurrection of Ieſus Chriſt.

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heauen, to whom the Angels, and Powers, and might are ſubiect.

m As touching his manhood, for his body was dead, and his ſoule felt the ſorowes of death. 22 A ſecret obiection: Chriſt indeed might do this, but what is that to us? yet (ſaith the Apoſtle) for Chriſt hath ſhewed foorth this vertue in all ages both to the preſervation of the godly, were they never ſo few and miſerable, and to reuenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the hiſtorie of the flood: for Chriſt is he which in thoſe dayes (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was preſent not in corporall preſence, but by his divine vertue, preaching repentance even by the mouth of Noe himſelfe who then prepared the Arke, to thoſe diſobedient ſpirits which are now in priſon waiting for the full recompenſe of their rebellion, and ſaued thoſe fewe (that is, eight onely perſons) in the water. ‖ By the vertue of which Spirit, that is to ſay of the diuinity: therefore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the ſoule, vnleſſe we will ſay, that Chriſt was raiſed vp againe, and quickened by the vertue of his ſoule. ‖ He calleth them ſpirits, in reſpect of his time, not in reſpect of the time that they were in the fleſh.

n This word (once) ſheweth that there was a ſtinted day appointed, and if that were once paſt, there ſhould be no more. * Gen. 6. 14. mat. 24. 33. luke 17. 26.

o Men. 23 A proportionall applying of the former example to the times which followed the comming of Chriſt: for that preſervation of Noe in the waters was a figure of our Baptiſme, not as though that materiall water of Baptiſme ſaveth us, as thoſe waters which bare up the Arke ſaued Noe, but becauſe Chriſt with his inward vertue, which the outward Baptiſme ſhadoweth, perſerveth us being waſhed, ſo that wee may call upon God with a good conſcience. p The conſcience being ſanctified may freely call vpon God. 24 That ſelfe ſame vertue, whereby Chriſt roſe againe, and now being caried into heauen, hath received all power, doeth at this day defend and preſerve us,

CHAP. IV.

1 He bringeth in Chriſts example, and applieth it, 6 to the mortifying of the fleſh, eſpecially commending Charity: 12 And ſo intreateth of patience. 17 That it is neceſſary that correction begin at the Church.

2 Hauing ended his digreſſion and riding from his matter, now he returneth to the exhortation which he brake off, taking occaſion by that which he ſaid touching the death, and reſurrection of Chriſt, ſo defining our ſanctification, that to be ſanctified, is all one as to ſuffer in the fleſh, that is to ſay: to leaue off from our wickednesſe and viciouſneſſe: and to riſe againe to God, that is to ſay, to be reuiued by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt that we may lead the reſt of our life which remaineth, after the will of God. 2 So much of this preſent life as remaineth yet to be paſſed ouer. * Epheſ 4. 22. 3 By putting us in minde of the diſhoneſty of our former life led in the filth of ſinne, he calleth us to earneſt repentance. b Wickedly and licentiouſly after the maner of the Gentiles. 3 That wee be not moued with the enemies perverſe and ſlanderous iudgements of us, wee have to ſet againſt them that laſt iudgement of God which remaineth for them, for none, whether they be then found liuing, or were dead before, ſhall eſcape it. c They thinke it a new and ſtrange matter. 4 A digreſſion becauſe hee made mention of the laſt generall iudgement. And he preuenteth an obiection, that ſeeing Chriſt came very lately, they may ſeeme to be excuſable which died before. But this the Apoſtle denieth, for (ſaith he) this ſelfe ſame Goſpell was preached vnto them alſo: (for he ſpeaketh vnto the Iewes) and that to the ſame end that I now preach it vnto you, to wit, that the fleſh being aboliſhed and put away (that is to ſay, that wicked and naughtie corruption which reigneth in men) ſhould ſuffer themſelues to be gouerned by the vertue of the Spirit of God.

FOraſmuch 1 then as Chriſt hath ſuffered for us in the fleſh, arme your ſelues likewiſe with the ſame mind, which is, that he which hath ſuffered in the fleſh, hath ceaſed from ſinne,

2 That he henceforward ſhould liue (as much time as 2 remaineth in the fleſh) not after the luſts of men, but after the will of God.

3 * 2 For it is ſufficient for us that we haue ſpent the time paſt of the life, after the luſt b of the Gentiles walking in wantonnes, luſts, drunkennes, in gluttony, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 3 Wherein it ſeemeth to them c ſtrange, that ye run not with them vnto the ſame exceſſe of riot; therefore ſpeake they euill of you.

5 Which ſhall giue account to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and dead.

6 4 For vnto this purpoſe was the Goſpell preached alſo vnto the dead, that they might be condemned according to men in the fleſh, but might liue according to God in the ſpirit.

7 5 Now the end of all things is at hand. Bee yee therefore ſober, and watching in prayer.

8 6 But aboue all things haue fervent loue among you: * for loue ſhall couer the multitude of ſinnes.

9 7 Be ye * harborous one to another, without grudging.

10 8 * Let euery man as he hath receiued the gift, miniſter the ſame one to another, 9 as good diſpoſers of the manifold grace of God.

11 10 If any man ſpeake, let him ſpeake as the words of God. If any man miniſter, let him doe it as of the ability which God miniſtreth, that God in all things may bee glorified through Ieſus Chriſt, to whom is praiſe and dominion for ever, and ever, Amen.

12 11 Dearely beloued, thinke it not d ſtrange 12 concerning the fiery triall, which is among you to proove you as though ſome ſtrange thing were come vnto you.

13 13 But reioyce, inaſmuch as ye are partakers of Chriſts ſufferings, that when his glory ſhall appeare, ye may be glad and reioyce.

14 * 14 If ye be railed upon for the Name of Chriſt, bleſſed are ye: for the e ſpirit of glorie and of God reſteth upon you: which on their part is evill ſpoken of, but on your part is glorified.

15 15 But let none of you ſuffer as a murtherer, or as a thiefe, or an evill doer, or as a buſiebody in other mens matters.

16 But if any man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, let him not be aſhamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe,

17 16 For the time is come that iudgement muſt begin at the houſe of God. 17 If it firſt begin at us, what ſhall the end be of them which obey not the Goſpel of God?

18 * And if the righteous ſcarcely bee ſaued,

5 He returneth to his purpoſe, vſing an argument taken from the circumſtance of the time, becauſe the laſt end is at hand, and therefore we muſt ſo much the more diligently watch and pray with true ſobrety of minde.

6 Hee commendeth charity of one toward another, becauſe it doeth as it were bury a multitude of ſinnes, and therefore preſerueth and maintaineth peace and concord: for they that loue one another, doe eaſily forgive one another their offences. * Prov. 10. 12.

7 Of all the duties of charity, he commendeth one, namely, which was at that time moſt neceſſary, to wit, hoſpitality, which he will haue to be voluntary and moſt curteous and bountifull. * Rom. 12. 13. Hebr. 13. 2.

8 He ſheweth the vſe of charity, to wit, that every man beſtow that gift which he hath received to the profite of his neighbour. * Rom 12. 6. phil. 2. 14. 9 A reaſon, becauſe that what gift ſoever wee haue, we haue received it of God upon this condition, to be his diſpoſers and ſtewards. 10 He reckoneth up two kindes of theſe gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other Eccleſiaſticall functions, wherein two things ſpecially are to be obſerved, to wit, that the pure word of God bee taught, and whatſoever is done, be referred to the glorie of God the Father, in Chriſt, as to the proper marke. 11 Becauſe the croſſe is ioyned with the ſincere profeſſion of Religion the Apoſtle fitly repeateth that which hee touched before, warning us not to bee troubled at perſecutions and afflictions, as a newe and ſtrange thing. d As though ſome new thing had befallen you, which you neuer thought of before. 12 The firſt reaſon: becauſe the Lord meaneth not to conſume us with this fire (as it were) but to purge us of our droſſe, and make us perfite. 13 Another reaſon: Becauſe the afflictions of the godly and wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. Firſt, becauſe the godly communicate with Chriſt in their afflictions, and therefore ſhall in their time be partakers alſo of his glory. * Matth. 5. 10. 14 Secondly, becauſe, that although the infidels thinke farre otherwiſe, who in afflicting the godly, blaſpheme God, yet the godly in that they are ſo railed upon, are honoured of God with the true ſpirituall glory, and their adoption ſealed in them by the Spirit of God.

e By Spirit hee meaneth the gifts of the Spirit. 15 The third difference: for the godly are not afflicted for their evill doings, but for righteouſneſſe ſake as Chriſtians: whereby it commeth to paſſe that the croſſe, ſeeing it is a teſtimonie unto them of faith and righteouſneſſe, miniſtreth unto them not an occaſion of ſorow, but of vnſpeakeable ioy: now the Apoſtle propoundeth the third difference, vnder the forme of an exhortation. 16 The third reaſon becauſe the Lord of all, the world being eſpecially carefull for them of his houſhold, doeth therefore chaſtiſe them firſt of all, yea ſo that hee keepeth a meaſure in his greateſt ſeveritie: And as he hath alwayes vſed to doe heretofore, ſo doth he now ſpecially when as he exhibited himſelfe in perſon to his Church. 17 Leaſt the godly ſhould be offended and ſtumble at that vaine ſhadow of felicitie of the wicked, as though God were not the governour of the world, for that the wicked are in good caſe, and the godly in evill, the Apoſtle teacheth by an argument of a compariſon of them together, that God who ſpareth not his owne, but murmureth them vnder the croſſe, will at length in his time handle the rebellious and wicked farre otherwiſe, whom hee hath appointed to vtter deſtruction. * Pro. 11. 31.

where shall the ungodly and the sinner appeare?

19 12 Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their soules to him in well doing, as unto a faithfull Creator,

12 The conclusion. Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chance, but by the will of God, they ought not to despaire, but goe forward, notwithstanding in the way of holinesse and well doing, commending themselves to God their faithfull Creatour, that is to say, their Father.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee warneth the Elders not to usurpe authoritie over the Church, 5 willing the yonger sort to be willing to be taught and to be modest, 8 to be sober and watchfull to resist the cruell adversarie.

1 He describeth peculiarly the office of the Elders, that is to say, of them that have the care of the Church. 2 He useth a preface touching the circumstance of his owne person: to wit, that he as their companion, communeth with them not of matters which hee knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and propoundeth unto them no other condition, but that which he himselfe hath susteined before them, and doth still take the same paines, and also hath one selfe same hope together with them. 9 The first rule: Hee that is a shepherd, let him feed the flocke. a He saith not, Offer for the quicke and dead, and sing patched shreds in a strange tongue, but (Feed.) 4 The second: Let the shepherd consider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods. 5 The third: Let not the shepherds invade other mens flocks, but let them feed that which God hath committed unto them. 6 Let the shepherds governe the Church with the word and example of godly and unblameable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthie lucre, but of a reedy minde, not as Lords over Gods portion and heritage, but as his ministers. b Which is the Christian people. 7 That the shepherds minde be not overcome either with the wickednesse of men, of their cruelties, he warneth them to cast their eyes continually upon that chiefe Shepherd, & the crowne which is layd up for them in heaven. 8 Hee commendeth many peculiar Christian vertues, and especially modestie: which admonition all of us stand in need of, but especially the yonger sort, by reason of the untowardnesse and pride of that age.

THe 1 Elders which are among you, 2 I beseech which am also an Elder, and a witnesse of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shalbe revealed,

2 3 a Feed the 4 flocke of God, 5 which dependeth upon you, 6 caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthie lucre, but of a ready minde:

3 Not as though yee were Lords over Gods b heritage, but that yee may be ensamples to the flocke.

4 7 And when that chiefe Shepheard shall appeare, ye shall receive an incorruptible crowne of glory.

5 8 Likewise yee yonger submit your selves unto the Elders, and submit your selves every man one to another: * decke your selves inwardly in lowlinesse of minde: 9 for * God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

6 Humble * your selves therefore 10 under the mighty hand of God, that hee may exalt you in due time.

7 * Cast all your care on him: for hee careth for you.

8 11 Be sober, and watch: for * your adversary the devill as a roaring lyon walketh about, seeking whom he may devoure:

9 Whom resist stedfast in the faith, 12 knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your c brethren which are in the world.

10 13 And the God of all grace, which hath called us unto his eternall glory by Christ Iesus, after that ye have suffered a little, make your perfite, confirme, strengthen, and stablish you.

11 To him be glory and dominion for ever and ever, Amen.

12 14 By Silvanus a faithfull brother unto you as I suppose, have I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.

13 15 The Church that is at d Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Marcus my sonne.

14 Greete yee one another with the * kisse of love. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Iesus, Amen.

2 Feed the flocke of God, that is, governe it with a willing minde.

3 Not as though ye were Lords, that is, not as though ye were Princes, or Tyrants.

4 Flocke. Hee calleth the Church a flocke, because it is gathered together by the voyce of the Pastour, and is governed by him.

5 Which. Hee sheweth that the Church is not governed by the Pastours, but by God, and that they are but his ministers.

6 Caring. Hee sheweth that the Pastours ought to have a care of the Church, and that they ought to be diligent.

7 Shepherd. Hee calleth Christ the Shepherd, because he governeth his Church by his word and Spirit.

8 Crowne. Hee sheweth that the Pastours shall receive a reward of their labours.

9 Because pride seemeth to many, to be the way unto the glory of this life, the Apostle witnesseth on the contrary side, that ignominie and shame is the reward of pride, and glory the reward of modestie.

* Rom. 12. 10.

12 The persecutions which Satan stirreth up are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from old and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we must suffer that patiently wherein we have such & so many fellowes of our conflicts and combates. c Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world. 13 He sealeth up as it were with a seale, the former exhortation with a solemne prayer, against willing them to aske increase of strength at his hands of whom they had the beginning, and hope to have the accomplishment, to wit, of God the Father in Iesus Christ, in whom wee are sure of the glory of eternall life. 14 Continuance and perseverance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the onely ground and foundation of Christian strength: Now the summe of the Apostles doctrine, is salvation freely given of God. 15 Familiar salvations. d In that famous citie of Assyria where Peter the Apostle of the circumcision then was. * Rom. 16. 16. 1 cor. 16. 20. 2 cor. 13. 12.

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERALL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 Having spoken of the bountifulnesse of God, 5 and of the vertues of faith, 6 He exhorteth them to holinesse of life. 12 And that his counsell may be the more effectuall. 14 He sheweth that his death is at hand, 16 and that himselfe did see the power of Christ, which he opened unto them.

1 A salutation wherein he giveth them to understand that he dealeth with them as Christs ambassadour, and otherwise agreeth with them in one selfe same faith which is grounded upon the righteousnesse of Iesus Christ our God and Saviour.

6 In that that God standing to his promises, shewed himselfe faithfull, and therefore iust unto us. 2 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessednesse issueth and flowed. 3 Christ setteth foorth himselfe to us plainely in the eternall life, wherein hee hath appointed to glorifie us, and also to godlinesse, in that he doeth furnish us with true vertue. b He speaketh of Christ, whom hee maketh God, and the onely Saviour. c Vnto salvation. d This is the summe of true Religion, to be led by Christ to the Father, as it were by the hand.

SImon 1 Peter a servant & an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which have obteined like precious faith with us by the a righteousnesse of our God and Saviour Iesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you, 2 through the acknowledging of God, and of Iesus Christ our Lord,

3 3 According as his b divine power hath given unto us all things that perteine unto c life and godlinesse, through the d acknowledging of him that hath called us unto glory and vertue.

4 4 Whereby most great and precious promises are given unto us, that by them yee should be partakers of the e divine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the f world through g lust.

5 5 Therefore give even all diligence thereunto: h ioyne moreover vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge:

6 6 And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlinesse:

4 An explication of the former sentence, declaring the causes of so great benefits, to wit, God and his free promise from whence all these benefits proceed, I say, these most excellent benefits, whereby we are delivered from the corruption of the world, (that is, from the wicked lustes which we cattle about us) and are made, after a sort like unto God himselfe. e By the divine nature, he meaneth not the substance of the Godhead, but the partaking of these qualities whereby the image of God is restored in us. f In men. g For lust is the seate of corruption, and hath his seate even in our very bowels and inmost parts. 5 Having layd the foundation (that is, having declared the causes of our salvation and especially of our sanctification) now he beginneth to exhort us to give our minde wholly to the true use of this grace. And he beginneth with faith without which nothing can please God, and hee warneth us to have it full fraught with vertue (that is to say) with good and godly meanes, being ioyned with the knowledge of Gods will, without which there is neither faith neither any true vertue. h Supply also, and support or ayde. 6 He reckoneth up certaine other principall vertues, whereof some pertaine to the first Table of the Law, others to the last.

7 And with godlineſſe, brotherly kindneſſe: and with brotherly kindneſſe, love.

8 7 For if theſe things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither ſhallbe idle, nor unfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

9 For he that hath not theſe things is blinde, and i cannot ſee farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old ſinnes.

10 8 Wherefore, brethren, give rather diligence to make your calling and election ſure: for if yee doe theſe things, ye ſhall never fall.

11 For by this meanes an entring ſhallbe miniſtred unto you abundantly into the everlaſting kingdome of our Lord and Saviour Ieſus Chriſt.

12 9 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of theſe things, though that ye have knowledge, and be ſtabliſhed in the preſent trueth.

13 For I thinke it meet as long as I am in this k tabernacle, to ſtirre you up by putting you in remembrance.

14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I muſt lay downe this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Ieſus Chriſt hath * ſhewed me.

15 * I will endevour therefore alwayes, that ye alſo may be able to have remembrance of theſe things after my departing.

16 * 10 For wee followed not deceiveable fables, when we opened unto you the power, and comming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, but with our eyes we ſaw his maieſtie:

17 For he received of God the Father honour and glory, when there came ſuch a voyce to him from that excellent Glory, * This is my beloved Sonne, in whom I am well pleaſed.

18 And this voyce wee heard when it came from heaven, being with him in the holy mount.

19 11 We have alſo a moſt ſure word of the Prophets, 12 to the which ye doe well that yee take heed, as unto a light that ſhineth in a darke place, untill the l day dawne, and the m day-ſtarre ariſe in your hearts.

20 * 13 So that ye firſt know this, that no prophecie of the n Scripture is of any private interpretation:

21 For the prophecie came not in old time by the will of man: but o holy men of God ſpake as they were q mooved by the holy Ghoſt.

7 At theſe fruits doe ſpring from the true knowledge of Chriſt, ſo in like ſort the knowledge it ſelfe is ſoftered, and groweth by bringing forth ſuch fruits, inſomuch that he that is unfruitfull did either never know the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of ſanctification which hee hath received.

i Heth. that hath not an effectuall knowledge of God in him, is blinde as touching the kingdome of God, for hee cannot ſee things that are afarre off, that is to ſay, heavenly things.

8 The concluſion: Therefore ſeeing our calling and election is approoved by theſe fruits and is confirmed in us, and moreover ſeeing this is the onely way to the everlaſting kingdome of Chriſt, it remaineth that we caſt our minds wholly that way.

9 An amplifying of the concluſion ioyned with a modeſt excuſe, wherein he declareth his love towards them, and foretelleth them of his death, which is at hand.

10 Another amplification taken both of the great certaintie and alſo excellencie of this doctrine, as whereof our Lord Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of God is authour, whoſe glory the Apoſtle himſelfe both ſaw and heard. * Matth. 17.5. 11 The trueth of the Goſpel is hereby alſo maniſeſt, in that it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets.

l The doctrine of the Apoſtles doeth not ſhut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme each other by each others teſtimonies: but the Prophets were as candles which gave light unto the blinde, untill the brightneſſe of the Goſpell beganne to ſhine. l A mere full and open knowledge then was under the ſhadowes of the Law.

m That clearer doctrine of the Goſpell. * 2.Tim.3.16. 13 The Prophets are to be read, but ſo, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation: for hee that is the authour of the writings of the Prophets, is alſo the interpreter of them. n He ioyneth the Scripture and prophecie together, to diſtinguiſh true prophecies from falſe.

o For all interpretation commeth from God. p The godly interpreters and meſſengers. q Inſpired of God: and theſe their motions were in very good order, and not ſuch as were the motions of the prophane ſoothſayers and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee foretelleth them of falſe teachers, 3 whoſe wicked ſleights and deſtruction hee declareth. 12 Hee compareth them to brute beaſtes, 17 and to welles without water, 20 becauſe they ſeeke to withdrawe men from God to their olde filthineſſe.

BUt 1 there were falſe prophets alſo among the a people, even as there ſhallbe falſe teachers among you: which privily ſtall bring in damnable hereſies, even denying the Lord that hath bought them, and bring upon themſelves ſwift damnation.

2 2 And many ſhall follow their deſtructions, by whom the way of trueth ſhall bee evill ſpoken of.

3 3 And through covetouſnes ſhall they with fained words make b merchandiſe of you, 4 whoſe condemnation long ſince reſteth not, and their deſtruction ſlumbereth not.

4 For if God ſpared not the * Angels that had ſinned, but caſt them downe into c hell, and delivered them into d chaines of darkeneſſe, to bee kept unto damnation:

5 Neither hath ſpared the e old world, but ſaved * Noe the eight perſon a f preacher of righteouſneſſe, and brought in the Flood upon the world of the ungodly,

6 And * turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrhe into aſhes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an enſample unto them that after ſhould live ungodly,

7 And delivered iuſt Lot vexed with the uncleanly converſation of the wicked:

8 (For hee being righteous, and dwelling among them, in g ſeeing and hearing, h vexed his righteous ſoule from day to day with their unlawfull deeds.)

9 The Lord i knoweth to deliver the godly out of tentation, and to reſerve the unjuſt unto the day of iudgement under puniſhment:

10 5 And chiefly them that walke after the fleſh, in the luſt of uncleannеſſe, and deſpiſe gouvernement, which are bold, and ſtand in their owne conceit, and feare not to ſpeake evill of them that are in k dignitie.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, give not railing iudgement againſt them before the Lord.

12 6 But theſe as naturall brute beaſts, led with ſenſualitie, and made to be taken, and deſtroyed, ſpeake evill of thoſe things which they know not, and ſhall periſh through their owne m corruption.

1 As in times paſt there were two kinds of Prophets, the one true, the other falſe. ſo Peter foretelleth them that there ſhallbe ſome true and ſome falſe teachers in the Church, inſomuch that Chriſt himſelfe ſhalbe denied of ſome, which notwithſtanding ſhall call him redeemer.

4 A comfort for the godly: God who caſt the Angels that fell away from him headlong into the darkeneſſe of hell, at length to be iudged, and who deſtroyed the olde world with the flood, and preſerved Noe the eight perſon, and who burned Sodome, and ſaved Lot, will deliver his elect from theſe errors, and will utterly deſtroy thoſe unrighteous.

CHAP. III.

1 He sheweth that he writeth the same things againe. 2 Because they must often be stirred up. 4 because dangers hang over their heads through certaine mockers. 8 Therefore hee warneth the godly that they doe not after the iudgement of the flesh, 12 appoint the day of the Lord, 14 but that they thinke it alwayes at hand, 15 in which doctrine hee sheweth that Paul agreeth with him.

THis 1 second Epistle I now write unto you, beloved, wherewith I stirre up, and warne your pure mindes,

2 To call to remembrance the words, which were tolde before of the holy Prophets, and also the commandement of us the Apostles of our Lord and Saviour.

3 * 2 This first understand, that there shall come in the last dayes, a mockers, which will walke after their lusts,

4 3 And say, Where is the promise of his comming? for since the Fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.

5 4 For this they willingly know not, that the heavens were of olde, and the b earth that was of the water, and by the water, by the word of God.

6 5 Wherefore the world that then was, perished, overflowed with the c water.

7 6 But the heavens and earth, which are now, are kept by the same word in store and reserved unto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of ungodly men.

8 7 Dearely beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, * as a thousand yeeres, and a thousand yeeres as one day.

9 8 The Lord of that promise is not slacke (as some men count slackenesse) 9 but is patient toward us, and * would have no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.

10 10 But the day * of the Lord will come as a thiefe in the night, in the which the heavens shall passe away with a d noise, and the elements shall melt with heat, and the earth with the workes that are therein shall be burnt up.

11 11 Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolued, what manner persons ought ye to be in holy conversation and godlinesse,

12 Looking for, and e hasting unto the comming of that day of God, by the which the heavens being on fire, shall be dissolued, and the elements shall melt with heate?

13 But wee looke for * new heavens, and a new earth, according to his promise, f wherein dwelleth righteousnesse.

14 Wherefore, beloved, seeing that yee looke for such things, be diligent that yee may bee found of him in g peace, without spot and blamelesse.

15 * And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is salvation, 12 even as our beloved brother Paul according to the wisedome given unto him wrote unto you,

16 As one that in all his Epistles speaketh of these things: 13 among the ‖ which, some things are hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they doe also other Scriptures unto their owne destruction.

17 Ye therefore beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware, least, yee be also plucked away with the errour of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnesse.

18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Iesus Christ: to him be glorie both now and for evermore. Amen.

1 The remedy against these wicked enemies both of true doctrine and holinesse, is to be sought for by the continuall meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apostles.

a Monstrous men, who will seeme wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldnesse.
3 The reason which these mockers pretend because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning: therefore the world is from everlasting, and shallbe for ever.
4 a He setteth against them the tradition of heaven and earth by the word of God. which these men are willingly ignorant of. b Which appeared when the waters were gathered together into one place.

5 Secondly, hee setteth against them the universall flood which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world.
c For the waters returning into their former place this world, that is to say, this beauty of the earth which we see, and all living creatures which live upon the earth perished.
6 Thirdly, he pronounceth that it shall not be harder for God to burne heaven and earth with fire in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked (which thing he will also doe) then it was for him in time past to make them with his only word and afterward to overwhelme them with water.

13 There be certaine of these things obscure and darke, whereof the unlearned take occasion to overthrow some men that stand not fast, wresting the testimonies of the Scripture to their owne destruction. But this is the remedy against such deceit, to labour that wee may dayly more and more grow up and increase in the knowledge of Christ.
‖ That is to say, among the which things for he affirmeth not here whether Pauls Epistles be plaine or darke, but saith, that amongst those things which Paul hath written of his Epistles, and Peter himselfe in these two of his owne, there are some things which cannot be easily understood, and therefore are of some drawne to their owne destruction: and this he saith to make us more attentive and diligent, and not remoove us from the reading of holy things, for to what end should they have written vaine speculations?

THE FIRST FPISTLE GENERALL OF IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee teſtifieth that he bringeth the eternall word, wherein is life, 5 and light. 9 God will be mercifull unto the faithfull, if groaning under the burden of their ſinnes, they learne to flee unto his mercy.

THat 1 which was from the beginning, which we have a heard, which we have ſeene with theſe our eyes, which we have looked upon, and theſe hands of ours have handled of that b word of life.

2 (For that life was made manifeſt, and wee have ſeene it, and beare witneſſe, and c ſhew unto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was made manifeſt unto us.)

3 That I ſay, which we have ſeene and heard declare we unto you, 2 that yee may alſo have fellowſhip with us, and that our fellowſhip alſo may be with the Father and with his Sonne Ieſus Chriſt.

4 And theſe things write I unto you, that your ioy may be full.

5 3 This then is the meſſage, which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God * is light, and in him is no darkeneſſe.

6 If wee ſay that wee have fellowſhip with him, and walke in darkeneſſe, we lie, and doe not truely.

7 But if we walke in the d light as he is in the light, we have fellowſhip one with another, 4 and the * blood of Ieſus Chriſt his Sonne cleanſeth us from all ſinne.

8 5 * If we ſay that we have no ſinne, we e deceive our ſelves, and f trueth is not in us.

9 6 If we acknowledge our ſinnes, he is g faithfull and iuſt, to h forgive us our ſinnes, and to cleanſe us from all unrighteouſneſſe.

10 7 If wee ſay, wee have not ſinned, wee make him i a liar, and his k word is not in us.

1 He beginneth with the deſcription of the perſon of Chriſt, whom he maketh one and not two: and him both God from everlaſting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternall life) and alſo made true man, whom Iohn himſelfe and his companions, both heard and beholde, and handled.

a I heard him ſpeake, I ſaw him me ſelfe with mine eyes, I handled with mine hands him that is very God, being made very man, and not I alone, but others alſo that were with mee.

b That ſame everlaſting word, by whom all things are made, and in whom onely there is life.

c Being ſent by him: and that doctrine is rightly ſaid to be ſhewed, for no man could ſo much as have thought of it, if it had not beene thus ſhewed.

2 The vſe of this doctrine is this, that all of us being coupled and ioyned together with Chriſt by faith, might become the Sonnes of God, in which thing onely conſiſteth all happineſſe. 3 Now he entreth into a queſtion, whereby we may vnderſtand that wee are ioyned together with Chriſt, to wit, if wee be governed by his light, which is perceived by the ordering of our life. And thus he reaſoneth, God is in himſelfe moſt pure light, therefore hee agreeth with them, which are lightſome, but with them which are darkeſome he hath no fellowſhip. * Iohn 8.12. d God is ſayd to be light of his owne nature, and to be in light, that is to ſay, in that everlaſting infinite bleſſednesſe: and wee are ſayd to walke in light, in that the beames of that light doe ſhine unto us in the world. 4 A digreſſion or going from the matter hee is in hand with to the remiſſion of ſinnes: for this our ſanctification which walke in the light, is a teſtimony of our ioyning and knitting together, with Chriſt: but becauſe this our light is very darke, wee muſt needes obtaine another benefit in Chriſt, to wit, that our ſinnes may be forgiven us being ſprinkled with his blood: and this in concluſion is the proppe and ſtay of our ſalvation. * Heb.9.28. 1 peter 1.19. revel.1.5. 5 There is none but needeth this benefit, becauſe there is none that is not a ſinner. * 1.kings 8.46. 2.chron.6.36. prou 20.9. e This place doeth fully refute that perfectneſſe, and workes of ſupererogation which the Papiſts dreame of. f So then Iohn ſpeaketh not thus for modeſties ſake, as ſome ſay, but becauſe it is ſo indeede. 6 Therefore the beginning of ſalvation is to acknowledge our wickednes, and to require pardon of him who freely forgiveth all ſinnes, becauſe he hath promiſed ſo to doe, and he is faithfull and iuſt. g So then our ſalvation hangeth upon the free promiſe of God, who becauſe he is faithfull and iuſt, will performe that which he hath promiſed. h Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicity. 7 A rehearſall of the former ſentence: wherein he condemned all of ſinne without exception, inſomuch that if any man perſwade himſelfe otherwiſe, he doeth as much as in him lieth, make the word of God himſelfe vaine and to no purpoſe, yea he maketh God a lyar, for to what end either in times paſt needed ſacrifices or now Chriſt and the Goſpel, if wee be not ſinners?

i They doe not onely deceive themſelves, but alſo are blaſphemous againſt God.

k His doctrine ſhall have no place in us, that is, in our hearts.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth that Chriſt is our mediatour and advocate, 3 and ſheweth that the knowledge of God conſiſteth in holines of life, 12 which appertaineth to all ſorts, 14 that depend on Chriſt alone: 15 Then having exhorteth them to contemne the world, 18 hee giveth warning that Antichriſts be avoided, 24 and that the knowyne trueth be ſtood unto.

MY 1 little children, theſe things write I unto you, that ye ſinne not: and if any man ſinne, wee have an a Advocate with the Father, Ieſus Chriſt, the Iuſt.

2 And he is the b reconciliation for our ſinnes: and not for ours onely, but alſo for the ſinnes of the c whole world.

3 2 And hereby we are ſure that we d knowe him, e if we keepe his commandements.

4 3 Hee that ſaith, I knowe him, and keepeth not his commandements, is a liar, and the trueth is not in him.

5 4 But he that keepeth his word, in him is the f love of God perfect indeede: hereby wee know that we are in g him.

6 5 He that ſaith he remaineth in him, ought even ſo to walke as he hath walked.

7 6 Brethren, I write no new commandement unto you, but an old commandement, which yee have had from the beginning: this old commandement is that word, which ye have heard from the beginning.

8 7 Againe, a new commandement I write unto you, that h which is true in him: and alſo in you; for the darkenes is paſt, and that true light now ſhineth.

9 8 Hee that ſaith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkenes, untill this time.

10 * He that loveth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is no occaſion of evill in him.

11 But he that hateth his brother, is in darkeneſſe, and walketh in darkeneſſe, and knoweth not whither hee goeth, becauſe that darkeneſſe hath blinded his eyes.

12 9 Little children, i I write unto you, becauſe your ſinnes are forgiven you for his k Names ſake.

1 It followeth not hereof that wee muſt give our wicked nature the bridle, or ſinne ſo much the more freely, becauſe our ſinnes are cleanſed away by the blood of Chriſt, but wee muſt rather ſoo much the more diligently reſiſt ſin. And yet we muſt not deſpaire becauſe of our weakeneſſe, for we have an Advocate and a purger, Chriſt Ieſus the iuſt, and therefore acceptable unto his father.

a In that he nameth Chriſt he ſhutteth fourth all other.

b Reconciliation and interceſſion go together, to give us to underſtand that he is both advocate and hie Prieſt.

c For men of all ſorts, of all ages and all places, ſo that this benefit belongeth not to the Iewes onely, of whom he ſpeaketh, as appeareth verſ.7. but alſo to other nations.

2 He returneth to the teſtimony of our coniunction with God, to wit, to ſanctification, declaring what it is to walke in the light, to wit, to keepe Gods commandements. Whereby it followeth that holines doeth not conſiſt in thoſe things which men have deviſed, neither in a vaine profeſſion of the Goſpel. d This muſt be vnderſtood of ſuch a knowledge, as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge. e For the tree is knowne by the fruit. 3 Holineſſe, that is, a life ordered according to the preſcript of Gods commandements how weake ſoever they be is of neceſſity ioyned with faith, that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Sonne. 4 Hee that keepeth Gods commandements, loveth God indeed. He that loveth God, is in God, or is ioyned together with God. Therefore hee that keepeth his commandements, is in him.

f Wherewith we love God. g Hee meaneth our coniunction with Chriſt. 5 Hee that is one with Chriſt, muſt needes live his life, that is, muſt walke in his ſteps. 6 The Apoſtle going about to expound the commandement of charity one toward another, telleth firſt, that when he vrgeth holineſſe bringeth no new trade of life (as they vſe to doe which deviſe traditions, one after another) but putteth them in minde of the ſame Law which God gave in the beginning, to wit, by Moſes, at that time that God began to give Lawes to his people. 7 Hee addeth that the doctrine indeed is old, but it is now after a ſort new both in reſpect of Chriſt, and alſo of us: in whom he through the Goſpel, engraveth his Law effectually, not in tables of ſtone, but in our mindes.

h Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new of which I write unto you) is true in him and in you. 8 Now he commeth to the ſecond Table, that is, to charitie one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is indeed regenerate and the ſonne of God, which hateth his brother: and ſuch an one wandreth miſerably in darkeneſſe, brag he of never ſo great knowledge of God, for that wittingly & willingly he caſteth himſelfe headlong into hell. * Chap.3.14. 9 Hee returneth againe from ſanctification to remiſſion of ſins, becauſe that free reconciliation in Chriſt is the ground of our ſalvation, whereupon afterwards ſanctification muſt be built as upon a foundation. i Therefore I write unto you, becauſe you are of their number whom God hath reconciled to himſelfe. k For his owne ſake: And in that he nameth Chriſt, he ſhutteth out all others, whether they be in heaven or earth.

10 He sheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, and first of all speaking to old men, he sheweth that Christ and his doctrine are passing ancient, and therefore they be delighted with old things, nothing ought to be more acceptable unto them.
11 He advertiseth yong men, if they be desirous to shew their strength that they have a most glorious combat set beere before them, to wit, Satan the worst enemies, who must be overcome: willing them to be as sure of the victory as if they had already gotten it.
12 Finally, hee sheweth to children, that that true Father, from whom they have to looke for all good things, is set foorth unto them in the Gospel.
13 He addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations as if he should say, Remember your fathers as I wrote even now, that the everlasting Sonne of God is revealed to us. Remember ye yong men, that that strength whereby I sayd that you put Satan to flight, is given you by the word of God, which dwelleth in you. 14 The world which is full of wicked desires, lusts or pleasures, and pride, is utterly hated of our heavenly Father. Therefore the Father and the world cannot be loved together, and this admonition is very necessary for greene and flourishing youth. l Hee speaketh of the world, as it agree-eth not with the will of God, for otherwise God is said to love the world with an infinit love, John 3.16. that is to say, those whom he chose out of the world. m Wherewith the Father is loved.
15 Hee sheweth how much better it is to obey the Fathers will, then the lusts of the world, by both their natures and unlike event. 16 Now he turneth himselfe to little children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the summe of religion, and willeth them by diverse reasons to shake off slouthfulnesse, which is too too familiar with that age. n He useth this word (little) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by using such sweet words. 17 First, because the last time is at hande, so that the matter suffereth no delay. 18 Secondly because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God, are already come, even as they heard that they should come. As it was very requisite to warne that unheedy and wariesse age of that danger. 19 A disgression against certaine offences and stumbling blocks, whereat that rude age especially might stumble and be shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the foule falling backe of certaine, first he maketh plaine unto them, that although such as fall from God and his religion, had place in the Church, yet they were never of the Church, because the Church is the Company of the elect which cannot perish, and therefore cannot fall from Christ. o So then the elect can never fall from grace. 20 Secondly, he sheweth that these things fall out to the profite of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainely knowen. 21 Thirdly, he comforteth them to make them stand fast, insomuch as they are anointed of the holy Ghost with the true knowledge of salvation. p The grace of the holy Ghost, and this is a borrowed kinde of speech taken from the anointings used in the Law. q From Christ who is peculiarly called holy. 22 The taking away of an obiection. He wrote not these things as to men which are ignorant in religion, but rather as to them which doe well know the trueth, yet so farre foorth that they are able to discerne trueth from falshood. 23 He sheweth now plainely the false doctrine of the Antichrists, to wit, that either they fight against the person of Christ, or his office or both together, and at once. And they that doe so do in vaine boast and brag of God, for that in denying the Son, the Father also is denied. r Is the true Messias. s They then are deceived themselves, and also doe deceive others, which say that the Turkes and other infidels worship the same God that we doe. 24 The whole preaching of the Prophets and Apostles is contrary to that doctrine: Therefore it is utterly to be cast away and this wholly to beholden and kept, which leadeth us to seeke eternall life in the free promise, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is given us of the Father.

13 10 I write unto you fathers, because ye have knowen him that is from the beginning. 11 I write unto you, yong men, because ye have overcome that wicked one. 12 I write unto you, little children, because ye have knowen the Father.

14 13 I have written unto you fathers, because ye have knowen him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because yee are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome that wicked one.

15 14 Love not this l world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man love this world, the m love of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this world, (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world.

17 15 And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that fulfilleth the will of God abideth ever.

18 16 n Little children, 17 it is the last time, 18 and as ye have heard that Antichrist shall come, even now there are many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 19 They went out from us, but they were not of us: for if they had bene of us, o they should have continued with us. 20 But this commeth to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of us.

20 21 But yee have an p oyntment from that q Holy one, and know all things.

21 22 I have not written unto you, because ye know not the trueth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the trueth.

22 23 Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Iesus is r that Christ? the same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Sonne.

23 s Whosoever denieth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.

24 24 Let therefore abide in you that same which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, ye shall also continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that hee hath promised us, even that eternall life.

25 The same Spirit which endueth the elect with the knowledge of the trueth and sanctifieth them, giveth them therewithall the gift of perseverance, to continue to the end.

26 25 These things have I written unto you, concerning them that deceive you.

27 But that t anointing which ye received of him, dwelleth in you: and ye u neede not that any man teach you: but as the same x anointing teacheth you of all things, and it is true and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

t The Spirit which you have received of Christ, and which hath led you into all trueth.

28 26 And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appeare, we way be bold, and not be ashamed before him, at his comming.

29 27 If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doth righteously, is borne of him.

u You are not ignorant of these things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were never heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you doe know. x He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that hee taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghost.

26 The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise.
27 A passing over to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order: for before hee taught us to goe up from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth downe from the causes to the effects. And this in the summe of this argument: God is the fountaine of all righteousnesse: and therefore they that give themselves to righteousnesse, are knowen to be borne of him, because they resemble God the Father.

CHAP. III.

1 Setting downe the inestimable glory of this that we are Gods sonnes, 7 he sheweth that newnesse of life must be testified by good workes, whereof charitie is a manifest token. 19 Of faith, 22 and praying unto God.

1 He beginneth to declare this agreement betweene the Father and the Sonne at the highest cause, to wit, at that free love of God towards us wherewith he so loveth us, that he also adopteth us to his children.
a What a gift of how great love.
b That we should be the sonnes of God, and so that all the world may perceive we are so.
a Before he declareth this adoption, he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignity is not to be esteemed according to the iudgement of the flesh, because it is unknown to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himselfe. 3 The other: This dignity is not fully made manifest to our selves, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, insomuch that wee shall be like to the Sonne of God himselfe, and shall enioy his sight indeed, such as hee is now: but yet notwithstanding this is deferred untill his next comming. c Like, but not equall. d For now we see as in a glasse, 1. Cor. 13. 12. 4 Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoever is made the Sonne of God, endevoureth to resemble the Father in puritie. e This word signifieth a likenesse, but not in equality. 5 The rule of this puritie can from no whence els be taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne. f Giveth not himselfe to pureneſſe. g A short definition of sinne. 6 An argument taken from the materiall cause of our salvation: Christ in himselfe is most pure, & he came to take away our sinnes by sanctifying us with the holy Ghost. Therefore, whosoever is truely partaker of Christ, doeth not give himselfe to sinne: and so contrariwise he that giveth himselfe to sinne knoweth not Christ. * Isai. 53. 6. 9. 11. 1. Pet. 2. 22, 24. b Hee is said to sinne, that giveth not himselfe to pureneſſe, and in him sinne reigneth, but sinne is said to dwell in the faithfull, and not to reigne in them. 7 An other argument of things coupled together: Hee that liveth iustly, is iust and resembleth Christ that is iust, and by that is knowen to be the sonne of God.

1 1 Behold, 12 what love the Father hath given to us, that we should be b called the sonnes of God: 2 For this cause this world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

2 3 Dearely beloved, now are we the sonnes of God, but yet it is not made manifest what wee shall be: and we know that when hee shalbe made manifest, we shall be c like him: for wee shall see him d as he is.

3 4 And every man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, even e as he is pure.

4 5 Whosoever f committeth sinne, transgreseth also the Law: for g sinne is the transgression of the Law.

5 6 And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might * take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.

6 Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever h sinneth, hath not seene him, neither hath knowen him.

7 7 Little children, let no man deceive you, hee that doeth righteousnesse, is righteous, as hee is righteous.

8 8 He that * committeth sinne, is of the i devill: for the devill k sinneth from the l beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Sonne of God, that hee might loose the workes of the devill.

9 Whosoever is borne of God sinneth not: for his m seede remaineth in him, neither can hee sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 9 In this are the children of God knowen, and the children of the devill: whosoever doeth not righteousnesse, is not of God, 10 neither hee that loveth not his brother.

11 11 For this is the message that yee heard from the beginning, that * we should love one another.

12 12 Not as * n Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: 13 and wherefore slew he him? because his owne workes were evill, and his brothers good.

13 Marveile not my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 14 Wee know that we are translated from death unto life, because we loue the brethren: * he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 15 Whosoever hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye know that no manslayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 * 16 Hereby have we perceived love, that he laide downe his life for us: therefore we ought also to lay downe our lives for the brethren.

17 * 17 And whosoever hath this p worlds good, and seeth his brother have need, and q shutteth up his compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?

18 18 My litle children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue onely, but indeed and in trueth.

19 19 For thereby we know that we are of the trueth, 20 and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 For r if our hearts condemne us, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 21 Beloved, if our heart condemne us not, then have we boldnesse toward God.

22 * 22 And whatsoever we aske, wee receive of him, because wee keepe his commandements, and doe those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 * This is then his commandement, that we beleeve in the Name of his sonne Iesus Christ, and love one another, as hee gave commandement.

24 * For hee that keepeth his commandements, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in us, even by that f Spirit which hee hath given us.

* Iohn 6.23. and 17.3. * Iohn 13.34. and 15.10.

8 An argument taken of contraries: the devill is the authour of sinne, and therefore he is of the devill, or is ruled by the inspiration of the devill that serve sinne: and if he be the devils sonne, then is hee not Gods sonne: for the devill and God are so contrary the one to the other, that even the Sonne of God was sent to destroy the works of the devill. Therefore on the contrary side, whosoev r resisteth sinne, is the Sonne of God being borne againe of his spirit as of new seed, inso much that of necessity hee is now delivered from the slaverie of sinne.

* Iohn 8.44.

i Resembleth the devill, as the childe doeth the father, and is governed by his spirit.

k He saith not, sinned, but sinneth, for he did nothing els but sinne.

m The holy Ghost is so called of the effect he worketh, because by his vertue and mighty working, as it were by seed, we are made new men. 9 The conclusion, by a wicked life they are knowen which are governed by the spirit of the Devill, and by a pure life, which are Gods children. 10 Hee beginneth to commend charity towards the brethren, as another marke of the Sonnes of God. 11 The first reason, taken of the authority of God, which giveth the commandement. * Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 12 An amplification, taken of the contrary example of Cain, which slew his brother. * Gen 4.8.

n Hee bringeth forth a very fit and very old example, wherein we may behold both the nature of the sonnes of God, and of the sonnes of the devill, and what state and condition remaineth for us in this world: and what shall be the end of both at length. 13 A short digression: Let us not marvaile that we are hated of the world for doing our duety, for such was the condition of Abel who was a iust person: and who would not rather be like him then Cain? 14 The second reason: Because charity is a testimony that we are translated from death to life: and therefore hatred towards the brethren is a testimony of death, and whosoever nourished it, deeth as it were foster death in bosome. o Love is a token that we are translated from death to life, forasmuch as by the effects the cause is knowen. * Chap. 2, 10. Ievit. 9, 27. 15 A confirmation: Whosoever is a murtherer, is in eternall death, who so hateth his brother, is a murtherer, therefore he is in death. And therevpon followeth the contrary. He that loveth his brother, hath passed to life, for indeed we are borne dead. Iohn 15, 13. ephes. 5.2. 16 Now hee sheweth how farre Christian charity extendeth, even so farre, that according to the example of Christ, every man forget himselfe, to provide for and helpe his brethren. * Luke 3.11. 17 Hee reasoneth by comparison: For if we are bound even to give our life for our neighbours, how much more are wee bound to helpe our brothers necessity with our goods and substance? p Wherewith this life is sustained. q Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cheerfully. 18 Christian charitie standeth not in wordes, but in deede, and proceedeth from a sincere affection. 19 Hee commendeth charitie by a triple effect: for first of all, by it wee know that wee are indeed the sonnes of God, as he sheweth before. 20 Thereof it commeth that wee have a quiet conscience, as on the contrary side he that thinketh that he hath God for a iudge, because he is guiltie to himselfe, either hee is never or els very rare quiet: for God hath a farre quicker sight then wee, and iudgeth more severely. r If any evill conscience convinceth us, much more ought to the iudgements of God condemne us, who knoweth our hearts better then we our selves doe. 21 A third effect also riseth out of the former, that in these miseries we are sure to be heard, because we are the sonnes of God, as we understand by the grace of sanctification which is proper to the elect.

* Matth. 21.22. Iohn 15 7 and 16. 25. chap. 5.14.

22 The conclusion: That faith in Christ, and love one towards another, are things ioyned together, and therefore the outward testimonies of sanctification must and do answer that inward testimony of the Spirit given unto us.

f Hee meaneth the Spirit of Sanctification whereby we are borne anew, and live unto God.

CHAP. IV.

1 Having spoken somewhat touching the trying of Spirits: 4 For some speake after the world, 5 and some after God. 7 He returneth to charitie, 11, 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly love.

DEarely 1 beloued, beleeve not every a spirit, but trie the spirits whether they are of God: for many false Prophets are gone out into the world.

2 a Hereby shall yee know the Spirit of God, b Every spirit that confesseth that c Iesus Christ is come into the d flesh is of God,

3 And every spirit that confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the Spirit of Antichrist, of whom yee have heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

4 3 Litle children ye are of God, and have overcome them: for greater is hee that is in you, then he that is in this world.

5 4 They are of this world, therefore spake they of this world, and this worlde heareth them.

6 5 We are of God, * hee that knoweth God, heareth us: hee that is not of God heareth us not. Hereby know we the e Spirit of trueth, and the spirit of error.

7 6 Beloved, let us love one another: 7 for love commeth of God, and every one that loveth is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 Hee that loveth not, knoweth not God, 8 for God is love,

1 Taking occasion by the name of the Spirit, least love and charity should be separated from the worship of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which he spake in the second Chapter touching the taking heed of Antichrists. And he will have us here to take heed of two things: the one is, that seeing there be many false Prophets, we doe not lightly give credit to every man: the other is, that because many man teach false things, we should not therefore beleeve any. We must then observe a meane, that we may be able to discerne the Spirit of God, which are altogether to be followed from impure spirits which are to be eschewed. a This is spoken by the figure Metonymie, and it is as if hee had said, Beleeve not every one that sayeth that hee hath a gift of the holy Ghost to doe the office of a Prophet. 2 Hee giveth a certaine and perpetuall rule to know the doctrine of Antichrist by, to wit, if either the divine or humane nature of Christ, or the true uniting of them together be denied: or if the least iote that may be, be derogate from his office who is our onely King, Prophet, and everlasting high Priest. b Hee speaketh simply of the doctrine, and not of the person. c The true Messias. d In true man. 3 Hee comforteth the elect with a most sure hope of victory: but yet so, that hee teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 4 Hee bringeth a reason: why the world receiveth these teacher, more willingly then the true: to wit, because they breathe out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note also to know the doctrine of Antichrist by. 5 He testifieth unto them that his doctrine and the doctrine of his fellowes, is the assured word of God: which of necessitie we have boldly to set against all the mouths of the whole world, and thereby discerne the trueth from falshood. ✣ Iohn 8.47. e True Prophets against whom are set false Prophets, that is, such as erre themselves, and lead other into errour. 6 Hee returneth to the commending of brotherly love and charitie. 7 The first reason: Because it is a very divine thing: and therefore very meet for the sonnes of God: so that whosoever is voyde of it, cannot be sayd to know God aright. 8 A confirmation: For it is the nature of God to love men, whereof wee have a most manifest proove above all other: in that that of his onely free and infinite good will towards us his enemies, hee delivered unto death not a common man, but that his owne Sonne, yea, his onely begotten Sonne, to the end that wee being reconciled through his blood, might be made partakers of his everlasting glory. f In that hee sayeth God, Love hee sayth more then if hee had sayd that hee loveth us infinitely.

9 ✣ Herein

* Iohn 3.16.

9 Another reason by comparison: if God so loved us, sha I not we his children love one another.

* Iohn 1.18. 1.tim.6.16.

10 A third reason: Because God is invisible, therefore by this effect of his Spirit, to wit, by charitie, he is understood, yea, end to be not out of us, but ioyned with us, and in us, in whom he is so effectually working.

g Is surely in us perfected and in trueth.

11 He underlayeth this charitie with another foundation, to wit, faith in Iesus, which ioyneth us indeede with him, even as charitie witnesseth that we are ioyned with him. Furthermore he testifieth of Christ, as who had seene him with his eyes.

h With such a confession as commeth from true faith and is accompanied with love, so that there be an agreement of all things.

9 * Herein was that love of God made manifest amongst us, because God sent that his onely begotten Sonne into this world, that wee might live through him.

10 Herein is that love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Sonne to be a reconciliation for our sinnes.

11 9 Beloued, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

12 * 10 No man hath seene God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is g perfect in us.

13 Hereby know we, that we dwell in him, and he in us: because he hath given us of his Spirit.

14 11 And we have seene, and do testifie, that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world.

15 Whosoever h confesseth that Iesus is the Son of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.

16 And we have knowen, and beleeved the love that God hath in us, 12 God is love, and hee that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 13 Herein is that love perfect in us, that we should have boldnesse in the day of Iudgement: for i as he is, even so are we in this world.

18 There is no k feare in love, but perfect love casteth out feare: for feare hath painefulnesse, and he that feareth is not perfect in love.

19 14 We love him, because he loved us first.

20 15 If any man say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a lyar: 16 for how can hee that loveth not his brother whom he hath seene, love God whom he hath not seene?

21 * 17 And this commandement have we of him, that hee that loveth God, should love his brother also.

12 A fourth reason: God is the fountaine and welspring of charitie, yea, charitie it selfe; therefore whosoever abideth in it, hath God with him. 13 Againe (as a little before) he commendeth love, for that seeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we have a certaine testimonie of our adoption, it commeth thereby to passe, that without feare we looke for that latter day of iudgement, so that trembling and that torment of conscience is cast out by this love.

i This signifieth all likenesse, not equalitie.

k If we understand by love, that we are in God, and God in us, that wee are sonnes, and that we know God, and that everlasting life is in us: he concludeth a right that wee may well gather peace and quietnesse thereby.

14 Lest any man should thinke that that peace of conscience proceedeth from our love as from the cause, he goeth backe to the fountaine, to wit, to the free love, wherewith God loveth us although wee deserved and doe deserve his wrath. And hereof springeth another double charity, which both are tokens and witnesses of that first, to wit, that, wherewith we love God who loved us first, and then for his sake our neighbours also. 15 As he shewed that the love of our neighbour cannot be separate from the love wherewith God loveth us, because this last engendreth the other: so he declareth that the other kinde of love wherewith we love God, can be separate from the love of our neighbour: whereof it followeth, that they lye impudently which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbour. 16 The first reason taken of comparison, why we cannot hate our neighbour and love God, to wit, because that hee that cannot love his brother, whom he seeth, how can hee love God whom hee seeth not? * Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 17 A second reason, why God cannot be heard and our neighbour loved, because the selfe same Lawmaker commanded both to loye him and our neighbour.

CHAP. V.

1 He sheweth that brotherly love and faith are things inseparable: 10 and that there is no faith towards God, but by beleeving in Christ: 14 Hence proceedeth calling upon God with assurance: 16 and also that our prayers be availeable for our brethren.

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, shewing how both those loves come into us from the love wherewith God

WHosoever 1 beleeveth that Iesus is that a Christ, is borne of God: and every one that loveth him, which begate, loveth b him also which is begotten of him.

2 2 In this we know that we love the children

loveth us, to wit, by Iesus our Mediatour laid hold on by faith, in whom we are made the children of God. and doe love the Father of whom we are so begotten and also our brethren which are begotten with us.

a Is the true Messias. b By one he meaneth all the faithfull.

2 The love of our neighbour doeth so hang upon the love wherewith wee love God, that this last must needes goe before the first, wherefof it followeth, that that is not to be called love when men agree together to doe evill. neither that, when as in loving our neighbours, wee respect not Gods commandements, of God, when we love God, and keepe his c commandements, c There is no love where there is no true doctrine.

3 3 For this is the love of God, that we keepe his commandements: 4 and his * commandements are not d burdenous.

3 The reason: for to love God is to keepe his commandements, which being so, and seeing that both the loves are commanded of one and the selfe same lawmaker (as he taught before) it followeth also that we doe not love our neighbour, when we breake Gods commandements.

4 5 For all that is borne of God, overcommeth this world: 6 and this is that victory that e hath overcome this world even our f faith.

4 Because experience teacheth us that there is no ability in our flesh, neither yet will to performe Gods commandements, therefore least the Apostle should seeme, by so often putting them in minde of the keeping of the commandements of God, to require things that are impossible, he pronounceth that the commandements of God are not in such sort grievous or burdensome, that we can be oppressed with the

5 * 7 Who is it that overcommeth this world, but hee which beleeveth that Iesus is that Sonne of God?

6 8 This is that Iesus Christ that came by water and blood: 9 not by water onely, but by water and blood: and it is that g Spirit that beareth witnesse: for that Spirit is trueth.

7 For there are three, which beare record in heaven, the Father, the h Worde, and the holy Ghost, and these three are i one.

8 And there are three, which beare record in the earth, the Spirit, and the Water, and the Blood: and these three agree in one.

9 10 If we receive the witnesse of men, the witnesse of God is greater: for k this is the witnesse of God, which he testified of his Sonne.

10 * 11 Hee that beleeveth in that Sonne of God, hath the witnesse in himselfe: he that beleeveth not God, hath made him a lyar, because hee beleeved not the record, that God witnessed of that his Sonne.

11 12 And this is that record, to wit, that God hath given unto us eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne.

12 Hee that hath that Sonne, hath that life: and he that hath not that Sonne of God, hath not that life.

13 13 These things have I written unto you, burden of them. * Matth.11.30.

d To them that are regenerate, that is to say, borne anew, which are led by the Spirit of God, and are through grace delivered from the curse of the Lawe.

5 A reason: Because by regeneration wee have gotten strength to overcome the worlde, that is to say, whatsoever striveth against the commandements of God. 6 He declareth what that strength is, to wit, Faith.

e Hee useth the time that is past to give us to understanding, that although wee be in the battell, yet undoubtly wee shall be conquerours, and are most certaine of the victorie.

f Which is the instrumentall cause, and as a meane and hand whereby we lay hold on him who indeed doeth performe this, that is, hath and doeth overcome the world, Even Christ Iesus. * 1.Cor.15.57. 7 Moreover hee declareth two things, the one what true faith is, to wit, that which resteth upon Iesus Christ the Sonne of God alone: whereupon followeth the other, to wit, that this strength is not proper to faith, but by faith as an instrument is drawen from Iesus Christ the Sonne of God.

8 He prooveth the excellencie of Christ, in whom onely all things are given us by sixe witnesses, three heavenly, and three earthly, which wholly and fully agree together. The heavenly witnesses are: the Father who sent the Sonne, the worde it selfe which became flesh, and the holy Ghost. The earthly witnesses are, water, (that is, our sanctification) blood, (that is our iustification) the Spirit, (that is, acknowledge of God the Father in Christ by faith through the testimonie or the holy Ghost.)

9 Hee warneth us not to separate water from blood, (that is, sanctification from iustification, or righteousnesse begunne, from righteousnesse imputed) for we stand not upon sanctification, but so farre foorth as it is a witnesse of Christes righteousnesse imputed unto us: and although this imputation of Christes righteousnesse be never separated from sanctification, yet it is onely the matter of our salvation.

g One spirit, which is the third witnesse, testifieth that the holy Ghost is trueth: that is to say, that that is true which he telleth us, to wit, that we are the sonnes of God.

h Looke Iohn 8.14.

i Agree in one.

10 Hee sheweth by an Argument of comparison, of what great weight the heavenly testimonie is, that the father hath given of the Sonne, unto whom agreeth both the Sonne himselfe and the holy Ghost.

k I conclude this aright: for the testimonie which I said is given in heaven, commeth from God, who so setteth forth his Sonne. * Iohn 3.16.

11 Hee prooveth the sureneſſe of the earthly witnesses by every mans conscience, having that testimonie in it selfe, which conscience hee saith cannot be deceived, because it consenteth the heavenly testimonie, which the Father giveth of the Sonne: For otherwise the Father must needes be a lyar, if the conscience, which accordeth and assenteth to the Father should lye.

12 Now at length hee sheweth what this testimonie is, that is confirmed with so many witnesses: to wit, that life of everlasting felicitie, is the meere and onely gift of God, which is in the Sonne, and proceedeth from him into us, which by faith are ioyned with him, so that without him life is no where to be found.

13 The conclusion of the Epistle wherein hee sheweth first of all, that even they which already beleeve, doe stand in deede of this doctrine, to the end that they may growe more and more in faith, that is to say, to the end that they may bedayly more and more crucified of their salvation in Christ through faith.

that

that beleeve in the name of that Sonne of God, that ye may know that ye have eternall life, and that yee may beleeve in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 Becauſe we do not yet in effect obtain that which we hope for, the Apoſtle ioyneth invocation or prayer with faith, which he will have to proceed from faith, and moreover to be conceived in ſuch ſort, that nothing be asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God:

14 14 And this is that aſſurance that we have in him, * that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth us.

15 And if we know that he heareth us, whatſoever we aske, we know that wee have the petitions, that we have deſired of him.

16 15 If any man ſee his brother ſinne a ſinne that is not unto death, let him l aske, and he ſhall give him life for them that ſinne not unto death. * There is a ſinne unto death, I ſay not that thou ſhouldeſt pray for it.

17 16 All unrighteouſneſſe is ſinne, but there is a ſinne not unto death.

18 17 We know that whoſoever is born of God, ſinneth not: but he that is begotten of God keepeth himſelfe, and that wicketh one toucheth him not.

19 18 Wee know that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesſe.

20 But we know that the Sonne of God is * come, and hath given us a mind to know him, which is true, and we are in him that is true, that is, in that his Sonne Ieſus Chriſt, the ſame is that very m God, and that eternall life.

21 19 Little children, keepe your ſelves from idoles, Amen.

16 The taking away of an obiection: indeed all iniquitie is comprehended under the name of ſin, but yet we muſt not deſpaire therefore, becauſe every ſin is not deadly, and without hope of remedie.

17 A reaſon why not all, nay rather why no ſin is mortall to ſome, to wit, becauſe they be borne of God, that is to ſay, made the ſonnes of God in Chriſt, and being indued with his Spirit, they doe not ſerve ſin, neither are deadly wounded of Satan.

18 Every man muſt particularly apply to himſelfe the generall promiſes, that we may certainely perſwade our ſelves, that whereas all the world is by nature loſt, we are freely made the ſonnes of God, by the ſending of Ieſus Chriſt his Sonne unto us, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God, and everlaſting life.

19 He expreſſeth a plaine precept of taking heed of idoles: which hee ſetteth againſt the onely true God, that with this ſeale as it were he might ſeale up all the former doctrine.

* Luke 24,45. m The divinitie of Chriſt is moſt plainely proved by this place.

l This is as much as if he ſaid, Let him deſire the Lord to forgive him, and hee will forgive him being ſo deſired. * Matth.12,31. marke 3,29.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 This Epiſtle is written to a woman of great renowne, 4 who brought up her children in the feare of God: 6 he exhorteth her to continue in Chriſtian charitie, 7 that ſhee accompanie not with Antichriſts, 10 but avoid them.

a This is no proper name, but to be taken as the word ſoundeth, that is to ſay, to the worthy and noble Lady.
b Excellent and honourable Dame.

THE ELDER to the a elect b Ladie, and her children, c whom I love in the trueth: and not I onely, but alſo all that have knowen the trueth,

2 For the trueths ſake which dwelleth in us, and ſhall be with us for ever:

3 Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt the Sonne of the Father, with c trueth and love.

4 2 I reioyced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in d trueth, as we have received a commandement of the Father.

5 And now beſeech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandement unto thee, but the ſame which we had from the beginning) that we * love one another.

1 The bond of Chriſtian conjunction or linking together, is the true and conſtant profeſſion of the trueth.
c With true knowledge, which hath alwayes love ioyned with it, and following it.
2 This true profeſſion conſiſteth both in love one toward another which the Lord had commanded, and alſo eſpecially in wholeſome and ſound doctrine, which alſo is delivered unto us: for the commandement of God is a ſound and ſure foundation both of the rule of manners and of doctrine, and theſe cannot be ſeparated the one from the other.
d According as the trueth direſteth them. * Iohn 15,12.

6 And this is that love that we ſhould walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as ye have heard from the beginning, yee ſhould walke in it.

7 3 For many deceivers are entred into this world, which confeſſe not that Ieſus Chriſt is come in the fleſh. He that is ſuch one, is a deceiver and an Antichriſt.

8 4 e Looke to your ſelves, that we loſe not the things, which we have done, but that we may receive a full reward.

9 Whoſoever tranſgreſſeth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Chriſt, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Chriſt, he hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 5 If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, * receive him not to houſe, neither bid him God ſpeed.

11 For he that biddeth him God ſpeed, is partaker of his evill deeds. Although I had many things to write unto you, yet would I not write with paper and ynke: but I truſt to come unto you, and ſpeake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full.

12 The ſonnes of thine elect ſiſter greete thee, Amen.

3 Antichriſt fighting againſt the perſon and office of Chriſt, were already crept into the Church in the time of the Apoſtles.
4 He that maketh ſhipwracke of doctrine, loſeth all.
e Beware and take good head.
5 We ought to have nothing to doe with them that defend perverſe doctrine.
* Rom.16,17.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF IOHN.

2 Hee commendeth Gaius for hoſpitalitie, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vaine glory: 10 hee exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrius.

a An example of a Chriſtian gratulation.
a Then theſe ioyes.
b As becommeth a beleever and a Chriſtian.
c He commendeth to Gaius either thoſe ſelfe ſame men whom he had entertained before, returning now againe to him about the affaires of the Church, or elſe ſome other which had like buſineſſe.

THE 1 Elder unto the beloved Gaius whom I love in the trueth.

2 Beloved, I wiſh chiefly that thou proſpereſt and faredſt well as thy ſoule proſpereth.

3 For I reioyceth greatly when the brethren came and teſtified of the trueth that is in thee, how thou walkeſt in the trueth.

4 I have no greater ioy then a theſe, that is, to heare that my ſonnes walke in veritie.

5 Beloved, thou doeſt b faithfully, whatſoever thou doeſt to the brethren, and to ſtrangers,

6 Which bare witneſſe of thy love before the Churches: Whom if thou c bringeſt on their iourney as it beſeemeth according to God, thou ſhalt doe well.

7 Becauſe that for his Names ſake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

8 Wee therefore ought to receive ſuch, that we might be d helpers to the trueth.

9 2 I wrote unto the Church, but Diotrephes which loveth to have the preeminence among them, receiveth us not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deeds which hee doeth, pratling againſt us with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither hee himſelfe receiveth the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thruſteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloved, follow not that which is evill, but that which is good: he that doth well is of God: but he that doeth evill, hath not e ſeene God.

d That we our ſelves may helpe ſomewhat to the preaching of the trueth.
2 Ambition and covetouſneſſe, two peſtilent plagues (eſpecially in them which have any Eccleſiaſticall function) are condemned in Diotrephes perſon.
e Hath not knowen God.

12 Demetrius

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the trueth it selfe: yea, and wee our selves beare record, and ye know that our record is true.
13 I have many things to write: but I will not with ynke and pen write unto thee:
14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greete thy friends by name.

THE GENERALL EPISTLE OF IUDE.

3 Hee warneth the godly to take heede of such men. 4 that make the grace of God a cloake for their wantonnesse: 5 and that they shall not escape unpunished, for the contempt of that grace, 6, 7 hee proveth by three examples: 14 and alleageth the prophecie of Enoch. 20 Finally hee sheweth the godly a meane to overthrow all the sleights of those deceivers.

a This is put to make a difference betweene him and Iudas Iscariot.
b By God the Father.
c Set apart by the everlasting counsell of God, to be delivered to Christ to be kept.
1 The end and marke whereat he shooteth in this Epistle, is, that he confirmeth the godly against certaine wicked men, both in wholesome doctrine and good maners.
d Of these things that pertaine to the salvation of all of us.
e That ye should defend the faith by all the might you can, both by true doctrine and good example of life.
f Which was once so given, that it may never be changed.
2 It is by Gods providence and not by chance, that many wicked men creepe into the Church.
3 Hee condemneth this first in them, that they take a pretence, or occasion to waxe wanton, by the grace of God: which cannot be, but the chiefe empire of Christ must be abrogated, in that such men give up themselves to Satan: as at this time the sect of the Anabaptists doeth, which they call Liberrines.

IUde a servant of Iesus Christ, and a brother of Iames, to them which are called and sanctified b of God the Father, and c reserved to Iesus Christ:
2 Mercy unto you, and peace and love be multiplied.
3 1 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the d common salvation, it was needfull for me to write unto you, to exhort you, that ye should earnestly e contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was f once given unto the Saints.
4 2 For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: 3 ungodly men they are, which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse, and * denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ.
5 4 I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as yee once knew this, how that the Lord, after that hee had delivered the people out of Egypt, * destroyed them afterward which beleeved not.
6 5 The * Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chaines under darkenesse unto the iudgement of the great day.
7 As * Sodome and Gomorrhe, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, g committed fornication, and followed h strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.
8 Likewise notwithstanding these i sleepers also defile the flesh, 6 and despise k governement, and speake evill of them that are in authoritie.
9 7 Yet Michael the Archangel, when hee strove against the devill, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.
10 8 But these speake evill of those things, which they know not: and whatsoever things they know naturally as beasts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselves.
11 9 Woe be unto them! for they have followed the way * of Cain, and are cast away by the deceit * of Balaams wages, and perish in the gainesaying * of Core.
12 10 These are rockes in your l feastes of charity, when they feast with you, without m all feare, feeding themselves: * cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees and without fruit, twise dead, and plucked up by the rootes.
13 They are the raging waves of the sea, foming out their owne shames: they are wandring starres, to whom is reserved the n blackenesse of darkenesse for ever.
14 And Enoch also the seventh from Adam, prophecied of such, saying, * Beholde, the Lord o commeth with thousands of his Saints,
15 To give iudgement against all men, and to rebuke all the ungodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they have ungodly committed, and of all their cruell speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him.
16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: * whose mouthes speake proud things, having mens persons in admiration, because of advantage.
17 11 But, yee beloved, remember the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ:
18 How that they tolde you that there should be mockers * in the last time, which should walke after their owne ungodly lusts.
19 12 These are they that separate themselves from other, naturall, having not the Spirit.
20 But, yee beloved, edifie your selves in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost.
21 And keepe your selves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Iesus Christ, unto eternall life.
22 13 And have compassion of some, in putting difference:
23 And other save with p feare, pulling them out of the fire, and hate even that q garment which is spotted by the flesh.
24 14 Now unto him that is able to keepe you that yee fall not, and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glory with ioy,
25 That is, to God onely wise, our Saviour be glory, and maiestie, and dominion, and power, both now and for ever, Amen.

7 He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble or shew forth Cains shamelesse malice, Balaams filthy covetousnesse, and to be short, Cores seditious and ambitious head.
* Gen.4.8.
* Num.22,21. 2.pet.2,15.
* Numb.16,1.
10 He rebuketh most sharply with many other notes and markes, both their dishonestie or filthinesse, and their savoriesse, but especially their vaine bravery of words, and most vaine pride, joyning herewithall a most grave and heavie threatning out of a most ancient prophecie of Enoch touching the iudgement to come.
l The feasts of charitie were certaine banketts, which the brethren that were members of the Church, kept all together, as Tertullian setteth them forth in his Apolog. Chap. 3, 9.
m Impudently, without all reverence either to God or man.
* 2. Pet. 2, 17.
n Most grosse darkenesse.
* Revel. 1. 7.
o The present time for the time to come.
* Psal 17, 10.
11 The rising up of such monsters was spoken of before that we should not be troubled at the newnesse of the matter. * 1. Tim. 4. 1. 2. tim. 3. 1. 2 pet. 3. 3. 12 It is the property of Antichristes to separate themselves from the godly, because they are not governed by the Spirit of God: and contrariwise it is the propertie of Christians to edifie one another through godly prayers both in faith and also in love untill the mercy of Christ appeare to their full salvation. 13 Among them which wander and goe astray, the godly have to use this choice, that they handle some of them gently, and that other some being even in the very flame, they endevour to save with severe and sharpe instruction of the present danger: yet so that they doe in such sort abhorre the wicked and dishoneste, that they eschewe even the least contagion that may be. p By fearing them, and holding them backe with godly severitie. q An amplification taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile. 14 He commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God onely that can give us that constancie which he requireth of us.

THE REVELATION OF SAINT IOHN THE APOSTLE AND Euangelist with the Annotations of

Francis Iunius.

CHAP. I.

2 He declareth what kind of doctrine is here handled, & euen his that is the beginning and ending. 12 Then the mystery of the seuen Candlestickes and starres 20 is expounded.

1 This Chapter hath two principall parts, the title or inscription, which standeth in stead of an exordium: and a narration going before the whole prophecie of this booke: The inscription is double, generall and particular. The generall containeth the kind of prophecie, the author, and matter, instruments, and maner of communicating the same, in the first verse: the most religious faithfulnesse of the Apostle as a publike witnesse verse 2. And the vse of communicating the same taken from the promise of God, and from the circumstance of the time, verse the third.

a An opening of a secret and hid thing.

THE a Revelation of b Iesus Christ, which God gaue vnto him, to shewe vnto his seruants things which must shortly be done: which hee sent, and shewed by his Angel vnto his seruant Iohn,

2 Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimonie of Iesus Christ, and of all things that he saw.

3 Blessed is he that readeth, and they that heare the words of this prophecie, and keepe those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 1 Iohn to the seuen Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, c Which * is, and Which was, and Which is to come, and from 4 the d seuen Spirits which are before his Throne.

5 And from Iesus Christ 5 which is that * faithfull witnesse, and * that first begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, vnto him that loued vs, and washed vs from our sinnes in his * blood,

6 And made vs * Kings and Priests vnto God euen his Father, to him, I say, be glory, and dominion for euermore, Amen.

7 Behold, he commeth with * clouds, and e very eye shall see him: yea, euen they which pearced him thorow: and all kindreds of the earth shall waile before him, Euen so, Amen.

8 6 I * am f Alpha and Omega, the beginning and § ending, saith the Lord, Which is, & Which was, and Which is to come, euen the Almighty.

9 7 I Iohn, euen your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the h ile called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Iesus Christ.

10 And I was rauished in h spirit on the i Lords day, and heard behind me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpet,

11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: and that which thou seest write in a booke, and send it vnto the seuen Churches which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, and vnto Smyrna, & vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

12 8 Then I turned backe to k see the voyce that spake with me: 9 and when I was turned, I sawe seuen golden candlestickes.

13 And in the mids of the seuen candlestickes, one like vnto the sonne of man, cloathed with a garment downe to the feete, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His head and heires were white as white wool, & as snow, & his eyes were as a flame of fire,

15 And his feet like vnto fine brasse burning as in a fornace: and his voyce as the sound of many waters.

16 And he had in his right hand seuen starres: and out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword, and his face shone as the sonne shineth in his strength.

17 10 And when I sawe him, I fell at his feete as dead: 11 then he laide his right hand vpon me, saying vnto me, Feare not: 12 I am that * first

6 A confirmation of the salvation aforegoing, taken from the words of God himselfe: in which he avoucheth his perfection in every singular creature, the immutable eternitie that is in himselfe, and his omnipotencie in all things: and concludeth in the unitie of his owne essence, that Trinitie of persons, which was before spoken of.

* Chap. 21, 6. and 22. 13.

f I am he before whom there is nothing, yea, by whom every thing that is made, was made and shall remaine though all they should perish.

7 The narration opening the way to the declaring of the authoritie and calling of Saint Iohn the Euangelist in this singular Reuelation, and to procure faith, and credit vnto this prophecie. This is the second part of this Chapter consisting of a proposition and an exposition. The proposition shereth, brit who was called vnto this Reuelation, in what place, & how occupied, verse 9. Then at what time and by what meanes, namely, by the spirit and the word, and that on the Lords day, which day ever since the resurrection of Christ, was consecrated for Christians vnto the religion of the Sabbath: that is to say, to be a day of rest, verse 10. Thirdly, who is the author that calleth him, and what is the sum of his calling.

b Which the Sonne opened to vs out of his Fathers bosome by Angels. 2 This is the particuliar or singular inscription where in saluation is written vnto certaine Churches by name, which represent the Church Catholike: and the certainty and the trueth of the same is declared, from the Authour thereof, vnto the eight verse. 3 That is, from God the Father, eternall, immortall, immutable: whose vnchangeablenesse S. Iohn declareth by a forme of speach which is vndeclined. For there is no incongruitie in this place, where of necessitie the words must be attempered vnto the mysteries, and not the mysteries corrupted or impaired by the word. c By these three times, Is, Was and shall be, is signified this word Iehovah, which is the proper name of God. 7 Exod. 3. 14. 4 That is, from the holy Ghost which proceedeth from the Father and the Sonne. This Spirit is one in person according to his substistencie: but in communication of his vertue, and in demonstration of his diuine workes in those seuen Churches, doeth so perfectly manifest himselfe, as if there were so many Spirits, every one perfectly working in his owne Church, wherefore after Chap. 5, 6. they are called the seuen hornes and seuen eyes of the Lambe, as much to say, as his most absolute power and wisedome: and Chap 3, 1. Christ is said to have there seuen Spirits of God, and Chap. 4, 5. it is said, that seuen lampes do burne before his throne, which also are those seuen Spirits of God. That this place ought to be so vnderstod it is thus proued: For first grace and peace is asked by prayer of this Spirit, which is a diuine worke, and in action incommunicable, in respect of the most high Deitie. Secondly he is placed betweene the Father and the Sonne, as set in the same degree of dignitie and operation with them. Besides he is before the throne, as of the same substance with the Father and the Son: as the seuen eyes and seuen hornes of the Lambe. Moreover these spirits are never sayde to adore God, as all other things are. Finally, that is the power whereby the Lambe opened the booke, and loosed the seuen seales thereof, when none could be found amongst all creatures by whom the booke might be opened. Chap. 5. Of these things long agoe, Master Iohn Luid of Oxford wrote learnedly vnto mee. Now the holy Ghost is set in order of words before Christ, because there was in that which followeth, a long processe of speach to be vsed concerning Christ. d These are the seuen spirits, which are afterward, Chap. 5 verse 6 called the hornes and eyes of the Lambe, and are now made as a garde swriting vpon God. 5 A most ample and graue commendation of Christ, first from his offices, the Priesthood and kingdomes, secondly from his benefits, as his loue toward vs, and washing vs with his blood in this verse, and communication of his kingdome and Priesthood, with vs: thirdly from his eternall glory and power, which alwayes is to be celebrated of vs verse 6. Finally from the accomplishment of all things once to be effected by him, at his second comming, what time hee shall openly destroy the wicked, and shall comfort the godly in the trueth. verse 7. * Psal. 89, 38. * 1. Cor. 15, 21. coloss. 1, 18. * Heb. 9, 14. 1. pet. 1, 19. 2. Iohn 1, 5. § 1. Pet. 2, 5. * Esai. 3, 14. matth. 24, 30. Iude 14. c All men.

13 The summe of this prophecie, that the Apostle must write whatsoever hee should see, adding nothing, nor taking away any thing, as verse 2. Hereof there are two parts, one is a narration of those things which are, that is, which then were at that time contained in the second and third Chapters, the other part is of those things which were to come, contained in the rest of this booke.

and that last.

18 And am alive, but I was dead: and behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen: and I have the keyes of hell and of death.

19 13 Write these things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20 14 The mystery of the seven starres which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks is this, The seven starres are the 1 Angels of the seven Churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest, are the seven Churches.

14 That is, the things which was mysticall, signified by the particulars of the vision before going. 1 By the Angels he meaneth the Ministers of the Church.

CHAP. II.

1 John is commanded to write those things which the Lord knew necessarie to the Churches of Ephesus. 8 Of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 and of Thyatira, 25 that they keepe those things which they received of the Apostles.

2 The former part of this booke is comprised in a narration of those things which then were as S. John taught us, chap. 1, 19. it belongeth wholly to instruction: and in the 2. next Chapters, conteineth seven places according to the number & condition of those Churches which were named before Chap. 1, 11. figured verse 12. and distributed most aptly into their Pastours and flockes verse 20. which verse of that Chap. is as it were a passage unto the first part. Every one of the seven places hath three principall members, an Exordium taken from the person of the Authour: a Proposition, in which is praise and commendation of that which is good, reprehension of that which is evill: and instruction conteining either an exhortation alone, or with all a dissuasion opposite unto it, and a conclusion stirring unto attention by divine promises. And this first place is unto the Pastours of the Church of Ephesus. 2 The exordium wherein are conteined the speciall praises of Christ Iesus the Authour of this prophecie out of the 16. and 13. verse of the first Chapter. 3 The proposition, first condemning the Pastour of this Church verse 2, 3. then reprooving him, verse 4. after informing him and withall threatning that hee will translate the Church to another place, verse 5. This commination or threat Christ mitigateth by a kind of correction, calling to minde the particular vertue and pietie of the Church, which God never leaveth without recompense verse 6. Concerning the Nicolaitans see after upon the 11. verse. 4 The conclusion, containing a commaundement of attention and a promise of everlasting life, shadowed out in a figure of which Genes. 2, 9. 5 That is, in Paradise after the maner of the Hebrew phrase. b Thus Christ speaketh as the Mediator. 6 The second place is unto the Pastours of the Church of the Smyrnians. The exordium is taken out of the 17 and 18 verses of the first Chap. c Smyrna was one of the cities of Ionia in Asia. 7 The proposition of praise is in this verse, and of exhortation ioyned with promise, is in the next verse.

1 VNto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write, 2 These things saith he that holdeth the seven starres in his right hand, and walketh in the mids of the seven golden candlesticks.

2 3 I know thy workes, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not beare with them which are evill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them lyars.

3 And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

4 Nevertheless, I have somewhat a against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent and doe the first workes: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remoove thy candlesticke out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou hast that thou hatest the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

7 4 Let him that hath an eare heare what the Spirit saith unto the Churches: To him that overcommeth, will I give to eare of the tree of life which is in 5 the middes of the b Paradise of God.

8 6 And unto the Angel of the Church of the c Smyrnians write, These things saith hee that is first and last, which was dead and is alive.

9 7 I know thy workes and tribulation, and povertie (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemie of them, which say they are Iewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the devill shall cast some of you into prison, that yee

a The exordium is taken out of the 13 verse of the first Chapter. b Pergamus was the name of a famous citie in old time in Asia, where the Kings of the Attalians were alwayes resident.

may be tried, and ye shall have 8 tribulation ten dayes: be thou faithfull unto the death, and I will give thee the crowne of life.

11 9 Let him that hath an eare heare what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. He that overcommeth shall not be hurt 10 of the second death.

12 11 And to the Angel of the Church, which is at d Pergamus write, Thus saith he which hath that sharpe sword with two edges.

13 12 I know thy workes, and where thou dwellest, even where Satans throne is, and thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, even in e those dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I have a fewe things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintaine the doctrine of * Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before the children of Israel, that they should eate of things sacrificed unto idoles, and commit fornication.

15 Even so hast thou them that maintaine the doctrine of the 13 Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thy selfe, or else I will come unto thee shortly, and will fight against thee with the sword of my mouth.

17 14 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the spirit saith unto the Churches. To him that overcommeth, will I give to eate 15 of the g Manna that is hid, and will give him a h 16 white stone, and in the stone a new 17 name written, which no man knoweth, saving he that receiveth it.

18 9 And unto 18 the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the sonne of God, which hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse.

19 I know 19 thy workes and thy love, and i service & faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that they are moe at the last, then at the first.

20 Notwithstanding, I have a few things against thee, that thou suffereſt the woman Iezabel which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teach and to deceive my servants, to make them commit k fornication and to eate meate sacrificed unto idoles.

21 And I gave her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not,

8 That is, of ten yeeres. For so commonly both in this booke and in Daniel, yeeres are signified by the name of Dayes: that God thereby might declare, that the space of time is appointed by him, and the same very short. Now because Saint Iohn wrote this booke in the end of Domitian the Emperour his reigne, as Iustine and Ireneus doe witnesse, it is altogether necessarie that this should be referred unto that persecution which was done by the authoritie of the Emperour Traian, who began to make havocke of the Christian Church in the tenth yeere of his reigne, as the Historiographers doe write: and this bloody persecution continued untill Adrian the Emperour had succeeded in his place: the space of which time is precisely tenne yeeres, which are here mentioned.

9 The conclusion as verse 7, 10. See Chap. 20, 6.

11 The third place is unto the Pastors of Pergamus. The exordium is taken out of the 16 verse of the first Chapter.

d Pergamus was the name of a famous citie in old time in Asia, where the Kings of the Attalians were alwayes resident,

12 The proposition of praise in this verse, of reprehension in the two following, and of exhortation ioyned with a conditionall threate, verse 16. Now this Antipas was the Angel or minister of the Church of Pergamus, as Aretas writeth. e The faith of them of Pergamus is so much the more highly commended, because they remained constant even in the very heat of persecution. * Num. 24, 14. and 25, 1. f That which is here spoken of things offered to idoles, is meant of the same kinde, which Paul speaketh of 1. Cor. 10, 13. 13 which follow the footsteps of Balaam, and such as are abandoned unto all filthinesse, as be shewed in the verse aforegoing, and is here signified by a note of similitude. And thus also must the sixt verse bee understood. For this matter especially Ireneus must be consulted withall. 14 The conclusion, standing of exhortation as before, and of promise. g Hee alludeth to that sermon which wee reade of Iohn 6. and to the place we finde Psalmes 105, 40. h Aretas writeth, that such a stone was wont to be given to wrestlers at games, or else that such stones did in olde time witnesse the quiting of a man. 15 The bread of life, invisible, spirituall, and heavenly, which is kept secretly with God, from before all eternitie. 16 which is a signe and witnesse of forgivenesse and remission of sinnes, of righteousnesse and true holinesse, and of puritie uncorrupted, after that the old man is killed. 17 A signe and testimonie of newnesse of life in righteousnesse and true holinesse, by putting on the new man, whom none doeth inwardly know, save the spirit of man which is in himselfe, the praise whereof is not of man, but of God Rom. 2, 28, 22. The fourth place is unto the Pastours of Thyatira. The exordium is taken out of the 14. and 25. verses of the first Chapter. 19 The proposition of prayse is in this verse: of reprehension, for that they tolerated with them, the doctrine of ungodlinesse and unrighteousnesse, is verse 20. the authours whereof though they were called backe of God, yet repented not verse 21. whereunto is added a most heavie threatning, verse 22. and 23. of a conditionall promise, and of exhortation to hold fast the trueth, is in the two verses following. i So he calleth those offices of charity which are done to the Saints. k By Fornication, is sometimes in the Scripture idolatrie meant.

22 Behold,

22 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

23 And I will kill her children with death, and all the Churches shall know that I am he which * searche the reines and hearts: and I will give unto every one of you according unto your works.

24 And unto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as have not this learning, neither have knowen the l deepenesse of Satan (as they speake) I will m put upon you none other burden.

25 But that which ye have already, holde fast till I come.

26 20 For he that overcommeth and keepeth my words unto the end, to him will I give 21 power over nations.

27 * And he shall rule them with a rod of yron: and as the vessels of a potter, shall they be broken:

28 Even as I received of my Father, so will I give him 22 the morning Starre.

29 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

CHAP. III.

2 The first Epistle sent to the Pastors of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 And of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not luke warme, 20 but endeavour to further Gods glory.

1 AND write unto the Angel of the Church which is at a Sardis, These things saith the that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars, I know thy works: for thou hast a b name that thou livest, but thou art dead.

2 Be awake, and strengthen the things which remaine, that are c ready to die: for I have not found thy worke perfit before God.

3 Remember therefore, how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast and repent. * If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thiefe, and thou shalt not know what houre I will come upon thee.

4 Notwithstanding thou hast a few names yet in Sardis, 3 which have not defiled their garments: and they shall walke with me in 4 white: for they are d worthy.

5 He 5 that overcommeth, shall be cloathed in white aray, and I will not put out his Name out of the * booke of life, but I will confesse his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith unto the Churches.

7 ¶ 6 And write unto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, These things saith hee that is Holy, and True, which hath the e key of David, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth and no man openeth.

8 7 I know thy workes: behold, I have set before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

9 Behold, I will make them f of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselves Iewes, an I lie not, but doe lie: behold, I say, I will make them that they shall come 8 and worship before thy feet, and or Christ religiously at thy feete (and thus I had rather take it) whether here in the Church (which seemeth more proper to the argument of this place) or there in the world to come. For Christ shall verely fulfill his word.

shall know that I have loved thee.

10 Because thou hast g kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliver thee from the houre of tentation, which will come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

11 Behold, I come shortly: hold that which thou hast, that no man take thy crowne.

12 9 Him that overcommeth, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he shall goe no more out: 10 and I will write upon him the Name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is the new Ierusalem, which commeth downe out of heaven from my God, and I will write upon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saieth unto the Churches.

14 11 And unto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write, These things saith h Amen, the faithfull and true witnes, that i beginning of the creatures of God.

15 12 I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hote: I would thou were cold or hot.

16 Therefore because thou art luke warme, and neither cold nor hote, it will come to passe, that I shall spew thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, 13 and poore, and blind, and naked.

18 I counsell thee to buy of me gold tryed by the fire, that thou mayest be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayst be cloathed, and that thy filthy nakednesse doe not appeare: and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see.

19 As many as I love, * I rebuke and chasten: be k zealous therefore and amend.

20 Behold, I stand at the doore, and knocke, 14 if any man heare my voyce, and open the doore, I will come in unto him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

21 15 To him that overcommeth, will I graunt to sit with me in my throne, even as I overcame, and sit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saieth unto the Churches.

CHAP. IIII.

l He poynteth out the bragging of certaine men, which boasted of their deepe, that is, plentifull and common knowledge, which notwithstanding is deathly.

m I will speake no worse thing against you, being content to have shewed you what I require to be in you.

20 The conclusion, wherin Christ assureth unto his servants the communion of his Kingdome and glory, in this verse and the next following, and commaundeth an holy attention in the last verse.

21 That is, I will make him a King by communion with me, and my fellow heire, as it is promised, Mat. 19. 28. and 25. 34. Rom. 8. 17. and 1. Cor 6. 3. Ephe. 2. 6. and 1. Tim 2. 12. Apoc. 3. 21. and 4. 4. * Psal. 2. 9.

1 The first place is unto the Pastors of Sardis. The exordium is taken out of the 4. and 16. verses of the 1. Chap.

a Sardis is the name of a most flourishing and famous Citie, where the Kings of Lydia kept their courts.

2 The proposition of reproofe is in this verse: of exhortation ioyned with a threatning in the two verses that follow, and of qualifications by way of correction unto the comfort of the good, which yet remained there, verse 4.

b Thou art said to live, but art dead in deede.

c Other things, whose state is such, that they are now going, and unlesse they be confirmed, will perish forthwith.

4 Pure from all spot and shining with glory. So it is to be understood alwayes hereafter as in the next verse.

5 The conclusion standing upon a promise and a commandement as before.

d They are meet and fit, to wit, because they are iustified in Christ, as they have truely shewed it: for he is righteous that worketh righteousnesse: but so, as the tree bringeth forth the fruit. Looke Rom. 8. 18. * Chap. 20. 12. and 20. 27. phil. 4. 3.

6 The sixt place is unto the Pastors of Philadelphia. The exordium is taken out of the 18 verse of the 1. chapter.

e All power of rule in commaunding and forbidding, delivering and punishing. And the house of David is the Church, and the continuall promise of Davids Kingdome belongeth to Christ.

7 The proposition of praise is in this verse, of promises, to bring home against them that wander, verse 9, and to preserve the godly, verse 10, and of exhortation, verse 11.

f I will bring them to that case.

8 That is, fall down and worship

g Because thou hast kept patient & constant as I would my servants should be.

9 The conclusion, which containeth a promise and a commandement.

10 That is, the new man shall be termed after his Father, Mother, and head Christ.

11 The seventh place is unto the pastors of the Church of Laodicea. The exordium is taken out of the 15 verse of the 1. chapter.

h Amen soundeth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as Truely, or Truth it selfe.

i Of whom all things that are made, have their beginning.

12 The proposition of reproofe is in this verse, whereunto is adioyned a threatning, verse 16. with a confirmation declaring the same, verse 17. and of exhortation unto faith and repentance, verse 18. 19. whereunto is added a conditionall promise verse 20.

13 The spirituall misery of men is metaphorically expressed in three points: unto which are matched as correspondent those remedies which are offered, verse 18. * Prou. 3. 12. heb. 12. 5. k Zeale is set against them which are neither hote nor cold.

14 This must be taken after the maner of an allegory, as Iohn 14. 23.

15 The conclusion, consisting of a promise, as chap. 1. verse 26. and of an exhortation. Hitherto hath bin the first part of the booke of the Apocalypse.

1 Another vision conteining the glory of Gods Majesty,

2 which is magnified of the foure beasts, 10 and the foure and twenty Elders.

altogether prophetical, forerelling those things which were to come, as was said before, Chap. 1. 19. This is divided into two historie: one common unto the whole world, unto the 9. Chapter: and another singular of the Church of God, thence unto the 22. chapter. And these historie are said to be described in severall bookes, chap. 5. 1. and 10. 2. Now this verse is as it were a passage from the former part unto this second: where it is said, that the heaven was opened, that is, that heavenly things were unlocked, and that a voice as of a trumpet sounded in heaven to stirre up the Apostles, and call him to the understanding of things to come. The first history hath two parts, one of the causes of things done, and of this whole Revelation, in that and the next chapter. Another of the actes done, in the next 4. chapters. The principall causes according to the distinction of persons is the vnitie of the divine essence, and according to the oeconomie or dispensation thereof, are two. One the beginning, which none can approach unto, that is, God the Father, of whom is spoken in this chapter. The other, the Sonne, who is the meane cause, estie to be approached vnto, in respect that he is God and man in one person: of whom Chap. 5.

heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, saying, Come up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be done hereafter.

2 And 2 immediatly I was ravished a in the spirit, 3 and beholde, a throne was set in heaven, and one sate upon the throne.

3 4 And he that sate, was to looke upon, like unto a Iasper stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainebow round about the throne, in sight like to an emerauld.

4 5 And round about the throne were foure and twentie seats, and upon the seats I saw foure and twentie Elders sitting, cloathed in white rayment, and had on their heads crownes of gold.

5 6 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings and voices, and there were seven lampes of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God.

6 7 And before the throne there was a Sea of glasse like unto chrystall: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne were foure beastes, full of eyes before and behinde.

7 And the first beast was like a lyon, and the second beast like a calfe, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle.

8 And the b foure beasts had each one of them sixe wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not c day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Which was, and which is, and which is to come.

9 And when those beastes c gave glory, and honour, and thanks to him that sate on the throne, which liveth for ever and ever,

10 9 The foure and twentie Elders fell downe before him that sate on the throne, and worshipped him that liveth for evermore, and cast their crownes before the throne, saying,

11 10 Thou art * worthy, O Lord, 11 to receive glory, and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy wils sake they are, and have beene created.

upon the throne, 3 a booke written within, and on the backside sealed with seven seales.

2 And I saw a strong Angel which preached with a loude voyce, Who is worthy to open the booke, and to loose the seales thereof?

3 4 And no man in heaven nor in earth, neither vnder the earth, was able to open the booke, neither to looke thereon.

4 Then I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, and to reade the booke, neither to looke thereon.

5 5 And one of the Elders said unto me, Weepe not: behold, that * 4 Lion which is of the tribe of Iuda, that roote of David, hath obtained to open the booke, and to open the seven seales thereof.

6 Then I beheld, and loe, 7 in the mids of the throne, and of the foure beasts, and in the mids of the Elders stood a Lambe, as though he had beene killed, which had seven hornes, and seven eyes which are the seven spirits of God, sent into all the world.

7 8 And he came, and tooke the booke out of the right hand of him that sate upon the throne.

8 9 And when hee had taken the booke, the foure beasts, and the foure and twenty Elders fell downe before the Lambe, having every one 10 harpes and golden vials full of odours, which are the a prayers of the Saints,

9 And they sung a b new 12 song, saying, 12 Thou art worthy to take the booke, and to open the seales thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation,

10 And hast made us unto our God * Kings, and Priests, and we shall reigne on the earth.

11 13 Then I beheld, & I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beasts and the Elders, 14 and there was * c ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands,

12 Saying with a loude voyce, Worthy is the Lambe that was killed, to d receive power, and riches,

2 The maner of revelation, as before, 1. 10.

a Looke Chap. 1. 12.

3 A description of God the Father, and of his glory in the heavens, framed unto the maner of men, by his office, nature, company, attending, effect, instruments and events that followe afterwards. In this verse, hee is presented in office a iudge, as Abraham sayd. Gen. 18. which is declared by his throne, as an ensigne of iudgement, and his sitting thereupon.

4 By his nature, in that he is the Father, most glorious in his owne person, and with his glory overshining all other things.

5 By the company attending about him in that, as that most high Iudge, he is accompanied with the most honourable attendance of Prophets and Apostles, both of the old and new Church, whom Christ hath made to be Priests and King, Chap. 1. 6. and 5. 10.

6 By effects. In that most mightily he speaketh all things by his voice and word, as Psal. 29. 3. and with the light of his spirit and providence perciseth and passeth through all. 7 By instruments vsed, in that he both hath a most readie treasurie, and as it were a workehouse excellently furnished with all things, unto the executing of his will, which things flow from his commandement, as is repeated, chap. 15, 2. And hath also the Angels most ready administers of his counsels and pleasure unto all parts of the world, continually watching (in this verse) working by reason otherwise then the instruments, without life last mentioned, couragious as lions, mightie as buls, wise as men, swift as eagles, verse 7. most apt unto all purposes, as furnished with wings on every part, most piercing of sight, and finally pure and perfect Spirits, alwayes in continuall motion, verse 8 b Every beast had sixe wings. 8 By events, in that for all the causes before mentioned, God is glorified both of Angels, as holy, Iudge, omnipotent, eternall and immutable, verse 8 and also after their example hee is glorified of holy men (verse 9.) in fame and in speach, verse 10, 11. c God is said to have glory, honour, kingdome, and such like given unto him, when we godly and reverently set forth that which is properly and only his. 9 Three signes of divine honour given unto God, prostration or falling downe, adoration and casting their crownes before God, in which the godly, though made kings by Christ, doe willingly emptie themselves of all glory, moved with a religious respect of the maiesty of God. 10 The summe of their speach: that all glory must be given unto God: the reason, because hee is the eternall beginning of all things, from whose onely will they have their being and are governed: and finally in all respects are that which they are. * Chap. 5. 12. 11 That is, that thou shouldest challenge the same to thy self alone. But as for vs, we are unworthy, that even by thy goodnes we should be made partakers of this glory. And hitherto hath bin handled the principall cause vnapprochable, which is God.

3 Here are shewed the occasions for which this principall cause, and this Revelation was also necessary: the same are three, the first a present vision of the booke of the counsels of God, concerning the government of this whole worlde, which booke is sayd to be layd up with the Father as it were in his hand: but shut and vnknowen unto all creatures, in this verse. The second is a religious desire of the Angels of God to vnderstand the mysteries of this booke, verse. 2. whereof see 1. Pet. 1. 12. The third is a lamentation of Saint Iohn and all the godly, mooved by the same desire, verse 4. when they save that it was a thing vnpossible for any creature to effect: which is declared in the third verse.

4 Thus neither of them that are in heaven nor of them which are in the earth, &c And this I like better. Now this enumeration of partes is sufficient to the denying of the whole. For of the creatures one sort is in heaven above the earth: another in the earth: and another vnder the earth in the sea; as is after declared. verse 13. 5 The second part of this chapter in which is set downe the Revelation of the Sonne, as before was said. This part conteineth first an history of the manner how God prepared S. Iohn to vnderstand this Revelation in this verse. Secondly the Revelation of the Sonne himselfe unto the 7 verse. Thirdly, the accidents of this Revelation, in the rest of the chapter. The maner now, is here described in two sorts, one from without him, by speech in this verse. Another within, by opening the eyes of S. Iohn (which before were held) that he might see, in the verse following. * Gen. 49. 6. 6 That is, the most mighty and most approoved Prince according to the vse of the Hebrew speach. 7 The summe of this Revelation: Christ the mediator taketh and openeth the booke, verse 6 7. Therefore in his Revelation is described the person of Christ, in this verse. His fact, in the next verse. The person is thus described, Christ, the mediatour between God, Angels and men, as the eternall word of God, and our redeemer: as the Lambe of God standing as slaine, and making intercession for us by the vertue and merit of his everlasting sacrifice, is armed with the Spirit of God, in his own person, that is, with the power and wisdom of God essentially unto the government of this whole world. 8 The fact of Christ the Mediator, that he commeth unto the throne of the Father, of which chap 4. and taketh the booke out of his hand, to open it: For that he opened it, it is first expressed, chap. 6. 1. &c. 9 Now follow in the ende the accidents of the Revelation last spoken of, that all the holy Angels, and men did sing unto him: both the chiefe, verse. 9 10. and common order of Angels, verse. 11. 12. and of all things created, verse 13. the princes of both sorts agreeing thereunto, verse 14. 10 The symbols or signes of praise, sweet in favour, and acceptable unto God. See chap. 5 3. a Looke chap 5 3. b No common song. 11 That is composed according to the present matter: the Lambe having received the booke, as it were with his feete, and opened it with his horns, as is said in the Canticles. 12 The song of the Nobles or Princes standing by the throne, consisting of a publication of the praise of Christ, and a confirmation of the same from his benefits, both which we have received of himselfe (as are the suffring of his death, our redemption upon the crosse by his blood in this verse: and our communion with him in Kingdome and Priesthood, which long ago he hath granted unto us with himself) and which we hereafter hope to obtaine, as our kingdome to come in Christ, in the verse following. * Chap. 1. 6. 1. Pet. 2. 9. 13 The consent of the common order of Angels answering in melody unto their Princes that stood by the throne. 14 A number finite, but almost infinite for one infinite indeede, as Dan. 7. 10. * Daniel 7. 10. c By it is meant a great number. d To have all praise given to him, as to the high est and wisest, &c.

ches,

CHAP. V.

1 The booke sealed with seven seales, 3 which none could open. 6 That Lambe of God, 9 is thought worthy to open, 12 even by the consent of all the company of heaven.

1 A passing unto the second principall cause, which is the Sonne of God, God and man: the mediator of all, as the eternall word of God the Father manifested in the flesh: This chapter hath two parts: one that prepareth the way unto the Revelation, by rehearsall of the occasions that did occurre in the first foure verses. Another, the history of the Revelation of Christ, thence unto the end of the chapter. 2 That is, in the very right hand of God.

ches, and wisdome, and strength, and honour, and glory and praise.

13 15 And all the creatures which are in heaven, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Praise, and honour, and glory, and power be vnto him, that sitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for evermore.

14 16 And the foure beasts said, Amen, and the foure and twenty Elders fell downe and worshipped him that liveth for evermore.

15 The consent of all the common multitude of the creatures.

16 A confirmation of the praise beforegoing, from the contestation of the Nobles, expressed in word and signes, as once or twise before this.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe openeth the first seale of the booke. 3 The second, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fifth, 12 and the sixth, and then arise murders, famine, pestilence, enteries of Saints, earthquakes, and divers strange sights in heaven.

1 AFter I beheld when the Lambe had opened one of the seales, and I heard one of the foure beastes say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

2 Therefore a I beheld, and loe, there was a white horse, and he that sate on him, had a bow, and a crowne was given vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might overcome.

3 And 3 when he had opened the second seale, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

4 And there went out another horse, that was red, and power was given to him that sate thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was given vnto him a great sword.

5 4 And when he had opened the third seale, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horse, and hee that sate on him, had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voyce in the mids of the foure beasts say, A a measure of wheate for a penny, and three measures of barley for a penny, 5 and oyle, and wine hurt thou not.

7 6 And when he had opened the fourth seale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beast say, Come and see.

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horse, and his name that sate on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was given vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beasts of the earth.

9 7 And when hee had opened the fifth seale, I saw vnder the altar the soules of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimony which they maintained.

10 And they cried with a loud voyce, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! doest not thou iudge and auenge our blood on them, that dwell on the earth?

11 And long b white robes were given vnto every one, and it was said vnto them, that they should rest for a little season vntill their fellow servants, and their brethren that should be killed even as they were, were b fulfilled.

12 9 And I beheld when hee had opened the sixth seale, and loe, there was a great earthquake, and the Sunne was as blacke as c sackcloth of haire, and the Moone was like blood.

13 And the starres of heaven fell vnto the earth, as a figge-tree casteth her greene figges, when it is shaken of a mighty winde.

14 And heaven departed away, as a scroule, when it is rolled, and every mountaine and yle were mooved out of their places.

15 10 And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mightie men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themselves in dennes, and among the rockes of the mountaines,

16 And said to the mountaines and rockes, 11 * Fall on vs, and hid vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

7 The fifth signe is that the holy martyrs which are vnder the altar, whereby they are sanctified, that is, received into the trust and tuition of Christ (into whose hands they are committed) shall cry out for the iustice of God, in an holy zeale to advance his kingdome and not of any private perturbation of the mind, as before 3.4.

b Vntill their number be fulfilled.

9 The sixt signe, the narration whereof hath two parts, the signe, and the event. The signe is, that the earth, heaven, and the thing that are in them for horrour of the sinnes of the world vpon those most heauie foretellings of God, and complaints of the Saints, shall be shaken most vehemently, trembling in horrible maner, and looking

1 This is the second part of this first history (which I said was common and of the whole world) of the workes of God in the gouernement of all things. Of this part there are generally 3. members, the foresignifying, the caution, and the execution of all the euils which God powreth out vpon this world, which hath most hardly deserued of him. The foresignifying is set downe in this chap. the caution for preserving the Church, is in the next chap. and the execution is described chap. 8, 9. In euery part of the foresignifying, there are three branches: the seuerall and expresse calling of S. Iohn, to prepare himselfe to take knowledge of the things that were to bee shewed vnto him in the opening of the seales: the signe and the word expounding the signe: and albeit the expresse calling of S. Iohn, be vsed only in foure of the signes, yet the same is also to be vnderstood in the rest that follow. The authour of the foresignifyings is the Lambe, as that word of the Father made the Mediatour, opening the seales of the booke. The instruments are the Angels in most of the visions, who expound the signe and the words thereof. Now this first verse containeth an expresse calling of S. Iohn to marke the opinion of the first seale. 2 The first signe ioyned with declaration, is that God for the sins, and horrible rebellion of the world, will invade the same: and first of all will as a farre off, with his darts of pestilence most suddenly, mightily, and gloriously, beate downe the same, is indge and triumph over it as conquerour. 3 The second signe ioyned with wordes of declaration (after the expresse calling of S. Iohn as before) is that God being provoked vnto wrath by the obstinacy and hard hartednes of the world not repenting for the former plague, as setting vpon the same hand, will kindle the fire of debate amongst men, and will destroy the inhabitants of this world, ne by the sword of another. 4 The third signe with declaration, is that God will destroy the world with famine, withdrawing all provision: which is by the figure Synecdoche comprehended in wheate, barley, wine and oyle. a Hereby is signified what great scarcity of corne there was, for the word here vsed is a kind of measure of dry things, which is in quantity but the eight part of a bushel, which was an ordinary portion to bee given to seruants for their stint of meat for one day. 5 I had rather distinguish and reade the wordes thus, and the wine and the oyle thou shalt not deale iniustly. In this sence likewise the wine and the oyle shall be sold a very little for a penny. Thou shalt not deale vniustly, namely, when thou shalt measure out a very little for a great price: so is the place euident: otherwise that is most true, which the wise man saith, that who so with-holdeth the corne shall bee curfed of the people, Prou. 11. 26. 6 The fourth signe ioyned with wordes of declaration, is, that God will addict the fourth part of the world indifferently, vnto death and hell, or the grave by all those meanes at once, by which before seuerally and in order hee had recalled their mindes vnto amendment. Vnto these are also added the wilde and cruell beastes of the earth, out of Leviticus 26. 22. Thus doeth God according to his wisedome dispence the treasures of his power, iustly toward all, mercifully toward the good, and with patience or long sufferance towards his enemies, their light in this verse: falling from on high, verse 13. withdrawing themselves and flying away for the greatnesse of the trouble, verse 14. So holily doe all creatures depend vpon the will of God, and content themselves in his glory. c So they called in old time those wouen workes that were of haire. 10 The euent of the signe afore going: that there is no man that shall not be astonished at that generall commotion, flie away for feare and hide himselfe in this verse, and wish vnto himselfe most bitter death for exceeding horror of the wrath of God, and of the Lambe, at which before he was astonished. Now this perplexity is not of the godly, but of the wicked, whose portion is in this life, as the Psalmist speaketh, Psal 17, 14. Not that sorrow which is according vnto God, which worketh repentance vnto saluation, whereof a man shall neuer repent him, but that worldly sorrow that bringeth death. 2. Corin. 7. 9. as their wishings doe declare: for this history is of the whole world, seuered from the history of the Church, as I haue shewed before. chap. 4. 1. 11 These are words of such as despaire of their escape: of which despaire there are two arguments, the presence of God and of the Lambe prouoked to wrath against the world in this verse, and the conscience of their owne weaknesse, whereby men feele that they are no way able to stand in the day of the wrath of God, verse 17. as it is said, Esai. 14. 27. * Esa. 2. 19. hos. 10, 8. luke 23, 30.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Angels comming to hurt the earth, 3 are stayed vntill the elect of the Lord, 5 of all tribes were sealed. 13 Such as suffered persecution for Christs sake, 16 haue great felicitie, 17 and ioy.

A Nd 1 after that, I saw foure Angels stand on the a foure corners of the earth, holding the foure windes of the earth, that the windes should not blow on the earth, neither on the ſea, [2] neither on any tree.

1 The 2. member of this part, is a preuenting of danger as wee distinguished the same before, Chap. 6. 1. that is of the caution whereby God tooke care before hand and prouided for his that after the example of the Israelites of old, Exod. 8. 23. the faithfull might be exempted from the plagues of this wicked world. This whole place is a certaine interloqution and bringing in for this whole Chap. by occasion of the prediction and argument of the sixth seale. For first that euill is prevented in the elect vnto the 9. verf. Then thanks are given by the elect for that cause, verf 10. 11. 12 Lastly, the accomplishment of the thing is set forth vnto the end of the chap. The first verf is a transition speaking of the Angels which keepe these inferiour parts from all euill, vntill God do command. For (as is excellently figured by Ezech. 11. 12.) their faces and their wings are reached vpwards, continually waiting vpon and beholding the countenance of God for their direction: and euery of them goeth into that part that is right before his face, whithersoeuer the Spirit shall goe, they goe, they step not out of the way, that is, they depart not so much as a foot breadth from the path commanded them of God. a On the foure quarters or coasts of the earth.

2 3 And I ſaw [4] another Angel come vp from the Eaſt, which had the ſeale of the liuing God, and he cryed with a loud voyce to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the ſea, ſaying,

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the ſea, neither the trees, till we haue ſealed the ſeruants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were ſealed, and there vvere ſealed [5] an hundreth and foure and fourtie thouſand of all the tribes of the children of Iſrael.

5 Out of the tribe of Iuda were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Reuben were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Gad were ſealed twelue thouſand.

6 Of the tribe of Aſer were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Nephtali were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Manaſſes were ſealed twelue thouſand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were ſealed twelue thouſand. 6 Of the tribe of [b] Leui were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Iſſacher were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were ſealed twelue thouſand.

8 Of the tribe of [c] Ioſeph were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Beniamin were ſealed twelue thouſand.

9 After theſe things I beheld, and loe, a great multitude, 7 which no man could number, of all nations, and kinreds, & people, and tongues [8] ſtood before the throne, and before the Lambe, cloathed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

10 9 And they cried with a loud voice, ſaying, Saluation commeth of our God, that ſitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

11 And all the Angels ſtood round about the throne, and about the Elders, and the foure beaſts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worſhipped God,

12 Saying, Amen, Praiſe and glory, and wiſedome, and thankes, and honour, and power, and might, be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.

13 [10] And one of the Elders ſpake, ſaying vnto me, What are theſe which are arayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I ſaid vnto him, Lord, thou knoweſt. And he ſaid vnto me, Theſe are they which came out of great tribulation, and haue waſhed their long robes, and haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

15 Therefore are they in the preſence of the throne of God, and ſerue him [d] day and night in his Temple, and he that ſitteth on the throne will dwell [e] among them.

16 * They ſhall hunger no more, neither thirſt any more, neither ſhall the ſunne light on them, neither any heate.

17 For the Lambe, which is in the mids of the throne, ſhall gouerne them, and ſhall leade them vnto the liuely fountaines of waters, and * God ſhall wipe away all teares from their eyes.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the ſeuenth ſeale, 3 the Saints prayers are offered vp with odours. 6 The ſeuen Angels come forth with trumpets. 7 The foure firſt blow, and fire falleth on the earth. 8 the ſea is turned into blood. 10, 11 the waters waxe bitter. 12 and the ſtarres are darkened.

1 [1] AND when hee had opened the ſeuenth ſeale, there was ſilence in heauen about halfe an houre.

2 [2] And I ſaw the ſeuen Angels, which [a] ſtood before God, and to them were giuen ſeuen trumpets.

3 [3] Then another Angel came and ſtood before the Altar, hauing a golden cenſer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that he ſhould offer with the prayers of all Saints vpon the golden Altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the ſmooke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, [b] went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

5 And the Angel tooke the cenſer, and filled it with fire of the Altar, and caſt it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 [4] Then the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen trumpets, prepared themſelues to blow the trumpets.

7 [5] So the firſt Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire mingled with blood, and they were caſt into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene graſſe was burnt.

8 [6] And the ſecond Angell blew the trumpet,

[d] He alludeth to the Leuites, which ſerued day and night, for elſe there is no night in heauen.

[e] Or, vpon them, whereby is meant Gods defence and protection, as it were towards them, who are as ſafe, as men in the Lords tent.

* Eſai. 25, 8. chap. 21, 4.

1 He returneth to the hiſtory of the ſeales of the booke, which the Lambe openeth. The ſeuenth ſeale is the next foreſignification, and a preciſe commaundement of the execution of the moſt heauy iudgements of God vpon this wicked world: which foreſignification being vnderſtood by the ſeale, all things in heauen are ſilent, and in horror thorow admiration vntill commandement of execution be ſeuerally giuen of God vnto the miniſters of his wrath. So he paſſeth vnto the third member of which I ſpake before in Chapt. 6. ver. 1. which is of the execution of thoſe euils wherewith God moſt iuſtly determined to afflict the world.

2 Now followeth the third branch of the common hiſtory, as euen now I ſaid: which is the execution of the iudgements of God vpon the world. This is firſt generally prepared vnto the 6. verſe, then by ſeuerall parts expounded according to the order of thoſe that adminiſtred the ſame vnto the end of the Chap. following. Vnto the preparation of this execution are declared theſe things firſt, who were the adminiſters and inſtruments thereof in this verſe. Secondly, what is the work both of the Prince of Angels giuing order for this execution, thence vnto the 5. verſe, and of his adminiſters in the 6. verſe. The adminiſters of the execution are ſaid to be ſeuen Angels: their inſtruments, trumpets whereby they ſhould as it were ſound the alarme at the commandement of God. They are propounded ſeuen in number becauſe it pleaſed God not at once to powre out his wrath vpon the rebellious world, but at diuers times, and by piece meale, and in ſlow order, and as with an vnwilling minde to exerciſe his iudgements vpon his creatures, ſo long called vpon both by word and ſignes if happily they had learned to repent. a Which appeare before him as his miniſters. 3 This is that great Emperour, the Lord Ieſus Chriſt our King and Sauiour: who both maketh interceſſion to God the Father for the Saints, filling the heauenly Sanctuary with moſt ſweete odour, and offering vp their prayers, as the Calues and burnt ſacrifices of their lips, in this verſe: in ſuch ſort as euery one of them (ſo powerfull is that ſweet ſauour of Chriſt, and the efficacy of his ſacrifice) are held in reconcilement with God and themſelues made moſt acceptable vnto him, verſe 4. And then alſo out of his treaſury, and from the ſame ſanctuary powreth forth vpon the world the fire of his wrath, adding alſo diuine tokens thereunto: and by that meanes (as of old the Heraulds of Rome were wont to doe) he proclaimeth warre againſt the rebellious world. b Our prayers are nothing worth, vnleſſe that true and ſweete ſauour of that onely oblation be eſpecially and before all things with them, that is to ſay, vnleſſe wee being firſt of all iuſtified through faith in his Sonne, be acceptable vnto him. 4 This is the worke of the adminiſters. The Angels the adminiſters of Chriſt, onely by ſounding trumpet and voyce (for they are onely as Heraulds) do effectuall call forth the inſtruments of the wrath of God, through his power. Hitherto haue bene things generall. Now followeth the narration of things particular, which the Angels fix in number wrought in their order ſet out in the 19. verſe of the next chap. and is concluded with the declaration of the euent which followed vpon theſe things done in the world, and in the 10. and 11. chap. 5 The firſt execution at the ſound of the firſt Angel vpon the earth: that is, the inhabitants of the earth (by Metonymie) and vpon all the fruits thereof: as the comparing of this verſe with the ſecond member of the 9. verſe doth not obſcurely declare. 6 The ſecond execution, vpon the ſea in this verſe, and all things that are therein in the next verſe,

and

2 That is, neither into the ayre, into which the tops of trees are aduanced.

3 Now God prouideth againſt the danger of his elect by commaundement, verſe 2. and 3. and by ſigne or figure, both for thoſe of the nation of the Iewes, thence vnto the 8 verſe, and alſo of the Gentiles, verſe 9.

4 Not onely another, or differing in number from the common Angels of God, but alſo in eſſence, office, and operation excelling all Angels: that is, Chriſt Ieſus the eternall Angel or word of God, and mediatour of the couenant. So hereafter chapter 2, 3 and 10, 1, 5.

5 That is, of the Iewes a number certaine in it ſelfe before God: and ſuch as may be numbred of vs: for which cauſe alſo the ſame is here ſet downe as certaine. But of the elect which are of the Gentiles, the number indeed is in it ſelfe certaine with God, but of vs not poſſibly to bee numbred, as God, Gen 15, 5 and often elſewhere, and Eſay figured moſt excellently, Chap. 19, and 60. This therefore is ſpoken with reſpect, when a certaine number is put for one vncertaine. Conferre this with verſe 6.

b He ſkipped Dan, and reckoneth Leui.

c Of Ephraim, who was Ioſephs other ſonne, and had the birthright giuen him, wherefore he is called Ioſeph.

6 Here the tribe of Leui is reckoned vp in common with the reſt, becauſe all the Iſraelites were equally made Prieſtes with them in Chriſt by his Prieſtbood, chap. 1, 6 and 5, 10. and Rom. 12, 1. and 1. Pet. 2, 9. The name of Dan is not mentioned becauſe the Danites long before forſaking the worſhip of God, were fallen away from the fellowſhip of Gods people vnto the part of the Gentiles, which euill many ages before Iaakob foreſaw. Gen. 49, 18. for which cauſe alſo there is no mention made of this tribe in the firſt booke of the Chronicles. 7 See before vpon the 4. verſe. 8 As Prieſts, Kings, and glorious conquerers by martyrdome: which things are noted by their proper ſignes in this verſe. 9 The praiſe of God celebrated firſt by the holy men, in this verſe, then by the heauenly Angels in the two verſes following. 10 A paſſage ouer vnto the expounding of the viſion, of which the Angell enquireth of S. Iohn to ſtir him vp withall, in this verſe and Iohn in the forme of ſpeech, both acknowledgeth his owne ignorance, attributing knowledge vnto the Angel, and alſo in moſt modeſt manners requeſteth the expounding of the viſion. 11 The expoſition of the viſion, wherein the Angel telleth firſt the actes of the Saints, that is, their ſufferings and worke of faith in Chriſt Ieſus, in this verſe. Secondly their glory, both preſent, which conſiſteth in two things, that they miniſter vnto God, and that God protecteth them verſe 15. and to come in their perfect deliuerance from all miſeries verſe 16. and in participation of all good things which ouercome the memory of former euils ſhall neuer be able to diminiſh verſe 17. The cauſe efficient, and which containeth all theſe things is onely one, euen the Lambe of God, the Lord, the Mediator, and the Sauiour Chriſt Ieſus.

and as it vvere a great mountaine, burning with fire, was caſt into the ſea, and the third part of the ſea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the ſea, and had life, died, and the third part of ſhips were deſtroyed.

10 7 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great ſtarre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the ſtar is called s wormewood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, becauſe they were made bitter.

12 9 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the ſunne was ſmitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the ſtarres, ſo that the third part of them was darkened: and the day vvas ſmitten, that the third part of it could not ſhine, and likewiſe the night.

13 10 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, ſaying with a loud voyce, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, becauſe of the ſounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

* The third execution vpon the floods and fountaines, that is, vpon all freſh waters in this verſe: the effect whereof is, that many are deſtroyed with the bitterneſſe of waters, in the verſe following.

s This is ſpoken by Mataphor, of the name of a moſt bitter herbe, and commonly knowen, vnleſſe perhaps a man following thoſe that note the deriuation of words had rather expound it adiectiuely, for that which by reaſon or bitternes cannot be drunke, or which maketh the drinke the ſame.

9 The fourth execution vpon theſe lightſome bodies of heauen, which miniſter vnto this inferiour world.

10 A lamentable prediction or foretelling of thoſe parts of the diuine execution which are yet behinde: which alſo is a paſſage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all theſe things in a manner Chriſt himſelfe expreſſly foretold in the 12. Chapter of S. Luke, verſe 24. &c. and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

CHAP. IX.

1 The firſt Angel bloweth his trumpet. 3 and ſpoiling locuſts come out. 13 The ſixt Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth horſemen, 20 to deſtroy mankind.

1 The fifth execution vpon the wicked men inhabiting the earth (as a little before the Angel ſaid) wrought by the infernall powers, is declared in this place vnto the eleuenth verſe. And after the firſt execution thence vnto the nineteenth verſe. And laſtly is ſhewed the common euent that followed the former execution in the world, in the two laſt verſes.

AND the 1 fift Angel blew the trumpet, and I ſaw a 2 ſtarre fall from heauen vnto the earth, 3 and to him was giuen the key of the a bottomleſſe pit.

2 4 And he opened the bottomleſſe pit, and there aroſe the ſmoake of the pit, as the ſmoake of a great fornace, and the ſunne, and the ayre were darkened by the ſmoake of the pit.

3 5 And there came out of the ſmoake Locuſts vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the ſcorpions of the earth haue power.

2 That is, the Angel of God glittering with glory, as a ſtarre fell downe from heauen. Whether thou take him for Chriſt, who hath the keyes of hell of himſelfe, and by Princely authority, Chap. 1. verſe 18 or whether for ſome inferiour Angel, who hath the ſame key permi ted vnto him, and occupieth it miniſterially, or by office of his miniſtery, here, and Chap. 21. for the word falling, is taken. Gen. 14. 10. and 24. 64. and Heb. 6. 6.

3 The key was giuen to this ſtarre. For thoſe powers of wickednes are thruſt downe into hell, and bound with chaines of darkeneſſe: and are there kept vnto damnation, vnleſſe God for a time doe let them looſe. 2. Pet. 2. 4. Iude 6. and of this booke, Chap. 20, 20. the hiſtorie of which chapter hath agreement of time with this preſent chapter.

a By the bottomleſſe pit, hee meaneth the deepeſt darkeneſſe of hell.

4 Vnto this is added, the ſmoake of the helliſh and infernall ſpirits, all darke, and darkening all things in heauen and in earth. The ſpirituall darkeneſſes are the cauſes of all diſorder and confuſion. For the deuill at a time certaine (whereof verſe the fift) ſent theſe darkeneſſes into his kingdome, that he might at once and with one impreſſion ouerthrow all things, and peruert if it were poſſible the elect themſelues. By this darkeneſſe all ſpirituall light, both actiue as of the Sunne, and paſſiue, as of the ayre which is lightened by the Sunne, is taken away: and this is that which goeth before the ſpirits: it followeth of the ſpirits themſelues.

5 A deſcription of the malignant ſpirits inuading the world, taken from their nature, power, forme and order. From their nature, for that they are like vnto certaine locuſtes, in quickeneſſe, ſubtilitie, hurtfulneſſe, number, and ſuch like in this verſe. From their power, for that they are as the ſcorpions of the earth, of a ſecret force to doe hurt. For our battell is not here with fleſh and blood, but with powers, &c. Epheſ. 6. 12. This place of the power of the Deuils generally noted in this verſe, is particularly declared afterwards in the three next verſes.

4 6 And it was commanded them that they ſhould not hurt the graſſe of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely thoſe men which haue not the ſeale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commaunded that they ſhould not kill them, but that they ſhould bee vexed fiue moneths, and that their paine ſhould be as the paine that commeth of a ſcorpion when he hath ſtung a man.

6 * Therefore in thoſe dayes ſhall men ſeeke death, and ſhall not finde it, and ſhall deſire to die, and death ſhall flie from them.

7 7 And the forme of the locuſts vvas like vnto horſes prepared vnto the battell, and on their heads vvere as it vvere crownes, like vnto gold, and their faces vvere like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lyons.

9 And they had habbergions, like vnto habbergions of yron, and the ſound of their wings vvas like the ſound of charets when many horſes runne vnto battell.

10 And they had tailes like vnto ſcorpions, and there were ſtings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men five moneths.

11 8 And they have a king over them, which is the Angel of the bottomleſſe pit, whoſe name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke hee is named Apollyon, that is, deſtroying.

12 9 One woe is paſt, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

6 Here that power of the deuils is particularly deſcribed according to their actions and effects of the ſame. Their actions are ſaid to be bounded by the counſell of God: both becauſe they hurt not all men, but onely the reprobate (for the godly and elect, in whom there is any part of a better life, God gardeth by his decree) whom Chriſt ſhall not have ſealed, in this verſe: and alſo becauſe they neither had all power nor at all times, no not ouer thoſe that are their owne, but limited in manner and time, by the preſcript of God, verſe 5. So their power to afflict the godly, is none & for the wicked is limited in act and in effect by the will of God: for the maner was preſcribed vnto them that they ſhould not ſlay, but torment the wretched wor'd. The time is for fiue moneths or for an hundred and fiftie dayes, that is, for ſo many yeeres in which the deuils haue indeed mightily peruerted all things in the world: and yet without that publike and vnpuniſhed licence of killing, which afterward they vſurped when the ſixt Angel had blowen his trumpet, as ſhalbe ſaid vpon the 13. verſe. Now this ſpace is to be accounted from the end of that thouſand yeeres mentioned, Chap. 20. 3. and that is from the Popedome of that Gregory the ſeuenth, a moſt monſtrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senenſis: for this man being made altogether of impiety and wickedneſſe, as a ſlaue of the deuil, whom he ſerued, was the moſt wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperor Henry the fourth: went about by all maner of trecherie to ſet vp and put downe empires and kingdomes as liked himſelfe: and doubted not to ſet Rodolph the Swedon ouer the Empire in ſtead of Henry before named, ſending vnto him a Crowne with this verſe annexed vnto it, Petra dedit Petro, Petrus diadema Rodolpho: that is, The Rocke to Peter gaue the crowne, and Peter Rodolph doth renowne. Finally, he ſo finely beſtirred himſelfe in his affaires, as he miſerably ſet all Chriſtendome on fire, and conueyed ouer vnto his ſucceſſours the burning brand of the ſame: who enraged with like ambition, neuer ceaſed to nouriſh that flame, and to enkindle it more and more: whereby Cities, Common-weales, and whole kingdomes ſet together by the eare, amongſt themſelues by moſt expert curtbroats, came to ruine, whiles they miſerably wounded one another. This terme of an hundred and fiftie yeeres, taketh end in the time of Gregory the ninth, or Hugolinus Anagnienſis (as he was before called) who cauſed to be compiled by one Raimond his chapleine and confeſſour, the body of Decretals, and by ſufferance of the Kings and Princes to be publiſhed in the Chriſtian world, and eſtabliſhed for a law. For by this ſleight at length the Popes arrogated vnto themſelues licence to kill whom they would, whiles other were vnwares: and without feare eſtabliſhed a butchery out of many of the wicked Canons of the Decretals, which the trumpet of the fift Angel had expreſly forbidden, and had hindered vntill this time. The effects of the bloody actions are declared vpon the ſixt verſe: that the miſerable world languiſhing in ſo great calamities, ſhould willingly run together vnto death, and preferre the ſame before life, by reaſon of the grieuouſneſſe of the miſeries that oppreſſed them.

* Chap. 6. 16. Eſai. 2. 19. Hoſe. 10, 8.

7 The forme of theſe helliſh ſpirits and adminiſters, is ſhadowed out by ſignes and viſible figures in this ſort: that they are very expert and ſwift: that whereſoeuer they are in the world, the kingdome of theirs: that they manage all their affaires with cunning and skill, in this verſe, that making ſhew of mildneſſe and tender affection to draw on men withall, they moſt impudently rage in all miſchiefe: that they are moſt mighty to doe hurt. Verſ. 8. that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the colour of religion, and facted authoritie of priuiledge, that they fill all things with horror. Verſ. 9. that they are fraudulent: that they are venimous and extremely noiſome, though their power be limited, Verſe 10. All which things are properly in the infernall powers, and communicated by them vnto their miniſters and vaſſals.

8 The order of the powers of maliciouſnes: that they are ſubiect to one infernall King, whom thou mayeſt call in Engliſh, The Deſtroyer: who driueth the whole world both Iewes and Gentiles into the deſtruction that belongeth vnto himſelfe. And I cannot tell whether this name belongeth vnto the Etymologicall interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often vſed in the holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwiſe beturned of the Germanes as the ſenſe of compound words is commonly abiguous) yet in very deed it ſignifieth as much as if thou ſhouldeſt call him the firebrand, that is, he that ſetteth on fire thoſe that be faithfull vnto him.

9 A paſſage vnto the next point, and the hiſtorie of the time following.

not blow on the earth, neither on the ſea, [a] neither on any tree.

2 3 And I ſaw 4 another Angel come vp from the Eaſt, which had the ſeale of the liuing God, and he cryed with a loud voyce to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the ſea, ſaying,

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the ſea, neither the trees, till we haue ſealed the ſeruants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were ſealed, and there were ſealed [5] an hundreth and foure and fourtie thouſand of all the tribes of the children of Iſrael.

5 Out of the tribe of Iuda were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Reuben were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Gad were ſealed twelue thouſand.

6 Of the tribe of Aſer were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Nephtali were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Manaſſes were ſealed twelue thouſand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were ſealed twelue thouſand. [6] Of the tribe of [b] Leui were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Iſſacher were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were ſealed twelue thouſand.

8 Of the tribe of [c] Ioſeph were ſealed twelue thouſand. Of the tribe of Beniamin were ſealed twelue thouſand.

9 After theſe things I beheld, and loe, a great multitude, 7 which no man could number, of all nations, and kinreds, & people, and tongues [8] ſtood before the throne, and before the Lambe, cloathed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

10 9 And they cried with a loud voice, ſaying, Saluation commeth of our God, that ſitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

11 And all the Angels ſtood round about the throne, and about the Elders, and the foure beaſts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worſhipped God,

12 Saying, Amen, Praiſe and glory, and wiſedome, and thankes, and honour, and power, and might, be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.

13 10 And one of the Elders ſpake, ſaying vnto me, What are theſe which are arayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I ſaid vnto him, Lord, thou knoweſt. And he ſaid vnto me, Theſe are they which came out of great tribulation, and haue waſhed their long robes, and haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

15 Therefore are they in the preſence of the throne of God, and ſerue him a day and night in his Temple, and he that ſitteth on the throne will dwell [e] among them.

16 * They ſhall hunger no more, neither thirſt any more, neither ſhall the ſunne light on them, neither any heate.

17 For the Lambe, which is in the mids of the throne, ſhall gouerne them, and ſhall leade them vnto the liuely fountaines of waters, and * God ſhall wipe away all teares from their eyes.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the ſeuenth ſeale. 3 the Saints prayers are offered vp with odours. 6 The ſeuen Angels come foorth with trumpets. 7 The foure firſt blow, and fire falleth on the earth. 8 the ſea is turned into blood, 10, 11 the waters waxe bitter, 12 and the ſtarres are darkened.

1 AND when hee had opened the ſeuenth ſeale, there was ſilence in heauen about halfe an houre.

2 [a] And I ſaw the ſeuen Angels, which [a] ſtood before God, and to them were giuen ſeuen trumpets.

3 [3] Then another Angel came and ſtood before the Altar, hauing a golden cenſer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that he ſhould offer with the prayers of all Saints vpon the golden Altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the ſmooke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, [b] went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

5 And the Angel tooke the cenſer, and filled it with fire of the Altar, and caſt it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 4 Then the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen trumpets, prepared themſelues to blow the trumpets.

7 [5] So the firſt Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire mingled with blood, and they were caſt into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene graſſe was burnt.

8 [6] And the ſecond Angell blew the trumpet,

3 How God prouideth againſt the danger of his elect by commaundement. verſe 2. and 3. and by ſigne or figure, both for thoſe of the nation of the Iewes, thence vnto the 3 verſe, and alſo of the Gentiles. verſe 9.
4 Not onely another, or differing in number from the common Angels of God, but alſo in eſſence, office, and operation excelling all Angels: that is, Chriſt Ieſus the eternall Angel or word of God, and mediatour of the couenant. So hereafter chapter 2, 3 and 10. 1, 5.
5 That is, of the Iewes a number certaine in it ſelfe before God, and ſuch as may be numbred of vs: for which cauſe alſo the ſame is here ſet downe as certaine. But of the elect which are of the Gentiles, the number indeed is in it ſelfe certaine with God, but of vs not poſſibly to bee numbred, as God, Gen 15, 5 and often elſewhere, and Eſay figured moſt excellently, Chap. 19, and 60. This therefore is ſpoken with reſpect, when a certaine number is put for one vncertaine. Conferre this with verſe 6.
b He ſkipped Dan, and reckoneth Leui.
c Of Ephraim, who was Ioſephs other ſonne, and had the birthright giuen him, whereof he is called Ioſeph.
6 Here the tribe of Leui is reckoned vp in common with the reſt, becauſe all the Iſraelites were equally made Prieſtes with them in Chriſt by his Prieſthood, chap. 1, 6 and 5, 10. and Rom. 12, 1. and 1. Pet. 2, 9. The name of Dan is not mentioned becauſe the Danites long before forſaking the worſhip of God, were fallen away from the fellowſhip of Gods people vnto the part of the Gentiles, which euill many ages before Iaakob foreſaw, Gen. 49, 18. for which cauſe alſo there is no mention made of this tribe in the firſt booke of the Chronicles. 7 See before vpon the 4. verſe. 8 As Prieſts, Kings, and glorious conquerers by martyrdome: which things are noted by their proper ſignes in this verſe. 9 The praiſe of God celebrated firſt by the holy men, in this verſe, then by the heauenly Angels in the two verſes following. 10 A paſſage ouer vnto the expounding of the viſion, of which the Angell enquireth of S. Iohn to ſtir him vp withall, in this verſe and Iohn in the forme of ſpeech, both acknowledgeth his owne ignorance, attributing knowledge vnto the Angel, and alſo in moſt modeſt manners requeſteth the expounding of the viſion. 11 The expoſition of the viſion, wherein the Angel telleth firſt the actes of the Saints, that is, their ſufferings and worke of faith in Chriſt Ieſus, in this verſe. Secondly their glory, both preſent, which conſiſteth in two things, that they miniſter vnto God, and that God protecteth them verſe 15. and to come in their perfect deliuerance from all aduerſities verſe 16. and in participation of all good things which euen the memory of former euils ſhall neuer be able to diminiſh verſe 17. The cauſe efficient, and which containeth all theſe things is onely one, euen the Lambe of God, the Lord, the Mediator, and the Sauiour Chriſt Ieſus.

1 He returneth to the hiſtory of the ſeales of the booke, which the Lambe openeth. The ſeuenth ſeale is the next foreſignification, and a preciſe commaundement of the execution of the moſt heauy iudgements of God vpon this wicked world: which foreſignification being vnderſtood by the ſeale, all things in heauen are ſilent, and in horror thorow admiration untill commandement of execution be ſeuerally giuen of God vnto the miniſters of his wrath. So he paſſeth vnto the third member of which I ſpake before in Chapt. 6. ver. 1. which is of the execution of thoſe euils wherewith God moſt iuſtly determined to afflict the world. 2 Now followeth the third branch of the common hiſtory, as euen now I ſaid: which is the execution of the iudgements of God vpon the world. This is firſt generally prepared vnto the 6. verſe, then by ſeuerall parts expounded according to the order of thoſe that adminiſtred the ſame vnto the end of the Chap. following. Vnto the preparation of this execution are declared theſe things firſt, who were the adminiſters and inſtruments thereof in this verſe. Secondly, what is the work both of the Prince of Angels giuing order for this execution, thence vnto the 5. verſe, and of his adminiſters in the 6. verſe. The adminiſters of the execution are ſaid to be ſeuen Angels: their inſtruments, trumpets, whereby they ſhould as it were ſound the alarme at the commaundement of God. They are propounded ſeuen in number becauſe it pleaſed God not at once to powre out his wrath vpon the rebellious world, but at diuers times, and by piece meale, and in ſlow order, and as with an vnwilling minde to exerciſe his iudgements vpon his creatures, ſo long called vpon both by word and ſignes if happily they had learned to repent. a Which appeare before him as his miniſters. 3 This is that great Emperour, the Lord Ieſus Chriſt our King and Sauiour: who both maketh interceſſion to God the Father for the Saints, filling the heauenly Sanctuary with moſt ſweete odour, and offering vp their prayers, as the Calues and burnt ſacrifices of their lips, in this verſe: in ſuch ſort as euery one of them (ſo powerfull is that ſweet ſauour of Chriſt, and the efficacy of his ſacrifice) are held in reconcilement with God and themſelues made moſt acceptable vnto him, verſe 4. And then alſo out of his treaſury, and from the ſame ſanctuary powreth forth vpon the world the fire of his wrath, adding alſo diuine tokens thereunto: and by that meanes (as of old the Herauldes of Rome were wont to doe) he proclaimeth warre againſt the rebellious world. b Our prayers are nothing worth, vnleſſe that true and ſweete ſauour of that onely oblation be eſpecially and before all things with them, that is to ſay, vnleſſe wee being firſt of all iuſtified through faith in his Sonne, be acceptable vnto him. 4 This is the worke of the adminiſters. The Angels the adminiſters of Chriſt, onely by ſounding trumpet and voyce (for they are onely as Heraulds) do effectuall call forth the inſtruments of the wrath of God, through his power. Hitherto haue bene things generall. Now followeth the narration of things particular, which the Angels ſix in number wrought in their order ſet out in the 19. verſe of the next chap. and is concluded with the declaration of the euent which followed vpon theſe things done in the world, and in the 10. and 11. chap. 5 The firſt execution at the ſound of the firſt Angel vpon the earth, that is, the inhabitants of the earth (by Metonymie) and vpon all the fruits thereof: as the comparing of this verſe with the ſecond member of the 9. verſe doth not obſcurely declare. 6 The ſecond execution, vpon the ſea in this verſe, and all things that are therein in the next verſe.

and as it vvere a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 7 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the starre is called 8 wormewood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 9 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the starres, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day vvas smiten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 10 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voyce, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

7 The third execution vpon the floods and fountaines: that is, vpon all fresh waters in this verse: the effect whereof is, that many are destroyed with the bitternesse of waters in the verse following.

8 This is spoken by Mataphor, of the name of a most bitter herbe, and commonly knowen, vnlesse perhaps a man following those that note the deriuation of words had rather expound it adiectiuely, for that which by reason or bitternes cannot be drunke, or which maketh the liquour into which is powred more bitter then that any man can drinke the same.

9 The fourth execution vpon these lightsome bodies of heauen, which minister vnto this inferiour world. 10 A lamentable prediction or forerelling of those parts of the diuine execution which are yet behinde: which also is a passage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himselfe expresly foretold in the 12. Chapter of S. Luke, verse 24. &c. and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

CHAP. IX.

1 The first Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoiling locusts come out. 13 The sixt Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

1 The fift execution vpon the wicked men inhabiting the earth (as a litle before the Angel said) wrought by the infernall powers, is declared in this place vnto the eleuenth verse. And after the sixt execution thence vnto the nineteenth verse. And lastly is shewed the common euent that followed the former execution in the world, in the two last verses.

AND the 1 fift Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a 2 starre fall from heauen vnto the earth, 3 and to him was giuen the key of the a bottomlesse pit.

2 4 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoake of the pit, as the smoake of a great fornace, and the sunne, and the ayre were darkened by the smoake of the pit.

3 5 And there came out of the smoake Locusts vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the scorpions of the earth haue power.

2 That is, the Angel of God glittering with glory, as a starre fell downe from heauen. Whether thou take him for Christ, who hath the keyes of hell of himselfe, and by Princely authority, Chap. 1. verse 18 or whether for some inferiour Angel, who hath the same key permitted vnto him, and occupieth it ministerially, or by office of his ministery, here, and Chap. 21. for the word falling, is taken. Gen. 14. 10. and 24. 64. and Heb. 6, 6. 3 The key was giuen to this starre. For those powers of wickednesse are thrust downe into hell, and bound with chaines of darkenesse: and are there kept vnto damnation, vnlesse God for a time doe let them loose. 2. Pet. 2. 4. Iude 6. and of this booke. Chap. 20, 20. the historie of which chapter hath agreement of time with this present chapter. 4 By the bottomlesse pit, hee meaneth the deepest darkenesse of hell. 4 Vnto this is added, the smoake of the hellish and infernall spirits, all darke, and darkening all things in heauen and in earth. The Spirituall darknesses are the causes of all disorder and confusion. For the deuill at a time certaine (whereof verse the fift) sent these darknesses into his kingdome, that he might at once and with one impression ouerthrow all things, and peruert if it were possible the elect themselues. By this darkenesse all spirituall light, both actiue as of the Sunne, and passiue, as of the ayre which is lightened by the Sunne, is taken away: and this is that which goeth before the spirits: it followeth of the spirits themselues. 5 A description of the malignant spirits inuading the world, taken from their nature, power, forme and order. From their nature, for that they are like vnto certaine locustes, in quickenesse, subtilitie, burtfulnesse, number, and such like in this verse. From their power, for that they are as the scorpions of the earth, of a secret force to doe hurt. For our battell is not here with flesh and blood, but with powers, &c. Ephes. 6. 12 This place of the power of the Deuils generally noted in this verse, is particularly declared afterwards in the three next verses.

4 6 And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commaunded that they should not kill them, but that they should bee vexed fiue moneths, and that their paine should be as the paine that commeth of a scorpion when he hath stung a man.

6 * Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flie from them.

7 7 And the forme of the locusts vvas like vnto horses prepared vnto the battell, and on their heads vvere as it vvere crownes, like vnto gold, and their faces vvere like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lyons.

9 And they had habbergions, like vnto habbergions of yron, and the sound of their wings vvas like the sound of charets when many horses runne vnto battell.

10 And they had tailes like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men five moneths.

11 8 And they have a king over them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke hee is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 9 One woe is past, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

6 Here that power of the deuils is particularly described according to their actions and effects of the same. Their actions are said to be bounded by the counsell of God: both because they hurt not all men, but onely the reprobate (for the godly and elect, in whom there is any part of a better life, God garderh by his decree) whom Christ shall not have sealed, in this verse: and also because they neither had all power nor at all times, no not ouer those that are their owne, but limited in manner and time, by the prescript of God, verse 5. So their power to afflict the godly, is none & for the wicked is limited in act and in effect by the will of God: for the maner was prescribed vnto them that they shoulde not slay, but torment the wretched world. The time is for fiue moneths or for an hundred and fiftie dayes, that is, for so many yeeres in which the deuils haue indeed mightily peruerted all things in the world: and yet without that publike and vnpunished licence of killing, which afterward they vsurped when the sixt Angel had blowen his trumpet, as shalbe said vpon the 13. verse. Now this space is to be accounted from the end of that thousand yeeres mentioned, Chap. 20. 3. and that is from the Popedome of that Gregory the seuenth, a most monstrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senensis: for this man being made altogether of impiety and wickednesse, as a slaue of the deuil, whom he serued, was the most wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperor Henry the fourth: went about by all maner of trecherie to set vp and put downe empires and kingdomes as liked himselfe: and doubted not to set Rodolph the Swedon ouer the Empire in stead of Henry before named, sending vnto him a Crowne with this verse annexed vnto it, Petra dedit Petro, Petrus diadema Rodolpho: that is, The Rocke to Peter gaue the crowne, and Peter Rodolph doth renowne. Finally, he so finely bestirred himselfe in his affaires, as he miserably set all Christendome on fire, and conueyed ouer vnto his successours the burning brand of the same: who enraged with like ambition, neuer ceased to nourish that flame, and to enkindle it more and more: whereby Cities, Common-weales, and whole kingdomes set together by the eare, amongst themselues by most expert cut-throats, came to ruine, whiles they miserably wounded one another. This terme of an hundred and fiftie yeeres, taketh end in the time of Gregory the ninth, or Hugolinus Anagninensis (as he was before called) who caused to be compiled by one Raimond his chapleine and confessour, the body of Decretals, and by sufferance of the Kings and Princes to be published in the Christian world, and established for a law. For by this sleight at length the Popes arrogated vnto themselues licence to kill whom they would, whiles other were vnwares: and without feare established a butchery out of many of the wicked Canons of the Decretals, which the trumpet of the fift Angel had expresly forbidden, and had hindered vntill this time. The effects of the bloody actions are declared vpon the sixt verse: that the miserable world languishing in so great calamities, should willingly run together vnto death, and preferre the same before life, by reason of the grieuousnesse of the miseries that oppressed them. * Chap. 6. 16. Esai. 2. 19. Hose. 10, 8. 7 The forme of these hellish spirits and administers, is shadowed out by signes and visible figures in this sort: that they are very expert and swift: that wheresoeuer they are in the world, the kingdome of theirs: that they manage all their affaires with cunning and skill, in this verse, that making shew of mildnesse and tender affection to draw on men withall, they most impudently rage in all mischiefe: that they are most mighty to doe hurt, Vers. 8. that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the colour of religion, and sacred authoritie of priuiledge, that they fill all things with horror. Vers. 9. that they are fraudulent: that they are venimous and extremely noisome, though their power bee limited, Verse 10. All which things are properly in the infernall powers, and communicated by them vnto their ministers and vassals. 8 The order of the powers of maliciousnes: that they are subiect to one infernall King, whom thou mayest call in English, The Destroyer: who driueth the whole world both Iewes and Gentiles into the destruction that belongeth vnto himselfe. And I cannot tell whether this name belongeth vnto the Etymologicall interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often vsed in the holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwise be turned of the Germanes as the sense of compound words is commonly abiguous) yet in very deed it signifieth as much as if thou shouldest call him the firebrand, that is, he that setteth on fire those that be faithfull vnto him. 9 A passage vnto the next point, and the historie of the time following.

10 The sixt execution done vpon the world by the tyrannicall powers thereof, working in the foure parts of the earth, that is in most cruell maner executing their tyrannous dominion through the whole world: and killing the miserable people without punishment, which before was not lawfull for them to doe in that sort, as I shewed vpon the fourth verſ. This narration hath two parts: a commandement from God, in the 14. verſ. and execution of the commandement, in the verſe following.

11 The commandement given by Christ himselfe, who is governour over all.

b Hee alludeth to the altar of incenſe, which ſtood in the Court, whith the Prieſts were in, over against the Arke of the Covenant, having a vaile betwixt them.

12 As if he ſhould have ſaid, These hitherto have bene ſo bound by the power of God, that they could not freely run vpon all men as themſelves luſted, but were ſtayed and reſtrained at that great flood of Euphrates, that is, in their ſpirituall Babylon (for this is a Periphraſis of the ſpirituall Babylon, by the limits of the ſpirituall Babylon long ſince overthrowen) that they might not commit thoſe horrible ſlaughters which they long breathed after. Now goe to: let looſe thoſe foure Angels, that is, adminiſters of the wrath of God, in that number that is convenient to the ſlaughtering of the foore quarters of the world: ſtirre them vp and give them the bridle, that ruſhing of that Babylon of theirs, which is the ſeate of the wicked ones, they may flie vpon all the world, therein to rage, and moſt licentiouſly to exerciſe their tyrannie, as God hath ordeined. This was done when Gregorie the ninth by publike authoritie eſtabliſhed for law his owne Decretals, by which he might freely lay traines for the life of ſimple men. For who is it that ſeeth not that the lawes Decretall moſt of them are as ſnares to catch ſoules withall? Since that time (O good God!) how great ſlaughters have there beene? how great maſſacres? All hiſtories are full of them: and this our age aboundeth with moſt horrible and monſtrous examples of the ſame. 13 The execution of the commandement is in two points: one, that thoſe butchers are let looſe, that out of their tower of the ſpirituall Babylon they might with furie runne abroad through all the world, as well the thiefe of that crew which are moſt prompt vnto all aſſayes, in this verſe: as their multitudes, both moſt copious, of which a number certaine is named for a number infinite, Verſe 16. and in themſelves by all meanes fully furniſhed to hide and to hurt, Verſe 17. as beeing armed with fire, ſmoake and brimſtone, as appeareth in the colour of their armour, which dazeleth the eyes of all men: and have the ſtrength of Lyons to hurt withall, from which (as out of their mouth) the fierie, ſmoakie, and ſtinking darts of the Pope are ſhot out, Verſe 18. The other point is, that theſe butchers have effected the commandement of God by fraud and violence, in the two verſes following. 14 That is, they are harmefull every way: on what part ſoever thou put thine hand vnto them, or they touch thee, they doe hurt. So the former are called Scorpions, Verſe 3. 15 Now remaineth the event (as I ſaid vpon the firſt verſe) which followed of ſo many and ſo grieuous iudgements in the moſt wicked world: namely an impenitent obſtrmation of the vngodly in their impietie and vnrighteouſneſſe, though they feele themſelves moſt vehemently preſſed with the hand of God: for their obſtinate vngodlineſſe is ſhewed in this verſe: and their vnrighteouſneſſe in the verſe following. Hitherto hath bene the generall hiſtorie of things to bee done vniverſall in the whole world: which becauſe it doeth not ſo much belong to the Church of Chriſt, is therefore not ſo expreſly diſtinguiſhed by certainty of time and other circumſtances, but is woven, as they ſay with a ſlight hand. Alſo there is none other cauſe why the hiſtorie of the ſeventh Angel is paſſed over in this place, then for that the ſame more properly appertaineth vnto the hiſtorie of the Church. But this is more diligently ſet out according to the time thereof, Chap. 11. and 16. as ſhall appeare vpon thoſe places.

* Pſal 135.4. and 135,15.

13 ¶ 10 Then the ſixt Angel blew the trumpet, 11 and I heard a voyce from the [b] foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the ſixth Angel, which had the trumpet, 12 Looſe the foure Angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates.

15 13 And the foure Angels were looſed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, and at a yeere to ſlay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horſemen of warre were twenty thouſand times ten thouſand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I ſaw the horſes in a viſion, and them that ſate on them, having fierie habergions, and of lacynth, and of brimſtone, and the heads of the horſes were as the heads of lyons, and out of their mouthes went foorth fire, and ſmoake, and brimſtone.

18 Of theſe three was the third pard of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the ſmoke, and of the brimſtone, which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, and in their tailes: 14 for their tailes were like vnto ſerpents, and had heads wherewith they hurt.

20 15 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by theſe plagues, repented not of the workes of their hands that they ſhould not worſhip deuils, and * idoles of gold, and of ſilver, and of braſſe, and of ſtone, and of wood, which neither can ſee, neither heare, nor goe.

21 Alſo they repented not of their murther, and of their ſorceries, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

CHAP. X.

1 Another Angel appeareth cloathed with a cloude, 2 holding a booke open, 3 and crieth out. 8 A voyce from heaven commandeth Iohn to take the booke. 10 He eateth it.

AND 1 I ſawe [a] another mightie Angel come downe from heaven, cloathed with a cloud, and the rainebow vpon his head, and his face was as the ſunne, and his feete as pillars of fire.

2 And hee had in his hand a 2 little booke open, and hee put his right feet vpon the ſea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loud voyce, as when a lion roareth: and when hee had cried, ſeuen thunders vttered their voyces.

4 4 And when the ſeuen thunders had vttered their voyces, I was about to writte: but I heard a voyce from heaven, ſaying vnto mee, [a] Seale vp thoſe things which the ſeuen thunders have ſpoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I ſawe ſtand vpon the ſea, and vpon the earth, [b] lift vp his hand to heaven,

6 And ſware by him that liueth for euermore, which created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the ſea, and the things that therein are, 5 that [c] time ſhould be no more.

7 But in the dayes of the [6] voyce of the ſeuenth Angel, when he ſhall begin to blow the trumpet, even the myſterie of God ſhall be finiſhed, as he hath declared to his ſervants the Prophets.

8 7 And the voyce which I heard from heaven, ſpake vnto mee againe, and ſaid, Goe, and take the little booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which ſtandeth vpon the ſea, and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angel, and ſayd to him, Give mee the little booke. And he ſaid vnto me, Take it, and eat it vp, and it ſhall make thy belly bitter, but it ſhall bee in thy mouth as ſweet as hony.

10 Then I tooke the little booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as ſweet as hony: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 8 And he ſaid vnto mee, Thou muſt propheſie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

1 Now Saint Iohn paſſeth vnto the other Prophetical hiſtorie, which is of the Church of God, as I ſhewed that this booke ſhould be diſtinguiſhed, Chap. 4.1. This ſtorie reacheth hence vnto the two and twentieth Chapter. And this whole Chapter is but a tranſition from the common hiſtorie of the world vnto that which is particular of the Church. There are in this tranſition or paſſage two preparatives as it were, vnto this Church ſtorie comprifed in this whole Chapter. One is the authoritie of Chriſt revealing his myſteries, and calling his ſervants, vnto the ſeventh verſe. The other is Saint Iohn his calling, proper vnto this place, and prepared from before vnto the end of this chapter. Authoritie is given vnto this Revelation by theſe things. Firſt, by the appearing from heaven in this habite and countenance, ſtrong, ready, glorious, ſurueying all things by his providence and governing them by his omnipotence, verſe the firſt. Secondly, that he brought not by chance, but out of a booke, this open Revelation, ſet foorth vnto the eye, to ſignifie the ſame vnto the ſea, and land, as Lord ouer all, Verſe the ſecond. Thirdly, that he offered the ſame not whiſpering or muttering in a corner (as falſe prophets doe) but crying out with a lowd voyce vnto them which ſleepe, and with a lyoniſh and terrible noyſe rouſed vp the ſecure: the very thunders themſelues giuing teſtimony thereunto, Verſe the third. Laſtly, for that hee confirmed all by an oath, Verſe 5.6.7. 2 Chriſt Ieſus, ſee the ſeuenth Chapter, and the ſecond verſe. 3 Namely, a ſpecially booke of the affaires of Gods Church. For the booke that contayneth things belonging the whole world, is ſaid to bee kept with the Creatour, the fifth Chapter and the firſt verſe, but the booke of the Church, with the Redeemer: and out of this booke is taken the reſt of the hiſtorie of this Apocalypſe 4 A godly care is laudable, but muſt bee ioyned with knowledge. Therefore nothing it to bee taken in hand, but by calling: which muſt bee expected and waiting for of the godly. a Keepe them cloſe. b This was a geſture vſed of one that ſweareth, which men doe now a dayes vſe. 5 Neither time it ſelfe, nor the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand which is altogether of eternitie and beyond all times.

c There ſhall never bee any more time. 6 Whereof Chap. 11,15. and 16.17.

7 The other part of this Chapter, concerning the particular calling of Saint Iohn to the receiving of the prophecie following which is inioyned him, firſt by ſigne in three verſes, then in plaine words in the laſt verſe. Vnto the ſetting forth of the ſigne belong theſe things: That Saint Iohn is taught from heaven to demaund the booke of the Prophecie in this verſe: for theſe motions and deſires God doeth inſpire: that demaunding the booke, hee is charged to take it in a figurative maner, the vſe whereof alſo is expounded, verſe the ninth, (as in the ſecond Chapter of Ezekiel and the ninth verſe) whence this ſimilitude is borrowed: laſtly, for that Saint Iohn at the commandement of Chriſt tooke the booke, and found by experience that the ſame as proceeding from Chriſt was moſt ſweet, but in that it foretelleth the afflictions of the Church it was moſt bitter vnto his ſpirit. 8 A ſimple and plaine declaration of the ſigne before going, witneſſing the divine calling of S. Iohn, and laying vpon him the neceſſitie thereof.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI.

1 The temple is commanded to be measured. 3 The Lord stirred vp two witnesses, 7 whom the beast murthereth, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiseth them to life, 12 and calleth them vp to heaven. 13 The wicked are terrified, 15 by the trumpet of the seventh Angel the resurrection, 18 and iudgement is described.

1 THen was given me a reede like vnto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and 2 meete the Temple of God, and the Altar, and them that worship therein.

2 3 But the a Court which is without the Temple b cast out, and mete it not: for it is given vnto the 4 Gentiles, and the holy citie shall they tread vnder foote, 5 two and fourtie Moneths.

3 But 6 I will give power vnto my two witnesses, & they shall 7 prophecie a thousand two hundreth and threescore dayes cloathed in sackcloath.

4 These 8 are two olive trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5 9 And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoureth their enemies: for if any man would hurt them, thus must hee be killed.

6 These have power to shut heaven, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophecying, and have powers over waters to turne them into blood, and to smite the earth with all maner plagues, as often as they will.

7 10 And when they have c finished their testimonie, 11 the beast that commeth out of the bottomlesse pit, shall make warre against them, and shall 12 overcome them, and kill them.

8 And their corpses shall lie in the 13 streets of the great citie, which d spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, 14 where our Lord also was crucified.

9 And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles, shall see their corpses 15 three dayes and an halfe, and shall not suffer their carkeises to be put in graves.

10 And they that dwell vpon the earth, 16 shall reioyce over them and be glad, and shall send gifts one to another, for these two Prophets 17 vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

11 But 18 after three dayes and an halfe the spirit of life from God entred into them, and they stood vpon their feet, and great feare fell vpon them which saw them.

12 And they heard a great voice from heaven saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they ascended vp to heaven in a cloud, and their enemies beheld them.

13 And the same houre was there a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the citie fell, and in the earthquake were slaine of men seuen thousand names: and the remnant were afraid, and gaue glorie to the God of heauen.

14 The second woe is past, and behold, the third woe commeth quickly.

15 And the seuenth Angel sounded, and there were great voices in heauen, saying, The kingdomes of this world are become the kingdomes of our Lord, and of his Christ, and he shall reigne for euer and euer.

16 And the foure and twentie Elders which sate before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God,

17 Saying, We giue thee thankes, O Lord God almightie, which art, and which wast, and which art to come, because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned.

18 And the nations were angrie, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead that they should be iudged, and that thou shouldest giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets, and to the Saints, and to them that feare thy name, small and great, and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth.

19 And the Temple of God was opened in heauen, and there was seene in his Temple the Arke of his couenant, and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and an earthquake, and great hailestones.

1 The authoritie of this visioned reuelation being declared, together with the necessitie of that calling, which was particularly imposed vpon Saint John: hereafter followeth the historie of the estate of Christ his Church both conflicting or warfaring, and ouercomming in Christ. For both the true Church of Christ is said to fight against that which is falsly so called, ouer the which Antichrist ruleth, Christ Iesus ouerthrowing Antichrist by the spirit of his mouth: and Christ is said to ouercome most gloriously vntill he shall slay the Antichrist by the appearance of his comming, as the Apostle excellently teacheth. 2. Thess. 2. 8. So this historie hath two parts. One of the state of the Church conflicting with temptations, vnto the 16. Chapter. The other of the state of the same Church obtaining victory, thence vnto the 20. Chapter. The first part hath two members most conueniently distributed into their times, whereof the first containeth an historie of the Christian Church for 1260 yeeres, what time the Gospell of Christ was as it were taken vp from amongst men into heauen: the second containeth an historie of the same Church vnto the victorie perfected. And these two members are briefly, though distinctly, propounded in this Chapter, but are both of them more at large discoursed after in due order. For wee vnderstand the state of the Church conflicting out of Chapters 12. and of the same growing out of afflictions, out of the 14. 15. and 16. Chapter. Neither did Saint John at vnawares ioyne together the hystorie of these two times in this Chapter, because here is spoken of prophecie, which all confesse to bee but one iust and immutable in the Church, and which Christ commanded to becontinuall. The hystory of the former time reacheth vnto the 14. verse: the latter is set downe in the rest of this Chapter. In the former are shewed their things: the calling of the servants of God in 4. verses: the conflicts which the faithfull must undergoe in their calling, for Christ and his church, thence vnto the 10. verse, and their resurrection and receiving vp into heaven vnto the 14 vers. In the calling of the servants of God are mentioned two things: the begetting and selling of the Church in two verses, and the education thereof in two verses. The begetting of the Church is here commended vnto S Iohn by signe and by speech: the signe is a measuring rod, and the speach a commandement to measure the Temple of God, that is, to reduce the same vnto a new forme: because the Gentiles are already entred into the Temple of Ierusalem, and shall shortly defile and ouerthrow the same vtterly. 2 Either that of Ierusalem which was a figure of the church of Christ, or that heauenly example, whereof verse 19. but the first liketh me better, and the things following doe all agree thereunto. The sense therefore is, Thou seest all things in Gods house, almost from the passion of Christ to be disordered: and that not onely the citie of Hierusalem but also the court of the Temple is trapled vnder foot of the nations, and of prophane men whether Iewes or strangers: and that onely the Temple, that is, the body of the Temple, with the Altar, and a small company of good men which truely worship God, doe now remaine, whom God doeth sanctifie and confirme by his presence. Measure therefore this, euen this true Church, or rather the true type of the true Church omitting the rest, and so describe all things from me that the true Church of Christ may be as it were a very liue center, and the Church of Antichrist as the circle of the center, euery way in length and breadth compassing about the same, that by way of prophecie thou maiest so declare openly, that the state of the Temple of God and the faithfull which worship him, that is, of the Church, is much more streight then the Church of Antichrist. 3 As if he should say, it belongeth nothing vnto thee to iudge those which are without. 1. Cor. 5. 12. which bee innumerable: looke vnto those of the household onely, or vnto the house of the liuing God. a Hee speaketh of the outward court, which was called the peoples court, because all men might come into that. b That is counted to be cast out, which in measuring is refused as prophane. 4 To prophane persons wicked and vnbeleeuers, aduersaries vnto the Church. 5 Or a thousand, two hundred and threescore dayes, as is sayd in the next verse: that is a thousand two hundred and threescore yeeres, a day for a yeere, as often in Ezechiel and Daniel, which thing I noted before 2. 10. The beginning of these thousand two hundred and threescore yeeres, wee account from the passion of Christ, whereby (the partion wall being broken downe) wee were made of two one, Ephes. 2. 14. I say one flocke vnder one Shepheard, Ioh. 10. 16. and the end of these yeeres precisely falleth into the Popedome of Boniface the eight, who a little before the end of the yeere of Christ a thousand two hundreth ninetie foure entred the Popedome of Rome, in the feast of S. Lucie (as Bergomensis saith) hauing put in prison his predecessor Coelestinus, whom by fraud, vnder colour of oracle, he deceiued: for which cause, that was well said of him, Intrauit vt vulpes, regnabit vt leo, moriatur vt canes. That is, he entred like a foxe, raigned like a lyon, and died like a dogge. For if from a thousand two hundred ninetie foure yeeres thou shalt take the age of Christ which he liued on the earth, thou shalt finde there remaineth iust 1260 yeeres, which are mentioned in this place and many others. 6 I had rather translate it illud then illam, the Temple then the citie: for God saith, I will giue that Temple, and commit it vnto my two witnesses, that is vnto the Ministers of the word, who are few indeede, weake and contemptible: but yet two, that is, of such a number as one of them may helpe another, and confirme the testimony of another vnto all men, that from the mouth of two of three witnesses euery word may bee made good amongst men, 2. Cor. 13. 1.

7 They shall exercise their office enioyed by me by the space of those thousand two hundred & sixtie yeeres, in the middest of afflictions though neuer so lamentable, which is figuratiuely shewed by the Mourning garment.

8 That is, the ordinary and perpetuall instruments of spirituall grace, peace and light in my Church, which God by his onely power preserued in this Temple. See Zacharie 4. 3.

9 This power and efficacie of the holy ministerie, and which is truely Euangelicall, is declared both in earth and in heauen protecting the administers thereof, and destroying the enemies in this verse, vertue indeed diuine most mightily shewing it selfe forth in heauen, earth and the sea, verse. 6. as it is described. 2. Corint. 10. 4. according to the promise of Christ, Mark. 16. 17. And this is the second place (as I said before) of the combats which the servants of God must needes vndergoe in the executing of their calling, and of the thing that follow the same combats. In the combats or conflicts are these things: to ouercome, in these two verses: to be ouercome and killed, verse 7. After the slaughter follow these things, that the carkeises of the godly are layd abroad, verse. 8 being vnburied, are made a matter of scorne, together of cursing and bitter execrations, verse. 9. and that therefore gratulations are publikely and priuately made, verse 10.

10 That is, when they haue spent those thousand two hundred and sixty yeeres, mentioned verse 2. and 3. in publishing their testimonie according to their office. c When they haue done their message.

11 Of which after, chap. 13. &c. That beast is the Romish Empire, made long agoe of ciuill, Ecclesiasticall: the chiefe heade whereof was then Boniface the eight, as I said before: who lifted vp himselfe in so great arrogancy (saith the author of Faschius temporum) that he called himselfe Lord of the whole world, as well in temporal causes as in spirituall: There is an extant of that matter, written by the same Boniface most arrogantly, shall I say, or most wickedly, ea. vnam sanctam, extra de maioritate and obedientia, and in the first of the Decretals (which is from the same author) many things are found of the same argument.

12 Hee shall persecute most cruelly the holy men, and put them to death, and shall wound and pierce through with cursings both their names and writings. And that this was done to very many godly men by Boniface and others, the histories do declare, especially since the time that the odious and condemned name amongst the multitude first of the brethren Waldenses or Lugdunenses, then also of the Fraticels, was pretended, that good men might with more approbation be massacred.

13 That is, openly at Rome: where at that time was a most great concurse of people, the yeere of Iubile being then first ordained by Boniface vnto the same ende, in the yeere of Christ a thousand three hundred, example whereof is read chap. 1. Extra de pœnitentijs and remissionibus. So by one act he committed double iniurie against Christ, both abolishing his trueth by the restoring of the type of Iubile, and triumphing ouer his members by most wicked superstitions. O religious heart! Now that wee should vnderstand the things of Rome, Saint Iohn himselfe is the author, both after in the seuenteenth Chapter almost throughout and also in the circumscription now next following, when he saith, it is that great Citie (as Chap. 17. 18. hee calleth it) and is spiritually termed Sodome and Egypt: that spiritually (for that must here againe be repeated from before) Christ was there crucified. For the two first appellations signifie spirituall wickednesse: the latter signifieth the shew and pretence of good, that is, of Christian and sound religion. Sodome signifieth most licentious impiety and iniustice: Egypt most cruell persecution of the people of God: and Ierusalem signifieth the most confident glorying of that citie, as it were in true religion, being yet full of falsehood and vngodlinesse. Now who is ignorant that these things doe rather, and more agree vnto Rome, then vnto any other cities? The commendations of the citie of Rome for many yeeres past, are publikely notorious, which are not for me to gather together. This only I will say that he long since did very well see what Rome is, who taking his leaue thereof, vsed these verses.

Roma vale, vidi, satis est vidisse: reuertar
Quum leno, meretrix, furra, cinadus ero.

Now farewell Rome, I haue thee seene: It was inough to see:
I will returne when as I meane, baud, harlot, knaue to be.

d After a most secret kinde of meaning and vnderstanding.

14 Namely in his members, as also he said vnto Saul, Acts 9. 5.

15 That is, for three yeeres and a halfe: for so many yeeres Boniface lived after his Iubile, as Bergomensis witnesseth.

16 So much the more shall they by this occasion exercise the iolity of their Iubile.

17 The Gospell of Christ, is the affliction of the world, and the ministery thereof, the sauour of death vnto death to those that perish, 2. Cor. 2. 16.

CHAP. XII.

1 A woman 2 appeareth travelling with child, 4 whoſe childe the dragon would devoure, 7 but Michael overcommeth him, 9 and caſteth him out, 13 and the more he is caſt downe and vanquiſhed, the more fierce he exerciſed his ſubtilities.

AND 1 there appeared a great wonder in heaven: 2 A woman cloathed with the Sun, and the Moone was under her feet, and upon her head crowne of twelve Starres.

2 And 3 ſhe was with childe, and cried travelling in birth, and was pained ready to be delivered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heaven: 4 for behold, a great red dragon having 5 ſeven heads, and ten 6 hornes, and ſeven crowns upon his heads:

4 7 And his taile drewe the third part of the ſtarres of heaven, and caſt them to the earth. And the dragon 8 ſtood before the woman, which was ready to be delivered, 9 to devoure her child, when ſhe had brought it forth.

5 10 So ſhe brought forth a man 11 child, which ſhould rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her child was taken up unto God and to his throne.

6 12 And the woman fled into the wildernes, where ſhe hath a place prepared of God, that 13 they ſhould feed her there a thouſand, two

1 Hitherto hath beene the generall prophecy comprehended in 2. parts, as I ſhewed upon Cha. 1. Now ſhall be declared the firſt part of this prophecy in this & the next cha. and the latter part in the 14 15. and 16. chap. unto the firſt part, which is of the conflicting or militant Church belong 2. things, The beginning and the progreſſe of the ſame in conflicts & Chriſtian combats. Of which two, the beginning or vpſpring of the Church is deſcribed in this Chap. and the progreſſe thereof in the Chap. following. The beginning of the Chriſtian Church, we define to be from the conception of Chriſt, vntill that time wherein this Church was as it were weined and taken away from the breſt or milke of her Mother: which is the time when the Church of the Iewes with their citie and Temple was ouerthrowne by the iudgement of God. So we haue in this chapter the ſtory of 60 yeeres and vpwards. The parts of this chap. are three. The firſt is, the hiſtorie of the conception and bearing in womb, in 4. verſes. The ſecond, an hiſtory of the birth from the 5. verſe vnto the 12. The third is, of the woman that had brought foorth, vnto the end of the chap. And theſe ſeuerall parts haue euery one their conflicts. Therefore in that firſt part are two things contained, one, the conception and bearing in womb, in two verſes: and another of the lying in wait of the Dragon againſt that ſhould be brought forth, in the next 2 verſes In the firſt point are theſe things, the deſcription of the mother, verſe 1. and the dolors of child-birth, verſe 2. all ſhewed vnto Iohn from heauen. 2 A type of the true and holy Church, which then was in the nation of the Iewes. This Church (as is the ſtate of the holy Church Catholike) did in it ſelfe ſhine about with glory given of God, trod vnder feet mutability and changeableneſſe, and poſſeſſed the kingdome of heaven as the heire thereof. 3 For this is tha barren woman that brought not forth, of which Eſa 54.1. and Gal.4.27. ſhee cried out for good cauſe, and was tormented at that time, when in the iudgement of all ſhe ſeemed neere vnto death, and in meanes ready to giue vp the ghoſt by reaſon of her weakeneſſe and poverty. 4 That is the deuil or Satan (as is declared verſe 9.) mighty angry, and full of wrath. 5 Thereby to withſt and thoſe ſeven Churches ſpoken of, that is the Catholike Church and that with kingly furniture and tyrannical magnificence: ſignified by the crownes ſet vpon his heads, and if the ſame without controverſie belonged vnto him by the proper right: as alſo bee boaſted vnto Chriſt, Matth 4.9. See after, vpon chap.13.1. 6 More then are the hornes of the Lambe, or then the Churches are: ſo well furniſhed doth the tyrant brag himſelfe to be, vnto all maner of miſchiefe. 7 After the deſcription of Satan followeth this act on, that is, his battell offered vnto the Church partly to the which is viſible wherein the wheat is mingled with the chaffe, and the good fiſh with that which is evill: a good part thereof, though in appearance it ſhineed as the Starres ſhine in heauen, he is ſaid to thruſt down out of heaven, and to pervert: for if it were poſſible he would peruert euen the elect. Matth. 24.24. and partly to the elect members of the holy Catholike Church in the ſecond part of this verſe. Many therefore of the members of this viſible Church (ſai h S. Iohn) he ouerthrew and triumphed vpon them 8 He withſtood that elect Church of the Iewes which was now ready to bring foorth the Chriſtian Church, and watched for that ſhe ſhould bring forth. For the whole Church, and whole body is compared vnto a woman: and a part of the Church vnto that which is brought foorth as wee haue noted at large vpon Cant. 7.6. 9 Chriſt miſticall (as they call him) that is the whole Church, conſiſting of the perſon of Chriſt as the head, and of the body vnited ther.vnto by the Spirit. ſo is the name of Chriſt taken, 1.Cor.12.12. 10 The hiſtory of the Church deliuered of child: in which firſt the conſideration of the child borne, and of the Mother is deſcribed in 2 verſes: ſecondly the battell of the Dragon againſt the yong child, and the victory obtained againſt him 3. verſes following: laſt of all is ſung a ſong of victory, vnto the 12 verſe Now S. Iohn in conſideration of the child borne, noteth two things: for he deſcribeth him, and his ſtation or place in this verſe. 11 That is Chriſt the head of the Church (the beginning, roote and foundation whereof is the ſame Chriſt) endowed with kingly power, and taken vp into heauen out of the Iawes of Satan (who as a ſerpent did bite him vpon the croſſe) that ſitting vpon the celeſtial throne he might reigne ouer all 12 The Church of Chriſt which was of the Iewes, after the aſſumption into heauen, hid it ſelfe in the world as in a wildernes, truſting in the only defence of God, as witneſſeth S. Luke in the Acts of the Apoſtles. 13 Namely the Apoſtles and ſeruants of God ordained to feed with the word of life, the Church collected both of the Iewes and Gentiles, vnles that any man will take the word autrous impersonally after the vſe the Hebrewes, inſteed, of alterutr, but I like the firſt better. For hee hath reſpect vnto thoſe two Prophets of whom chap. 11. 3. as for the meaning of the 1260 dayes, looke the ſame place.

13 The third place as I noted before, is of the riſing againe of the Prophets from the dead, and their carrying vp into heaven. For their reſurrection is ſhewed in this verſe: their calling and lifting vp into heaven, in the verſe following.

19 That is, what time God ſhall deſtroy wicked Boniface.

20 That is, the Prophets of God ſhall in a ſort riſe againe, not the ſame in perſon (as they ſay) but in ſpirit, that is in the power and efficacie of their miniſtery, which S Iohn expreſſed before verſ. 5 & 6. And ſo the prophecie that is ſpoken of Elias, is interpreted by the Angel to be vnderſtood of Iohn the Baptiſt, Luke 1.17. For the ſame Boniface himſelfe, who ſought to kill and deſtroy them, was by the fire of Gods mouth (which the holy miniſtery ſheweth & exhibiteth) devoured and died miſerably in priſon, by the endeavour of Sarra Columenſis, and Nogaretus a french kinght, whom Philip the faire King of France ſent into Italy but with a ſmall power.

22 They were called by God into heauen and taken out of this malignant world, into the heauenly Church, which alſo lieth hidden here in the earth, to exerciſe their calling ſecretly: as of whom this wretched world was vnworthy, Heb. 11.38. For the Church of the wicked is by compariſon called the earth or the world: and the Church of the godly heauen. So in ancient time amongſt the godly Iſraelites: ſo amongſt the Iewes in the dayes of Menaſſes and other Kings, when the earth refuſed the beſtes of heauen, we read that they lay hidden as heauen in the earth. 23 Yet could they not hinder the ſecret ones of the Lord (as the Pſalmiſt called them, Pſal.83.4.) but they that went on forward in his worke. 24 Bergomenſis ſaith, in the yeere of our Lord 1301. this yeere a blazing ſtarre foretelling great calamity to come, appeared in heauen, in which yeere vpon the feaſt of S. Andrew ſo great an earthquake aroſe, as neuer before: which alſo continuing, by times, for many dayes, ouerthrew many ſtately houſes. This ſaith he of the yeere next following the Iubile: which S. Iohn ſo many ages before expreſſed word for word. 25 They were indeed broken with preſent aſtoniſhment of mind, but did not earneſtly repent as they ought to haue done.

a Glorified God by confeſſing his name.

25 Hee paſſeth vnto the ſecond hiſtorie: which is the ſecond part of this Chapter. S Iohn calleth theſe the ſecond and third woe, hauing reſpect vnto Chap. 9. 12 27 Of whoſe ſounding the trumpet Chriſt expreſly foretold, Chap. 10. 7. and this the ſecond part of this Chapter, containing a general hiſtorie of the Chriſtian Church, from the time of Boniface 8. vnto the conſummation of the victorie declared by voyce from heauen. In this hiſtory there are three branches: a preparation by the ſound of the Angels trumpet: a narration by the voyces of heauenly Angels and Elders: and a confirmation by ſigne. 28 The narration hath two parts: an acclamation of the heauenly creatures, in this verſe, and both an adoration by all the Elders verſ. 15 and alſo a moſt ample thankeſgiuing, ver. 17. 18. The ſenſe of the acclamation is, Now the Lord is entred on his kingdome, and hath reſtored his Church, in which moſt mightily recouered from the profanation of the Gentiles. he may glorifie himſelfe. Namely, that which the Lord ordained when firſt he ordained his Church, that the faith of the Saints doth now behold as accompliſhed. 29 As before 7. 11 This giuing of thankes is altogether of the ſame conſent with the words going before. 30 A ſpeach of the Hebrew language, and Gentiles being angrie thine inflamed wrath came vpon them and ſhewed it ſelfe from heauen, occaſioned by their anger and furie. 31 This is the confirmation of the next prophecie before going by ſignes exhibited in heauen, and that of two ſorts whereof ſome are viſible, as the paſſing away of the heauen, the opening of the Temple, the Arke of the couenant appearing in the Temple, and teſtifying the glorious preſence of God, and the lightnings: others apprehended by eare and ſuch dull ſenſes which beare witneſſe in heauen and in earth to the truth of the iudgements of God.

7 And there was a battell in heaven, [14] Michael and his Angels, fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 [15] But they prevailed not, neither was their [a] place found any more in heaven.

9 And the great dragon that olde serpent, called the devill and Satan, was cast out, which deceiveth all the world: hee was even cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loude voyce in heaven, saying, [16] Now is salvation, and strength, and the kingdome of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they overcame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that worde of their testimonie, and they [b] loved not their lives vnto the death.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the devill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when [17] the dragon saw that he was cast vnto the erath, hee persecuted the woman which had brought foorth the man child.

14 [18] But to the woman were given two wings of a great Eagle, that shee might flie into the wildernes, into her [c] place where she is nourished for a [19] time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 [20] And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that hee might cause her to bee caried away of the flood.

16 [21] But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 [22] Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the commandements of God, and have the testimonie of Iesus Christ.

18 [23] And I stood on the sea sand.

14 Christ is the Prince of Angels, and head of the Church, who beareth that vron rod verse the fift. See the notes vpon Daniel chap. 12. 1. In this verse a description of the battell and of the victory in the two verses following. The Psalmist had respect vnto this battell. Psal. 68. 9. and Paul Ephesians 4. 8. and Colossians 2. 15.

15 The description of the victory, by denying of the thing in this verse, and by affirming the contrary in the next verse As that Satan gaine nothing in heaven but was by the power of God thrown downe into the world, whereof he is the prince, Christ himselfe and his elected members standing still by the throne of God. [a] They were cast out, so that they were neber scene any more in heaue.

16 The song of victory or triumph containing first a proposition of the glory of God and of Christ shewed in that victory: secondly, it conteineth a reason of the same proposition taken from the effects, as that the enemie is overcome in battell in this verse, and that the godly are made conquerours (and more then conquerours, Rom. 8 37.) verse 11. Thirdly, a conclusion wherein is an exhortation vnto the Angels, and the Saints, and vnto the world, a prophecie of great miserie and of destruction procured by the devill against mankind, least himselfe should shortly be miserable alone, verse 12. [b] He is said in the Hebrew tongue, to love his life that esteemeth nothing more precious then his life: and on the other side, he is said not to love his life, who doubts not to hazard it, wheresoeber needs requireth.

17 The third part: an history of the woman delivered, consisting of two members, the second battell of Satan against the Christian Church of the Iewish nation, in foure verses: and the battell intended against the seed thereof, that is, against the Church of the Gentiles, which is called holy, by reason of the Gospel of Christ in the two last verses.

18 That is being strengthened with divine power: and taught by oracle, she fled swiftly from the assault of the devill, and from the common destruction of Ierusalem, and went into a solitary Citie beyond Iorden called Pel a, as Eusebius telleth in the first Chapter of the third booke of his Ecclesiastical history, which place God had commanded her by Revelation. [c] Into that place wh.re od had appointed her.

19 That is, for three yeeres and a halfe: so the same speech is taken Dan. 7, 25. This space of time is reckoned in maner from that last and most grievous rebellion of the Iewes, vnto the destruction of the citie and Temple, for their destruction of falling away, began in the twelft yeere of Nero, before the beginning whereof, many foresignes and predictions were shewed from heaven, as Iosephus writeth, lib 7. chap. 12. and Hegesippus lib. 5. cap 44 amongst which this is very memorable, that in the feast of Pentecost, not only a great sound and noise was heard in the Temple, but also a great voyce was heard of many out of the Sanctuary which cried out vnto all, Let vs depart hence. Now three yeeres and a halfe after this defection was begun of the Iewes, and those wonders happened, the Citie was taken by force, the Temple overthrowen, and the place forsaken of God: and this compasse of time Saint John noted in this place.

20 That is, he enflamed the Romanes and nations, that they persecuting the Iewish people with cruell armes might by the same occasion inuade the Church of Christ, now departed from Ierusalem and out of Iudea. For it is an vsuall thing in Scripture, that the raging tumults of the nations, should be compared vnto waters.

21 That is, there was offered in their place other Iewes, vnto the Romanes and nations raging against that people: and it came to passe thereby that the Church of God was saved whole from that violence, that most raging flood of persecution which the Dragon vomited out being altogether spent in the destruction of those other Iewes.

22 Being set on fire by his means, he began to be more madde, and because hee perceived that his purpose against the Christian Church of the Iewish remnant was come to nought, hee resolved to fall vpon her seed, that is, the Church gathered also by God of the Gentiles, and the holy members of the same. And this is that other branch, as I said vpon the 13 verse in which the purpose of Satan is shewed, verse 17. and his attempt verse 18.

23 That is, a most mighty tempest, that he rushed vpon the whole world (whose prince hee is) to raise the floods and provoke the nations, that they might with their furious bellowes toste up and downe, drive here and there, and finally destroy the Church of Christ with the holy members of the same. But the providence of God resisted his attempt, that he might favour the Church of the Gentiles, yet tender and as it were greene. The rest of the story of the Dragon is excellently prosecuted by the Apostle S. Iohn hereafter in the twentieth chapter. For heere the Dragon endevouring to doe mischiefe, was by God cast into prison.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The beast with many heads is described, 12 which draweth the most part of the world to idolatrie. 13 The other beast rising out of the earth, 15 giveth power vnto him.

A Nd I [1] saw a beast rise [2] out of the sea, having seven heads, and [3] ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and [4] vpon his head [5] the name of blasphemie.

1 The Apostle having declared the springing vp of the Christian Church and the state of the Church from which ours

2 And the beast which I saw was like vnto a leopard, and his feet were as the feet of a beare, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gave him his power, and his seate, and great authoritie.

taketh her beginning, doeth now passe vnto the story of the progresse thereof, as I shewed in the entrance of the former Chapter. And this historie of the progresse of the Church and the battels thereof, is set downe in this Chapter, but distinctly in two parts, one is of the ciuill Roman Empire, vnto the ten h verse. Another of the bodily Ecclesiasticall or prophetical: thence vnto the ende of the chapter. In the former part are shewed these things: First the state of that Empire, to foure verses: then the actes thereof in three verses: after the effect, which is exceeding great glory, verse 8. And last of all is commended the vse: and the instruction of the godly against the evils that shall come from the same. verse 9, 10. The historie of the state contained a most ample description of the beast first entire. verse 1 2. and then restored after hurt, verse 3. 4.

2 On the sand whereof stood he devill practising new tempests against the Church, in the verse next before going. whose time the Empire of Rome was endangered by domesticall dissentions, and was mightily rolled, having ever and an one new heads, and new Emperours. See in the seven eenth chapter and the eight verse 3 Having the same instruments of power, providence, and most expert government which the Dragon is said to have had in the 12 chapter and in the verse 3. 4. We read in the twelfth chapter & third verse, that the Dragon had seven crownes set vpon seven heads: because the devil avoucheth himselfe to be proper Lord and Prince of the world: but this beast is said to have ten crowns set vpon severall, not heads, but hornes: because the beast is beholden for all vnto the Dragon, verse 2. and doth not otherwise reigne then by law of subiection given by him, namely that he employ his hornes against the Church of God. The speech is taken from the ancient custome and forme of dealing in such case: by which they that were absolute kings did weare the diademe vpon their heads: but their vassels and such as reigned by grace from them, wore the same vpon their hoods: for so they might commodiously lay downe their diademes when they came into the presence of their Soveraignes: as also their Elders are said when they adored God which sate vpon the throne, to have cast downe their crownes before him. chap. 4. verse 10

4 Contrary to that which God of old commanded should be writen in the head peece of the hie Priest, that is, Sanctitas Iehoba Holinesse vnto the Lord. The name of blasphemie imposed by the Dragon, is (as I thinke) that which S. Paul sayeth in the 2. chapter of his 2. Epistle to the Thessalonians, the 4 verse. He sitteth as God and boasteth himselfe to be God. For this name of blasphemie both the Romane Emperour did then challenge vnto themselves, as Suetonius and Dion doe report of Caligula and Domitian: and after them the Popes of Rome did with full mouth profile the same of themselves. when they challenged vnto themselves soveraignitie in holie things: of which kind of sayings the first booke of the Decretals, the Clementines, and the Extravagants are very full. For these men were not content with that which Anglicus wrote in his Poetrix (the beginning whereof is, Papa supor mundi.) The Pope is the wonder of the world. Nec Deus es, nec homo, sed neuter es inter vtrumque. Thou art not God, ne art thou man, but neuter mixt of both: as the glosse witnesseth vpon the first booke: but they were bold to take vnto themselves the very name of God. and to accept it given of other: according as almost an hundred and twentie yeeres since, there was made for Sixtus the fourth, when he should first enter into Rome in his dignitie Papal, a Pageant of triumph, and cunningly fixed vpon the gate of the citie he should enter at, having written vpon it this blasphemous verse,

Oraclo vocis mundi moderaris habenas,
Et merito in terris crederis esse deus.

By oracle of thine owne voice the world thou gouernst all,
And worthily a god on earth, men thinke, and doe thee call.

These and sixe hundred the like who can impute vnto that modestie whereby good men of old would haue themselues called the seruants of the seruants of God, vnlike either this is a name of blasphemie, or there is none at all.

6 like a leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a Lyon: 7 and the dragon gave him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 [8] And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the dragon which gave power vnto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like vnto the beast? who is able to warre with him?

5 [9] And there was given vnto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was given vnto him, [10] to doe two and fourtie moneths.

6 And hee opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God, to blaspheme his Name, [11] and his tabernacle, [12] and them that dwell in heaven.

7 And it was given vnto him to make warre with the Saints, and to overcome them, and power was given him over every kinred, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, shall worship him, [13] whose names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world.

9 [14] If any man haue an eare, let him heare.

10 If any leade into captiuity, he shall goe into captinity: * if any kill with a sword, hee must be killed by a sword: heere is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

11 [15] And I behelde, another beast comming out of the earth, [16] which had two hornes like the Lambe, but hee spake like the dragon.

12 [17] And he did all that the first beast could do before him, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, [18] to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

13 [19] And hee did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heaven on the earth in the sight of men.

14 And deceived them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted to him to do in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the [20] image of the [21] beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did live.

15 [22] And it was permitted to him to give a spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the

6 Swift as the Leopard, easily clasping all things, as the Beare doth with his foote, and tearing and deuouring all things with the mouth as doth the Lion. 7 That is, hee lent the same vnto the beast to vse, when he perceiued that himselfe could not escape, but must needes be taken by the hand of the Angel, and cast into the bottomlesse pit, Chapter 20. yet did not he abandon the same vtterly from himselfe, but that hee might vse it as long as he could. 8 This is the other place that pertaineth to the description of the beast of Rome: that besides that naturall dignitie and amplitude of the Roman Empire, which was shadowed in the two former verses, there was added this also as miraculous, that one head was wounded as it were vnto death, and was healed againe, as from heaven, in the sight of all men. This head was Nero the Emperour, in whome the race of the Cesars fell from the imperiall dignitie, and the gouernement of the Common weale translated vnto others: in whose handes the Empire was so cured & recovered vnto health, as he seemed vnto all so much the more deepely rooted and grounded fast, then ever before. And hence followed those effects, which are next spoken of: First an admiration of certaine power, as it were sacred and diuine, sustaining the Empire and governing it: Secondly the obedience and submission of the whole earth it this verse: Thirdly, the adoration of the Dragon, and most wicked worshipping of Deuils, confirmed by the Roman Emperours: Lastly, the adoration of the beast himselfe, which grew into so great estimation, as that both the name and worship of a God was given vnto him, verse the fourth. Now there were two causes which brought, in the mindes of men this religion: the shew of excellencie, which bringeth with it reverence: and the shew of power invincible, which bringeth feare. Who is like (say they) vnto the beast? Who shall be able to fight with him? 9 The second member containing an historie of the actes of the beast, as I said verse 1. The historie of them is concluded in two points, the beginning and the maner of them. The beginning is the gift of the Dragon, who put and inspired into the beast both his impiety against God, and his immanitie and iniustice against all men, especially against the godly and those that were of the houshold of faith, verse the first. The maner of the actes or actions done, is of two sortes, both impious in minde, and blasphemious in speech against God, his Church and the godly verse sixt: and also most cruell and iniurious in deedes, even such as were done of most raging enemies, and of most insolent and proud conquerours, verse the seventh. 10 Namely his actions and maner of dealing. As concerning those two and fourtie moneths, I have spoken of them before in the twelfth Chapter and second verse. 11 That is, the holy Church the true house of the liuing God. 12 That is, the godly in severall who bid themselves from his crueltie. For this bloodie beast surcharged those holy soules most falsely with innumerable accusations for the Name of Christ, as wee reade in Iustine Martyr, Tertullian, Arnobius, Minutius, Eusebius, Augustine, and others: which example the latter times followed most diligently in destroying the flocke of Christ, and wee in our owne memorie haue found by experience, to our incredible griefe. Concerning heaven, See the eleventh Chapter, and the twelfth verse. 13 That is, such as are not from everlasting elect in Christ Iesus. For this is that Lambe slaine, of which Chapter the fift. verse the sixt. These wordes I doe with Aretas distinguish in this maner: Whose names are not written euen from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the book of life of the Lambe slaine. And this destruction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, chap. 17. 8. 14 The conclusion of this speech of the first beast, consisting of two parts. An exhortation to attentive audience, in this verse: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatnings against the wicked, and partly comfort for those which in patience and faith shall waite for that glorious comming of our Lord and Saviour Christ, verse the tenth. * Gene. 9, 9. mat. 26, 52.

15 The second member of the vision concerning the ecclesiasticall dominion, which in Rome succeeded that which was poisoned, and is in the power of the corporation of false Prophets, and of the forgers of false doctrine. Wherefore the same beast, and the same body or corporation is called of S. Iohn by the name of false prophet, chap. 6 ver. 13 and 19. ver. 20. The forme of this beast is first described in this verse, then his actes, in the verses following: and the whole speech is concluded in the last verse. This beast is by his breed a sonne of the earth (as they say) obscurely borne, and by little and little creeping vp out of his abiect estate. 16 That is, in shew hee sembled the Lambe (for what is more mild or more humble then to be the seruant of the seruants of God) but in deede bee played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolfe, Matth. 7. 15. For euen Satan changeth himselfe into an Angel of light, 2. Corint. 11. 14. and what should his honest disciples and servants doe? 17 The historie of the actes of this beast, containeth in summe three things, hypocrisie, the witnesse of miracles and tyrannie: of which the first is noted in this verse, the second in the 3. verses following: the third in the sixteenth and seuenteenth verses. His hypocrisie is most full of leasing, whereby he abuseth both the former beast and the whole world: in that albeit he hath by his cunning as it were by time, made of the former beast a most miserable σκιάδιον, or anatomie, vsurped all his authoritie vnto himselfe and most impudently exerciseth the same in the sight and viewe of him: yet bee carieth himselfe so, as if hee honoured him with most high honour, and did in very trueth cause him to bee honoured of all men. 18 For vnto this beast of Rome, which of a ciuill Empire is made an Ecclesiasticall hierarchie, are given diuine honoure and diuine authoritie: so farre as he is beleeued to bee aboue the Scriptures, which the glosse vpon the Decretals declareth by this diuilish verse.

Articulos soluit & nodumque facit generalem.

That is,

He changeth the Articles of faith, and giueth authoritie to generall Councels.

Which is spoken of the Papal power. Soo the beast is by birth, foundation, seate, and finally substance, one: onely the Pope hath altered the forme and maner thereof being himselfe the head both of that tyrannicall Empire, and also of the false Prophets, for the Empire hath he taken vnto himselfe, and thereunto hath added this cunning deuise. Now these words, whose deadly wound was cured, are put here for distinctions sake, as also sometimes afterwards: that euen at that time the godly readers of this prophecie might by this signe bee brought to see the things as present: as if it were sayd, that they might adore his very Empire that now is, whose head wee haue seene in our owne memorie to haue bene cut off, and to bee cured againe. 19 The second point of the things done by the beast, is the credite of great wonders or miracles, appertaining to the strength of this impietie: of which signes some were giuen from aboue, as it is said, that fire was sent downe from heauen by false sorcerie, in this verse. Others were shewed here below in the sight of the beast to establish idolatrie, and deceiue soules, which part S. Iohn setteth forth, beginning (as they say) at that which is last, in this maner: First the effect is declared in these words, He deceiueth the inhabitants of the earth. Secondly the common manner of working in two sorts, one of miracles, For the signes that were giuen him to doe in the presence of the beast: the other of the words added to the signes, and teaching the idolatrie confirmed by those signes, Saying vnto the inhabitants of the earth, that they should make an image vnto the beast, which &c. Thirdly, a speciall maner is declared: That it is giuen vnto him to put life into the image of the beast: and that such a kind of quickening, that the same both speaketh by answere vnto those that aske counsell of it, and also pronounceth death against all those that doe not obey nor worship it: all which things oftentimes by false miracles through the procurement and inspiration of the Deuil, have bin effected and wrought in images. The histories of the Papists are full of examples of such miracles, the most of them fained, many also done by the deuill in images: as of old in the seruent. Gen. 3. 1. By which examples is confirmed, not the authoritie of the beast, but the trueth of God, and of the prophecies. 20 That is, images by enallage or change of the number: for the worship of them ever since the second Councill of Nice, hath bene ordained in the Church by publike credite, and authoritie contrary vnto the Law of God. 21 In the Greeke the word is of the Dative case, as much to say, as vnto the worship, honour and obeying of the beast: for by this maintenance of images, this Pseudopropheticall beast doth mightily profite the beast of Rome, of whom long agoe hee received them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fitly called the image of the beast, for that images have their beginning from the beast, and have their forme or maner from the will of the beast, and have their end and use fixed in the profit and commoditie of the beast. 22 And of this miracle of the images of the beast (that is, which the beast hath ordained to establish to idolatry) which miraculously speake and give iudgement, or rather marueilously, by the fraud of the false prophets, the Papists books are full fraughted.

a To give life as Iannes and Iambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

16 23 And he made all, both small and great, rich and poore, free and bond, to receive 24 a b marke in their right hande or in their foreheads,

17 And that no man might 25 buy or sell, save he that had the 26 marke or the name of the beast or the number of his name.

18 27 Here is wisedome. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is the 28 number of a man, and his number is sixe hundreth threescore and sixe.

23 The third place is a most wicked and most insolent tyranny as was fayd before. usurpted over the persons of men in this verse: and over their goods and actions in the next verse. For he is said both to bring upon all persons a tyrannous servitude, that as bondslaves they might serve the beast: and also to exercise over all their goods and actions, a pedlerlike abuse of indulgences and dispensations (as they terme them) amongst their friends, and against other to use most violent interdictions, and to shoot our cursings, even in naturall and civill, private and publike contracts, wherein all good faith ought to have place. 24 That is, their Chrisme, by which in the Sacrament (as they call it) of Confirmation, they make servile unto themselves, the persons and doings of men signing them in their forehead and hands: and as for the signe left by Christ (Of which Chapter 7.3.) and the holy Sacrament of Baptisme they make as voyd. For whom Christ hath joyned unto himselfe by Baptisme, this beast maketh challenge unto them by her greasie Chrisme, which hee doubteth not to preferre before Baptisme, both in authoritie and in efficacie. b The marke of the name of the beast. 25 That is, have any traffique or entercourse with men, but they onely which have this annointing and consecration of Clearkely tousure, as they call it. Read Gratian de Consecratione, distinct. 5. comones. rap. Spiritus, &c. of these matters. 26 Here the false Prophets doe require three things, which are set downe in the order of their greatnesse, a character, a name and the number of the name. The meaning is, that man that hath not first their annoynting and clericall tonsure or shaving: secondly holy orders, by reserving whereof is communicated the name of the beast: or finally hath not attained that high degree of Pontificall knowledge, and of the Law, (as they call it, Canonicall, and hath not as it were made up in account and cast the number of the mysteries thereof: for in these things consisteth the number of that name of the beast. And this is excellently set forth in the next verse. 27 That is in this number of the beast consisteth that Popish wisedome, which unto them seemeth the greatest of all others. In these words S. John expounderh that saying which went before of the number of the beast, what it hath above his marke or accoguisance and his name. These things, sayth S. John, the marke and name of the beast, doe easily happen unto any man: but to have the number of the beast, is wisedome: that is, onely the wise and such as have understanding, can come by that number for they must be most illuminate doctours that attaine thereunto, as the wordes following doe declare. 28 How great and of what denomination this number of the beast is, by the which the beast accounteth his wisedome, S. John declareth these wordes, Doest thou demaund how great it is? it is so great, that it occupieth the whole man: he is alway learning, and never commeth to the knowledge thereof: he must be a man indeed that doeth attaine unto it. Askest thou of what denomination it is? verily it standeth of sixe throughout, and perfectly ariseth of all the parts thereof in their severall denominations (as they terme them) it standeth of sixe by unities, tennes, hundreds, &c. so as there is no one part in the learning, and order Pontifical, which is not either referred unto the head, and as it were the top thereof, or contained in the same: so fitly doe all things in his hierarchie agree one with another, and with their head. Therefore this cruell beast Boniface the eight doeth commend by the number of sixe those Decretals which hee perfected, in the proeme of the sixt booke. Which booke (sayeth hee) being to be added unto five other bookes of the same volume of Decretals, wee thought good to name Sexturn the sixth: that the same volume by addition thereof conteining a senarie, or the number of sixe bookes (which is a number perfect) may yeeld a perfect forme of managing all things, and perfect discipline of behaviour. Here therefore is the number of the beast, who powreth from himselfe all his parts, and bringeth them all backe againe unto himselfe by his discipline in most wise and cunning maner. If any man desire more of this, let him reade the glosse upon that place. I am not ignorant that other interpretations are brought upon this place: but I thought it my duetie, wi h the good favour of all, and without the offence of any, to propound mine opinion in this point. And for this cause especially, for that it seemed unto mee neither profitable, nor like to be true that the number of the beast, or of the name of the beast should be taken as the common sort of interpreters doe take it. For this number of the beast teacheth, giveth out, imprinteth, as a publike marke of such as be his, and esteemeth that marke above all others as the marke of those whom hee loveth best. Now those other expositions seeme rather to be farre removed from his properrie and condition of that number: whether you respect the name Latinus, or Titan, or another. For these the beast doeth not teach, nor give foorth, nor imprint, but most diligently forbiddeth to be taught, and audaciously denieth: hee approoveth not these, but reprooveth them: and hateth them that thinke so of this number, with an hatred, greater then that of Vatinius.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Lambe standeth on mount Sion: 4 with his chaste worshippers, 6 One Angel preacheth the Gospel: 8 another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that he beast be avoyded. 13 A voyce from heaven pronounceth them happie who die in the Lord. 16 The Lords sickle thrust into the harvest, 18 and into the vintage.

THen I looked, and loe, a Lambe 1 stood on mount Sion, and with him 2 an hundreth, fourtie and foure thousand, having his Fathers 3 Name written in their foreheads.

1 The history of the Church of Christ being finished for more then a thousand and three hundreth yeeres, at which time Boniface the eight lived, as before hath bene said, there remaineth the rest of the historie of the conflicting or militant Church, from thence unto the time of the last victorie in three chapters. For first of all as the foundation of the whole history, is described the standing of the lambe with his armie and retinue in five verses, after his worthie acts which he hath done, and yet doth in most mightie maner, whilest hee overturneth with Antichrist with the spirit of his mouth, in the rest of this chapter, and in the two following. Vnto the description of the Lambe are propounded three things: his situation & place & attendance: for the rest are expounded in the former visions, especially upon the fifth chapter. 2 As ready girt to doe his office (as act 5.56.) in the midst of the Church which afore time mount Sion did prefigure. 3 As before 7.2. This retinue of the Lambe is described first by divine marke (as before 7.2.) in this verse. Then by divine occupation, in that all and every one in his retinue most vehemently and sweetly (verse 2) doe glorifie the Lambe with a speciall song before God and his elect Angels: which song flesh and blood cannot heare, nor understand, verse 3. Lastly by their deeds done before, and their sanctification in that they were virgins, pure from spirituall and bodily fornication that is, from impietie and unrighteousnes, that they followed the Lambe as a guide unto all goodnes, and cleaved unto him that they are holy unto him, as of grace redemed by him: that in truth and in simplicity of Christ, they have exercised all these things, sanctimony of life, the direction of the Lambe, a thankefull remembrance of the redemption by him: finally (to conclude in a word) that they are blamelesse before the Lord, verse 4 5. 4 The other part (as I said on the first verse) is of the acts of the Lambe, the maner whereof is delivered in two sorts, of his speech and of his facts. His speaches are set foorth unto the 13 verse of this chapter, and his facts unto the 16. chapter. In the speach of the Lambe (which is the word of the Gospel, are taught in this place, these things: The service of the godly consisting inwardly of reverence towardes God, and outwardly of the glorifying of him: the visible signe of which is adoration, verse 7. The overthrowing of wicked Babylon, verse 8. and the fall of every one of the ungodly which worship the beast, verse 9.10.11. Finally, the state of the holy servants of God both present verse 11. and to come, most blessed, according to the promise of God, verse 13. 5 This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithfull servants of God, whom God especially from that time of Boniface the eight, hath raised up the publishing of the Gospel of Christ both by preaching and by writing. So God first, neere unto the time of the same Boniface, used Peter Cassiodours an Italian after, Arnold de villa nova a French man, then Ockan Dante, Petrarch after that Iohannes de rupe cisa, a Franciscane: after againe, John Wicklife an Englishman, and so continually one or another unto the restoring of the truth and enlarging of his Church. 6 That is. Babylon is destroyed by the sentence and iudgement of God: the execution whereof S. John describeth chap. 18. And this voyce of the ministers of Christ hath continued since the time that Babilon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counsell and manifest malice oppugned the light of the Gospel offered from God. * Psal. 14.5.6. * Acts 14.15. * Isa. 21.9. iere. 51.8. chap. 18.2. a Of her fornication, wherewith God was provoked to wrath. 7 That is, shall not worship God alone: but shall transferre his divine honour unto this beast, whether he doth it with his heart or counterfeiting in shew. For he (saith Christ) that denieth me before men, him will I denie before my Father, and his Angels. Matth. 10.32. And this is that voyce of the holy ministery, which at this time is very much used of the holy and faithfull servants of God. For having now sufficiently found out the publique obstinacy of Babylon, they labour not any longer to thunder out against the same: but to save some particular members by terror (as S. Iude speaketh) and to plucke them out of the publique flame, or else by a vehement commiseration of their estate to lead them away, they set before them eternall death, into which they rush unwares, unlesse in good time they returne unto God, but the godly which are of their owne flocke, they exhort unto patiences, obedience and faith in the Lord Iesus, and charge them to give light by their good example, of good life unto others.

beast and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand.

10 The same shall drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and hee shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend euermore: and they shall haue no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his image, and whosoeuer receiueth the print of his name.

12 8 Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the commandements of God, and the faith of Iesus

13 Then I heard a voice from heauen, saying vnto mee, Write, The dead which die b in the Lord, are fully blessed. Euen so saith the Spirite: for they rest from their labours, and their c works follow them.

14 ¶ 9 And I looked, and behold, 10 a white cloud, and vpon the cloud one sitting like vnto the Sonne of man, 11 having on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a 12 sharpe sickle.

15 13 And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voyce to him that sate on the cloude, * Thrust in thy sickle and reape, for the time is come to reape: for the * harvest of the earth is ripe.

16 And hee that sate on the cloude, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 14 Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing also a sharpe sickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, and cryed with a loude cry to him that had the sharpe sickle, and sayd, Thrust in thy sharpe sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyarde of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thrust in his sharpe sickle on the earth, and cut downe the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great winepresse of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepresse was troden without the citie, 15 and blood came out of the winepresse vnto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and sixe hundreth furlongs.

8 The patience, sanctification and iustification by faith: the consequence whereof are, rest, felicitie, and glory eternall, in the heauenly followship of God and his Angels.

9 The second part of this Chapter, as I sayde verse 1. Of the acts and doings of Christ in ouerthrowing of Antichrist and his Church by the Spirit of his diuine mouth: seeing that hauing beene called back by worde both publickely and priuately vnto his duetie, and admonished of his most certaine ruine: he yet ceaseth not to maintaine and protect his owne adherents, that they may doe him service: and to afflict the godly with most barbarous persecutions. Of those things which Christ doeth, there are two kindes: one common or generall in the rest of this chapter, another particular against that sauage and rebellious beast and his worshippers in the 15 and 16. chapters. That common kinde, is the calamitie of warres spread abroad through the whole earth, and filling all things with blood, and that without respect of any person. This is figured or shadowed out in two types, of the haruest and vintage. Since the time that the light of the Gospell began to shine out, and since prophecie or preaching by the grace of God was raised vp againe, how horrible warres haue beene kindled in the world? how much humane flesh hath beene throwen to the arth by his diuine reaping? how much blood (alas for woe) hath ouerflowen for these hundred yeeres almost? all hystories doe cry out, and this our age (if euer before) is now in horrour, by reason of the rage of that fickle which Antichrist calleth for. In this place is the first type, that is, of the haruest. 10 Declaring his fiercenesse by his colour, like vnto that which is in the white or milke cirkle of heauen. b That is for the Lord. c By workes, is meant the reward which followeth good workes. 11 As one that shall reigne from God, and occupie place of Christ in this miserable execution. 12 That is a most fit and commodious instrument of Execution, destroyed all by bewing and thrusting through, for who may stand against God? * Ioel 3. 13. * Matth. 13. 39. 13 Christ giueth a commandement in this verse. And the Angel executeth it in the next verse. 14 The other type (as I sayde verse 14.) is the vintage: the maner whereof is one with that which went before, if thou except this, that the grape gathering is more exact in seeking out euery thing, then is the haruest labour. This is therefore a more grieuous iudgement, both because it succeedeth the other and because it is vnderstood to be executed with great diligence. 15 That is, it ouerflowed very deepe, and very farre and wide: the speach is hyperbolicall or excessiue, to signifie the greatnesse of the slaughter. And these be those pleasant fruites forsooth, of the contempt of Christ, and desiring of Antichrist rather then him, which the miserable, mad, and blinde world doeth at this time reape.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seuen Angels hauing the seuen last plagues. 3 They that conquered the beast praise God. 6 To the seuen Angels, 7 seuen vials full of Gods wrath are deliuered.

A Nd 1 I sawe another signe in heauen, great and marueilous, seuen 2 Angels hauing the seuen last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 3 And I saw 4 as it were a glassie sea, mingled with fire, and 5 them that had gotten victorie of the beast, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, 6 stand at the glassie sea, having harpes of God,

3 And they sung 7 the song of Moses the a seruant of God, and the song of the Lambe, saying, 8 Great and marueilous are thy works, Lord God Almightie: iust and true are thy *b wayes, King of Saints.

4 * Who shall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifest.

5 9 And after that, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of Testimony was open in heauen.

6 And the seuen Angels came out of the Temple, which had the 10 seuen plagues, cloathed in 11 pure and bright linen, and hauing their breasts 12 girded with golden girdles.

7 And one of the 13 foure beasts gaue vnto the seuen Angels seuen golden vials full of the wrath of God which liueth for euermore.

8 And the temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and 14 no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seuen plagues of the seuen Angels were fulfilled.

1 This is that other place of the acts of Christ, as I noted before 14. 14. Now therefore is shewed a figular worke of the iudgement of God belonging to the ouerthrow of Antichrist and his forces, of which diuine worke the preparation is described in this Chapter: and the execution in the next. The preparation is first set downe generally and in type in this verse: and is after particularly set foorth in the rest of the Chapter.

2 Of which Chap. 8, 9 in powring forth in the plagues of the world: for euen these plagues doe for the most part agree with those.

3 There are two parts of the narration: one he confession of the Saints glorifying God, when they saw that preparation of the iudgements of God, vnto the 4. verse: another the vocation, instruction, and confirmation which God hath ordained for the execution of his iudgements in 4. other verses.

4 This part of the vision alludeth vnto the sea or large vessel of brasse in which the Priester washed themselues in the enterance of the Temple: for in the enterance of the heauenly Temple (as it is called verse 5.) is said to haue bene a sea of glasse, most lightsome and cleare, vnto the commoditie of choise mixt with fire, that is, as containing the treasurie of the iudgements of God, which he bringeth foorth and dispenseth according to his owne pleasure: for out of the former, the Priests were cleansed of old: and out of this the vngodly are destroyed now chap. 4. 6. 5 That is the Godly martyrs of Christ, who shall not giue place euen in miracles vnto that beast: of these see before Chap. 13. 17. and 14. 9, 10. 6 Glorified God, from the particular obseruation of the weapons and instruments of Gods wrath, flooting in he sea of glasse. 7 That song of triumph which is Exo. 15. 2. a So is Moses called, for honours sake, as it is set forth. Deut. 34 10. 8 This song hath two parts, one a confession, but particular in this verse, and generall in the beginning of the next verse: another, a narration of causes belonging to the confession, whereof one kind is eternall in it selfe, and most present vnto the godly in that God is both holy, and all one God, another kind is future and to come in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones and vnbeleeuing: as Chap. 11. 2.) were to be brought vnto the same state of happinesse by the magnificencie of the iudgement of God in the next verse * Psal 145. 17. b 7 hys doing. * Ier. 10, 7. 9 The second part of the narration (as was not verse 2.) wherein first the authoritie of the whole argument & matter thereof is figured by a forerunning type of a temple opened in heauen, as Chap. 11. 19. namely that all those things are diuine and of God, that proceede from thence, in this verse. Secondly, the administers or executers, come forth out of the Temple, verse 6. Thirdly, they are furnished with instruments of the iudgements of God and weapons fit for the manner of the same iudgement, verse 7. Finally, they are confirmed by testimonie of the visible glory of God, in the last verse. A like testimonie wherevnto was exhibited of old in the law. Exod. 40, 34. 10 That is, commandements to inflict those seuen plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymia. 11 Which was in old time a figure of the kingly or princely dignitie. 12 That is, girding was a signe of diligence, and the girdle of gold was a signe of sincerity, and truthines in taking in charge the commandements of God. 13 Of these before, Chap. 4. 7. 14 None of those seuen Angels might returne, till he had performed fully the charge committed vnto him according to the decree of God.

CHAP. XVI.

1 And 17 the Angels powre out the seuen vials of Gods wrath giuen vnto them, and so diuers plagues arise in the world, 18 to terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great citie.

1 And

1 In the former Chapter was ſet downe the preparation vnto the work of God: here is delivered the execution thereof. And in this diſcourſe of the execution, is a generall commandement, in this verſe: then a particular recitall in order of the execution done by every of the ſeven Angels, in the reſt of the chapter. This ſpeciall execution againſt Antichriſt and his crew, doeth in maner agree vnto that which was generally done vpon the whole world, chap. 8 and 9 & belongeth (if my conjecture faile me not) vnto the ſame time. Yet herein they doe differ one from another. that this was particularly effected vpon the Princes and ringleaders of the wickednesſe of the world, the other generally againſt the whole world being wicked. And therefore theſe iudgements are figured more grieuous then thoſe.

2 The hiſtory of the firſt Angel, whoſe plague vpon the earth is deſcribed almoſt in the ſame words with that fixt plague of the Egyptians. Exod 9.9. But it doeth ſignifie a ſpirituall vlcer, and that torture or butcherie of conſcience feared with an hote yron, which accuſeth the vngodly within and both by truth of the word (the light whereof God hath now ſo long ſhewed forth) & by bitternes ſtirreth vp and forceth out the ſword of Gods wrath.

3 See chap. 13.16. 4 The hiſtory of the ſecond Angel who troubleth and moleſteth the ſeas, that he may ſtirre vp the conſcience of men ſleeping in their wickednes. See Chap. 8.8. a It was turned into rotten & filthy blood, ſuch as is in dead bodies.

5 The hiſtory of the third Angel ſtriking the rivers, in this verſe, who proclaiming the iuſtice of God, commendeth the ſame by a moſt grave compariſon of the ſinners of men with the puniſhment of God: which is common to this place, & that which went before. Wherefore alſo this praiſing is attributed to the Angel of the waters, a name common to the ſecond and third Angel according as both of them are ſaid to be ſent againſt the waters, all be it, the one of the ſea the other of the rivers, in two verſes. 6 A confirmation of the praiſe before going, out of the ſanctuary of God, whether immediatly by Chriſt, or by ſome of his Angels for Chriſt alſo is called another Angel, Chap 7.2 3.8 & 12.1. 7 The hiſtorie of the fourth Angel, who throweth the plague vpon the heaven and vpon the Sun, of which Luk. 21.26. the effects whereof are noted two. The one peculiar, that it ſhall ſcorch men with heat in this verſe. The other proceeding accidentally from the former, that their furie ſhall ſo much the more be enraged againſt God in the next verſe, when yet (O wonderfull mercy & patience of God) al other creatures are firſt ſtriken often & grieuouſly by the hand of God before mankind by whom he is provoked: as the things before going do declare. 8 The ſtory of the firſt Angel, who ſtriketh the kingdom of the beaſt with two plagues abroad with darkenes, within with byles and dolours moſt grievous, throughout his whole kingdome, that thereby he might wound the conſcience of the wicked, and puniſh that moſt perverſe obſtinacie of the idolaters, whereof aroſe perturbation, and thence a furious indignation and deſperate madnes, raging againſt God and hurtfull vnto it ſelfe. 9 The ſtory of the fixt Angel, divided into his act, and the event thereof The act is, that the Angel did caſt out of his mouth the plague of a moſt glowing heat wherewith even the greateſt floods, and which moſt were wont to ſwell & overflow (as Euphrates) were dried vp by the counſell of God in this verſe. The event is, that the meere madnes wherewith the wicked are enraged, that they may ſcorne the iudgements of God, and abuſe them furiouſly to ſerve their owne turne, & ſo the executing of their owne wiked outrage.

10 The bound of the ſpirituall Babylon, and to the fortreſſes of the ſame Chap. 9.14.

11 So the Church of the vngodly and kingdom of the beaſt is ſaid to be left naked, all the defences whereof, in which they put their truſt, being taken away from it.

12 That is, that even they which dwell furtheſt off, may with more commodity make haſte vnto that ſacrifice which the Lord hath appointed,

A Nd 1 I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, ſaying to the ſeven Angels, Goe your waves, and powre out the ſeven vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

2 2 And the firſt went and powred out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noyſome & a grievous ſore vpon ſ men which had the 3 marke of the beaſt, and vpon them which worſhipped his image.

3 4 And the ſecond Angel powred out his viall vpon the ſea, and it 4 became as the blood of a dead man: and every living thing died in the ſea.

4 5 And the third Angel powred out his viall vpon the rivers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters ſay, Lord, Thou art iuſt, which art, and Which waſt: and Holy, becauſe thou haſt iudged theſe things.

6 For they ſhed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therfore haſt thou given them blood to drinke: for they are worthy.

7 6 And I heard another out of the Sanctuary ſay, Even ſo, Lord God almighty, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

8 7 And the fourth Angel powred out his viall on the ſunne, and it was given to him to torment men with heate of fire.

9 And men boyled in great heat, and blaſphemed the Name of God, which hath power over theſe plagues, and they repented not to give him glory.

10 8 And the fifth Angel powred out his viall vpon ſ throne of the beaſt, and the kingdom waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for ſorow.

11 And blaſphemed the God of heaven for their paines, and for their ſores, and repented not of their workes.

12 9 And the ſixt Angel powred out his viall vpon the great river 10 Euphrates, and the 11 water thereof dried vp, 12 that the way of the Kings of the Eaſt ſhould be prepared.

13 And I ſaw 13 three vncleane ſpirits 14 like frogs come out of the mouth of that 15 dragon, and out of the mouth of that 16 beaſt, and out of the mouth of that 17 falſe prophet.

14 For they are the ſpirits of devils, working miracles, to goe vnto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God almightie.

15 18 (* Behold, I come as a thiefe. Bleſſed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, leaſt he walke naked, and men ſee his filthineſſe.)

16 19 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew, 20 Armagedon.

17 21 And the ſeventh Angel powred out his viall into the 22 aire: and there came a loud voyce out of the Temple of heaven from 23 the throne, ſaying, 24 It is done.

18 25 And there was voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, ſuch as was not ſince men were vpon the earth, even ſo mightie an earthquake.

19 26 And the great citie was divided into three parts: and the cities of the nations 27 fell: and that great 28 Babylon came in remembrance before God, * to give vnto her the cuppe of the wine of the fiercenеſſe of his wrath.

20 And every yle fled away, and the mountaines 29 were not b found.

21 30 And there fell a great haile, like c talents out of heaven vpon the men, and men blaſphemed God, becauſe of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

13 That is every of them bent their whole force and conſpired har by wonders, word and worke, they might bring into the ſame deſtruction all Kings, Princes and Potentates of the world curſedly bewitched of them by their ſpirits and teachers of th vanity and impurity of the beaſt that committed fornication with the kings of the earth. And his is a righ deſcription of our times.

14 Croking with all importunity, and continually day and night provoking and calling foorth to armes, as the trumpets and furies of warres: as is declared in the next verſe.

15 That is, the devil, as chap. 12.3.

16 Whereof chap. 13.1.

17 That is, of that other beaſt of which chap 13.1. for ſo he is called alſo chap. 19,20. and 20,10.

18 A parentheſis for admonitiō in which God warneth his holy ſervants who reſt in the expectation of Chriſt, alwayes to addreſſe their minds vnto his comming, and to looke vnto themſelves, that they be not ſhamefully made naked and circumvented of theſe vncleane ſpirits, and ſo they be miſerable vnprepared at the comming of their Lord. Mat. 24.26. & 25.13. Chap. 3.3. mat. 24.44. Luk 12.39. 19 Namely the Angel, who holily according to the commaundement of God was to do ſacrifice: notwithſtanding that thoſe impure ſpirits do the ſame wickedly as ſervants not vnto God, but vnto that beaſt that hath ſeven heads. 20 That is (to ſay nothing of other expoſitions) the mountaines it ſelfe, or mountaine places of Megiddon. Now it is certaine by the holy Scripture that Megiddon is a city and territory in the tribe of Manaſſes, bordering vpon Iſſacar & Aſſer, and was made famous by that lamentable overthrow of king Joſias, whereof 2. Reg. 22,30. and 2. Chron. 35.22. and Zach. 12,11. In this mountaine countrey God ſaith by figure and type, that the kings of the peoples which ſerve the beaſt ſhal meet together: becauſe the Gentiles did alwayes caſt that lamentable overthrow in the teeth of the Church of the Iewes vnto their great reproach: and therefore were perſwaded that that place ſhould be moſt fortunate vnto them (as they ſpeake) and vnfortunate vnto the godly: but God heere pronounceth, that that reproach of the Church, and confidence of the vngodly, ſhall by himſelfe be taken away, in the ſelfe ſame places where the nations perſwaded themſelves, they ſhould mightily exſult & triumph againſt God and his Church. 21 The ſtory of the ſeventh Angel vnto the end of the Chapter, in which firſt is ſhewed by figure and ſpeach, the argument of this plague, in this verſe: and then is declared the execution hereof in the verſes following. 22 From whence he might moove the heaven above and the earth beneath. 23 That is, from him that ſitteth on the throne, by the figure called Metonymia. 24 That is, Babylon is vndone, as is ſhewed ver. 16. & in the Chapters following. For the firſt onſet (as I might ſay) of this denunciation, is deſcribed in this Chapter: and the laſt containing a perfect victory is diſcribed in thoſe that follow. 25 Now is declared the execution (as is ſaid in ver. 27) and the things that ſhall laſt come to paſſe in heaven and in earth, before the overthrow of the beaſt of Babylon: both generally, verſ. 18. and particularly in the curſed citie, and ſuch as have any familiaritie therewith, in the 3 laſt verſes. 26 That ſeat or ſtanding place of Antichriſt. 27 Of all ſuch aſcleave vnto Antichriſt, and fight againſt Chriſt. 28 That harlot, of whom in the Chapter next following. Now this phraſe, to come into remembrance is after the common vſe of the Hebrew ſpeech, but borowed from men, attributed vnto God. * Iere. 25.15. 29 That is, were ſeene no more, or were no more extant. CHAP. XVII.

1 That great whore is deſcribed, 2 with whom the Kings of the earth commit ed fornication. 6 She is drunken with the blood of Saints. 7 The myſterie of the woman, and the beaſt that car'ed her, expounded. 11 Their deſtruction. 14 The Lambs victory.

Then

1 The state of the Church militant being declared, now followeth the state of the Church overcomming and getting victorie, as I shewed before in the beginning of the 10. chapter. The state is set forth in 4. chapters. As in the place before going I noted, that in that historie the order of times was not alwayes exactly observed, so the same is to be understood in this history, that it is distinguished according to the persons of which it treateth, and that in the severall stories of the persons is severally observed in the time thereof. For first is delivered the story of Babylon destroyed, in this & the next chap. (for this Babylon out of all doubt shall perish before the

THen 1 there came one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shew 2 thee the a damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters,

2 With whom have committed fornication the kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 3 So he caried me away into the wildernes in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sit vpon a b scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemie, which had seven heads, and ten hornes.

4 And 4 the woman was arrayed 5 in purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles, 6 and had a cup of gold in her hand full of abomination, and filthinesse of her fornication.

5 7 And in her forehead was a name written, A mystery, 8 that great Babylon that mother of whoredomes, and abominations of the earth.

6 9 And I saw the woman drinken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of IESVS: and when I saw her, 10 I wondered with great marvell.

7 11 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Wherefore marveilest thou? I will shew thee the mystery of that woman, and of that beast that beareth her, which hath seven heads and ten hornes.

8 12 The beast that thou hast seene, 13 was, and is not, and 14 shall ascend out of the bottomlesse pit, and shall go into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of the world) 15 when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

9 16 Here is the minde that hath wisedome, The c seven heads 17 are seven mountaines, whereon the woman sitteth: 18 they are also seven Kings.

10 19 Five are fallen, 20 and one is, 21 and another is not yet come: and when he commeth, he must continue a short space.

11 22 And the beast that was, and is not, is even 23 the eight, and is 24 one of the seven, 25 and shall goe into destruction.

12 26 And the ten hornes which thou saweſt,

2 beasts & the Dragon.) Secondly is delivered the destruction of both the two beasts. c. 19. And lastly of the Dragon. c. 20. in the story of the spirituall Babylon are distinctly set forth the state thereof in this chap. and the overthrow done from God, chap. 18. In this verse and that which followeth is a transition or passage vnto the first argument, consisting of a particular calling of the Prophet (as often heretofore) and a generall proposition. 2 That is, the damnable harlot, by a figure called hypallage. For S. John as yet had not seene her. Although another interpretation may be borne, yet I like this better.

a The sentence that is pronounced against this harlot. 3 Henceforth is propounded the type of Babylon, and the state thereof in 4 verses. After a declaration of the type, in the rest of this chap. in the type are described two things, the beast (of whom chap. 13.) in the 3. verse, and, the woman that sitteth vpon the beast, verse 4, 5, 6. The beast in procesſe of time hath gotten some wath more then was expressed in the former vision. First in that it is not read before that he was appeatelled in scarlet, a robe imperiall and of triumph. Secondly, in that this is full of names of blasphemy: the other carried the name of blasphemy only in his head. So God did teach that this beast is much increased in impiety and iniustice, and doeth in this last age, triumph in both these more insolently and proudly then euer before.

b A scarlet colour, that is, with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergie were so much delighted with this colour. 4 That harlot, the spirituall Babylon, which is Rome. She is described by her attire, profession and deeds. 5 In attire most glorious, triumphant, most rich, and most gorgious. 6 In profession, the nourisher of all. in this verse, and teaching her mysteries vnto all, verſ. 5. setting forth all things most magnificently: but indeed most pernicious befotting miserable men with her cup, and bringing vpon them a deadly giddines. 7 Deceiving with the title of religion, and publike inscription of mystery: which the beast in times past did not beare.

8 An expositon: in which S. John declareth what maner of woman this is. 9 In maner of deeds: She is red with blood, and shedded it most licentiously, and therefore is coloured with the blood of the Saints, as on the contrary part, Christ is set forth imbrued with the blood of his enemies, Esa. 3. 1. 10 A passage vnto the second part of this chapter, by occasion giuen of S. Iohn, as the words of the Angel do shew, in the next verse. 11 The second part or place. as I said verſ. 1. The enarration of the vision, promised in this verse, and deliuered in the verse following. Now there is deliuered first an enarration of the beast, and his story, vnto the 14 verse. After, of the harlot, vnto the end of the chap. 12 The story of the beast hath a triple description of him. The first is a distinction of this beast from all that euer bath bene at any time: which distinction is contained in this verse: The second is a delineation or painting out of the beast by things present, by which he might euen at that time be knowen of the godly, and this delineation is according to his heads. verſ. 9. 10, 11. The third is an historicall foretelling of things to come, and to be done by him: and these are ascribed vnto his hornes, verſ 12, 13, 14. This beast is not Empire of Rome, of which I spake chap. 13, 1. according to the mutations and changes whereof which then had already happened, the holy Ghoſt hath distinguished and set out the same. The Apostle distinguisheth this beast from all others in these words, The beast which thou saweſt, was and is not. For so I expound the words of the Apostle for euidency sake, as I will further declare in the notes following. 13 The meaning is, that beast which thou saweſt before (chap. 13. 1.) and which yet thou hast now seene, was, (I say was) euen from Iulius Cæsar in respect of beginning, rising vp, station, glory, dominion, maner and stock, from the house of Iulius, and yet is not now the same, if thou looke vnto the house and stocke: for the dominion of this family was translated vnto another, after the death of Nero, from the other vnto a third, from a third vnto a fourth, and so forth, was varied and altered by innumerable changes. Finally the Empire is one, as it were one beast: but exceedingly varied by kinreds, families and persons. It was therefore (saith S. John) in the kinred or house of Iulius: and now it is not in that kinred, but translated vnto another.

14 As if hee should say, Also the same that is, shall shortly not be: but shall ascend out of the depth, or out of the sea (as was said, cha. 13, 1.) that is, shall be a new stock from amongst the nations without difference, and shall in the same state goe vnto destruction or ruine, and perish: and so shall successively new Princes or Emperours come and goe, raise and fall, the body of the beast remaining still, but tossed with so many and often alterations, as no man can but marveile that this beast was able to stand and hold out, in so many mutations. Verily no Empire that ever was tossed with so many changes, and as it were with so many tempests of the sea, ever continued so long. 15 That is as many as have not learned the providence of God, according to the faith of the Saints, shall marvel at these grievous and often changes when they shall consider, the selfe same beast, which is the Romane Empire, to have bin, not to be, and to be and still molested with perpetuall mutation, and yet in the same to stand and continue. This in mine opinion is the most simple exposition of this place, confirmed by the event of the things themselves. Although the last change also, by which the Empire, that before was civill became Ecclesiasticall, is not obscurely signified in these words: of which two, the first exercised cruelty vpon the bodies of the Saints: the other also vpon their soules; the first by humane order and policie, the other vnder the colour of the law of God, and of Religion, raged & imbrued it selfe with the blood of the godly. 16 An exhortation preparing vnto audience, by the same argument, with that of Christ: He that hath eares to hear, let him heare. Wherefore, for mine owne part. I had rather read in this place, Let there be here a minde, &c. So the Angel passeth fully vnto the second place of this description. c Very children know what that seven hilled citie is, which is so much spoken of, and whereof Virgil thus reporteth. And compasseth seven towres in one wall: that citie it is, which when Iohn wrote these things had rule ouer the kings of the earth: It was, and is not, and yet it remaineth this day, but it is declining to destruction. 17 This is the painting out of the beast by things present (as I said before) whereby S. Iohn endevoured to describe the same, that he might both be knowen of the godly in that age, and be further observed and marked of posteritie afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent from the nature of it selfe, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hils, in this verse, the other that fleeteth, is from the seven kings, verse 10, 11. And here it is worthy to be observed, that one type bath sometimes two or more applications, as seemeth good vnto the holy Ghoſt to expresse either one thing by divers types, or divers things by one type. So I noted before, of the seven spirits c. 1, 4. Now this woman that sitteth vpon seven hils, is the citie of Rome, called in times past of the Grecians ἑπτάλοφος, i. of seven tops or creasts, and of Varro septiceps, i. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads. and of others septicollis. i. standing vpon seven hils. 18 The beginning of these Kings or Emperours is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I shewed before chap. 11. 1. Namely from the yeere 35. after the passion of Christ, what time the Temple and Church of the Iewes was overthrowen. In which yeere it came to passe by the providence of God that that saying, The beast was and is not, was fulfilled before that the destruction the Iewes immediatly following came to passe. That was the yeere from the building of the city of Rome 809. from which yeere S. Iohn both numbred the Emperours which hitherto had bene, when he wrote these things, and foretelleth of other next to come: and that with this purpose, that when this particular prediction or foretelling of things to come, should take effect the trueth of all other predictions in the Church, might be the more confirmed. Which signe God of old mentioned in the Law, Deut. 18. and Ieremie confirmeth chap 28. 8. 19 Whose name are these: the first Servius Sulpitius Galba, who was the seventh Emperor of the people of Rome, the second Marcus Salvius Otho, the third Aulus Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flavius Vespasianus, the fifth, Titus Vespasianus his sonne of his owne name. 20 Flavius Domician sonne of the first Vespasian. For in the latter end of his dayes S. John wrote these things: as witnesseth Irenæus Lib. 5. adversus hæreses. 21 Nerua, The Empire being now translated from the family of Flavius. This man reigned onely one yeere, foure moneths, and nine dayes, as the history writers do tell. 22 This is spoken by the figure synecdoche, as much to say, as that head of the beast which was and is not, because it is cut off, and Nerua in so short time extinguished. How many heads there were, so many beast there seemed to be in one. See the like speech in the 3. verse of the 13 chap. 23 Nerua Traianus, who himself in divers respects is called here the seventh and eight. 24 Though in number and order of succession hee be the eighth, yet he is reckoned together with one of these heads, because Nerua and he were one head. For this man obtained authoritie together with Nerua, and was Consul with him, when Nerua left his life. 25 Namely to molest with persecutions the Church of Christ, as the histories do accord, and I have briefly noted chap. 2, 10. 26 The third place of this description as I said verſe 8. is a prophetical prediction of things to come which the beast should doe, as in the words following S. John doeth not obscurely signifie, saying, which have not yet received the kingdome, &c. For there is an Antithesis or opposition, betweene these kings, and those that went before. And first, the persons are described, in this verse, then their deeds in the two verses following.

are 27 ten kings, which yet have not receiued a kingdome, but shall receiue power, as Kings 28 at one houre with the beast.

13 29 These haue one minde, and shall giue their power and authoritie vnto the beast.

14 These shall fight with the 30 Lambe, and the Lambe shall ouercome them: * for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side, called, and chosen, and faithfull.

15 31 And he sayd vnto me, The waters which thou saweſt, where the whore sitteth, 32 are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the ten 33 hornes which thou saweſt vpon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate, and naked, and shall eate her flesh, and burne her with fire.

17 34 For God hath put in their hearts to fulfil his will, and to doe with one consent for to giue their kingdome vnto the beast, vntill the words of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou saweſt, is that 35 great citie which reigned ouer the kings of the earth.

27 That is, arising with their kingdomes out of the Romane beast: at such time as that politicall Empire began by the craft of the Popes greatly to fall.

28 Namely, with the second beast whom we called before a false prophet, which beast, ascending out of the earth got vnto himselfe all the authoritie and power of the first beast, and exerciseth the same before his face, as was sayd Chapter 4. 11.

29 For when the politicall Empire of the West began to bowe downewards, there both arose those ten Kings, and the second beast tooke the opportunitie offered to vsurpe vnto himselfe all the power of the former beast. These kings long ago, many haue numbred and described to be ten and a great part of the euents plainely testifieth the same in this our age. 29 That is, by consent and agreement, that they may conspire with the beast, and depend vpon his becke. Their store is diuided into three parts, counsels, actes, and euents. The counsellers some of them consist in communicating of iudgements and affections: and some in communicating of power which they are said to haue giuen vnto this beast in this verse. 30 With Christ and his Church, as the reason following doeth declare, and here are mentioned the factes and the euents which followed for Christ his sake, and for the grace of God the Father towards those, that are called, elected, and are his faithfull ones in Christ. * Chap. 19. 16. 1. tim. 6, 15.

31 This is the other member of the enarration, as I said verse 7. belonging vnto the harlot, shewed in the vision verse 3. In this historie of the harlot, these 3. things are distinctly propounded, what is her magnificence in this verse, what is her fall, and by whom it shall happen vnto her, in the two verses following: and lastly, who that harlot is, in the last verse. This place which by order of nature should haue bene the first, is therefore made the last, because it was more fit to bee ioyned with the next Chap. 32 That is, as vnconstant and variable as are the waters. Vpon this foundation sitteth this harlot as Queene, a vaine person vpon that which is vaine.

33 The ten Kings as verse 12. The accomplishment of this fact and euent, is dayly increased in this our age by the singular prouidence and most mighty government of God. Wherefore the facts are propounded in this verse, and the cause of them in the verses following. 34 A reason rendred from the chiefe efficient cause, which is the prouidence of God, by which alone S. John by inversion of order affirmeth to haue come to passe, both that the Kings should execute vpon the harlot, that which pleased God, and which hee declared in the verse next before going: and also that by one consent and counsell they should giue their kingdome vnto the beast &c. verse 13. 14. For as these being blinded haue before depended vpon the becke of the beast that liſteth vp the harlot, so it is said that afterward it shall come to passe, that they shall turne backe, and shall fall away from her, when their hearts shall bee turned into better state by the grace and mercy of God. 35 That is, Rome that greate Citie, or onely Citie (as Iustinian calleth it) the King and head whereof was then the Emperour, but now the Pope, since that the condition of the beast was changed.

CHAP. XVIII.

a The horrible destruction of Babylon set out, 11. 16. 18. The merchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriousnesse of it, weepe and waile: 20 but all the elect reioyce for that iust vengeance of God.

1 The second place (as I sayd before 17. 1.) of the history of Babylon, is of the woefull fall and ruine of that whore of Babylon. This historicall prediction concerning her, is three-fold. The first a plaine and simple foretelling of her ruine in three verses, the second a figuratiue prediction by the circumstances, thence vnto the 20. verse. The third, a confirmation of the same by signe or wonder, vnto the end of the Chapter. 2 Either Christ the eternall word of God the Father (as often elsewhere) or a created Angel, and one deputed vnto this seruice: but throughly furnished with greatnesse of power, and with light of glory, & the ensigne of power. 3 The prediction or foreshewing of her ruine, conteining both the fall of Babylon in this verse, and the cause thereof vttered by way of allegory concerning her spirituall and carnall wickednesse, that is, her most great impietie and vniustice in the next verse: her fall is first simply declared of the Angel: and then the greatnesse thereof is shewed heere by the euents. when hee sayth it shall bee the seate and habitation of deuils, of wilde beastes and of cursed soules, as of old Esay. 13, 21. and often elsewhere. + Chap. 13, 8. esay 21, 9. Iere. 51, 8.

1 ANd after these things, I saw another 2 Angel come down from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory,

2 And hee cryed out mightily with a loude voyce, 3 saying, * It is fallen, it as fallen, Babylon that great citty, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the hold of all foule spirits, and a cage of euery vncleane and hatefull bird.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath for her fornication, and the kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 4 And I heard an other voice from heaven say, 5 Go out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sinnes, & that ye receiue not of her plagues:

5 For her sinnes are a come vp into heaven, and God hath remembred her iniquities.

6 7 Reward her, even as shee hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her works: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 In as much as she glorified her self, and liued in pleasure, so much giue ye to her torment & sorow: for she saith b in her heart, I sit being a queen, and am c no widow, and shall d see no mourning.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at e one day, death, and sorow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord,

9 And the 8 kings of the earth shall bewaile her, and lament for her, which have committed fornication, and liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

10 And shall stand afarre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 9 And the merchants of the earth shall weepe and waile ouer her: for no man buyeth their ware any more.

12 The ware of gold, and siluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and of skarlet, and of all maner of Thyne wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble,

13 And of cinamon, and odours, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and beasts, and sheepe, and horses, and charets, and seruants, and soules of men.

14 (10 And the f apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more.)

15 The merchants of these things which were waxed rich, shall stand a farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wayling.

4 The second prediction, which is of the circumstances of the ruine of Babylon: of these there are two kindes: one going before it: as that before hand the godly are deliuered vnto the ninth verse: the other following vpon her ruine, namely the lamentation of the wicked and reioycing of the godly, vnto the twentieth verse.

5 Two circumstances going before the ruine, are commanded in this place: one is, that the godly depart out of Babylon: as I mentioned, chapter 12. 20. have bene done in time past, before the destruction of Ierusalem: this charge is given here, and in the next verse. The other is, that euery one of them occupy themselues in their owne places in executing the iudgement of God, as it was commanded the Leuites of old Exod. 32. 27. and that they sanctifie their hands vnto the Lord, verse 6. 7. 8.

6 Of his commandement there are two causes to auoid the contagion of sinne, and to shun the participation of these punishments that bee long therevnto.

a He vseth a word which signifieth the following of sins one after another, and rising one another in such sort that they grow at length to such an heape that they came vp even to heauen.

7 The pronuncation of the godly, and the commandement of executing the iudgements of God, stand vpon three causes which are here expressed: the vniust-wickednes of the whore of Babylon, in this verse her cursed pride opposing it selfe against God, which is the fountaine of all euill actions, vers. 7. and her most iust damnation by the sentence of God, vers. 8. b With her selfe alone. c I am full of people and mightie. d I shall taste of none. e Shortly and at one instant. 8 The circumstances following the fall of Babylon, or the consequents thereof (as I distinguished them, vers. 4.) are two. Namely the lamentation of the wicked vnto the 19. verse: and the reioycing of the godly, verse 20. This most sorrowfull lamentation, according to the persons of them that lament, hath three members, the first whereof is the mourning of the kings and mightie men of the earth, in two verses. The second is, the lamentation of the merchants that traffike by land thence vnto the 16. vers. The third is the wailing of those that merchandise by sea, vers. 16. 17. 18. In euery of these the cause and maner of their mourning is described in order, according to y condition of those y mourne with obseruation of that which best agreeth vnto them. 9 The lamentation of those that trade by land, as I distinguished immediately before. 10 An apostrophe or turning of the speach by imitation, vsed for more vehemencie, as if those merchants, after the manner of mourners should in passionate speech speake vnto Babylon, though now vtterly fallen and ouerthrowen. So Esai. 22. 9. and in many other places. f By this is meant that season which is next before the full of the leafe, as what season fruits ripen, and the word signifieth such fruits as are longed for.

16 And

16 And saying, Alas, alas that great citie, that was cloathed in fine linnen and purple, and skarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles.

17 11 For in one houre so great riches are come to desolation. And euery shipmaster, and all the people that occupie ships and shipman, and whosoeuer traffike on the sea, shall stand a farre off.

18 And cry, when they see the smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great city!

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wayling, and say, Alas, alas that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her costlines: for in one houre she is made desolate.

20 12 O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her, to be reuenged on her for your sakes.

21 13 Then a mighty Angel tooke vp a stone, like a great millstone, * and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great city Babylon be cast and shall be found no more.

22 14 And the voyce of harpers, and musicians and of pipers, and trumpetters shall bee heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whosoeuer craft he bee, shallbe found any more in thee: and the sound of a millstone shallbe heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee, and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride shallbe heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantment were deceiued all nations.

24 And in her was found the 15 blood of the Prophets 16 and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

11 The manner of mourning vsed by them that trade by sea.

12 The other consequent vnto the other ruine of Babylon, is the exaltation or reioycing of the godly in heauen and in earth, as was noted, verse 9.

13 The third prediction, as I said verse 1. standing of a signe, and the interpretation thereof: the interpretation thereof is in 2 sorts, first by a simple propounding of the thing it selfe, in this verse, and then by declaration of the euents in the verses following.

* Iere. 51.63.

14 The euents are two, theone of them opposite vnto the other for amplification sake. There shallbe, saith he, in Babylon no mirth nor ioy at all, in this and the next verse, but all heavy and lamentable things from the bloody slaughters of the righteous and the vengeance of God comming vpon it for the same. 15 That is, shed by bloody massacres and calling for vengance. 16 That is, prooued and found out, as if God had appointed a iust enquirie, concerning the impietie, vnnaturalnesse and vniustice of those men.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The heauenly company praise God for auenging the blood of his seruants on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lambes supper. 10 The Angell will not bee worshipped. 11 That mighty King of Kings appeareth from heauen. 19 The battell, 20 wherein the beast is taken, 21 and cast into the burning lake.

AND 1 after these things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, saying, a 2 Hallelu-iah, salvation, and glory, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for hee hath condemned the great whore which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shed by her hand.

3 And againe they said, 3 Halleluiah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.

4 And the foure and twenty Elders, and the foure beast fell downe, and worshipped God that sate on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

5 4 Then a voyce came out of the 5 throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his seruants, and yee that feare him, both small and great.

6 And I heard 6 like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of strong thundrings, saying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that Almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let vs bee glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of the Lambe is come, and his wife hath made 7 her selfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that shee should be arayed with 8 pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine 9 linnen is the b righteousnesse of Saints.

9 10 Then he said vnto me, Write, * Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambs supper. And he said vnto me, These words of God are true.

10 11 And I fell before his feet, * to worship him, but he said vnto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellow-seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the testimony of Iesus, Worship God: for the testimony of a Iesus is the Spirit of prophesie.

11 12 And I saw 13 heauen open, and behold a white horse, and he that sate vpon him was called faithfull and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and hee had a name written, that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And hee was cloathed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name was called, THE WORD OF GOD.

14 14 And the hoastes which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, cloathed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall * rule them with a rod of yron, for he it is that treadeth the wine presse of the fiercenes and wrath of Almighty God.

16 16 And he hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh, a name written, * THE KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 17 And I saw an Angel stand in the 18 sunne who cryed with a loud voyce, saying to all the foules that did flie by 19 the mids of heauē, Come,

4 The second place of praise as I said verse 1. which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is is most auaple maner pronounced of the creatures, both because they see that Kingdom of Christ to come, which most they desire, verse 5. also because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the house of her husband by holy mariage vnto the fellowship of his kingdom, verse 7.8. Wherefore S. Iohn is commanded to write in a booke the Epiphoema, or acclamation ioyned with a diuine testimony verse 9.

5 Out of the Temple from God, as 11.19.

6 Without the Temple in heauen.

7 Namely vnto that holy mariage both her selfe in person in this verse and also furnished of her spouse with marriage gifts princely and diuine is adorned and prepared in the next verse.

8 As an ensigne of Kingly and priestly dignitie: which dignitie Christ bestoweth vpon vs, Chap. 1.6.

9 This is a gift giuen by the husband for marriage sake and a most choice ornament, which Christ bestoweth vpon vs, as vpon his spouse. b Good workes which are liuely testimonies of faith. * Matth. 22.2. 10 Namely the Angel, as appeareth by the next verse. 10 The particular historie of this verse is brought in by occasion, and as it were besides the purpose, that Saint Iohn might make a publike example of his owne infirmitie, and of the modest sanctimonie of the Angel, who hath renounced for himselfe the diuine honours, an recalled all the seruants of God, vnto the worship of him alone: as also 22.8. * Chap. 22.8. c Which are commanded to beare Witnesse of Iesus. d For Iesus is the marke that all the prophesies shoot at.

1 This chapter hath in sumine two parts, one transitory or of passage vnto the things that follow vnto the 10. verse, another historical of the victorie of Christ gotten against both the beastes vnto the end of the chapter, which I sayd was the second historie of this argument, chap 17.1. The transition hath two places, one of praising God for the ouerthrow done vnto Babylon in 4 verses, and another likewise of praise, and Propheticall, for the comming of Christ vnto his kingdome, and his most royall marriage with his Church, thence vnto the tenth verse. The former praise hath three branches, distinguished after the ancient maner of those that sing: ἀφορμαὶ εἰς, that is, an inuitation or prouokement in two verses, ἀπόκρισις, a response or answere in the third verse, and συνῳδία, a close or ioyning together in harmonie: all which I thought good of purpose to distinguished in this place, lest any man should with Porphyrius, or other like dogs, obiect to Saint Iohn of the heauenly Church, a childish and ridiculous repetition of speech. 2 Praise the Lord. 3 The proposition of praise with exhortation in this verse, and the cause thereof, in the next verse. 3 The song of the Antiphonie or response, containing an amplification of the praise of God, from the perpetuall and most certaine testimony of his diuine iudgement as was done at Sodome and Gomorrah, Gen. 19.

12 The second place of praise is propounced of the Saints, both because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the house of her husband by holy mariage vnto the fellowship of his kingdom, verse 7.8. Wherefore S. Iohn is commanded to write in a booke the Epiphoema, or acclamation ioyned with a diuine testimony verse 9.

13 Properties belonging to his person that hee is heauenly, iudge, faithfull, true, iust, in this verse, searching out all things, ruling ouer all, to bee searched out of none, verse. 12. the trumpet, and the very essentiall worde of God. verse 13. 14 The company or retinue of Christ, holy, innumerable, heauenly, iudiciall, royall and pure. 15 The effects of Christ prepared vnto battell, that with his mouth hee striketh the Gentiles, ruleth and destroyeth. * Psalme 2, 9. 16 The name agreeing vnto Christ according to the former properties, expressed after the manner of the Hebrewes.

* Chap. 17.14. *1.tim.*6.15. 17 The second member as I sayde verse 17. A reprochfull calling forth of his enemies vnto battell: in which not themselves (for why should they be called foorth of the king of the world, or prouoked being his subiects? for that were not comely) but to their hearing, the birds of the ayre are called to eate their carkasses. 18 That is openly, and in sight of all, as Numb. 25.4. and 2. 19 20 And I ſaw the beaſt, and the kings of the earth, and their hoaſts gathered together to make battell againſt him that ſate on the horſe, and againſt his armie.

20 But the beaſt 21 was taken, and with him 22 that falſe Prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued the beaſts marke, and them that worſhipped his image. Theſe both were aliue caſt into a lake of fire burning with brimſtone.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thouſand yeeres. 8 Being looſed, he ſtirreth vp Gog and Magog, that is, priuie and open enemies againſt the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lord cutting off their inſolencie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

1 Now followeth the 3 place of the prophecall hiſtorie, which is of the victory whereby Chriſt ouercame the dragon, as I noted Chap. 7. 1. This place moſt neceſſarily bee ioyned with the ende of the 12. chapter and be applied vnto the iuſt vnderſtanding thereof. This chapter hath two parts: one of the dragon ouercome, vnto the 10. verſe, the other of the reſurrection and laſt iudgement vnto the end of the chapter.

AND 1 I ſaw an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key 2 of the bottomleſſe pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And he tooke the dragon that old ſerpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bound him 3 a thouſand yeeres:

3 And caſt him into the bottomles pit, and he ſhut him vp, and ſealed the doore vpon him, that hee ſhould deceiue the people 4 no more till the thouſand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he muſt bee looſed for 5 a little ſeaſon.

4 6 And I ſaw 27 ſeates: and they ſate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I ſawe the ſoules of them that were 8 beheaded for the witneſſe of Ieſus, and for the word of God, and which 9 did not worſhip the beaſt, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads, or on their hands: and they liued, and reigned with Chriſt a thouſand yeere.

5 10 But the reſt of the dead men 11 ſhall not liue againe, vntill the thouſand yeeres be finiſhed: this is the firſt reſurrection.

6 Bleſſed and holy is he, that hath part in the firſt reſurrection: for on ſuch the 12 ſecond death hath no power: but they ſhall be the Prieſtes of God and of Chriſt, 13 and ſhall reigne with him a thouſand yeere.

7 14 And when the 15 thouſand yeeres are expired, Satan ſhall be looſed out of his priſon,

8 16 And ſhall goe out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen * Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whoſe number is as the ſand of the Sea.

9 And they went vp into the b plaine of the earth, and they compaſſed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but 17 fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

10 18 And the deuill that deceiued them, was caſt into a lake of fire and brimſtone, where that beaſt and that falſe prophet are, and ſhall bee tormented euen day and night for euermore.

11 19 And I ſaw a great 20 white throne, and one that ſate on it, 21 from whoſe face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I ſaw the dead, both great and ſmall ſtand before 22 God: and the 23 bookes were opened, and * another booke was opened, which is the booke 24 of life, and the dead were iudged of thoſe things, which were written in the bookes, according to their workes.

13 25 And the ſea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and Hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their workes.

14 25 And death, and hell were caſt into the lake of fire: this is the ſecond death.

15 And whoſoeuer was not found written in the booke of life, was caſt into the lake of fire.

2 The 3. member of the hiſtorie, which is of the victory whereby Chriſt ouercame the dragon, as I noted Chap. 7. 1. This place moſt neceſſarily bee ioyned with the ende of the 12. chapter and be applied vnto the iuſt vnderſtanding thereof. This chapter hath two parts: one of the dragon ouercome, vnto the 10. verſe, the other of the reſurrection and laſt iudgement vnto the end of the chapter.

The hiſtory of the dragon is double: Firſt of the firſt victory after which he was bound by Chriſt, vnto the 6. verſe. The ſecond is of the laſt victory, whereby he was throwen downe into euerlaſting puniſhment, thence vnto the 10. verſe. This firſt hiſtory happened in the firſt time of the Chriſtian Church, when the dragon throwen downe from heauen by Chriſt, went about to moleſt the new birth of the Church in the earth Chap. 12. 17. 18. For which cauſe I gaue warning, that this ſtory of the Dragon muſt bee anexed vnto that place. 2 That is of hell, whither God threw downe the Angels which had ſinned, and bound them in chaines of darkeneſſe to bee kept vnto damnation, 2. Pet. 2. 4. Iude 6. 3 The firſt whereof (continuing this hiſtory with the end of the 12. chapter) is the 36. yeere from the paſſion of Chriſt, when the Church of the Iewes being ouerthrowen, Satan aſſayled to inuade the Chriſtian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to deſtroy part of her ſeed, Chap. 12. 17. The thouſandth yeere falleth preciſely vpon the times of that wicked Hildebrand, who was called Gregorie the ſeuenth a moſt damnable Necromancer and ſorcerer, whome Satan vſed as an inſtrument when he was looſed out of bonds, thenceforth to annoy the Saints of God with moſt cruell perſecutions, and the whole world with diſſentions, and moſt bloody warres: as Benno the Cardinall reporteth at large. And this is the firſt victory gotten ouer the dragon in the earth. 4 Namely, with that publike and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chap. 12. and which after a thouſand yeeres (a lacke for woe) hee moſt mightily procured in the Chriſtian worlde. 5 Which being once expired, the ſecond battell and victory ſhall be, of which verſe 7. 8. 6 A deſcription of the common ſtate of the Church of Chriſt in earth in that ſpace of a thouſand yeeres, for which the diuell was in bonds: in which firſt the authoritie, life, and common honour of the godly, is declared, verſe 4. Secondly, newnes of life is preached vnto others by the Goſpel, after that ſpace. verſ. 5. Finally, he concludeth with promiſes, verſ 6. a For iudgement was committed to them, as to the members ioyned to the head, not ỹ Chriſtes office was giuen ouer them. 7 This was a type of the authoritie of the good and faithfull ſeruants of God in the Church, taken from the maner of men. 8 Of the Martyrs, which ſuffered in thoſe firſt times. 9 Of the Martyrs which ſuffered after that both the beaſts were now riſen vp, Chap. 13. for theſe three things are expounded.

10 Whoſoeuer ſhall lie dead in ſin, and not know the trueth of God.

11 They ſhall not be renewed with that newneſſe of the life by the enlightning of the Goſpell of the glory of Chriſt. For this is the firſt reſurrection, by which the ſoules of the godly doe riſe from their death. In the ſecond reſurrection their bodies ſhall riſe againe.

12 That where by both body and ſoule, that is, the whole man is addicted and deliuered vnto eternall death. So chapter 2. 11.

13 A returne vnto the intended hiſtory, by reſuming the words which are in the end of the fourth verſe.

14 The ſecond hiſtory, of the latter victorie of Chriſt, as was ſaid verſe 1. In which are ſummarily deſcribed the worke, ouerthrow and eternall puniſhment of Satan.

15 Of which I ſpake verſe 2.

Then therefore ſhall be giuen vnto him liberty to rage againſt the Church, and to moleſt the Saints for the ſinnes of men: vnto whom the faithfull ſhall haue aſſociated themſelues more then was meete, taſting with them of their impuritie of doctrine and life. 16 The worke or acte of Satan (which is the firſt member as I diſtinguiſhed in the verſe before going) to deceiue the whole world, euen vnto the vttermoſt nations thereof: to arme them againſt the people of God, in this verſe, and to beſiege and oppreſſe the Church, with his whole ſtrength, in the verſe following. * Ezech. 39. 2. b As if he ſaid in ſo much that the whole face of the earth, how great ſoeuer it is was filled.

17 The wrath of God, conſuming the aduerſaries, and ouerthrowing all their enterpriſes, Heb. 10. 27. And this is the ſecond member mentioned ve ſe 7. the ouerthrow of Satan. 18 The third member, eternall deſtruction againſt thoſe that are ouercome: as I noted in the ſame place. 19 The ſecond part of this Chapter, in which is deſcribed the iudge, in this verſe, and the laſt iudgement in the verſe following. 20 That is, a tribunall ſeate moſt Princelike and glorious: for ſo doeth the Greeke word alſo ſignifie. 21 That is, Chriſt, before whom when he commeth vnto iudgement, heauen and earth ſhall periſh for the greatneſſe of his maieſtie, 2. Peter 3. 7. 10. &c. 22 That is, Chriſt the iudge, 2. Cor. 5. 10. 22 As it were, our bookes of reckoning or accompts: that is, the teſtimonie of our conſcience, and of our works, which by no meanes can be auoyded. This is ſpoken after the maner of men. * Chap. 3. 5. and 21. 27. phil 4. 3. 24 The booke of the eternall decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Chriſt according to the good pleaſure of his will, thoſe that ſhall be heires of life. This alſo is ſpoken according to the maner of men. 25 This is a preuention or an anſwere to an obiection: for happly ſome man will ſay, but they are dead, whom the ſea, death and the graue hath conſumed, how ſhall they appeare before the iudge? S. Iohn anſwereth by reſurrection from death, whereunto all things (how ſoeuer repugnant) ſhall miniſter and ſerue at the commandement of God, as Dan. 12. 26 The laſt enemie which is death ſhallbe aboliſhed by Chriſt that he may no more make any attempt againſt vs) 1. Cor. 15. 26. and death ſhall feede vpon the reprobate in hell for euermore, according to the righteous iudgement of God, in the next verſe.

CHAP. XXI.

1 He deſcribeth new Hieruſalem deſcending from heauen. 6 The bride the Lambs wife. 12 and the glorious building of the citie, 29 garniſhed with precious ſtones, 22 who is Temple the Lambe is.

And

16 And saying, Alas, alas that great citie, that was cloathed in fine linnen and purple, and skarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles.

17 11 For in one houre so great riches are come to desolation. And euery shipmaster, and all the people that occupie ships and shipman, and whosoeuer traffike on the sea, shall stand a farre off.

18 And cry, when they see the smoke of that her burning, saying, What city was like vnto this great city!

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wayling, and say, Alas, alas that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her costlines: for in one houre she is made desolate.

20 12 O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her, to be reuenged on her for your sakes.

21 13 Then a mighty Angel tooke vp a stone, like a great milstone, * and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great city Babylon be cast and shall be found no more.

22 14 And the voyce of harpers, and musicians and of pipers, and trumpetters shall bee heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whosoeuer craft he bee, shallbe found any more in thee: and the sound of a milstone shallbe heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee, and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride shallbe heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantment were deceiued all nations.

24 And in her was found the 15 blood of the Prophets 16 and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

11 The manner of mourning vsed by them that trade by sea.
12 The other consequent vnto the other ruine of Babylon, is the exaltation or reioycing of the godly in heauen and in earth, as was noted, verse 9.
13 The third prediction, as I said verse 1. standing of a signe, and the interpretation thereof: the interpretation thereof is in 2 sorts, first by a simple propounding of the thing it selfe, in this verse, and then by declaration of the euents in the verses following.
* Iere. 51, 63.
14 The euents are two, the one of them opposite vnto the other for amplification sake. There shall be, saith he, in Babylon no mirth nor ioy at all, in this and the next verse, but all heavy and lamentable things from the bloody slaughters of the righteous and the vengeance of God comming vpon it for the same. 15 That is, shed by bloody massacres and calling for vengance. 16 That is, prooued and found out, as if God had appointed a iust enquirie, concerning the impietie, vnnaturalnesse and vniustice of those men.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The heauenly company praise God for auenging the blood of his seruants on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lambes supper. 10 The Angell will not bee worshipped. 11 That mighty King of Kings appeareth from heauen. 19 The battell, 20 wherein the beast is taken, 21 and cast into the burning lake.

A Nd 1 after these things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, saying, 2 Hallelu-iah, salvation, and glory, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for hee hath condemned the great whore which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shed by her hand.

3 And againe they said, 3 Halleluiah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.

4 And the foure and twenty Elders, and the foure beast fell downe, and worshipped God that sate on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

5 4 Then a voyce came out of the 5 throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his seruants, and yee that feare him, both small and great.

6 And I heard 6 like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of strong thundrings, saying, Halleluiah: for the Lord that God that Almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let vs bee glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of the Lambe is come, and his wife hath made 7 her selfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that shee should be arayed with 8 pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine 9 linnen is the b righteousnesse of Saints.

9 10 Then he said vnto me, Write, * Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambs supper. And he said vnto me, These words of God are true.

10 11 And I fell before his feet, * to worship him, but he said vnto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellow-seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the testimony of Iesus, Worship God: for the testimony of a Iesus is the Spirit of prophesie.

11 12 And I saw 13 heauen open, and behold a white horse, and he that sate vpon him was called faithfull and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and hee had a name written, that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And hee was cloathed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name was called, THE WORD OF GOD.

14 14 And the hoastes which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, cloathed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall * rule them with a rod of yron, for he it is that treadeth the wine presse of the fiercenes and wrath of Almighty God.

17 17 And I saw an Angel stand in the 18 sunne who cryed with a loud voyce, saying to all the foules that did flie by 19 the mids of heauē, Come,

4 The second place of praise as I said verse 1. which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is in most ample maner pronounced of the creatures, both because they see that Kingdom of Christ to come, which most they desire, verse 6. also because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the house of her husband by holy mariage vnto the fellowship of his kingdom, verse 7, 8. Wherefore S. Iohn is commanded to write in a booke the Epiphonema, or acclamation ioyned with a diuine testimony verse 9.

8 As an ensigne of Kingly and priestly dignitie: which dignitie Christ bestoweth vpon vs, Chap. 1, 6.

In this place doe shine most excellent properties of Christ as our heauenly Iudge and reuenger, according to his person, companie, effects, and names. 13 Properties belonging to his person that bee is heauenly, iudge, faithfull, true, iust, in this verse, searching out all things, ruling ouer all, to bee searched out of none, verse 12. the trumpet, and the very essentiall woorde of God. verse 13. 14 The company or retinue of Christ, holy, innumerable, heauenly, iudiciall, royall and pure. 15 The effects of Christ prepared vnto battell, that with his mouth hee striketh the Gentiles, ruleth and destroyeth. * Psalme 2, 9. 16 The name agreeing vnto Christ accoording to the former properties, expressed after the manner of the Hebrewes. * Chap. 17, 14. 1. Tim. 6, 15. 17 The second member as I sayde verse 17. 1 This chapter hath in summe two parts, one transitory or of passage vnto the things that follow vnto the 10. verse, another historical of the victorie of Christ gotten against both the beastes vnto the end of the chapter, which I sayd was the second historie of this argument, chap 17, 1. The transition hath two places, one of praising God for the ouerthrow done vnto Babylon in 4. verses, and another likewise of praise, and Propheticall, for the comming of Christ vnto his kingdome, and his most royall marriage with his Church, thence vnto the tenth verse. The former praise hath three branches, distinguished after the ancient maner of those that sing: ἀναστροφή, that is, an inuitation or prouokement in two verses, ἀντιφωνία, a response or answere in the third verse, and συμφωνία, a close or ioyning together in harmonie: all which I thought good of purpose to distinguished in this place, lest any man should with Porphyrius, or other like dogs, obiect to Saint Iohn of the heauenly Church, a childish and repetition of speech. a Praise the Lord. 2 The proposition of praise with exhortation in this verse, and the cause thereof, in the next verse. 3 The song of the Antiphonie or response, containing an amplification of the praise of God, from the perpetuall and most certaine testimony of his diuine iudgement as was done at Sodome and Gomorrah, Gen. 19.

and gather your selues together vnto the supper of the great God.

18 That yee may eate the flesh of kings, and the flesh of high captaines, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all free men, and bond men, and of small and great.

19 [20] And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hoasts gathered together to make battell against him that sate on the horse, and against his armie.

20 But the beast [21] was taken, and with him [22] that false Prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued the beasts marke, and them that worshipped his image. These both were aliue cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slaine with the sword of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the fowles were filled full with their flesh.

20 The 3. member (as was sayde verse 11.) of the victory obteined by Christ. Vnto this appertaineth two things: his buckling with the beast and his forces in this verse: and the euent most magnificent, described after the maner of men, in the verses following. All these things are plaine.

21 Namely, that beast with seuen heads, of which before. Chapter 13. 1. and 17. 3.

22 That is, that beast with two heads, of which 13.11. Looke more, Chap. 16.14.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel bindeth Satan for a thousand yeeres. 8 Being loosed, hee stirreth vp Gog and Magog, that is, private and open enemies against the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lord cutting off their insolencie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

1 Now followeth the 3 place of the prophecall historie, which is of the victory whereby Christ ouercame the dragon, as I noted Chap. 7.1. This place most necessarily bee ioyned with the ende of the 12. chapter and be applied vnto the iust vnderstanding thereof. This chapter hath two parts: one of the dragon ouercome, vnto the 10. verse, the other of the resurrection and last iudgement vnto the end of the chapter.

AND [1] I saw an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key [2] of the bottomlesse pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And he tooke the dragon that old serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bound him [3] a thousand yeeres:

3 And cast him into the bottomles pit, and he shut him vp, and sealed the doore vpon him, that hee should deceive the people [4] no more till the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he must bee loosed for [5] a little season.

4 [6] And I saw [27] seates: and they sate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I saw the soules of them that were [8] beheaded for the witnesse of Iesus, and for the word of God, and which [9] did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads, or on their hands: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yeere.

5 [10] But the rest of the dead men [11] shall not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeeres be finished: this is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the [12] second death hath no power: but they shall be the Priestes of God and of Christ, [13] and shall reigne with him a thousand yeere.

7 [14] And when the [15] thousand yeeres are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

8 [16] And shall goe out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen * Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is as the sand of the Sea.

9 And they went vp into the [b] plaine of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but [17] fire came down from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

10 [18] And the deuill that deceiued them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall bee tormented euen day and night for euermore.

11 [19] And I saw a great [20] white throne, and one that sate on it, [21] from whose face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I saw the dead, both great and small stand before [22] God: and the [23] bookes were opened, and * another booke was opened, which is the booke [24] of life, and the dead were iudged of those things, which were written in the bookes, according to their workes.

13 [25] And the sea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and Hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their workes.

14 [25] And death, and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

15 And whosoeuer was not found written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

10 Whosoeuer shall lie dead in sin, and not know the trueth of God.

11 They shall not be renewed with that newnesse of the life by the enlightning of the Gospell of the glory of Christ. For this is the first resurrection, by which the soules of the godly doe rise from their death. In the second resurrection their bodies shall rise againe.

12 That where by both body and soule, that is, the whole man is addicted and deliuered vnto eternall death. So chapter 2.11.

13 A returne vnto the intended history, by resuming the words which are in the end of the fourth verse.

14 The second history, of the latter victorie of Christ, as was said verse 1. In which are summarily described the worke, ouerthrow and eternall punishment of Satan.

15 Of which I spake verse 2.

Then therefore shall be giuen vnto him liberty to rage against the Church, and to molest the Saints for

The history of the dragon is double: First of the first victory after which he was bound by Christ, vnto the 6. verse. The second is of the last victory, whereby he was throwen downe into euerlasting punishment, thence vnto the 10. verse. This first history happened in the first time of the Christian Church, when the dragon throwen downe from heauen by Christ, went about to molest the new birth of the Church in the earth Chap. 12.17.18. For which cause I gaue warning, that this story of the Dragon must bee anexed vnto that place. 2 That is of hell, whither God threw downe the Angels which had sinned, and bound them in chaines of darkenesse to bee kept vnto damnation, 2. Pet. 2.4. Iude 6. 3 The first whereof (continuing this history with the end of the 12. chapter) is the 36. yeere from the passion of Christ, when the Church of the Iewes being ouerthrown, Satan assayled to inuade the Christian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to destroy part of her seed, Chap. 12.17. The thousandth yeere falleth precisely vpon the times of that wicked Hildebrand, who was called Gregorie the seuenth a most damnable Necromancer and sorcerer, whome Satan vsed as an instrument when he was loosed out of bonds, thenceforth to annoy the Saints of God with most cruell persecutions, and the whole world with dissentions, and most bloody warres: as Benno the Cardinall reporteth at large. And this is the first victory gotten ouer the dragon in the earth. 4 Namely, with that publike and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chap. 12. and which after a thousand yeeres (a lacke for woe) hee most mightily procured in the Christian worlde. 5 Which being once expired, the second battell and victory shall be, of which verse 7.8. 6 A description of the common state of the Church of Christ in earth in that space of a thousand yeeres, for which the diuell was in bonds: in which first the authoritie, life, and common honour of the godly, is declared, verse 4. Secondly, newnes of life is preached vnto others by the Gospel, after that space. verse 5. Finally, he concludeth with promises, verse 6. a For iudgement was committed to them, as to the members ioyned to the head, not ỳ Christes office was giuen ouer them. 7 This was a type of the authoritie of the good and faithfull seruants of God in the Church, taken from the maner of men. 8 Of the Martyrs, which suffered in those first times. 9 Of the Martyrs which suffered after that both the beasts were now risen vp, Chap. 13. for these three things are expounded.

the sinnes of men: vnto whom the faithfull shall haue associated themselues more then was meete, tasting with them of their impuritie of doctrine and life. 16 The worke or acte of Satan (which is the first member as I distinguished in the verse before going) to deceiue the whole world, euen vnto the vttermost nations thereof: to arme them against the people of God, in this verse, and to beseige and oppresse the Church, with his whole strength, in the verse following. * Ezech. 39.2. b as if he said in so much that the whole face of the earth, how great soeuer it is was filled. 17 The wrath of God, consuming the aduersaries, and ouerthrowing all their enterprises, Heb. 10.27. And this is the second member mentioned ve se 7. the ouerthrow of Satan. 18 The third member, eternall destruction against those that are ouercome: as I noted in the same place. 19 The second part of this Chapter, in which is described the iudge, in this verse, and the last iudgement in the verse following. 20 That is, a tribunall seate most Princelike and glorious: for so doeth the Greeke word also signifie. 21 That is, Christ, before whom when he commeth vnto iudgement, heauen and earth shall perish for the greatnesse of his maiestie, 2. Peter 3.7, 10. &c 22 That is, Christ the iudge, 2. Cor. 5.10. 22 As it were, our books of reckoning or accompts: that is, the testimonie of our conscience, and of our works, which by no meanes can be auoyded. This is spoken after the manner of men. * Chap. 3.5. and 21.27. phil 4.3. 24 The booke of the eternall decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Christ according to the good pleasure of his will, those that shall be heires of life. This also is spoken according to the maner of men. 25 This is a preuention or an answere to an obiection: for happly some man will say, but they are dead, whom the sea, death and the graue hath consumed, how shall they appeare before the iudge? S. Iohn answereth by resurrection from death, wherevnto all things (how soeuer repugnant) shall minister and serue at the commandement of God. 21 Dan. 12. 26 The last enemie which is death shallbe abolished by Christ that he may no more make any attempt against vs) 1. Cor. 15.16. and death shall feede vpon the reprobate in hell for euermore, according to the righteous iudgement of God, in the next verse.

CHAP. XXI.

And

1 Now followeth the second part of the history prophetical (as I said Cha. 1. and 11.1.) of the future estate of the Church in heaven after the last iudgment, vnto the fifth verse of the next chapter, in this are two things briefly declareth. The station, seate or place thereof, verse 1. Then her state and condition in the verses following. Before the state of the Church described, is set downe the state of the whole world, that there shallbe a new heaven, and a new earth, as Esay. 65.17. and 66.22. and 2. Pet. 3.13. and this is the seat or place of the Church, in which righteousnes shall dwell.
* Isay. 65.17. and 66.22.
* 1. Pet. 3.13.

2 The state of this glorious Church is first described generally, vnto the 8. verse, and then specially and by parts in the verse following. The generall description consisteth in a vision shewed a farre off, vers. 2. and in speach spoken from heaven. In the generall these things are common that the Church is holy, new, the workmanship of God, heavenly, most glorious, the spouse of Christ, and partaker of this glorie in this verse. 3 The Church is described by speach first of an Angel, in two verses, then of God himselfe, in 4. verses. The Angels speach discribeth the glory of the Church by the most familiar cohabitation of God therewith, by communication of all maner good things according to the couenant, in this verse: and by remooving or putting far away of all euill things in the verse following. * Chap. 7.17. Esa. 25.8. 4 In the speach of God himselfe describing the Church, is first a certaine exordium, or entrance, verse 5. Then followeth a magnificent description of the Church, by the present and future good things of the same in 3. verses following. In the exordium God challengeth to himselfe the restoring of all the creatures, of which verse 1. and witnesseth the calling of S. Iohn vnto the writing of these things, in this verse. * Esa. 43.19. 2. Cor. 5.17. * Chap. 21.5. and 21.13. 5 The description of the Church is of three sorts, by abolishing of olde things: by the being of present things in God, that is of things eternall and by the communication of all good things with the godly, verse 6. If so bee they shall strive manfully, verse 7. But the reprobate are excluded from thence, verse 8.
a Their lot, and inheritance as it were. 6 A transition vnto the particular describing of the heavenly Church by the expresse calling of Saint Iohn in this verse, and his rapting vp by the Spirit, in confirmation of the trueth of God in the verse following.
7 Hee meaneth the place and stately seate of the Church, shadowed out in a mountaine.
8 A type of that Church which is one, ample, or Catholike, holy, celestiall, built of God, in this verse: and glorious in the verse following. This type propounded generally, is after particularly declared, verse 12. &c. 9 A particular description, as I noted, verse 2.) of the celestiall Church. First, by the essentiall parts of the same vnder the similitude of a citie to verse 12. Secondly, by forreine accidents, vnto the end of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next chapter, the essentiall parts are noted the matter and the forme in the whole worke: of these the superficies and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they vse to bee called) which parts are first described in figure, vnto the 14 verse and afterward more exactly. 10 According to the number of the tribes, of which chap. 7. For here the outward part is attributed vnto the old Testament, and the foundation of the new Testament. 11 Hee meaneth the Prophets, who are the messengers of God, and watchmen of the Church.

AND 1 I saw * a new heaven, and a new earth: for the * first heaven, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

2 2 And I Iohn saw the holy citie new Hierusalem come downe from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 3 And I heard a great voyce out of heaven, saying, Beholde, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and hee will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himselfe shallbe their God with them.

4 * And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, neither crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the first things are passed.

5 4 And he that sate vpon the throne, said, * Behold, I make all things new, and he said vnto me, Write: for these things are faithfull and true.

6 And he sayd vnto mee, * 5 It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will giue to him that is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that ouercommeth, shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shallbe my Sonne.

8 But the fearefull and vnbeleeuing, and the abominable, and murtherers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall haue their a part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

9 6 And there came vnto me one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials full of the seuen last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will shew the bride the Lambs wife.

10 And hee caried mee away in the spirit to a great and 7 an high mountaine, and he shewed me 8 that great city, that holy Ierusalem, descending out of heaven from God,

11 Hauing the glory of God, and her shining was like vnto a stone most precious, as a iasper stone cleare as chrystall,

12 9 And had a great wall and high, and had 10 twelue gates, and at the gates 11 twelue Angels, and the names written which are the twelue tribes of the children of Israel:

13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

14 And the wall of the citie had 12 twelue foundations, and in them the names of the Lambes twelue Apostles.

15 13 And he that walked with me, had a golden reed, to measure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 14 And the citie lay b foure square, and the length is as large as the bredth of it, and he measured the citie with the reed, twelue thousand furlongs: and the length, and the bredth, and the height of it are equall.

17 And he measured the wall thereof an hundred fourty and foure cubits, by the measure of man, that is of the c Angel.

18 15 And the building of the wall of it was of iasper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleare glasse.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garnished with all maner of precious stones: the first foundation was iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of a Chalcedonie: the fourth of an Emerauld.

20 The fifth of a Sardonix: the sixt of a Sardius: the seuenth of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Beril: the ninth of a Topaz: the tenth of a Chrysophrasus: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyst.

21 And the twelue gates were twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the d street of the citie is pure gold, as shining glasse.

22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

23 * 16 And their citie hath no neede of the Sunne, neither of the Moone to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.

24 * And the people which are saued, shall walke in the light of it, and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honour vnto it.

25 * And the gates of it shall not be shut by day: for there shall be no night there.

26 And the glory and honour of the Gentiles shall be brought vnto it.

27 And there shall enter into it none vncleane thing, neither whatsoeuer worketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in the Lambs * booke of life.

10 According to the number of the tribes, of which chap. 7.

11 Hee meaneth the Prophets, who are the messengers of God, and watchmen of the Church.

12 That is, foundation stones, according to the number of the gates, as is shewed verse 19.

13 A transition vnto a more exquisite description of the parts of the Church, by finding out the measure of the same by the Angel that measured them.

14 The measure and forme most equall in 2. verses.

b A foure squared figure hath equall sides, and outright corners, and therefore the Grecians call by this name those things that are stedy, and of continuance, and perfect.

c He addeth this, because the Angel had the shape of a man.

15 The matter most precious and glittering which the presence of God maketh most glorious.

d By street, he meaneth the broadest place of the citie.

* Esa. 20.19.

16 The second forme of particular description (as I said verse 12) from forraine and outward accidents: which are these, Light from God himselfe, in this verse, glory from men, verse 24. perfect securitie from all harme, verse 25. Finally such trueth and incorruption of glory (verse 26.) as can beare and abide with it, nothing that is inglorious, verse the last. * Esa. 60.3. * Esa. 60.11. * Chap. 21.3. & 20.12. phil. 4.3.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The riuer of water of life is shewed, 2 and the tree of liue: 6,7 Then followeth the conclusion of this prophesie, 8 where Iohn declareth, that the things herein contained are most true. 13 And now the third time repeateth these wordes, All things come from him, who is the beginning and the end.

AND 1 hee shewed me a pure riuer of water of life, cleare as chrystal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.

1 Here is absolued and finished the description of the celestiall Church (as I shewed before chap. 21. 12.) by the effects in 5. verses, and then this booke is concluded in the rest of the chapter. The effects proceeding from God, who

2 In the middes of the streete of it, and of either side of the river was the tree of life, which bare twelve maner of fruits, and gaue fruit every moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.

3 And there shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lambe shallbe in it, and his seruants shall serue him.

dwelleth in the Church are these: the euerlasting grace of God in liuing of the godly, as chap. 2.7. the eternall fruits which the godly bring foorth vnto God, themselues and others, verse 2. freedome and immunity from all euill, God himselfe taking pleasure in his seruants, and they likewise in their God, verse 3. The beholding and sight of God: and sealing of the faithfull from all eternity, verse 4. the light of God, and an euerlasting kingdome and glory, verse 5.

3 This whole booke is concluded and made vp by a confirmation, and a saluation. The confirmation hath three places: The words of the Angel vnto the 15. verse, the words of Christ: verse 16. 17. and the obtestation made by S. Iohn from diuine authority, thence vnto the 20. verse. By the speech of the Angel this prophecie is confirmed, vnto the 8. verse, and then he speaketh of the vse of this booke in the verses following. The prophecie is first confirmed by the Angel from the nature thereof, that it is faithfull and true. Secondly from the nature of the efficient cause, both principall which is God, and instrumentall, which is the Angel in this verse. Thirdly from the promises of God concerning his comming to effect all these things, and concerning our saluation, verse 7. Fourthly from the testification of S. Iohn himselfe, verse 8. The rest of the speech of the Angel tending to the same and S. Iohn interrupted or brake off by his vnaduised act of worshipping him, in the same ver. which the Angel forbidding, teacheth him that adoration must be giuen not to him, but onely to God, as for himselfe, that he is of such nature and office, as he may not be adored: which thing also was in like maner done, chap. 16, 10.

✤ Chap 19, 10.

3 The Angel returneth vnto his former speech: in which hee teacheth the vse of this booke, both towards our selues, in this and the next vers. and in respect of God for declaration of his trueth, thence vnto the 15 verse.

4 That is, propound this prophecie openly vnto all, and conceale no part of it. The contrary wherevnto is commanded, Esai. 8, 16. and Dan. 8, 26.

5 An obiection preuented. But there will be some that will abuse this occasion vnto euill, and will wrest this Scripture vnto their owne destruction, as Peter saith. What then sayth the Angel, the mysteries of God must not therefore be concealed, which it hath pleased him to communicate vnto vs. Let them be hurtfull vnto others, let such be more and more vile in themselues, whom this Scripture doth not please: yet others shall be further conformed thereby vnto righteousnesse and true holinesse. The care and reformation of these may not be neglected, because of the voluntarie and malicious offence of others.

6 The second place belonging vnto the vse of this booke, as I sayd. verse 10. Also (sayth God by the Angel) though there should be no vse of this booke vnto men: yet it shall be of this vse vnto me, that it is a witnesse of my trueth vnto my glory, who will come shortly to giue and execute iust iudgement, in this verse: who haue taught that all these things haue their being in mee, in the 13 verse, and haue denounced blessednesse vnto my seruants in the Church, verse 14. and reprobation vnto the vngodly, verse 15.

4 And they shall see his face, and his Name shall be in their foreheads.

5 ✤ And there shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the Sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they shall reigne for euermore.

6 2 And hee sayd vnto mee, These words are faithfull and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to shew vnto his seruants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.

7 Behold, I come shortly. Blessed is hee that keepeth the wordes of the prophecie of this booke.

8 And I am Iohn, which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seene, ✤ I fell downe to worship before the feete of the Angel which shewed me these things.

9 But he said vnto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow seruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the words of this booke: worship God.

10 3 And hee sayd vnto mee, 4 Seale not the wordes of the prophecie of this booke: for the time is at hand.

11 5 He that is vniust, let him be vniust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 6 And beholde, I come shortly, and my reward is with mee, ✤ to giue to euery man according as his worke shall be.

✤ Rom.2,6.

13 I am ✤ Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

✤ Chap.1,8. and 21.6.

14 Blessed are they, that doe his Commandements, 7 that their right may be in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the Citie.

Esai.41.44. and 34.6.

7 The blessednes of the godly set downe by their title and interest therevnto: and their fruit in the same.

15 For without shall be dogs and inchanters, and whoremongers, and murtherers, and idolaters, and whosoeuer loueth or maketh lies.

16 8 I Iesus haue sent mine Angel, to testifie vnto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of Dauid, and the bright morning starre.

8 The second place of confirmation. as I saide, is the speech of Christ, ratifying the vocation of S. Iohn, and the authority of his calling and testimonie, both from the condition of his owne person being God and man, in whom all the promises of God are Yea and Amen. 2. Cor. 1. 20 and also from the testification of other persons, by the acclamation of the holy Ghost, who here is as it were an honourable assistant of the marriage of the Church as the spouse: and of euery of the godly as members: and finally from the thing present, that of their owne knowledge and accord they are called forth vnto the participation of the good things of God, verse 17.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and * let whosoeuer will, take of the water of life freely.

* Esai.55.1.

18 9 For I protest vnto euery man that heareth the words of the prophecie of this booke, If any man shall adde vnto these things, God shall adde vnto him the plagues that are written in this booke.

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the booke of this prophecie, God shall take away his part out of the booke of life, and out of the holy Citie, and from those things which are written in this booke.

20 10 Hee which testifieth these things, sayth, Surely I come quickly, Amen. Euen so, come Lord Iesus.

21 11 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, AMEN.

THE END.

9 The obtestation of Saint Iohn (which is the third place of the confirmation, as was noted verse 6.) ioyned with a curse of execration, to preserue the trueth of this booke entire and vncorrupted, in two verses.

10 A diuine confirmation or sealing of the obtestation: first from Christ auouching the same, and denouncing his comming against all those that shall put their sacrilegious hands herevnto: then from Saint Iohn himselfe, who by a most holy prayer calleth Christ to take vengeance of them.

11 The salutation Apostolicall, which is the other place of the conclusion, as I said verse 6. and is the end almost of every Epistle: which we wish vnto the Church, and to all the holy and elect members thereof in Christ Iesus our Lord, vntill his comming to iudgement, Come Lord Iesus, and doe it, Amen. againe, Amen.

A briefe Table of the interpretation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the Old Testament, wherein the first number signifieth the Chapter, the second the verse.

WHereas the wickednesse of time, and the blindnesse of the former age had beene such, that all things together have beene abused and corrupted, so that the very right names of divers of the holy men named in the Scriptures, have beene forgotten, and now seeme strange unto us, and the names of infants, that should ever have some godly advertisements in them, and should be memorials and markes of the children of God received into his household, have bene hereby also changed, and made the signes and badges of idolatry and heatenish impietie: we have now set foorth this Table of the Names that be most used in the Old Testament, with their interpretations, as the Hebrew importeth, partly to call backe the godly from that abuse, when they shall know the true names of the godly Fathers, and what they signifie, that their children now named after them, may have testimonies by their very names, that they are witnes that faithfull familie, that in all their doings had ever God before their eyes, and that they are bound by these their names to serve God from their infancie, and have occasion to praise him for his workes wrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to restore the names to their integritie, whereby many places of the Scriptures and secret mysteries of the holy Ghost shall better be understood. We have medled rarely with the Greeke names, because their interpretation is uncertaine, and many of them are corrupted from their originall, as we may also see these Hebrew names set in the margent of this Table, which have bene corrupted by the Grecians. Now for the other Hebrew names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent Reader be carefull: for hee shall finde them in places most convenient amongst the annotations: at least so many as may seeme to make for any edification, and understanding of the Scriptures.

THE BOOKE OF

PSALMES:

COLLECTED INTO ENGLISH

Meeter, by THOMAS STERNHOLD, IOHN HOPKINS, and others: conferred with the Hebrew; with apt Notes to sing them withall.

Set forth and allowed to be sung in all Churches, of the people together, before and after Morning and Evening Prayer: As also before and after Sermon; and moreover in private houses, for their godly solace and comfort, laying apart all ungodly Songs and Ballads, which tend onely to the nourishment of vice, and corrupting of youth.

IAMES V.

If any be afflicted, let him pray: if any be merry, let him sing Psalmes.

COLLOSSIANS III.

Let the word of God dwell plenteously in you, in all wisedome, teaching and exhorting one another, in Psalmes, Hymnes, and spirituall Songs, and sing unto the Lord in your hearts.

Veni Creator.

Thou art the very comforter
in all woe and diſtreſſe:
The heavenly gift of God moſt high,
Which no tongue can expreſſe.
The fountaine and the lively ſpring of ioy celeſtiall:
The fire ſo bright, the love ſo cleare,
and vnction ſpirituall.

Thou in thy gifts are manifold, whereby Chriſts Church doth ſtand,
In faithfull hearts writing thy Law
the finger of Gods hand.
According to thy promiſe made,
thou giveſt ſpeech of grace:
That through thy helpe the prayſe of God
may ſtand in every place.

O holy Ghoſt into our minds
ſend downe thy heavenly light:
Kindle our hearts with fervent love,
to ſerve God day and night.
Strength and ſtabliſh all our weakneſſe
ſo feeble and ſo fraile.
That neither fleſh, the world, nor divill,
againſt vs doe prevaile.

Put backe our enemies farre from vs,
and graunt vs to obtaine:
Peace in our hearts with God and man, without grudge or diſdaine.
And grant O Lord, that thou being our leader and our guide:
Wee may eſchew the ſnares of ſinne,
and from thee never ſlide.

To vs ſuch plenty of thy grace,
good Lord grant we thee pray:
That thou maiſt be our comforter
at the laſt dreadfull day.
Of all ſtrife and diſſention
O Lord diſſolve the bands:
And make the knots of peace and love,
through out all Chriſtian Lands.

Grant vs O Lord, through thee to know,
the Father moſt of might.
That of his deare beloved ſonne,
we may attaine the ſight.
And that with perfect faith alſo,
we may acknowledge thee:
The ſpirit of them both alway,
one God in perſons three.

Laud and prayſe be to the Father,
and to the ſonne equall:
And to the holy ſpirit alſo,
one God coeternall:
And pray we that thy onely Sonne, vouchſafe his ſpirit to ſend.
To all that doe profeſſe his name,
vnto the worlds end.

The humble ſuit of a ſinner.

But onely thou whoſe aide I crave, whoſe mercy ſtill is preſt:
To eaſe all thoſe that come to thee,
for ſuccour and for reſt.
And ſith thou ſeeſt my reſtleſſe eyes,
my teares and grieuous grone:
Attend vnto my ſuite O Lord,
marke well my plaint and mone.

For ſinne hath ſo incloſed me,
And compaſſe me about,
That I am now remedileſſe,
if mercy helpe not out:
For mortall man cannot releaſe,
or mittigate this paine:
But even thy Chriſt my Lord, and God, which for my ſinne was ſlaine.

Whoſe bloody wound are yet to ſee, though not with mortall eye:

Venite exultemus.

Yet doe thy Saints behold them all,
and ſo I truſt ſhall I.
Though ſinne doth hinder me a while,
when thou ſhalt ſee it good,
I ſhall enioy the ſight of him,
and ſee his wounds and blood.

And as thine Angels and thy Saints,
doe now behold the ſame:
So truſt I to poſſeſſe that place,
with them to praiſe thy name.
But while I live here in this vaile, where ſinners doe frequent,
Aſſiſt me ever with thy grace,
my ſinnes ſtill to lament.

Leaſt that I tread in ſinners trace,
and give them my conſent,
To dwell with them in wickedneſſe,
where to nature is bent.
Onely thy grace muſt be my ſtay,
leaſt that I fall downe flat:
And being downe, then of my ſelfe, cannot recover that.

Wherefore, this is yet once againe,
my ſuite and my requeſt,
To graunt me pardon for my ſinnes,
that I in thee may reſt.
Then ſhall my heart, my tongue, and voice,
be inſtruments of praiſe,
And in the Church and Houſe of Saints,
ſing Pſalmes to thee alwaies.

Venite exultemus. Pſal. xcv.

Sing this as the Benedictus.

O Come and let vs now reioyce,
And ſing vnto the Lord,
And to our onely ſaviour:
Alſo with one accord.
O let vs come before his face,
With inward reverence,
Confeſſing all our former ſinnes,
And that with diligence.

To thanke him for his benefites,
Alway diſtributing:
Wherefore to him right ioyfully,
In Pſalmes now let vs ſing:
And that becauſe that God alone,
Is Lord magnificent,
And eke above all other Gods,
A king omnipotent.

His people doth not he forſake,
At any time or tide:
And in his hands are all the coaſts
Of all the world ſo wide.
And with his loving countenance
He looketh every where:
And doth behold the tops of all:
The mountaines farre and neere.

The ſea and all that is therein
Are his, for he them made:
And eke his hand hath faſhioned,
The earth which doeth not fade.
O come therefore and worſhip him,
And downe before him fall,
And let vs kneele before the Lord,
The which hath made vs all,

Te Deum.

Hee is our God, our Lord, and King,
And wee his people are:
His flockes and ſheepe of his paſture,
On whom he taketh care.
This day if ye will heare his voyce,
Yet harden not your heart,
As in their bitter murmuring,
When ye were in deſart.

Which thing was of their negligence
Committed in the time
Of trouble in the wildernesſe:
A great and grievous crime.
Whereas your fathers tempted me,
And tried me every way:
They prooved mee and ſaw my workes
What I could doe or ſay.

Theſe forty yeeres I have bene grieved,
With all this generation:
And evermore I ſaid they erred
In their imagination.
Wherewith their hearts were ſore cumbred
Long time and many dayes,
Wherefore I know aſſuredly,
They have not knowne wy wayes.

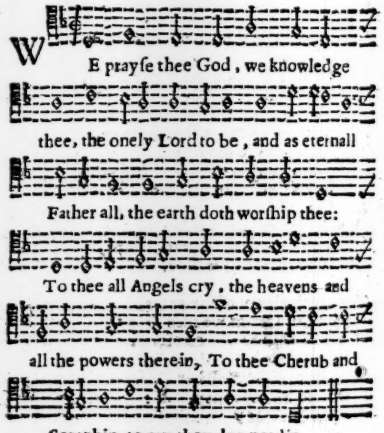
To whom I in my anger ſwore,
That they ſhould not be bleſt,
Nor ſee my ioy celeſtiall,
Nor enter in my reſt.

Gloria Patri.

All laud and praiſe be to the Lord
O that of might art moſt:
To God the Father, and the Sonne,
And to the Holy Ghoſt.
As it in the beginning was,
For ever heretofore:
And is now at this preſent time,
And ſhall be evermore.

The ſong of S. Ambroſe, called

Te Deum.



Te Deum.

O holy, holy, holy Lord,
of Sabboth Lord the God,
Through heaven & earth thy praiſe is ſpread,
and glory all abroad,
The Apoſtles glorious company
yeeld praiſes vnto thee:
The Prophets godly fellowſhip prayſe the continually.

The noble and victorious hoaſt of Martyrs ſound thy praiſe:
The holy Church throughout the world,
doth knowledge thee alwayes.
Father of endleſſe Maieſtie
they doe acknowledge thee:
Thy Chriſt, thine honourable, true, and onely ſonne to be.

The holy Ghoſt the Comforter, of glory thou art King.
O Chriſt and of the Father art
the ſonne everlaſting.
When ſinfull mans decay in hand
thou tookeſt to reſtore,
To be inclos'd in virgins wombe
thou diddeſt not abhorre.

When thou hadſt overcome of death
the ſharpe and cruell might,
Thou heavens kingdome didſt ſet ope to each beleeving wight.
In glory of the Father thou doeſt ſit on Gods right hand:
We truſt that thou ſhalt come our Iudge,
our cauſe to vnderſtande.

Lord helpe thy ſervants whom thou haſt bought with thy precious blood:
And in eternall glory ſet them with the Saints ſoo good:
O Lord, doe thou thy people ſave, bleſſe thine inheritance:
Lord governe them and Lord doe thou
For ever them advance.

Wee magnifie thee day by day,
and world without an end Adore thy holy name, O Lord, vouchſafe vs to defend.
From ſinne this day. Have mercy Lord, have mercy on vs all:
And on vs as we truſt in thee,
Lord let thy mercy fall.

O Lord, I have repoſed all my confidence in thee:
Put to confounding ſhame therefore,
Lord let mee never be.

The ſong of the three Children,

prayſing God, prouoking all creatures to doe the ſame.

O All ye workes of God the Lord, bleſſe yee the Lord, praiſe him, and

The Song of three Children.

magnifie him for ever.

Benedictus.

The ſong of Zacharias, called Benedictus.

In Davids houſe his ſervants true,
According to his minde :
And alſo his anoynted King,
As we in Scripture finde.
As by his holy Prophets all,
Oft times he did declare :
The which were ſince the world began,
His wayes for to prepare.

That we might be delinered
From thoſe that make debate :
Our enemies, and from the hands,
Of all that doe vs hate.
The mercies which he promiſed
Our fathers, to fulfill,
And thinke vpon his covenant made
According to his will

And alſo to performe his oath,
Which he before had ſworne
To Abraham our father deare,
For vs that were forlorne.
That he would give himſelfe for vs,
And vs from bondage bring,
Out of the hands of all our foes,
To ſerve our heavenly King.

And that without all manner feare,
And eke in righteouſneſſe :
And alſo for to lead our lives
In ſtedfaſt holineſſe.
And thou O childe which now art borne
And of the Lord elect,
Shalt be the Prophet of the higheſt,
His wayes for to direct.

For thou ſhalt goe before his face
For to prepare his wayes :
And alſo for to teach his will
And pleaſure all thy dayes.
To give them knowledge how that their Salvation is neere,
And that remiſſion of their ſinnes
Is through his mercy meere.

Magnificat.

Whereby the Day-ſpring from on high
Is come vs for to viſit :
And thoſe for to illuminate,
Which doe in darkeneſſe ſit.
To lighten thoſe that ſhadowed be
With death and eke oppreſt :
And alſo for to guide their feete
The way to peace and reſt.

The Song of the bleſſed Mary, called Magnificat.

For now behold all nations,
And generations all,
From this time forth for evermore
Shall me right bleſſed call.
Becauſe he hath me magnified
Which is the Lord of might :
Whoſe name be ever ſanctified,
And praiſed day and night.

For with his mercy and his grace
All men he doth enflame
Throughout all generations,
To ſuch as feare his name.
He ſhewed ſtrength with his great arme
And made the proud to ſtart,
With all imaginations
That they bare in their heart.

He hath put downe the mighty one
From their ſupernall ſeat :
And did exalt the meeke in heart,
As he hath thought it meet.
The hungry he repleniſhed
With all things that were good :
And through his power he made the rich
Oft times to want their food.

And calling to remembrance
His mercy every deale
Hath holpen vp aſſiſtantly
His ſervant Iſrael,
According to his promiſe made
To Abraham before,
And to his ſeede ſucceſſiuely,
To ſtand for evermore.

The ſong of Simeon

called, Nunc dimittis.

O Lord, becauſe my hearts deſire, hath wiſhed long to ſee, My onely Lord and Sauiour, thy Sonne before I die:

The ioy and health of all mankinde, deſired long before, which now is come into the world, of mercy bringing ſtore.

Thou ſuffreſt thy ſervant now,
In peace for to depart,
According to thy holy word,
Which lighteneth my heart:
Becauſe mine eyes which thou haſt made,
To give my body light:
Have now behold thy ſaving health
Which is the Lord of might.
Whom thou mercifully haſt ſet,
Of thy abundant grace:
In open ſight and viſible,
Before all peoples face.
The Gentiles to illuminate,
And Satan overquell:
And eke to be the glory of Thy people Iſrael.

The Symbole or Creede of Athanaſius, called, Quicunque vult.

W Hat man ſoeuer he be that, ſalua-tion will attaine, the Catholike beliefe

he muſt before all things retaine: Which faith vnleſſe he holy keepe and vndefiledly:

Without all doubt eternally, he ſhall be ſure to die.

The Catholike beliefe is this,
that God we worſhip one In Trinity, and Trinity in vnity alone.
So as we neither doe confound the perſons of the three.

Quicunque vult.

Nor yet the ſubſtance whole of one,
in ſunder parted be:
One perſon of the father is,
another of the ſonne:
Another perſon proper of the holy Ghoſt alone.
Of father, ſonne and holy Ghoſt,
but one the Godhead is:
Like glory coeternall eke,
the maieſtie likewiſe.

Such as the father is, ſuch is the ſonne in each degree:
And ſuch alſo we doe beleeve
the holy Ghoſt to be.
Vncreate is the father, and
vncreate is the ſonne:
The holy Ghoſt vncreate ſo, vncreate is each one.

Incomprehenſible father is,
incomprehenſible ſonne.
And comprehenſible alſo is the holy Ghoſt of none.
The father is eternall, and the ſonne eternall ſo:
And in like ſort eternall is
the holy Ghoſt alſo.

And yet though we beleeve that each of theſe eternall be;
Yet there but one eternall is,
and not eternalls three.
As ne in comprehenſible we ne yet vncreate three,
But one incomprehenſible, one vncreate hold to be.

Almighty ſo the father is,
the ſonne almighty ſo:
And in like ſort almighty is
the holy Ghoſt alſo.
And albeit that every one,
of theſe almighty be:
Yet there but one almighty is,
and not almighties three.

The father God is, God the ſonne,
God holy Ghoſt alſo:
Yet there are not three Gods in all
But one God and no moe:
So likewiſe Lord the father is,
and Lord alſo the ſonne,
And Lord the holy Ghoſt, yet are there not three Lords but one.

For as we are compell'd to grant
by Chriſtian verity:
Each of the perſons by himſelfe,
both God and Lord to be.
So Catholike Religion,
forbiddeth vs alway,
That either Gods be three, or that there Lords be three to ſay.

Of none the father is ne made,
ne create nor begot,
The ſonne is of the father, not create, ne made, but got.
The holy Ghoſt is of them both
the father and the ſonne:
Ne made, ne create, nor begot,
but doth proceede alone.

Quicunque vult.

So we one Father hold not three,
one Sonne alſo not three:
One holy Ghoſt alone, and not three holy Ghoſts to be.
None in this Trinitie before,
nor after other is,
Ne greater any then the reſt,
ne leſſer is likewiſe.

But euery one among themſelves,
of all the perſons three,
Together coeternall all,
and all coequall be:
So vnity in Trinity,
as ſaid it is before,
And trinity in vnity,
in all things we adore.

Therefore what man ſoeuer that ſaluation will attaine:
This faith touching the trinite,
of force we muſt retaine.
And needfull to eternall life,
it is that euery wight
Of the incarnating of Chriſt
our Lord beleeue aright.

For this the right faith is, that we beleeue and eke doe know,
That Chriſt our Lord the Sonne of God,
is God and man alſo:
God of his Fathers ſubſtance got before the world began,
And of his mothers ſubſtance borne,
in world a very man.

Both perfect God and perfect man,
in one, one Ieſus Chriſt,
That doth of reaſonable ſoule,
and humaine fleſh ſubſiſt.
Touching his Godhead equall with his Father God is he, Touching his manhood lower then his Father in degree.

Who though he be both very God,
and very man alſo:
Yet is he but one Chriſt alone,
and is not perſons two.
One not by turning of Godhead,
into the fleſh of man:
But by taking manhood to God,
this being one began.

All one not by confounding of the ſubſtance into one,
But onely by the vnity,
that is one perſon,
For as the reaſonable ſoule,
and fleſh but one man is.
So in one perſon God and man, is but one Chriſt likewiſe.

Who ſuffered for to ſaue vs all,
to hell he did deſcend:
The third day roſe againe form death,
to heaven he did aſcend,
He ſits at the right hand of God,
the Almighty Father there,
From thence to iudge the quicke and dead,
againe he ſhall retire.

At whoſe returne all men ſhall riſe,
with bodies new reſtorde:
And of their owne workes they ſhall giue account vnto the Lord.
And they into eternall life
ſhall goe, that have done well, Who have done ill ſhall goe into eternall fire to dwell,
This is the Catholike beliefe, who doth not faithfully
Beleeve the ſame, without all doubt, he ſaved cannot be.
To Father, Sonne, and Holy Ghoſt,
all glory be therefore,
As in beginning was, is now,
and ſhalbe euermore.

The Lamentation.

The Lamentation of a ſinner M.

And call me not to mine accounts,
now I have lived here:
For then I know right well, O Lord,
How wiſe I ſhall appeare:
I need not to confeſſe my life,
I am ſure thou canſt tell:
What I have beene, and what I am,
I know thou knoweſt it well,
O Lord thou knoweſt what things be paſt,
And eke the things that be,
Thou knoweſt alſo what is to come,
Nothing is hid from thee:
Before the heauens and the earth were made Thou knoweſt what things were then:
As all things elſe that hath beene ſince,
Among the Sonnes of men.

And can the things that I have done,
Be hidden from thee then?
Nay nay thou knoweſt them all, O Lord,
Where they were done and when.
Wherefore with teares I come to thee,
To beg and to intreat;

Even

The Lords prayer.

Even as the Child that hath done evill,
And feareth to be beat.

So come I to thy mercy gate
Where mercy doth abound,
Requiring mercy for my ſinne,
To heale my deadly wound.
O Lord, I need not to repeate,
What I doe beg or crave:
Thou know'ſt, O Lord, before I aske,
The thing that I would have.
Mercy good Lord, mercy I aske,
This is the totall ſumme:
For mercy Lord is all my ſuite,
Lord let thy mercy come.

The Lords Prayer, or our debters, ſo forgive our debts we my preſence ſhalt thou have.

No maner graven image ſhalt thou make at all to be,
Nor any figure like by thee,
ſhall conterfaited be,
Or any thing in heaven above,
nor in the earth below:
Nor in the waters beneath the earth,
to them thou ſhalt not bow.

Nor ſhalt thou ſerve, The Lord thy God,
a jealous God am I,
That puniſh parent faults vnto,
the third and fourth degree,
Vpon their children that me hate, and mercy doe diſplay
To thouſands of ſuch as me love,
and my precepts obey:

The name thou of thy Lord thy God,
in vaine ſhalt never vſe
For him that takes his name in vaine,
the Lord will not excuſe
Remember that thou holy keepe,
the ſacred Sabbath day:
Sixe dayes thou labour ſhall and doe,
thy needfull works alway.

The ſeventh day is ſet by the Lord,
thy God to reſt vpon.
No worke then ſhalt thou doe in it,
ne thou, nor yet the ſonne:
Thy daughter, ſervant, nor handmaid,
thine Oxe nor yet thine Aſſe:
Nor ſtranger that within thy gates,
hath his abiding place:

For in ſixe dayes God heaven, earth,
and all therein did make:
And after thoſe his reſt he did vpon the ſeventh day take.
Wherefore he bleſt the day that he
for reſting did ordaine:
And ſacred to himſelfe alone,
appointed to remaine.

Yeeld honour to thy parents that,
prolongd thy dayes may be:
Vpon the land the which the Lord,
thy God hath given thee:
Thou ſhalt not murther: thou ſhalt not commit adultery:
Thou ſhalt not ſteale, nor witneſſe falſe againſt thy neighbour be.

Thou ſhallt not covet houſe that to thy neighbour doth belong:
Ne covet ſhalt in having of his wife to doe him wrong.

Nor

Nor his man-ſervant, nor his maide;
Nor oxe, nor aſſe of his,
Nor any other thing that to thy neighbour proper is.

The Complaint of a ſinner, who craveth of Chriſt, to be kept vnder his mercie.

WHere righteouſneſſe doth ſay, Lord for my ſinfull part. In wrath thou ſhouldſt me pay, Vengeance for my deſart, I can it not deny, but needs I muſt confeſſe, how that continually thy lawes I doe tranſgreſſe, thy lawes I doe tranſgreſſe.

But if it be thy will
With ſinners to contend,
Then all thy flocke ſhall ſpill,
And be loſt without end.
For who liveth heere ſo right,
That rightly he can ſay,
He ſinnes not in thy ſight,
Full oft and euery day?
The Scripture plaine tels me
The righteous man offendeth
Seuen times a day to thee,
Whereon thy wrath dependeth,
So that the righteous man,
Doth walke in no ſuch path,
But he fall'th now and than
In danger of thy wrath.
Then ſith the caſe ſo ſtands,
That euen the man right wiſe
Fall'th oft in ſinfull bands,
Whereby thy wrath may riſe,
Lord I that am vniuſt,
And righteouſneſſe none have,
Whereto then ſhall I truſt,
My ſinfull ſoule to ſaue?
But truely to that poſt,
Whereto I cleaue and ſhall,
Which is thy mercy moſt,
Lord let thy mercy fall.
And mittigate thy moode,
Or elſe wee periſh all,
The price of this thy blood,
Wherein mercy I call.
The Scripture doth declare,
No drop of blood in thee,
But that thou didſt not ſpare,
To ſhed each drop for me.
Now let thoſe drops moſt ſweete,

So moiſt my heart ſo drie,
That I with ſinne repleat,
May liue and ſinne may die.

That being mortified,
This ſinne of mine in me:
I may be ſanctified,
By grace of thine in thee:
So that I never fall,
Into ſuch mortall ſinne,
That my foes infernall,
Reioyce my death therein.

But vouchſafe me to keepe
From thoſe infernall foes,
And from that lake ſo deepe,
Whereas no mercie growes,
And I ſhall ſing the ſongs
Confirmed with the iuſt,
That vnto thee belongs,
Which art mine onely truſt.

THE PSALMES OF DAVID.

Beatus vir. Pſalme I. T. S.

This Pſalme is ſet firſt, as a preface to exhort all godly men to ſtudie and meditate the heauenly wiſedome: for they are bleſſed that ſo doe, but the wicked contemners thereof at length ſhall come to miſery.

HE man is bleſt that hath not bent, to wicked reade

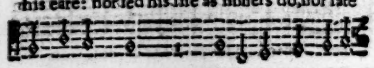
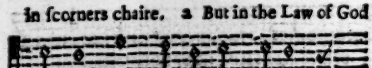
this eare: nor led his life as ſinners do, nor ſate



in ſcorners chaire. a But in the Law of God



the Lord doeth ſet his whole delight: And in that Law doth exerciſe himſelfe both day and night,

3 He ſhall be like the tree that growes
faſt by the riuers ſide:
Which bringeth forth moſt pleaſant fruit,
in her due time and tide,
Whoſe leafe ſhall never fade nor fall,
but flouriſh ſtill and ſtand:
Even ſo all things ſhall proſper well that this man takes in hand.

4 So ſhall not the vngodly men,
they ſhall be nothing ſo;

But

But as the dust which from the earth
the winde drives to and fro.
5 Therefore ſhall not the wicked men in iudgement ſtand vpright:
Nor yet the ſinners with the iuſt,
ſhall come in place or ſight.
6 For why? the way of godly men
vnto the Lord is knowne:
And eke the way of wicked men
ſhall quite be overthrowne.

Quare fremuerunt? Pſal. ij. T.S.

David reioyceth, that albeit enemies and vvorldly powver rage, God vvill advance his kingdome, even to the fartheſt end of the vvorld. Therefore hee exhorteth Princes humbly to ſubmit themſelves vnder the ſame. Herein is ſignifyed Chriſt and his Kingdome.

Sing this as the 1. Pſalme.

WHy did the Gentiles tumult raiſe,
what rage was in their braine?
Why did the Iewiſh people muſe, ſeeing all is but vaine?
2 The kings and rulers of the earth
conſpire, and are all bent, Againſt the Lord and Chriſt his ſonne, which he among vs ſent.
3 Shall we be bound to them, ſay they?
let all their bonds be broke:
And of their doctrine and their law
let vs reiect the yoke.
4 But hee that in the heaven dwels their doing will deride:
And make them all as mocking ſtockes
throughout the world ſo wide.
5 For in his wrath the Lord will ſay to them vpon a day:
And in his fury trouble them,
and then the Lord will ſay:
6 I have anoynted him my King upon my holy hill:
I will therefore, Lord preach thy lawes,
and eke declare thy will.
7 For in this wiſe the Lord himſelfe did ſay to me I wot:
Thou art my deare and onely ſonne,
to day I thee begot.
8 All people I will give to thee,
as heyres at thy requeſt:
The ends and coaſts of all the earth,
by thee ſhall be poſſeſt.
9 Thou ſhalt them bruiſe even with a mace,
as men vnder foot trod:
And as the potters ſheards ſhalt breake,
them with an iron rod.
10 Now yee, O Kings and rulers all,
be wiſe therefore and learn'd:
By whom the matters of the world
be iudged and diſcern'd.
11 See that ye ſerve the Lord above in trembling and in feare:
See that with reverence ye reioyce to him in like manner.
12 See that ye kiſſe and eke embraſſe his bleſſed Sonne I ſay:
Leaſt in his wrath ye ſuddainely
periſh in the mid way, 13 If once his wrath never ſo ſmall,
ſhall kindle in his breaſt:
Oh then all they that truſt in Chriſt ſhall happy be and bleſt.

Domine quid? Pſal. iij. T.S.

David driven out of his kingdome by his ſonne Abſalon, vvas greatly tormented in his minde for his ſin. Therefore he calleth vpon God, and is bold in his promiſes, againſt the terrour both of enemies and preſent death. Then he reioyceth for the victory given to him and the Church over their enemies.

O Lord, how are my foes increaſt, which vexe me more and more? 2 They kill mine heart when as they ſay, God can him not re-ſtore. But thou, O Lord, art my defence, when I am hard beſted: My worſhip and mine honour both, and thou holdſt vp mine head.

4 Then with my voyce vpon the Lord,
I did both call and cry:
And he out of his holy hill did heare me by an by.
5 I layd me downe, and quietly
I ſlept and roſe againe:
For why? I know aſſuredly
The Lord will me ſuſtaine.
6 If ten thouſand had hem'd me in,
I could not be affraid:
For thou art ſtill my Lord, my God,
my Saviour and mine aide.
7 Riſe vp therefore, ſave my God,
for now to thee I call:
For thou haſt broke the cheekes and teeth of theſe wicked men all.
8 Salvation onely doth belong to thee, O Lord above:
Thou doſt beſtow vpon thy folke thy bleſſing and thy love.

Cum invocarem. Pſal. iiij. T.S.

David perſecuted by Saul, calleth vpon God, vvith aſſured truſt, reprooveth his enemies for reſiſting his dominion, and preferreth the favour of God before all treaſure.

Sing this as the 1. Pſalme.

O God, that art my righteouſneſſe,
Lord heare me when I call:
Thou haſt ſet me at liberty, when

when I was bound and thrall.
2 Have mercy Lord therefore on me,
and grant me my requeſt:
For vnto thee vnceſſantly to cry I will not reſt.
3 O mortall men how long will ye,
my glory thus diſpiſe?
Why wander ye in vanitie,
and follow after lies?
4 Know ye that good and godly men,
the Lord doth take and chuſe:
And when to him I make my plaint
he doth me not refuſe.
5 Sinne not but ſtand in awe therefore,
examine well your heart:
And in your chamber quietly
ſee you your ſelves convert, 6 Offer to God the ſacrifice of righteouſneſſe, I ſay:
And looke that it the living Lord
you put your truſt alway.
7 The greater ſort crave worldly gods,
and riches doe embrace:
But Lord grant vs thy countenance,
thy favour and thy grace.
8 For thou thereby ſhalt make my heart more ſoyfull and more glad,
Then they that of their corne and wine.
full great increaſe have had.
9 In peace therefore lie downe will I,
taking my reſt and ſleepe:
For thou onely wilt me, O Lord, alone in ſafety keepe.

Verba mea auribus. Pſal. v. T.S.

Dauid perſecuted by Doeg and Achitophell, Sauls flatterers, calleth vpon God to puniſh their malice. Then aſſured of ſucceſſe, he receiueth comfort.

Sing this as the 3 Pſalme.

INcline thine eare vnto my word,
O Lord my plaint conſider:
2 And heare my voyce, my King, my God,
to thee I make my prayer.
3 Heare me betime Lord tarry not,
for I will have reſpect,
My prayer earely in the morne to thee for to direct.
4 And I will truſt through patience,
in thee my God alone:
That art not pleaſed with wickedneſſe,
and ill with thee dwels none.
5 And in thy ſight ſhall never ſtand
theſe furious fooles, O Lord:
Vaine workers of iniquitie
thou haſt alwaies abhord, 6 The lyars and the flatterers, thou ſhalt deſtroy them than:
And God will hate the blood-thirſtie,
and the deceitfull man.
7 Therefore will I come to thy houſe, truſting vpon thy grace:
And reverently will worſhip thee,
toward thy holy place.
8 Lord lead me in thy righteouſneſſe, for to confound my foes:
And eke the wayes that I ſhall walke,
before my face diſcloſe.
9 For in their mouths there is no truth, their hearts are foule and vaine:
Their throat an open ſepulchre,
their tongues doe gloſe and faine.
10 Deſtroy their falſe conſpiracies, that they many come to nought.
Subuert them in their heapes of ſinne, which have rebellion wrought.
11 But thoſe that put their truſt in thee,
let them be glad alwaies,
And render thankes for thy defence,
and give thy name the praiſe.
12 For thou with favour wilt increaſe
the iuſt and righteous ſtill:
And with thy grace as with a ſhield, defend him from all ill

Domine in furore. Pſal. vj. T.S.

David for his ſinnes felt Gods hand, and conceiveth the horror of everlaſting death. Therefore he deſireth forgivenes, and not to die in Gods indignation: them ſudainely feeling Gods mercy, he rebuketh his enemies, who reioyced at his affliction.

Sing this as the 1. Pſalme.

LOrd in thy wrath reprove me not,
through I deſerve thine ire:
Nor yet correct me in thy rage,
O Lord, I thee deſire:
2 For I am weake, therefore, O Lord,
of mercy me forbeare:
And heale me Lord, for why? thou knoweſt,
my bones doe quake for feare.
3 My ſoule is troubled very ſore,
and vexed vehemently:
But Lord how long wilt thou delay to cure my miſerie?
4 Lord turne thee to thy wonted grace,
my ſilly ſoule vp take:
O ſave me not for my deſerts,
but for thy mercies ſake.
5 For why? no man among the dead
remembreth the one whit.
Or who ſhall worſhip thee, O Lord,
in the infernall pit?
6 So grievous is my plaint and moane,
that I waxe wondrous faint:
All the night long I waſh my bed,
with teares of my complaint.
7 My ſight is dim, and waxeth olde, with anguiſh of my heart:
For feare of thoſe that be my foes,
and would my ſoule ſubuert.
8 But now away from me all ye,
that worke iniquitie:
For why? the Lord heard hath the voyce of my complaint and cry.
9 He heard not onely the requeſt,
and prayer of my heart:
But it received at my hand,
and tooke it in good part.
10 And now my foes that vexed me
the Lord will ſoone defame:
And ſudainly confound them all,
to their rebuke and ſhame.

Domine

Domine Deus meus. Pſal. vij. T.S.

David falſely accuſed by Chuſh Sauls Kinſman, calleth God to be his defender. Firſt, for that his conſcience did not accuſe him of any evill towards Saul. Next that it toucheth Gods glorie to avvard ſentence againſt the vvicked. And ſo vpon Gods mercies and promiſes he vvaxeth bold, threatning that it ſhall fall vpon their necks, that vvhich his enemies purpoſed for others.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

O Lord my God I put my truſt, and confidence in thee:
Save me from them that me purſue,
and eke deliver me.

2 Leaſt like a Lyon they me teare,
and rent in pieces ſmall:
Whileſt there is none to ſuccour me;
and rid me out of thrall.

3 O Lord my God, if I have done
the things that is not right:
Or elſe if I be found in fault,
or guilty in thy ſight.

4 Or to my friend rewarded ill,
or left him in diſtreſſe,
Which me purſued moſt cruelly,
and hated me cauſeleſſe:

5 Then let my foes purſue my ſoule, and eke my life downe thruſt Vnto the earth, and alſo lay mine honour in the duſt.

6 Start vp, O Lord, now in thy wrath,
and put my foes to paine:
Performe thy kingdome promiſed, to me which wrong ſuſtaine.

7 Then ſhall great nations come to thee,
and know thee by this thing:
If thou declare for love of them
thy ſelfe as Lord and King.

8 And thou that art of all men Iudge,
O Lord now iudge thou mee
According to thy righteouſneſſe, and mine integrity.

The ſecond part.

9 Lord ceaſe the hate of wicked men,
and be the iuſt mans guide:
By whom the ſecrets of all hearts are ſearched and deſcride.

10 I take mine helpe to come of God,
in all my griefe and ſmart:
That doth preſerve all thoſe that be of pure and perfect heart.

11 The iuſt man and the wicked both
God iudgeth by his power:
So that hee feeleth his mighty hand
even every day and houre.

12 Except he change his minde, I die, for even as he ſhould ſmite:
He whets his ſword, his bow he bends, ayming where he may hit.

13 And doeth prepare his mortall darts, his arrowes keene and ſharpe:
For them that doe me perſecute, whiles he doth miſchiefs warpe.

14 But loe, though he in travell be of his diveliſh forcaſt:
And of his miſchiefe once conceived,
yet brings forth nought at laſt.

15 He digs a ditch, and delves it deepe,
in hope to hurt his brother,
But he ſhall fall into the pit,
that he digd vp for other.

16 Thus wrong returneth to the hurt of him in whom it bred:
And all the miſchiefe that he wrought
ſhall fall vpon his head.

17 I will give thankes to God therefore,
that iudgeth righteouſly:
And with my ſong will praiſe the name,
of him that is moſt hie.

Domine Deus noſter. Pſa. viij. T.S.

The Prophet conſidering the excellent liberality, and fatherly providence of God towards man, vvhom he made as it vvere a God over all his vvorkes, giveth thankes, and is aſtoniſhed vvith the admiration of the ſame.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

O God our Lord how wonderfull, are thy workes every where:
Whoſe fame ſurmounts in dignity,
above the heavens cleare.

2 Even by the mouthes of ſucking babes,
thou wilt confound thy foes:
For in theſe babes thy might is ſeene,
thy graces they diſcloſe.

3 And when I ſee the heavens high the workes of thine owne hand:
The Sunne, the Moone, and all the Starres,
in order as they ſtand.

4 What thing is man, Lord, thinke I then that thou doſt him remember?
Or what is mans poſterity, that thou doſt him conſider?

5 For thou haſt made him little leſſe,
then Angels in degree:
And thou haſt crowned him alſo with glory and dignity.

6 Thou haſt preferr'd him to be Lord of all thy workes of wonder:
And at his feete haſt ſet all things,
that he ſhould keepe them vnder.

7 As ſheepe, and neate, and all beaſts elſe that in the fields doe feede:
8 Fowles of the aire, fiſh of the ſea,
and all that therein breed.

9 Therefore muſt I ſay once againe,
O God that art our Lord:
How famous and how wonderfull, are thy workes through the world!

Confitebor tibi Domine, Pſ. ix. T.S.

David giving thankes for his manifold victories received, deſireth the ſame vvonted helpe againſt his nevv enemies, and their malicious arrogancy to be deſtroyed.

Sing this as the 4. Pſalme.

WIth heart and mouth unto thee, Lord,
will I ſing laud and prayſe:
And ſpeake of all thy wondrous works,
and them declare alwayes.

2 I will be glad and much reioyce,
in thee O Lord moſt hie:
And make my ſongs extoll thy name,
above the ſtarry ſkie.

3 For that my foes are driven backe,
and turned vnto flight:
They fall downe flat, and are deſtroid by they great force and might.
4 Thou haſt reuenged all my wrong,
my griefe and all my grudge:
Thou doſt with iuſtice heare my cauſe,
moſt like a righteous Iudge.

5 Thou doſt rebuke the heathen folke,
and wicked ſo confound:
That afterward the memory of them cannot be found.
6 My foes thou haſt made good diſpatch, and all theyr townes deſtroyd:
Thou haſt their fame with them defac'd,
Through all the world ſo wide.

7 Know thou that he which is aboue,
for ever more ſhall raigne:
And in the ſeat of equitie,
true iudgement will maintaine.
8 With iuſtice he will keepe and guide,
the world and every wight:
And ſo will yeeld with equity,
to every man his right.

9 He is protector of the poore, what time they be oppreſt:
He is in all adverſitie,
their refuge and their reſt:
10 All they that know thy holy Name, therefore ſhall truſt in thee:
For thou forſakeſt not their ſuite,
in their neceſſitie.

The ſecond part.

11 Sing Pſalmes therefore vnto the Lord,
that dwels in Sion hill:
Publiſh among all Nations
his noble acts and will.
12 For he is mindfull of the blood of thoſe that be oppreſt.
Forgetting not the afflicted heart,
that ſeekes to him for reſt.

13 Haue mercy Lord on me poore wretch,
Whoſe enemies ſtill remaine:
Which from the gates of death art wont to raiſe me vp againe.
14 In Sion that I may ſet forth thy prayſe with heart and voyce:
And that in thy ſalvation Lord,
my ſoule may ſtill reioyce.

15 The heathen ſticke faſt in the pit,
that they themſelves preparde:
And in the net that they did ſet,
their owne feete faſt are ſnarde.
16 God ſheweth his iudgements which were good for every man to marke:
When as you ſee the wicked man lie trapt in his owne warke.

17 The wicked, and the ſinfull men
goe downe to hell for ever:
And all the people of the world,
that will not God remember.
18 But ſure the Lord will not forget the poore mans griefe and paine:
The patient people neuer looke for helpe of God in vaine.

19 O Lord ariſe, leaſt men prevaile that be of worldly might.
And let the heathen folke receiue their iudgement in thy ſight.
20 Lord, ſtrike ſuch terrour, feare and dread into the hearts of them,
That they may know aſſuredly
They be but mortall men.

Vt quid Domine. Pſal. x. T. S.

Hee complaineth of all the vvrongs vvhich vvorldly men vſe becauſe of their proſperity, vvho therefore vvithout all feare of God, thinke they may doe all things vncontrouled. He calleth for remedie againſt ſuch, and is comforted vvith the hope thereof.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

WHat is the cauſe, that thou, O Lord,
art now ſo farre from thine:
And keepeſt cloſe thy countenance,
from vs this troubles time?
2 The poore doe periſh by the proud,
and wicked mens deſire:
Let them be taken in their craft,
that they themſelves conſpire.

3 For in the luſt of their owne heart,
th'vngodly doth delight:
So doth the wicked prayſe himſelfe,
and doth the Lord deſpite.
4 He is ſo proud that right and wrong
He ſetteth all apart:
Nay, nay, there is no God, ſaith he for thus he thinks in heart.

5 Becauſe his waies doe proſper ſtill,
he doth thy lawes neglect:
And with a blaſt doth puffe againſt
ſuch as would him correct.
6 Tuſh, tuſh, ſaith he, I have no dread, leaſt mine eſtate ſhould change:
And why? for all adverſity to him is very ſtrange.

7 His mouth is full of curſedneſſe, of fraude, deceit, and guile:
Vnder his tongue doth miſchiefe ſit,
and trauell all the while.
8 He lieth hid in waies and holes,
to ſlay the innocent:
Againſt the poore that paſſe him by,
his cruell eies are bent.

9 And like a Lion privily, lies lurking in his den:
(If he may ſnare them in his net)
to ſpoile poore ſimple men.
10 And for the nonce full craftily
he coucheth downe, I ſay:
11 So are great heapes of poore men made by his ſtrong power, his pray.

The ſecond part.

12 Tuſh, God forgetteth this, ſaith he, therefore may I be bold:
His countenance is caſt aſide,
he doth it not behold.
13 Ariſe, O Lord, O God in whom the poore mans hope doth reſt:
Lift vp thine hand, forget not Lord,
the poore that be oppreſt.

14 What blaſphemy is this to thee,
Lord, doſt thou not abhorre it?

To heare the wicked in their hearts
ſay, Tuſh, thou careſt not for it.
15 But thou ſeeſt all their wickedneſſe, and wel doſt vnderſtand:
16 That friendleſſe and poore fatherleſſe are left into thy hand.

17 Of wicked and malicious men, then breake the power for ever:
That they with their iniquity may periſh altogether.
18 The Lord ſhall reigne for evermore,
as King and God alone:
And he will chaſe the heathen folke,
out of his land each one.

19 Thou heareſt (O Lord) the poore mens their prayers and requeſt: (plaint Their hearts thou wilt confirme vntill thine eares to heare be preſt.
20 To iudge the poore and fatherleſſe, and helpe them to their right:
That they may be no more oppreſt with men of wordly might.

In domino. Pſal.xj. T.S.

This Pſalme ſheweth firſt what aſſaults of temptation and anguiſh of minde he ſuſtained in perſecution. Next, he reioyceth that God ſent him ſuccour in neceſſitie, declaring his iuſtice as well in governing the good and wicked men, as the whole world.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

I Truſt in God: how dare ye then ſay thus my ſoule vntill, Fly hence as faſt as any foule and hide you in your hill?
2 Behold the wicked bend their bowes,
and make their arrowes preſt,
To ſhoat in ſecret, and to hurt
the ſound and harmeleſſe breſt.
3 Of wordly hope all ſtayes were ſhrunke, and clearely brought to nought:
Alas, the iuſt and righteous man,
what euill hath he wrought?
4 But he that in his temple is,
moſt holy and moſt hie:
And in the heavens hath his ſeate
of royall maieſtie,
The poore and ſimple mans eſtate
conſidereth in his minde:
And ſearcheth out full narrowly the manners of mankinde.
5 And with a chearefull countenance
the righteous man will vſe:
But in his heart he doth abhorre
all ſuch as miſchiefe muſe.
6 And on the ſinners caſteth ſnares,
as thick as any raine:
Fire and brimſtone, and whirle-windes thick, appointed for their paine.
7 Ye ſee then how a righteous God doth righteouſneſſe imbrace:
And to the iuſt and vpright man ſhewes forth his pleaſant face.

Saluum me fac. Pſal.xij.T.S.

The Prophet ſeeing the miſerable decay of all good order, deſireth God ſpeedily to ſend reformation. Then comforted with the aſſurance of Gods helpe and promiſes, concludeth that when al orders are moſt corrupted, then God will deliver his.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

HElpe Lord for good and godly men
doe periſh and decay,
And faith and trueth from wordly men,
is parted cleane away.
2 who ſo doth with his neighbour talke,
his talke is all but vaine:
For every man be thinketh how to flatter, lie, and faine.

3 But flattering and deceitfull lips,
and tongues that be ſo ſtout,
To ſpeake proud words & make great brags,
the Lord ſoone cuts them out.
4 For they ſay ſtill, we will prevaile,
our tongues ſhall vs extoll:
Our tongues are ours, we ought to ſpeake,
what Lord ſhall vs controll?

5 But for the great complaint and cry of poore man and oppreſt, Ariſe will I, now ſaith the Lord,
and them reſtore to reſt.
6 Gods word is like to ſilver pure,
that from the earth is tride:
And hath no leſſe then ſeven times in fire bene purified.

7 Now ſince thy promiſe is to helpe,
Lord keepe thy promiſe then:
And ſave vs now and evermore,
from this ill kinde of men.
8 For now this wicked world is full of miſchiefes manifold,
When vanity with mortall men
ſo highly is extold.

Vſque quo Domine. Pſal. xiij. T.S.

David, as it were overcome with affliction, flyeth to God his onely refuge, and encouraged through Gods promiſes, hee conceiveth confidence againſt the extreame horrours of death.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

HOw long wilt thou forget me Lord,
ſhall I ne'er be remembred?
How long will thou thy viſage hide,
as if thou were offended?
2 In heart and minde how long ſhall I with care tormented be?
How long eke ſhall my deadly foe
thus triumph ouer me?

3 Behold me now O Lord my God,
and heare me ſore oppreſt:
Lighten mine eyes leaſt that I ſleepe,
as one by death poſſeſt.
4 Leaſt thus mine enemie ſay to me,
behold I doe prevaile:
Leaſt they alſo that hate my ſoule
reioyce to ſee me quaile.

5 But from thy mercies and goodnes
my hope ſhall never ſtart:
In thy reliefe and ſaving health,
right glad ſhalbe mine heart.
6 I will give thankes vnto the Lord,
and praiſes to him ſing.
Becauſe he hath heard my requeſt, and granted my wiſhing.

Dixit inſipiens. Pſal. xiiij. T. S.

He deſcribeth the wickednesse of men, so growne to such licentiousneſſe, that God was brought to vtter contempt, for which albeit he was greatly grieved, yet perſwaded that God would redreſſe it, he is comforted.

THere is no God, as fooliſh men affirme in their mad mood: Their driſts are all corrupt and vaine, not one of them doth good. The Lord beheld from heaven high the whole race of mankinde: And ſaw not one that ſought indeed the living God to finde.

3 They went all wide and were corrupt, and truely there was none:
That in the world did any good,
I ſay there was not one.
4 Is all their iudgement ſo far loſt, that all worke miſchiefe ſtill:
Eating my people even as bread,
not one to ſeeke Gods will?
5 When they thus rage, then ſuddenly great feare on them ſhall fall:
For God doeth love the righteous men,
and will maintaine them all.
6 Ye mocke the doings of the poore, to their reproach and ſhame:
Becauſe they put their truſt in God,
and call vpon his name.
7 But who ſhall give thy people health,
and when wilt thou fulfill:
The promiſe made to Iſrael
from out of Sion hill?
8 Even when thou ſhalt reſtore againe
ſuch as were captive lad:
Then Iacob ſhall therein reioyce,
and Iſrael ſhalbe glad.

Domine quis? Pſal. xv. T. S.

Here is taught why God choſe the Ievves his peculiar people, and placed his temple among them, which was, that they by living vprightly, might witneſſe, that they were his holy ſpeciall people.

Sing this as the 3. Pſalme.

O Lord within thy tabernacle who ſhall inhabite ſtill?
Or whom wilt thou receive to dwell in thy moſt holy hill?
2 The man whoſe life is vncorrupt, whoſe workes are iuſt and ſtraight:
Whoſe heart doth thinke the very trueth,
whoſe tongue ſpeakes not deceit.
3 Nor to his neighbour doth none ill
in body, goods, or name:
Nor willingly doth moove falſe tales which might impaire the ſame.
4 That in his heart regardeth not malicious wicked men,
But thoſe that love and feare the Lord
he maketh much of them.
5 His oath and all his promiſes that keepeth faithfully:
Although he make his covenant ſo,
that he doth loſe thereby.
6 That putteth not to vſury
his money, and his coine:
Ne for to hurt the innocent,
doth bribe or elſe purloine.
7 Who ſo doth all things as you ſee, that here is to be done.
Shall never periſh in this world,
nor in the world to come.

Conſerva me. Pſal. xvj. T. S.

David prayeth to God for ſuccour, not for his vvorkes but for his faiths ſake, proteſting that he hateth all idolatrie, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie, vvho ſuffereth his to lacke nothing.

Sing this as the 14. Pſalme.

LOrd keepe me for I truſt in thee,
and doe confeſſe in deed,
Thou art my God, and of my goods
O Lord thou haſt no neede.
2 I give my goods vnto the Saints that in the world doe dwell:
And namely to the faithfull flocke
in vertue that excell.
3 They ſhall heape ſorrowes on their heads which runne as they were mad
To offer to the Idoll Gods:
alas it is too bad.
4 As for their bloody ſacrifice,
and offrings of that ſort:
I will not touch nor yet thereof
my lips ſhall make report.
5 For why? the Lord the portion is of mine inheritance:
And thou art hee that doſt maintaine
my rent, my lot, my chance.
6 The place wherein my lot did fall,
in beauty did excell:
Mine heritage aſſigne to me
doth pleaſe me wondrous well.
7 I thanke the Lord that cauſed me
to vnderſtand the right:
For by this meanes my ſecret thoughts
doe teach every night.
8 I ſet the Lord ſtill in my ſight,
and truſt him over all:
For he doth ſtand on my right hand,
therefore I ſhall not fall.

9 Where-

5 Wherefore my heart and tongue alſo, doe both reioyce together:
My fleſh and body reſt in hope,
when I this thing conſider.
8 Thou wilt not leave my ſoule in grave,
(for Lord thou loveſt me)
Nor yet wilt give thy holy one corruption for to ſee.
9 But wilt teach me the way to life for all treaſure and ſtore
Of perfect ioy are in thy face, and power for evermore.

Exaudi Domine. Pſal. xvij. T. S.

Here is complaineth to God of the cruell pride and arrogancie of Saul, who rageth without any cauſe, therefore he deſireth God to revenge his innocencie, and deliver him.

Sing this as the 3 Pſalme.

O Lord give eare to my iuſt cauſe, attend when I complaine:
And heare the prayer that I put forth with lipps that doe not faine.
2 And let the iudgement of my cauſe
proceede allwayes from thee:
And let thine eyes behold and cleare
this my ſimplicitie.
3 Thou haſt well tride me in the night,
and yet could nothing finde,
That I have ſpoken with my tongue,
that was not in my minde.
4 As for the workes of wicked men,
and paths perverſe and ill,
For love of thy moſt holy word,
I have refrained ſtill.
6 Then in the paths that be moſt pure,
ſtay me Lord and preſerve:
That from the way wherein I walke
my ſteppes may never ſwerve.
6 For I doe call to thee, O Lord, ſurely thou wilt me aide:
Then heare my prayer, and weigh right well
the wordes that I have ſaid.
7 O thou the Saviour of all them that put their truſt in thee:
Declare thy ſtrength on them that ſpurne
againſt thy maieſtie.
8 O keepe me Lord, as thou wouldſt keepe
the apple of thine eye:
And vnder covert of thy wings defend me ſecretly.

The ſecond part.

9 From wicked men that trouble me,
and dayly me annoy,
And from my foes that goe about my ſoule for to deſtroy.
10 Which wallow in their worldly wealth,
ſo full and eke ſo fat:
That in their pride they doe not ſpare to ſpeake they care not what.
11 They lie in waite where I ſhould paſſe, with craft me to confound:
And muſing miſchiefes in their mindes,
to caſt me on the ground, 12 Much like the Lyon greedily that would his prey embrace:
Or lurking like a lyons whelpe within ſome ſecret place.
13 Vp Lord with haſt prevent my foe,
and caſt him at my feete:
Saue thou my ſoule from the ill man,
and with the ſword him ſmite.
14 Deliver me Lord by thy power,
out of theſe tyrants hands:
Which now ſo long time reigned have
and kept vs in their bands.
15 I meane from worldly men, to whom all worldly goods are rife:
That have no hope or part of ioy,
but in this preſent life.
16 Thou of thy ſtore their bellies fill'ſt with pleaſures to their minde:
Their children have enough, and leave to their the reſt behinde.
17 But I ſhall with pure conſcience, behold thy gracious face:
So when I wake I ſhall be full of thine image and grace.

Diligam te Dom. Pſal. xviij. T. S.

David giveth thankes, entring into his kingdome extolling the marveilous graces of God in his preſervation: wherein is the image of Chriſt's Kingdome, which ſhall conquere through Chriſt, by the vnſpeakable love of God, though all the world reſiſt.

3 When I ſing laud vnto the Lord,
moſt worthy to be ſerv'd:
Then from my foes I am right ſure that I ſhall be preſerv'd.
4 The pangs of death did compaſſe me,
and bound me every where:
The flowing waves of wickedneſſe did put me in great feare.
5 The ſlie and ſubtill ſnares of hell were round about me ſet:

And for my death there was prepar'd
a deadly trapping net.
6 I thus beſet with paine and griefe,
did pray to God for grace,
And he foorthwith did heare my plaint
out of his holy place.

7 Such is his power that in his wrath,
he made the earth to quake:
Yea, the foundation of the mount of Baſan for to ſhake.
8 And from his noſtrils came a ſmoake,
when kindled was his ire.
And from his mouth came kindle coales,
of hot conſuming fire.

9 The Lord deſcended from above,
and bowed the heavens hie:
And vnderneath his feete he caſt
the darkeneſſe of the skie.
10 On Cherubs and on Cherubins full royally he rode:
And on the wings of all the windes came flying all abroad.

The ſecond part.

11 And like a den moſt darke he made his hid and ſecret place:
With waters blacke, and ayrie clouds, enuironed he was.
12 But when the preſence of his face in brightneſſe ſhall appeare:
The clouds conſume, and in their ſtead,
come haile and coales of fire.

13 The fiery darts and thunder-bolts, diſperſe them here and there:
And with his often lightenings
he puts them in great feare.
14 Lord at thy wrath and threatnings, and at thy chiding cheare,
The ſprings and the foundations of all the world appeare.

15 And from above the Lord ſent downe to fetch me from below:
And pluck me out of waters great,
that would me overflow.
16 And me delivered from my foes,
That would have made me thrall:
Yea, from ſuch foes as were too ſtrong for me to deale withall.

17 They dit prevent me to oppreſſe, in time of my great griefe:
But yet the Lord was my defence,
my ſuccour and reliefe.
18 He brought me foorth in open place,
whereas I might be free:
And kept me ſafe becauſe he had a fauour vnto me.

19 And as I was an innocent, ſo did he me regard:
And to the cleanneſſe of my hands
he gave me my reward.
20 For that I walked in his wayes, and in his paths have trod:
And have not wauered wickedly againſt the Lord my God.

The third part.

21 But evermore I have reſpect to his law and decree:
His ſtatutes and commandements,
I caſt not out from me.
22 But pure and cleane and vncorrupt, appear'd before his face:
And did refraine from wickedneſſe,
and ſinne in any caſe.

23 The Lord therefore will me reward,
as I have done aright:
And to the cleanneſſe of my hands,
appearing in his ſight.
24 For Lord with him that holy is wilt thou be holy to:
And with the good and vertuous man, right vertuouſly wilt doe.

25 And to the louing and elect thy love thou wilt reſerve:
And thou wilt vſe the wicked men,
as wicked men deſerve:
26 For thou doeſt ſave the ſimple folke,
in trouble when they lie:
And doeſt bring downe the countenance of them that looke full hie.

27 The Lord will light my candle ſo that it ſhall ſhine full bright:
The Lord my God will make alſo
my darkeneſſe to be light.
28 For by thy helpe an hoſt of men
diſcomfit Lord I ſhall:
By thee I ſcale and overleape
the ſtrength of any wall.

29 Vnſpotted are the wayes of God,
his word is purely tride.
He is a ſure defence to ſuch
As in his faith abide.
30 For who is God except the Lord?
for other there is none:
Or elſe who is omnipotent ſaving our God alone?

The fourth part.

31 The Lord that girdeth me with ſtrength, is he that I doe meane:
That all the wayes where in I walke
doth evermore keepe cleane.
32 That made my feete like to the Harts,
in ſwiftneſſe of my peace:
And for my ſuretie brought me foorth into an open place.

33 He did in order put my hands,
to battell and to fight:
To breake in ſunder barres of braſſe
he gave my arme the might.
34 Thou teacheſt me thy ſaving health,
thy right hand is my tower:
Thy love and familiarity
doth ſtill increaſe my power.

35 And vnder me thou makeſt plaine
the way where I ſhould walke,
So that my feete ſhall never ſlip,
nor ſtumble at a balke.
36 And fiercely I purſue and take my foes that me annoid:
And from the field doe not returne, till they be all deſtroyed.

37 So I ſuppreſſe and wound my foes, that they can riſe no more:

For at my feete they fall downe flat,
I ſtrike them alſo ſore :
38 For thou doeſt gird me with thy ſtrength to warre in ſuch a wiſe :
That they be all ſcattered abroad that vp againſt me riſe.

39 Lord thou haſt put into my hands,
my mortall enemies yoke :
And all my foes thou doeſt devide,
in ſunder with thy ſtroke :
40 They call'd for helpe, but none gave eare, nor helpe them with reliefe :
Yea, to the Lord they call'd for helpe, yet heard he not their griefe.

The fifth part.

41 And ſtill like duſt before the winde,
I drive them vnder feet :
And ſweepe them out like filthy clay,
that ſtriketh in the ſtreet.
42 Thou keep'ſt me from ſeditious folke that ſtill in ſtrife be led :
And thou doeſt of the heathen folke, appoynt me to be head.

43 A people ſtrange to me vnknowne,
And yet they ſhall me ſerve :
And at the firſt obey my word,
whereas mine owne will ſwerve.
44 I ſhallbe irkeſome to mine owne,
they will not ſee my light :
But wander wide out of the way,
and hide them out of ſight.

45 But bleſſed be the living Lord,
moſt worthy of all prayſe :
That is my rocke and ſaving health,
praiſed be he alwayes.
46 For God it is that gave mee power revenged for to be :
And with his holy word ſubdude
the people vnto me.

47 And from my foe delivered me,
and ſet me higher then thoſe :
That cruell and vngodly were,
and vp againſt me roſe :
48 And for this cauſe, O Lord my God, to thee give thanks I ſhall :
And ſing our praiſes to thy name,
among the Gentiles all.
49 Thou gaveſt great proſperity,
vnto the King I ſay :
To David thine anoynted King,
and to his ſeede for aye.

Cœli enarrant. Pſal. xix. T. S.

Hee mooveth the faithfull to glorifie God by the vvorkmanſhip, proportion, and ornaments of the heavens, and by the lavv vvherein God is revealed familiarly to his choſen people.

Sing this as the 14 Pſalme.

THe heavens and the firmament,
doe wondrouſly declare :
Thy glory of God omnipotent,
his workes and what they are.
2 The wondrous works of God appeare,
by every dayes ſucceſſe :
The nights likewiſe which their race runne,
the ſelfe ſame thing expreſſe.
3 There is no language, tongue or ſpeech, where their ſound is not heard :
In all the earth and coaſtes thereof,
their knowledge is conferd.
4 In them the Lord made for the ſunne,
a place of great renowne :
Who like a bridegroome readie trimd, doth from his chamber come.

5 And as a valiant champion, who for to get a priſe :
With ioy doth haſte to take in hand,
ſome noble enterpriſe.
6 And all the skie from end to end, he compaſſeth about :
Nothing can hide it from his heate,
but he will finde it out.

7 How perfect is the law of God,
how is his covenant ſure ?
Converting ſoules and making wiſe
the ſimple and obſcure.
8 Juſt are the Lords commandements, and glad both heart and minde :
His precepts pure and giveth light to eyes that be full blinde.

9 The feare of God is excellent, and doth endure for ever :
The iudgements of the Lord are true,
and righteous altogether.
10 And more to be imbrac'd alwayes,
then fined gold I ſay :
The hony and the hony combe,
are not ſo ſweete as they.

11 By them thy ſervant is forwarn'd, to have God in regard,
And in performance of the ſame,
there ſhalbe great reward.
12 But Lord what earthly man doth know
the errours of this life :
Then cleanſe my ſoule from ſecret ſinnes,
which are in me moſt rife.

13 And keepe me that preſumptuous ſinnes, prevaile not over me :
And then ſhall I be innocent and great offences flee.
14 Accept my mouth and eke my heart,
my words and thoughts each one :
For my redeemer and my ſtrength,
O Lord thou art alone.

Exaudi te Deus. Pſal. xx. T. S.

The people pray to God to heare their King, and receiue his ſacrifice, vvhich hee offered before he vvent to battell againſt the Ammonites declaring that the heathen put their truſt in horſes, but they truſt onely in his Name : vvherefore the other ſhall fall, but the King and his people ſhall ſtand.

Sing this as the 14 Pſalme.

IN trouble and aduerſitie,
the Lord God heare thee ſtill :
The maieſtie of Iacobs God, defend thee from all ill.
2 And ſend thee from his holy place his helpe at every need :
And ſo in Sion eſtabliſh thee,
and make thee ſtrong indeed.

3 Remembring well the ſacrifice,
that now to him is done,
And to receive right thankefully thy burnt offrings each one:
4 According to thy hearts deſire,
the Lord grant vnto thee:
And all thy counſell and device full well performe may he.

5 We ſhall reioyce when thou vs ſaveſt,
and our banners diſplay:
Vnto the Lord which thy requeſts fulfilled hath alway.
6 The Lord will his anoynted ſave,
I know well by his grace
And ſend him health by his right hand,
out of his holy place.

7 In chariots ſome put confidence, and ſome in horſes truſt:
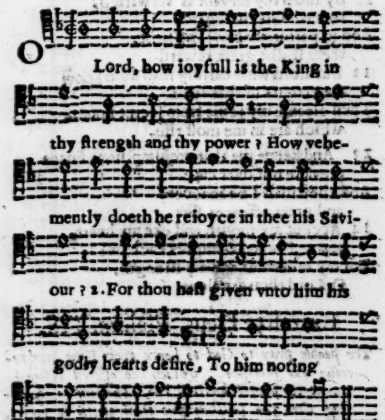
But we remember God our Lord,
that keepeth promiſe iuſt.
8 They fall downe flat, but we doe riſe,
and ſtand vp ſtedfaſtly:
Now ſave and helpe vs Lord and king,
on thee when wee doe crie.

Domine in virtute. Pſal. xxj. T. S.

David in the perſon of the people praiſed God for the victory given them againſt the Syrians and Ammonites, 2. Sam. 21. when hee was crowned with the crowne of the king of Ammon, 2. Sam. 12. and indued with the manifold bleſſings of God.



3 Thou didſt prevent him with thy gifts, and bleſſings manifold:
And thou haſt ſet vpon his head
a crowne of perfect gold.
4 And when he asked life of thee, thereof thou mad'ſt him ſure,
To have long life, yea ſuch a life,
as ever ſhould endure.

5 Great is his glory by thy helpe,
thy benefits and aide:
Great worſhip and great honour both,
thou haſt vpon him laid:
6 Thou ſhalt give him felicity,
that never ſhall decay:
And with thy cheerefull countenance,
wilt comfort him alway.

7 For why? the king doth ſtrongly truſt
in God for to prevaile:
Therefore his goodneſſe and his grace,
will not that he ſhall quaile:
8 But let thine enemies feele thy force,
and thoſe that thee withſtand:
Finde out thy foes, and let them feele,
the power of thy right hand.

9 And like an Oven burne them Lord
in fiery flame and fume:
Thine angor ſhall deſtroy them all,
and fire ſhall them conſume.
10 And thou wilt root out of the earth,
their fruit that ſhould encreaſe,
And from the number of thy folke, their ſeede ſhall end and ceaſe.

11 For why? much miſchiefe they doe muſe, againſt thy holy name:
Yet did they faile, and had no power,
for to performe the ſame.
12 But as a marke thou ſhalt them ſet,
in a moſt open place:
And charge the bow-ſtrings readily againſt thine enemies face.

13 Be thou exalted Lord therefore,
in thy ſtrength every houre:
So ſhall we ſing right ſolemnely, praiſing thy might and power.

Deus Deus meus. Pſal. xxij. T. S.

David complaineth of his deſperate extremities, and declareth wherby hee recovereth himſelfe from temptation. Vnder his perſon Chriſt is figured.

Sing this as the 21 Pſalme.

O God, my God wherefore doeſt thou forſake my vtterly?
And helpeſt not when I doe make,
my great complaint and crie?
2 To thee my God even all day long,
I doe both crie and call:
I ceaſe not all the night and yet thou heareſt not at all.

3 Even thou that in thy ſanctuary, and holy place doeſt dwell:
Thou art the comfort and the ioy,
and glory of Iſrael.
4 And he in whom our fathers old,
had all their hope for ever,
And when they put their truſt in thee,
ſo didſt thou them deliver.

5 They were delivered ever when they called on thy name:
And for the faith they had in thee,
they were not put to ſhame.
6 But now I am become a worme,
more like then any man:
An out caſt whom the people ſcorne, with all the ſpight they can.

7 And me deſpiſe as they behold mewaking on the way:

They

They grin, they mow, they nod their heads, and in this wiſe they ſay;
8 This man did glory in the Lord,
his favour and his love:
Let him redeeme and help him now,
his power if he will prove.

9 But Lord, out of me mothers wombe
I came by thy beheſt:
Thou didſt preſerve me ſtill in hope,
while I did ſucke her breſt.
10 I was committed from my birth,
with thee to have aboad:
Since I was in my mothers wombe:
thou haſt beene ever my God.

The ſecond part.

11 Then Lord depart not now from mee,
in this my wretched griefe:
Since I have none to be my helpe,
my ſuccour and reliefe.
12 So many buls doe compaſſe mee,
that be full ſtrong of head:
Yea, buls ſo fat, as though they had in Baſen field beene fed.

13 They gape vpon mee greedily,
as though they would me ſlay:
Much like a lyon roaring out,
and ramping for his prey.
14 But I drop downe as water ſhed, my ioynts in ſunder breake:
15 My heart doth in my body melt like waxe againſt the heate.

16 And like a potſheard drieth my ſtrength, my tongue it cleaveth faſt Vnto my iawes, and I am brought to duſt of death at laſt.
17 And many dogs doe compaſſe me,
and wicked counſell eke Conſpire againſt me curſedly, they pierce my hands and feete.

18 I was tormented, ſo that I might all my bones have told:
Yet ſtill vpon mee did they looke,
and ſtill they mee behold:
19 My garments they divided eke
in parts among them all:
And for my coat they did caſt lots,
to whom it might befall.

20 Therefore I pray thee be not farre from me at my great neede:
But rather ſith thou art my ſtrength,
to help mee Lord make ſpeede.
21 And from the ſword Lord ſave my ſoule
by thy might and thy power:
And keepe my ſoule, thy dearling deare from dogs that would devoure.

22 And from the Lyons mouth that would me all in ſunder ſhiver:
And from the hornes of Vnicornes
Lord ſafely mee deliver.
23 And I ſhall to my brethren all thy maieſty record:
And in thy Church ſhall praiſe the name of thee the living Lord.

The third part.

24 All yee that feare him praiſe the Lord,
thou Iacob honour him:
And all yee houſe of Iſrael,
with reverence worſhip him.
25 For he deſpiſeth not the poore,
he turneth not away:
His contenance when they doe call,
but graunteth to their crie.

26 Among the flocke that feare the Lord,
I will therefore proclaime Thy praiſe and keepe thy promiſe made for ſetting forth thy name.
27 The poore ſhall eate and be ſuffic'd, and thoſe that doe their dever
To know the Lord and praiſe his name, their hearts ſhall live for ever.

28 All coaſts of earth ſhall praiſe the Lord,
and turne to him for grace:
The heathen folke ſhall worſhip him before his bleſſed face.
29 The kingdome of the heathen folke, the Lord ſhall have therefore:
And he ſhall be their governour, and king for evermore.

30 The rich men of his goodly gifts
ſhall feede and taſte alſo:
And in his preſence worſhip him,
and bow their knees full low.
31 And all that ſhall goe downe to duſt,
of life by him muſt taſte:
My ſeede ſhall ſerve and praiſe the Lord,
while any word ſhall laſte.

32 My ſeede ſhall plainely ſhew to them that ſhall be borne hereafter,
His iuſtice and his righteouſneſſe,
and all his workes of wonder.

Dominus regit. Pſalm xxiij. W. W.

David having tryed Gods manifold mercies divers times, gathered aſſurance that God will continue his goodneſſe for ever.

Sing this as the 21 Pſalme.

THe Lord is onely my ſupport, and he that doth mee feede:
How can I then lacke any thing
whereof I ſtand in neede?
2 How doth mee fold in coates moſt faſe:
the tender graſſe faſt by:
And after drives mee to to the ſtreames, that runne moſt pleaſantly.

3 And when I feele my ſelfe neere loſt, then doth he mee home take,
Conducting mee in the right paths,
even for his owne name ſake.
4 And though I were even at deaths doore, yet would I feare none ill:
For with thy rod and ſheepheards crooke
I am comforted ſtill.

5 Thou haſt my table richly deckt in deſpight of my foe:
Thou haſt my head with balme refreſht,
my cup doth overflow.
6 And finally while breath doth laſt,
Thy grace ſhall me defend:
And in the houſe of God will I my life for ever ſpend.

Another of the ſame by Th. Stern.

Sing this as the 21 Pſalme.

MY ſhepheard is the living Lord,
nothing therefore I neede:
In paſtures faire, with waters calme
he ſets me for to feede.

2 He did convert and glad my ſoule, and brought my minde in frame:
To walke in paths of righteouſneſſe,
for his moſt holy name.

3 Yea, though I walke in valle of death,
yet will I feare none ill:
The rod, thy ſtaffe doth comfort me,
and thou art with me ſtill.

4 And in the preſence of my foes,
my table thou ſhalt ſpread:
Thou ſhalt, O Lord, fill full my cup,
and eke anoynt my head.

5 Through all my life thy favour is ſo frankely ſhewed to me:
That in thy houſe for evermore
my dwelling place ſhall be.

Domini eſt terra. Pſam xxiiij. I. H.

The grace of God being now uttered in the temple more glorious then before in the tabernacle, David with exclamation, ſetteth forth the honour thereof, moving the conſideration of the eternall manſions prepared in heaven, whereof this was a figure.

Sing this as the 21 Pſalme.

THE earth is all the Lords, with all her ſtore and furniture:
Yea, his is all the world, and all that therein doth enquire.

2 For he hath faſtly founded it,
above the ſea to ſtand:
And laid alow the liquid flouds,
to flow beneath the land.

3 For who is he, O Lord, that ſhall aſcend into thy hill?
And paſſe into thy holy place,
there to continue ſtill?

4 Whoſe hands are harmeleſſe, and whoſe heart,
no ſpot there doth defile:
His ſoule not ſet on vanitie,
who hath no ſworne to guile.

5 Him that is ſuch a one, the Lord
ſhall place in bleſſefull plight:
And God his God and Saviour, ſhall yeeld to him his right.

6 This is the brood of travellers,
in ſeeking of his grace:
As Iaakob did the Iſraelites,
in that time of his race.

7 Yee Princes open your gates, ſtand open
the everlaſting gate:
For there ſhall enter in thereby
the king of glorious ſtate.

8 What is the king of glorious ſtate?
the ſtrong and mightie Lord:
The mightie Lord in battell ſtout,
and tryall of the ſword.

9 Yee Princes open your gates, ſtand open
the everlaſting gate:
For there ſhall enter in thereby
the King of glorious ſtate.

10 What is the King of glorious ſtate?
the Lord of hoaſts he is:
The kingdome and the royalty of glorious ſtate is his.

Ad te Domine. Pſal. xxv. T. S.

David grieved at his ſinne and malicious enemies, moſt fervently prayeth forgiveneſſe, eſpecially of ſuch ſinnes as he committed in his youth.

I Lift mine heart to thee, my God and guide moſt juſt. Now ſuffer me to take no ſhame, for in thee doe I truſt. Let not my foes reioyce, nor make a ſcorne of mee:

And let them not be overthrowne, that put their truſt in thee.

3 But ſhame ſhall them befall, which harme them wrongfully:
Therefore thy paths and thy right wayes
vnto me Lord deſcry.
Direct me in thy trueth,
and teach me I thee pray:
Thou art my God and Saviour
on thee I waite alway.

5 Thy mercies manifold
I pray thee Lord remember:
And eke thy pitie plentifull,
for they have beene for ever.
6 Remember not the faults,
and frailty of my youth:
Remember not how ignorant
I have beene of thy truth.

Nor after my deſerts
let mee thy mercy finde:
But of thine owne benignitie
Lord have mee in thy minde.
7 His mercie is full ſweet,
his trueth a perfect guide:
Therefore the Lord will ſinners teach and ſuch as goe aſide.

8 The humble he will teach his precepts for to keepe:
He will direct in all his wayes
the lowly and the meeke.
9 For all the wayes of God are trueth and mercie both,
To them that keepe his teſtament,
the witneſſe of his troth.

The ſecond part.

10 Now for thy holy Name,
O Lord I thee intreat:
To grant me pardon for my ſinne,
for it is wondrous great.
11 Who ſo doth feare the Lord,
the Lord doth him direct:
To leade his life in ſuch away,
as he doth beſt accept.

12 His ſoule ſhall euermore, in goodneſſe dwell and ſtand:
His ſeede and his poſterity,
inherit ſhall the land.
13 All thoſe that feare the Lord, know his ſecret intent:
And vnto them he doth declare,
his Will and Teſtament.

14 Mine eyes and eke my heart, to him I will aduance:
That pluckt my feet out of the ſnare,
of ſinne and ignorance:
15 With mercie me behold,
to thee I make my mone:
For I am poore and deſolate, and comfortleſſe alone.

16 The troubles of my heart,
are multiplied indeed:
Bring me out of this miſerie, neceſſitie and need.
17 Behold my pouertie,
mine anguiſh and my plaine;
Remit my ſinne and mine offence,
and make me cleane againe.

18 O Lord, behold my foes,
how they doe ſtill increaſe:
Purſuing me with deadly hate,
that faine would liue in peace.
19 Preſerue and keepe my ſoule,
and eke deliuer me:
And let me not be ouerthrowne,
becauſe I truſt in thee.

20 Let my ſimple pureneſſe, me from mine enemies ſhend, Becauſe I looke as one of thine, that thou ſhouldſt me defend:
21 Deliuer Lord thy folke, and ſend them ſome reliefe:
I meane thy choſen Iſrael,
from all their paine and griefe.

David iniuriouſly oppreſſed and helpleſſe, yet aſſured of his integrity to Saul, calleth God to defend him cauſeleſſe afflicted. then he deſireth to be in the company of the faithfull in the congregation of God, vvhen he vvas baniſhed by Saul, promiſing godly life, open praiſes, thankeſgiuing and ſacrifice for his deliuerance.

Sing this as the 14 Pſalme.

1 LOrd be my iudge, and thou ſhalt ſee,
my pathes be right and plaine:
I truſt in God, and hope that he,
will ſtrength me to remaine.
2 Proone me my God I thee deſire, my wayes to ſearch and trie:
As men doe proone their gold with fire,
my reines and hart. triple,
3 Thy goodneſſe laid before my face,
I durſt behold alwayes:
For of thy truth I tread the trace,
and will doe all my dayes.
4 I doe not luſt to haunt or vſe, with men whoſe deeds are vaine:
To come in houſe I doe refuſe,
with the deceitfull traine.

5 I much abhorre the wicked ſort, their deeds I doe deſpiſe:
I doe not once to them reſort,
that hurtfull things deuiſe.
6 My hands I waſh and doe proceede in works to walke vpright, Then to thine altar I make ſpeed,
to offer their in ſight.

7 That I may ſpeake and preach the praiſe, that doth belong to thee:
And ſo declare how wondrous wayes,
thou haſt beene good to me.
8 O Lord, thy houſe I lone moſt deare, to me it doth excell:
I haue delight and would be neere,
whereas thy grace doth dwell.

9 O ſhut not vp, my ſoule with them,
in ſinne that take their fill:
Nor yet my life among thoſe men,
that ſeeke much blood to ſpill.
10 Whoſe hands are heapt with craft and guile their lips thereof are full,
And their right hand with wrench and wile for brides doth pluck and pull.

11 But I in righteouſneſſe intend,
my time and dayes to ſerue:
Haue mercy Lord and me defend,
ſo that I doe not ſwarue.
12 My foot it ſtaid for all aſſayes,
it ſtandeth well and right:
Wherefore to God will I giue prayſe, in all the peoples ſight.

David deliuered from great perill, giueth thankes, vvherein vvee ſee his conſtant faith againſt the aſſault of all enemies, and the end vvhy he deſireth to liue, and to be deliuered: Then he exhorteth to faith, and to attend vpon the Lord.

Sing this as the 18 Pſalme.

1 THe Lord is both my health and ſight, ſhall man make me diſmaid?
Sith God doth giue me ſtrength and might,
Why ſhould I be afraid?
2 While that my foes with all their ſtrength begin with me to braule:
And thinke to eate me vp, at length themſelues haue caught the fall.

3 Though they in campe againſt me lie,
my heart is not afraid,
In batell pight if they will trie,
I truſt in God for aid.
4 One thing of God I doe require, that he will not denie:
For which I pray and will deſire, till he to me apply.

5 That I within his holy place,
my life throughout may dwell:

To ſee the beauty of his face.
and view his temple well:
6 In time of dread he ſhall me hide, within his place moſt pure,
And keepe me ſecret by his ſide,
as on a rocke moſt ſure.

7 At length I know the Lords good grace, ſhall make me ſtrong and ſtout:
My foes to foile and cleane deface,
that compaſſe me about.
8 Therefore within his houſe will I,
giue ſacrifice of praiſe:
With Pſalmes and Songs I will apply, to laud the Lord allwayes.

The ſecond part.

9 Lord heare the voyce of my requeſt, for which to thee I call:
Haue mercy Lord on me oppreſt, and ſend me helpe withall.
10 My heart doth knowledge vnto thee,
I ſue to haue thy grace:
Then ſeeke my face lay'ſt thou to me,
Lord I will ſeeke thy face.

11 In wrath turne not thy face away,
nor ſuffer me to ſlide:
Thou art my helpe ſtill to this day,
be ſtill my God and guide.
12 My parents both their ſonne forſooke, and caſt me off at large:
And then the Lord himſelfe yet tooke,
of me the care and charge.

13 Teach me, O Lord, the way to thee,
and lead me on forth right:
For feare of ſuch as watch for me,
to trap me if they might.
14 Doe not betake me to the will,
of them that be my foes:
For they ſurmiſe againſt me ſtill,
falſe witneſſe to deſpoſe.
15 My heart would faint but that in me
this hope is fixed faſt,
The Lord Gods good grace ſhall it ſee,
in life that aye ſhall laſt.
16 Truſt ſtill in God whoſe whole thou art,
his will abide thou muſt:
And he ſhall eaſe and ſtrength thy heart,
if thou in him doe truſt.

THou art, O Lord, my ſtrenth and ſtay,
the ſuccour which I craue:
Neglect me not leaſt I be like to them that goe to graue.

3 Repute me not among the ſort,
of wicked and peruert:
That ſpeake right faire vnto their friends,
and thinke full ill in heart.
4 According to their handy worke,
as they deſerue indeed:
And after their inuentions,
let them receiue their meed.
5 For they regard nothing Gods word,
his law, ne yet his lore:
Therefore he will them and their ſeed,
deſtroy for euermore.
6 To render thankes vnto the Lord,
how great a cauſe haue I?
My voyce, my prayer and my complaint, that heard ſo willingly.

my buckler in diſtreſſe,
My hope, my health, my hearts reliefe,
my ſong ſhall him confeſſe.

Increaſe them Lord and rule their hearts,

He doth prepare the thunder-claps,

It is moſt mightie in effect,

5 The voyce of God doth rend and breake,
the Cedar trees ſo long:
The Cedar trees of Lebanus, which are moſt high and ſtrong.
6 And makes them leape like as a calfe,

7 Not onely trees but mountaines great, whereon the trees are borne.

and ſhakes the wilderneſſe:
It makes the deſart quake for feare,
that called is Cades.
9 It makes the hindes for feare to calue,
and makes the couert plaine:
Then in his temple euery man,
his glory doth proclaime.

in all my paine and griefe, Thou gaueſt an eare and didſt prouide to eaſe me with reliefe.

3 Of thy good will thou haſt cal'd back my ſoule, from hell to ſaue:
Thou didſt reuiue when ſtrength did lacke:
and kep'ſt me from the graue.
4 Sing prayſe ye Saints that prooue and ſee
the goodnes of the Lord,
In memory of his maieſtie,
reioyce with one accord.

5 For why? his anger but a ſpace doth laſt and ſlacke againe:
But in his fauour and his grace,
alwaies doth life remaine.
Though gripes of griefe and pangs full ſore
ſhall lodge with vs all night:
The Lord, to ioy ſhall vs reſtore,
before the day be light.
6 When I enioy'd this world at will,
thus would I boaſt and ſay:
Tuſh, I am ſure to feele none ill,
this wealth ſhall not decay.
7 For thou, O Lord, of thy good grace, haſt ſent me ſtrength and aid:
But when thou turn'dſt away thy face,
my minde was ſore diſmaid.
8 Wherefore againe yet did I crie, to thee, O Lord of might:
My God with plaints I did apply, and prayed both day and night.
9 What gaine is in my blood, ſayd I,
if death deſtroy my dayes?
Doth duſt declare thy maieſtie?
or yet thy trueth doth prayſe?
10 Wherefore my God ſome pitty take,
O Lord I thee deſire:
Doe not this ſimple ſoule forſake;
of helpe I thee require.
11 Then didſt thou turne my griefe and woe into a cherefull voice:
The mourning weed thou tookſt me fro,
and mad'ſt me to reioyce.
12 Wherefore my ſoule inceſſantly,
ſhall ſing vnto thy prayſe,
My Lord my God, to thee will I, giue laud and thankes alwaies.

In te Domin. ſperavi. Pſ. xxxj. T.S.

David deliuered from great danger, ſhevveth firſt vvhat meditations hee had by the power of faith, vvhen death vvas before his eyes, and hovv the fauour of God is alvvaies ready to thoſe that feare him. He exhorteth the faithfull to truſt in God, becauſe he preſerueth them.

Sing this as the 18 Pſalme.

O Lord, I put my truſt in thee,
let nothing worke me ſhame,
As thou art iuſt deliuer me,
and ſet me quite from blame.
2 Heare my, O Lord, and that anone, to helpe me make good ſpeed.
Be thou my rocke and houſe of ſtone,
my fence in time of need.
3 For why? as ſtones thy ſtrength is tride,
thou art my forth and tower:
For thy names ſake be thou my guide,
and lead me in thy power.
4 Plucke foorth my feet out of the ſnare, which they for me haue laid:
Thou art my ſtrength, and all my care is for thy might and aid.
5 Into thy hands Lord I commit my ſpirit which is thy due.
For why? thou haſt redeemed it,
O Lord my God moſt true.
6 I hate ſuch folke as will not part,
from things to be abhord:
When they on trifles ſet their heart,
my truſt is in the Lord.
7 For I will in thy mercy ioy,
I ſee it doth excell:
Thou ſeeſt when ought would me annoy,
and knoweſt my ſoule full well.
8 Thou haſt not left me in their hand,
that would me ouercharge:
But thou haſt ſet me out of band,
to walke abroad at large.

The ſecond part.

9 Great griefe, O Lord, doth me aſſaile, ſomme pitty on me take:
Mine eyes waxe dimme, my ſight doth faile,
my wombe for woe doth ake:
10 My life is worne with griefe and paine,
my yeeres in woe are paſt.
My ſtrength is gone and through diſdaine,
my bones corrupt and waſt.
11 Among my foes I am a ſcorne,
my friends are all diſmaid;
My neighbours and my kinſmen borne,
to ſee mee are afraid.
12 As men once dead are out of minde,
ſo am I now forgot:
As ſmall effect in me they finde,
as in a broken pot.

13 I heard the brages of all the rout, their threats my minde did fray:
How they conſpir'd, and went about,
to take my life away.
14 But Lord I truſt in thee for aide,
not to be ouerrod:
For I confeſſe and ſtill haue ſayd,
thou art my Lord my God.

15 The length of all my life and age,
O Lord is in thy hand:
Defend me from the wrath and rage,
of them that me withſtand.
16 To me thy ſeruant Lord expreſſe, and ſhew thy ioyfull face:
And ſaue me Lord for thy goodneſſe, thy mercy and thy grace.

The third part.

17 Lord let me not be put to blame,
for that on thee I call,
But let the wicked beare their ſhame,
and in the graue to fall.
18 O Lord, make dumbe their lipps out right, which are addict to lies,
And cruelly with pride and ſpight againſt the juſt deviſe.

19 O how great good haſt thou in ſtore, laid vp full ſafe for them,
That feare and truſt in thee therefore,
before the ſounes of men.
20 Thy preſence ſhall them fence and guide from all proud brags and wrongs:
Within thy place thou ſhalt them hide,
from all the ſtrife of tongues.

21 Thanks to the Lord that hath declar'd, on me his grace ſo farre:
Me to defend with watch and ward,
as in a towne of warre.
22 This did I ſay both day and night,
when I was ſore oppreſt:
Loe I was cleane caſt out of ſight,
yet heardſt thou my requeſt.

23 Ye Saints love ye the Lord I ſay,
the faithfull he doth guide:
And to the proud he will repay,
according to their pride.
24 Be ſtrong and God ſhall ſtay your heart,
be bold and have a luſt:
For ſure the Lord will take your part,
ſith ye in him doe truſt.

Beati quorum. Pſal. xxxij. T.S.

David puniſhed with grieuous ſickneſs for his ſins, counteth them happy to whom God doth not impute their tranſgreſſions, and after that he had confeſſed his ſinnes and obtained pardon, he exhorteth the wicked men to liue godly, and the good to reioyce.

Sing this as the 30 Pſalme.

THe man is bleſt whoſe wickedneſſe,
the Lord hath cleane remitted,
And he whoſe ſinne and wretchednеſſe,
is hid and alſo couered.
2 And bleſt is he, to whom the Lord,
imputeth not his ſinne:
Which in his heart hath hid no guile,
nor fraud is found therein.

3 For whilſt that I kept cloſe my ſinne,
in ſilence and conſtraint:
My bones did weare and waſt away,
with daily mone and plaint.
4 For night and day thy hand on me,
ſo grieuous was and ſmart:
That all my blood and honours moiſt,
to drineſſe did convert.

5 I did therefore confeſſe my fault,
and all my ſinnes diſcover:
Then thou, O Lord, didſt me forgive,
and all my ſinnes paſſe over.
6 The humble man ſhall pray therefore,
and ſeeke thee in due time:
So that the flouds of waters great,
ſhall have no power on him.

7 When trouble and aduerſitie, doe compaſſe me about:
Thou art my refuge and my ioy,
and thou doſt rid me out.
8 Come hither and I ſhall thee teach,
how thou ſhalt walke aright,
And will thee guide as I my ſelfe, have learned by proofe and ſight.

9 Be not ſo rude and ignorant,
as is the horſe and moule:
Whoſe mouth without a reyne or bit,
from harme thou canſt not rule.
10 The wicked man ſhall manifold ſorowes and griefe ſuſtaine:
But vnto him that truſt in God,
his goodneſſe ſhall remaine.

11 Be merrie therefore in the Lord,
ye iuſt lift vp your voyce:
And ye of pure and perfect heart,
be glad and eke reioyce.

Exultate iuſti. Pſal. xxxiij. T.S.

Hee exhorteth good men to prayſe God for creating and gouerning all things, and his faithfull promiſes, for ſcattering the counſell of the wicked, teaching that no creature preſerueth any man, but only his mercy.

Sing this as the 30 Pſalme.

YE righteous in the Lord reioyce,
it is a ſeemely ſight:
That vpright men with thankfull voyce, ſhould praiſe the Lord of might.
2 Prayſe ye the Lord with harpe and ſong, in Pſalmes and pleaſant things:
With Lute and inſtrument among,
that ſoundeth with ten ſtrings.
3 Sing to the Lord a ſong moſt new,
with courage giue him praiſe:
For why? his word is euer true,
his workes and all his waies.
4 To iudgement, equitie and right,
he hath a great good will,
And with his gifts he doth delight,
the earth throughout to fill.
5 For by the word of God alone,
the heauens all were wrought,
Their hoaſtes and power every one,
his breath to paſſe hath brought.
6 The waters great gathered hath he on heapes within the ſhore,
And hid them in the depth to be,
as in a houſe of ſtore.

8 All men on earth, both leſſe and moſt, feare God and keepe his Law:
Ye that inhabite in each coaſt,
dread him, and ſtand in awe.
9 What he commended wrought it was,
at once with preſent ſpeede:
What he doth will is brought to paſſe with full effect indeede.

10 The counſels of the nations rude
the Lord doth bring to nought:
He doth defeate the multitude,
of their deviſe and thought.
11 But his decrees continue ſtill,
they never ſlacke nor ſwage:
The motions of his minde and will take place in every age.

The ſecond part.

12 And bleſt are they to whom the Lord,
as God and guide is knowne:
Whom he doth chuſe of meere accord to take them as his owne.
13 The Lord from heaven caſt his ſight on men mortall by birth:
14 Conſidering from his ſeat of might the dwellers on the earth.

15 The Lord I ſay, whoſe hand hath wrought mans heart, and doth it frame:
For he alone doth know the thought and working of the ſame.
16 A King that truſteth in his hoaſt ſhall nought prevaile at length:
The man that of his might doth boaſt ſhall faile for all his ſtrength.

17 The troopes of horſe men eke ſhall faile their ſturdie ſteeds ſhall ſterve:
The ſtrength of horſe ſhall not prevaile
the rider to preſerve:
18 But loe the eyes of God intend,
and watch, to abide the iuſt:
With ſuch as feare him to offend,
and on his goodneſſe truſt.

19 That he of death and great diſtreſſe, may ſet their ſoule from dread:
And if that dearth their land oppreſſe,
in hunger them to feede.
20 Wherefore our ſoules doe ſtill depend on God our ſtrength and ſtay:
He is our ſhield, vs to defend,
and drive all darts away.

21 Our ſoule in God hath ioy and game, reioycing in his might:
For why? in his moſt holy name
we hope and much delight.
22 Therefore let thy goodneſſe, O Lord, ſtill preſent with vs be:
As we alwaies with one accord,
doe onely truſt in thee.

Benedicam Dom. Pſal. xxxiiij. T. S.

David having eſcaped Achis (1 Sam. 21) prayſeth God for his deliverance, giveth others example to truſt in God, to feare and ſerve him, who defendeth the godly with his Angels, and utterly deſtroyeth the wicked in their ſinnes.

Sing this at the 39 Pſalme.

I Will give laud and honour both vnto the Lord alwaies:
And eke my mouth for evermore
ſhall ſpeake vnto his praiſe.
2 I doe delight to laud the Lord
in ſoule, and eke in voyce:
That humble men and mortified
my heare, and ſo reioyce.

3 Therefore ſee that ye magnifie, with me the living Lord:
And let vs now exalt his name,
together with one accord.
4 For I my ſelfe beſought the Lord,
he anſwered me againe:
And me delivered incontinent
from all my feare and paine.

5 Who ſo they be that him behold, ſhall ſee his light moſt cleare:
Their countenance ſhall not be daſht,
they needе it not to feare.
6 This ſillie wretch for ſome reliefe
vnto the Lord did call:
Who did him heare without delay,
and rid him out of thrall.

7 The Angel of the Lord doth pitch his tents in every place:
To ſave all ſuch as feare the Lord,
that nothing them deface.
8 Taſte and conſider well therefore,
that God is good and iuſt:
O happy man that maketh him,
his onely ſtay and truſt.

9 Feare ye the Lord, ye holy ones,
above all earthly thing:
For they that feare the living Lord are ſure to lacke nothing.
10 The Lions ſhalbe hunger-bit, and pin'd with famine much:
But as for them that feare the Lord
no lacke ſhall be to ſuch.

The ſecond part.

11 Come neare therefore my children deare,
and to my words give eare:
I ſhall you teach the perfect way
how ye the Lord ſhould feare.
12 Who is the man that would live long and lead a bleſſed life?
13 See thou refraine thy tongue and lips from all deceit and ſtrife.

14 Turne backe thy face from doing ill
and doe the godly deed:
Inquire for peace and righteouſneſſe,
and follow it with ſpeed.
15 For why? the eyes of God above
vpon the iuſt are bent:
His eares likewiſe doe heare the plaint of the poore innocent.

16 But he doth frowne and bend the browes,
vpon the wicked traine:
And cuts away the memory
that ſhould of them remaine.
17 But when the iuſt do call and cry,
the Lord doth heare them ſo:
That out of paine and miſerie forthwith he lets them goe.
18 The Lord is kind, and ſtraight at hand,
to ſuch as be contrite:

Hee ſaves alſo the ſorrowfull,
the meeke and poore in ſpirit, 19 Full many be the miſeries that righteous men doe ſuffer:
But out of all adverſities
the Lord doth them deliver.

20 The Lord doth ſo preſerve and keepe his very bones alway,
That not ſo much as one of them
doth periſh of decay.
21 The ſinne ſhall ſlay the wicked man,
which he himſelfe hath wrought:
And ſuch as hate the righteous man
ſhall ſoone be brought to nought.

22 But they that ſerve the living Lord,
the Lord doth ſave them found:
And who that put their truſt in him,
nothing ſhall them confound.

Iudica me Domine. Pſal. xxxv. I.H.

Sauls flatterers perſecuted David, who prayeth for revenge, that his innocency may be declared, and that ſuch as take his part may reioyce, for which he promiſeth to magnifie Gods name all the dayes of his life.

Sing this as the humble ſute of a ſinner.

LOrd plead my cauſe againſt my foes, confound their force and might:
Fight on my part againſt all thoſe that ſeeke with me to fight.
2 Lay hand vpon the ſpeare and ſhield, thy ſelfe in armour dreſſe:
Stand vp for me and fight the field,
to keepe me from diſtreſſe.

3 Gird on thy ſword, and ſtop the way,
mine enemies to withſtand:
That thou unto my ſoule maiſt ſay,
loe I thy helpe at hand.
4 Confound them with rebuke and blame,
that ſeeke my ſoule to ſpill:
Let them turne backe, and flie with ſhame,
that thinke to worke me ill.

5 Let them diperſe and flie abroad,
as winde doth drive the duſt:
And that the Angell of our God,
their might away may thruſt.
6 Let all their waies be void of light,
and ſlippery like to fall:
And ſend thine Angell with thy might,
to perſecute them all.

7 For why? without my fault they have in ſecret ſet their gin:
And for no cauſe have digd a cave to catch my ſoule therein.
8 When they thinke leaſt, and have no care,
O Lord deſtroy them all:
Let them be trapt in their owne ſnare,
and in their miſchiefe fall.

9 And let my ſoule, my heart, and voyce,
in God have ioy and welth:
That in the Lord I may reioyce,
and in his ſaving health.
10 And then my bones ſhall ſpeake and ſay,
my parts ſhall all agree:
O Lord, though they doe ſeeme full gay,
what man is like to thee?

The ſecond part.

11 Thou did'ſt defend the weake from them that are both ſtout and ſtrong:
And rid the poore from wicked men,
the ſpoyle and doe them wrong.
12 My cruell foes againſt me riſe,
to witneſſe things vntrue:
And to accuſe me they deviſe,
of that I never knew.

13 Where I to them doe owe good will,
they quite me with diſdaine,
That they ſhould pay my good with ill,
my ſoule doth ſore complaine:
14 When they were ſicke I mourn'd therefore and clad my ſelfe in ſack:
With faſting I did faint full ſore,
to pray I was not ſlack.

15 As they had bene my brethren deere,
I did my ſelfe behave:
As one that maketh wofull cheere,
about his mothers grave.
16 But they at my diſeaſe did ioy,
and gather on a rout:
Yea abiect ſlaves at me did toy,
with mockes and cheekes full ſtout.

17 The belly gods and flattering traine, that all good things deride:
At me doe grin with great diſdaine, and pluck their mouths aſide.
18 Lord when wilt thou amend this geare,
why doeſt thou ſtay and panſe?
O rid my ſoule mine onely deare,
out of theſe Lyons clawes.

19 And then I will give thankes to thee,
before thy Church alwaies:
And whereas moſt of people be,
there will I ſhew thy praiſe.
20 Let not my foes prevaile on me,
which hate me for no fault:
Nor yet to winke or turne their eye,
that cauſleſſe me aſſault.

The third part.

21 Of peace no word they thinke or ſay,
Their talke is all vntrue:
They ſtill conſult, and would betray all thoſe that peace enſue.
22 With open mouthes they runne at mee,
they gape, they laugh, they ſteere:
Well, well, ſay they, our eye doth ſee
the thing that wee deſire.

23 But Lord thou ſeeſt what waies they take ceaſe not this geare to mend:
Be not farre off nor me forſake,
as men that faile their friend.
24 Awake, ariſe, and ſtirre abroad, defend me in my right:
Revenge my cauſe, my Lord, my God,
and aide me with thy might.

25 According to thy righteouſneſſe,
my Lord God ſet me free:
And let them not their pride expreſſe,
nor triumph over mee.
26 Let not their hearts reioyce and crie,
there, there, this geare goes trim:
Nor give them cauſe to ſay on high,
we have our will on him.

27 Con-

27 Confound them with rebuke and ſhame, that ioy when I doe mourne:
And pay them home with ſpite and blame,
that brag at me with ſcorne.
28 Let them be glad and eke reioyce, which love mine vpright way.
And they all times with heart and voice,
ſhall prayſe the Lord and ſay:

29 Great is the Lord and doth excell, for why? he doth delight
To ſee his ſervants proſper well, that is his pleaſant ſight.
30 Wherefore my tongue I will apply, thy righteouſneſſe to prayſe:
Vnto the Lord my God will I,
ſing laud and thankes alwaies.

Dixit injuſtus. Pſal. xxxvj. I. H.

David vexed by the vvicked, complaineth of their malice, but conſidering Gods great mercy to all creatures, ſpecially towards his children, by faith thereof, he is comforted and aſſured of his deliverance.

Sing this as the humble ſuite of a ſinner.

THE wicked with his workes vniuſt, doth thus perſwade his heart,
That of the Lord he hath no truſt,
his feare is ſet a part.
2 Yet doth he ioy in his eſtate, to walke as he began:
So long till he deſerve the hate,
of God and eke of man.

3 His words are wicked, vile and naught, his tongue no trueth doth tell,
Yet at no hand will he be taught,
which way he may doe well.
4 When he ſhould ſleepe then doth he muſe his miſchiefe to fulfill:
No wicked waies doth he refuſe,
nor nothing that is ill.

5 But Lord thy goodneſſe doth aſcend, above the heavens high:
So doth thy trueth it ſelfe extend,
vnto the cloudy skie.
6 Much more then hills ſo hie and ſteepe,
thy iuſtice is expreſt:
Thy iudgements like to ſeas moſt deepe,
thou ſaveſt both man and beaſt.

7 Thy mercy is above all things,
O God, it doth excell:
In truſt whereof as in thy wings,
the ſonnes of men ſhall dwell.
8 Within thy houſe they ſhallbe feed, with plenty at their will:
Of all delights they ſhallbe ſped,
and take thereof their fill.

9 For why? the well of life ſo pure,
doth overflow from thee:
And in thy light we are full ſure,
the laſting light to ſee.
10 From ſuch as thee deſire to know,
let not thy grace depart,
Thy righteouſneſſe declare and ſhew,
to men of vpright heart.

11 Let not the proud on me prevaile
O Lord, of thy good grace:
Nor let the wicked mee aſſayle, to throw mee out of place.
12 But they in their diviſe ſhall fall,
that wicked workes maintaine:
They ſhall be overthrowne withall, and never riſe againe.

Noli æmulari. Pſal. xxxvij. W. W.

Becauſe the godly ſhould not be daunted to ſee vvicked men proſper, David ſhevveth that all things ſhalbe granted even vvith hearts deſire, to them that love and feare God: but the vvicked albeit they flouriſh for a time, ſhall at length periſh.

Sing this as the 23 Pſalme.

GRudge not to ſee the wicked men
in wealth to flouriſh ſtill:
Nor yet enuie ſuch as to ill have bent and ſet their will.
2 For as greene graſſe and flouriſhing herbs are cut and wither away:
So ſhall their great proſperity, ſoone paſſe fade and decay.

3 Truſt thou therefore in God alone, to doe well give thy minde:
So ſhalt thou have the land as thine,
and there ſure foot ſhalt finde.
5 In God ſet all thy hearts delight, and looke what thou wouldeſt have,
Or elſe canſt wiſh in all the world,
thou needſt it not to crave.

5 Caſt both thy ſelfe and thine affaires,
on God with perfect truſt:
And thou ſhalt ſee with patience,
the effects both ſure and iuſt.
6 Thy perfect life and godly name,
he will cleare as the light:
So that the Sunne even at none dayes, ſhall not ſhine halfe ſo bright.

7 Be ſtill therefore and ſtedfaſtly, on God ſee thou waite them,
Not ſhrinking for the proſperous ſtate,
of lewed and wicked men:
8 Shake of deſpight, enuie and hate,
at leaſt in any wiſe,
Their wicked ſteps avoid and flie,
and follow not their guiſe.
9 For every wicked man will God
deſtroy both more and leſſe:
But ſuch as truſt in God are ſure,
the land for to poſſeſſe.
10 Watch but a while and thou ſhalt ſee
no more the wicked traine:
No not ſo much as houſe or place,
where once they did remaine.

The ſecond part.

11 But mercifull and humble men,
enioy ſhall ſea and land:
In reſt and peace they ſhall reioyce,
for nought ſhall them withſtand:
12 The lewd men and malicious, againſt the iuſt conſpire:
They gnaſh their teeth at him as men
Which doe his bane deſire.

13 But while that lewd men thus doe thinke,
the Lord laughes them to ſcorne.
For why? he ſeeth their terme approach,
when they ſhall ſigh and mourne:

14 The wicked have their ſword out drawne, their bow eke have they bent:
To overthrowe and kill the poore,
as they the right way went.

15 But the ſame ſword ſhall pierce their harts which was to kill the iuſt:
Likewiſe the bow ſhall breake in ſhivers, wherein they put their truſt.

16 Doubtleſſe the iuſt mans poore eſtate, is better a great deale more,
Then all theſe lewd and worldly mens,
rich pompe and heaped ſtore.

17 For tho their power never ſo ſtrong,
God will it overthrow:
Where contrary he doth preſerve
the humble men and low:

18 Hee ſeeth by his great providence,
the good mans trade and way:
And will give them inheritance,
which never ſhall decay.

19 They ſhall not be diſcouraged,
when ſome are hard beſtead:
When others ſhall be hunger bit,
they ſhall be clad and fed.

20 For whoſoever wicked is,
and enemie to the Lord:
Shall quaile, yet melt even as lambes greaſe,
or ſmoke that flies abroad.

The third part.

21 Behold the wicked borroweth much,
and never payeth againe:
Whereas the iuſt by liberall gifts,
make many glad and faine.

22 For they whome God doth bleſſe ſhall have the land for heritage,
And they whom he doth curſe likewiſe,
ſhall periſh in his rage.

23 The Lord the iuſt mans cauſe doth guide, and gives him good ſucceſſe:
To every thing he takes in hand,
he ſendeth good addreſſe.

24 Though that he fall, yet is he ſure,
not vtterly to quaile, Becauſe the Lord ſtretches out his hand at need, and doth not faile.

25 I have beene young and now am old,
yet did I never ſee,
The iuſt man left, nor yet his ſeede to beg for miſery.

26 But gives alwaies moſt liberally, and lends whereas is neede,
His children and poſterity, receive of God their meede.

27 Flie vice therefore and wickedneſſe, and vertue doe embrace:
So God ſhall grant thee long to have,
on earth a dwelling place:

28 For God ſo loveth equitie, and ſheweth to his ſuch grace,
That he preſerves them evermore,
but ſtroyes the wicked race.

29 Whereas the good and godly men,
inherit ſhall the land:
Having as Lords all things therein,
in their owne power and hand.

30 The iuſt mans mouth doth ever ſpeake,
of matters wiſe and hie:
His tongue doth talke to edifie,
with trueth and equitie.

31 For in his heart the law of God his Lord doth ſtill abide:
So that where ever he goe our walke,
his foot can never ſlide.

32 The wicked like a ravening wolfe,
the iuſt man doth beſet:
By all meanes ſeeking him to kill,
if he fall in his net.

The fourth part.

33 Though he ſhould fall into his hands,
yet God would ſuccour ſend,
Though men againſt him ſentence give,
God will him yet defend.

34 Waite thou on God and keepe his way, he ſhall preſerve thee then:
The earth to rule, and thou ſhalt ſee deſtroy'd theſe wicked men.

35 The wicked have I ſeene moſt ſtrong, and plac'd in hie degree:
Flouriſhing in all wealth and ſtore,
as doth the Lawrell tree.

36 But ſuddenly hee paſſeth away,
and loe he was quite gone:
Then I him ſought but could ſcarce finde,
the place where dwelt ſuch one.

37 Marke and behold the perfect man,
how God doth him increaſe:
For the iuſt man ſhall have at length,
great ioy with reſt and peace.

38 As for tranſgreſſours woe to them, deſtroy'd they ſhall all be:
God will cut off their budding race,
and rich poſterity.

39 But the ſalvation of the iuſt,
doth come from God above:
Who in their trouble ſends them aide,
of his meere grace and love.

40 God doth him helpe, ſave and deliver from lewd men and vniuſt:
And ſtill will ſave them while that they in him doe put their truſt.

Domine in furore. Pſal. xxxviij. I. H.

David ſick of ſome grievous diſeaſe, acknowledgeth himſelfe to be chaſtiſed of the Lord for his ſinne: and therefore prayeth God to turne awaye his wrath, but in the ende with firme confidence commending his cauſe to God, hopeth for ſpeedy helpe at his hand.

Sing this as the humble ſuite of a ſinner.

PUt me not to rebuke (O Lord)
in thy provoked ire: Ne in thy heavie wrath (O Lord) correct me deſire.

2 Thine arrowes doe ſticke faſt in me,
thy hand doth preſſe me ſore:
And in my fleſh no health at all,
appeareth any more.

3 And all this is by reaſon of thy wrath that I am in:
Nor any reſt is in my bones,
by reaſon of my ſinne.

4 For loe my wicked doings Lord, above my head are gone:
A greater loade then I can beare, they lie me ſore vpon.

My

5 My wounds ſtinke and are feſtered ſore, as loathſome for to ſee:
Which all through mine owne fooliſhneſſe betideth vnto me.
6 And I in carefull wiſe am brought in trouble and diſtreſſe:
That I goe wayling all the day
in dolefull heauineſſe.

7 My loynes are fil'd with ſore diſeaſe, my fleſh hath no whole part:
8 I feeble am, and broken ſore,
I roare for griefe of heart.
9 Thou know'ſt Lord my deſire, my groanes are open in thy ſight:
10 My heart doth pant, my ſtrength hath faild mine eyes haue loſt their light.

11 My louers and my wonted friends
ſtand looking on my woe:
And eke my kinſmen farre away
are me departed fro.
12 They that did ſeeke my life layd ſnares, and they that ſought the way To doe me hurt, ſpeake lies and thought on treaſon all the day.

The ſecond part.

13 But as a deafe man I became,
that cannot heare at all:
14 And as one dumbe that opens not his mouth to ſpeake withall.
15 For all my confidence, O Lord, is wholy ſet on thee:
16 O Lord, thou Lord that art my God, thou ſhalt give eare to me.

17 This did I craue, that they my foes triumph not ouer me:
For when my foote did ſtip, then they did ioy my fall to ſee.
And truely I poore wretch am ſet
in place a wofull wight:
And eke my grieuous heauineſſe is euer in my ſight.
18 For while that I my wickedneſſe in humble wiſe confeſſe:
And while I for my ſinfull deedes
my ſorrowes doe expreſſe.
19 My foes doe ſtill remaine aliue,
and mightie are alſo:
And they that hate my wrongfully in number hugely grow.
20 They ſtand againe me that my good,
with euill doe repay:
Becauſe that good and honeſt things
I doe enſue alway.
21 Forſake me not my Lord my God, be thou not farre away.
Haſte me to helpe, my Lord my God,
my ſafety and my ſtay.

Dixi cuſtodiam. Pſal. xxxix I. H.

David having determined ſilence, yet braſt forth into vvords that he vvould not, through his bitter griefe. For he maketh certaine requeſts vvhich taſte of mans infirmities, yet mixed vvith many prayers, and all to ſhevv a minde vvonderfully troubled, that it might appeare hovv he did ſtrive mightily againſt death and deſperation.

Sing this as the humble ſuite of a Sinner.

I Sayd I will looke to my wayes for feare I ſhould goe wrong:
I will take heede all times that I offend not in my tongue:
2 As with a bit I will keepe faſt my mouth with force and might Not once to whiſper all the while the wicked are in ſight.

3 I held my tongue, and ſpake no word,
but kept me cloſe and ſtill:
Yea from good talke I did refraine,
but ſore againſt my will.
4 My heart waxt hot within my breaſt, with muſing, thought, and doubt:
Which did increaſe and ſtirre the fire,
at laſt theſe wordes bruſt out.

5 Lord number out my life and dayes which yet I have not paſt:
So that I may be certified how long my life ſhall laſt.
6 Lord thou haſt pointed out my life
in length much like a ſpan:
Mine age is nothing vnto thee.
ſo vaine is every man.

7 Man walketh like a ſhade, and doth in vaine himſelfe annoy:
In getting goods and cannot tell who ſhall the ſame enioy.
8 Now Lord ſuch thing this wiſe doe frame,
what helpe doe I deſire?
Of trueth my helpe doth hang on thee,
I nothing els require.

The ſecond part.

9 From all the ſinnes that I have done,
Lord quite mee out of hand:
And make mee not a ſcorne to fooles,
that nothing vnderſtand.
10 I was as dumbe, and to complaine,
no trouble might mee moove:
Becauſe I knew it was thy worke,
my patience for to proove.
11 Lord take from mee thy ſcourge and plague,
I can them not withſtand:
I faint and pine away, for feare,
of the moſt heavie hand.
12 When thou for ſinne doeſt man rebuke
he waxed wo and wan:
As doth a cloath that mothes have fret,
ſo vaine a thing is man.

13 Lord heare my ſuite and give good heede, regard my teares that fall:
I ſoiourne like a ſtranger here,
as did my fathers all.
14 O ſpare a little, give me ſpace,
my ſtrength for to reſtore:
Before I goe away from hence,
and ſhall be ſeene no more.

Expectans expectavi. Pſal. xl. I. H.

David delivered from great danger, doeth magnifie God therefore, and commandeth his providence towards all mankinde. Then he promiſeth to give himſelfe vvholy to Gods ſervice, and declareth hovv God is truely vvorſhipped, afterwards he giveth thankes, and having complained of his enemies, he calleth for aid and ſuccour.

Sing this as the 35 Pſalme.

I Wayted long and ſought the Lord,
and patiently did beare,
At length to me he did accord,

my voice and crie to heare,
2 He pluckt me from the lake ſo deepe,
out of the mire and clay:
And on a rocke did ſet my feet,
and he did guide my way.

3 To me he taught a Pſalme of prayſe, which I muſt ſhew abroad:
And ſing new ſongs of thankes alwaies
vnto the Lord our God.
4 When all the folke theſe things ſhall ſee,
as people much afraid:
Then they vnto the Lord will flee,
and truſt vpon his aid.

5 O bleſt is he whoſe hope and heart
doth in the Lord remaine,
That with the proud doth take no part,
nor ſuch as lie and faine.
6 For Lord my God thy wondrous deedes in greatneſſe farre doe paſſe:
Thy fauour towards vs exceedes
all things that euer was.

7 When I intend, and doe deuiſe thy workes abroad to ſhew:
To ſuch a reckoning they doe riſe, thereof no end I know.
8 Burnt offrings thou delightſt not in,
I know thy whole deſire:
With ſacrifice to purge his ſinne,
thou doeſt no man require.

9 Meate offerings and ſacrifice, thou wouldſt not have at all:
But thou, O Lord haſt open made mine eares to heare withall.
10 But then ſayd I, behold and looke,
I come a meane to be:
For in the volume of thy Booke,
thus is it ſayd of mee;

11 That I O God ſhould doe thy minde, which thing doth like me well:
For in my heart thy Law I finde, faſt placed there to dwell.
12 Thy iuſtice and thy righteouſneſſe in great reſorts I tell:
Behold my tongue no time doth ceaſe,
O Lord, thou knowſt full well.

The ſecond part.

13 I haue not hid within my breaſt thy goodneſſe as by ſtealth:
But I declare and haue expreſt,
thy trueth and ſauing health.
14 I keepe not cloſe thy louing minde,
That no man ſhould it know:
The truſt that in thy trueth I finde,
to all the Church I ſhow.

For I with miſchiefes many one am ſore beſet about:
My ſinnes increaſe and ſo come on,
I cannot ſpie them out.
15 For why? in number they exceede
the haires vpon my head:
My heart doeth faint for very dread,
that I am almoſt dead.

16 With ſpeede ſend helpe, and ſet me free,
O Lord I thee require:
Make haſt with aid to ſuccour me,
O Lord at my deſire.

17 Let them ſuſtaine rebuke and ſhame,
that ſeeke my ſoule to ſpill:
Driue backe my foes, and them defame that wiſh and would me ill.

18 For their ill feates doe them deſcrie, that would deface my name:
Alwaies at me they rayle and crie,
fie on him, fie for ſhame.
19 Let them in thee haue ioy and wealth,
that ſeeke to thee alwaies:
That thoſe that loue thy ſauing health,
may ſay to God be prayſe.

20 But as for me, I am but poore, oppreſt, and brought full low:
Yet thou, O Lord, wilt me reſtore to health full well I know:
21 For why? thou art my hope and truſt,
my refuge, helpe, and ſtay:
Wherefore my God, as thou art iuſt, with me no time delay.

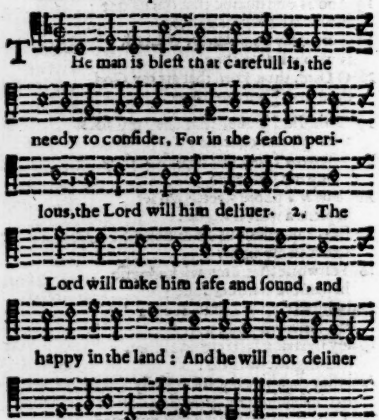
Beatus qui intilligit. Pſal. xlj. T. S.

Dauid grieuouſly afflicted, bleſſeth them that pity his cauſe, complaining of faithleſſe friends, ſuch as Iudas, Ioh. 15. Then he giueth thanks for Gods mercie, in chaſtiſing him gently, not ſuffring his enemies to triumph.



3 And in his bed when he lies ſicke,
the Lord will him reſtore:
And thou, O Lord wilt turne to health his ſickedneſſe and his ſore.
4 Then in my ſickeneſſe thus ſay I,
have mercy Lord on me,
And heale my ſoule, which is full woe
that I offended thee.

5 Mine enemies wiſht me ill in heart,
and thus of me did ſay:
When ſhall he die, that all his name may vaniſh quite away?
6 And when they come to viſit me,
they aske if I doe well:
But in their hearts miſchiefe they hatch,
and to their mates it tell.

7 They bite their lips, and whiſper ſo,
as though they would me charme:

And

And caſt their fetches how to trap me with ſome mortall harme.
8 Some grievous ſinne hath brought him to this ſickenes ſay they plaine:
He is ſo low that without doubt riſe can he not againe.

9 The man alſo that I did truſt with me did vſe deceit:
Who at my table eate my bread,
the ſame for me laid waite.
10 Have mercy Lord on me therefore,
and let me be preſerved:
That I may render vnto them,
the things they have deſerved.
11 By this I know aſſuredly,
I am beloved of thee:
When that mine enemies have no cauſe to triumph over mee.
12 But in my right thou haſt me kept,
and maintained alway:
And in thy preſence place aſſign'd,
where I ſhall dwell for aye.

13 The Lord the God of Iſrael be praiſed evermore:
Even ſo be it, Lord will I ſay, even ſo be it therefore.

Quemadmodum. Pſal. xlij. I. H.

David is grieved that through perſecution he could not be preſent in the congregation, proteſting his preſence in heart, albeit in body ſeperate: at laſt hee ſheweth, that not withſtanding theſe forrowes and thoughts, yet hee continually putteth his confidence in the Lord.

Sing this as the 35 Pſalme.

LIke as the Hart doth breath and bray
the welſpring to obtaine:
So doth my ſoule deſire alway with thee Lord to remaine.
2 My ſoule doth thirſt, and would draw neare
the liuing God of might:
Oh when ſhall I come and appeare in preſence of thy ſight?

3 The teares all times are my repaſt, which from mine eyes doe ſlide:
When wicked men crie out ſo faſt,
where now is God thy guide?
4 Alas, what griefe is this to thinke what freedome once I had?
Therefore my ſoule as at pits brinke
moſt heavy is and ſad.

When I did march in good aray,
furniſhed with my traine,
Vnto the temple was our way,
with ſongs and hearts moſt faine.
5 My heart why art thou ſad alwayes,
and freſt thus in my breſt?
Truſt ſtill in God, for him to praiſe
I hold it ever beſt.

By him I have ſuccour at need
againſt all paine and griefe:
He is my God which with all ſpeed will haſte to ſend reliefe.
6 And thus my ſoule within me Lord doth faint to thinke vpon,
The land of Iordan, and record
the little hill Hermon,

7 One griefe another in doth call,
as clouds burſt out their voyce:
The flouds of evill that doe fall,
runne over me with noiſe.
8 Yet I by day felt thy goodnes, and helpe at all aſſaies:
Likewiſe by night I did not ceaſe
the liuing God to praiſe.

9 I am perſwaded thus to ſay to him with pure pretence:
O Lord, thou art my guide and ſtay,
my rocke, and my defence.
Why doe I then in penſiuenesſe hanging the head thus walke?
While that mine enemies me oppreſſe and vexe me with their talke.

10 For why? they vexe mine inward parts, with pangs to be abhor'd
When they cry out with ſtubborne hearts, where is thy God thy Lord?
11 So ſoone why doſt thou faint and quaile,
my ſoule with paine oppreſt?
With thoughts why doſt thy ſelfe aſſaile,
ſo ſore within my breſts?

12 Truſt in the Lord thy God alwayes, and thou the time ſhalt ſee,
To giue him thankes with laud and praiſe,
for health reſtored to thee.

Iudica me Dom. Pſal. xliij. T. S.

He prayeth to be deliuered from them which conſpire with Abſalon, to the end that he might joyfully praiſe God in his holy congregation.

Sing this as the 35 Pſalme.

IUdge and reuenge my cauſe, O Lord,
from them that evill be:
From wicked and deceitfull men,
O Lord deliver mee.
2 For of my ſtrength thou art the God
why putſt thou mee thee fro?
And why walke I ſo heavily oppreſſed with my foe.
3 Send out thy light, and eke thy trueth,
and lead me with thy grace:
Which may conduct me to thy hill,
and to thy dwelling place.
4 Then ſhall I to the Altar goe of God my ioy and cheare:
And on my Harpe give thankes to thee,
O God, my God moſt deare.

5 Why art thou then ſo ſad my ſoule,
and freſt thus in my breſt?
Still truſt in God, for him to praiſe
I hold it always beſt.
6 By him I have deliverance
againſt all paine and griefe:
He is my God, which doth alway
at need ſend me reliefe.

Deus auribus. Pſal. xliiij. T. S.

A moſt earneſt prayer made in the name of the faithfull in perſecution, for ſuſtaining the quarrels of Gods vvord, as in Paul. Rom. 8.

OUr eares have heard our fathers tell,

and reverently record, The wondrous works that thou haſt done in alder time (O Lord.)

2. How thou didſt caſt the Gentiles out, and ſtroid them with ſtrong hand: Planting

our fathers in their place, and gav'ſt to them their land.

3 They conquer'd not by ſword, nor ſtrength,
the land of thy beheſt:
But by thy hand, thine arme, and grace:
becauſe thou lovedſt them beſt.
4 Thou art my king, O God, that holpe
Jaakob in ſundry wiſe:
5 Led with thy power, we threw downe ſuch
as did againſt vs riſe.
6 I truſted not in bow, ne ſword,
they could not ſave me ſound:
7 Thou kept'ſt vs from our enemies rage, thou didſt our foes confound.
8 And ſtill we boaſt of thee our God,
and praiſe thy holy name:
9 Yet now thou goeſt not with our hoaſt,
but leaueſt vs to ſhame.
10 Thou mad'ſt vs flee before our foes,
and ſo were over-trod:
Our enemies rob'd and ſpoyl'd our goods,
while we were ſperſt abroad.
11 Thou haſt vs given to our foes
as ſheepe for to be ſlaine:
Among the heathen every where ſcattered we doe remaine.
12 Thy people thou haſt ſold like ſlaues,
and as a thing of nought:
For profite none thou haſt thereby,
no gaine at all was ſought.
13 And to our neighbours thou haſt made of vs a laughing ſtocke:
And they that round about vs dwell,
at vs doe grin, and mocke.

The third part.

14 Thus wee ſerve for none other vſe,
but for a common talke:
They mocke, they ſcorne, they nod their heads,
where ever they goe or walke:
15 I am aſham'd continually, to heare theſe wicked men:
Yea, ſo I bluſh that all my face with red is covered then.
16 For why? we heare ſuch ſlanderous words, ſuch falſe reports and lies,
That death it is to ſee their wrongs,
their threatnings and their cries.
17 For all this we forget not thee,
nor yet thy covenant breake:
18 We turne nor backe our hearts from thee,
nor yet thy paths forſake.
19 Yet thou haſt trod vs downe to duſt,
where dens of Dragons be:
And couered vs with ſhade of death and great aduerſity.
20 If we had out Gods name forgot,
and helpe of Idoles ſought:
21 Would not God then have tride this out?
for he doth know our thought.
22 Nay, Nay, for thy names ſake, O Lord, alwayes are we ſlaine thus:
As ſheepe vnto the ſhambles ſent right ſo they deale with vs.
23 Vp Lord, why ſleepeſt thou? awake and leave vs not for all:
24 Why hideſt thou thy countenance, and doeſt forget our thrall?
25 For downe to duſt our ſoule is brought,
and we now at laſt caſt:
Our bellie like as it were glude, vnto the ground cleaues faſt.
26 Riſe up therefore for our defence,
and helpe vs Lord at neede:
We thee beſeech of thy goodneſſe, to reſcue vs with ſpeede.

Eructavit cor meum. Pſal. xlv. I. H.

Salomon his maieſtie, honor, ſtrength, beauty, riches and power are praiſed, his marriage with the Egyptian and heathen woman is bleſt. if that ſhe renounce her people and countrey, and give her ſelfe wholly to her husband. Here is figured the wonderfull maieſtie and increaſe of Chriſts kingdome, and the Church his Spouſe, now taken of the Gentiles.

Sing this as the 25 Pſalme.

MY heart doth take in hand
ſome godly ſong to ſing:
The praiſe that I ſhall ſhew therein
perteineth to the King.
My tongue ſhalbe as quick,
his honour to endite:
As is the pen of any Scribe that vſeth faſt to write.

2 O faireſt of all men,
thy ſpeech is pleaſant pure:
For God hath bleſſed thee with gifts,
for ever to endure.
3 About thee gird thy ſword,
O Prince of might elect:
With honour, glory, and renowne,
thy perſon pure is deckt.
4 Goe forth with godly ſpeede,
in meekenes, trueth, and right:
And thy right hand ſhall thee inſtruct in workes of dreadfull might.
5 Thine arrowes ſharpe and keene, their hearts ſo ſore ſhall ſting:
That folke ſhall fall, and kneele to thee,
yea, all thy foes, O king.
6 Thy royall ſeate, O Lord,
for ever ſhall remaine:
Becauſe the ſcepter of thy realme doth

doth righteouſneſſe maintaine.
7 Becauſe thou loveſt the right and doſt the evill deteſt:
God even thy God hath nointed thee,
with ioy above the reſt.
8 With mirrhe and ſavors ſweete, thy clothes are all be ſpread:
When thou doſt from thy pallace paſſe, thereinto make thee glad.
9 Kings daughters doe attend,
in fine and rich array:
At thy right hand the Queene doth ſtand,
in gold and garments gay.

The ſecond part.

10 O daughter take good heed,
encline and give good eare,
Thou muſt forget thy kindred all,
and fathers houſe moſt deare:
11 Then ſhall the king deſire,
thy beauty faire and trim,
For why? he is the Lord thy God,
and thou muſt worſhip him.
12 The daughters then of Tyre, with gifts full rich to ſee;
And all the wealthy of the land,
ſhall make their ſuite to thee.
13 The daughter of the King, is glorious to behold:
Within her cloſet ſhee doth ſit,
all deckt with beaten gold.
14 In robes well wrought with needle,
and many a pleaſant thing:
With Virgins faire on her to waite,
ſhee commeth to the king.
15 Thus are they brought with ioy and mirth on every ſide:
Into the pallace of the king,
and there they doe abide.
16 In ſtead of parents left
(O Queene thy chance ſo ſtands)
Thou ſhalt have ſonnes whom thou maieſt ſet, as Princes in all lands.
17 Wherefore thy holy name,
all ages ſhall record:
Thy people ſhall give thanks to thee,
for evermore O Lord.

Deus noſtrum. Pſal. xlvj. I. H.

A ſong of thankeſgiving for the deliverance of Ieruſalem, after Senacherib with his armie was driven away, or ſome other like ſodaine and marveilous deliverance, by the mightie hand of God, whereby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doth exhort the faithfull to give themſelves wholy into the hands of God, doubting nothing but that under his protection they ſhallbe ſafe againſt all the aſſaults of their enemies.

THe Lord is our defence and aide, the ſtrength whereby we ſtand: when we with wo are much diſmaid: he is our helpe at hand. 2. Though th'earth remoove, we will not feare, though hills ſo high and ſteepe, be thruſt and hurled beare and there, within the ſea ſo deepe.

3 No though the waves doe rage ſo ſore, that all the bankes it ſpills:
And though it overflow the ſhore,
and beate downe mightie hils.
4 For one faire flood doth ſend abroad,
his pleaſant ſtreames apace:
To freſh the Citie of our God,
and waſh his holy place.
5 In midſt of her the Lord doth dwell,
ſhee can no whit decay:
All things againſt her that rebell,
the Lord will truely ſlay.
6 The heathen folke the kingdomes feare,
the people make anoiſe:
The earth doth melt and not appeare,
when God puts foorth his voyce.
7 The Lord of hoaſts doth take our part,
to us he hath an eye,
Our hope of health with all our heart,
on Iaakobs God doth lie.
8 Come neare and ſee with minde and thought the working of our God:
What wonders he himſelfe hath wrought,
through all the earth abroad.
9 By him all warres are huſht and gone,
which countreis did conſpire;
Their bowes he brake and ſpeares each one,
their Chariots burnt with fire:
10 Leave off therefore (ſaith he) and know
I am a God moſt ſtout:
Among the heathen high and low,
and all the earth throughout.
11 The Lord of hoaſts doth us defend,
he is our ſtrength and tower,
On Iacobs God doe we depend,
and on his might and power.

Omnes Gentes. Pſal. xlvij. I. H.

An exhortation to worſhip God for his mercyes towards Iaakobs poſterity. Herein is prophecied the kingdome of Chriſt in the time of the Goſpell.

Sing this as the 46 Pſalme.

YE people all with one accord,
clap hands and eke reioyce:
Be glad and ſing unto the Lord
with ſweete and pleaſant voyce.
2 For high the Lord and dreadfull is with wonders manifolde:
A mightie King he is alſo,
in all the earth extolde.

3 The people he ſhall make to be,
vnto our bondage thrall:
And vnderneath our feete he ſhall,
the nations make to fall,
4 For vs the heritage he cloſe,
Which we poſſeſſe alone:
The flouriſhing worſhip of Iaakob, his well beloued one.

5 Our God aſcendeth vp on hie, with ioy and pleaſant noiſe:
The Lord goeth vp aboue the skie, with trumpets royall voyce.
6 Sing praiſes to our God, ſing praiſe, ſing praiſes to our King:
7 For God is king of all the earth,
all skilfull praiſes ſing.

8 God on the heathen raignes, and ſits
vpon his holy throne:
9 The Princes of the people have,
them ioyned every one:
To Abrahams people, for our God which is exalteth hie:
As with a buckler doth defend,
the earth continually.

Magnus Dom. Pſal. xlviij. I. H.

Thankes are given to God for the notable deliuerance of Ieruſalem from the hands of many kings, the eſtate vvhereof is praiſed, for that God is preſent at all times to defend it: this Pſalme ſeemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Ioſaphat, Aſa, or Ezekias, for them chiefly vvas the City by ſo raine Princes aſſaulted.

Sing this as the 46 Pſalme.

GReat is the Lord, and with great praiſe,
to be aduanced ſtill:
Within the Citie of our God,
vpon his holy hill.
2 Mount Sion is a pleaſant place,
it gladdeth all thee land:
The city of the mighty King,
on her Northſide doth ſtand.

3 Within the Palaces thereof,
God is refuge knowne:
For loe the kings are gathered, and together eke are gone.
4 But when they did behold it ſo, they wondred and they were Aſtonied much, and ſodainely, were driven backe with feare.

5 Great terrors then on them doe fall,
for very woe they cry:
As doeth a woman when ſhe ſhall, goe trauell by and by.
6 As thou with Eaſterne winde the ſhips,
vpon the ſea doſt breake:
So they were ſtaid, and even as we heard our fathers ſpeake.

7 Loe in the City of our God,
we ſaw as it was told:
Yea in the Citie which our God,
for ever will vphold.
8 O Lord we waite and doe attend,
on thy good help and grace,
For which we doe all times attend within thy holy place.

9 O Lord according to thy name, for ever is thy praiſe:
And thy right hand, O Lord is full of righteouſnes alwayes.
10 Let for thy iudgements Sion mount, fulfilled be with ioyes:
And eke of Iudah graunt (O Lord)
the daughters to reioyce.

11 Go walke about all Syon hill,
yea round about her go:
And tell the towres that there vpon are builded on a roe.
12 And marke you well her bulwarkes all,
behold her towres there:
That ye may tell thereof to them,
that after ſhalbe heere.
13 For this God is our God,
for evermore is hee:
Yea and vnto the death alſo,
our guider ſhall he be.

Audite hæc omnes. Pſal. xlix. I. H.

Gods ſpirite moveth the conſideration of mans life, ſhevving that the vvealthieſt are not the happieſt: but noteth hovv all things are ruled by Gods providence, vvho as he iudgeth theſe vvorldly miſers to everlaſting torments, ſo he preſerveth his and vvill reevvard them in the day of the reſurrection. 1. Theſ. 1.

Sing this as the 46 Pſalme.

ALl people hearken and give eare,
to that that I ſhall tell:
2 Both high and low, both rich and poore,
that in the world doe dwell.
3 For why? my mouth ſhall make diſcourſe of many things right wiſe:
In vnderſtanding ſhall my heart
his ſtudie exerciſe.

4 I will incline my heart to know
the parable ſo darke:
And open all the doubtfull ſpeech,
in meeter on my harpe.
5 Why ſhould I feare afflictions, or any carefull toyle:
Or els my foes which at my heeles,
are preſt my life to ſpoile?

6 For as for ſuch as riches have,
wherein their truſt is moſt:
And they which of their treaſures great,
themſelves doe brag and boaſt.
7 There is not one of them that can,
his brothers death redeeme:
Or that can give a price to God
ſufficient for him.

8 It is to great a price to pay,
none can thereto attaine:
9 Or that he might his life prolong,
or not in grave remaine.
10 They ſee wiſe men as well as fooles, ſubiect vnto deaths bands:
And being dead, ſtrangers poſſeſſe their goods, their rents, their lands.

11 Their care is to build houſes faire,
and to determine ſure,
To make their name right great on earth
for ever to endure.
12 Yet ſhall no man alwayes enioy, high honour, wealth and reſt:

But

But ſhall at length taſte of deaths cup,
as well as the bruite beaſt.

The ſecond part.

13 And though they try their fooliſhneſſe to be moſt lewd and vaine:
Their children yet approoue their talke,
and in like ſinne remaine.
14 As ſheepe into the fould are brought,
ſo ſhall they into graue:
Death ſhall them eate, and in that day,
the iuſt ſhall Lordſhip haue.

Their Image and their royall port ſhall fade and quite decay;
When as from houſe to pit they paſſe with woe and well away.
15 But God ſhall ſurely preſerue me from death and endleſſe paine:
Becauſe he will of his good grace
my ſoule receiue againe.

16 If any man wexe wondrous rich, feare not I ſay therefore:
Although the glory of his houſe encreaſeth more and more.
17 For when he dyeth, of all theſe things nothing ſhall he receiue:
His glory will not follow him,
his pompe will take her leaue.

18 Yet in this life he takes himſelfe
the happieſt vnder ſunne:
And others likewiſe flatter him,
and ſay all is well done.
19 And preſuppoſe he liue as long as did his fathers old:
Yet muſt he needs at length give place,
and be brought to deaths fould.

20 Thus man to honour God hath call'd,
yet doth he not conſider:
But like bruite beaſts ſo doth he liue, which turne to duſt and powder.

Deus Deorum. Pſal. L. W. VV.

He prophecied that God vvill call all nations by the Goſpell: and require no other ſacrifice of his people, but confeſſion of his benefits, and thankeſgiuing, and howw he deteſteth all ſuch as ſeeme zealous of ceremonies, and not of the pure vvord of God only.

THe mighty God th'eternall hath thus ſpoke. And all the world he will call and prouoke, Even from the Eaſt, and ſo forth to the Weſt. 2. From toward Sion which place him liketh beſt: God will appeare in beauty moſt excellent. 3. Our God will come before that long time be ſpent.

Deuouring fire
ſhall goe before his face,
A great tempeſt,
ſhall round about him trace.
4 Then ſhall he call the earth and heauens bright,
To iudge his folke
with equitie and right.
5 Saying, goe to,
and now my Saints aſſemble:
My peace they keepe,
their gifts doe not diſſemble.

6 The heauens ſhall declare his righteouſneſſe:
For God is iudge
of all things more and leſſe.
7 Heare my people,
for I will now reueale:
Liſt Iſrael,
I will thee nought conceale;
Thy God, thy God
am I, and will not blame thee.
8 For giving not,
all manner offrings to me.

9 I haue no neede to take of thee at all Goats of thy fould,
or Calfe out of thy ſtall:
10 For all the beaſts
are mine within the woods:
On thouſand hils
Cattell are mine owne goods.
11 I know for mine
all birds that are on mountaines:
All beaſts are mine
that haunt the fields and fountaines.

12 Hungry if I were
I would no thee it tell:
For all is mine
That in the world doth dwell.
13 Eate I the fleſh of great buls and bullocks?
Or drinke the blood of Goates and of the flockes?
14 Offer to God
praiſe and hearty thankeſgiving:
And pay thy vowes
vnto God everliving.

15 Call vpon me when troubled thou ſhalt be:
Then will I helpe,
and thou ſhalt honour me.
16 To the wicked
thus ſaith t'eternall God:
Why doſt thou preach
my lawes and heſts abroad?

Seeing thou haſt
them with thy mouth abuſed.
17 And hat'ſt to be by diſcipline reformed.

My words I ſay,
thou doſt reiect and hate:
18 If that thou ſee
a theefe as with thy mate, Thou runn'ſt with him
and ſo your prey doe ſeeke:
And art all one with bawds and ruffians eke.
19 Thou giu'ſt thy ſelfe to backebite and to ſlaunder,
And how thy tongue
deceiueth it's a wonder.

20 Thou ſitteſt muſing,
thy brother how to blame,
And how to put
thy mothers ſonne to ſhame.
21 Theſe things thou didſt,
and whilſt I held my tongue, Thou didſt me iudge,
becauſe I ſtaid ſo long,
Like to thy ſelfe:
yet though I keepe long ſilence,
Once ſhalt thou feele
of thy wrongs iuſt recompence.

22 Conſider this ye that forget the Lord:
And feare not when he threatneth with his word,
Leaſt without helpe
I ſpoyle you as a prey.
23 But he that thankes
offreth, praiſeth me aye, Saith the Lord God:
and he that walketh this trace,
I will him teach
Gods ſauing health to embrace.

Another of the ſame by I. H.

THe God of Gods, the Lord, hath call'd the earth by name:
From where the Sunne doth riſe, vnto
the ſetting of the ſame.
2 From Sion his faire place,
his glory bright and cleare:
The perfect beauty of his grace,
from thence it did appeare.

3 Our God ſhall come in haſte, to ſpeake he ſhall not doubt:
Before him ſhall the fire waſte, and tempeſt round about.
4 The heauens from on hie
the earth below likewiſe:
He will call forth to iudge and trie his folke he doth deuiſe.

5 Bring forth my Saints (ſaith hee)
my faithfull flocke ſo deare:
Which are in bond and league with me
my Law to loue and feare.
6 And when theſe things are tride
the heauens ſhall record:
That God is iuſt, and all muſt bide
the iudgement of the Lord.

7 My people, O give heed,
Iſrael to thee I crie:
I am thy God, thy helpe at neede,
thou canſt it not denie.
8 I doe not ſay to thee,
thy ſacrifice is ſlacke:
Thou offereſt dayly vnto me much more then I doe lacke.

9 Think'ſt thou that I doe neede thy cattell yong or old?
Or elſe deſire ſo much to feede
on Goates out of thy fold?
10 Nay, all the beaſts are mine,
in woods that eate their fils.
And thouſands more of neate and kine that runne wilde on the hils.

The ſecond part.

11 The birds that build on high in hils and out of ſight:
And beaſts that in the helds doe ly,
are ſubiect to my might.
12 Then though I hungred ſore,
what neede I ought of thine:
Sith that the earth with her great ſtore,
and all therein is mine?

13 To buls fleſh have I minde, to eate it, doſt thou thinke?
Or ſuch a ſweetneſſe doe I finde,
the blood of Goates to drinke?
14 Give to the Lord his prayſe,
with thanks to him apply:
And ſee thou pay thy vowes alwayes
vnto the God moſt hie.

15 Then ſeeke and call to me, when ought would worke thee blame:
And I will ſure deliver thee,
that thou maiſt prayſe my name.
16 But to the wicked traine, which talke of God each day:
And yet their workes are foule and vaine,
to them the Lord will ſay;

17 With what a face dar'ſt thou my word once ſpeake or name?
Why doth thy talke my law allow?
thy deedes denie the ſame.
18 Whereas for to amend thy life thou art ſo ſlacke:
My word the which thou doſt pretend,
is caſt behinde thy backe.

The third part.

19 When thou a thiefe doſt ſee
by theft to liue in wealth:
With him thou runſt, and doſt agree likewiſe to thriue by ſtealth:
20 When thou doſt them behold,
that wiues and maids defile:
Thou lik'ſt it well and waxeſt bold,
to lead that life moſt vile.

21 Thy lips thou doſt apply to ſlander and defame:
Thy tongue is taught to craft and lye,
and ſtill doth vſe the ſame.

22 Thou

22 Thou ſtudieſt to reuile, thy friends to thee ſo neere
With ſlander thou would'ſt needs defile, thy mothers ſonne moſt deare.

23 Hereat while I doe winke,
as though I did not ſee:
Thou goeſt on ſtill, and ſo doſt thinke
that I am like to thee:
24 But ſure I will not let,
to ſtrike when I begin:
Thy faults in order I will ſet, and open all thy ſinne.

25 Marke this I you require, that have not God in minde:
Leaſt when I plague you in mine ire,
your helpe be farre to finde.
26 He that doth give to me,
the ſacrifice of prayſe
Doth pleaſe me well, and he ſhall ſee, to walke in godly wayes.

Miſerere mei. Pſal. Lj. W.W.

David rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offence, acknowledged the ſame to God, proteſting his naturall corruption. wherefore he prayeth God to forgiue his ſinnes, & renew in him his holy ſpirit, promiſing that hee will not be vnmindfull of theſe great graces. Finally, fearing leaſt God would puniſh the whole Church for his fault, he requires that he would rather increaſe his grace towards the ſame.

3 Remorſe and ſorow doth conſtraine, me to acknowledge mine exceſſe:
My ſinnes alas doe ſtill remaine,
4 Before my face without releaſe,
For thee alone I have offended, committing evill in thy ſight,
And if I were therefore condemned,
yet were thy iudgements iuſt and right.
5 It is too manifeſt alas,
that firſt I was conceiued in ſinne:
Yea of my mother ſo borne was,
and yet vile wretch remaine therein.
6 Alſo behold Lord thou doſt loue,
the inward trueth of a pure heart:
Therefore thy wiſedome from aboue,
thou haſt reueal'd me to conuert.

7 If thou with Iſop purge this blot,
I ſhallbe cleaner then the glaſſe,
And if thou waſh away my ſpot,
the ſnow in whiteneſſe ſhall I paſſe.
8 Therefore O Lord, ſuch ioy me ſent, that inwardly I may find grace:
And that my ſtrength may now amend,
which thou haſt ſwag'd for my treſpaſſe.

9 Turne backe thy face and frowning ire,
for I have felt enough thy hand:
And purge my ſinnes I thee deſire which doe in number paſſe the ſand.
10 Make new my heart within my breaſt, and frame it to thy holy will:
Thy conſtant ſpirit in me let reſt, which may theſe raging enemies kill.

The ſecond part.

11 Caſt me not Lord out from thy face,
but ſpeedily my torments end,
Take not from me thy ſpirit and grace, which may from dangers me defend.
12 Reſtore me to thoſe ioyes againe, which I was wont in thee to finde:
And let me thy free ſpirit retaine, which vnto thee may ſtirre my minde.

13 Thus when I ſhall thy mercies know,
I ſhall inſtruct others therein:
And men that are likewiſe brought low,
by mine example ſhall flie ſinne.
14 O God that of my health art Lord, forgive me this my bloody vice:
My heart and tongue ſhall then accord,
to ſing thy mercies and iuſtice.

15 Touch thou my lips, my tongue vntie,
O Lord, which are the onely kay:
And then my mouth ſhall teſtifie,
thy wondrous workes and prayſe alway.
16 And as for outward ſacrifice,
I would have offered many one:
But thou eſteemeſt them of no price,
and therein pleaſure takeſt none.

17 The heavy heart, the minde oppreſſ,
O Lord thou never doſt reiect:
And to ſpeake trueth it is the beſt
and of all ſacrifice the effect.
18 Lord vnto Sion turne thy face, powre out thy mercy on thy hill,
And on Ieruſalem thy grace, build vp the walles and loue it ſtill.

19 Thou ſhalt accept then our offrings, of peace and righteouſneſſe I ſay:
Yea calves and many other things,
upon thine altar will we lay.

Another of the ſame by T.S.

Sing this as the Lamentation.

HAve mercy on me God after,
thy great abundant grace:
After thy mercies multitude,
doe thou my ſinnes deface.
2 Yea, waſh me more for mine offence, and cleanſe me from my ſinne.
For I doe know my faults and ſtill my ſinnes are in mine eyne.

3 Againſt thee, thee alone I have offended in this caſe:
And evill have I done before the preſence of thy face.
4 That in the things that thou doſt ſay, vpright thou maiſt be tride:
And eke in iudgement that the dome
may paſſe vpon thy ſide.

5 Behold in wickednesse my kinde,
and ſhape I did receiue:
And loe my ſinfull mother eke,
in ſinne did me conceiue.
6 But loe the trueth in inward parts,
is pleaſant vnto thee:
And ſecrets of thy wiſedome thou,
reuealed haſt to me,

7 With Iſope Lord beſprinkle me,
I ſhall be cleanſed ſo:
Yea, waſh thou me, and ſo ſhall I,
be whiter then the ſnow.
8 Of ioy and gladneſſe make thou mee,
to heare the pleaſant voyce:
That ſo the bruiſed bone, which thou haſt broken may reioyce.

9 From the beholding of my ſinnes,
Lord turne away thy face,
And all my deeds of wickednes,
doe vtterly deface:
10 O God create in me a heart,
vnſpotted in thy ſight:
And eke within my bowels Lord,
renue a ſtable ſpirit.

11 Ne caſt me from thy ſight, nor take thy holy ſpirit away:
The comforts of thy ſaning helpe,
give me againe I pray.
12 With thy free ſpirit eſtabliſh me, and I wil teach therefore Sinners thy wayes, and wicked ſhall, be turn'd vnto thy lore.

The ſecond part.

13 O God that art my God of health,
from blood deliuer me:
That praiſes of thy righteouſneſſe,
my tongue may ſing to thee.
14 My lips that yet faſt cloſed be,
doe thou O Lord vnloſſe:
The praiſes of thy maieſtie,
my mouth ſhall ſo diſcloſe.

15 I would have offered ſacrifice,
if that had pleaſed thee:
But pleaſed with burnt offrings
I know thou wilt not be:
16 A troubled ſpirit is ſacrifice, delightfull in Gods eyes,
A broken and an humble heart,
God thou wilt not deſpiſe.

17 In thy good will deale gently Lord to Sion, and withall:
Grant that of thy Ieruſalem, vpreard may be the wall.
18 Burnt offrings, gifts, and ſacrifice, of iuſtice in that day:
Thou ſhalt accept, and Calves they ſhall vpon thine altar lay.

Quid gloriaris? Pſal. Lij. I.H.

David deſcribeth the arrogant tyrannie of Doeg, Saule chiefe ſhepheard, who by falſe ſurmiſes cauſed Abimelech and the Prieſts to be ſlaine, he prophecieth his deſtruction, encourageth the faithfull to truſt in God, who moſt ſharpely reuengeth his, and rendreth thankes for his deliuerance. Herein is liuely ſet forth the kingdome of Antechriſt.

3 O miſchiefe why ſeiſt thou thy minde, and wilt not walke vpright?
Thou haſt more luſt falſe tales to finde,
then bring the trueth to light.
4 Thou doeſt delight in fraud and guile,
in miſchiefe, blood and wrong,
Thy lips have learn'd the flattering ſtile,
O falſe deceitfull tongue.

5 Therefore ſhall God for ever confounde and pluckt thee from thy place:
Thy ſeed root out from off the ground,
and ſo ſhall thee deface.
6 The iuſt when they behold thy fall,
with feare will prayſe the Lord,
And in reproach of thee withall,
cry out with one accord.

7 Behold the man that would not take the Lord for his defence:
But of his goods his God did make,
and truſt his corrupt ſenſe.
8 But I an Oliue freſh and greene, will ſpring and ſpread abroad:

For

For why? my truſt all times hath beene:
vpon the liuing God.

9 For this therefore will I giue prayſe, to thee with heart and voyce:
I will ſet forth thy name alwayes, wherein thy Saints reioyce.

David deſcribeth the crooked nature, cruelty and puniſhment of the vnkind, when they looke not for it, and deſireth the deliuerance of the godly, that they may reioyce together.

Sing this as the 46 Pſalme.

THe fooliſh man in that which he,
within his heart hath ſayd,
That there is any God at all,
he vtterly denaid.

2 They are corrupt, and they alſo,
a haynous worke have wrought:
Among them all there is not one,
of good that worketh ought.

3 The Lord looki downe on ſons of men,
from heauen all abroad,
To ſee if any were that would be wiſe, and ſeeke for God.

4 They are all gone out of the way,
they are corrupted all:
There is not one doth any good,
there is not one at all.

5 Doe not all wicked workers know,
that they doe feede vpon,
My people as they feed on bread,
the Lord they call not on.

6 Even there they were afraid, and ſtood, with trembling all diſmaid:
Whereas there was no cauſe at all,
why they ſhould be afraid.

7 For God his bones, that thee beſieg'd, hath ſcattered all abroad:
Thou haſt confounded them, for they reiected are of God.

8 O Lord, giue thou thy people health,
and thou, O Lord fulfill:
Thy promiſe made to Iſrael
from out of Sion hill.

9 When God his people ſhall reſtore, that earſt was captiue led:
Then Iaakob ſhall therein reioyce,
and Iſrael ſhalbe glad.

Deus in nomine. Pſal. Liiij. I. H.

David in great danger through Ziphians, calleth vpon God to deſtroy his enemies, promiſing ſacrifice for his deliuerance.

Sing this as the 46 Pſalme.

GOd ſaue mee for thy holy name,
and for thy goodneſſe ſake:
Vnto the ſtrength Lord of the ſame,
I doe my cauſe betake.

2 Regard O Lord, and giue an eare to me when I doe pray, Bow downe thy ſelfe to me and heare
the words that I doe ſay.

3 For ſtrangers vp againſt mee riſe, and tyrants ye ne me ſtill,
Which haue not God before their eyes,
they ſeeke my ſoule to ſpil.

4 But loe, my God doth giue me aide,
the Lord is ſtraight at hand:
With them by whom my ſoule is ſtaid,
the Lord doth euer ſtand.

5 With plagues repay againe all thoſe,
for me that lie in waite:
And in thy truth deſtroy my foes,
with their owne ſnare and baite.

6 And offring of free heart and will,
then I to thee ſhall make:
And prayſe thy name, for there in ſtill great comfort I doe take.

7 O Lord, at length doe ſet me free, from them that craft conſpire:
And now mine eyes with ioy doe ſee,
on them my hearts deſire.

Exaudi Deus. Pſal. Lv. I. H.

David in great diſtreſſe, complaineth of Saul's cruelty, and falſ hood of his familiar acquaintance, effectuallie mouing the Lord to pitie him. Then aſſured of deliuerance, he ſetteth forth the grace of God, as if he had already obtained his requeſt.

Sing this as the 46 Pſalme.

O God giue eare and doe apply,
to heare me when I pray:
And when to thee I call and cry, hide not thy face away.

2 Take heed to mee, grant my requeſt, and anſwere mee againe:
With plaints I pray, full ſore oppreſt, greate griefe doth me conſtraine.

3 Becauſe my foes with threats and cries, oppreſſe mee through deſpight:
And ſo the wicked ſort likewiſe,
to vexe mee haue delight.

4 For they in counſell doe conſpire, to charge me with ſome ill:
So with their baſtie wrath and ire,
they doe purſue me ſtill.

5 My heart doth faint for want of breath,
it panteth in my breſt:
The terrours and the dread of Death,
doth worke me much vnreſt.

6 Such dreadfull feare on me doth fall,
that I therewith doe quake:
Such horrour whelmeth me withall, that I no ſhift can make.

7 But I doe ſay, who will giue me
the ſwift and pleaſant winges
Of ſome faire doue, that I may flee, and reſt me from theſe things.

8 Loe then I would goe farre away,
to flie I would not ceaſe:
And I would hide my ſelfe and ſtay in ſome great wildernеſſe.

9 I would be gone in all the haſt and not abide behind:
That I were quite and overpaſt
theſe blaſtes of boyſtrous winde.

10 Deuide them Lord, and from them pull their diueliſh double tongue:
For I haue ſpied their Citie full,
of ſtrife and wrong.

11 Which

11 Which things both night and day through-out did close her as a wall.
In midst of her is mischiefe stout,
and sorrow eke with all.
12 Her priuie parts are wicked plaine,
her deeds are much too vile:
And in her streets there doth remaine,
all craftie fraude and guile.

The second part.

13 If that my foes did seeke my shame,
I might it well abide:
From open enemies cheeke and blame,
some where I could mee hide:
14 But thou it was my fellow deare, which friendship did pretend:
And didst my secret counsell heare,
as my familiar friend.

15 With whom I had delight to talke,
in secret and abroade:
And wee together oft did walke,
within the house of God.
16 Let death in haste vpon them fall,
and send them quicke to hell:
For mischiefe raigneth in their hall,
and parlour where they dwell.

17 But I vnto my God doe crie, to him for helpe I flee:
The Lord doth heare mee by and by,
and he doth succour mee.
18 At morning, noone, and evening tide:
vnto the Lord I pray:
When I so instantly have cride,
he doth not say me nay.

19 To peace he shall restore me yet, though warres be neere at hand:
Although the number be full great,
that would against me stand.
20 The Lord that first and last doth raigne,
both now and evermore,
Will heare when I to him complaine,
and punish them full sore.

21 For sure there is no hope that they
to turne will once accord:
For why? they will not God obey,
nor doe not feare the Lord.
22 Upon their friends they laid their hands, which were in covenant knit:
Of friendship to neglect the bands,
they passe or care no whit.

23 While they have war within their hearts,
as butter are their words:
Although their words were smooth as oyle,
they cut as sharpe as swords.
24 Cast thou thy care vpon the Lord,
and he shall nourish thee:
For in no wise will he accord
the iust to thrall to see.

25 But God shall cast them deepe in pit, that thirst for blood alwaies:
He will no guilefull man permit,
to liue out halfe his dayes.
26 Though such be quite destroy'd and gone,
in thee O Lord, I trust:
I shall depend thy grace vpon,
with all my heart and iust.

Miserere mei. Psal. Lvj. I. H.

David being brought to Achis the king of Gath, 1. Sam. 21. 12. complaineth of his enemies, demandeth succour, trusteth in God, and promiseth to performe his vowe, which vowe is to praise God in his Church.

Sing this as the Lamentation.

HAue mercy Lord on mee I pray,
for man would me deuour:
He fighteth with me day by day,
and troubleth me each houre.
2 Mine enemies dayly enterprise, to swallow mee outright:
To fight against mee many rise,
O thou most high of might.

3 When they would make me most afraid with boasts and brags of pride:
I trust in thee alone for aide,
by thee will I abide:
4 Gods promise I doe minde and praise,
O Lord, I sticke to thee:
I doe not care at all assaies,
what man can doe to mee.

5 What things I either did or spake, they wrest them at their will,
And all the counsell that they take,
is how to worke me ill.
6 They all consent themselves to hide, close watch for me to lay:
They spie my pathes, and snares have layd,
to take my life away.

7 Shall they thus scape on mischiefe set?
thou God on them wilt frowne:
For in his wrath he doth not let,
to throw whole kingdomes downe.
8 Thou seest how oft they make me flee,
and on my teares doest looke:
Reserve them in a glasse by thee,
and write them in thy booke.

9 When I doe call vpon thy name,
my foes away doe start:
I well perceiue it by the same,
that God doth take my part.
10 I glory in the word of God,
to praise it I accord:
With ioy I will declare abroad,
the promise of the Lord.

11 I trust in God and yet I say,
as I before began:
The Lord he is my helpe and stay,
I doe not care for man.
12 I will performe with heart so free,
to God my vowes alwaies:
And I (O Lord) all times to thee, will offer thankes and praise.

13 My soule from death thou dost defend,
and keepest my feet vpright:
That I before thee may ascend,
with such as liue in light.

Miserere mei. Psal. Lvij. I. H.

David in the desart of Ziph, betraied by the inhabitants, and in the same cave with Saul, calleth to God, with full confidence that hee will performe his promise, and shew his glory in heauen, and in earth against his cruell enemies, therefore he rendreth laud and praise.

Sing

Sing this as the 44. Psalme.

TAke pitty for thy promise sake.
have mercy Lord on me:
For why my soule doth her betake unto the helpe of thee.

2 Within the shaddow of thy wings
I set my selfe full fast:
Till mischiefe, malice, and like things,
be gone and overpast.

3 I call upon the God most high,
to whom I sticke and stand:
I meane the God that will stand by the cause I have in hand.

4 From heaven he hath sent his aide,
to save me from their spight:
That to devoure me have assaid,
his mercy, trueth, and right.

5 I lead my life with lyons fell,
all set on wrath and ire:
And with such wicked men I dwell, that fret like flames of fire.

6 Their teeth are speares and arrowes long,
as sharpe as I have seene:
They wound and cut with their quicke tongue like swords and weapons keene.

7 Set up and shew thy selfe, O God,
above the heavens bright:
Exalt thy prayse in earth abroad,
thy majesty and might.

8 They lay their nets, and doe prepare a privie cave and pit:
Wherein they thinke my soule to snare,
but they are fallen in it.

9 My heart is set to laud the Lord,
in him to joy alwayes:
My heart I say doth well accord to sing his laud and prayse.

10 Awake my joy, awake I say,
my lute, my harpe, and string:
For I my selfe before the day will rise, rejoyce, and sing.

11 Among the people I will tell the goodnesse of my God:
And shew his prayse that doth excell,
in heathen lands abroad.

12 His mercy doth extend as farre
as heavens all are hie,
His truth as high as any starre,
that shineth in the skie.

13 Set foorth and shew thy selfe, O God,
above the heavens bright:
Extoll thy prayse on earth abroad,
thy majesty and might.

Si vere utique. Psal. Lviij. I.H.

Hee describeth his malicious enemies, Saulis flatterers, who secretly and openly sought his destruction, from whom he appealed to Gods judgement, shewing that the just shall rejoyce at the punishment of the wicked, to Gods glorie.

Sing this as the 48 Psalme.

YE rulers which are put in truste to judge of wrong and right:
Be all your judgements true and just,
not knowing neede or might?

2 Nay in your hearts ye murke and muse
in mischiefe to consent,
And were ye should true justice use,
your hands to bribes are bent.

3 The wicked sort from their birth-day have erred on this wise:
And from the mothers woombe alway have used craft and lies.

4 In them the poison and the breath of serpents doe appeare:
Yea, like the Adder that is deafe and fast doth stop her eare.

5 Because he will not heare the voyce of one that charmeth well:
No though hee were the chiefe of choyce,
and therein doth excell.

6 O God, breake thou their teeth at once, within their mouths throughout,
The tuskes that in their great lawbones, like Lyons whelpes bang out.

7 Let them consume away and waste,
as water runnes foorth right,
The shafts that they doe shoote in haste,
let them be broke in sight.

8 As Snailes doe waste within the shell, and unto slime doe turne,
As one before his time that fell,
and never saw the Sunne.

9 Before the thornes that now are yong to bushes big shall grow:
The stormes of anger waxing strong,
shall take them ere they know.

10 The just shall joy it doth them good, that God doth vengeance take:
And they shall wash their feete in blood,
of them that him forsake.

11 Then shall the world shew forth and tell that good men have reward:
And that a God on earth doth dwell, that justice doth regard.

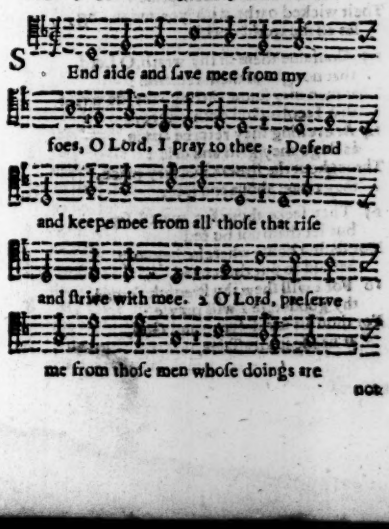
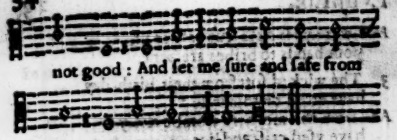
Eripe me. Psal. Lix. I.H.

David in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, declareth his innocencie, and their fury, praying God to destroy all malicious sinners, who live for a time to vexe his people, but in the ende consume in his wrath, to Gods glorie. For this he singeth prayse to God, assured of his mercies.





not good : And ſet me ſure and ſafe from them that ſtill thirſt after blood.

3 For loe they waite my ſoule to take,
they rage againſt me ſtill :
Yea, for no fault that I did make
I never did them ill.
4 They runne, and doe themſelves prepare,
when I no whit offend :
Ariſe, and ſaue me from their ſnare,
and ſee what they intend.

5 O Lord, of hoſts of Iſrael ariſe and ſtrike all lands :
And pittie none that doe rebel,
and in their miſchiefe ſtands.
6 At night they ſtray and ſeeke about,
as hounds they howle and grin :
And all the Citie cleane throughout,
from place to place they runne.

7 They ſpeake of me with mouth alway,
but in their lips are ſwords :
They greed my death, and then would ſay,
what none doth heare our words :
8 But Lord thou haſt their waies eſpide, and laught thereat apace :
The heathen folke thou ſhalt deride,
and mocke them to their face.

9 The ſtrength that doth my foes withſtand,
O Lord doth come of thee:
My God he is my helpe at hand,
a fort of fence to me.
10 The Lord to me doth ſhew his grace in great abundance ſtill :
That I may ſee my foes in caſe ſuch as my heart doth will.

The ſecond part.

11 Deſtroy them not at once, O God, leaſt it from minde doe fall :
But with thy ſtrength driue them abroad,
and ſo conſume them all.
12 For their ill words and truthleſſe tongues, confound them in their pride :
Their wicked oaths, with lyes and wrongs,
let all the world deride.

13 Conſume them in thy wrath, O Lord, that nought of them remaine :
That men may know throughout the world that Iacobs God doth raigne.
14 At euening they returne apace,
as dogs they grin and crie :
Throughout the ſtreets in every place,
they runne about and ſpie.

15 They ſeeke about for meat I ſay,
but let them not be fed :
Nor finde a houſe wherein they may behold to put their head.
16 For I will ſhew thy ſtrength abroad,
thy goodneſſe I will prayſe :
For thou art my defence and God,
at needs in all aſſaies.

17 Thou art my ſtrength, thou haſt me ſtaid,
O Lord I ſing to thee :
Thou art my fort, my fence, and aid,
a louing God to mee.

Dauid now king ouer Iudah, after many victories, ſorroweth by euident ſignes, that God elected him King, aſſuring the people, that God will proſper them if they approoue the ſame. After he prayeth vnto God to finiſh that he had begun.

Sing this as the 59 Pſalme.

O Lord, thou diddeſt vs cleane forſake, and ſcattered'ſt vs abroad :
Such great diſpleaſure thou didſt take,
returne to vs, O God.
2 Thy might did moue the land ſo ſore,
that it in ſunder brake :
The hurt thereof O Lord reſtore :
for it doth bow and quake.

3 With heavy chance thou plagueſt thus the people that are thine :
And thou haſt giuen vnto vs
a drinke of deadly wine.
4 But yet to ſuch as feare thy name a token ſhall enſue
That they might triumph in the ſame, becauſe thy word is true.

5 So that thy might may keepe and ſaue thy folke that fauour thee :
That they thy helpe at hand may haue,
O Lord grant this to mee.
6 The Lord did ſpeake from owne place,
this was his ioyfull tale :
I will diuide Sichem by pace,
and mete out Succoths vale.

7 Gilead is giuen to my hand,
Manaſſes mine beſide :
Ephraim the ſtrength of all my land,
my law doth Iuda guide.
8 In Moab I will waſh my feete, ouer Edom throw my ſhooe :
And thou Paleſtini ough'ſt to ſeeke,
for fauour me vnto.

9 But who will bring me at this tide,
vnto the City ſtrong ?
Or who to Edom will me guide,
ſo that I goe not wrong ?
10 Wilt thou O God, which didſt forſake, thy flocke, their land and coaſts ?
Our warres in hand thou wouldeſt not take,
nor walke among our hoaſts.

11 Giue aide O Lord, and vs relieve, from them that vs diſdaine :
The helpe that hoaſts of me can giue,
it is but all in vaine.
12 But through our God wo ſhall haue might to take great things in hand :
He will tread downe, and put to flight
all thoſe that vs withſtand.

Sing this as the 39 Pſalme.

REgard, O Lord, for I complaine, and make my ſuite to thee.
Let not my wordes returne in vaine,
but give an eare to me.
2 From the coaſts and vtmoſt parts,
of all the earth abroad,
In griefe and anguiſh of my heart,
I crie to thee, O God.
3 Vpon the rocke of thy great power,
my wofull minde repoſe:
Thou art my hope, my fort, and tower,
my fence againſt my foes.
4 Within thy tents I luſt to dwell,
for ever to endure:
Vnder the wings I know right well,
I ſhall be ſafe and ſure.
5 The Lord doth my deſire regard,
and doth fulfill the ſame:
With goodly gifts doth he regard,
all them that feare his name.
6 The King ſhall he in health maintaine, and ſo prolong his dayes:
That he from age to age ſhall raigne,
for evermore alwayes.
7 That he may have a dwelling place,
before the Lord for aye:
O let thy mercy, trueth, and grace, defend him from decay.
8 Then ſhall I ſing for ever ſtill, with prayſe vnto thy name:
That all my vowes I may fulfill,
and dayly pay the ſame.

Dauid declareth by this example and the nature of God, that he and all people muſt truſt in God alone, ſeeing that all without God goes to naught, who onely is of power to ſaue, and that herewardeth man according to his worke.

Sing this as the 59 Pſalme.

MY ſoule to God ſhall give good heed,
and him alone attend:
For why my health and hope to ſpeed, doth whole on him depend.
2 For he alone is my defence,
my rocke, my health and aide:
He is my ſtay, that no pretence,
ſhall make me much diſmaid.
3 O wicked folke how long will ye vſe craft? ſure you muſt fall,
For as a rotten hedge ye be,
and like a tottering wall.
4 Whom God doth love, ye ſeeke allwaies to put him to the worſe,
Ye loue to lie, with mouth ye prayſe,
and yet your hearth doth curſe.
5 Yet ſtill my ſoule doth whole depend,
on God my chiefe deſire:
From all ill feates me to defend,
none but him I require.
6 He is my rocke, my ſtrength and tower,
my health is of his grace:
He doth ſupport me, that no power can remoue me out of place.
7 God is my glory and my health,
my ſoules deſire and luſt:
My fort, my ſtrength, my ſtay, my wealth,
God is mine onely truſt.
8 Oh haue your hope in him alway,
ye folke with one accord:
Power out your hearts to him and ſay,
our truſt is in the Lord.
9 The ſonnes of men deceitfull are,
on ballance but a flight;
With things moſt vile doe them compare,
for they can keepe no weight.
10 Truſt not in wrong robbery or ſtealth,
let vaine delights be gone:
Though goods well got flow in with wealth,
ſet not your hearts thereon.
11 The Lord long ſith one thing did tell, which heare to minde I call:
He ſpake it oft I heard it well:
that God alone doth all.
12 And that thou Lord art good and kinde, thy mercy doth exceed:
So that all ſorts with thee ſhall finde,
according to their meede.

Dauid after his danger of Ziph, giueth God thanks for his wonderfull deliuerance, in whoſe mercies hee truſteth even in the midſt of miſerie, propheſying the deſtruction of Gods enemies, and contrarywiſe happineſſe to all them that truſt in the Lord. 1. Sam. 3.

Sing this as the 44 Pſalme.

O God, my God, I watch betime, to come to thee in haſt:
For why? my ſoule and bodie both,
doe thirſt of thee to taſt.
2 And in this barren wilderneſſe, where waters there are none:
My fleſh is parcht for thought of thee:
for thee I wiſh alone.
3 That I might ſee yet once againe, thy glory, ſtrength and might,
As I was wont it to behold,
within thy temple bright.
4 For why? thy mercies farre furmount this life and wretched dayes:
My lips therefore ſhall give to thee,
due honour, laud and prayſe.
5 And whilſt I live I will not faile, to worſhip thee alway:
And in thy name I ſhall lift vp,
my hands when I doe pray.
6 My ſoule is fill'd as with marrow, which is both fat and ſweet,
My mouth therefore ſhall ſing ſongs
as are for thee moſt meete.
7 When as in bed I thinke on thee,
and eke all the night tide:
For vnder covert of thy wings,
thou art my ioyfull guide.

the right hand is my power them death ſhall ſoone deuoure.

David prayeth againſt the falſe reporters and ſlanderers. hee declareth their puniſhment and deſtruction, to the comfort of the iuſt, and the glory of God.

Sing this as the 18. Pſalme.

O Lord, vnto my voice give eare,
with plaints when I doe pray:
And rid my life and ſoule from dread,
of foes that threat to ſlay.
2 Defend me from that ſort of men, which in deceits doe lurke?
And from the frowning face of them,
that all ill feates doe worke.
3 Who whet their tongues as we have ſeene men whet and ſharpe their ſwords:
They ſhoot abroad their arrowes keene,
I meane moſt bitter words,
4 With priuie ſleights ſhoote they their ſhafts
the vpright man to hit:
The iuſt vnware to hit by craft,
they care or feare no whit.
5 A wicked worke they have decreed,
in counſell thus they crie:
To vſe deceit let vs not dread,
what? who can it eſpie?
6 What waies to hurt they talke and muſe,
all times within their heart:
They all conſult what feats to vſe,
each doth inuent his part.
7 But yet all this ſhall not auaile,
when they thinke leaſt vpon:
God with his dart ſhall ſure aſſault,
and wound them every one.
8 Their crafts and their ill tongues withall, ſhall worke themſelves ſuch blame:
That they which then behold their fall,
ſhall wonder at the ſame.
9 Then all that ſee ſhall know right well,
that God the thing hath wrought:
And prayſe his wittie workes, and tell what he to paſſe hath brought.
10 Yet ſhall the iuſt in God reioyce, ſtill truſting in his might:
So ſhall they ioy with minde and voyce, whoſe heart is pure and right.

Te decet hymnus. Pſal. Lxv. I. H.

A thankeſgiuing vnto God by the faithfull, who are ſignified by Sion and Ieruſalem, for the chuſing, preſeruation, and gouernance of them, and for the plentifull bleſſing powred forth vpon all the earth.

Sing this as the 30 Pſalme.

THy prayſe alone (O Lord) doth raigne,
in Sion thine owne hill,
Their vowes to thee they doe maintaine,
and their behefts fullfill.
2 For that thou doſt their prayers heare,
and doſt thereto agree,
The people all both farre and neere, with truſt ſhall come to thee.
3 Our wicked life ſo farre exceeds,
that wee ſhould fall therein:
But Lord forgive our great miſdeeds, and purge vs from our ſinne.
4 The man is bleſt whome thou doſt chuſe, within thy courts to dwell:
Thy houſe and temple he ſhall vſe,
with pleaſures that excell.
5 Of thy great iuſtice heare vs God,
our heait of thee doth riſe:
The hope of all the earth abroad,
and the ſea coaſtes likewiſe.
6 With ſtrength thou art beſet about,
and compaſt with thy power:
Thou makeſt the mountaines ſtrong and ſtout,
to ſtand in every ſhowre.
7 The ſwelling ſeas thou doeſt aſſwage, and make their ſtreames full ſtill:
Thou doſt reſtraine the peoples rage,
and rule them at thy will.
8 The folke that dwell full farre on earth,
ſhall dread thy ſignes to ſee:
Which morne and evening in great mirth,
doe paſſe with prayſe to thee.
9 When that the earth is chopt and dry,
and thirſteth more and more:
Then with thy drops thou doſt apply and much increaſe her ſtore.
The floud of God doth overflow,
and ſo doth cauſe to ſpring:
The ſeede and corne which men doe ſow,
for he doth guide the thing.
10 With wet thou doſt her furrowes fill,
whereby her clods doe fall:
Thy drops on her thou doeſt diſtill, and bleſſe her fruite withall.
11 Thou dekſt the earth of thy good grace, with faire and pleaſant crop:
Thy clouds diſtill their dew apace, great plenty they doe drop.
12 Whereby the deſert ſhall beginne, full great increaſe to bring:
The little hils ſhall ioy therein,
much fruite in them ſhall ſpring.
13 In places plaine the flocke ſhall feed,
and cover all the earth:
The vales with corne ſhall ſo exceed,
that men ſhall ſing for mirth.

what things the Lord hath wrought: Marke well the wondrous workes that he for men to paſſe hath brought.

6 He layd the ſea like heapes on hie, therein a way they had:
On foot to paſſe both faire and drie whereof their hearts were glad.
7 His might doth rule the world alway,
his eyes all things behold:
And ſuch as would him diſobey,

As workemen doe when they deſire to have their mettals tride.
11 Although thou ſuffer vs ſo long in priſon to be caſt:
And there with chaines and fetters ſtrong to lye in bondage faſt.

The ſecond part.

12 Although I ſay thou ſuffer men

Though wee through fire and water runne of very griefe and paine.
Yet ſure thou doſt of thy good grace

And bring'ſt vs out into a place

14 The vowes that with my mouth I ſpake
in all my griefe and ſmart:
The vowes I ſay which I did make in dolour of my heart.

of oxen fat and Rams:
None other ſacrifice ſhall be,
of bullockes, Goates and lambs.
16 Come foorth and harken here full ſoone,
all ye that feare the Lord:
What he for my poore ſoule hath done,
to you I will record.

17 Full oft I call vpon his grace,
this mouth to him doth crie:
And thou my tongue make ſpeede a pace,
to prayſe him by and by.
18 But if I feele my heart within,
in wicked workes reioyce
Or if I have delight to ſinne
God will not heare my voyce.
19 But ſurely God my voyce hath heard,
and what I doe require:
My prayer he doth well regard,
and graunteth my deſire.

nor caſt me out of minde:
Nor yet his mercy from me ſhut, which I did ever finde.

A ſweet prayer for all the faithfull to obtaine the ſauour of God, and to be lightned with his countenance, to the end that his wayes and iudgements may be knowne throughout the earth: & reioycing that God is the gouernour of all nations.

Sing this as the 30 Pſalme.

HAve mercy on vs Lord,

To ſhew to vs doe thou accord
the brightneſſe of thy face.
2 That all the earth may know
the way to godly wealth,
And all the nations on a row
may ſee thy ſauing health.

3 Let all the world, O God,
give prayſe vnto thy name:
O let the people all abroad,
extoll and laud the ſame.
4 Throughout the world ſo wide
let all reioyce with mirth:
For thou with trueth and right doſt guide
the nations of the earth.

5 Let all the world, O God,

O let the people all abroad,
extoll and laud the ſame:
6 Then ſhall the earth increaſe, great ſtore of fruite ſhall fall:
And then our God the God of peace,

7 God ſhall vs bleſſe I ſay,
And then both farre and neere:
The folke throughout the earth alway,
of him ſhall ſtand in feare.

David expreſſeth the wonderfull mercies of God towards his people, who by all meanes and moſt ſtrange ſort, declareth himſelfe vnto them. Gods Church therefore by reaſon of his promiſes, grace and victories, doth excell all worldly things: wherefore all men are moued to prayſe God for ever.

ſmoake away : So in the preſence of the Lord, the wicked ſhall decay.

3 But righteous men before the Lord,
ſhall heartily reioyce :
They ſhall be glad, and merry all,
and chearefull in their voyce.
4 Sing prayſe vnto the Lord,
who rideth on the skie :
Extoll the name of Iah our God,
and him doe magnifie.

5 The ſame is he that is aboue
within his holy place :
That father is of fatherleſſe,
and iudge of widowes caſe, 6 Houſes he gives, and iſſue both,
vnto the comfortleſſe :
He bringeth bondmen out of thrall :
and rebels to diſtreſſe.

7 When thou diddeſt march before thy folke, the Egyptians from among :
And brought'ſt them through the wildernes.
which was both wide and long.
8 The earth did quake, the rain pour'd downe, heard were great claps of thunder :
The mount Sinai ſhooke in ſuch ſort,
as it would cleane in ſunder.

9 Thine heritage with drops of rain abundantly was waſht :
And if ſo be it barren waxt,
by thee it was refreſht.
10 Thy choſen flocke doth there remaine, thou haſt prepar'd that place :
And for the poore thou doſt prouide of thine eſpeciall grace.

The ſecond part.

11 God will giue women cauſes inſt to magnifie his name :
When as his people triumphe make,
and purchaſe bruite and fame.
12 And puiſant Kings for all their power,
ſhall flie, and take the foyle :
And women which remaine at home,
ſhall helpe to part the ſpoyle.

13 And though yee were as blacke as pots,
your hew ſhall paſſe the Doue :
Whoſe wings and feathers ſeeme to have ſilver and gold aboue.
14 When in this land God ſhall triumph over Kings both hie and low :
Then ſhall it be like Salmon hill,
as white as any ſnow.

15 Though Baſan be a fruitfull hill, and in height others paſſe :
Yet Syon Gods moſt holy hill doth fare excell in grace.
16 Why brag ye thus, ye hils moſt hie, and leape for pride together :
The hill of Syon God doth loue, and there will dwell for ever.

17 Gods armie is two millions of warriours good and ſtrong :
The Lord alſo in Sinai, is preſent them among.
18 Thou diddeſt, O Lord, aſcend on high,
and captiue led them all.
Which in time paſt thy choſen flocke
in priſon kept and thrall.

Thou mad'ſt them tribute for to pay,
and ſuch as did repine,
Thou diddeſt ſubdue that they might dwell in thy temple diuine.
19 Now prayſed be the Lord for that he poures on vs ſuch grace :
From day to day he is the God of our health and ſolace.

The third part.

20 He is the God from whom alone,
ſaluation commeth plaine :
He is the God, by whome I ſcape
all dangers death, and paine:
21 Thus God will wound his enemies head, and breake the hayrie ſcalpe
Of thoſe that in their wickedneſſe continually doe walke.

22 From Baſan will I bring ſayd he my people and my ſheepe :
And all mine owne, as I have done
from danger of the deepe.
23 And make them dip their feet in blood of thoſe that hate thy name :
And dogs ſhall have their tongues imbrude with licking in the ſame.

24 All men have ſeene how thou, O God, thine enemies doſt deface :
And how thou goeſt as God and King,
into thy holy place :
25 The ſingers goe before with ioy, minſtrels follow after :
And in the midſt the damſels play,
with timbrell and with taber.

26 Now in the congregation,
(O Lord) prayſe the Lord :
And Iaakobs whole poſteritie,
giue thankes with one accord, 27 Their chiefe was little Beniamin,
but Iuda made their boaſt :
With Zabulon and Neptalim, which dwell about their coaſt.

28 As God hath giuen power to thee,
ſo Lord make firme and ſure
The thing that thou haſt wrought in vs,
for ever to endure.
29 And in thy temple gifts will wee giue vnto thee, O Lord :
For thine vnto Ieruſalem ſure promiſe made by word.

The fourth part.

Yea and ſtrange Kings to vs ſubdude, ſhall doe like in thoſe dayes :
I meane to thee they ſhall preſent their gifts of land and prayſe.
30 He ſhall deſtroy the ſpearemens rancks their calues and buls of might :
And cauſe of tribute pay, and daunt
all ſuch as loue to fight.

31 Then ſhall the Lords of Egypt come, and preſent with them bring :

The Mores moſt blacke ſhall ſtretch their hands,
vnto their Lord and king.
33 Therefore yee kingdomes of the earth
give prayſe vnto the Lord:
Sing Pſalmes to God with one conſent, thereto let all accord.

34 Who though he ride, and ever hath,
aboue the heavens bright:
Yet by the fearefull thunder claps men may well know his might.
35 Therefore the ſtrength of Iſrael aſcribe to God on hie:
Whoſe might and power doth farre extend aboue the cloudy skie.

36 O God, thy holineſſe and power is dread for evermore:
The God of Iſrael gives vs ſtrength, praiſed be God therefore.

Salum me fac. Pſal. Lxix. I. H.

Chriſt and his elect are figured in Davids zeale and anguiſh, the malicious cruelty of vvhoſe enemies and their puniſhment, Iudas and ſuch traitors noteth, vvho are accurſed: then gathereth hee courage in afflictions, and offereth praiſes to God, vvhich are more acceptable then all ſacrifices. Finally, he doth provoke all creatures to prayſes, prophecying of the kingdome of Chriſt and building of Iuda, vvhere all the faithfull and their ſeede ſhall dvvell for ever.

S Aue me O God, and that with ſpeed the waters flow full faſt: So nigh my ſoule doe

they proceed, that I am ſore agaſt. 2. I ſticke full deepe in filth and clay, whereas I feele

no ground: I fall into ſuch flouds I ſay, that I am like be drownd.

3 With crying oft I faint and quaile,
my throat is hoarſe and drie:
With looking vp my ſight doth faile,
for helpe of God on hie.
4 My foes that guiltleſſe doe oppreſſe my ſoule, with hate are led:
In number ſure they are no leſſe:
then haires are on my head.

5 Though for no cauſe they vex'd me ſore, they proſper and are glad,
They doe compell me to reſtore
the things I never had.
6 What I have done for want of wit, thou Lord all times canſt tell:
And all the faults that I commit to thee are knowne full well.

7 O God of hoaſtes, defend and ſtay all thoſe that truſt in thee:
Let no man doubt or ſhrinke away,
for ought that chaunceth me.
8 It is for thee and for thy ſake, that I doe beare this blame:
In ſpight of thee they would mee make,
to hide my face for ſhame.

9 My mothers ſonnes my brethren all,
forſake mee on a row:
And as a ſtranger they mee call,
my face they will not know.
10 Vnto thy houſe ſuch zeale I beare, that it doth pine me much:
Their cheekes and taunts at thee to heare
my very heart doth grutth.

The ſecond part.

11 Though I doe faſt my fleſh to chaſt,
yea, if I weepe and mone:
Yet in my teeth this geare is caſt,
they paſſe not therevpon.
12 If I for griefe and paine of heart,
in ſackecloath vſe to walke:
Then they anon would it peruert, thereof they ieſt and talke.

13 Both hie and low, and all the throng that ſit within the gate:
They have mee ever in their tongue,
of mee they talke and prate.
14 The drunkards which in wine delight,
it is their chiefe paſtime
To ſeeke which wayes to worke me ſpight, of me they ſing and rime.

15 But thee the while, O Lord I pray, that when it pleaſeth thee,
For thy great trueth thou wilt alway
ſend downe thine aide to mee.
16 Pulcke thou my feete out of the mire,
from drowning doe me keepe:
From ſuch as owe me wrath and ire,
and from the waters deepe.

17 Leaſt with the wanes I ſhould be drownd and depth my ſoule deuoure:
And that the pit ſhould me confound,
and ſhut mee in her power.
18 O Lord of hoaſts, to mee give eare,
as thou art good and kinde:
And as thy mercy is moſt deare,
Lord have me in thy minde.

19 And doe not from thy ſervant hide,
nor turne thy face away:
I am oppreſt on every ſide,
with haſte give eare I ſay.
20 O Lord vnto my ſoule draw nie,
the ſame with aide repoſe:
Becauſe of their great tyranny,
acquite me from my foes.

The third part.

21 That I abide rebuke and ſhame, thou knoweſt and thou canſt tell:
For thoſe that ſeeke and worke the ſame thou ſeeſt them all full well.
22 When they with brags doe break my hart,
I ſeeke for helpe anone:

But finde no friends to eaſe my ſmart, to comfort me not one.

22 But in my meate they gave me gall,
too cruell for to thinke:
And gave me in my thirſt withall
ſtrong vineger to drinke.
23 Lord turne their table to a ſnare, to take themſelves therein:
And when they thinke full well to fare,
then trap them in the gin.

24 And let their eyes be darke and blinde,
that they may nothing ſee;
Bow downe their backe, and doe them binde
in thraldome for to bee.
25 Poure out thy wrath as hot as fire,
that it on them may fall:
Let thy diſpleaſure in thine ire,
take hold upon them all.

26 As deſart dry their houſe diſgrace, their off-ſpring eke expell:
That none thereof poſſeſſe their place,
nor in their tents doe dwell.
27 If thou doſt ſtricke the Man to tame,
on him they lye full ſore:
And if that thou doſt wound the ſame,
thy ſeeke to hurt him more.

28 Then let them heape up miſchiefe ſtill, ſith they are all pervert:
That of thy favour and good will they never have no part.
29 And daſh them cleane out of the booke of life, of hope of truſt:
That for their names they never tooke,
in number of the iuſt.

The fourth part.

30 Though I (O Lord) with woe and griefe have bene full ſore oppreſt:
Thy helpe ſhall give me ſuch reliefe, that all ſhall be redreſt.
31 That I may give thy name the prayſe,
and ſhew it with a ſong:
I will extoll the ſame alwayes, with hearty thankes among.

32 Which is more pleaſant unto thee,
ſuch minde thy grace hath borne:
Then either Oxe or Calfe can be that hath both hoofe and horne.
33 When ſimple folke doe this behold,
it ſhall reioyce them ſure,
All ye that ſeeke the Lord, behold,
your life for aye ſhall dure.

34 For why? the Lord of hoaſts doth heare,
the poore when they complaine:
His priſoners are to him full deare,
he doth them not diſdaine.
35 Wherefore the skie and earth below,
the ſea with flood and ſtreame,
His prayſe they ſhall declare and ſhew, withall that live in them.

36 For ſure our God will Sion ſave, and Iudas Cities build:
Much folke poſſeſſion there ſhall have,
her ſtreetes ſhall all be fild.
37 His ſervants ſeede ſhall keepe the ſame
all ages out of minde:
And there all they that feare his name
a dwelling place ſhall finde.

Deus in adiuto. Pſal. Lxx. I. H.

Hee prayeth to be right ſpeedily delivered, his enemies to be aſhamed, and all that ſeeke the Lord to be comforted.

Sing this as the 25 Pſalme.

O God to me take heede,
of helpe I thee require:
O Lord of hoaſts with haſte make ſpeed,
help, help, I thee deſire.
2 With ſhame confound them all
that ſeeke my ſoule to ſpill:
Rebuke them backe with blame to fall,
that thinke and wiſh me ill.

3 Confound them that apply,
and ſeeke to worke me ſhame:
And at my harme doe laugh and cry
ſo, ſo, there goeth the game.
4 But let them ioyfull be in thee with ioy and wealth:
Which onely truſt and ſeeke to thee,
and to thy ſaving health.

5 That they may ſay alwayes,
in mirth and one accord:
All glory, honour, laud, and prayſ be giuen to thee O Lord.
6 But I am weake and poore, come Lord thine aide I lacke:
Thou art my ſtay and helpe, therefore make ſpeed and be not ſlacke.

In te Domine. Pſal. Lxxj. I. H.

He prayeth in faith, eſtabliſhed by promiſe and confirmed by the vvord of God from his youth, to be delivered from his vvicked and cruell ſonne Abſalon, vvith his confederacie, promiſing to be thankefull therefore.

Sing this as the 99 Pſalme.

MY Lord my God in all diſtreſſe,
my hope is whole in thee:
Then let no ſhame my ſoule oppreſſe,
nor once take hold on me:
2 As thou art iuſt defend me Lord,
and rid me out of dread:
Give eare, and to my ſuite accord,
and ſend me helpe at neede.

3 Be thou my rocke, to whom I may for aide all time reſort:
Thy promiſe is to helpe alway,
thou art my fence and fort.
4 Saue me my God from wicked men,
and from their ſtrength and power:
From folke vniuſt, and eke from them,
that cruelly devoure.

5 Thou art the ſtay wherein I truſt, thou Lord of hoaſts art he:
Yea, from my youth I had a luſt,
ſtill to depend on thee.
6 Thou haſt me kept even from my birth, and I through thee was borne:
Wherefore I will thee prayſe with mirth,
both euening and at morne.
7 As to a monſter ſeldome ſeene, much folke about me throng:
But thou art now, and ſtill haſt beene

my

my fence and aid ſo ſtrong.
8 Wherefore my mouth no time ſhall lack,
thy glory and thy prayſe:
And eke my tongue ſhall not be ſlacke,
to honour thee alwayes.

9 Refuſe me not O Lord I ſay, when age my limbs doth take:
And when my ſtrength doth waſte away,
doe not my ſoule forſake.
10 Among themſelves my foes enquire,
to take me through deceit:
And they againſt me doe conſpire, that for my ſoule laid waite.

The ſecond part.

11 Lay hand and take him now they ſayd,
for God from him is gone:
Diſpatch him quite, for to his aide,
I wis there commeth none.
12 Doe not abſent thy ſelfe away,
O Lord, when neede ſhall be:
But that in time of griefe thou mayſt
in haſt giue helpe to me.

13 With ſhame confound and overthrow,
all thoſe that ſeeke my life:
Oppreſſe them with rebuke alſo,
that faine would worke me ſtrife.
14 But I will patiently abide,
thy helpe at all aſſaies,
Still more and more each time and tide,
I will ſet foorth thy prayſe.

15 My mouth thy iuſtice ſhall record, that dayly helpe doth ſend:
But of thy benefits O Lord,
I know no count nor end.
16 Yet I will goe and ſeeke forth one,
with thy good helpe O God:
The ſauing health of thee alone,
to ſhew and ſet abroad.
17 For of my youth thou took'ſt the care,
and doſt inſtruct me ſtill.
Therefore thy wonders to declare,
I have great minde and will:
18 And as in youth from wanton rage, thou didſt me keepe and ſtay, Forſake me not vnto mine age,
and till my head be gray.

The third part.

19 That I thy ſtrength and might may ſhew,
to them that now be heere:
And that our ſeede thy power may know,
hereafter many a yeere.
20 O Lord thy iuſtice doth exceed,
thy doings all may ſee:
Thy workes are wonderfull indeed,
oh who is like to thee?

21 Thou mad'ſt me feele affliction ſore, and yet thou didſt me ſaue:
Yea, thou didſt helpe and me reſtore, and took'ſt me from the graue.
22 And thou mine honour doeſt increaſe,
my dignity maintaine:
Yea thou doſt make all ſtriſe to ceaſe,
and comfort'ſt me againe.

23 Therefore thy faithfulneſſe to prayſe,
I will both lute and ſing:
My harpe ſhall ſound thy laud alwayes,
O Iſraels holy king.

24 My mouth ſhall ioy with pleaſant voyce,
when I ſhall ſing to thee:
And eke my ſoule ſhall much reioyce,
for thou haſt made me free.

25 My tongue thy vprightneſſe ſhall ſound, and ſpeake it dayly ſtill:
For griefe and ſhame doe them confound, that ſought to worke me ill.

Deus Iudicium. Pſal. Lxxij. I. H.

Gods kingdome by Chriſt is repreſented by Salomon, vnder vvhom ſhall be righteouſneſſe, peace and felicity, vnto vvhom all kings and nations ſhall doe homage, vvhoſe name and povver ſhal endure for euer.

LOrd giue thy iudgements to the King therein inſtruct him well: And with his ſon that princely thing, Lord let thy iuſtice dwell.

2. That he may gouerne vprightly, and rule thy folke aright, And ſo defend through equitie, the poore that have no might.

3 And let the mountaines that are high,
vnto their folke giue peace,
And eke the little hils apply,
in iuſtice to increaſe:
4 That he may helpe the weake and poore with aide, and make them ſtrong:
And eke deſtroy for evermore,
all thoſe that doe them wrong.

5 And then from age to age ſhall they regard and feare thy might:
So long as Sunne ſhall ſhine by day,
or elſe the Moone by night.
6 Lord make the king vnto the iuſt, like raine to fields new mowne:
And like to drops that lay the duſt and freſh the land new ſowne.

7 The iuſt ſhall flouriſh in his time,
and all ſhall be at peace:
Vntill the moone ſhall leaue to prime,
waſte, change, and to increaſe.
8 He ſhall be Lord of Sea and land, from ſhore to ſhore throughout,
And from the floods within the land,
through all the earth about.

9 The people that in deſert dwell,
ſhall kneele to him full thicke:

And all his enemies that rebell,
the earth and duſt ſhall lick.
10 The Lords of all the Iles thereby, great gifts to him ſhall bring:
The kings of Saba, and Araby, give many a coſtly thing.

The ſecond part.

11 All kings ſhall ſeeke with one accord,
in his good grace to ſtand:
And all the people of the world,
ſhall ſerve him at his hand.
12 For he the needy ſort doth ſave, that unto him doth call:
And eke the ſimple folke that have no helpe of man at all.

13 He taketh pitie on the poore, that are with neede oppreſt.
He doth preſerve them evermore,
and brings their ſoule to reſt.
14 He ſhall redeeme their life from dread, from fraud, from wrong, from might.
And eke the blood that they ſhall bleed is precious in his ſight.

15 But he ſhall live, and they ſhall bring to him of Sabaes gold:
He ſhall be honored as a King,
and dayly be extold.
16 The mightie mountaine of his land,
of corne ſhall beare ſuch throng:
That it like Cedar trees ſhall ſtand,
in Libanus full long.

17 Their cities eke full well ſhall ſpeed,
the fruites thereof ſhall paſſe:
In plentie it ſhall feare exceede, and ſpring as greene as graſſe.
18 For ever they ſhall prayſe his name,
while that the ſunne is light:
And thinke them happy through the ſame,
all folke ſhall bleſſe his might.

19 Prayſe ye the Lord of hoaſts and ſing, to Iſraels God each one:
For he doth every wondrous thing,
yea, he himſelfe alone.
20 And bleſſed be his holy Name,
all times eternally,
That all the earth may prayſe the ſame,
Amen, Amen ſay I.

Quã bonus Deus. Pſal. Lxxiij. T. S.

David teacheth that neither the proſperity of the vngodly, nor the affliction of the good ought to diſcourage Gods children, but rather moove them to conſider Gods providence and to reverence his iudgements, for that the wicked vaniſheth away like ſmoake, and the godly enter into life everlaſting, in hope whereof hee reſigneth himſelfe to Gods hands.

Sing this as the 44. Pſalme.

HOwever it be, yet God is good,
and kinde to Iſrael:
And to all ſuch as ſafely keepe their conſcience pure and well.
2 Yet like a foole I almoſt ſlipt,
my feete began to ſlide.
And ere I wiſt even at a pinch,
my ſteps away gan glide
3 For when I ſaw ſuch fooliſh men,
I grudg'd and did diſdaine:
That wicked men all things ſhould have,
without turmoile or paine.
4 They never ſuffer pangs nor griefe,
as if death ſhould them ſmite:
Their bodies are both ſtout and ſtrong,
and ever in good plight.

5 And free from all adverſity,
when other men be ſhent:
And with the reſt they take no part of plague or puniſhment.
6 Therefore preſumption doth embrace their necks as doth a chaine:
And are even wrapt as in a robe,
with rapine and diſdaine.

7 They are ſo fed that even for fat, their eyes oft times out ſtart,
And as for worldly goods they have,
more then can wiſh their heart.
8 Their life is moſt licentious, boaſting much of the wrong
Which they have done to ſimple men, and ever pride among.

9 The heavens and the living Lord,
they ſpare not to blaſpheme:
And prate they doe of worldly things,
no wight they doe eſteeme.
10 The people of God oft times turne backe, to ſee their proſperous ſtate:
And almoſt drinke the ſelfe ſame cup,
and follow the ſame rate.

The ſecond part.

11 How can it be that God ſay they ſhould know or underſtand Theſe worldly things, ſince wicked men, be Lords of Sea and land?
12 For we may ſee how wicked men,
in riches ſtill increaſe:
Rewarded well with worldly goods,
and live in reſt and peace.

13 Then why doe I from wickedneſſe, my fantaſie refraine?
And waſh my hands with innocents,
and cleanſe my heart in vaine?
14 And ſuffer ſcourges every day,
as ſubiect to all blame:
And every morning from my youth,
ſuſtaine rebuke and ſhame?

15 And I had almoſt ſaid as they,
miſliking mine eſtate:
But that I ſhould thy children iudge,
as folke vnfortunate.
16 Then I bethought me how I might,
this matter vnderſtand:
But yet the labour was too great for me to take in hand.

17 Vntill the time I went unto thy holy place, and then,
I vnderſtood right perfectly,
the end of all theſe men.
18 And namely, how thou ſetteſt them,
upon a ſlippery place:
And at thy pleaſure and thy will,
Thou doſt them all deface.

19 Then ſhall men muſe at that ſtrange ſight,
to ſee how ſodainely,
They are deſtroy'd, diſpatcht, conſumde, and dead ſo horribly.

20 Much

20 Much like a dreame when one awakes, ſo ſhall their wealth decay:
Their famous names in all mens ſight, ſhall ebbe and paſſe away.

The third part.

21 Yet thus my heart was grieued then,
my minde was much oppreſt:
22 So fond was I and ignorant, and in this point a beaſt.
23 Yet neuertheleſſe by thy right hand,
thou hold'ſt me ever faſt:
24 And with thy counſell doſt me guide to glory at the laſt.
25 What thing is there that I can wiſh,
but thee in heauen aboue?
And in the earth there is no thing like thee that I can loue.
26 My fleſh and eke my heart doth faile, but God doth faile me never:
For of my heart God is my ſtrength,
my portion eke for ever.
27 And loe, all ſuch as thee forſake, thou ſhalt deſtroy each one:
And thoſe that truſt in any thing,
ſauing in thee alone.
28 Therefore will I draw neare to God,
and ever with him dwell:
In God alone I put my truſt, his wonders I will tell.

Vt quid Deus? Pſal. Lxxiiij. I, H.

A complaint of the deſtruction of the Church and true Religion, vnder the name of Sion, and the Altars deſtroyed. But truſting in the might and free mercies of God by his couenant, he requireth helpe and ſuccour, to the glory of his name, the ſaluation of his poore afflicted ſeruants, and the confuſion of his proud enemies.

Sing this as the 72 Pſalme.

WHy art thou Lord ſo long from vs,
in all this danger deepe?
Why doth thine anger kindle thus at thine owne paſture ſheepe?
2 Lord call the people to thy thought which haue beene thine ſo long:
The which thou haſt redeem'd and brought from bondage ſore and ſtrong.

Haue minde I ſay, and thinke vpon,
remember it full well:
Thy pleaſant place, thy mount Sion,
where thou waſt wont to dwell.
3 Lift vp thy foote, and come in haſte,
and all thy foes deface:
Which now at pleaſure rob and waſt
within thy holy place.

4 Amid the Congregations all thy enemies roare O God:
They ſet as ſignes on euery wall their banners ſplaid abroad.
5 As men with axes hew downe trees,
that on the hils doe grow:
So ſhine the bils and ſwords of theſe, within thy temple now.
6 The ſeeling ſwa'd, the carued boards,
the goodly grauen ſtones,
With axes, hammers, bils, and ſwords,
they beate them downe at once.
7 Thy places they conſume with flame, and eke in all this toile
The houſe appointed to thy name,
they raze downe to the ſoile.
8 And thus they ſaid within their heart,
diſpatch them out of hand:
Then burnt they vp in every place,
Gods houſes through the land.
9 Yet thou no ſigne of helpe doſt ſend,
our Prophets all are gone:
To tell when this our plague ſhall end
among vs there is none.

10 When wilt thou Lord once end this ſhame and ceaſe thine enemies ſtrong?
Shall they alway blaſpheme thy name,
and raile on thee ſo long?
11 Why doſt withdraw thy hand a backe,
And hide it in thy lap?
O plucke it out, and be not ſlacke to giue thy foes a rap.

The ſecond part.

12 O God, thou art my king and Lord,
and evermore haſt beene:
Yet, thy good grace throughout the world,
for our good helpe hath ſeene.
13 The ſeas that are ſo deepe and dead:
thy might did make them dry.
And thou didſt breake the ſerpents head,
that he therein did die.

14 Ye thou didſt breake the heade ſo great of Whales that are ſo fell:
And gav'ſt them to thy folke to eate,
that in the deſerts dwell.
15 Thou mad'ſt a ſpring with ſtreames to riſe from rocks both hard and hie:
And eke thy hand hath make likewiſe
deepe rivers to be drie.

16 Both day and eke the night are thine,
by thee they were begun:
Thou ſet'ſt to ſerve vs with their ſhine
the light and eke the Sunne.
17 Thou doſt appoint the ends and coaſts of all the earth about:
Both ſummer heats, and winter froſts,
thy hand hath found them out.

18 Thinke on O Lord, no time forget thy foes that thee defame:
And how the fooliſh folke are ſet
to raile vpon thy name.
19 O let no cruell beaſt deuoure
the Turtle that is true:
Forget not alwayes in thy power
the poore that much doe rue.

20 Regard thy covenant, and behold thy foes poſſeſſe the land:
All ſad and darke, forworne and old,
our realme as now doth ſtand.
21 Let not the ſimple goe away with diſappointed ſhame:
But let the poore and needy aye,
giue praiſe vnto thy name.

22 Riſe Lord, let be by thee maintain'd the cauſe that is thine owne:
Remember how that thou blaſphem'd art by the fooliſh one:
23 The voyce forget not of thy foes,
for the preſuming hie,
Is more and more increaſt of thoſe,
that hate thee ſpightfully.

Confitebimur tibi, Pſal. Lxxv. N.

The faithfull prayſe the Lord, vvho ſhall come to iudge at his time, vvhen the vvicked ſhall drinke the cup of his vvrath, But the righteous ſhalbe exalted to honour.

Sing this as the 72 Pſalme.

VNto thee God wee will give thankes,
we will give thankes to thee:
Sith thy name is ſo neere declare thy wondrous works will we.
2 I will vprightly iudge, when get conuenient time I may:
The earth is weake, and all therein,
but I her pillars ſtay.
3 I did to the mad people ſay,
deale not ſo furiouſly:
And vnto the vngodly ones,
ſet not your hornes on high.
4 I ſaid vnto them, ſet not vp your raiſed hornes one hie:
And ſee that you doe with ſtiffe necke,
not ſpeake preſumptuouſly.
5 For neither from the Eaſterne parts nor from the Weſterne ſide:
Nor from forſaken wildernesſe, protection doth proceede.
6 For why? the Lord our God he is the righteous Iudge alone;
He putteth downe the one, and ſets another in the throne.
7 For why? a cup of mighty wine is in the hand of God:
And all the mighty wine therein
himſelfe doth poure abroad.
8 As for the lees and filthy dregs, that doe remaine of it:
The wicked of the earth ſhall drinke,
and ſuck them every whit.
9 But I will talke of God I ſay, of Iacobs God therefore:
And will not ceaſe to celebrate his prayſe for evermore.
10 In ſunder breake the hornes of all vngodly men will I:
But then the hornes of righteous men
ſhall be exalted hie.

Gloria Patri.

To Father, Sonne, and holy Ghoſt,
all glory be therefore:
As in beginning was, is now,
and ſhall be evermore.

Here is deſcribeth the powver of God, and care for the defence of his people, by the deſtruction of Senacheribs armye, for vvhich the faithfull are exhorted to be thankefull.

Sing this as the 66 Pſalme.

TO all that now in Iurie dwell
the Lord is clearely knowne:
His name is great in Iſrael
a people of his owne.
2 At Salem he his tents hath pight,
to tarry there a ſpace:
In Sion eke he hath delight,
to make his dwelling place.
3 And there he brake both ſhaft and bow,
the ſword, the ſpeare and ſhield:
And brake the ray to overthrow,
in battell on the field.
4 Thou art more worthy honour Lord, more might in thee doth lie.
Then in the ſtrongeſt of the world,
that rob on mountaines hie.
5 But now the proud are ſpoild through thee and they are fallen on ſleepe:
Through men of warre no helpe can be,
themſelves they could not keepe.
6 At thy rebuke O Iacobs God,
when thou didſt them reproove:
As halfe a ſleepe their chariots ſtood,
no horſemen once did moove.
7 For thou art dreadfull Lord indeede, what man the courage hath To bide thy ſight, and doth not dread when thou art in thy wrath?
8 When thou doſt make thy iudgements heard from heaven through the ground:
Then all the earth full ſore afraid,
in ſilence ſhallbe found.
9 And that when thou O God doſt ſtand,
in iudgement for to ſpeake:
To ſave th'afflicted of the land,
on earth that are full weake.
10 The fury that in man doth raigne,
ſhall turne unto thy praiſe:
Hereafter Lord doe thou reſtraine, their wrath and threats alwayes.
11 Make vowes and pay them to your God, ye folke that nigh him be:
Bring gifts all yee that dwell abroad,
for dreadfull ſure is he.
12 For he doth take both life and might from Princes great of birth:
And full of terrour is his ſight,
to all the Kings on earth.

Voce mea ad. Pſal. Lxxvij. I.H.

David rehearſeth his great afflictions and grievous temptations, vvhereby hee is driven to conſider his former converſation, and the courſe of Gods vvorks in the preſervation of his ſervants, and ſo hee confirmeth his faith againſt theſe temptations.

abroad, my ſoule comfort forſooke.

3 When I to thinke on God intend,
my trouble then is more:
I ſpake but could not make an end,
my breath was ſtopt ſo ſore.
4 Thou holdſt mine eyes alwayes from reſt,
that I alwayes awake:
With feare am I ſo ſore oppreſt,
my ſpeech doth me forſake.

5 The dayes of olde in minde I caſt, and oft did thinke upon.
The times and ages that are paſt,
full many yeeres agone.
6 By night my ſongs I call to minde, once made thy prayſe to ſhew:
And with my heart much talke I finde,
my ſpirits doe ſearch to know.

7 Will God ſaid I, at once for all,
caſt off his people thus:
So that henceforth no time he ſhall be friendly unto us?
8 What is his goodneſſe cleane decaid, for ever and a day?
Or is his promiſe now delayd?
and doth his truth decay?

9 And will the Lord our God forget his mercies manifold?
Or ſhall his wrath increaſe ſo hot,
his mercies to withhold?
10 At laſt I ſayd my weakeneſſe is the cauſe of this miſtruſt:
Gods mighty hand can helpe all this and change it when he luſt.

The ſecond part.

11 I will regard and thinke upon the working of the Lord,
Of all his wonders paſt and gone,
I gladly will record.
12 Yea all his workes I will declare,
and what he did deviſe:
To tell his facts I will not ſpare,
and eke his counſell wiſe.

13 Thy workes O Lord, are all upright, and holy all abroad:
What one hath ſtrength to match the might of thee O Lord our God?
14 Thou art a God that oft didſt ſhew thy wonders every houre.
And ſo doſt make thy people know,
thy vertue and thy power.

15 And thine owne folke thou doſt defend with ſtrength and ſtretched arme:
The ſonnes of Iacob that diſcend, and Ioſephs ſeede from harme.
16 The waters Lord perceived thee,
the waters ſaw thee well:
And they for feare aſide did flee,
the depths on trembling fell.

The cloudes that were both thicke and blacke did raine full plenteouſly:
The thunder in the aire did cracke:
thy ſhafts abroad did flie.
17 The thunder in the aire was heard,
the lightenings from above:
18 With flaſhes great made them afraid,
the earth did quake and moove.

19 Thy wayes within the ſeas doe lie,
thy paths in waters deepe:
Yet none can there thy ſteps eſpie,
nor know thy pathes to keepe.
20 Thou leadeſt thy folke vpon the land,
as ſheepe on euery ſide.
Through Moſes and through Aarons hand, thou didſt them ſafely guide.

Attendite populi. Pſal. Lxxviij. T.S.

Hee ſheweth how God of his mercy choſe his Church of the poſteritie of Abraham, caſting in their teeth the rebellion of their fathers, that their children might acknowledge Gods free mercies, and be aſhamed of their peruerſe anceſtors. The holy Ghoſt hath comprehended as it were the ſumme of all Gods benefites, that the groſſe people might ſee in few words the effect of the whole hiſtorie.

A Ttend my people to my Law, and to my words incline. 2 My mouth ſhall

ſpeake ſtrange parables, and ſentences diuine. 3. Which we our ſelves have heard and learn'd, even of our Fathers old, and which for our inſtruction

our Fathers have us told.

4 Becauſe we ſhould not keepe it cloſe, from them that ſhould come after:
Who ſhould Gods power to their race praiſe,
and all his workes of wonder.
5 To Iacob he commandement gave,
how Iſrael ſhould live:
Willing our Fathers ſhould the ſame vnto their children give.

6 That they and their poſteritie, which were not ſprung up tho:
Should have the knowledge of the law,
and teach their ſeede alſo.
7 That they may have the better hope in God that is above,
And not forget to keepe his lawes and his precepts in löve.

8 Not being as our Fathers were,
rebelling in Gods ſight,
And would not frame their wicked hearts to know their God aright.

9 How went the people of Ephraim their neighbours for to ſpoyle:
Shooting their darts the day of warre,
and yet they tooke the foyle?

10 For why they did not keepe with God,
the covenant that was made:
Nor yet would walke or leade their lives,
according to his trade.
11 But put into oblivion, his counſell and his will,
And all his works moſt magnifique,
Which he declared ſtill.

The ſecond part.

12 What wonders to our forefathers,
did he himſelfe diſcloſe:
In Egypt land within the field,
that called is Thaneos?
13 He did divide and cut the ſea, that they might paſſe at once:
And made the water ſtand as ſtill,
as doth an heape of ſtones.

14 He led them ſecret in a clond
by day, when it was bright:
And in the night when darke it was,
with fire he gave them light.
15 He brake the rocke in wilderneſſe, and gave the people drinke,
As plentifull as when the deepes doe flow up to the brinke.

16 He drew out rivers out of rocks, that were both dry and hard:
Of ſuch abundance that no floods,
to them might be comparde.
17 Yet for all this againſt the Lord, their ſinne they did increaſe:
And ſtirred him that is moſt hie,
to wrath in wilderneſſe.

18 They tempted him within their hearts,
like people of miſtruſt:
Requiring ſuch a kinde of meate,
as ſerved to their luſt.
19 Saying with murmuration, in their vnfaithfulneſſe,
What? can this God prepare for vs,
a feaſt in wilderneſſe?

20 Behold he ſtrake the ſtonie rocke, and floods forth-with did flow:
But can he now give to his folke,
both bread and fleſh alſo?
21 When God heard this he waxed wrath,
with Iacob and his ſeed,
So did his indignation
on Iſrael proceed.

The third part.

22 Becauſe they did not faithfully beleeve, and hope that he Could alwayes helpe and ſuccour them in their neceſſity.
23 Wherefore he did command the clouds, forthwith they brake in ſunder:
24 And rainde downe Manna for them to eat, a food of mickle wonder.

25 When earthly men with Angels food, were fed at their requeſt:
26 He bad the Eaſt winde blow away,
and brought in the South-weſt.
27 And rain'd downe fleſh as thick as duſt,
and fowle as thicke as ſand:
28 Which he did caſt amidſt the place, where all the tents did ſtand.

29 Then did they eat exceedingly,
and all men had their fils,
Yet more and more they did deſire,
to ſerve their luſts and wils.
30 But as the meate was in their mouthes,
his wrath upon them fell:
31 And ſlew the flower of all their youth, and choiſe of Iſrael.

32 Yet fell they to their wonted ſinne, and ſtill they did him grieve,
For all the wonders that he wrought,
they would him not beleeve.
33 Their dayes therefore he ſhortned and made their honour vaine:
Their yeeres did waſte and paſſe away,
with terrour and with paine.

34 But ever when he plagued them, they ſought him by and by:
35 Remembring then he was their ſtrength, their helpe and God moſt hie.
36 Though in their mouthes they did but gloſe,
and flatter with the Lord:
And with their tongues and in their hearts,
diſſembled every word.

The fourth part.

37 For why? their hearts were nothing bent to him, nor to his trade:
Nor yet to keepe, nor to performe,
the covenant that was made.
38 Yet was he ſtill ſo mercifull,
When they deſerved to die:
That he forgave them their miſdeeds,
and would not them deſtroy.

Yea many a time he turn'd his wrath,
and did himſelfe adviſe:
And would not ſuffer all his whole diſpleaſure to ariſe.
39 Conſidering that they were but fleſh, and even as a winde.
That paſſeth away and cannot well
returne by his owne kinde.

40 How oftentimes in wilderneſſe, did they the Lord provoke?
How did they moove and ſtirre the Lord,
to plague them with his ſtroke?
41 Yet did they turne againe to ſinne,
and tempted God eft-ſoone:
Preſcribing to the holy Lord,
what things they would have done.

42 Not thinking of his hand and power, nor of the day when he Delivered them out of the hands, of the fierce enemie.
43 Nor how he wrought his miracles, as they themſelves beheld
In Egypt and the wonders that he did in Zoan field.

44 Nor how he turned by his power,
their waters into blood,
That no man might receive his drinke at river nor at flood.
45 Nor how he ſent them ſwarmes of flies, which did them ſore annoy.

And fild their country full of frogs,
which did their land deſtroy.

The fifth part.

46 Nor how he did commit their fruits unto the Caterpiller:
And all the labour of their hands,
he gave to the Graſhopper.
47 With haileſtones he deſtroyed their vines,
ſo that they were all loſt:
And not ſo much as wilde figge trees,
but he conſumde with froſt.

48 And yet with haileſtones once againe,
the Lord their cattel ſmote,
And all their flocks and heards likewiſe, with thunder-bolts full hot.
49 He caſt upon them in his ire,
and in his fury ſtrong:
Diſpleaſure, wrath, and evill ſpirits,
to trouble them among.
50 Then to his wrath he made away,
and ſpared not the leaſt:
But gave unto the peſtilence,
the man and eke the beaſt.
51 He ſtrake alſo the firſt borne all,
that up in Egypt came:
And all the chiefe of men and beaſts,
within the tents of Ham.

52 But as for all his owne deare folke,
he did preſerve and keepe,
And carried them through wilderneſſe,
even like a flocke of ſheepe.
53 Without all feare, both ſafe and ſound,
he brought them out of thrall:
Whereas their foes with rage of ſeas were overwhelmed all.

54 And brought them out into the coaſts,
of his owne holy land:
Even to the mount which he had got,
by his ſtrong arme and hand.
55 And there caſt out the heathen folke,
and did the land divide:
And in their tents he ſet the tribes of Iſrael to abide.
56 Yet for all this their God moſt hie,
they ſtirr'd and tempted ſtill:
And would not keepe his teſtament nor yet obey his will.
57 But as their fathers turned backe,
even ſo they went aſtray:
Much like a bow that will not bend:
but ſlip and ſtart away.

The ſixt part.

58 And grieveth him with their hill altars, with offrings and with fire:
And with their idoles vehemently provoked him to ire.
59 Therewith his wrath began againe:
to kindle in his breaſt:
The naughtineſſe of Iſrael,
he did ſo much deteſt.
60 Then he forſooke the tabernacle of Silo, where he was Right converſant with earthly men, even as his dwelling place.
61 Then ſuffered he his might and power,
in bondage for to ſtand:
And gave the honour of his Arke,
into his enemies hand.
62 And did commit them to the ſword, wroth with his heritage:
63 The young men were deuoured with fire
maydes had no marriage.
64 And with the ſword the Prieſts alſo, did periſh every one:
And not a widow left alive,
their death for to bemone.

65 And then the Lord began to wake,
like one that ſlept a time:
And as a valiant man of warre refreſhed after wine.
66 With Emrods in their hinder parts,
he ſtrake his enemies all:
And put them then vnto a ſhame,
that was perpetuall.

67 Then he the tent and Tabernacle, of Ioſeph did refuſe:
As for the tribe of Ephraim,
he would in no wiſe chuſe.
68 But choſe the tribe of Iehuda, whereas he thought to dwell:
Even the noble mount Sion, which he did love ſo well.

69 Whereas he did his temple build,
both ſumptuouſly and ſure:
Like as the earth, which he hath made
for ever to endure.
70 Then choſe he David him to ſerve,
his people for to keepe:
Whom he tooke vp and brought away,
even from the folds of ſheepe.

71 As he did follow the Ewes with yong,
the Lord did him aduance:
To feede his people Iſrael,
and his inheritance.
72 Then David with a faithfull heart,
his flocke and charge did feede:
And prudently with all his power,
did gouerne them indeed.

Deus venerunt. Pſal. Lxxix. I. H.

The Iſraelites complaine to God for the calamitie that they ſuffered, when Antiochus deſtroyed their Temple and Citie, deſiring ayde againſt his tyranny, leaſt God and religion ſhould be contemned by the heathen, who ſhould ſee them forſaken and periſh.

Sing this as the 77 Pſalme.

O Lord, the Gentiles doe inuade, thine heritage to ſpoyle, Ieruſalem an heape is made,
thy Temple they defile.
2 The bodies of thy Saints moſt deare abroad to birds they caſt:
The fleſh of ſuch as doe thee feare,
the beaſts devoure and waſte.

3 Their blood throughout Ieruſalem, as water ſpilt they have.
So that there is not one of them,
to lay their dead in grave.
4 Thus are we made a laughing ſtock, almoſt the world throughout:
The enemies at vs ieſt and mock,
which dwell our coaſt about.

5 Wilt thou O Lord, thus in thine ire, againſt vs ever fume?

And

And ſhew thy wrath as hot as fire, thy folke for to conſume ?
6 Upon thoſe people powre the ſame, which did thee never know :
All realmes which call not on thy name,
conſume and overthrow.
7 For they have got the upper hand,
and Iacobs ſeede deſtroyd :
His habitation and his land.
they have left waſte and void.
8 Beare not in minde our former faults,
with ſpeede ſome pitie ſtew :
And aide vs Lord in all aſſaults for we are weake and low.

The ſecond part.

9 O God that giv'ſt all health and grace,
on us declare the ſame :
Weigh not our works, our ſinnes deface,
for honour of thy name.
10 Why ſhall the wicked ſtill alway, to us as people dumbe :
In thy reproach reioyce and ſay,
where is their God become ?
11 Require, O Lord, as thou ſeeſt good,
before our eyes in ſight :
Of all thoſe folke thy ſervants blood,
which they ſpilt in deſpight.
12 Receive into thy ſight in haſt,
the clamours, griefe and wrong,
Of ſuch as are in priſon caſt,
ſuſtaining yrons ſtrong.
Thy force and ſtrength to celebrate,
Lord ſet them out of band,
Which unto death are deſtinate,
and in their enemies hand.
13 The nations which have beene ſo bold,
as to blaſpheme thy name :
Into their laps with ſeven fold,
repay againe the ſame.
14 So wee thy folke and paſture ſheepe, will prayſe thee evermore :
And teach all ages for to keepe,
for thee like prayſe in ſtore.

Qui regis Iſrael. Pſal. Lxxx. I. H.

A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miſeries of the Church, deſiring him to conſider the firſt eſtate vvhen his favour ſhined tovvarde them, that hee might finiſh that vvorke vvhich he had begun.

Sing this as the 67 Pſalme.

THou Heard that Iſrael doſt keepe, give eare and take good heed :
Which leadeſt Ioſeph like a ſheepe,
and doſt him watch and feed.
2 Thou Lord I ſay, whoſe ſeat is ſet, on Cherubins ſo bright:
Shew foorth thy ſelfe, and doe not let,
ſend downe thy beames of light.
3 Before Ephraim and Beniamin, Manaſſes eke likewiſe :
To ſhew thy power doe thou begin,
come helpe us Lord ariſe.
4 Direct our hearts unto thy grace,
convert us Lord to thee :
Shew us the brightneſſe of thy face,
and then full ſafe are we.
5 Lord God of hoaſts of Iſrael,
how long wilt thou, I ſay, Againſt thy folke in anger ſwell,
and wilt not heare them pray :
6 Thou doeſt them feede with ſorrowes deepe, their bread with teares they eate,
And drinke the teares that they doe weepe,
in meaſure full and great.
7 Thou haſt us made a very ſtrife, to thoſe that dwell about :
And that our foes doe love a live,
they laugh and ieſt it out.
8 O take us Lord unto thy grace, convert our mindes to thee:
Shew forth to us thy ioyfull face,
and we full ſafe ſhall be.
9 From Egypt where it grew not well, thou brought'ſt a vine full deare :
The heathen folke thou didſt expell,
and thou didſt plant it there.
10 Thou didſt prepare for it a place,
and ſet her rootes full faſt:
That it did grow and ſpring apace,
and fill'd the land at laſt.

The ſecond part.

11 The hils were covered round about,
with ſhade that from it came.
And eke the Cedars high and ſtout, with branches of the ſame.
12 Why then didſt thou her wall deſtroy, her hedge pluckt up thou haſt :
That all the folke that paſſe thereby,
thy vine may ſpoyle and waſt.
13 The Bore out of the wood ſo wild,
doth dig and root it out :
The furious beaſt out of the field
devoure it all about.
14 O Lord of hoaſts returne againe,
from heaven looke betime :
Behold and with thy helpe ſuſtaine,
this poore vineyard of thine.
15 Thy plant I ſay, thine Iſrael, whom thy right hand hath ſet :
The ſame which thou didſt love ſo well,
O Lord, do not forget.
16 They lop and cut it downe apace,
they burne it eke with fire :
And through the frowning of thy face,
we periſh in thine ire.
17 Let thy right hand be with them now, whom thou haſt kept ſo long :
And with the ſonne of man, whom thou to thee haſt made ſo ſtrong.
18 And ſo when thou haſt ſet us free,
and ſaved us from ſhame,
Then will wee never fall from thee,
but call vpon thy name.
19 O Lord of hoaſts through thy good grace, convert us unto thee,
Behold us with a pleaſant face,
and then full ſafe are wee.

Exultate Deo. Pſal. Lxxxj. I. H.

An exhortation to prayſe God for his benefits, condemning their ingratitude.

BE light and glad in God reioyce,

which

3 Blow as it were in the new moone, with trumpets of the beſt :
As it is vſed to be done
at any ſolemne feaſt.
4 For this is vnto Iſrael
a ſtatute and a trade :
A law that muſt be kept full well which Iacobs God hath made.

5 This clauſe with Ioſeph was decreed,
when he from Egypt came :
That as a witneſſe all his ſeede ſhould ſtill obſerve the ſame.
6 When God I ſay had thus prepar'd to bring him from that land :
Whereas the ſpeech which he had heard
he did not vnderſtand.

7 I from his ſhoulders tooke, ſaith he,
the burthen cleane away :
And from the furnace quit him free,
from burning brick of clay.
8 When thou in griefe didſt cry and call
I holpe thee by and by :
And I did anſwere thee withall in thunder ſecretly.

9 Yea, at the waters of diſcord,
I did thee tempt and proove :
Whereas the goodnes of the Lord with muttering thou didſt moove.
10 Heare O my folke, O Iſrael, and I aſſure it thee :
Regard and marke my words full well,
if thou wilt cleaue to me.

The ſecond part.

11 Thou ſhalt no god in thee reſerve of any land abroad :
Nor in no wiſe to bow or ſerve
a ſtrange and forraine god.
12 Iam the Lord thy GOD, and I
from Egypt ſet thee free :
Then aske of me abundantly,
and I will give it thee.

13 And yet my people would not heare
my voyce, when that I ſpake :
Nor Iſrael would not obey,
but did me quite forſake.
14 Then did I leave them to their will,
in hardneſſe of their heart :
To walke in their owne counſell ſtill, themſelves they might peruert.

15 O that my people would have heard the words that I did ſay :
And eke that Iſrael would regard to walke within my way.
16 How ſoone would I confound their foes and bring them downe full low :
And turne my hand vpon all thoſe that would them overthrow ?

17 And they that at the Lord doe rage, as ſlaves ſhould feeke him till :
But of his folke the time and age
ſhould flouriſh ever ſtill.
18 I would have fed them with the crop and fineſt of the wheat :
And made the rocke with hony drop,
that they their fils ſhould eate.

Deus ſtetit. Pſal. Lxxxij. I. H.

Dauid declaring God to be preſent vvith Iudges and Magiſtrates , reprooueth their partialitie and vnrighteouſneſſe , and exhorteth them to doe iuſtice, but ſeeing no amendment , he deſireth God to execute iuſtice himſelfe.

Sing this as the 77 Pſalme.

A Mid the preaſe with men of might,
the Lord himſelfe did ſtand :
To plead the cauſe of truth and right,
with iudges of the land.
2 How long, ſaid he, will you proceede, falſe iudgement to award ?
And have reſpect for loue of meede,
the wicked to regard ?

3 Whereas of due you ſhould defend the fatherleſſe and weake :
And when the poore man doth contend in iudgement iuſtly ſpeake.
4 If ye be wiſe, defend the cauſe of poore men in their right :
And rid the needy from the clawes of tyrants force and might.

5 But nothing will they know or learne
in vaine to them I talke :
They will not ſee, or ought diſcerne but will in darkeneſſe walke.
For loe even now the time is come that all things fall to nought :
And likewiſe lawes both all and ſome,
for gaine are ſold and bought.

6 I had decreed it in my ſight,
as Gods to take you all :
And children to the moſt of might for love I did you call.
7 But notwithſtanding yee ſhall die
as men, and ſo decay :
O tyrants, I ſhall you deſtroy, and plucke you quite away.

8 Vp Lord, and let thy ſtrength be knowne and iudge the world with might :
For why ? all nations are thine owne,
to take them as thy right.

Deus quis ſimilis? Pſal. Lxxxiij. I. H.

The Iſraelites pray the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies, both at home and far off: alſo that all ſuch vvicked people be ſtricken vvith his ſtormy tempeſts, that they may knovv his povver.

Sing

Sing this as the 77 Pſalme.

DOe not O Lord, refraine thy tongue,
in ſilence doe not ſtay:
With-hold not Lord thy ſelfe ſo long,
nor make no more delay.
2 For why? behold thy foes, and ſee
how they doe rage and crie:
And thoſe that beare an hate to thee hold vp their heads on hie.

3 Againſt thy folke they vſe deceit,
and craftily enquire:
For thine elect to lie in waite their counſell doth conſpire.
4 Come on ſay they, let vs expell
and plucke theſe folke away:
So that the name of Iſrael may vtterly decay.

5 They all conſpire within their hearts,
how they may thee withſtand:
Againſt the Lord to take a part they are in league and band.
6 The tents of all the Edomites,
the Iſmelites alſo:
The Haggarens and Moabites, with diuers others moe.

7 Geball with Ammon, and likewiſe
doth Amalecke conſpire:
The Philiſtims againſt thee riſe, with them that dwell at Tire.
8 And Aſſur eke is well apaid,
with them in league to be:
And doth become a fence and aid to Lots poſteritie.

9 As thou didſt to the Midianites, ſo ſerve them Lord each one:
As to Siſer, and to Iabin, beſide the brooke Kiſon.
10 Whom thou in Endor didſt deſtroy, and waſte them through thy might:
That they like dung on earth did lie,
and that in open ſight.

The ſeuenth part.

11 Make them now and their Lords appeare like Zeb and Oreb than:
As Zeba and Zalmana were,
the Kings of Midian.
12 Which ſayd, let vs throughout the land
in all the coaſts abroad, Poſſeſſe and take into our hand
the faire houſes of God.

13 Turne them O God, with ſtormes as faſt
as wheeles that have no ſtay:
Or like the chaffe which men doe caſt with windes to flie away.
14 Like as the fire with rage and fume,
the mighty forreſts ſpils:
And as the flame doth quite conſume
the mountaines and the hils.

15 So let the tempeſt of thy wrath
vpon their necks be laid:
And of thy ſtormy wrath and ſhower
Lord make them all afraid.
16 Lord bring them all I thee deſire to ſuch rebuke and ſhame:
That it may cauſe them to enquire,
and learne to ſeeke thy name,

17 And let them euermore daily to ſhame and ſlander fall;
And in rebuke and obloquie to periſh eke withall.
18 That they may know and feele full well that thou art called Lord:
And that alone thou doſt excell and raigne throughout the world.

Quam dilecta? Pſal. Lxxxiiij. I. H.

Dauid exiled his countrey, deſireth ardently to returne to Gods Tabernacle, and aſſembly of the Saints, to prayſe God: then hee prayſeth the courage of the people that paſſe the vnwilderneſſe, to aſſemble themſelues in Sion.

Sing this as the 67 Pſalme.

HOw pleaſant is thy dwelling place,
O Lord of hoaſts to mee?
The Tabernacles of thy grace,
how pleaſant Lord they be?
2 My ſoule doth long full ſore to goe into thy Courts abroad:
My heart doth luſt, my fleſh alſo
in thee the liuing Lord.

3 The ſparrowes finde a roome to reſt, and ſaue themſelves from wrong:
And eke the ſwallow hath a neſt
wherein to keepe her yong.
4 Theſe birds full nigh thine Altar may have place to ſit and ſing:
O Lord of hoaſts, thou art I ſay,
my God and eke my king.

5 O they be bleſſed that may dwell within thy houſe alwayes:
For they all times thy facts doe tell,
and ever give thee prayſe.
6 Yea, happy ſure likewiſe are they,
whoſe ſtay and ſtrength thou art:
Which to thy houſe doe minde the way,
and ſeeke it in their heart.

7 As they goe through the vale of teares they digge vp fountaines ſtill:
That as a ſpring it all appeares,
and thou their pits doſt fill.
8 From ſtrength to ſtrength they walke full faſt, no faintneſſe there ſhall be:
And ſo the God of Gods at laſt
in Sion they doe ſee.

9 O Lord of hoaſts to me give heede, and heare when I doe pray:
And let it through thine eares proceede,
O Iaakobs God I ſay.
10 O Lord our ſhield of thy good grace regard and ſo draw neare: Regard I ſay, behold the face of thine anoynted deare.

11 For why? within thy Courts on day is better to abide:
Then other where to keepe or ſtay
a thouſand dayes beſide.
12 Much rather would I keepe a doore within the houſe of God,
Then in the tents of wickedneſſe to ſettle mine aboade.

13 For God the Lord light and defence, will grace and worſhip give:
And no good thing will he with-hold from them that purely live.

14 O Lord, of hoaſtes that man is bleſt, and happy ſure is he:
That is perſwaded in his breſt,
to truſt all times in thee.

Benedixiſti Dom. Pſal. Lxxxv. I.H.

Becauſe God withdrew not his rod from his Church after the returne from Babylon, firſt they put him in minde, that he ſhould not leave the worke of his grace vnperfect, and complaine of their long affliction. Then they reioyce in hope of promiſed deliverance, which was a figure of Chriſts kingdome, vnder which ſhould be perfect felicity.

Sing this as the 81 Pſalme.

THou haſt beene mercifull in deed,
O Lord, vnto thy land:
For thou reſtoredſt Iacobs ſeed,
from thraldome out of band.
2 The wicked wayes that they were in,
thou didſt them cleane remit:
And thou didſt hide thy peoples ſinne,
full cloſe thou coveredſt it.

3 Thine anger eke thou didſt aſſwage, that all thy wrath was gone:
And ſo didſt turne thee form thy rage,
with them to be at one.
4 O God of health, doe now convert thy people vnto thee:
Put all thy wrath from vs apart,
and angry ceaſe to be.

5 Why? ſhall thine anger never end,
but ſtill proceed on vs,
And ſhall thy wrath it ſelfe extend,
vpon all ages thus?
6 Wilt thou not rather turne therefore,
and quicken vs, that we
And all thy folke may evermore, be glad and ioy in thee?

7 O Lord, on vs doe thou declare, thy goodneſſe to our wealth:
Shew forth to vs and doe not ſpare,
thine aide and ſaving health.
8 I will hearke what God ſaith, for he ſpeakes to his people peace:
And to his Saints that never they,
returne to fooliſhneſſe.

9 For why? his helpe is ſtill at hand,
to ſuch as doe him feare:
Whereby great glory in the land
ſhall dwell and flouriſh there.
10 For truth and mercy there ſhall meete,
in one to take their place:
And peace ſhall iuſtice with kiſſe greet,
and there they ſhall embrace.

11 As trueth from earth ſhall ſpring apace,
and flouriſh pleaſantly:
So righteouſneſſe ſhall ſhew her face,
and looke from heavens hie.
12 Yea, God himſelfe doth take in hand, to give vs each good thing,
And through the coaſts of all the land,
the earth her fruits ſhall bring.

13 Before his face ſhall iuſtice goe, much like a guide or ſtay:
He ſhall direct his ſteps alſo,
and keepe them in the way.

Inclina Dom. Pſal. Lxxxvj. I.H.

David ſore afflicted, prayeth fervently for deliverance, ſometimes rehearſing his miſeries and mercies received, deſiring alſo to be inſtructed of the Lord, that hee may feare and glorifie his name. He complaineth alſo of his adverſaries, and requireth to be delivered from them.

Sing this as the 81 Pſalme.

LOrd bow thine eare to my requeſt,
and heare me by and by:
With grievous paine and griefe oppreſt,
full poore and weake am I.
2 Preſerve my ſoule, becauſe my wayes, and doings holy be.
And ſave thy ſervant, O my Lord, that puts his truſt in thee.

3 Thy mercy Lord on me expreſſe, defend me eke withall:
For through the day I doe not ceaſe,
on thee to cry and call.
4 Comfort O Lord, thy ſervants ſoule, that now with paine is pinde:
For unto thee Lord I extoll, and lift my ſoule and minde.

5 For thou art good and bountifull, thy gifts of grace are free:
And eke thy mercie plentifull,
to all that call on thee.
6 O Lord, likewiſe when I doe pray, regard and giue an eare:
Marke well the words that I doe ſay,
and all my prayers heare.

7 In time when trouble doth me moove,
to thee I doe complaine:
For why? I know and well doe proove, thou anſwereſt me againe.
8 Among the Gods (O Lod) is none, with thee to be comparde:
And none can doe as thou alone,
the like hath not beene heard.

The ſecond part.

9 The Gentiles and the people all,
which thou didſt make and frame:
Before thy face on knees will fall,
and glorifie thy name.
10 For why? thou art ſo much of might,
all power is thine owne.
Thou workeſt wonders ſtill in ſight,
for thou art God alone.

11 O teach me Lord the way, and I ſhall in thy truth proceed:
O ioyne my heart to thee ſo nie,
that I thy name may dread.
12 To thee my God will I give prayſe, with all my heart, O Lord:
And glorifie thy name alwayes,
for ever through the world.
13 For why? thy mercie ſhewed to me is great, and doth excell:
Thou ſetſt my ſoule at liberty,
out from the lower hell.
14 O Lord the proud againſt me riſe, and heapes of men of might,
That ſeeke my ſoule, and in no wiſe, will have thee in their ſight.

15 Thou Lord art mercifull and meeke, full ſlacke and ſlow to wrath:

Thy

Thy goodneſſe is full great, and eke
Thy trueth no meaſure hath.
16 O turne to me, and mercy grant,
thy ſtrength to me apply :
O helpe and ſave thine owne ſervant,
thy handmaids ſonne am I.

17 On me ſome ſigne of favour ſhow, that all my foes may ſee :
And be aſhamde, becauſe Lord thou doeſt helpe and comfort me.

Fundamentum ejus. Pſal. Lxxxvij.

The holy Ghoſt promiſeth that the Church as yet in miſerie after the Captivity of Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to great excellencie, ſo that nothing ſhould be more comfortable then to be numbred among the members thereof.

Sing this as the 81 Pſalme.

THe Citie ſhall full well endure, her ground worke ſtill doth ſtay, Vpon he holy hill full ſure,
it can no time decay.
2 God loves the gates of Sion beſt, his grace doth there abide,
He loves them more then all the reſt,
of Iacobs tents beſide.

3 Full glorious things reported be,
in Sion and abroad :
Great things I ſayd of thee,
thou Citie of our God.
4 On Rahab I will caſt an eye,
and beare in minde the ſame,
And Babylon ſhall eke apply, and learne to know my name.

5 Loe Paleſtine and Tyre alſo, with Ethiope likewiſe,
A people old full long agoe,
were borne and there did riſe.
6 Of Sion they ſhall ſay abroad,
that divers men of fame,
Have there ſpring up, and the high God hath founded faſt the ſame.

7 In their records to them it ſhall, through Gods deviſe appeare :
Of Sion that the chiefe of all had his beginning there.
8 Their trumpetters with ſuch as ſing, therein great plenty be:
My fountaines and my pleaſant ſprings, are compaſt all in thee.

Domine Deus. Pſal. Lxxxviij. I.H.

The faithfull ſore afflicted by ſickedneſſe, perſecution, adverſity, and as it were left of God without any conſolation : yet call on God by faith, and ſtrive againſt deſperation.

LOrd God of health the hope and ſtay thou art alone to me, I call and cry throughout the day, and all the night to thee,

2 O let my prayers ſoone aſcend, vnto thy ſight on hie : Encline thine eare, O Lord

entend, and harken to my crie.

3 For why? my ſoule with woe is fil'd, and doth in trouble dwell :
My life and breath almoſt doth yeeld,
and draweth nie to hell.
4 I am eſteem'd as one of them,
that in the pit doe fall :
And made as one among thoſe men,
that have no ſtrength at all.

5 As one among the dead and free from things that here remaine :
It were more eaſe for me to be,
with them the which were ſlaine;
As thoſe that lie in graue I ſay, whom thou haſt cleane forgot :
The which thy hand hath cut away,
and thou regardſt them not.

6 Ye like to one ſhut vp full ſure,
within the lower pit,
In places darke and all obſcure,
and in the depth of it.
7 Thine anger and thy wrath likewiſe, full ſore on me doth lie :
And all thy ſtormes againſt me riſe,
my ſoule to vexe and trie.

8 Thou puſt my friends farre off from me,
and makeſt them hate me ſore :
I am ſhut vp in priſon faſt,
and can come forth no more.
9 My ſight doth faile through griefe and wo,
I call to thee O God,
Throughout the day, my hands alſo to thee I ſtretch abroad.

The ſecond part.

10 Doeſt thou vnto the dead declare,
thy wondrous workes of fame?
Shall dead to life againe repaire,
and prayſe thee for the ſame?
11 Or ſhall thy loving kindneſſe Lord, be preached in the graue?
Or ſhall with them that are deſtroide, thy truth her honour have?

12 Shall they that lie in darke full low,
of all thy wonders wot?
Or there ſhall they thy iuſtice know,
where all things are forgot?
13 But I O Lord, to thee alway, doe cry and call apace:
My prayer eke ere it be day,
ſhall come before thy face.

14 Why doſt thou Lord abhorre my ſoule, in griefe that ſeeketh thee?
And now O Lord, why doſt thou hide thy face away from me?
15 I am afflict as dying ſtill,
from youth this many a yeere,

Thy

Thy terrours that doe vexe me ill with troubled minde I beare.
16 The furies of thy wrathfull rage
full ſore upon mee fall:
Thy terrours eke doe not aſſwage,
but mee oppreſſe withall.
17 All day they compaſſe mee about as water at the tide:
And all at once with ſtreames full ſtout
beſet me on each ſide.
18 Thou ſetteſt farre from me my friends,
and lovers every one:
Yea, and mine old acquaintance all out of my ſight are gone.

Miſericordias. Pſal. Lxxxix. I. H.

David prayſeth God for his covenant made betweene him and his elect by Ieſus Chriſt: then hee complaineth of the deſolation of his kingdome, for that the promiſe ſeemed to be broken. Finally, hee prayſeth to be delivered from afflictions, mentioning the ſhortneſſe of mans life, and confirming himſelfe by Gods promiſes.

Sing this as the 67 Pſalme.

TO ſing the mercies of the Lord,
my tongue ſhall never ſpare
And with my mouth from age to age, thy truth I will declare.
2 For I have ſayd, that mercy ſhall for evermore remaine,
In that thou doſt the heavens ſtay thy truth appeareth plaine.
3 To mine elect, ſayth God, I made a covenant and beheſt:
My ſervant David to perſwade,
I ſware and did proteſt.
4 Thy ſeede for ever will I ſtay, and ſtabliſh it full faſt:
And ſtill vphold thy throne alway,
from age to age to laſt.
5 The heavens ſhew with ioy and mirth,
thy wondrous workes, O Lord:
Thy Saints within thy Church on earth,
thy faith and truth record.
6 Who with the Lord is equall then in all the clouds abroad?
Among the ſonnes of all the Gods
what one is like our God?
7 God in aſſembly of the Saints is greatly to be dread:
And over all that dwell about,
in terrour to be had.
8 Lord God of hoaſts in all the world,
what one is like to thee;
On every ſide moſt mighty Lord thy truth is ſeene to be.
9 The raging ſea by thine adviſe, thou ruleſt at thy will:
And when the waves thereof ariſe,
thou mak'ſt them calme and ſtill.
10 And Egypt thou Lord haſt ſubdude, and thou haſt it deſtroid:
Yea, thou my foes with mighty arme,
haſt ſcattered all abroad.

The ſecond part.

11 The heavens are thine, and ſtill have beene, likewiſe the earth and land:
The world with all that is therein,
thou foundedſt with thy hand.
12 Both North and South, with Eaſt and Weſt, they ſelfe didſt make and frame:
Both Tabor mount and eke Harmon, reioyce and prayſe thy name.
13 Thine arme is ſtrong and full of power
all might therein doth lie:
The ſtrength of thy right hand each howre,
thou lifteſt up on hie.
14 In righteouſneſſe and equity,
thou haſt thy ſeate and place:
Mercy and truth are ſtill with thee,
and goe before thy face.
15 That folke is bleſt that knoweth aright,
thy preſent power O God:
For in the favour of thy ſight,
they walke full ſafe abroad.
16 For in thy name throughout the day,
they ioy and much reioyce:
And through thy righteouſneſſe have they
a pleaſant fame and noyſe.
17 For why? their glory, ſtrength, and aide in thee alone doth lie:
Thy goodneſſe eke that hath vs ſtaid,
ſhall lift our horne on hie.
18 Our ſtrength that doth defend vs well,
the Lord to vs doth bring:
The holy one of Iſrael
he is our guide and King.
19 Sometimes thy will unto thy Saints in viſions thou didſt ſhow:
And thus then didſt thou ſay to them,
thy minde to make them know.
A man of might I have erect your King and guide to be:
And ſet him up whom I elect,
among the folke to me.

The third part.

20 My ſervant David I appoint, whom I haue ſearched out:
And with my holy oyle annoynt,
him King of all the rout.
21 For why? my hand is readie ſtill, with him for to remaine.
And with mine arme alſo I wil,
him ſtrengthen and ſuſtaine.
22 The enemies ſhall him not oppreſſe,
they ſhall him not devoure:
Ne yet the ſonnes of wickedneſſe,
on him ſhall have no power.
23 His foes likewiſe I will deſtroy, before his face in ſight:
And thoſe that hate him I will plague,
and ſtrike them with my might.
24 My truth and mercy eke withall,
ſhall ſtill upon him lie:
And in my name his horne eke ſhall be lifted up on hie.
25 His kingdome will I ſet to be upon the ſea and land:
And eke the running flouds ſhall he embrace with his right hand.
26 He ſhall depend with all his heart,
on me and thus ſhall ſay:
27 My father and my God thou art,
my rocke of health and ſtay,

28 As

28 As my firſt borne I will him take,
of all on earth that ſprings:
His might and honour I ſhall make aboue all worldly Kings.
29 My mercie ſhall be with him ſtill,
as I my ſelfe have told:
My faithfull covenant to fullfill
my mercy I will hold.
30 And eke his ſeede I will ſuſtaine for ever ſtrong and ſure:
So that his ſeat ſhall ſtill remaine while heaven and earth endure.

The fourth part.

31 If that his ſonnes forſake my Law,
and ſo beginne to ſwerue:
And of my iudgements have none awe,
nor will not them obſerue:
32 Or if they doe not vſe aright,
my ſtatutes to them made:
And ſet all my commandements light,
and will not keepe my trade;
33 Then with the rod will I beginne their doings to amend:
And ſo with ſcourging for their ſinne,
when that they doe offend.
34 My mercie yet and my goodneſſe,
I will not take him fro:
Nor handle him with craftineſſe,
and ſo my truth forgoe.
35 But ſure my covenant I will hold,
with all that I have ſpoke:
No word the which my lips have told ſhall alter or be broke.
36 Once ſwore I by my holineſſe, and that performe will I:
With Dauid I will keepe promiſe, to him I will not lie.
37 His ſeede for evermore ſhall raigne, and eke his throne of might,
As doth the Sunne it ſhall remaine for ever in my ſight.
38 And as the moone within the skie
for ever ſtandeth faſt:
A faithfull witneſſe from on hie,
ſo ſhall his Kingdome laſt.
39 But now O Lord, thou doſt reiect, and now thou changeſt cheare:
Yea thou art wroth with thine elect,
thine owne anoynted deare.
40 The covenant with thy ſervant made
Lord thou haſt quite vndone:
And downe vpon the ground alſo haſt caſt his royall Crowne.

The fifth part.

41 Thou pluck'ſt his hedges vp with might,
his wals thou doſt confound:
Thou beateſt eke his bulwarkes downe,
and break'ſt them to the ground.
42 That he is ſore deſtroid and torne of commers by throughout,
And ſo is made a mocke and ſcorne to all that dwell about.
43 Thou their right hand haſt lifted vp,
that him ſo ſore annoy:
And all his foes that him deuoure,
loe thou haſt made to ioy.
44 His ſwords edge thou didſt take away,
that ſhould his foes withſtand:
To him in warre no victory
thou giu'ſt, nor vpper hand.
45 His glory thou doſt alſo waſte,
his throne, his ioy, and mirth,
By thee is overthrowne, and caſt full low vpon the earth.
46 Thou haſt cut off, and make full ſhort his youth and luſtie dayes:
And raiſ'd of him an ill report,
with ſhame and great diſprayſe.
47 How long away from mee, O Lord, for ever wilt thou turne?
And ſhall thine anger ſtill alway,
as fire conſume and burne?
48 O call to minde, remember then,
my time conſumed faſt,
Why haſt thou made the ſonnes of men,
as things in vaine to waſte?
49 What man is he that liueth here,
and death ſhall neuer ſee;
Or from the hand of hell his ſoule
ſhall he deliver free?
50 Where is O Lord, thine old goodneſſe, ſo oft declar'd before:
Which by thy truth and vprightneſſe to Dauid thou haſt ſworne?
51 The great rebukes to minde I call,
that on thy ſervents lye:
The railing of the people all borne in my breaſt have I:
52 Wherewith O Lord, thine enemies
blaſphemed have thine name:
The ſteps of thine anoynted one they ceaſe not to defame.
53 All prayſe to the O Lord, of hoaſtes, both now and eke for aye;
Through skie, and earth, and all the coaſts:
Amen, Amen, I ſay.

Domine refugium. Pſal. xc. I.H.

Moſes ſeeing the people neither admoniſhed by the brewity of their life, nor by plagues to be thankfull, prayeth God to turne their hearts, and continue his mercy towvard them and their poſterity for euer.

Sing this as the 78 Pſalme.

THou Lord haſt beene our ſure defence,
our place of eaſe and reſt:
In all times paſt, yea, ſo long ſince,
as cannot be expreſt.
2 Ere there was made mountaine or hill,
the earth and all abrood:
From age to age, and alwayes ſtill,
for ever thou art God.
3 Thou grindeſt man through griefe & paine, to duſt, or clay, and then,
And then thou ſaiſt againe, returne
againe, ye ſonnes of men.
4 The laſting of a thouſand yeare,
What is it in thy ſight?
As yeſterday it doth appeare or as a watch by night.
5 So ſoone as thou doſt ſcatter them,
then is their life and trade,
All as a ſleepe, and like the graſſe,
whoſe beauty ſoone doth fade.

6 Which in the morning ſhines full bright, but fadeth by and by:
And is cut downe ere it be night,
all withered, dead and drie.

7 For through thine anger we conſume
our might is much decaid:
And of thy fervent wrath and fume
we are full ſore affraid.

8 The wicked workes that we have wrought thou ſetſt before thine eye:
Our privy faults, yea, eke our thoughts thy countenance doth ſpye.

9 For through thy wrath our dayes doe waſte, thereof doth nought remaine:
Our yeares conſumes as words or blaſts,
and are not cald againe.

10 Our time is threeſcore yeeres and ten,
that we doe live on mould:
If one ſee foureſcore, ſurely then we count him wondrous olde.

The ſecond part.

11 Yet of this time the ſtrength and chiefe
the which wee count vpon:
Is nothing els but painefull griefe,
and wee like blaſts are gone.

12 Who once doeth know what ſtrength is there what might thine anger hath?
Or in his heart who doth thee feare
according to thy wrath?

13 Inſtruct vs Lord to know and try,
how long our dayes remaine:
That then we may our hearts apply true wiſedome to attaine.

14 Returne O Lord, how long wilt thou foorth on in wrath proceed?
Shew favour to thy ſervants now,
and helpe them at their need.

15 Refreſh vs with thy mercy ſoone, and then our joy ſhall be:
All times ſo long as life ſhall laſt
in heart reioyce ſhall we.

16 As thou haſt plagued vs before:
now alſo make vs glad:
And for the yeeres wherein full ſore affliction we have had.

17 O let thy worke and power appeare,
and on thy ſervants light:
And ſhew vnto thy children deare,
the glory and thy might.

18 Lord let thy grace and mercy ſtand on vs thy ſervants thus:
Confirme the workes we take in hand,
Lord proſper them to vs.

Here is deſcribed the aſſurance he liveth in, that committeth himſelfe vvholly to Gods protection in all temptation, a promiſe of God to thoſe that love him, knovv him, and truſt in him, to deliver them, and give them immortall glory.

Sing this as the 99. Pſalme.

HE that within the ſecret place,
of God moſt high doth dwell:
In ſhadow of the mightieſt grace at reſt ſhall keepe him well.

2 Thou art my hope and my ſtrong hold,
I to the Lord will ſay:
My God he is in him will I my whole affiance ſtay.

3 He ſhall defend thee from the ſnare
the which the hunter layd:
And from the deadly plague and care whereof thou art afraid.

4 And with his wings ſhall couer thee,
and keepe thee ſafely there.
His faith and truth thy fence ſhall be as ſure as ſhield and ſpeare.

5 So that thou ſhalt not needе I ſay, to feare, or be affright
Of all the ſhafts that flie by day, nor terrous of the night.

6 Nor of the plague that privily doth walke in darke ſo faſt:
Nor yet of that which doth deſtroy,
and at noone dayes doth waſte.

7 Yea, at thy ſide as thou doſt ſtand
a thouſand dead ſhall bee:
Ten thouſand eke at thy right hand,
and yet thou ſhalt be free.

8 But thou ſhalt ſee it for thy part,
thine eyes ſhalt well regard:
That even like to their deſert
the wicked have reward.

9 For why? O Lord, I onely truſt, to ſtay my hope on thee:
And in the higheſt I put my truſt,
my ſure defence is hee.

10 Thou ſhalt not needе none ill to feare, with thee it ſhall not mell:
Nor ye the plague ſhall once come neare
the houſe where thou doeſt dwell.

11 For why? vnto his Angels all with charge commanded hee.
That ſtill in all thy wayes they ſhall preſerve and proſper thee.

12 And in their hands ſhall beare thee vp,
ſtill waiting thee vpon:
So that thy foote ſhall never chance to ſpurne at any ſtone.

13 Vpon the Lyon thou ſhalt goe,
the Adder fell and long:
And tread vpon the Lyons yong with Dragons ſtout and ſtrong.

14 For he that truſteth vnto me,
I will diſpatch him quite:
And him defend becauſe that he doth know my name aright.

15 When hee for helpe to me doth cry,
an anſwere I will give:
And from his griefe take him will I,
in glory for to live:

16 With length of yeeres, and dayes of wealth
I will fulfill his time:
The goodneſſe of my ſaving health,
I will declare to him.

Bonum eſt. Pſal. XCII. I.H.

A Pſalme for the Sabbath, to ſtirre vp the people to acknovvledge & praiſe God in his vvorkes, David reioyceth therein, but the vvicked conſider not that the vngodly vvhen he is the moſt flouriſhing, ſhall moſt ſpeedily periſh. In the end is diſcribed the felicitie of the iuſt, planted in the houſe of God, in praiſe of the Lord.

Sing this as the 88 Pſalme.

IT is a thing both good and meet to praiſe the higheſt Lord:

And in thy name, O thou moſt high,
to ſing with one accord.
2 To ſhew the kindneſſe of the Lord
betime ere day be light:
And eke declare his truth abroad,
when it doth draw to night.

3 Vpon ten ſtrenged inſtruments, on Lute and Harpe ſo ſweet:
With all the mirth you can inuent,
of inſtruments moſt meete.
4 For thou haſt made mee to reioyce in things ſo wrought by thee:
And I haue ioy in heart an voyce thy handy workes to ſee.

5 O Lord, how glorious and how great are all thy works ſo ſtout?
So deepely are thy counſels ſet that none can trie them out.
The man vnwiſe hath not the wit
this grace to paſſe to bring:
And all ſuch fooles are nothing fit to vnderſtand this thing.

7 When ſo the wicked at their will,
as graſſe doe ſpring full faſt:
They when they flouriſh in their ill
for euer ſhall be waſte.
8 But thou art mighty Lord moſt hie, yea, thou doſt raigne therefore:
In euery time eternally,
both now and euermore.

9 For why? O Lord behold and ſee, behold thy foes I ſay:
How all that worke iniquity,
ſhall periſh and decay.
10 But thou like as an Vnicorne, ſhalt lift my horne on hie:
With freſh and new prepared Oyle, thine oynted king am I.

11 And of my foes before mine eyes,
ſhall ſee the fall and ſhame:
Of all that vp againſt me riſe,
mine eare ſhall heare the ſame.
12 The iuſt ſhall flouriſh vp on hie,
as Date trees bud and blow:
And as the Cedars multiplie,
in Libanus that grow.

13 For they are planted in the place,
and dwelling of our God:
Within his courtes they ſpring apace,
and flouriſh all abroad.
14 And in their age much fruite ſhall bring both fat and well beſeene:
And pleaſantly both bud and ſpring,
with boughes and branches greene.
15 To ſhew that God is good and iuſt, and vpright in his will:
He is my rocke, my hope, my truſt,
in him there is none ill.

THe Lord as king aloft doth raigne,

And he to ſhew his ſtrength and maine

2 The Lord likewiſe the earth hath made,

No might can moone or make it fade,
at ſtay it doth endure.

3 Ere that the world was made or wrought,
thy ſeate was ſet before:
Beyond all time that can be thought,
thou haſt bene euermore.
4 The floods O Lord, the floods doe riſe,
they roare and make a noyſe:
The floods (I ſay) did enterpriſe, and lifted vp their voyce.

5 Yea, though the ſtorme ariſe in fight, though ſeas doe rage and ſwell:
The Lord is ſtrong and more of might,
for he on high doth dwell.
6 And looke what promiſe he doth make his houſhold to defend,
For iuſt and true they ſhall it take all times without an end.

Deus ultionum. Pſal. xciiij. I.H.

He prayeth God againſt the violence of tyrants, and comforteth the afflicted, by the good iſſue of their afflictions, and by the ruine of the wicked.

Sing this as the 78 Pſalme.

O Lord, thou doſt reuenge all wrong,
that office longs to thee:
Sith vengeance doth to thee belong,
declare that all may ſee.
2 Set forth they ſelfe, for thou of right
the earth doſt iudge and guide:
Reward the proud and men of might
according to their pride.

3 How long ſhall wicked men beare ſway, with lifting vp their voyce.
How long ſhall wicked men I ſay,
thus triumph and reioyce?
4 How long ſhall they with brags bruſt out,
and proudly prate their fill?
Shall they reioyce which be ſo ſtout,
whoſe workes are euer ill?

5 Thy flocke O Lord, thine heritage, they ſpoyle and vexe full ſore:
Againſt thy people they doe rage
ſtill dayly more and more.
6 Thy widowes which are comfortleſſe, and ſtrangers they deſtroy:
They ſlay the children fatherleſſe, and none doth put them by.

7 And when they take theſe things in hand
this ſtrike they haue of thee:
Can Iacobs God this vnderſtand?
tuſh no, he cannot ſee.
8 O folke vnwiſe and people rude,
ſome knowledge now diſcerne,
Ye fooles among the multitude,
at length begin to learne.
9 The Lord who made the eare of man,
he needes of right muſt heare:
He made the eyne all things muſt than before his ſight appeare.
10 The Lord doth all the world correct,
and make them vnderſtand:
Shall he not then your deeds detect:
how can you ſcape his hand?

The ſecond part.

11 The Lord doth know the thoughts of man his heart he ſeeth full plaine:
The Lord I ſay mens thoughts doe ſcan,
and findeth them but vaine.
12 But Lord that man is happy ſure, whom thou doſt keepe in awe:
And through correction doſt procure,
to teach him in thy law.

13 Whereby he ſhall in quiet reſt,
in time of trouble ſit:
When wicked men ſhall be ſuppreſt,
and fall into the pit.
14 For ſure the Lord will not refuſe, his people for to take:
His heritage whom he did chuſe,
he will no time forſake.

15 Vntill that iudgement be decreed, to iuſtice to conuert:
That all may follow her with ſpeed:
that are of vpright heart.
16 But who vpon my part ſhall ſtand, againſt the curſed traine?
Or who ſhall rid mee from their hand,
that wicked workes maintaine?

17 Except the Lord had beene mine aide,
mine enemies to expell:
My ſoule and life had now beene laid almoſt as low as hell.
18 When I did ſay my foote did ſlide,
and I am like to fall:
Thy goodneſſe Lord did ſo prouide, to ſtay mee vp withall.

19 When with my ſelfe I muſed much,
and could no comfort finde:
The Lord thy goodneſſe did me touch,
and that did eaſe my minde:
20 Will thou inhaunt thy ſelfe and draw with wicked men to ſit:
Which with pretence in ſtead of law,
much miſchiefe doe commit?

21 For they conſult againſt the life of righteous men and good:
And in their counſels they are rife,
to ſhed the guiltleſſe blood.
22 But yet the Lord he is to mee
a ſtrong defence or rocke:
He is my God; to whom I flee,
he is my ſtrength and rocke.

23 And he ſhall cauſe their miſchiefes all themſelves for to annoy:
And in their malice they ſhall fall,
our God ſhall them deſtroy.

Venite exultemus. Pſal. xcv. I. H.

An earneſt exhortation to praiſe God for the gouernement of the world and election to his Church, to eſchew the rebellion of the old fathers, who tempted God in the wilderneſſe, and therefore entred not in the Land of promiſe.

Sing this as the 77. Pſalme.

O Come let vs lift vp our voyce,
and ſing vnto the Lord:
In him our rocke of health reioyce
let vs with one accord.
2 Yea, let vs come before his face,
to giue him thankes and praiſe:
In ſinging Pſalmes vnto his grace,
let vs be glad alwayes.

3 For why? the Lord he is no doubt,
a great and mighty God.
A king aboue all Gods throughout,
in all the world abroad.
4 The ſecrets of the earth ſo deepe,
and corners of the land:
The tops of hils that are ſo ſteepe,
he hath them in his hand.

5 The ſea and waters all are his,
for he the ſame hath wrought,
The earth and all that therein is,
his hand hath made of nought.
6 Come let vs bow and praiſe the Lord,
before him let vs fall,
And kneele to him with one accord,
the which hath made vs all.

7 For why? he is the Lord our God,
for vs he doth prouide:
We are his flocke, he doth vs feede,
his ſheepe and hee our guide.
8 To day if ye his voyce will heare,
then harden not your heart:
As ye with grutching many a yeere prouoke me in deſert.

9 Whereas your fathers tempted me,
my power for to proouе:
My wondrous workes when they did ſee,
yet ſtill they would mee moove.
10 Twice twenty yeeres they did mee grieue,
and I to them did ſay:
They erre in heart, and not beleeue,
they haue not knowne my way.

11 Wherefore I ſware that when my wrath was kindled in my breaſt:
That they ſhould neuer tread the path,
to enter in my reſt.

Cantate Dom. Pſal. xcvj. I. H.

An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to praiſe God for his mercie: and this ſpecially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Chriſt.

Sing this as the 77. Pſalme.

SIng ye with praiſe vnto the Lord
new ſongs of ioy and mirth:
Sing vnto him with one accord,
all people on the earth.
2 Yea, ſing vnto the Lord, I ſay, praiſe ye his holy name:
Declare and ſhew from day to day,
ſaluation by the ſame.

3 Among the heathen eke declare his honour round about:
To ſhew his wonders doe not ſpare,
in all the world throughout.
4 For why? the Lord is much of might,
and worthy praiſe alway:
And he is to be dread of right,
aboue all Gods I ſay.

5 For all the Gods of heathen folke, are Idols that will fade:
But yet our God he is the Lord, that hath the heauens made.
6 All praiſe and honour eke doth dwell,
for aye before his face:

Both power and might likewiſe excell
within his holy place.

7 Aſcribe vnto the Lord alway,
ye people of the world,
All might and worſhip eke, I ſay, aſcribe vnto the Lord.
8 Aſcribe vnto the Lord alſo,
the glory of his name:
And eke into his courts doe goe,
with gifts vnto the ſame.

The ſecond part.

9 Fall downe, and worſhip ye the Lord,
within his temple bright:
Let all the people of the world,
be fearefull at his ſight.
10 Tell all the world, be not agaſt,
the Lord doth raigne above:
Yea, he hath ſet the earth ſo faſt,
that it can never move.
11 And that it is the Lord alone, that rules with princely might.
To iudge the nations every one,
with equity and right.
12 The heavens ſhall great ioy begin,
the earth eke ſhall reioyce:
The ſea with all that is therein
ſhall ſhoute and make a noiſe.
13 The field ſhall ioy, and every thing that ſpringeth on the earth:
The wood and every tree ſhall ſing,
with gladneſſe and with mirth.
14 Before the preſence of the Lord,
and comming of his might,
When he ſhall iuſtly iudge the world,
and rule his folke with right.

Dominus reg. Pſal. xcvij. I. H.

David exhorteth all to reioyce for the comming of the kingdome of Chriſt, dreadfull to the rebels and Idolaters, and ioyfull to the iuſt, whom he exhorteth to innocency, to reioycing and thankeſgiving.

Sing this as the 95. Pſalme.

THe Lord doth raigne, where at the earth may ioy with pleaſant voyce:
And eke the Iles with ioyfull mirth,
may triumph and reioyce.
2 Both clouds and darkneſſe eke doe ſwell,
and round about him beat:
Yea, right and iuſtice ever dwell,
and bide about his ſeat.
3 Yea, fire and heate at once doe runne, and goe before his face:
Which ſhall his foes and enemies burne, abroad in every place.
4 His lightnings eke full bright did blaze
and to the world appeare:
Whereat the earth did looke and gaze,
with dread and deadly feare.
5 The hils like waxe did melt in ſight,
and preſence of the Lord:
They fled before that rivers might,
which guideth all the world.
6 The heavens eke declare and ſhew his iuſtice all abroad:
That all the world may ſee and know
the glory of our God.
7 Confuſion ſure ſhall come to ſuch,
as worſhip idoles vaine:
And eke to thoſe that glory much dumbe pictures to maintaine.
8 For all the idoles of the world, which they as Gods doe call:
Shall feele the power of the Lord,
and downe to him ſhall fall.
6 With ioy ſhall Sion heare this thing,
and Iuda ſhall reioyce:
For at thy iudgement they ſhall ſing,
and make a pleaſant noiſe.
10 That thou O Lord, art ſet on high,
in all the earth abroad,
And art exalted wondrouſly,
above each other God.
11 All ye that love the Lord doe this,
hate all things that are ill:
For hee doth keepe the ſoules of his,
from ſuch as would them ſpill.
12 And light doth ſpring vp to the iuſt, with pleaſure for his part:
Great ioy with gladneſſe, mirth, and luſt,
to them of vpright heart.
13 Ye righteous in the Lord reioyce,
his holineſſe proclaime:
Be thankefull eke with heart and voyce,
and mindfull of the ſame.

Sing this as the 95. Pſalme.

O Sing ye now vnto the Lord
a new and pleaſant ſong:
For he hath wrought throughout the world,
his wonders great and ſtrong.
2 With his right hand full worthily,
he doeth his foes devoure:
And gets himſelfe the victory:
with his owne arme and power.
3 The Lord doth make the people know his ſaving health and might,
The Lord doth eke his iuſtice ſhow,
in all the heathens ſight.
4 His grace and truth to Iſrael,
in minde he doth record:
That all the earth hath ſeene right well,
the goodneſſe of the Lord.
5 Be glad in him with ioyfull voyce,
all people on the earth:
Give thanks to God, ſing and reioyce to him with ioy and mirth.
6 Vpon the harpe vnto him ſing, give thanks to him with Pſalmes:
Reioyce before the Lord our King:
with trumpets and with ſhalmes.
7 Yea, let the ſea with all therein, for ioy both roare and ſwell:
The earth likewiſe let it begin,
with all that therein dwell.
8 And let the flouds reioyce their fils,
and clap their hands apace,
And eke the mountaines and the hils,
before the Lord his face.

9 For he ſhall come to iudge and try
the world and every wight:
And rule the people mightily with iuſtice and with right.

Dominus regnavit. Pſal. xcix. I.H.

Hee commendeth the power, equitie, and excellency of the kingdome of God by Chriſt, ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, prouoking them to magnifie the ſame, and to feare the Lord as the ancient Fathers, Moſes, Aaron, and Samuel, who calling vpon God were heard in their prayers.

THe Lord doth raigne, although at is Yea, he on Cherubims doth ſit though all the worlde doe roare.

2 The Lord that doth in Sion dwell,

Aboue all folke he doth excell,
and he aloft is ſet.

3 Let all men praiſe thy mightie name, for it is fearefull ſure:
And let them magnifie the ſame,
that holy is and pure.

4 The Princely power of our king

Thou rightly ruleſt every thing in Iacob through thy might.

5 To praiſe the Lord our God deuiſe,
all honour to him doe:
His foot-ſtoole worſhip him before,
for he is holy to.

6 Moſes, Aaron and Samuel,
as Prieſts on him did call:
When they did pray, he heard them well,
and gaue them anſwere all.

7 Within the cloud to them he ſpake,
then did they labour ſtill:
To keepe ſuch lawes as he did make and pointed them vntill.

8 O Lord our God thou didſt th emear, and anſwereſt them againe:
Thy mercy did on them appeare,
their deeds didſt not maintaine.

9 O laud and praiſe our Lord and God, within his holy hill:
For why? our God throughout the world

Praiſe, laud and bleſſe his name alwayes,

It ſeemeth that this prayer vvas appointed to the faithfull to pray in the captivitie of Babylon. A conſolation for the building of the Church, vvhereof followeth the praiſe of God to be publiſhed vnto all poſteritie. The converſion of the Gentiles, and ſtabilitie of the Church.

Sing this as the 77. Pſalme.

O Heare my prayer Lord, and let my cry come vnto thee:
2 In time of trouble doe not hide
the face away from mee.
3 Incline thine eares to mee, make haſte to heare me when I call:
For as the ſmoake doth fade, ſo doe
my dayes conſume and fall.
4 And as a harth my bones are burnt,
my heart is ſmitten dead:
And withers as the graſſe, that I forget to eate my bread.
5 By reaſon of my groaning voyce,
my bones cleave to my skin:
6 As Pelican in wildernesſe, ſuch caſe now am I in.
7 And as an Owle in deſert is,
loe I am ſuch a one:
I watch, and as a Sparrow on the houſe top am alone.
8 Loe dayly in reproachfull wiſe mine enemies doe me ſcorne:
And they that doe againſt me rage,
againſt me they have ſworne.
9 Surely with aſhes as with bread,
my hunger I have fild:
And mingled have my drinke with teares,
that from my eyes have ſtild.
10 Becauſe of thy diſpleaſure Lord, thy wrath, and thy diſdaine:
For thou haſt lifted me aloft,
and caſt me downe againe.
11 The dayes wherein I paſſe my life,
are like the fleeting ſhade:
And I am withered like the graſſe,
that ſoone away doth fade.
12 But thou O Lord, for ever doſt remaine in ſteady place:
And thy remembrance ever doth abide from race to race.

The ſecond part.

13 Thou wilt ariſe and mercy thou to Sion wilt extend:
The time of mercy, now the time
foreſet, is come to end.
14 For even in the ſtones thereof thy ſervants doe delight:
And on the duſt thereof they have compaſſion in their ſpirite.
15 Then ſhall the heathen people feare,
the Lords moſt holy name:
And all the Kings on earth ſhall dread
the glory and thy fame.
16 Then when the Lord the mighty God
againe ſhall Sion reare:
And then when he moſt nobly in his glory ſhall appeare.
17 To prayer of the deſolate,
when he himſelfe ſhall bend:
When he ſhall not diſdaine vnto their prayers to attend.
18 This ſhall be written for the age that after ſhall ſucceede:
The people yet vncreated
the Lords renowne ſhall ſpread.
19 For he from his high Sanctuarie hath looked downe below:
And out of heaven hath the Lord beheld the earth alſo.
20 That of the morning captive he might heare the wofull cry:
And that he might deliver thoſe that damned are to dye.
21 That they in Sion might declare
the Lords moſt holy name:
And in Ieruſalem ſet forth
the praiſes of the ſame.
22 Then when the people of the land,
and kingdomes with accord,
Shall be aſſembled for to doe their ſervice to the Lord.

The third part.

23 My former force and ſtrength he hath abated in the way:
And ſhorter he did cut my dayes,
thus I therefore did ſay:
24 My God in midſt of all my dayes
now take me not away:
Thy yeeres endure eternally,
from age to age for aye.
25 Thou the foundation of the earth before all times haſt laid,
And Lord the heavens are the worke, which thine owne hands have made.
26 Yea, they ſhall periſh and decay,
but thou ſhalt tarry ſtill:
And they ſhall all in time waxe old,
even as a garment will.
27 Thou as a garment ſhalt them change,
and changed ſhall they be:
But thou doſt ſtill abide the ſame,
thy yeeres doe never flee.
28 The children of thy ſervants ſhall continually endure:
And in thy ſight their happy ſeede for ever ſhall ſtand ſure.

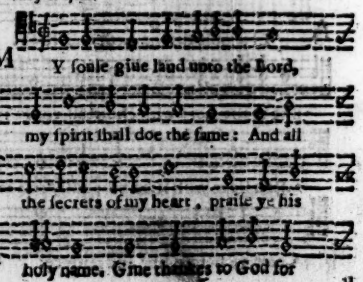
Benedic anima. Pſal. Ciij. T. S.

The Prophet provoketh men and Angels, and all creatures to prayſe the Lord for his fatherly mercies, indeliverance of his people from evils, in his providence over all things, and in preſervation of the faithfull.



all

all his gifts, ſhew not thy ſelfe vnkinde,

And ſuffer not his benefits to ſlip out of thy minde.

3 That gave thee pardon for thy faults,
and thee reſtor'd againe;
For all thy weake and fraile diſeaſe,
and heald thee of thy paine.
4 That did redeeme thy life from death,
from which thou couldſt not flee,
His mercy and compaſſion both,
he did extend to thee.

5 That fill'd with goodneſſe thy deſire,
and did prolong thy youth;
Like as the Eagle caſts her bill,
whereby her age reneweth:
6 The Lord with iuſtice doth repay
all ſuch as be oppreſt;
So that their ſufferings and their wrongs,
are turned to the beſt.

7 His wayes and his commandements, to Moſes he did ſhew,
His counſels and his valiant acts,
the Iſraelites did know.
8 The Lord is kind and mercifull, when ſinners doe him grieve,
The ſloweſt to conceive a wrath,
and readieſt to forgive.

9 He chides not vs continually,
though we be full of ſtrife;
Nor keepes our faults in memory,
for all our ſinfull life.
10 Nor yet according to our ſinnes
the Lord doth vs regard;
Nor after our iniquities,
he doth not vs reward.

11 But as the ſpace is wondrous great,
twixt earth and heaven above;
So is his goodnes much more large,
to them that doe him love.
12 God doth remoove our ſinnes from vs,
and our offences all;
As farre as is the ſunne riſing,
from diſtant from his fall.

The ſecond part.

13 And looke what pitie parents deare
vnto their children beare;
Like pitie beareth God to ſuch
as worſhip him in feare.
14 The Lord that made vs knowes our ſhape,
our moulde and faſhion iuſt:
How weake and fraile our nature is,
and how we be but duſt.

15 And how the time of mortall men,
is like the withering hay;
Or like the flower right faire in field,
that fades full ſoone away.
16 Whoſe gloſſe and beauty ſtormy windes,
doe vtterly diſgrace,
And make that after their aſſaults,
ſuch bloſſomes have no place.

17 But yet the goodneſſe of the Lord,
with his ſhall ever ſtand;
Their childrens children doe receiue,
his righteouſneſſe at hand.
18 I meane which keepe his covenant, with all their whole deſire;
And not forget to doe the thing,
that he doth them require.

19 The heauens hie are made the ſeate,
and footſtoole of the Lord:
And by his power imperiall,
he gouernes all the world.
20 Ye Angels which are great in power, praiſe ye and bleſſe the Lord;
Which to obey and doe his will,
immediately accord.

21 Ye noble hoaſts and miniſters, ceaſe not to laud him ſtill:
Which ready are to execute,
his pleaſure and his will:
22 Ye all his workes in euery place,
prayſe ye his holy name;
My heart, my minde, and eke my ſoule, praiſe ye alſo the ſame.

Benedic anima. Pſal. Ciij. W. K.

A thankeſgiuing for the creation of the vvorld, and gouernance of the ſame by his marueilous prouidence: alſo a prayer againſt the vvicked, vvho are occaſions that God diminiſheth his bleſſings.

MY ſoule praiſe the Lord, ſpeake good of his name; O Lord our great

God, how doſt thou appeare? So paſ-ſing in glory; that great is thy fame,

Honour and maieſtie in thee ſhine moſt

cleare; With light as a robe, thou haſt thee beclad, whereby all the earth thy greatneſſe may ſee, the heavens in ſuch ſort thou alſo haſt ſpread, That it to a curtaine compared may be.

3 His chamber beames lie,
in the cloudes full ſure:
Which as his chariots,
are made him to beare.
And there with much ſwiftnes his courſe doth endure:
Vpon the wings riding,
of winde in the ayre.
4 He maketh his ſpirits
as heralds to goe:
And lightnings to ſerue,
we ſee alſo preſt.
His will to accompliſh,
they runne to and fro,
To ſaue or conſume things
as ſeemeth to him beſt.
5 He grounded the earth
ſo firmely and faſt,
That it once to moove, none ſhall haue ſuch power:
6 The deepe a faire couering, for it made thou haſt:
Which by his owne nature
the hils would deuoure.
7 But at thy rebuke,
the waters doe flie,
And ſo giue due place,
thy word to obey:
At thy voyce of thunder
ſo fearefull they be,
That in their great raging,
they haſt ſoone away.
8 The mountaines full high,
they then vp aſcend:
If thou doe but ſpeake
thy word they fulfill.
So likewiſe the waues
moſt quickely deſcend.
Where thou them appointeſt,
remaine they doe ſtill.
9 Their bounds thou haſt ſet, howfarre they ſhall runne,
So as in their rage,
not that paſſe they can.
For God hath appointed,
they ſhall not returne,
The earth to deſtroy more,
which was made for man.

The ſecond part.

10 He ſendeth the ſprings to ſtrong ſtreames and lakes:
Which runne doe full ſwift
among the huge hils.
11 Where both the wilde aſſes their thirſt oft-times ſlackes:
And beaſts of the mountaines, thereof drinke their fils.
12 By theſe pleaſant ſprings,
or fountaines full faire,
The fowles of the aire abide ſhall and dwell.
13 Who mooved by nature,
to hop here and there,
Among the greene branches their ſongs ſhall excell.
14 The mountaines moiſt
the cloudes he doth vſe:
The earth with his workes,
are wholly repleate.
15 So as the hruite earth
he doth not refuſe,
But graſſe doth prouide them,
and herbe for mans meate.
Yea bread, Wine and Oyle,
he made for mans ſake.
His face to refreſh
and heart to make ſtrong.
16 The Cedars of Liban,
this great God did make,
Which trees he doth nourish,
that grow vp ſo long.
17 In thoſe may birds build and make there their neſt:
In firre trees the Storkes remaine and abide.
18 The high hils are ſuccours
for wilde Goates to reſt,
And eke the rocks ſtonie,
for Conies to hide.
19 The Moone then is ſet,
her ſeaſons to runne,
The dayes from the nights,
thereby to diſcerne.
And by the deſcending
alſo of the Sunne,
The cold from heate alway thereby we doe learne.
20 When darkeneſſe doth come,
by Gods will and power,
Then creepe forth doe all the beaſts of the wood.
21 The lions range roaring, their prey to deuoure,
But yet it is thou (Lord)
which giueſt them food.
22 As ſoone as the Sunne is vp, they retire:
To couch in their dens
then are they full faine.
23 That man to his worke may as right doth require,
Till night come and call him,
to take reſt againe.

The third part.

24 How fundry (O Lord)
are all thy works found?
With wiſedome full great,
they are indeed wrought,
So that the whole world
of thy praiſe doth ſound,
And as for thy riches
they paſſe all mens thought.
25 So as the great Sea, which large is and broad,
Where things that creepe ſwarme,
and beaſts of each ſort.
26 There both mightie ſhips ſaile,
and ſome lie at road:
The Whale huge and monſtrous,
there alſo doth ſport.
27 All things on thee waite, thou doſt them relieve,
And thou in due time
full well doſt them feede,

28 Now

28 Now when it doth pleaſe thee, the ſame ſo to give,
They gather full gladly thoſe things which they need, Thou openeſt thy hand,
and they finde ſuch grace:
That they with good things are filled we ſee.
29 But ſore are they troubled,
if thou turne thy face;
For if thou their breath take,
vile duſt then they be.
30 Againe, when thy ſpirit
from them doth proceed;
All things to appoint and what ſhall enſue.
31 Then are they created,
as thou haſt decreed:
And doſt by thy goodneſſe
the dry earth renue.
32 The prayſe of the Lord
for ever ſhall laſt,
Who may in his works
by right well reioyce,
His looke can the earth make to tremble full faſt:
And likewiſe the mountaines to ſmoake at his voyce.
33 To this Lord and God,
ſing will I alwaies,
So long as I live
my God prayſe will I.
34 Then am I moſt certaine,
my words ſhall him pleaſe;
I will reioyce in him,
to him will I cry.
35 The ſinners, O Lord,
conſume in thine ire,
And eke the perverſe them roote out with ſhame:
But as for my ſoule now,
let it ſtill deſire,
And ſay with the faithfull,
prayſe ye the Lords name.

Confitemini Dom. Pſal. Cv. N.

Hee prayſeth the ſingular goodneſſe of God, for chuſing a peculiar people to himſelfe, never ceaſing to doo them good, even for his promiſe ſake.

Sing this as the 59 Pſalme.

GIve prayſes vnto God the Lord,
and all vpon his name:
Among the people eke declare his works to ſpread his fame.
2 Sing ye vnto the Lord I ſay, and ſing vnto him praiſe,
And talke of all the wondrous works,
that he hath wrought alwayes.
3 In honour of his holy name,
reioyce with one accord:
And let the heart alſo reioyce,
of them that ſeeke the Lord.
4 Seeke ye the Lord, and ſeeke the ſtrength of his eternall might:
And ſeeke his face continually,
and preſence of his ſight.
5 The wondrous works that he hath done,
keepe ſtill in mindfull heart,
Ne let the iudgements of his mouth,
out of your mindes depart.
6 Ye that of faithfull Abraham
his ſervant are the ſeed:
Ye his elect the children that of Iacob doe proceed.
7 For hee, he onely Iehouah I ſay,
the mighty Lord our God:
And his moſt rightfull iudgements are through all the earth abroad.
8 His promiſe and his covenant, which he hath made to his:
He hath remembred evermore,
to thouſands of degrees.

The ſecond part.

9 The covenant which he hath made,
with Abraham long agoe:
And faithfull oath which he hath ſwotne,
to Iſaac alſo:
10 And did confirme the ſame for law,
that Iaakob ſhould obey:
And for eternall covenant,
to Iſrael for aye.
11 When thus he ſaid, loe I to you, all Canaan land will give:
The lot of your inheritance,
wherein your ſeede ſhall live.
12 Although the number at that time,
did very ſmall appeare:
Yea very ſmall, and in the land,
they then but ſtrangers were.
13 While yet they walkt from land to land without a ſure abode.
And while from ſundry kingdomes they did wander all abroad.
14 And wrong at no oppreſſors hand,
he ſuffred them to take:
But even the great and mighty Kings,
reproved for their ſake.
15 And thus he ſayd touch ye not thoſe, that mine anoynted be:
Ne doe the Prophets any harme,
that doe pertaine to me.
16 He call'd a dearth vpon the land, of bread he ſtrayned the ſtore:
But he againſt their time of neede had ſent a man before.

The third part.

17 Even Ioſeph which had once beene ſold to live a ſlaye in woe:
18 Whoſe feete they hurt in ſtockes, whoſe (ſoule
the iron piers'd alſo.
19 Vntill the time came when his cauſe, was knowne apparently:
The mighty word of God the Lord,
his faultleſſe trueth did trie.
20 The King ſent and delivered him, from priſon where he was:
The ruler of the people then did freely let him paſſe.
21 And over all his houſe he made him Lord, to beare the ſway:
And of his ſubſtance made him have the rule and all the ſtay.
22 That he might to his will inſtruct
the Princes of the land:
And wiſedomes lore his ancient men might teach to vnderſtand.

23 Then into the Egyptian land, came Iſrael alſo:
And Iacob in the land of Ham
did liue a ſtranger tho.

24 His people he exceedingly in number made to flow:
And ouer all their enemies,
in ſtrength he made them grow.

25 Whoſe hearts he turn'd, that they with hate his people did intreat:
And did his ſeruants wrongfully,
abuſe with falſe deceit.

The fourth part.

26 His faithfull ſeruant Moſes then,
and Aaron whom he choſe,
He did command to goe to them,
his meſſage to diſcloſe.

27 The wondrous meſſage of his ſignes
among them they did ſhow:
And wonders in the land of Ham
then they did worke alſo.

28 Darkneſſe he ſent and made it darke,
in ſtead of brighter day:
And unto his commiſſion
they did not diſobey.

29 He turn'd their waters into blood,
he did their fiſhes ſlay:

30 Their land brought frogs, euen in the place where their King Pharaoh lay.

31 He ſpake and at his voyce there came great ſwarmes of noyſome flies:
And all the quarters of their land were fild with crawling lice.

32 He gave them cold and ſtony haile
in ſtead of milder raine:
And fiery flames within their land
he ſent unto their paine.

33 He ſmote their vines, and all their trees, whereas their figs did grow,
And all the trees within their coaſts,
downe did he ouerthrow.

34 He ſpake, then Caterpillers did,
and Graſhoppers abound:

35 Which eate the graſſe in all their land,
and fruit of all their ground.

The fift part.

36 The firſt begotten in their land,
eke deadly did he ſmite:
Yea, the beginning and firſt fruit,
of all their ſtrength and might.

37 With gold and ſiluer he them brought,
from Egypt land to paſſe:
And in the number of the tribes,
no feeble one there was.

38 Egypt was glad and ioyfull then,
when they did thence depart:
For terror and the feare of them,
was fallen into their heart.

39 To ſhrowd them from the parching heat
a clould he did diſplay,
And fire he ſent to give them light,
when night had hid the day.

40 They asked, and he cauſed Quailes to raine at their requeſt:
And fully with the bread of heaven,
their hunger he repreſt.

41 He opened then the ſtony rocke,
and water guſhed out:
And in the dry and parched grounds,
like rivers runne about.

42 For of his holy covenant,
aye mindefull was he tho:
Which to his ſervant Abraham,
he plighted long agoe.

43 He brought his people forth with mirth
and his elect with ioy:
Out of the cruell land, where they had liu'd in great annoy.

44 And of the heathen men he gave to them the fruitfull lands,
The labour of the people eke,
they tooke into their hands.

45 That they his holy ſtatutes might obſerue for evermore:
And faithfully obey his lawes, prayſe ye the Lord therefore.

Confitemini Dom. Pſal. Cvj. N.

The people diſperſed vnder Antiochus, doe magnifie the goodneſſe of God among the repentant, and pray to be gathered from among the heathens, that they may prayſe his name.

Sing this as the 95 Pſalme.

PRayſe ye the Lord, for he is good,
his mercy dures for aye:

2 Who can expreſſe his noble acts, or all his prayſe diſplay?

3 They bleſſed are that iudgement keepe, and iuſtly doe alway:
With fauour of thy people Lord,
remember me I pray.

4 And with thy ſaving health, O Lord,
vouchſafe to viſit mee:
That I the great felicity of thine elect may ſee.

5 And with thy peoples ioy I may a ioyfull minde poſſeſſe:
And may with thine inheritance,
a glorying heart expreſſe.

6 Both we and eke our fathers all,
have ſinned every one:
We haue committed wickedneſſe and lewdly we have done.

7 The wonders great which thou O Lord,
haſt done in Egypt land:
Our fathers though they ſaw them all yet did not vnderſtand.

Nor they thy mercies multitude did keepe in thankfull minde,
But at the ſea, yea the red ſea,
rebelled moſt vnkinde.

8 Nevertheleſſe he ſaved them,
for honour of his name:
That he might make his power knowne,
and ſpread abroad his fame.

9 The red ſea he did then rebuke,
and forthwith it was drid:
And as in wilderneſſe, ſo through the deepe he did them guide.

10 He ſav'd them from the cruell hand of their deſpitefull foe:
And from the enemies hand he did deliver them alſo.

The ſecond part.

11 The waters their oppreſſors whelmde, not one was left alive:
12 Then they beleeu'd his words, and prayſe in ſong they did him give.
13 But by and by vnthankefully his workes they cleane forgate;
And for his counſell and his law
they did neglect to waite.
14 But luſted in the wilderneſſe with fond and greedy luſt;
And in the deſart tempted God,
the ſtay of all their truſt.
15 And then their wanton mindes deſire
he ſuffred them to have;
But waſting leanneſſe therewithall, into their ſoule he gave.
16 Then when they lodged in their tents,
at Moſes they did grutch;
Aaron the holy of the Lord
ſo did they envy much.
17 Therefore the earth did open wide,
and Dathan did devoure:
And all Abirams company
did cover in that houre.
18 In their aſſembly kindled was the hot conſuming fire;
And waſting flames did then burne vp the wicked in his ire.
19 Vpon the hill of Horeb they an Idoll Calfe did frame:
And there the moulten image they did worſhip of the ſame.
20 Into the likeneſſe of a Calfe,
That feedeth on the graſſe,
Thus they their glory turn'd, and all their honor did deface.
21 And God their onely Saviour
vnkindly they forgot:
Which many great and mightie things in Egypt land had wrought.

The third part.

22 And in the land of Ham, for them
moſt wondrous works had done:
And by the red ſea dreadfull things performed long agone.
23 Therefore for their ſo ſhewing them
forgetfull and vnkinde:
To bring deſtruction on them all he purpoſ'd in his minde.
Had not his choſen Moſes ſtood
before him in the breake:
To turne his wrath leaſt he on them,
with ſlaughter ſhould him wreake.
24 They did deſpiſe the pleaſant land, that he behight to give:
Yea, and the words that he had ſpoke
they did no whit beleeve.
25 But in their tents with grudging hearts
they wickedly repin'd;
Nor to the voyce of God the Lord
they gave an harking minde.
26 Therefore againſt them lifted he his ſtrong revenging hand;
Them to deſtroy in wilderneſſe,
ere they ſhould ſee the land.
27 And to deſtroy their ſeed among the nations with his rod;
And through the countries of the world to ſcatter them abroad.
28 To Baal-peor then they did adioyne themſelves alſo:
And ate the offrings of the dead,
ſo they forſooke him tho.
29 Thus with their owne inventions, his wrath they did provoke;
And in his ſo enkindled wrath
the plague vpon them broke.
30 But Phinees ſtood vp with zeale
the ſinners vile to ſlay;
And iudgement he did execute,
and then the plague did ſtay.

The fourth part.

31 It was imputed vnto him for righteouſneſſe that day;
And from thence-forth ſo counted is from race to race for aye.
32 At waters eke of Meribah
they did him angry make.
Yea, ſo farre forth that Moſes was then puniſht for their ſake;
33 Becauſe they vext his ſpirit ſo ſore,
that in impatient heat,
His lips ſpake vnadviſedly,
his fervour was ſo great.
34 Nor as the Lord commanded them,
they ſlew the people tho;
35 But were among the heathen mixt, and learn'd their workes alſo.
36 And did their idols ſerve, which were their ruine and decay;
37 To fiends their ſons and daughters they did offer vp and ſlay;
38 Yea, with vnkindly murdring knife
the guiltleſſe blood they ſpilt;
Yea, their owne ſonnes and daughters blood,
without all cauſe of gilt.
Whom they to Canaan Idoles then offred with wicked hand;
And ſo with blood of innocents defiled was the land.
39 Thus were they ſtained with the workes
of their owne filthy way;
And with their owne inventions
a whoring did they ſtray.
40 Therefore againſt his people was the Lords wrath kindled ſore;
And even his owne inheritance,
therefore he did abhorre.
41 Into the hands of heathen men,
he gave them for a prey;
And made their foes their Lords, whom they were forced to obey.

The fifth part.

42 Yea, and their hateſull enemies
oppreſt them in the land;
And they were humbly made to ſtoope,
as ſubiect to their hand.
43 Full oftentimes from trall had he delivered them before;
But with their counſels they to wrath provokt his evermore.

There-

Therefore they by their wickednesse were brought full low to lie: 44 Yet when hee saw them in distresse,
he hearkned to their cry.
45 He cald to minde his covenant, which he to them had swore:
And by his mercies multitude,
repented him therefore.
46 And favour he them made to finde before the sight of those That led them captive from their land, when earst they were their foes.
47 Save vs O Lord, that art our God,
save vs O Lord we pray:
And from among the heathen folke,
Lord gather vs away.
48 That we may spread the noble prayse of thy most holy name:
That we may glory in thy prayse,
and sounding of thy fame.
49 The Lord the God of Israel, be blest for evermore:
Let all the people say Amen,
prayse ye the Lord therefore.

Confitemini Dom. Pſal. Cvij. W. K.

David exhorteth all that are redeemed by the Lord and gathered vnto him, to give thanks therefore, who by sending prosperity and adversity bringeth men vnto him. Therefore as the righteous there reioyce, so shall the wicked have their mouthes stopped.

Sing this as the 96 Pſalme.

GIve thankes vnto the Lord our God, for gracious is he:
And that his mercy hath no end
all mortall men may see.
2 Such as the Lord redeemed hath,
with thankes should prayse his name:
And shew how they from foes are freed,
and how he wrought the same.
3 He gathered them forth of the land:
that lay so farre about:
From East to West, from North to South
his hand did finde them out.
4 They wandred in the wildernesse,
and strayed from the way:
And found no citie where to dwell,
that serve might for their stay.
5 Whose thirst and hunger was so great in those deserts so voyde:
That faintnesse did them sore assault,
and eke their soules annoid.
6 Then did they cry in their distresse
vnto the Lord for aid:
Who did remoove their troublous state,
according as they praid.
7 And by that way that was most right,
he led them like a guide:
That they might to a citie goe,
and there also abide.
8 Let them therefore before the Lord, confesse his goodnesse then:
And shew the wonders that he doth
before the sonnes of men.
9 For he the empty soule suttainde, whom thirst had made to faint:
The hungry soule with goodnesse fed,
and did them eke acquaint.
10 Such as doe dwell in darknesse deepe,
where they on death doe wait:
Fast bound to taste such troublous stormes as iron chaines doe threat.

The second part.

11 For that against the Lords owne word,
they sought so to rebel:
Esteeming light his counsels hie,
which doe so farre excell.
12 But when he humbled them full low,
they then fell downe with griefe:
And none was found so much to helpe, whereby to get reliefe.
13 Then did they cry in their distresse,
vnto the Lord for aid:
Who did remoove their troubles state,
according as they praid.
14 For he from darknesse out them brought,
and from deaths dreadfull shade:
Bursting with force the iron bands,
which did before them lade.
15 Let men therefore before the Lord,
confesse his kindnesse then:
And shew the wonders that he doth
before the sonnes of men.
16 For hee threw downe the gates of brasse,
and brake them with strong hand:
The iron barres he smote in two:
nothing could him withstand.
17 The foolish folke great plagues doe feele and cannot from them wend:
But heape on moe to those they have,
because they doe offend.
18 Their soules so much did loath all meate, that none they could abide:
Whereby death had them almost caught,
as they full truely tride.
19 Then did they crie in their distresse
vnto the Lord for aid:
Who did remoove their troublous state,
according as they praid.
20 For he then sent to them his word, which health did soone restore:
And brought them from those dangers deep,
wherein they were before.

The third part.

21 Let men therefore before the Lord,
confesse his kindnesse then:
And shew the wonders that he doth
before the sonnes of men.
22 And let them offer sacrifice, with thanks and also feare:
And speake of all his wondrous workes,
with glad and ioyfull cheare.
23 Such as in ships or brittle barkes into the seas descend:
Their merchandize through fearefull flouds
to compasse and to end.
24 Those men are forced to behold the Lords workes what they be:
And in the dangerous deepe the same
most marvailous they see.
25 For at his word the stormy winde,
ariseth in a rage:
And stirreth vp the surges so,
as nought can them asswage.
26 Then are they lifted vp on high,
the clouds they seeme to gaine,

And plunging downe the depth vntill their ſoules conſume with paine.
27 And like a drunkard to and fro,
now here, now there they reele:
As men with feare of wit bereft,
or had of ſence no feele.
28 Then did they cry in their diſtreſſe,
vnto the Lord for aide,
Who did remoove their troublous ſtate,
according as they praide.
29 For with his word the Lord doth make the ſturdie ſtormes to ceaſe:
So that the great waves from their rage,
are brought to reſt and peace.
30 Then are men glad, when reſt is come,
which they ſo much doe crave,
And are by him in haven brought,
which they ſo faine would have.

The fourth part.

31 Let men therefore before the Lord,
confeſſe his kindneſſe then:
And ſhew the wonders that he doth before the ſonnes of men.
32 Let them in preſence of the folke, with prayſe extold his name:
And where the Elders doe convent,
let them there do the ſame.
33 For running floods to dry deſerts
he doth oft chance and turne,
And drieth vp as it were duſt,
the ſpringing well and bourne.
34 A fruitfull land with pleaſures deckt, full barren doth he make:
When on their ſinnes that dwell therein,
he doth iuſt vengeance take.
35 Againe, the wilderneſſe full rude,
he maketh fruit to beare:
With pleaſant ſprings of water cleare,
though none before were there.
36 Where in ſuch hungry ſoules are ſet,
as he doth freely chuſe:
That they a citie may them build to dwell in for their vſe.
37 That they may ſow their pleaſant land,
and vineyards alſo plant:
To yeeld them fruits of ſuch increaſe,
as none may ſeeme to want.
38 They multiplie exceedingly,
the Lord doth bleſſe them ſo:
Who doth alſo their bruit beaſts made by numbers great to grow.
39 But when the faithfull are low brought,
by the oppreſſors ſtout,
And miniſh doe through many plagues,
that compaſſe them about:
40 Then doth he Princes bring to ſhame, which did them ſore oppreſſe:
And likewiſe cauſed them to erre
within the wilderneſſe.
41 But yet the poore he raiſeth vp out of their troubles deepe:
And oft-times doth his traine augment,
much like a flocke of ſheepe.
42 The righteous ſhall behold this ſight,
and alſo much reioyce:
Whereas the wicked and perverſe with griefe ſhall ſtoop their voyce.
43 But who is wiſe, that now full well
he may theſe things record?
For certainely ſuch ſhall perceive the kindneſſe of the Lord.

Paratum cor. Pſal. Cviij. N.

David vvith heart and voyce prayſeth the Lord, and aſſureth himſelfe of the promiſe of God concerning his kingdome over Iſraal, and his powver againſt other nations, vvho though he ſeeme to forſake vs for a time, yet hee alone in the end vvill caſt dovvne our enemies.

Sing this as the 95. Pſalme.

O God my heart prepared is,
and eke my tongue is ſo:
I will advance my voyce in ſong,
and giving prayſe alſo:
2 Awake my viole and my harpe
ſweet melody to make:
And in the morning I my ſelfe,
right early will awake.
3 By me among the people (Lord)
ſtill prayſed ſhalt thou be:
And I among the heathen folke, will ſing (O Lord) to thee.
4 Becauſe thy mercy Lord is great above the heavens hie:
And eke thy truth doth reach the clouds within thy lofty skie.
5 Above the ſtarrie heavens high,
exalt thy ſelfe, O God:
And Lord diſplay vpon the earth thy glory all abroad.
6 That thy dearely beloved may be ſet at liberty:
Helpe O my God with thy right hand,
and hearken vnto me.
7 God in his holines hath ſpoke:
(whereof my ioyes abound.)
Sichem I will divide, and mete
the valley of Succoth ground.
8 And Gilead ſhall be mine owne, Manaſſes mine ſhall be:
My head-ſtrength Ephraim, and Law
ſhall Iudah give for mee.
9 Moab my waſhpot, and my ſhooe on Edom I will throw:
Vpon the land of Paleſtine
in triumph will I goe.
10 Who ſhall into the citie ſtrong be guide to conduct me?
Or how by whom to Edom land, conveyed ſhall I be?
11 It is not thou (O Lord) which late hadſt vs forſaken quite?
And thou (O Lord) which with our hoaſt didſt not goe forth to fight:
12 Give vs (O Lord) thy ſaving aid,
when troubles doe aſſaile:
For all the helpe of man is vaine,
and can no whit availe.
13 Through God we ſhall doe valiant acts,
and worthy of renowne:
He ſhall ſubdue our enemies,
yea he ſhall tread them downe.

Deus, laudem meum. Pſal. Cix. N.

David being falſely accuſed by Sauls flatterers, prayeth prayeth God to helpe him to deſtroy his enemies, vvhom repreſent Iudas the traitor vnto Ieſus Chriſt, and all like enemies of the children of God. Sing this as the 98. Pſalme.

1 IN ſpeechleſſe ſilence doe not hold,
O God, thy tongue alwaies:
O God, euen thou I ſay that art
the God of all my prayſe.
2 The wicked mouth and guilefull lips, on me diſcloſed be:
And they with falſe and lying tongue,
haue ſpoken vnto me.
3 They did beſet me round about,
with words of hatefull ſpight:
Without all cauſe of my deſert,
againſt me they did fight.
4 For my good will they were my foes,
But then gan I to pray:
My good with ill, my friendlineſſe with hate they did repay.
5 Set thou the wicked ouer him,
to haue the vpper hand:
At his right hand eke ſuffer thou,
his hatefull foe to ſtand.
6 When he is iudged, let him then condemned be therein:
7 And let the prayer that he makes,
be turned into ſinne.
8 Few be his daies, his charge alſo, let thou another take:
9 His children let be fatherleſſe, his wife a widow make.
10 Let his off-ſpring be vagabonds,
to beg and ſeeke their bread:
Wandring out of the wonted place,
where earſt they haue bene fed.
11 Let couetous extortioners catch all his goods and ſtore:
And let the ſtrangers ſpoyle the fruit of all his toyle before.
12 Let there be none to pitie him,
let there be none at all:
That on his children fatherleſſe, will let their mercy fall.

The ſecond part.

13 And ſo let his poſterity,
for euer be deſtroyed:
Their names out-blotted in the age,
that after ſhall ſucceed.
14 Let not his fathers wickedneſſe,
from God remembrance fall:
And let thou not his mothers ſinne,
be done away at all.
15 But in the preſence of the Lord,
let them remaine for aye:
That from the earth their memory,
he may cut cleane away.
16 Sith mercy he forgate to ſhew,
but did purſue with ſpight:
The troubled man, and ſought to ſlay
the wofull hearted wight.
17 As he did curſing loue, it ſhall
betide vnto him ſo:
And as he did not bleſſing loue,
it ſhall be farre him fro.
18 As he with curſing clad himſelfe, ſo it like water ſhall
Into his bowels, and like oyle, into his bones be fall.
19 As garment let it be to him,
to couer him for aye:
And as a girdle wherewith he ſhall girded be alway.
20 Loe let the ſame be from the Lord,
the guerdon of my foe:
Yea and of thoſe that euill ſpeake
againſt my ſoule alſo.
21 But thou O Lord that art my God,
deale thou I ſay with me:
After thy name deliuer me,
for good thy mercies be.
22 Becauſe in depth of great diſtreſſe,
I needy am and poore:
And eke within my pained breſt,
my heart is wounded ſore.

The third part.

23 Even ſo doe I depart away,
as doth declining ſhade:
And as the Graſhopper, ſo I am ſhaken off and fade.
24 With faſting long from needful food,
enfeebled are my knees,
And all her fatneſſe hath my fleſh enforced bene to leeſe.
25 And I alſo a vile reproach to them was made to be:
And they that did vpon me looke did ſhake their heads at me.
26 But thou O Lord that art my God,
mine aide and ſuccour be:
According to thy mercy Lord,
ſaue and deliuer me.
27 And they ſhall know thereby, that this Lord is thy mighty hand:
And that thou, thou haſt done it Lord,
ſo ſhall they vnderſtand.
28 Although they curſe with ſpite, yet thou ſhall bleſſe with louing voyce;
They ſhall ariſe and come to ſhame,
thy ſeruant ſhall rejoyce.
29 Let them be cloathed all with ſhame,
that enemies are to me:
And with confuſion as a cloake,
eke couered let them be.
30 But greatly I will with my mouth
giue thanks vnto the Lord:
And I among the multitude his prayſes will record.
31 For he with helpe at his right hand, will ſtand the poore man by,
To ſaue him from the man that would condemne his ſoule to die.

Dixit Dominus. Pſal. Cx. N.

Dauid propheciseth of the power and euerlaſting kingdome of Chriſt, and the Prieſthood, vvhich ſhould put an end to the Prieſthood of Leui.

Sing this as the 68 Pſalme.

1 THe Lord did ſay vnto my Lord,
ſit thou on my right hand,
Till I haue made thy foes a ſtone, whereon thy feete ſhall ſtand.
2 The Lord ſhall out of Sion ſend
the Scepter of thy might,

Amid

Amid thy mortall foes be thou the ruler in their ſight.
3 And in the day on which thy raigne and power they ſhall ſee:
Then hereby free-will offrings ſhall
the people offer thee.
Yea, with an holy worſhipping,
then ſhall they offer all:
Thy birth due is the dew that doth from wombe of morning fall.
4 The Lord hath ſworne, and never will repent what he doth ſay:
By th'order of Melchiſedech
thou art a Prieſt for aye.
5 The Lord thy God, on thy right hand that ſtandeth for thy ſtay:
Shall wound for thee ſtately Kings
vpon his wrathfull day.
6 The heathen he ſhall iudge, and fill the place with bodies dead:
And over divers countries ſhall
in ſunder ſmite the head.
7 And he ſhall drinke out of the brooke that runneth in the way:
Therefore he ſhall lift up on high his royall head that day.

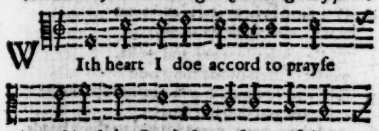
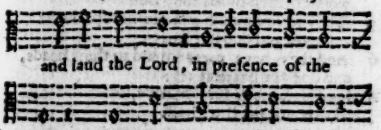
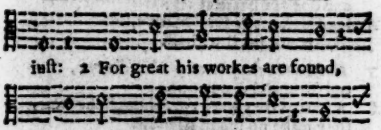
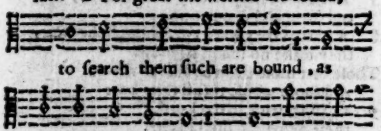
Confitebor tibi. Pſal. Cxj. N.

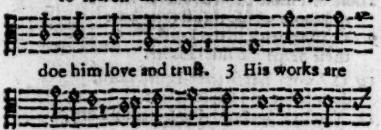
Hee giveth thankes to the Lord for his merciſull vvorkes towaard his Church, and declareth vvherein true vviſedome and right knowledge conſiſteth.

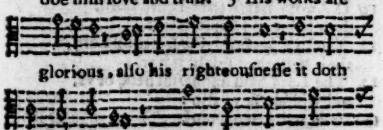


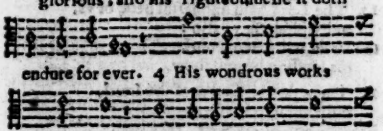


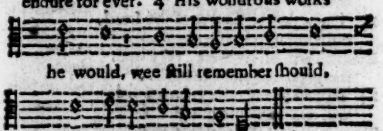


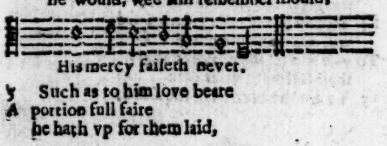












5 Such as to him love beare
A portion full faire
he hath vp for them laid,
For this they ſhall well finde,
He will them have in minde,
and keepe them, as he ſaid.
6 For he did not diſdaine
His workes to ſhew them plaine, by lightnings and by thunders:
When he the heathens land
Did give into their hand where they beheld his wonders.
7 Of all his workes enſueth both iudgement, right, and trueth, whereto his ſtatutes tend:
8 They are decreed ſure
For euer to endure,
which equitie doth end.
Redemption he gave,
His people for to ſave:
9 And hath alſo required
His promiſe not to faile,
But alwaies to prevaile:
his holy name be feared.
10 Who ſo with heartfull faine
True wiſedome would attaine,
the Lord feare and obey.
Such as his lawes doe keepe Shall knowledge have full deepe, his prayſe ſhall laſt for aye.

Beatus vir. Pſal. Cxij. W. K.

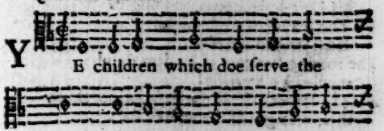
Hee prayſeth the felicitie of them that feare God, and condemneth the curſed eſtate of the contemners of God.

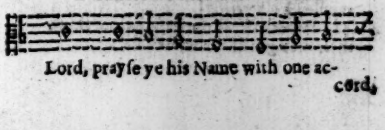
Sing this as the Lords Prayer.

THe man is bleſt that God doth feare,
And that his lawes doth love indeed.
2 His ſeede on earth God will upreare,
And bleſſe ſuch as from him proceede:
3 His houſe with good he will fulfill,
His righteouſnes endure ſhall ſtill,
4 Vnto the righteous doth ariſe
In trouble ioy, in darkenes light:
Compaſſion is in his eyes,
And mercy alwaies in his ſight:
5 Yea, pitty mooveth ſuch to lend,
He doth by iudgement things expend.
6 And ſurely ſuch ſhall never faile,
For in remembrance had is he:
7 No tidings ill can make him quaile,
Who in the Lord ſure hope doth ſee:
8 His heart is firme, his feare is paſt,
For he ſhall ſee his foes downe caſt.
9 He did well for the poore provide,
His righteouſneſſe ſhall ſtill remaine,
And his eſtate with praiſe abide;
Though that the wicked man diſdaine:
10 Yea, gnaſh his teeth thereat ſhall he,
And ſo conſume his ſtate to ſee.

Laudate pueri, Pſal. Cxiij. W. K.

An exhortation to prayſe the Lord for his providence in that contrary to the courſe of nature he vvorketh in his Church.





cord,

cord, yea, bleſſed be alwayes his name:

Who from the riſing of the Sunne, till it returne where it begunne, is to be pray-ple doth ſurmount: As for his glory

wee may count, aboue the heauens high to be, With God the Lord who may com-of ſuch great power and force is he.

6 He doth abaſe himſelfe we know Things to behold doth heare below, and alſo in heaven above.
7 The needie out of duſt to draw,
And eke the poore which helpe none ſaw,
his onely mercy did him moove.
8 And ſo him ſet in high degree
With princes of great dignitie, that rule his people with great fame.
9 The barren he doth make to beare,
And with great ioy her fruite to reare:
therefore prayſe ye his holy name.

In exitu Iſrael. Pſal. Cxiiij. W. W.

Iſraels deliverie out of Egypt, putteth them in remembrance of Gods great mercies towardes his children, and of our vnthankefulneſſe for the ſame.

Sing this as the 85. Pſalme.

WHen Iſrael by Gods adreſſe, from Pharaohs land was bent:
And Iacobs houſe the ſtrangers left,
and in the ſame traine went.
2 In Iuda God his glory ſhew'd his holineſſe moſt bright:
So did the Iſraelites declare his kingdome, power, and might.
3 The ſea it ſaw, and ſodainly
as all amay'd did flie:
The roaring ſtreames of Iordans flood reculed backwardly.
4 As rammes affraid the mountaines skipt, their ſtrength did them forſake:
And as the ſilly trembling Lambes, their tops did beate and ſhake.
5 What gild the ſea as all amaz'd, ſo ſodainely to flee?
Ye rouling waves of Iordans flood,
why ranne ye backewardly?
6 Why ſhooke ye hils as Rams affrayd,
why did your ſtrength ſo ſhake?
Why did your tops as trembling lambes,
for feare quiver and quake?
7 O Earth confeſſe thy ſoveraigne Lord,
and dread his mighty hand:
Before the face of Iacobs God,
feare yee both ſea and land.
8 I meane the God which from hard rockes, doth cauſe maine floodes appeare:
And from the ſtony flint doth make,
guſh out the fountaine cleare.

Non nobis Domine. Pſal. Cxv. N.

The faithfull oppreſſed by Idolatrous tirants promiſe that they vvill not be vnmindfull of ſo great a benefite, if it vvould pleaſe God to heare their prayer, and deliver them by his omnipotent powver.

Sing this as the 68 Pſalme.

NOt vnto vs, Lord, not vnto vs,
but to thy name give prayſe:
Both for the mercy and the trueth,
that are in thee alwayes.
Why ſhall the heathen ſcorners ſay,
Where is their God become?
3 Our God in heaven is, and what he will, that hath he done.
4 Their idols ſilver are and gold, worke of men hands they be:
5 They have a mouth and doe not ſpeake and eyes and doe not ſee.
6 And they have eares ioyn'd to their heads, and doe not heare at all:
And noſes eke they formed have,
and doe not ſmell withall.
7 And hands they have and handle not,
and feete and doe not goe:
8 A throat they have, yet though the ſame,
they make no ſound to blow.
Thoſe that make them be like to them,
and thoſe whoſe thruſt they be:
9 O Iſrael truſt in the Lord,
their helpe and ſhield is he.
10 O Aarons houſe truſt in the Lord,
their helpe and ſhield is he:
11 Truſt ye the Lord that feare the Lord, their helpe and ſhield is hee.
12 The Lord hath mindefull bene of vs,
and will bleſſe vs alſo:
On Iſrael and Aarons houſe
his bleſſing he will ſhow.
13 Them that be fearers of the Lord,
the Lord will bleſſe them all:
Even he will bleſſe them every one,
the great and eke the ſmall.
14 To you (I ſay) the living Lord, will multiplie his grace:
To you and to the children that ſhall follow of your race 15 Ye are the bleſſed of the Lord,

even

even of the Lord I ſay:
Which both the heaven and the earth hath made and ſet in ſtay.
16 The heavens, yea, the heavens high belong unto the Lord:
The earth unto the ſonnes of men
he gaue of free accord.

17 They that be dead doe not with praiſe
ſet foorth the Lords renoune:
Nor any that into the place of ſilence doe goe downe.
18 But we will praiſe the Lord our God from henceforth and for aye:
Sound ye the praiſes of the Lord,
praiſe ye the Lord I ſay.

Dilexi quoniam. Pſal. Cxvj. N.

David being in great danger of Saul in the deſart of Maon perceiuing the great and inestimable loue of God towards him, magnifieth ſuch great mercies, and proteſteth that he will be thankefull for the ſame.

Sing this as the 111. Pſalme.

I Loue the Lord, becauſe my voyce:
and prayer heard hath he:
2 When in my dayes I cald on him,
he bowed his eare to me.
3 Even when the ſnares of cruell death about beſet me round:
When paines of hell me caught and when I woe and ſorrow found,
4 Vpon the name of God the Lord,
then did I call and ſay:
Deliuer thou my ſoule O Lord,
I doe thee humbly pray.
5 The Lord is very mercifull, and iuſt he is alſo:
And in our God compaſſion
doth plentifully flow.
6 The Lord in ſafety doth preſerue all thoſe that ſimple be:
I was in wofull miſerie
and he relieued me.
7 And now my ſoule: ſith thou art ſafe
returne unto thy reſt:
For largely loe the Lord to thee
his bounty hath expreſt.
8 Becauſe thou haſt delivered my ſoule from deadly thrall:
My moiſtened eyes from mournefull teares,
my ſliding feete from fall.
9 Before the Lord I in the land of life will walke therefore:
10 I did beleeve, therefore I ſpeake, for I was troubled ſore.

The ſecond part.

11 I ſaid in my diſtreſſe and feare, that all men lyars be:
12 What ſhall I pay the Lord for all his benefits to me?
13 The wholſome cup of ſaving health
I thankefully will take:
And on the Lords name I will call when I my prayer make.

14 I to the Lord will pay the vowes,
that I haue him behight:
Yea, even at his preſent time,
in all his peoples ſight.
15 Right deare and precious in his ſight
the Lord doth aye eſteeme
The death of all his holy ones, that ever men do deeme.
16 Thy ſervant Lord, thy ſervant loe
I doe my ſelfe confeſſe:
Sonne of thy handmaid, thou haſt broke the bonds of my diſtreſſe.
17 And I will offer up to thee
a ſacrifice of prayſe,
And I will call upon the name of God the Lord alwayes.
18 I to the Lord will pay the vowes,
that I haue him behight:
Yea, even at this preſent time,
in all his peoples ſight.
19 Yea, in the courts of Gods owne houſe, and in the midſt of thee,
O thou Ieruſalem, I ſay:
wherefore the Lord praiſe yee.

Laudate Dom. Pſal. Cxvij. N.

Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to praiſe God, becauſe he hath accompliſhed as well to them, as to the Ievves, the promiſe of life everlaſting by Ieſus Chriſt.

Sing this as the 98 Pſalme.

O All ye nations of the world,
praiſe ye the Lord alwayes,
And all ye people every where,
ſet forth his noble praiſe.
2 For great his kindneſſe is to vs,
his trueth endures for aye:
Wherefore praiſe ye the Lord our God,
praiſe ye the Lord I ſay.

Confitemini. Dom. Pſal. Cxviij. N.

David reiected of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obtained the kingdome, for the which he biddeth all them that feare the Lord to be thankefull, vnder whoſe perſon Chriſt is lively ſet forth, who ſhould be of his people reiected.

Sing this as the 84 Pſalme.

O Give ye thankes unto the Lord,
for gracious is hee:
Becauſe his mercy doth endure
for ever towards thee.
2 Let Iſrael confeſſe and ſay,
his mercy dures for aye,
Now let the houſe of Aaron ſay:
his mercie dures for aye.

4 Let all that feare the Lord our God even now confeſſe and ſay:
The mercy of the Lord our God,
endureth ſtill for aye.
5 In trouble and in heavineſſe unto the Lord I cride:
Which lovingly heard me at large,
my ſuite was not denide.

6 The Lord himſelfe is on my ſide:
I will not ſtand in doubt.
Nor feare what man can doe to me,
when God ſtands me about.
7 The Lord doth take my part with them that helpe to ſuccour me:
Therefore I ſhall ſee my deſire, upon mine enemie.
8 Better it is to truſt in God,
then in mans mortall ſeede:

Or to put confidence in Kings,
or princes in our need.
All nations haue incloſed me,
and compaſſed me round.
10 But in the name of God ſhall I mine enemies confound.

11 They kept me in on euerie ſide,
they kept me in I ſay:
But through the Lords moſt mightie name
I ſhall worke their decay.
12 They came about me all like Bees,
but yet in the Lords name
I quencht the thornes that were on fire and will deſtroy the ſame.

The ſecond part.

13 Thou haſt with force thruſt ſore at me that I indeed might fall:
But through the Lord I found ſuch helpe that they were vanquiſht all.
14 The Lord is my defence and ſtrength, my ioy, my mirth, and ſong:
He is become for me indeed a Sauiour moſt ſtrong.

15 The right hand of the Lord our God doth bring to paſſe great things:
He cauſeth voyce of ioy and health in righteous mens dwellings.
16 The right hand of the Lord doth bring moſt mightie things to paſſe:
His hand hath the preeminence,
his force is as it was.

17 I will not die, but euer liue to vtter and declare
The Lord his might and wondrous power
his workes, and what they are.
18 The Lord himſelfe hath chaſtened, and hath corrected me:
But hath not given me over yet to death, as yee may ſee.

19 Set open vnto me the gates of trueth and righteouneſſe:
That I may enter into them,
The Lords praiſe to confeſſe.
20 This is the gate euen of the Lord,
which ſhall not ſo be ſhut,
But good and righteous men alway ſhall enter into it.

The third part.

21 I will giue thankes to thee, O Lord, becauſe thou haſt heard me:
And art become moſt louingly
a Sauiour vnto me.
22 The ſtone which ere this time among the builders was refuſed:
Is now become the corner ſtone,
and chiefly to be vſed.

23 This was the mightie worke of God,
this was the Lords owne fact:
And it is marueilous to behold with eyes that noble act.
24 This is the ioyfull day indeed, which God himſelfe hath wrought:
Let vs be glad and ioy therein,
in heart, in minde, and thought.
25 Now helpe vs Lord and proſper vs,
we wiſh with one accord:
26 Bleſſed be he that come to vs
in the name of the Lord, 27 God is the Lord that ſheweth vs light binde ye therefore with cord
Your ſacrifice to the altar, and give thankes to the Lord.
28 Thou art my God, I will confeſſe, and render thankes to thee:
Thou art my God, and I will praiſe thy mercy towards me.
29 O give ye thankes vnto the Lord,
for gracious is hee:
Becauſe his mercy doth endure
for ever towards mee.

6 So ſhould no ſhame my life attaine,

9 BY what meanes may a yong man beſt,
his life learne to amend?
If that he marke and keepe thy word,
and therein his time ſpend.
10 Vofainedly I have thee ſought, and thus ſeeking abide:
O neuer ſuffer me O Lord,
from thy precepts to ſlide.

11 Within my heart and ſecret thoughts,
thy words I have hid ſtill:
That I might not at any time, offend thy godly will;
12 We magnifie thy name, O Lord,
and praiſe thee evermore;
Thy ſtatutes of moſt worthy fame,
O Lord teach me therefore.

13 My lips have never ceaſt to preach,
and publiſh day and night:
The iudgements all which did proceede, from thy mouth full of might.
14 Thy teſtimonies and thy wayes, pleaſe me no leſſe indeed:
Then all the treaſures of the earth,
which worldlings make their meed.

15 Of thy precepts ſtill will I muſe, and there to frame my talke:
As at a marke ſo will I aime,
thy wayes how I may walke.
16 My onely ioy ſhall be ſo fixt,
and on thy lawes ſo ſet:
That nothing can me ſo farre blinde,
that I thy words forget.

GIMEL. The third part.

17 GRant to thy ſervant now ſuch grace,
as may my life prolong:
Thy holy word then will I keepe,
both in my heart and tongue.
18 Mine eyes which were dim and ſhut vp ſo open and make bright:
That of thy law and marueilous workes,
I may have the cleare ſight.

19 I am a ſtranger in this earth,
wandring now here now there:
Thy word therefore to mee diſcloſe,
my footſteps for to cleare.
20 My ſoule is rauiſht with deſire,
and never is at reſt:
But ſeeks to know thy iudgements iuſt,
and what may pleaſe thee beſt.

21 The proud men and malicious thou haſt deſtroyed each one,
And curſed are ſuch as doe not thy heſts attend vpon.
22 Lord turne from me rebuke and ſhame, which wicked men conſpire:
For I have kept thy covenants, with zeale as hot as fire.

23 The Princes great in counſell ſate, and did againſt me ſpeake:
But thou thy ſervant thought how he thy ſtatutes might not breake.
24 For why? thy covenants are my ioy,
and my hearts great ſolace:
They ſerue in ſtead of counſellours,
my matters for to paſſe.

DALETH. The fourth part.

25 I Am alas as brought to graue,
and almoſt turn'd to duſt.
Reſtore therefore my life againe,
as thy promiſe is inſt.
26 My wayes when I acknowledged with mercy thou didſt heare:
Heare now eft-ſoones and mee inſtruct,
thy lawes to love and feare.

27 Teach me once throughly for to know,
thy precepts and thy lore:
Thy workes then will I meditate,
and lay them vp in ſtore.
28 My ſoule I feele ſo ſore oppreſt, that it melteth for griefe:
According to thy word therefore,
haſt Lord to ſend reliefe.

29 From lying and deceitfull lips, let thy grace mee defend:
And that I may learne thee to loue,
thy holy law me ſend.
30 The way of truth both ſtraight and ſure,
I haue choſen and found:
I ſet thy iudgements me before,
which keepe me ſafe and ſound.

31 Since then O God, I forc't my ſelfe, thy couenant to embrace:
Let me therefore haue no rebuke,
nor cheeke in any caſe.
32 Then will I turne with ioyfull cheare, where thy word doth me call.
When thou haſt ſet my hearth at large,
and rid me out of thrall.

HE. The fifth part.

33 INſtruct me Lord in the right trade, of thy ſtatutes diuine,
And it to keepe even to the end,
my heart will I encline:
34 Grant me the knowledge of thy law,
and I ſhall it obey:
With heart and minde, and all my might,
I will it keepe I ſay.

35 In the right paths of thy precepts, guide me Lord I require:
None other pleaſure doe I wiſh,
nor greater thing deſire.
36 Incline my heart thy lawes to keepe,
and covenants to embrace;
And from all filthy auarice,
Lord ſhield mee with thy grace.

37 From vaine deſires and worldly luſts turne backe mine eyes and ſight.
Giue me the ſpirit of life and power,
to walke thy wayes aright.
38 Confirme thy gracious promiſe Lord, which thou haſt made to mee:
Which am thy ſervant, and doe love,
and feare nothing but thee.

39 Reproach and ſhame which I ſo feare,
from me, O Lord expell:
For thou doſt iudge with equity,

and therein doſt excell.
40 Behold my hearts deſire is bent,
thy lawes to keepe for aye:
Lord ſtrengthen me ſo with thy grace,
that it performe I may.

VAV. The vj. part.

41 THy mercies great and manifold, let me obtaine (O Lord)
Thy ſauing health let me enioy, according to thy word.
42 So ſhall I ſtop the ſlanderous mouthes, of lewd men and vniuſt:
For in thy faithfull promiſes, ſtands my comfort and truſt.

43 The word of truth with in my mouth,
let ever ſtill be preſt:
For in thy iudgements wonderfull,
my hope doth ſtand and reſt:
44 And whilſt that breath within my breaſt,
doth naturall life preſerue:
Yea till this world ſhalbe diſſolu'd,
thy law will I obſerue.

45 So walke will I as ſet at large,
and made free from all dread:
Becauſe I ſought how for to keepe,
thy precepts and thy read.
46 Thy noble acts I will deſcribe, as things of moſt great fame:
Euen before Kings I will them blaze, and ſhrinke no whit for ſhame.

47 I will reioyce then to obey, thy worthy heſts and will,
Which evermore I have lou'd beſt,
and ſo will loue them ſtill.
48 My handes will I lift to thy lawes, which I have dearely ſought:
And practiſe thy commandements,
in will, in deede, in thought.

ZAIN. The vij part.

49 THy promiſe which thou mad'ſt to me,
thy ſervant, Lord remember,
For therein have I put my truſt,
and confidence for ever.
50 It is my comfort and my ioy,
when troubles me aſſaile:
For were my life not by thy word,
my life would ſoone me faile.

51 The proud and ſuch as God contemne, ſtill made of me a ſcorne:
Yet would I not thy Law forſake,
as he that was forlorne.
52 But cal'd to minde Lord thy great works, ſhew'd to our fathers old:
Whereby I feele my ioyes ſurmount my griefe and hundred fold.

53 But yet alas for feare I quake, ſeeing how wicked men,
Thy law forſooke, and did procure thy iudgements, who knoweth when?
54 And as for me I framde my ſongs thy ſtatutes to exalt:
When I among the ſtrangers dwelt,
and thoughts gan me aſſault.

55 I thought vpon thy name O Lord,
by night when others ſleepe,
As for thy law alſo I kept,
and ever will it keepe.
56 This grace I did obtaine, becauſe thy couenants ſweete and deare:
I did embrace and alſo keepe, with reuerence and with feare.

HETH. The viij. part.

57 O God which art my part and lot,
my comfort and my ſtay:
I have decreed and promiſed,
thy law to keepe alway.
58 Mine earneſt heart doth humbly ſue,
in preſence of thy face:
As thou therefore haſt promiſed,
Lord grant me of thy grace.

59 My life I have examined, and tride my ſecret heart:
Which to thy ſtatutes cauſed me
my feet ſtraight to conuert.
60 I did not ſtay, nor linger long,
as they that ſloathfull are:
But haſtily the lawes to keepe,
I did my ſelfe prepare.

61 The cruell hands of wicked men, have made of me their pray:
Yet would I not thy law forget,
nor from thee goe aſtray.
62 Thy righteous iudgements ſhewed toward me
ſo great are and ſo high,
That even at midnight will I riſe,
thy name to magnifie.

63 Companion am I to all them, which feare thee in their heart:
And neither will for feare nor dread,
from thy commandements ſtart.
64 Thy mercies Lord moſt plentcouſly doe all the world fulfill:
O teach me how I may obey,
thy ſtatutes and thy will.

TETH. The ix part.

65 ACcording to thy promiſe Lord, ſo haſt thou with me dealt:
For of thy grace in ſundry ſorts, have I thy ſervant felt.
66 Teach me alwayes to iudge aright,
and giue mee knowledge ſure:
For certainely beleeue I doe, that thy precepts are pure.

67 Ere thou didſt touch me with thy rod,
I erred and went aſtray:
But now I keepe thy holy word,
and make it all my ſtay.
68 Thou art both good and gracious,
and giu'ſt moſt liberally:
Thy ordinances how to keepe,
therefore (O Lord) teach mee.

69 The proud and wicked men have forg'd
againſt me many a lie:
Yet thy comandements ſtill obſerue,
with all my heart will I.
70 Their hearts are ſwolne with worldly wealth
as greaſe ſo are they fat,
But in thy Law doe I delight, and nothing ſeeke but that.

71 O happy time may I well ſay,
when thou didſt me correct,

For

For as a guide to learne thy Lawes, thy rod did me direct.
72 So that to me thy word and Law is dearer manifold,
Then thouſands great of ſilver and gold,
or ought that can be told.

IOD. The x. part.

73 SEeing thy hands have made me Lord to be thy creature:
Grant knowledge likewiſe how to learne
to put thy Lawes in vre.
74 So they that feare thee ſhall reioyce,
when ever they mee ſee:
Becauſe I have learn'd by thy word,
to put my truſt in thee.

75 When with thy rod the world is plagu'd,
I know the cauſe is iuſt:
So when thou doſt correct my Lord,
the cauſe iuſt needes be muſt.
76 Now of thy goodneſſe I thee pray
ſome comfort to my ſend:
As thou to my thy ſervant heit'ſt,
ſo from all ill me ſhend.

77 Thy tender mercies poure on mee,
and I ſhall ſurely live:
For ioy and conſolation both thy lawes to me doe give.
78 Confound the proud: whoſe falſe pretence is me for to deſtroy;
But as for me thy hefts to know
I will my ſelfe imploy.

79 Who ſo with reverence doe thee feare, to me let them retire,
And ſuch as doe thy covenants know,
and them alone deſire.
80 My heart without all wavering
let on thy lawes be bent:
That no confuſion come to mee, whereby I ſhould be ſhent.

CAPH. The xj. part.

81 MY ſoule doth faint, and ceaſeth not thy ſaving health to crave:
And for thy words ſake ſtill I truſt
my hearts deſire to have.
82 Mine eyes doe faile with looking for thy word, and thus I ſay:
Oh when wilt thou me comfort Lord,
why doſt thou thus delay?

83 As a skin bottle in the ſmoake,
ſo am I partcht and dride:
Yet will I not out of my heart let thy commandements ſlide.
84 Alas how long ſhall I yet live,
before I ſee the houre:
That on my foes which me torment,
thy vengeance thou wilt poure;

85 Preſumptuous men have digged pits,
thinking to make me ſure:
Thus contrary againſt thy Law
my hurt they doe procure.
86 But thy commandements are all true,
and cauſeleſſe they me grieve,
To thee therefore I doe complaine, that thou mightſt me relieve.

87 Almoſt they had me cleane deſtroyd, and brought me quite to ground:
Yet by thy ſtatute I abode,
and therein ſuccour found.
88 Reſtore me Lord againe to life,
for thy mercies excell:
And ſo ſhall I thy covenant keepe, till death my life expell.

LAMED. The xij. part.

89 IN heaven Lord where thou doſt dwell,
thy word is ſtabliſht ſure:
And ſhall for all eternitie,
faſt graven there endure.
90 From age to age thy trueth abides,
as doth the earth witneſſe:
Whoſe ground-worke thou haſt laid ſo ſure,
as no tongue can expreſſe.

91 Even to this day we may well ſee,
how all things perſevere
According to thy ordinance, for all things thee revere.
92 Had it not beene that in thy Law
my ſoule had comfort ſought:
Long time ere now in my diſtreſſe,
I had beene brought to nought.

93 Therefore will I thy precepts aye,
in memory keepe faſt:
By them thou haſt my life reſtor'd,
when I was at laſt caſt.
94 No wight to me can title make,
for I am onely thine:
Save me therefore for to thy Lawes mine eares and heart encline.

95 The wicked men doe ſeeke my bane,
and thereto lye in wayte:
But I the while conſidered,
thy noble acts and great.
96 I ſee nothing in this wide world,
at length which hath not end:
But thy commandement and thy word, beyond all end extend.

MEM. The xiij. part.

97 WHat great deſire and fervent love,
doe I beare to thy Law?
All the day long my whole deviſe, is onely on thy ſaw.
98 Thy word hath taught me farre to paſſe
my foes in policie:
For ſtill I keepe it as a thing of moſt excellencie.

99 My teachers which did me inſtruct,
in knowledge I excell:
Becauſe I doe thy covenants keepe,
and them to others tell.
100 In Wiſedome I doe paſſe alſo
the ancient men indeed:
And all becauſe to keepe thy Lawes,
I held it aye beſt reede.

101 My feete I have refrained eke from every evill way:
Becauſe that I continually thy word might keepe, I ſay.
102 I have not ſwerv'd from thy iudgements,
nor yet ſhrunke any deale:
For why? thou haſt me taught thereby to live godly and well.

103 O Lord how ſweet unto my taſte
finde I thy words alway?
Doubtleſſe no hony in my mouth
feele ought ſo ſweet I may.
104 Thy lawes have me ſuch wiſedome learnd, that vtterly I hate
All wicked vngodly wayes,
in every kinde of rate.

NVN. The xiij. part.

105 EVen as a lanterne to my feet,
ſo doth thy word thine bright:
And to my paths where ere I goe
it is a flaming light.
106 I have both ſworne, and will performe
moſt certainely doubtleſſe:
That I will keepe thy iudgements iuſt,
and them in life expreſſe.

107 Affliction hath me ſore oppreſt, and brought me to deaths dore:
O Lord as thou haſt promiſed,
ſo me to life reſtore.
108 The offrings which with heart and voyce moſt frankly I thee give,
Accept, and teach me how I may after thy iudgements live.

109 My ſoule is aye ſo in my hand,
that dangers me aſſaile:
Yet doe I not thy Law forget,
nor it to keepe will faile.
110 Altough the wicked laid their nets,
to catch me at a bay:
Yet did I not from thy precepts,
once ſwerve, or go aſtray.

111 Thy Law I have ſo clain'd alway,
as mine owne heritage:
And why? for therein I delight,
and ſet my whole courage.
112 For evermore I have beene bent thy ſtatutes to fulfill:
Even ſo likewiſe unto the end,
I will continue ſtill.

SAMECH. The xv. part.

113 THe crafty thoughts and double hearts,
I doe alwayes deteſt:
But as for thy Lawes and precepts
I lou'd them ever beſt.
114 Thou art my hid and ſecret place,
my ſhield and ſtrong defence:
Therefore I have thy promiſes, look't for with patience.

115 Goe to therefore ye wicked men, depart from me anone:
For the Commandements will I keepe of God my Lord alone.
116 As thou haſt promis'd, ſo performe, that death me not aſſaile:
Nor let my hope abuſe me ſo,
that through diſtruſt I quaile.

117 Vphold me, and I ſhall be ſafe, for ought they doe or ſay:
And in thy ſtatutes pleaſure take will I both night and day.
118 Thou haſt trod ſuch vnder thy feet,
as doe thy ſtatutes breake:
For nought anailes their ſubtiltie,
their counſell is but weake.
119 Like droſſe thou caſts the wicked out,
where ere they goe or dwell:
Therefore can I as thy ſtatutes,
love nothing halfe ſo well.
120 My fleſh alas is taken with feare,
as though it were benumb'd
For when I ſee thy iudgements ſtraight
I am as one aſton'd.

AIN. The xvj part.

121 I Doe the thing that lawfull is,
and give to all men right:
Reſigne me not to them that would oppreſſe me with their might.
122 But for thy ſervant ſurety be in that thing that is good:
The proud men give me not the foile, which rage as they were wood.

123 Mine eyes with waiting are now blind,
thy health ſo much I crave:
And eke thy righteous promiſe Lord, whereby thou wilt me ſave.
124 Intreat thy ſervant lovingly, and favour to him ſhow:
Thy ſtatutes of moſt excellency, teach me alſo to know.

125 Thy humble ſervants Lord I am,
graunt me to vnderſtand:
How by thy ſtatutes I may know
beſt what to take in hand.
126 It is now time Lord to beginne, for trueth is quite decaid:
Thy Law likewiſe they have tranſgreſſe, and none againſt them ſaid.
127 This is the cauſe wherefore I love thy Lawes better then gold:
Or Iewels fine, which are eſteem'd
muſt coſtly to be ſold:
128 I thought thy precepts all moſt iuſt,
and ſo them laid in ſtore:
All craftie and malicious wayes
I doe abhorre therefore.

PE. The xvij. part.

129 THy covenants are moſt wonderfull, and full of things profound:
My ſoule therefore doth keepe them ſure,
when they are tride and found.
130 When men firſt enter into thy word,
they finde a light moſt cleare:
And very Ideots vnderſtand,
when they it reade or heare.

131 For ioy I have both gap'd and breath'd to know thy commandement:
That I might guide my life thereby,
I ſought that what thing it meant.
132 With mercie and compaſſion Lord behold me from above:
As thou art wont to behold ſuch
as thy name feare and love.

133 Direct my foot-ſteps by thy word,
that I thy will may know:
And no ever let iniquity thy ſervant overthrow.
134 From ſlanderous tongues and deadly hate preſerve and keepe me ſure:

Thy

Thy precepts then will I obſerve, and put them eke in ure.
135 Thy countenance which doth ſurmount
the Sunne in his bright hew:
Let ſhine on me, and by thy Law,
teach me what to eſchew.
136 Out of mine eyes great flouds guſh out,
of drearie teares and fell:
When I behold how wicked men,
Thy lawes keepe never a dell.

ZADE. The xviij. part.

137 IN every point Lord thou art iuſt,
the wicked though they grudge:
And when thou doſt ſentence pronounce,
thou art a righteous Iudge.
138 To render right and flie from guile, are two chiefe points moſt hie:
And ſuch as thou haſt in thy law, commanded vs ſtraitly.

139 With zeale and wrath I am conſumde, and even pinde away:
To ſee my foes thy word forget,
for ought that I doe may.
140 So pure and perfect is thy word,
as any heart can deeme:
And I thy ſervant nothing more,
doe love or yet eſteeme.

141 And though I be nothing ſet by,
as one of baſe degree:
Yet doe I not thy heſtes forget,
nor ſhrinke away from thee.
142 Thy righteouſneſſe Lord is moſt iuſt:
for even to endure:
Alſo thy law is trueth it ſelfe, moſt conſtant and moſt pure.

143 Trouble and griefe have ſeaz'd on me,
and brought me wondrous low:
Yet doe I ſtil of thy precepts.
delight to heare and know.
144 The righteouſneſſe of thy iudgements, doth laſt for evermore:
Then teach thou me, for even in them
my life lieth vp in ſtore.

KOPH. The xix. part.

145 WIth fervent heart I call'd and cride,
now anſwer me, O Lord:
That thy commandements to obſerve,
I may fully accord.
146 To thee my God I make my ſuit,
with moſt humble requeſt:
Save me therefore, and I will keepe thy precepts and thy heſt.

147 To thee I cry even in the morne, before the day waxe light:
Becauſe that I have in thy word,
my confidence wholly plight.
148 Mine eyes prevent the watch by night and ere they call I wake:
That by deviſing on thy word,
I might ſome comfort take.
149 Incline thine eares to heare my voyce, and pitie on mee take:
As thou waſt wont, ſo iudge me Lord,
leaſt life ſhould me forſake.
150 My foes draw neere, out and doe procure my death malicioufly:
Which from thy law are farre gone backe,
and ſtrayd from it lewdly.

151 Therefore O Lord, approach thou neere for neede doth ſo requiere:
And all thy precepts true they are.
then helpe I thee deſire.
152 But thy commandements I have learn'd not now, but long agoe:
That they remaine for evermore,
thou haſt them grounded ſo.

RESH. The xx. part.

153 MY trouble and affliction, conſider and behold:
Deliver me, for of thy law,
I ever take faſt hold.
154 Defend my good and righteous cauſe, with ſpeed me ſuccour ſend:
From death as thou haſt promiſed,
Lord keepe me and defend.

155 As for the wicked farre they are,
for having health and grace:
Whereby they might thy ſtatutes know,
they enter not the trace:
156 Great are thy mercies Lord I graunt, what tongue can them attaine?
And as thou haſt me iudg'd ere now,
ſo let me life obtaine.

157 Though many men did trouble me,
and perſecute me ſore:
Yet from thy lawes I never ſhrunke, nor went away therefore.
158 And trueth it is for griefe I die,
when I theſe traitors ſee:
Becauſe they keepe no whit thy word,
nor yet ſeeke to know thee.

159 Behold, for I doe love thy lawes, with heart moſt glad and faine:
As thou art good and gratious Lord,
reſtore my life againe.
160 What thy word doth decree, muſt be,
and ſo it hath beene ever:
Thy righteous iudgements are alſo, moſt true and decay never.

SCHIN. The xxj. part.

161 PRinces have ſought by cruelty, cauſeleſſe to make me couch,
But all in vaine, for of thy word,
the feare did my heart touch.
162 And certainely even of thy word,
I was more mercy and glad,
Then he that of rich ſpoiles and preyes, great ſtore and plenty had.

163 And for all lies and falſity,
I hate moſt and deteſt:
For why thy holy lawes doe I,
above all things love beſt.
164 Seven times a day I praiſe the Lord, ſinging with heart and voyce:
Thy righteous acts and wonderfull, to cauſe me to reioyce.

165 Great peace and reſt ſhall all ſuch have as doe thy ſtatutes love:
No danger ſhall their quiet ſtate impaire or once remoove.
166 Mine onely health and comfort Lord,

I looke for at thy hand:
And therefore have I done thoſe things, which thou didſt me command.

167 Thy lawes have beene my exerciſe, which my ſoule moſt deſired:
So much to them my loue was bent,
that nought elſe I required.

168 Thy ſtatutes and commandements
I keepe, thou knoweſt aright:
For all the things that I have done,
are preſent in thy ſight.

TAV. The xxij. part.

O Lord let my complaint and cry,
before thy face appeare,
And as thou haſt me promiſe made,
ſo teach me thee to feare.

170 Mine humble ſupplication, toward thee let finde acceſſe:
And grant mee Lord deliverance,
for ſo is thy promiſe.

171 Then ſhall my lips thy praiſes ſpeake,
after moſt ample ſort:
When thou thy ſtatutes haſt me taught,
wherein ſtandes my comfort.

172 My tongue ſhall ſing and preach thy word,
and on this wiſe ſay ſhall:
Gods famous actes and noble lawes,
are iuſt and perfect all.

173 Stretch out thy hand I thee beſeech, and ſpeedily me ſave:
For thy commandements to obſerve, choſen O Lord I have.

174 Of thee alone Lord I crave health,
for other I know none:
And in thy law and nothing elſe,
I doe delight alone.

175 Grant me therefore long dayes to live,
thy name to magnifie:
And of thy iudgements mercifull,
let me thy favour trie.

176 For I was loſt and went aſtray, much like a wandering ſheepe,
Oh ſeeke mee, for I have not fail'd,
thy commandements to keepe.

Ad Dominium. Pſal. Cxx. T. S.

David being baniſhed among the barbarous Arabians through falſe reports of envious flatterers, lamenteth his long abode among ſuch infidels, given to all kinde of wyckedneſſe and contention.

Getſt thou thus for to ſting, thou falſe and flattering lyer?

5 Thy tongue doth hurt I weene,
No leſſe then arrowes keene
of hot conſuming fire.

6 Alas, too long I ſlake,
Within theſe tents ſo blacke,
Which Kedars are by name,
By whom the flocke elect,
And all of Iſaacks ſect
Are put to open ſhame.

I came a peace to make,
and ſet a quiet life:

Cauſeleſſe I was controld,
by them that would have ſtrife.

As at thy right hand ever.

6 The Sunne ſhall not thee partch by day,
Nor the Moone not halfe ſo bright,
Shall with cold thee hurt by night.

7 The Lord will keepe thee from diſtreſſe,
And will thy life ſure ſave,
And thou alſo ſhalt have,

8 In all thy buſineſſe good ſucceſſe,
Where ever thou goeſt in or our,
God will thy things bring about.

Lætatus ſum. Pſal. Cxxij. W.K.

David reioyceth that God accompliſhed his promiſe and placed his Arke in Sion, giuing thankes, and praying for the proſperitie of the Church.

I Did in heart reioyce to heare the peoples voyce, in offring ſo willingly,

For

For let vs vp ſay they, and in the Lords

houſe pray, thus ſpake the folke full louingly : Our feete that wandred wide,

ſhall in thy gates abide, O thou Ieruſalem full faire, which art ſo ſeemely ſet, much like a Citie neat, the like whereof is not elſewhere.

4 The tribes with one accord,
the tribes of God the Lord,
are thither bent their way to take :
So God before did tell,
That there his Iſraell, their prayers ſhould together make.
5 For there are thrones erect,
and that for this reſpect :
to ſet forth iuſtice orderly :
Which thrones right to maintaine,
To Dauids houſe pertaine,
his folke to iudge accordingly.
6 To pray let vs not ceaſe,
for Ieruſalems peace,
thy friends God proſper mightily.
7 Peace be thy wals about,
And proſper thee throughout,
thy place eke continually.
8 I wiſh thy proſperous ſtate, for my poore brethrens ſake :
that comfort have by meanes of thee,
Gods houſe doth me allure,
Thy wealth for to procure :
So much alwaies as lies in mee.

Ad te Levavi. Pſal. Cxxiij. T.S.

A prayer of the faithfull, which are afflicted by the wicked worldlings, and contemners of God.

Sing this as the 137 Pſalme.

O Lord, that heaven doſt poſſeſſe,
I lift mine eyes to thee :
Euen as the ſeruant liſteth his,
his maſters hands to ſee.
2 As handmaids watch their miſtres hands
ſome grace for to atchiue :
So we behold the Lord our God,
till he doe vs forgiue.
3 Lord grant vs thy compaſſion, and mercy in thy ſight :
For wee are fill'd and overcome with hatred and deſpight.
4 Our mindes be ſtuff'd with great rebuke,
the rich and worldly wiſe, Doe make of vs their mocking flockes
the proud doe vs deſpiſe.

Niſi quia Do. Pſal. Cxxiiij. W. W.

The faithfull delivered out of great danger, acknowledge not to have eſcaped by their owne power, but through the favour of God.

NOw Iſrael may ſay, and that truely, if that the Lord had not our cauſe maintain'd, if that the Lord had not our right ſuſtain'd, When all the world againſt vs furiouſly, made their vprores, and ſayd, wee ſhould all die.

3 Now long agoe,
they had deuour'd us all,
And ſwallowed quick,
for ought that we could deeme,
Such was their rage,
as wee might well eſteeme.
4 And as the floods with mightie force do fall :
So had they now,
our liues even brought to thrall.
5 The raging ſtreames, moſt proud in roaring noiſe :
Had long agoe,
overwhelm'd vs in the deepe :
6 But loued be God,
which doth vs ſafely keepe :
From bloodie teeth,
and their cruell voyce,
Which as a prey,
to eate vs would reioyce.
7 Even as a bird,
out of the foulers grip, Eſcaped away,
right ſo it fareth with us,
Broke are their nets,
and we eſcaped thus.
8 God that made heaven and earth is our helpe then :
His name hath ſaved vs,
even from theſe wicked men.

Hee deſcribeth the aſſurance of the faithfull in their afflictions, and deſireth their wealth, and the deſtruction of the wicked.

SUch as in God the Lord doe

truſt, as mount Sion ſhall firmely ſtand, and be remooued at no hand, the Lord will count them right and iuſt, ſo that they ſhall be ſure, for to endure.

2 As mighty mountaines huge and great,
Ieruſalem about doe cloſe:
So will the Lord be vnto thoſe,
Who on his godly will doe waite,
Such are to him ſo deare,
They never neede to feare.

3 For though the righteous trie doth he,
By making wicked men his rod.
Leaſt they through griefe forſake their God,
It ſhall not as their lot ſtill be.
4 Give Lord to thoſe thine light,
Whoſe hearts are true and right.

5 But as for ſuch as turne aſide,
By crooked wayes which they out ſought:
The Lord will ſurely bring to nought,
With workes moſt vile they ſhall abide,
But peace with Iſrael
For evermore ſhall dwell.

In all their need and miſery.
Their faith is ſure firme to endure.

And as about Ieruſalem,
The mightie hils doe it compaſſe:
So that no enemies come to them,
To hurt that towne in any caſe,
So God indeed, in every neede,
His faithfull people doth defend:
Standing them by, aſſuredly,
From this time forth world without end.

Right wiſe and good is our Lord God,
And will not ſuffer certainely:

Leaſt they alſo from God ſhould goe Falling to ſinne and wickedneſſe:

3 But much more wee,

Wherefore to ioy,

4 O Lord goe forth,

As to Deſerts,

5 Full true it is,
that they which ſow in teares indeed,
A time will come when they ſhall reape in mirth and ioy.
6 They went and wept,

For that their foes

It is not mans wit, power, or labour, but the free goodneſſe of God that giveth riches, preſerueth townes and countries, granteth nouriſhment and children.

EXcept the Lord the thouſe doe build,

And ſo at night goe late to bed,
Feeding full hardly with browne bread:
Yet were your labour loſt and worne,
But they whom God doth loue and keepe
Receiue all things with quiet ſleepe.

3 Therefore marke well when euer you ſee
That men haue heires to enioy their land,
It is the gift of Gods owne hand:
For God himſelfe doth multiply
Of his great liberalitie,
The bleſſings of poſteritie.

They grow in ſtrength and actiueneſſe,
In perſon and in comelines:

5 Till I have found out for the Lord,
a place to ſit thereon:
An houſe for Iacobs God to be 6 We heard of it at Euphrata, there did we heare this ſound:

And in the fields and foreſts there,
theſe voyces firſt were found.
7 We will aſſay and goe in now

Before his foot-ſtoole to fall downe,

Sing this as the 127 Pſalme.

O How happy a thing it is,
and ioyfull for to ſee Brethren together faſt to hold,
the band of amitie!
2 It cals to minde the ſweete perfume,
and that coſtly oyntment,
Which on the Sacrificers head,
by Gods precept was ſpent.

3 It wet not Aarons head alone, but drencht his beard throughout:
And finally it did runne downe his rich attire about:
4 And as the lower ground doth drinke
the dew of Hermon hill:
And Sion with her ſiluer drops,
the fields with fruit doth fill.
Even ſo the Lord doth powre on them,
his bleſſings manifold:
Whoſe hearts and minds without all guile,
this knot doe keepe and hold.

Hee exhorteth the Leuites that watch in the Temple to prayſe the Lord.

2 Lift vp their hands on high,
unto his holy place,
And give the Lord his prayſes due his benefits embrace.
3 For why? the Lord who did

Doth Sion bleſſe and will conſerve

Laudate nomen. Pſal. Cxxxv. N.

Hee exhorteth all the faithfull to praiſe God for his marveilous vvorks and graces vvherevvith he hath declareth his Maieſtie, to the confuſion of all Idolaters.

OPrayſe the Lord, prayſe him,

prayſe him, prayſe him with one accord: O prayſe him ſtill, all ye that be the ſervants of the Lord, O prayſe him ye that ſtand and be in the houſe of the Lord: ye of his Court and of his houſe

prayſe him with one accord.

3 Prayſe ye the Lord, for he is good,
ſing prayſes to his name:
It is a comely and good thing, alwayes to doe the ſame.
4 For why? the Lord hath choſe Iacob, his very one we ſee:
So hath he choſen Iſrael,
his treaſure for to be.
5 For this I know and am right ſure,
the Lord is very great:
He is indeed aboue all Gods,
moſt eaſie to intreat.
6 For whatſoeuer pleaſed him,
all that full well he wrought,
In heauen, in earth, and in the ſea,
which he hath framde of nought.
7 He lifts vp clouds euen from the earth
he makes lightning and raine:
He bringeth forth the windes alſo,
he made nothing in vaine.
8 He ſmote the firſt borne of each thing,
in Egypt that tooke reſt,
He ſpared there no liuing thing,
the man nor yet the beaſt.
9 He hath in thee ſhew'd wonders great,
O Egypt voide of vaunts,
On Pharao thy curſed King and his ſeuere ſervants.
10 He ſmote then many nations, and did great acts and things:
He ſlew the great and mightieſt, and chieſeſt of their Kings.
11 Sehon King of the Amorites, and Og King of Baſan:
He ſlew alſo the kingdomes all,
that were of Canaan.
12 And gaue their land to Iſrael,
an heritage we ſee:
To Iſrael his owne people,
an heritage to be.

The ſecond part.

13 Thy name O Lord ſhall ſtill endure, and thy memoriall
Throughout all generations,
that are or ever ſhall.
14 The Lord will ſurely now auenge his people all indeed:
And to his ſeruants he will ſhew
fauour in time of neede.

15 The Idoles of the heathen are made,
in all their coaſts and lands;
Of ſiluer and of gold be they
the works euen of mens hands, 16 They haue their mouthes and cannot ſpeake and eyes and haue no ſight:
17 They eke haue eares and heare nothing, their mouths be breatheleſſe quite.

18 Wherefore all they are like to them, that doe ſo ſet them forth,
And likewiſe thoſe that truſt in them,
or thinke they be ought wroth.

19 O all ye houſe of Iſrael, ſee that ye prayſe the Lord:
And ye that be of Aarons houſe,
prayſe him with one accord.

20 And ye that be of Leuites houſe, prayſe ye likewiſe the Lord:
And all that ſtand in awe of him,
prayſe him with one accord.
21 And out of Sion ſound his prayſe,
the great prayſe of the Lord,
Which dwelleth in Ieruſalem
prayſe him with one accord.

Sing this as the 148 Pſalme.

O Laud the Lord benigne,
Whoſe mercies laſt for aye.
2 Great thankes and prayſes ſing
To God of Gods I ſay,
For certainely,
His mercies dure,
Both firme and ſure,
Eternally.

3 The Lord of Lords prayſe ye,
Whoſe mercyes aye doe dure.
4 Great wonders onely he Doth worke by his great power:
For certainely,
His mercies dure,
Both firme and ſure,
Eternally.

5 Which God omnipotent,
By his great wiſedome high:
The heauenly firmament
Did frame as we doe ſee:
For certainely,
His mercies dure,
Both firme and ſure,
Eternally.

6 Yea he the heauy charge
Of all the earth did ſtretch,
And on the waters large,
The ſame he did out-reach,
For certainely, &c.

7 Great lights he made to vs:
For why? his loue is aye.
8 Such as the ſunne we ſee,
To rule the lightſome day,
For certainely, &c.

9 And eke the Moone ſo cleare
Which ſhineth in our ſight:

And

And ſtarres that doe appeare,
To guide the darkeſome night.
For certainely, &c.

10 With grievous plagues and ſore
All Egypt ſmote he than,
The firſt borne leſſe and more
He ſlew of beaſt and man.
For certainely, &c.

11 And from amidſt their land
His Iſrael hee foorth brought:
12 Which he with mighty hand,
And ſtretched arme hath wrought.
For certainely, &c.

13 The ſea he cut in two,
Which ſtood vp like a wall:
14 And made through it goe
His choſen children all.
For certainely, &c.

15 But there he whelmed then
The proud King Pharao,
With his huge hoaſt of men
And Chariots eke alſo.
For certainely, &c.

16 Who led through wilderneſſe
His people ſafe and ſound:
17 And for his love endleſſe
Great Kings he brought to ground:
For certainely, &c.

18 And ſlew with puiſſant hand,
Kings mighty and of fame:
19 As of Amorites land
Sehon the King by name.
For certainely, &c.

20 And Og the Gyant large,
Of Baſan King alſo:
21 Whoſe land for heritage
He gave his people tho.
For certainely, &c.

22 Even unto Iſrael,
His ſervant deare I ſay,
He gave the ſame to dwell,
And there abide for aye.
For certainely, &c.

23 To minde he did vs call
In our moſt baſe degre:
24 And from oppreſſors all
In ſafety ſet vs free.
For certainely, &c.

25 All fleſh on earth abroad
With food he doeth fulfil:
26 Wherefore of heaven the God
To laud be it your will,
For certainely, &c.

The Iſraelites in their captivity hearing the Chaldeans reproach and blaſpheme God and his religion, deſire God to puniſh the Edomites, who provoked the Babylonians againſt them, and prophecied the deſtruction of Babylon.

When as we ſate in Babylon the rivers round about: And in remembrance of Sion, the teares for griefe burſt out. 2. We hang'd our harpes and inſtruments the willow trees upon: For in that place men for their vſe had planted many one.

3 Then they to whom we priſoners were,
ſayd to vs tauntingly;
Now let vs heare your Hebrue ſongs and pleaſant melodie.
4 Alas, ſayd we, who can once frame,
his ſorowfull heart to ſing:
The prayſes of our loving God,
thus vnder a ſtrange king?
5 But yet if I Ieruſalem out of my heart let ſlide:
Then let my fingers quite forget the warbling harpe to guide.
6 And let my tongue within my mouth be tyed for ever faſt,
If that I ioy before I ſee thy full deliverance paſt.
7 Therefore O Lord, remember now,
the curſed noiſe and cry:
The Edome ſonnes againſt vs made,
when they raz'd our Citie.
Remember Lord, their cruell words,
when as with one accord:
They cryed, on, ſacke, and raze their walles
in deſpight of the Lord.
8 Even ſo ſhalt thou (O Babylon) at length to duſt be brought,
And happy ſhall that man be cal'd,
that our revenge hath wrought.
9 Yea bleſſed ſhall that man be cal'd, that takes thy children young,
To daſh their bones againſt hard ſtones which lyg the ſtreets among.

David prayſeth the goodneſſe of God toward him, for which, even forraigne Princes ſhall prayſe the Lord together with him. And he is aſſured to have like comfort of God hereafter, as heretofore.

Sing this as the 137. Pſalme.

THee will I prayſe with my whole heart,
my Lord my God alwayes:
Even in the preſence of the Gods
I will advance thy prayſe.
2 Towards thy holy Temple I will looke, and worſhip thee:
And prayſed in my thankefull mouth,
thy holy name ſhall be.
3 Even for thy loving kindneſſe ſake,
and for thy truth withall:
For thou thy name haſt by thy word advanced advanced over all.

4 When I did call thou heardeſt me,
and thou haſt made alſo
The power of encreaſed ſtrength with in my ſoule to grow.
5 Yea all the Kings on earth they ſhall give prayſe to thee, O Lord:
For they of thy moſt holy mouth have heard the mighty word.
6 They of the wayes of God the Lord in ſinging ſhall intreat:
Becauſe the glory of the Lord
it is exceeding great.
7 The Lord is hie and yet he doth behold the lowly ſpirit:
But he contemning knowes afarre
the proud and lofty wight.
8 Although in mids of trouble I doe walke, yet ſhall I ſtand:
Renewed by thee, O my Lord,
thou wilt ſtretch forth thy hand.
9 Upon the wrath of all my foes,
and ſaved ſhall I be:
By thy right hand the Lord God will performe his worke to me:
10 Thy mercies Lord endures for aye,
Lord doe me not forſake:
Forſake me not that am the worke which thine owne hand did make.

David to cleanſe his heart from all hypocriſie, ſhewveth that nothing is ſo ſecret which God ſeeth not, after declaring his zeale and feare of God, he proteſteth to be enemie to all them that contemne God.

Sing this as the 95 Pſalme.

O Lord, thou haſt me tride and knowne,
my ſitting thou doſt know:
2 And riſing eke, my thoughts afarre, thou vnderſt and'ſt alſo.
3 My pathes, yea, and my lying downe,
thou compaſſeſt alwayes:
And by familiar cuſtome art acquainted with my wayes.
4 No word is in my tongue O Lord,
but knowne it is to thee:
Thou me behinde hoiſt'd, and before,
thou layeſt thy hands on mee.
5 Too wonderful above my reach
Lord is thy cunning skill:
It is ſo high, that I the ſame cannot attaine vntill.
6 From ſight of thy all-ſeeing ſpirit,
Lord, whither ſhall I goe?
Or whither ſhall I fleeaway,
thy preſence to eſcape fro?
7 To heaven if I mount aloft, loe thou art preſent there:
In hel if I lye downe below,
even there thou doſt appeare.
8 Yea, let me take the morning wings and let me goe and hide,
Even there where are the fartheſt parts,
where flowing ſeas doe ſlide, 9 Yea, even thither alſo ſhall thy reaching hand me gnide:
And thy right hand ſhall hold me faſt,
and make me to abide.
10 Yea if I ſay the darkeneſſe ſhall
yet ſhroud me from thy ſight:
Loe even alſo the darkeſt night,
about me ſhalbe light.
11 Yea the darkeneſſe hideth not from thee,
but night doth ſhine as day:
To thee darkeneſſe and the light,
are both a like alway.

The ſecond part.

13 For thou poſſeſſed haſt my reines,
and thou haſt covered me:
When I within my mothers wombe, encloſed was by thee:
14 Thee will I prayſe, made fearefully and wondrouſly I am:
Thy workes are merveilous right well
my ſoule doth know the ſame.
15 My bones they are not hid from thee,
although in ſecret place:
I have beene made and in the earth,
beneath I ſhaped was.
16 When I was formeleſſe, then thine eye,
ſaw me, for in thy booke:
Were written all, nought was before,
that after faſhion tooke.
17 The thoughts therefore of the (O God)
how deare are they to me?
And of them all how paſſing great,
the endleſſe number be.
18 If I ſhould count them, loe their ſumme, more then the ſand I ſee:
And whenſoever I awake,
yet am I ſtill with thee.
19 The wicked and thee bloody men,
oh that thou wouldeſt ſlay:
Even thoſe O God, to whom depart, depart from me I ſay.
20 Even thoſe of thee, O Lord my God, that ſpeake full wickedly:
Thoſe that are lifted up in vaine,
being enemies to thee.
21 Hate I not them that hate thee Lord and that in earneſt wiſe?
Contend I not againſt them all,
againſt thee that ariſe:
22 I hate them with vnfained hate,
even as my very foes:
23 Try me O God, and know my heart
my thoughts proove and diſcloſe, 24 Conſider Lord if wickedneſſe in me there any be:
And in thy way, O God my guide,
for ever lead thou me.

David prayeth vnto the Lord againſt the crueltie falſhood, and iniuries of his enemies, aſſuring himſelfe of his ſuccour, vnto refute he provoketh the iuſt to praiſe the Lord, and to aſſure themſelves of his tuition.

Sing this as the Lamentation.

L Ord ſave me from the evill man,
and from the cruell wights,
2 Deliver me, which evill doe

3 Which make on me continuall warre, their tongues loe have they whet,
Like Serpents, vnderneath their lips is adders poyſon ſet.

4 Keepe

4 Keepe me O Lord from wicked hands, preſerve mee to abide Free from the cruell man, that meanes to cauſe my ſteps to ſlide.
5 The proud haue laid a ſnare for mee, and they haue ſpread a net
With cordes in my path wayes, and giue for me eke haue they ſet.
6 Therefore I ſaid vnto the Lord,
thou art my God alone:
Heare mee O Lord, O heare the voyce
wherewith I pray and mone.
7 O Lord my God, thou onely art
the ſtrength that ſaueth mee:
My head in day of battell hath beene covered ſtill by thee.
8 Let not O Lord the wicked haue
the end of his deſire: Performe not his ill thought, leaſt he with pride be ſet on fire.
9 Of them that compaſſe mee about,
the chiefeſt of them all:
Lord let the miſchiefe of their lips
vpon themſelues be fall:
10 Let coales fall on them let him caſt them in conſuming flame:
And in deepe pits, ſo as they may not riſe out of the ſame.
11 For no backbiter ſhall on earth,
be ſet in ſtable plight:
And euill to deſtruction ſtill
ſhall haunt the cruell wight.
12 I know the Lord th'afflicted will reuenge, and iudge the poore:
The iuſt ſhall prayſe thy name, iuſt ſhall dwell with thee euermore.

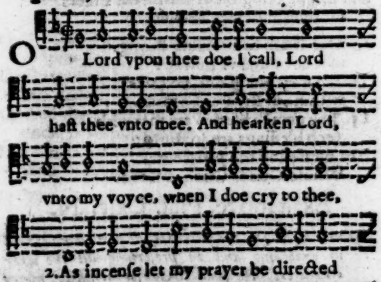
Domine clamavi. Pſal. Cxlj. N.

Dauid being grieuouſly perſecuted vnder Saul, deſireth ſuccour and patience, till God take vengeance of his enemies.



3 My Lord for guiding of my mouth
ſet thou a watch before:
And alſo of my mooving lips
O Lord keepe thou the dore.
4 That I ſhould wicked workes commit, incline thou not my heart:
With ill men of their delicates
Lord let mee eat no part.
5 But let the righteous ſmite me Lord,
for that is good for mee.
Let him reproone me, and the ſame
a precious oyle ſhall be.
Such ſmiting ſhall not breake my head,
the time ſhall ſhortly fall,
When I ſhall in their miſery make prayers for them all.
6 Then when in ſtony places downe their Iudges ſhall be caſt:
Then ſhall they heare my words, for then they haue a pleſant taſt.
7 Our bones about the graues mouth, loe ſcattered are they found:
As he that heweth wood, or he that diggeth vp the ground.
8 But O my Lord my God, mine eyes
doe looke vp vnto thee:
In thee is all my truſt, let not my ſoule forſaken be.
9 Which they haue laid to catch mee in,
Lord keepe mee from the ſnare:
And from the ſubtill gins of them that wicked workers are.
10 The wicked into their owne nets together let them fall:
While I doe by thy helpe eſcape
the danger of them all.

Dauid neither for feare nor anger vvould kill Saul, but vvith a quiet minde prayeth vnto God, vvho preſerueth him.

Sing this as the 141 Pſalme.

BEfore the Lord God with my voyce,
I did ſend out my cry:
And with my ſtrained voyce vnto
the Lord God prayed I.
2 My meditation in his ſighe to poure I did not ſpare:
And in the preſence of the Lord
my trouble did declare.
3 Although perplexed was my ſpirit,
my path was knowne to thee:
In way where I did walke a ſnare
they ſlily laid for mee.
4 I looke and view'd on my right hand,
but none there would me know:
All refuge failed me, and for my ſoule none cared tho.
5 Then cryde I Lord to thee, and ſaid,
my hope thou onely art:
Thou in the land of liuing art
my portion and my part.
6 Hearke to my cry, for I am brought full low, deliuer me
From them that doe me perſecute, for me to ſtrong they be.
7 That I may praiſe they name, my ſoule from priſon Lord bring out:
When thou art good to me the iuſt ſhall praiſe me round about.

An earneſt prayer for remiſſion of ſinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did cruelly perſecute him by Gods iuſt iudgement, he deſireth to be reſtored to grace, to be gouerned by his holy Spirit, that hee may ſpend the reſt of his life in the true feare and vvorſhip of God.

Sing this as the 141 Pſalme.

LOrd beare my prayer, hearke the plaint,
that I doe make to thee:
Lord in thy natiue truth, and in thy iuſtice anſwere me.
2 In iudgement with thy ſeruant Lord,
oh enter not at all:
For iuſtified in thy ſight not one that liueth ſhall.
3 The enemie hath purſude my ſoule,
my life to ground hath throwne:
And laid me in the darke, like them,
that dead are longe agone.
4 Within me in perplexitie was mine accumbred ſpirite:
And in me was my troubled heart,
amazed and affright.
5 Yet I record time paſt, in all thy workes I meditate:
Yea, in the workes I meditate that thy hands haue create.
6 To thee, O Lord my God, loe I doe ſtretch my craning hands:
My ſoule deſireth after thee
as doe the thirſtie lands.
7 Heare me with ſpeed, my ſpirit doth faile, hide not thy face me fro:
Elſe ſhall I be like them that downe into the pit doe goe.
8 Let me thy louing kindneſſe in the morning heare and know:
For in thee is my truſt, ſhew me
the way that I ſhall goe.
9 For I lift vp my ſoule to thee,
O Lord deliuer me
From all mine enemies: for I haue hidden me with thee.
10 Teach me to doe thy will, for thou,
thou art my God I ſay:
Let thy good ſpirit into the land of mercie me conuay.
11 For thy names ſake with quickning grace alive doe thou me make:
And out of trouble bring my ſoule,
even for thy iuſtice ſake.
12 And for thy mercy ſlay my foes,
O Lord deſtroy them all
That doe oppreſſe my ſoule, for I thy ſervant am and ſhall.

Dauid praiſeth the Lord for his victories and kingdome reſtored, yet calling for the deſtruction of the vvicked, he declareth vvherein the felicitie of any people conſiſteth.

Sing this as the 141. Pſalme.

BLeſt be the Lord my ſtrength, that doth inſtruct my hands to fight:
The Lord that doth my fingers frame to battell by his might.
2 He is my goodneſſe, fort and tower,
deliuerer and ſhield:
In him I truſt, my people he ſubdues to me to yeeld.
3 O Lord, what thing is Man, that him
thou holdeſt ſo in price?
Or ſonne of man, that vpon him
thou thinkeſt in this wiſe?
4 Man is but like to vanitie, ſo paſſe his dayes to end.
5 As fleeting ſhade, bowe downe, O Lord,
the heauens and deſcend.
6 The mountaines touch, and they ſhall ſmoke caſt foorth thy lightning flame,
And ſcatter them: thine arrowes ſhoot,
conſume them with the ſame.
7 Send downe thy hand euen from aboue,
O Lord deliuer me:
Take me from waters great, from hand
of ſtrangers make mee free.
8 Whoſe ſubtill mouth of vanitie and fondneſſe doth intreat:
And their right hand is a right hand
of falſhood and deceit.
9 A new ſong will I ſing O God, and ſinging will I be On Violl and on inſtrument
ten ſtringed vnto thee.
10 Euen he it is that onely giues deliuerance to kings:
Vnto his ſeruant Dauid help from hurtfull ſword he brings.
11 From ſtrangers hand me ſaue and ſhield, whoſe mouthes talke vanitie:
And their right hand is a right hand
of guile and ſubtiltie.
12 That our ſonnes may be as the plants, whom growing youth doth reare:
Our daughters as carv'd corner ſtones,
like to a Palace faire.
13 Our garners full, and plenty may with ſundry ſorts be found:
Our ſheepe bring thouſands, in our ſtreets
ten thouſands may abound.
14 Our Oxen be to labour ſtrong,
that none doe vs inuade:
There be no going out, no cries within our ſtreetes be made.
15 The people bleſſed are that with ſuch bleſſings are ſo ſtor'd:
Yea, bleſſed all the people are,
Whoſe God is God the Lord.

Exaltabo te. Pſal. Cxlv. N.

5 I of thy glorious Maieſtie,
the beautie will record:
And meditate vpon thy workes,
moſt wonderfull O Lord.
6 And they ſhall of thy power and of thy fearefull acts declare:
And I to publiſh all abroad,
thy greatneſſe will not ſpare.
7 And they into the mention ſhall breake of thy goodneſſe great:
And I aloud thy righteouſneſſe,
in ſinging ſhall repeat.
8 The Lord our God is gracious, and mercifull alſo:
Of great abunding mercy, and
to anger he is ſlow.
9 Yea good to all, and all his works
his mercy doth exceede:
10 Loe all thy works doe praiſe the Lord,
and doe thy honour ſpread.
11 Thy Saints doe bleſſe thee, and they doe thy kingdomes glory ſhew:
12 And blaſe thy power to cauſe the ſonnes of men thy power to know.

The ſecond part.

13 And of his mightie kingdome eke, to ſpread the glorious praiſe:
Thy kingdome Lord a kingdome is,
that doth endure alwayes.
14 And thy dominion through each age,
endures without decay:
The Lord vpholdeth them that fall,
their ſliding he doth ſtay.
15 The eyes of all doe waite on thee,
thou doſt them all relieue:
And thou to each ſufficing foode,
in ſeaſon due doſt giue.
16 Thou openeſt thy plenteous hand,
and bounteouſly doſt fill:
All things whatſoeuer doe liue,
with gifts of thy good will.
17 The Lord is iuſt in all his wayes, his workes are holy all:
18 Neere all he is that call on him,
in truth that on him call.
19 He the deſires which they require, that feare him will fulfill:
And he will heare them when they crie,
and ſaue them all he will.
20 The Lord preſerues all thoſe, to him that beare a louing heart:
But he them all that wicked are,
will vtterly ſubuert.
21 My thankfull mouth ſhall gladly ſpeake
the praiſes of the Lord:
All fleſh to praiſe his holy name, for euer ſhall accord.

Sing this as the 137. Pſalme.

MY ſoule praiſe thou the Lord alwayes,
my God I will confeſſe:
2 While breath and life prolong my dayes,
my tongue no time ſhall ceaſe.
3 Truſt not in worldly princes then,
though they abound in wealth:
Nor in the ſonnes of mortall men,
in whom there is no health.
4 For why? their breath doth ſoone depart to earth anone they fall,
And then the counſels of their hearts decay and periſh all.
5 O happy is that man I ſay, whom Iacobs God doth aide:
And he whoſe hope doth not decay,
but on the Lord is ſtaid.
6 Which made the earth and waters deepe,
the heauens high withall:
Which doth his word and promiſe keepe,
in truth and euer ſhall.
With right alwayes he doth proceede,
for ſuch as ſuffer wrong:
The poore and hungrie he doth feede,
and loſe the fetters ſtrong.
7 The Lord doth ſend the blinde their ſight
the lame to limmes reſtore:
The Lord I ſay doth loue the right and iuſt man euermore.
8 He doth defend the fatherleſſe, and ſtrangers ſad in heart,
And quit the widdow from diſtreſſe,
and till mens wayes ſubuert.
9 Thy Lord and God eternally,
O Zion ſtill ſhall raigne:
In time of all poſterity,
for euer to remaine.

3 He heales the broken in their heart,
their ſores he doth vpbinde:
4 He counts the number of the ſtarres, and names them in their kinde:
5 Great is the Lord, great is his power,
his wiſedome infinite:
6 The Lord relieues the meeke and throwes to ground the wicked wight.
7 Sing vnto God the Lord with praiſe, vnto the Lord reioyce:
And to our God vpon the harpe,
aduance your ſinging voyce.
8 He couers heauen with clouds, and for the earth prepareth raine:
And on the mountaines he doth make the graſſe to grow amaine.
9 He giues to beaſts their food, and to young Rauens when they crie:
10 His pleaſure not in ſtrength of horſe,

The ſecond part.

12 O prayſe the Lord Ieruſalem, thy God O Sion praiſe:

And eke his word with ſpeedie courſe, doth ſwiftly runne about.
16 He giveth ſnow like woll hoare froſt like aſhes he doth ſpread:
17 Like morſels caſt his ice, thereof
the cold who can abide?
18 He ſendeth forth his mightie word,
and melteth them againe:
His wind he makes to blow and then the waters flow amaine.
19 The doctrine of his holy word,
to Iacob hee doth ſhow,
His ſtatutes and his iudgements, he 20 With euery nation he hath not

His ſecret iudgements, ye therefore praiſe yee the Lord alone.

Laudate Dom; Pſal. Cxlviij. I. H.

He prouoketh all creatures to praiſe the Lord, in Heaven, and in all places, eſpecially for the power that he hath giuen to his people Iſrael.

Ive laud unto the Lord, from heauen that is ſo hie: Praiſe him in deed and word, aboue the ſtarrie skie,
2. And alſo yee, his Angels all, armies royall, praiſe him with glee.
3 Praiſe him both Moone and Sunne,
Which are ſo cleare and bright:
The ſame of you be done,
Ye glittering ſtarres of light.
4 And eke no leſſe,
Ye heauens faire,
And clouds of the aire,
His laud expreſſe.
5 For at his word they were,
All formed as we ſee:
At his voyce did appeare,
All things in their degree:
6 Which he ſet faſt
To them he made,
A law and trade,
for aye to laſt.
7 Extoll and laud Gods name,
On earth ye dragons fell:
All deepes doe ye the ſame,
For it becommeth you well.
8 Him magnifie,
Fire, haile, ice, ſnow,
And ſtormes that blow,
at his decree.
9 The hills and mountaines all,
And trees that fruitfull are:
The Cedars great and tall,
His worthy praiſe declare.
10 Beaſts and cattell,
Ye birds flying,
And wormes creeping,

Sing this as the 145 Pſalme.

SInge ye vnto the Lord our God
a new reioycing ſong:
And let the praiſe of him be heard his holy Saints among.
2 Let Iſrael reioyce in him that made him of nothing,
And let the ſeede of Sion eke be ioyfull in their King.
3 Let them ſound praiſe with voyce of flute
vnto his holy name:
And with the Timbrell and the Harpe,
ſing praiſes of the ſame.
4 For why? the Lord his pleaſure all hath in his people ſet:
And by deliverance he will raiſe
the meeke to glory great.
5 With glory and with honour both let all the Saints reioyce:
And now aloud vpon their beds advance their ſinging voyce.
6 And in their mouthes let be the acts of God the mighty Lord:
And in their hands eke let them beare
a double edged ſword.
7 To plague the heathen, and correct
the people with their hands:
8 To binde their ſtately kings in chaines their Lords in yron bands.
9 To execute on them the doome that written is before:
This honour all his Saints ſhall have, praiſe ye the Lord therefore.

PRaiſe the Lord, O ye Gentiles all, which hath brought you into his light:
O praiſe him all people mortall,
as it is moſt worthy and right.
For he is full determined on vs, to poure out his mercy,
And the Lords truth be ye aſſur'd, abideth perpetually.

Glory be to God the Father,

With the holy Ghoſt in like maner,
now and at every ſeaſon.

An Exhortation vnto the praiſe of God, to be ſung before Euening prayer, T. B.

Sing this as the 100 Pſalme.

BEhold now give heede ſuch as be

Come praiſe the Lord every degree, with ſuch ſongs as to him are due.
O ye that ſtand in the Lords houſe,
even in our owne Gods manſions:
Praiſe ye the Lord ſo bounteous, which worketh our ſalvation.
Lift vp your hands in his holy place,
yea, and that in the time of night:
Praiſe yee the Lord which giveth all grace,
for he is a Lord of great might.
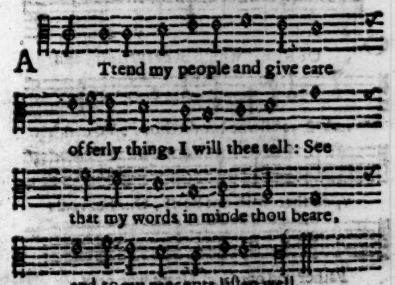
Then ſhall the Lord out of Sion, which made heaven and earth by his power,
Give to you and your nation,
his bleſſing mercy, and favour.
Glory be to the Father, &c.

Audi Iſrael. Exod. xx. W. W.



The Lords prayer.

1 I am thy ſoveraigne Lord and God,
Which have thee brought from carefull thrall,
And eke reclaim'd from Pharaohs rod,
Make thee no gods on them to call.

2 Nor faſhioned forme of any thing,
In heavens or earth to worſhip it:
For I thy God by revenging,
With grievous plagues this ſinne will ſmite.

3 Take not in vaine Gods holy name,
Abuſe it not after thy will:
For ſo thou might'ſt ſoone purchaſe blame,
And in his wrath he would thee ſpill.

4 The Lord from work the ſeventh day ceaſt,
And brought all things to perfect end:
So thou and thine that day take reſt,
That to Gods hefts ye may attend.

5 Vnto thy parents honour give,
As Gods commandements doe pretend,
That thou long dayes and good maiſt live
In earth where God a place doth lend.

6 Beware of murther and cruell hate.
7 All filthy fornication feare.
8 See thou ſteale not in any rate.
9 Falſe witneſſe againſt no man beare.

10 Thy nighbours houſe wiſh not to have,
His wife nor ought that he cals mine:
His field, his Oxe, his Aſſe, his ſlave,
Or any thing that is not thine.

A prayer.

THe Spirit of grace grant vs (O Lord)
To keepe theſe Lawes our hearts reſtore:
And cauſe vs all with one accord
To magnifie thy name therefore.

For of our ſelves no ſtrength we have To keepe theſe lawes after thy will:
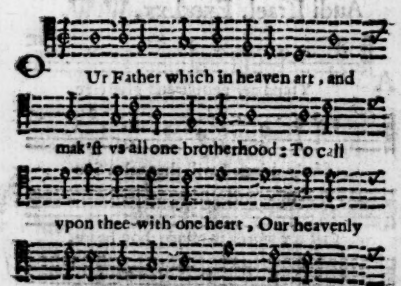
Thy might therefore (O Chriſt) we crave,
That wee in thee may them fulfill.

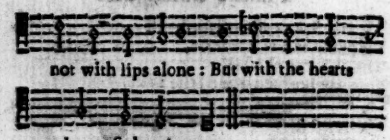
Lord, for thy names ſake graunt vs this,
Thou art our ſtrength, O Saviour Chriſt:
Of thee to ſpped how ſhould we miſſe,
In whom our treaſure doth conſiſt?

To thee for evermore be praiſe,
With the Father in each reſpect:
And with the holy Spirit alwayes,
The comforter of thine elect.

The Lords Prayers.



The Creed.



Thy bleſſed name be ſanctified,
Thy holy word might vs inflame,
In holy life for to abide,
To magnifie thy holy name:
From all errors defend and keepe
The little flocke of thy poore ſheepe.

Thy kingdome come even at this houre,
And henceforth everlaſtingly:
Thine holy Ghoſt into vs poure,
With all his gifts moſt plenteouſly
From Satans rage and filthy band Defend vs with thy mighty hand.

Thy will be done with diligence,
Like as in heaven in earth alſo:
In trouble grant vs patience,
Thee to obey in wealth and woe.
Let not fleſh, blood, or any ill
Prevaile againſt thy holy will.

Give vs this day our dayly bread,
And all other good gift of thine:
Keepe vs from warre, and from blood-ſhed,
Alſo from ſickneſs, death, and pine:
That we may live in quietneſſe,
Without all greedy carefulneſſe.

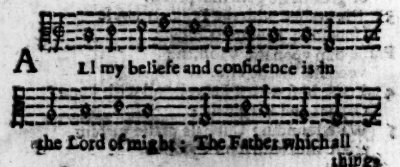
Forgive vs our offences all,
Relieve our carefull conſcience:
As we forgive both great and ſmall
Which vnto vs have done offence:
Prepare vs Lord for to ſerve thee
In perfect love and vnitie.

O Lord into temptation
Leade vs not when the fiend doth rage:
To withſtand his intaſion,
Give power and ſtrength to every age.
Arme and make ſtrong thy feeble hoaſt,
With faith and with the holy Ghoſt.

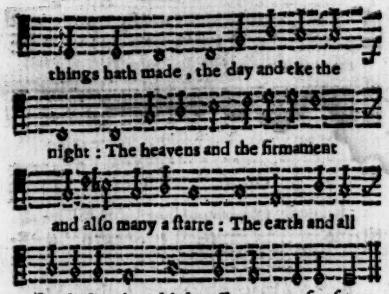
O Lord from evill deliver vs,
The dayes and times are dangerous,
From everlaſting death ſave vs,
And in our laſt neede comfort vs:
A bleſſed end to vs bequeath,
Into thy hands our ſoules receive.

For thou O Lord art king of kings
And thou haſt power over all:
Thy glory ſhineth in all things,
In the wide world vniverſall.
Amen, Let it be done, O Lord,
That wee have pray'd with one accord.

The Creed.



The Creede.



And in like manner I beleeve,
In Christ our Lord his Sonne:
Coequall with the Deitie,
And man in flesh and bone:
Conceived by the holy Ghost,
His word doth me assure:
And of his mother Mary borne,
Yet she a Virgin pure.

Because mankinde to Satan was,
For sinne in bond and thrall,
He came and offered vp himselfe,
To death to save vs all.
And suffering most grievous paine,
Then Pilate being Iudge,
Was crucified on the Crosse,
And therat did not grudge.

And so he died in the flesh,
But quickened in the spirit,
His body then was buried,
As is our vse and right.
His Sonne did after this descend
Into the lower parts:
To them that long in darkenesse were,
The true light of their hearts.

And in the third day of his death:
He rose to life againe:
To th'end he might be glorified,
Out of all griefe and paine.
Ascending to the heavens high,
To sit in glory still:
On Gods right hand his Father deare,
According to his will.

Vntill the day of iudgement come,
When he shall come againe,
With Angels power, yet of that day
We all be vncertaine.
To iudge all people righteously,
Whom he hath dearely bought:
The living and the dead also,
Which he hath made of nought.

And in the holy Spirit of God,
My faith to satisfie,
The third person in Trinitie:
Beleeve I stedfastly.
The holy and Catholike Church,
That Gods word doth maintaine
And holy Scripture doth allow,
Which Satan doth disdaine.

A prayer to the holy Ghost.

And also I doe trust to have,
By Iesus Christ his death:
Releasse and pardon for my sinnes
And that onely by faith.
What time all flesh shall rise againe
Before thee Lord of might:
And see him with their bodily eyes,
Which now doe give them light.

And then shall Christ our Saviour,
The sheepe and goates divide:
And give life everlastingly,
To those whom he hath tride.
Within his Realme celestiall,
In glory for to rest:
With all the holy company,
Of Saints and Angels blest.

Which serve the Lord omnipotent, Obediently each houre:
To whom be all dominion,
And praise for evermore.

A prayer to the holy Ghost, to be sung before the Sermon.

Sing this as the 119. Psalme.

COme holy Spirit the God of might, comforter of vs all:
Teach vs to know thy word aright,
that we doe never fall.
O Holy Ghost visit our coast, defend vs with thy shield:
Against all sinne and wickednesse,
Lord helpe vs winne the field.

Lord keepe our King and his counsell, and give them will and might,
To persevere in thy Gospell, which can put sinne to flight.
O Lord that giveſt thy holy word,
send Preachers plenteously:
That in the same we may accord,
and therein live and die.

O holy Spirit direct aright
the Preachers of thy word,
That thou by them mayst cut downe sinne,
as it were with a sword:
Depart not from those Pastors pure but aide them at all neede:
Which breake to vs the bread of life,
wherein our soules doe feede.

O blessed Spirit of trueth keepe vs,
in peace and vnitie:
Keepe vs from sects and errors all,
and from all Papistrie.
Convert all those that be our foes,
and bring them to thy light:
That they and wee may well agree,
and praise thee day and night.

O Lord increase our faith in vs,
and love so to abound:
That man and wife be void of strife,
and neighbours about vs round,
In our time give thy peace O Lord,
to nations farre and nie:

Da pacem Domine.

And teach them all thy holy word,

A thankeſgiving after the receiving of the Lords Supper.

Sing this as the 137 Pſalme.

THe Lord be thanked for his gifts,
and mercies euermore:
That he doth ſhew vnto his Saints,
to him be laid therefore.
Our tongues cannot ſo praiſe the Lord,
as he doth right deſerue:
Our hearts cannot of him ſo thinke,
as he doth vs preſerue.

His benefits they be ſo great,
to vs that be but ſinne:
That at our hands for recompence,
their is no hope to winne.
O ſinfull fleſh that thou ſhouldſt haue
ſuch mercies of the Lord:
Thou doſt deſerue more worthily,
of him to be abhord.

Nought elſe but ſinne and wretchedneſſe,
doth reſt within our hearts:
And ſtubbornely againſt the Lord,
we dayly play our parts,
The ſunne aboue the firmament which is to vs a light:
Doth ſhew it ſelfe more cleare and pure,
then we be in his ſight.

The heavens above, and all therein,
more holy are then wee:
They serve the Lord in their eſtate,
each one in their degree.
They doe not ſtrive for maſterſhip,
nor ſlacke their office ſet:
But feare the Lord and doe his will,
hate is to them no let.

Alſo the earth and all therein,
of God it is in awe:
It doth obſerve the formers will,
by skilfull natures law.
The ſea and all that is therein,
both bend when God doth beck:
The ſpirits beneath doe tremble all,
and feare his wrathfull check.

But we alas for whom all theſe were made them for to rule:
Doe not ſo know or love the Lord,
as doth the Oxe or Mule.
A law he gave for vs to know,
what was his holy will:
He would vs good, but we would not avoid the thing is ill.

Not one of vs that ſeeketh our,
the Lord of life to pleaſe:
Nor doe the thing that might vs ioyne,
to Chriſt and quiet eaſe.
Thus are we all his enemies,
we can it not denie:
And he againe of his good will,
would not that we ſhould die.

Therefore when remedie was none,
to bring vs vnto life:
The Sonne of God our fleſh he tooke,
to end our mortall ſtrife.
And all the Law of God the Lord,
he did it full obey:
And for our ſinnes vpon the Croſſe,
his blood our debts did pay.

And that we ſhould not yet forget,
what good he to vs wrought:
A ſigne he left our eyes to tell,
that he our bodies bought.
In bread and wine here viſible,
vnto thine eyes and taſt:
His mercies great thou maiſt record,
if that his ſpirit thou haſt.

At once the coarne did live and grow,
and was cut downe with ſithe:
And threſhed out with many ſtripes, out from his huske to drive.
And as the mill with violence,
did teare it out ſo ſmall
And made it like to earthly duſt, not ſparing it at all.

And as the oven with fire hot,
did cloſe it vp in heate:
And all this done that I have ſaid,
that it ſhould be our meate.
So was the Lord in his ripe age,
cut downe by cruell leath:
His ſoule he gave to tormens great,
and yeelded vp his breath.

Becauſe that he to vs might be

With much reproach and troubles great,

and left to grow no more.

Becauſe the iuice that in them is,
as comfortable drinke:
We might receive and ioyfull be,
when ſorrowes make vs ſhrinke.
So Chriſt his blood outpreſſed was,
with nailes and eke with ſpeare:
The iuice whereof doth ſave all thoſe,
that rightly doe him feare.

And as the corners by vnity into one loafe is knit:
So is the Lord and his whole Church,
though he in heaven ſit:
As many grapes make but one Wine,
ſo ſhould we be but one,
In faith and love in Chriſt above,
and vnto Chriſt alone.

Leading a life without all ſtrife,
in quiet reſt and peace:
From envie and from malice both,
our hearts and tongues to ceaſe.
Which if we doe, then ſhall we ſhew, that we his choſen be
By faith in him to leade a life, as alwaies willed he.

And that we may ſo doe indeed,

Then after death we ſhall be ſure,

Morning Prayer.

ALmightie God and moſt merciſull Father, we doe not preſent our ſelves here before thy Maieſtie, truſting in our owne merits or worthineſſe, but in thy manifolde mercies, which haſt promiſed to heare our prayers and grant our requeſt, which wee ſhall make to thee in the name of thy beloued Sonne Ieſus Chriſt our Lord, who alſo hath commanded vs to aſſemble our ſelves together in his name, with full aſſurance, that hee will not onely be amongſt vs; but alſo be our mediator and aduocate to thy Maieſtie, that wee may obtaine all thinges which ſhall ſeeme expedient to thy bleſſed will, for our neceſſities. Therefore wee beſeech thee ſweete Father, to turne thy louing countenance towardes vs, and impute not vnto vs our manifold ſinnes and offences, whereby wee moſt iuſtly deſerue thy wrath and ſharpe puniſhment, but rather receiue vs to thy mercie, for Ieſus Chriſts ſake, accepting his death and paſſion as a iuſt recompence for all our offences, in whom onely thou art pleaſed, and through whom thou canſt not be offended with vs. And ſeeing that of thy great mercie wee haue quietly paſſed this night: Graunt (O heauenly Father) that wee may beſtow this day wholly in thy ſeruice, ſo that all our thoughts, wordes, and deedes, may redound to the glorie of thy name and good enſample of all men, who ſeeing our good workes, may glorifie thee our heauenly Father. And foraſmuch as of thy meere fauour and loue, thou haſt not onely created vs to thine owne ſimilitude and likeneſſe, but alſo haſt choſen vs to be heires with thy deare ſonne Ieſus Chriſt, of that immortall kingdome, which thou prepareddſt for vs before the beginning of the world: we beſeech thee to encreaſe our faith and knowledge, and to lighten our hearts with thy holy Spirit, that wee may in the meane time liue in godly converſation and integritie of life, knowing that Idolaters, adulterers, couetous men, contentious perſons, drunkards, gluttons and ſuch like, ſhall not inherite the kingdome of God.

And becauſe thou haſt commanded vs to pray one for another, wee doe not onely make requeſt (O Lord) for our ſelues, and for them that thou haſt alreadie called to the true vnderſtanding of thy heauenly will, but for all people and nations of the world, who as they know by thy wonderfull workes, that thou art God ouer all, ſo they may be inſtructed by thy holy Spirit, to beleeue in thee, their onely Sauiour and Redeemer, but foraſmuch as they cannot beleeue, except they heare, nor cannot heare but be preaching, and none can preach, except he be ſent: therefore (O Lord) raiſe vp faithfull diſtributers of thy myſteries, who ſetting apart all worldly reſpects; and both in their life and doctrine onely ſeeke thy glory. Continually confound Satan, Antichriſt, with all hirelings, whom thou haſt already caſt off into a reprobate ſence, that they may not by ſects, ſchiſmes, hereſies, and errors, diſquiet thy little flocke. And becauſe, O Lord, wee be fallen into the latter dayes and dangerous times, wherein ignorance hath gotten the vpper hand, and Satan by his Miniſters ſeekes by all meanes to quench the light of thy Goſpell: wee beſeech thee to maintaine thy cauſe againſt thoſe rauening Wolues, and ſtrengthen all thy ſeruants, whom they keepe in priſon and bondage. Let not thy long ſuffering be an occaſion, either to encreaſe their tyranny, or to diſcourage thy children: neither yet let our ſinnes and wickedneſſe, be an hinderance to thy mercyes, but with ſpeede (O Lord) conſider their great miſerie. For thy people Iſrael many times by their ſinne prouoked thine anger, and thou puniſhedſt them by thy iuſt iudgement, yet though their ſinnes were neuer ſo grieuous, if they once returned from their iniquitie, thou receiuedſt them to mercy. Wee therefore moſt wretched ſinners bewaile our manifolde ſinnes, and earneſtly repent vs of our former wickedneſſe, and vngodly behaiour towards thee: and whereas wee cannot of our ſelues purchaſe the pardon, yet woe humble beſeech thee for Ieſus Chriſts ſake, to ſhew thy mercy vpon vs, and receiue vs againe to thy fauour: Graunt we deſire Father theſe our requeſts, and all other things neceſſarie for vs, and thy whole Church, according to thy promiſe in Ieſus Chriſt our Lord. In whoſe name wee beſeech thee, as he hath taught vs, ſaying: Our Father which art in heauen, &c.

Euening Prayer.

O Lord God, Father euerlaſting, and full of pittie, wee acknowledge and confeſſe, that wee be not worthie to lift vp our eyes to heauen, much leſſe to preſent our ſelues before thy Maieſtie, with confidence that thou wilt heare our prayers, and graunt our requeſts: if wee conſider our owne deſeruings: for our conſciences doe accuſe vs, and our ſinnes doe witneſſe againſt vs, and wee know that thou art an vpright Iudge, which doeſt not iuſtifie the ſinners and wicked men, but puniſheth the faults of all ſuch, as tranſgreſſe thy commandements: yet moſt merciſull Father, ſince it hath pleaſed thee to commaund vs to call on thee in all our troubles and aduerſities, promiſing euen then to helpe vs, when we feele our ſelues, (as it were) ſwallowed vp of death and deſperation, wee vtterly renounce all worldly confidence, and flie to the ſoueraigne bountie as our onely ſtay and refuge: beſeeching thee, not to call to remembrance our manifold

sinnes and wickednesse, whereby wee continually provoke thy wrath and indignation against vs, neither our negligence and vnkindnesse, which have neither worthily esteemed, nor in our lives sufficiently expresse the sweete comfort of thy Gospell revealed vnto vs, but rather to accept the death and obedience of thy Sonne Iesus Christ, who by offering vp his body in sacrifice once for all hath made a sufficient recompence for all our sinnes. Have mercy therefore vpon vs, O Lord, and forgive vs our offences. Teach vs by thy holy Spirit, that wee may rightly waigh them, and earnestly repent for the same. And so much the rather, O Lord, because that the reprobate and such as thou hast forsaken, cannot praise thee, nor call vpon thy name, but the repenting heart, the sorrowfull minde, the conscience oppressed, hungring and thirsting for thy grace, shall ever set forth thy praise and glory.

And albeit wee be but wormes and dust, yet thou art Creator, and wee be the worke of thine hands: yea, thou art our Father, and wee thy Children: thou art our Shepheard, and wee thy flocke: thou art our Redeemer, and wee thy people whom thou hast bought: thou art our God, and wee thine inheritance. Correct vs not therefore in thine anger (O Lord) neither according to our deserts punish vs, but mercifully chastise vs with a fatherly affection, that all the world may know at what time soever a sinner doth repent him of his sinne from the bottome of his heart, thou wilt put away all his wickednesse out of thy remembrance, as thou hast promised by thy holy Prophet.

Finally, for as much as it hath pleased thee to make the night for man to rest in, as thou hast ordeined him the day to travell in, grant O deare Father, that wee may continually watch for the time that our Lord Iesus Christ shall appeare for our deliverance out of this mortall life, and in the meane season, that wee be not overkome by any fantasies, dreames, or other temptations, may fully set our mindes vpon thee, love thee, feare thee, and rest in thee. Furthermore, that our sleepe be not excessive or overmuch, after the vnsatiable desires of our flesh, but onely sufficient to content our weake nature, that wee may be the better disposed to live in all godly conversation, to the glory of thy holy Name, and profite of our brethren. So be it.

A godly prayer to be sayd at all times.

HOnour and praise be given to thee, O Lord God Almighty, most deare Father of heaven, for all thy mercies and loving kindenesses shewed vnto vs, in that it hath pleased thy gracious goodnesse, freely and of thine owne accord to elect and chuse vs to salvation before the beginning of the world: And even like continuall thankes be given to thee, for creating vs after thine owne image, for redeeming vs with the precious blood of thy deare Sonne, when wee were vtterly lost: for sanctifying vs with thy holy Spirit in the revelation and knowledge of thy words: for helping and succouring vs in all our needes and necessities, for saving vs from all dangers of body and soule, for comforting vs so fatherly in all our tribulations and persecutions: for sparing vs so long, and giving vs so large a time of repentance. These benefites, O most mercifull Father, like as we acknowledge to have received them of thy onely goodnesse, even so wee beseech thee for thy deare Sonne Iesus Christes sake, graunt vs alwayes thy holy Spirit, whereby wee may continually grow in thankefulnesse towards thee, to be led into all trueth, and comforted in all adversities. O Lord strengthen our faith, kindle it more in ferventnesse and love towards thee, and our neighbours for thy sake: suffer vs not (most deare Father) to receive thy word any more in vaine: but graunt vs alwaies the assistance of thy grace and holy Spirit, that in heart, word and deede, wee may sanctifie and doe worship to thy name, helpe to amplifie and increase thy kingdome, and whatsoever thou sendest, wee may be heardly well content with thy good pleasure and will. Let vs not lacke the thing, O Father, without the which wee cannot serve thee: but blesse thou so all the workes of our hands, that wee may have sufficient, and not be chargeable but rather helpfull vnto others. Be mercifull, O Lord, to our offences, and seeing our debt is great which thou hast forgiven in Iesus Christ, make vs to love thee and our neighbours so much the more: be thou our Father, Captaine, and defender in all temptations: hold thou vs by thy mercifull hand, that wee may be delivered from all inconveniences, and end our lives in the sanctifying and honouring of thy holy name, through Iesus Christ our Lord and onely Saviour.

Let thy mighty hand and out-stretched arme (O Lord) be still our defence, thy mercy and loving kindnesse in Iesus Christ my deare Sonne our salvation, thy true and holy word our instruction, thy grace and holy Spirit our comfort and consolation vnto the end and in the end. So be it.

O Lord increase our faith.

A Confession for all estates and times.

O Eternall God and most mercifull Father, wee confesse and acknowledge here before thy divine Maiestie, that we are miserable sinners, conceived and borne in sinne and iniquitie, so that in vs there is no goodnesse. For the flesh evermore rebelleth against the spirit, whereby we continually transgresse thy holy precepts and commandements: and so purchase to our selves through thy iust judgement, death and damnation. Notwithstanding (O heavenly Father) for as much as wee are displeased with our selves for the sinnes that wee have committed against thee, and doe vnfainedly repent vs of the same, wee most humblie beseech thee for Iesus Christ his sake,

A Confession for all estates and times.

O Eternall God and most mercifull Father, wee confesse and acknowledge here before thy divine Maiestie, that we are miserable sinners, conceived and borne in sinne and iniquitie, so that in vs there is no goodnesse. For the flesh evermore rebelleth against the spirit, whereby we continually transgresse thy holy precepts and commandements: and so purchase to our selves through thy just judgement, death and damnation. Notwithstanding (O heavenly Father) for as much as wee are displeased with our selves for the sinnes that wee have committed against thee, and doe vnfainedly repent vs of the same, wee most humblie beseech thee for Iesus Christ his sake, to shew thy mercy vpon vs, to forgive vs all our sinnes, and increase thy holy Spirit in vs, that wee acknowledging from the bottome of our heartes, our owne vnrighteousnesse, may from hencefoorth not onely mortifie our sinfull lusts and affections, but also bring foorth such fruites as may be agreable to thy most blessed will, not for the worthinesse thereof, but for the merites of thy dearely beloved Son Iesus Christ our onely Saviour, whom thou hast already given an oblation and offring for our sinnes, and for whose sake wee are certainely perswaded that thou wilt denie vs nothing that wee shall aske in his name, according to thy will. For thy Spirit doth assure our consciences, that thou art our mercifull Father, and so lovest vs thy children through him, that nothing is able to remoove thy heavenly grace and favour from vs. To thee therefore (O Father) with the Sonne, and the holy Ghost, be all honour and glory world without end. Amen.

A prayer to be said before a man begin his worke.

O Lord God most mercifull Father and Saviour, seeing it hath pleased thee to commaund vs to travell, that wee may relieve our neede, wee beseech thee of thy grace so to blesse our labours, that thy blessing may extend vnto vs, without the which wee are not able to continue, and that this great favour may be a witnesse vnto vs of thy bountifulnesse and assistance, so that thereby wee may know the fatherly care that thou hast over vs.

Moreover (O Lord) we beseech thee that thou wouldest strengthe vs with thy holy Spirit, that we may faithfully travell in our estate and vocation, without fraud or deceit, and that wee may endevour our selves to follow thine holy ordinance, rather then to seeke to satisfie our greedy affections or desire to gaine.

And if it please thee (O Lord) to prosper our labour, give vs a minde also to helpe them that neede, according to that abilitie that thou of thy mercie shalt give vs: And knowing that all good things come of thee, graunt that wee may humble our selves to our neighbours, and not by any meanes lift our selves above them which have not received so liberall a portion as of thy mercy thou hast given vnto vs. And if it please thee to try and exercise vs by greater povertie and neede then our flesh would desire, that thou wouldest yet (O Lord) grant vs grace to know that thou wilt nourish vs continually, through thy bountifull liberalitie, that wee be not so tempted, that wee fall into distrust, but that wee may patiently waite till thou fill vs, not onely with corporall graces and benefites, but chiefly with thine heavenly and spirituall treasures, to the intent wee may alwayes have more ample occasion to give thee thankes, and wholly to rest vpon thy mercies. Heare vs O Lord of mercy, through Iesus Christ thy Sonne our Lord, Amen.

A Prayer for the whole estate of Christs Church.

ALmightie God and most mercifull Father, wee humble submit over selves & fall downe before thy maiestie, beseeching thee from the bottome of our heartes, that this seede of thy worde now sowen amongst vs, may take such deep roote, that neither y burning heate of persecution cause it to wither, neither the thorny cares of this life choake it, but that as seede sowne in a good ground, it may bring foorth thirtie, sixtie, and an hundreth folde, as thy heavenly wisedome hath appointed. And because wee have neede continually to crave many things at thy hands, wee humbly beseech thee (O heavenly Father) to graunt vs thy holy Spirit, to direct our petitions, that they may proceede from such a fervent minde, as may be agreeable to thy most holy will, and seeing that our infirmitie is able to doe nothing without thy helpe, and that thou art not ignorant with how many and great temptations wee poore wretches are one every side enclosed and compassed, let thy strength (O Lord) sustaine our weakenesse, that wee being defended with the force of thy grace, may be safely preserved against all assaults of Satan, who goeth about continually like a roaring Lion, seeking to devoure vs. Increase our faith (O mercifull Father) that wee doe not swerve at any time from thy heavenly word, but augment in vs hope and love, with a carefull keeping of all thy commandements, that no hardnesse of heart, no hypocrisie, concupiscence of the eyes, nor entisements of the world doe draw vs away from thy obedience. And seeing wee live now in these most perilous times, let thy fatherly providence defend vs against the violence of our enemies, which seeke all meanes to oppresse thy trueth.

Furthermore, for as much as by thy holy Apostle wee be taught to make our prayers and supplications for all men: Wee pray not onely for our selves here present, but beseech thee also to reduce all such as be yet ignorant from the miserable captivitie of blindnesse and errour, to the pure understanding and knowledge of thy trueth, that we all with one accord and vnite of minde may worship thee our onely God and Saviour. And that all Pastors, Sepheards, and Ministers, to whom thou hast committed the dispensation of thy holy word, and charge of thy chosen people, may both in their life and doctrine be found faithfull, setting onely before their eyes thy glory, and that by them all poore sheepe which wander & goe astray, may be gathered and brought home to thy fold.

Moreover, because the hearts of Rulers are in thy hands, wee beseech thee to direct and governe the hearts of all Kings, Princes, and Magistrates, to whome thou hast committed the sword: Especially (O Lord) according to our bounden duety, wee beseech thee to maintaine and increase the Honourable estate of the Kings Maiestie, and all his most noble Counsellers and Magistrates, with all the spirituall Pastors and Ministers, and miſters, and all the whole body of this common-weale. Let thy fatherly fauour ſo preſerue them, and thy holy ſpirit ſo gouerne their heartes, that they may in ſuch ſort execute their office, that thy religion may be purely maintained, manners reformed, and ſinne puniſhed, according to the preciſe rule of thy holy word: and for that wee be all members of the myſticall body of Ieſus Chriſt, wee make our requeſts vnto thee (O Heauenly Father) for all ſuch as are afflicted with any kind of croſſe or tribulation: as warre, plague, famine, ſickneſſe, pouertie, impriſonement, perſecution, baniſhment, or any other kind of thy rods, whether it be calamitie of body, or vexation of minde, that it would pleaſe thee to giue them patience and conſtancie, till thou ſend them full deliuerance out of all their troubles. Roote out from hence, O Lord, all rauening Wolues, which to fill their bellies, ſeeke to deſtroy thy flocke. And ſhew thy great mercies vpon thoſe our brethren in other countreys, which are perſecuted, caſt into priſon, and dayly condemned for the teſtimonie, of thy trueth. And although they be vtterly deſtitute of all mans aide, yet let thy ſweete comfort neuer depart from them, but ſo inflame their hearts with thy holy ſpirit, that they may boldly & chearefully abide ſuch triall as thy godly wiſdome ſhall appoint: So that at length as well by their death, as by their life, the kingdom of thy deare Sonne Ieſus Chriſt, may encreaſe and ſhine through all the world. In whoſe name we make our humble petitions vnto thee, as hee hath taught vs.

Our Father, &c.

A prayer againſt the Deuill and his manifold tentations, made by S. Auguſtine.

THere wanted a tempter, and thou waſt the cauſe that hee was wanting: there wanted time and place, and thou waſt the cauſe that they wanted. The tempter was preſent, and there wanted neither places nor time, but thou heldeſt mee backe that I ſhould not conſent. The tempter came full of darkneſſe as he is, and thou diddeſt harden mee that I might deſpiſe him. The tempter came armed and ſtrongly, but to the intent hee ſhould not ouercome mee, thou diddeſt reſtraine him and ſtrengthen mee. The tempter came transformed into an Angel of light, and to the intent hee ſhould not deceiue mee, thou didſt rebuke him, and to the intent I ſhould know him, thou didſt enlighten mee: For he is the great red dragon the old ſerpent, called the Deuill and Satan, which hath ſeauen heads and ten hornes, whom thou haſt created to take his pleaſure in this huge and broad ſea, wherein there creepe liuing wights innumerable, and beaſts great and ſmall, that is to ſay, diuers ſorts of fiends which practiſeth nothing elſe day and night, but goeth about ſeeking whom hee may deuoure, exeept thou reſiſt him, O Lord Ieſus. For it is that olde dragon which draweth downe the third part of the ſtarres of heauen with his taile, and caſteth them to the ground, which with his venome poyſoneth the waters of the earth, that as many men as drinke of them, may die, which trampleth vpon gold, as if it were mire, and is of opinion that Iordan ſhall runne into his mouth, and which is made of ſuch a mould that hee feareth no man: And who ſhall ſaue vs from his chaps, O Lord Ieſus? who ſhall plucke vs out of his mouth, ſauing thou O Lord, who haſt broken the head of this great Dragon? Helpe vs Lord, ſpread out thy wings ouer vs O Lord, that we may flee vnder them from the face of this Dragon that purſueth vs: and fence thou vs from his hornes with thy ſhield: For this is his continuall endeauour, this is his onely deſire to deuoure the ſoules that thou haſt created. And therefore wee cry vnto thee O God, deliuer vs from our daily aduerſary, who whether wee ſleepe or wake, whether wee eate or drinke, or whether wee be doing of any thing elſe preſſeth vpon vs by all kinde of meanes, aſſaulting vs day and night with traines and pollicies, and ſhooting his venemous arrowes at vs, ſometimes openly, and ſometimes priuily to ſlay our ſoules. And yet ſuch is our great madneſſe O Lord, that whereas wee ſee the dragon continually in a readineſſe to deuoure vs with open mouth, we neuertheleſſe doe ſleepe, & reioyce in our owne ſloathfulneſſe, as though wee were out of his danger, who deſireth nothing elſe but to deſtroy vs. Our miſchieuous enimie to the intent to kill vs, watcheth continually and neuer ſleepeth, and yet will not wee awake from ſleepe to ſaue our ſelues. Behold hee hath pitched infinite ſnares before our feete, and filled all our wayes with ſundry traps to catch our ſoules. And who can eſcape O Lord Ieſus, ſo many and great dangers? Hee hath laid ſnares for vs in our riches, in our pouerty, in our meate, in our drinke, in our pleaſures, in our ſleepe, and in our waking. Hee hath ſet ſnares for us in our words, and our works and in all our life. But thou, O Lord, deliuer vs from the net of the fowler, and from hard words that wee may giue prayſe to thee, ſaying: Bleſſed be the Lord who hath not giuen vs to be a pray for their teeth: our ſoule is deliuered as a ſparrow out of the fowlers net, the net is broken and we haue eſcaped.

The Confeſſion of the Chriſtian faith.

Beleeve and confeſſe my Lord God, eternall, infinite, unmeaſureable, incomprehenſible, and inuiſible, one in ſubſtance, and three in perſon, Father, Sonne, and holy Ghoſt, who by his almightie power and wiſedome, hath not onely of nothing created heauen and earth, and all things therein conteined, and man after his owne image, that he might in him be glorified, but alſo by his fatherly prouidence gouerneth, maintaineth, and preſerueth the ſame, according to the purpoſe of his will.

I beleeue alſo and confeſſe Ieſus Chriſt the onely Saviour and Meſſias, who being equall with God, made himſelfe of no reputation, but tooke on him the ſhape of a ſeruant, and became man, in all things like vnto vs, except ſinne:

ſinne, to aſſure vs of mercy and forgiueneſſe: for when through our Father Adams tranſgreſſion, wee were become children of perdition, there was no meanes to bring vs from the yoake of ſinne and damnation, but onely Ieſus Chriſt our Lord, who giuing vs that by grace, which was by nature his, made vs through faith the children of God, who when that fulneſſe of time was come, was conceiued by the power of the holy Ghoſt, borne of the Virgin Mary (according to the fleſh) and preached in earth the Goſpell of Saluation, till at length by tyranny of the Prieſtes, hee was guiltleſly condemned vnder Pontius Pilate, the Preſident of Iury, and moſt ſlanderouſly hanged on the Croſſe betweene two theeues, as a notorious treſpaſſer, where taking vpon him the puniſhment of our ſinnes, hee deliuered vs from the curſe of the law.

And for as much as he being onely God, could not feele death, neither being onely man, could ouercome death, hee ioyned both together: And ſuffered his humanitie to be puniſhed with moſt cruell death, feeling in himſelfe the anger and ſeuere iudgement of God, euen as hee had bene in extreame torments of hell, and therefore cryed with a loud voyce, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? Thus of his mercie: without compulſion, hee offered vp himſelfe as the onely ſacrifice to purge the ſinnes of all the world, ſo that all other ſacrifices for ſinne, are blaſphemous and derogate from the ſufficiencie hereof, which death, albeit it did ſufficiently reconcile vs to God, yet the Scriptures commonly doe attribute our regeneration to his reſurrection. For as by riſing againe from the graue, the third day hee conquered death, euen ſo the victorie of our faith ſtandeth in his reſurrection: and therefore without the one, wee cannot feele the benefites of the other. For as by his death ſinne was taken away, ſo our righteouſneſſe was reſtored by his reſurrection. And becauſe hee would accompliſh all things, and take poſſeſſion for vs in his kingdome, he aſcended into heauen, to enlarge the ſame kingdome, by the aboundant power of his ſpirit, by whom wee are moſt aſſured of his continuall interceſſion towards God the Father for vs.

And although hee be in heauen as touching his corporall preſence, where the Father hath now ſet him at his right hand, committing vnto him the adminiſtration of all things, as well in heauen aboue, as in earth beneath: yet is hee preſent with vs his members, euen to the end of the world, in preſeruing and gouerning vs with his effectuall power and grace; who when all things are fulfilled, which GOD hath ſpoken by the mouth of all his Prophets, ſince the world began, will come in the ſame viſible forme, in the which he aſcended, with an vnſpeakeable Maieſtie, power, and company, to ſeparate the Lambes from the Goates, the elect from the reprobate: So that none, whether hee be aliue then, or dead before, ſhall eſcape his iudgement.

Moreouer, I beleeue and confeſſe the holy Ghoſt, God equall with the Father, and the Sonne, who regenerateth and ſanctifieth vs, ruleth and guideth vs vnto all trueth, perſwading moſt aſſuredly in our conſciences that wee be the children of GOD, brethren to Ieſus Chriſt, and fellow heires with him of life euerlaſting: yet notwithſtanding it is not ſufficient to beleeue that GOD is omnipotent and mercifull, that Chriſt hath made ſatisfaction, or that the holy Ghoſt hath his power and effect, except wee doe apply the ſame benefites to vs which are Gods elect.

I beleeue therefore and confeſſe one holy Church, which as members of Ieſus Chriſt, the onely head thereof, conſent in faith, hope, and charitie, vſing the gifts of God, whether they be temporall or ſpirituall, to the profit and furtherance of the ſame, which Church is not ſeene to mans eye, but onely knowen to God, who of the loſt ſonnes of Adam, hath ordained ſome as veſſels of wrath to damnation, and hath choſen others as veſſels of his mercy to be ſaued: the which in due time hee calleth to integritie of life, and godly conuerſation, to make them a glorious Church in himſelf.

I But that Church which is viſible, and ſeene to the eye, hath three tokens and markes whereby it may be knowen. Firſt, the word of GOD conteine in the olde and new Teſtament, which as it is aboue the authoritie of the ſame Church, and onely ſufficient to inſtruct vs in all things concerning ſaluation: ſo it is left for all degrees of men, to reade and vnderſtand. For without this word, neither Church, Counſell, nor decree, can eſtabliſh any point touching ſaluation: The ſecond is, the holy Sacraments, to wit, of Baptiſme, and the Lords Supper, which Sacraments Chriſt hath left vnto vs, as holy ſignes and ſeales of Gods promiſes. For as by Baptiſme once receiued, is ſignified, that wee (as well Infantes as others of age and diſcretion) being ſtrangers from GOD by origin all ſinne, are receiued into his familie and congregation, with full aſſurance, that although this roote of ſinne lye hide in vs, yet to the Elect it ſhall not be imputed: So the Supper declareth that GOD as a moſt prouident Father, doth not onely feede our bodies, but alſo ſpiritually nouriſheth our ſoules with the graces and benefites of Ieſus Chriſt, (which the Scripture calleth eating of his fleſh, and drinking of his blood) neither muſt wee in the adminiſtration of theſe Sacraments, follow mans fantaſie, but as Chriſt himſelfe hath ordained, ſo muſt they be adminiſtred, and by ſuch as by ordinary vocation are thereunto called. Therefore whoſoeuer reſerueth and worſhippeth theſe Sacraments, or contrariwiſe contemneth them in time and place, procureth to himſelfe damnation.

The third marke of this Church, is Eccleſiaſticall Diſcipline, which ſtandeth in admonition and correction of faultes. The finall end whereof is Excommunication, by the conſent of the Church determined, if the offender be obſtinate: And beſides this Eccleſiaſticall Diſcipline, I acknowledge to belong long to his Church, a politicke Magiſtrate, that miniſtreth to euery man iuſtice, defending the good and puniſhing the euill. To whom wee muſt render honour and obedience in all things which are not contrary to the word of God. And as Moſes, Ezekias, Ioſias, and other good rulers, purged the Church of God from ſuperſtition and idolatrie, ſo the defence of Chriſts Church appertaineth to Chriſtian Magiſtrates, againſt all Idolaters & Heretickes, as Papiſts, Anabaptiſts, with ſuch like limbs of Antichriſt, to root out all doctrine of Deuels and men, as the Maſſe, Purgatorie, Limbus patrum, prayers to Saints, and for the dead, free-wil, diſtinction of meates, apparel and dayes, vowes of ſingele life, preſence at Idoll ſeruice, mans merits with ſuch like, which draw vs from the ſocietie of Chriſts Church, wherein ſtandeth onely remiſsion of ſinnes purchaſed by Chriſts blood to all them that beleeue, they be Iewes or Gentiles, and lead vs to vaine confidence in creatures and truſt in our owne imaginations, the puniſhment whereof although God oftentimes deferreth in this life, yet after the generall reſurrection, when our ſoules and bodies ſhall riſe againe to immortalitie, they ſhall be damned to vnquenchable fire, & the we which have forſaken all mans wiſedome, to cleave unto Chriſt, ſhall heare the ioyfull voyce, Come ye bleſſed of my father, inherite the Kingdome prepared for you from the beginning of the world: and ſo ſhall goe triumphing with him in bodie and ſoule to remaine everlaſtingly in glory, where we ſhall ſee God face to face, and ſhall no more neede to inſtruct one another, wee ſhall all know him from the higheſt to the loweſt. To whom with the Sonne and the holy Ghoſt, be all prayſe, honour and glory now and euer. So be it.

30 And Aaron and all the children of Iſrael looked upon Moſes, and behold, the skin of his face ſhone bright, and they were l afraid to come neere him.

31 But Moſes called them: and Aaron and all the chiefe of the congregation returned unto him: and Moſes talked with them.

35 And the children of Iſrael ſaw the face of Moſes, how the skin of Moſes face ſhone bright: therefore Moſes put the covering upon his face, untill he went to ſpeake with GOD.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The Sabbath. 5 The free gifts are required. 21 The readineſſe of the people to offer. 30 Bezaleel and Aholiab are praiſed of Moſes.

THeo Moſes aſſembled all the Congregation of the children of Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Theſe are the wordes which the Lord hath commanded, that ye ſhould doe them:

* Chap.20.9.

2 * Sixe dayes thou ſhalt worke, but the ſeventh day ſhalbe unto you the holy a Sabbath of reſt unto the Lord: whoſoever doth any worke therein, ſhall die.

4 ¶ Againe, Moſes ſpake unto all the Congregation of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the thing, which the Lord commandeth, ſaying,

5 Take from among you an offring unto the Lord: whoſoever is of a * willing heart, let him bring this offring to the Lord, namely golde, and ſilver and braſſe:

20 ¶ Then all the Congregation of the children of Iſrael departed from the preſence of Moſes.

21 And every one, whoſe heart † encouraged him, & every one, whoſe ſpirit made him willing, came and brought an offring to the Lord, for the worke of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and for all his uſes, and for the holy garments.

CHAP. XXXVI.

5 The great reuenues of the people. 8 The curtaines made, 19 The coueringes. 20 The boards. 31 The barres, 35 and the vaile.

THen wrought Bezaleel, and Aholiab, and all † kunning men, to whom the Lord gaue wiſdome, and vnderſtanding, to know how to worke all maner work for the ſervice of the [a] Sanctuary, according to all that the Lord had commanded.

2 For Moſes had called Bezaleel, and Aholiab, and all the wiſe hearted men, in whoſe hearts the Lord had given wiſedome, even as many as their hearts encouraged to come unto that worke to worke it.

3 And they received of Moſes all the offring which the children of Iſrael had brought for the worke of the ſervice of the Sanctuary, to make it: alſo [b] they brought ſtill unto him free gifts every morning.

4 So all the wiſemen, that wrought all the holie worke, came every man from his worke which they wrought,

5 And ſpake to Moſes, ſaying, The people bring too [c] much, and more then enough for the uſe of the worke, which the Lord hath commanded to be made.

6 Then Moſes gaue a commandement, and they cauſed it to be proclaymed throughout the hoſte, ſaying, Let neither man nor woman prepare any more worke for the oblations of the Sanctuarie. So the people were ſtayed from offring.

7 For the ſtuffe they had, was ſufficient for all the worke to make it, and too much.

8 * All the cunning men therefore among the workemen, made for the Tabernacle ten curtaines of fine twined linnen, and of blewe ſilke, and purple, and ſkarlet: [d] Cherubims of broidred worke made they vpon them, † Ebr. wiſe in heart.

d Which were little Pictures with wings in the forme of children.

9 The length of one curtaine vvas twenty and eight cubits, and the breadth of one curtaine foure cubites: and the curtaines were all of one ſize.

10 And hee coupled fiue curtaines together, and other fiue coupled he together.

11 And hee made ſtrings of blewe ſilke by the edge of one curtaine, in the ſelvedge of the coupling: likewiſe hee made on the ſide of the other curtaine in the ſelvedge in the ſecond coupling.

12 * Fifty ſtrings made he in the one curtaine, and fifty ſtrings made he in the edge of the other curtaine, which was in the ſecond coupling: the ſtrings were ſet one againſt another.

13 After, he made fiftie ‖ taches of golde, and coupled the curtaines one to another with the taches: ſo was it one Tabernacle.

14 ¶ Alſo hee made curtaines of goates haire for the ‖ covering upon the Tabernacle: he made them to the number of eleven curtaines.

15 The length of one curtaine had thirtie cubites, and the breadth of one curtaine foure cubites: the eleven curtaines vvere of one ſize.

16 And hee coupled fiue curtaines by themſelves, and ſixe curtaines by themſelves.

17 Alſo hee made fiftie ſtrings upon the edge of one curtaine in the ſelvedge in the coupling, and fiftie ſtrings made he upon the edge of the other curtaine in the ſecond coupling.

18 He made alſo fiftie taches of braſſe to couple the covering that it might be one.

19 And hee made a [e] covering upon the pauilion of rammes ſkinnes died red, and a covering of badgers ſkinnes above.

20 ¶ Likewiſe he made the boards for the Tabernacle, of Shittim wood to [f] ſtand up.

21 The length of a board vvas ten cubites, and the bredth of one board vvas a cubite and an halfe.

22 One board had two tenons, ſet in order as the feete of a ladder, one againſt another: thus made he for all the boardes of the Tabernacle.

23 So hee made twentie boards for the South ſide of the Tabernacle, even full South.

24 And fourtie ſockets of ſilver made hee under the twentie boards, two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons.

25 Alſo for the other ſide of the Tabernacle toward the North, he made twentie boards.

26 And their fourty ſockets of ſilver, two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board.

27 Likewiſe toward [g] the Weſtſide of the Tabernacle he made ſixe boardes.

28 And two boardes made hee in the corners of the Tabernacle for either ſide,

29 And they were * ioyned beneath, and likewiſe were made ſure aboue with a ring: this hee did to both in both corners.

30 So there were eight boards, and their ſixteen ſockets of ſilver, vnder every board two ſockets.

31 ¶ After he made * barres of Shittim wood, fiue for the boards in the one ſide of ỹ Tabernacle,

32 And fiue barres for the boards in the other ſide of the Tabernacle, and fiue bars for ỹ boardes of the Tabernacle on the ſide toward the Weſt.

33 And he made the middeſt barre to ſhoote through the boards, from the one end to the other.

34 He overlaid alſo the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold for places for the barres.

35 ¶ Moreover he made a h vaile of blew ſilke and purple, and of ſkarlet, and of fine twined linē: with Cherubims of broy dered worke made he it:

36 And made thereunto foure pillars of Shittim & overlayed them with gold: whoſe ‖ hookes were alſo of gold, and hee caſt for them foure ſockets of ſilver.

5 And put the barres in the rings by the ſides of the Arke, to beare the Arke.

6 ¶ And he made the * Merciſeate of pure gold: two cubites and an halfe vvas the length thereof, and one cubite and an halfe the breadth thereof.

7 And he made two Cherubims of gold, upon the two ends of the Merciſeate: even of worke beaten with the hammer made he them.

b Of the ſelfe ſame matter that the Merciſeate was.

8 One Cherub on the one ende, and another Cherub on the other ende: b of the Merciſeate made he the Cherubims, at the two ends thereof.

9 And the Cherubims ſpread out their wings on high, & covered ẏ Merciſeate with their wings and their faces vvere one towards another: toward the Merciſeate were the faces of the Cherubims.

16 * Alſo he made the inſtruments for the Table of pure gold: diſhes for it, and incenſe cups for it, and goblets for it, and coverings for it, wherewith it ſhould be covered.

17 ¶ Likewiſe he made the Candleſticke of pure gold: of worke beaten out with the hammer made he the Candleſticke: and his ſhaft, and his branche, his bolles, his knops, and his floures were of one piece.

18 And ſixe branches came out of the ſides thereof: three branches of the Candleſticke out of the one ſide of it, and three branches of the Candleſticke out of the other ſide of it.

19 In one branch three bolles made like almonds, a knop and a floure: and in another branch three bolles made like almonds, a knop and a floure: and ſo throughout the ſixe branches that proceeded out of the Candleſticke.

20 And upon the Candleſticke vvere foure bolles after the faſhion of almonds, the knoppes thereof and the floures thereof.

21 That is, under every two branches a knop made thereof, and a knop under the ſecond branch thereof, and a knop under the third branch thereof, according to the ſix branches comming out of it.

* Chap.25.31.

22 Their knops and their branches were of the ſame: it was all one * beaten worke of pure gold.

23 And he made for it ſeaven lampes with the ſnuffers, and ſnufdiſhes thereof of pure gold.

c Reade Chap.25. 39.

26 And he covered it with pure gold, both the top and the ſides thereof round about, and the hornes of it, and made unto it a crowne of golde round about.

27 And he made two rings of gold for it, under the crowne thereof in the two coners of the two ſides thereof, to put barres in for to beare it therewith.

* Chap.30.33.37.

28 Alſo he made the barres of Shittim wood, and overlayed them with golde.

29 And he made the holy * anoynting oyle, and the ſweet pure incenſe after the apothicaries art.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

6 The altar of burnt offerings. 8 The braſen Laver. 9 The Court. 24 The ſumme of that the people offred.

* Chap 27.1.

ALſo he made the altar of the burnt offring * of Shittim woode: fiue cubites vvas the length thereof, and fiue cubites the breadth thereof; it vvas ſquare and three cubites high.

2 And he made unto it hornes in the foure corners thereof: the hornes thereof were of the ſame, and he overlayed it with braſſe.

3 Alſo he made all the inſtruments of the altar: the ‖ aſhpans, and the beſoms and the baſins, the fleſhhookes, and the * cenſers: all the inſtruments thereof made he of braſſe.

a So that the gridyron or grate was halfe ſo high as the altar, and ſtood within it.

4 Moreover, he made a braſen grate wrought like a net to the Altar, under the compaſſe of it beneath in the a middes of it.

5 And caſt foure rings of braſſe for the foure endes of the grate to put barres in.

b R. Kimbi ſaith that the women brought their looking glaſſes which were of braſſe or fine metall, and offered them freely unto the uſe of the Tabernacle: which was a bright thing and of great maieſtie.

8 ¶ Alſo he made the laver of braſſe, and the foote of it of braſſe of the b glaſſes of the women that did aſſembled and came together at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

9 ¶ Finally, he made the court on the South ſide full South: the hangings of the court vvere of fine twined linnen, having an hundreth cubites.

16 All the hangings of the court round about vvere of fine twined linnen.

17 But the sockets of the pillars vvere of brasse: the hookes of the pillars and their filets of silver, and the covering of their chapiters of silver: and all the pillars of the court were hoped about with silver.

18 He made also the hanging of the gate of the court of needleworke, blewe silke, and purple, and skarlet, and fine twined linnen even twentie cubites long, and five cubites in height and bredth, † like the hangings of the court.

19 And their pillars vvere foure with their foure sockets of brasse: their hooks of silver, and the covering of the chapiters, and their filets of silver.

20 But all the * pinnes of the Tabernacle and of the court round about were of brasse.

21 ¶ These are the parts of the Tabernacle, I meane, of the Tabernacle of the Testimonie, which was appointed by the commandement of Moses for the office of the [c] Levites, by the hand of Ithamar sonne to Aaron the Priest.

22 So Bazaleel the sonne of Vri, the sonne of Hur of the tribe of Iudah, made all that the Lord commanded Moses.

23 And with him Aholiab sonne of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan, a [d] cunning workeman, and an embroiderer, & a worker of needle worke in blew silke, & in purple, and in skarlet, and in fine linnen.

24 All the gold that was occupied in all the worke wrought for the holy place (which was the gold of the offering) was nine and twentie talents and seven hundreth and thirtie shekels, according to the shekel of the Sanctuarie.

25 But the silver of them that were numbred in the Congregation, vvas an hundreth talents, and a thousand seaven hundreth seventie and fiue shekels, after the shekel of the Sanctuarie.

27 Moreover there were an hundreth talents of silver, to cast the sockets of the Sanctuary, and the sockets of the vaile: an hundreth sockets of an hundreth talents, a talent for a socket.

28 But he made the hookes for the pillars of a thousand seven hundreth and seventie and fiue shekels, and overlaid their chapiters, and made filets about them.

29 Also the brasse of the offering vvas seventie [e] talents, and two thousand, and foure hundreth shekels.

30 Whereof he made the sockets to the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the brasen altar, and the brasen grate which was for it, with all the instruments of the Altar.

31 And the sockets of the court round about, and the sockets for the court gate, and all the * pins of the Tabernacle, and all the pines of the court round about.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 The apparell of Aaron and his sonnes. 31 All that the Lord commanded was made, and finished. 43 Moses blesseth the people.

MOreover they made a garments of ministration to minister in the Sanctuarie of blewe silke, and purple, and skarlet: they * made also the holy garments for Aaron, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

2 So he made the Ephod of gold, blew silke, and purple, and skarlet, and fine twined linnen.

3 And they did beate the gold into thinne plates, & cut it into wiers, to worke it in the blew silke and in the purple, and in the skarlet, and in the fine linnen, with broidered worke.

4 For the which they made shoulders to couple together: for it was closed by the two edges thereof.

5 And the broidered gard of his Ephod that was upon him, was of the same stuffe, and of like worke: even of gold, of blew silke, and purple, and skarlet, and fine twined linnen, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

6 ¶ And they wrought * two Onyx stones closed in ouches of golde, and graved, as [b] ingnets are graven, with the names of the children of Israel.

7 And put them on the shoulders of the Ephod, as stones for a *remembrance of the children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

8 ¶ Also he made the breastplate of broidered worke like the worke of the Ephod: to vvit, of gold, blew silke, and purple and skarlet, and fine twined linnen.

9 They made the breastplate double, and it was square an hand breadth long, and an hand breadth broad: it vvas also double.

CHAP XL.

1 The Tabernacle with the appertinances is reared vp.
34 The glory of the Lord appeareth in the cloud covering the Tabernacle.

THen the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

2 In the a firſt day of the firſt moneth in the very firſt of the ſame moneth ſhalt thou ſet up the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation:

a After that Moſes had been 40 dayes, and 40 nights in the mount, that is from the beginning of Auguſt to the tenth of September, he came downe, and cauſed this worke to be done: which being finiſhed, was ſet up in Abid. which moneth conteineth halfe March and halfe Aprill.

3 And thou ſhalt put therein the Arke of the Teſtimonie, and cover the Arke with the vaile.

4 Alſo thou ſhalt bring in the * Table, and ſet it in order as it doth require: thou ſhalt alſo bring in the Candleſticke, and light his lampes.

* Read Chap.26, 35.

5 And thou ſhalt ſet the incenſe Altar b of gold before the Arke of the Teſtimonie; and put the c hanging at the doore of the Tabernacle.

b That is, the altar of perfume, or to burne incenſe on.
c This hanging or vaile was betweene the Sanctuary and the court.

6 Moreover, thou ſhalt ſet the burnt offring Altar before the doore of the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

7 And thou ſhalt ſet the Laver betweene the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the Altar, and put water therein.

8 Then thou ſhalt appoint the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court gate.

9 After, thou ſhalt take the anoynting oyle, and anoint the Tabernacle, and all that is therein, and hallow it with all the inſtruments thereof that it may be holy.

10 And thou ſhalt anoynt the Altar of the burnt offring, and all his inſtruments, and ſhalt ſanctifie the Altar, that it may bee an altar moſt holy.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt anoynt the Laver, and his foote, and ſhalt ſanctifie it.

12 Then thou ſhalt bring Aaron and his ſonnes unto the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and waſh them with water.

13 And thou ſhalt put upon Aaron the holy garments, and ſhalt anoynt him, and ſanctifie him, that he may miniſter unto me in the Prieſts office.

14 Thou ſhalt alſo bring his ſonnes and cloathe them with garments.

15 And ſhalt anoynt them as thou diddeſt anoynt their father, that they may miniſter unto mee in the Prieſts office: for their anoynting ſhall bee a ſigne, that the Prieſthood d ſhall be everlaſting unto them throughout their generations.

d Till both the Prieſthood and the ceremonies ſhould end, which was at Chriſts comming.

16 So Moſes did according to all that the Lord had commanded him; ſo did he.

17 ¶ * Thus

17 ¶ * Thus was the Tabernacle reared up the first day of the first moneth in e the second yeere.

18 Then Moses reared up the Tabernacle and fastened his sockets, and set up the boards thereof, and put in the barres of it, & reared up his pillars.

19 And hee spread the covering over the Tabernacle, and put the covering of that covering on high above it, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

20 ¶ And he tooke and put the f Testimonie in the Arke, and put the barres in the rings of the Arke, & set the Mercieseate on high upō the Arke.

21 He brought also the Arke into the Tabernacle, and hanged up the * covering vaile, and covered the Arke of the Testimonie, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

22 ¶ Furthermore hee put the Table in the Tabernacle of the Congregation in the Northside of the Tabernacle, without the vaile, 23 And set the bread in order before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

24 ¶ Also he put the Candlesticke in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, over against the Table toward the Southside of the Tabernacle.

25 And hee ‖ lighted the lampes before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

26 ¶ Moreover, hee set the golden Altar in the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the vaile.

27 And burnt sweete incense thereon, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

28 ¶ Also hee hanged up the vaile at the g doore of the Tabernacle.

29 After, he set the burnt offring Altar without the doore of the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and offred the burnt offring and the sacrifice thereon, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

30 ¶ Likewise he set the Laver betweene the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the Altar, and powred water therein to wash with.

31 So Moses and Aaron and his sonnes washed their hands and their feete thereat.

32 When they went into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and when they approached to the Altar, they washed, as the Lord hath commanded Moses.

33 Finally, hee reared up the court round about the Tabernacle and the Altar, and hanged up the vaile at the court gate: so Moses finished the worke.

34 ¶ * Then the cloude covered the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the glorie of the Lord filled the Tabernacle.

35 So Moses could not enter into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, because the cloude abode thereon, and the glory of the Lord filled the Tabernacle.

36 Now when the cloude ascended up from the Tabernacle, the children of Israel went forward in all their iourneyes.

37 But if the cloude ascended not, then they iourneyed not till the day that it ascended.

38 For h the cloude of the Lord was upon the Tabernacle by day, and fire was in it by night in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their iourneyes.

THE THIRD BOOKE OF MOSES, CALLED *LEVITICVS.

* Because in this booke is chiefly intreated of the Levites, and of things pertaining to their office.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS God dayly by most singular benefites declared himselfe to be mindfull of his Church: so hee vvould not that they should have any occasion to trust either in themselves, or to depend upon others, either for lacke of temporall things, or ought that belonged to his divine service and Religion. Therefore hee ordeined divers kinds of oblations and sacrifices, to assure them of forgivenes of their offences (if they offered them in true faith and obedience.) Also he appointed their Priests and Levites, their apparell, offices, conversation and portion: he vvved vvhat feastes they should observe and in vvhat times. Moreover, he declareth by these sacrifices and ceremonies that the revvard of sinne is death, and that vvithout the blood of Christ the innocent Lambe, there can be no forgivenes of sinnes. And because they should give no place to their ovvne inventions (vvhich thing God most detested, as appeareth by the terrible example of Nadab and Abihu) he prescribed even to the least things vvhat they should doe, as vvhat beastes they should offer and eate: vvhat diseases vvere contagious and to be avoyded: vvhat order they should take for all maner of filthinesse and pollution to purge it: vvhose company they should flee: vvhat mariages vvere lavvfull: and vvhat politike lavves vvere profitable. Which things declared he promised favour and blessing to them that keepe his lavves, and threatned his curse to them that transgressed them.

CHAP. I.

a Of burnt offrings for particular persons. 3. 10 and 14. The maner to offer burnt offrings as well of bullocks, as of sheepe and birdes.

NOw the a Lord called Moses, and spake unto him out of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them, If any of you offer a sacrifice unto the Lord, ye shall offer your sacrifice of b cattell, as of beeves and of the sheepe.

3 * If his sacrifice be a burnt offring of the herde, he shall offer a male without blemish, presenting him of his owne voluntary will at the doore of the c Tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord.

4 And hee shall put his hand upon the head of the burnt offring, and it shalbe accepted † to the Lord, to be his atonement.

5 And d he shall kill the bullocke before the Lord, and the Priestes Aarons sonnes shall offer the blood, and shall sprinkle it round about upon the e altar, that is by the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

a Hereby Moses declareth that hee taught nothing to the people but that which he received of God.

b So they could offer of none other sort, but of those which were commanded.

6 Then shall he slay the burnt offring, and cut it in pieces:

8 Then the Priests Aarons sonnes shall lay the parts in order, ȳ head & the ‖ kall upon the wood that is in the fire which is upon the altar.

† Or a savour of rest, which pacifieth the anger of the Lord.

10 ¶ And if his sacrifice for the burnt offring be of the flocks (as of the sheepe, or of the goats) he shall offer a male without blemish.

14 ¶ And if his sacrifice be a burnt offring to the Lord of the foules, then shall he offer his sacrifice of the turtle doves, or of the yong pigeons.

15 And the Priest shall bring it unto the altar, and i wring the necke of it asunder, and burne it on the altar: and the blood thereof shall be ‖ shed upon the side of the altar.

CHAP. II.

1 The meate offring is after three sortes of fine flowre vnbaken. 4 Of bread baken.

a Because the burnt offring could not be without the meate offring.

AND when any will offer a a meate offring unto the Lord, his offering shall be of fine flowre, and he shall powre oyle upon it, and put incense thereon,

2 And shall bring it unto Aarons sonnes the Priests, and b he shall take thence his handfull of the flowre, and of the oyle with all the incense, and the Priest shall burne it for a c memoriall upon the altar: for it is an offering made by fire for a sweete savour unto the Lord.

b The Priest.
c To signify that God remembreth him that offreth.

3 * But the remnant of the meate offring shall be Aaron and his sonnes: for it is d most holy of the Lords offring made by fire.

* Ecclu. 7. 31.
d Therefore none could eate of it but the Priest.

4 ¶ If thou bring also a meate offring baken in the oven, it shall be an unleavened cake of fine flowre mingled with oyle, or an unleavened wafer anoynted with oyle.

5 ¶ But if thy e meate offring be an oblation of the frying pan, it shall be of fine flowre unleavened, mingled with oyle.

e Which is a gift offered to God to pacifie him.

6 And thou shalt part it in pieces, and powre oyle thereon: for it is a meate offring.

7 ¶ And if thy meate offring be an oblation made in the caldron, it shall be made of fine flowre with oyle.

8 After, thou shalt bring the meate offring (that is made of these things) unto the Lord, and shalt present it unto the Priest, and he shall bring it to the altar.

9 And the priest shall take from the meate offring a * memoriall of it, and shall burne it upon the altar: for it is an oblation * made by fire for a sweete savour unto the Lord.

1 The maner of peace offrings, and beasts for the same. 17 The Israelites may not eate fat nor blood.

a A sacrifice of thankesgiving offered for peace and prosperity, either generally or particularly.

ALso if his oblation be a a peace offring, if he will offer of the drove (whether it be male or female) he shall offer such as is without blemish, before the Lord.

2 And shall put his hand upon the head of his offring, and kill it at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and Aarons sonnes the priest shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

3 So he shall offer b part of the peace offering, as a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, even the * fat that covereth the inwardes, and all the fat that is upon the inwardes.

b One part was burnt, another was to the Priests, and the third to him that offered.
* Exod. 29. 22.

4 He shall also take away the two kidneis, and the fat that is on them, and upon ‖ the flanks, and the kall on the liver with the kidneis.

5 And Aarons sonnes shall burne it on the altar, with the burnt offering, which is upon the wood, that is on the fire: this is a sacrifice made by fire for a sweete savour unto the Lord.

c In the peace offring it was indifferent to offer either male or female, but in the burnt offring onely the male: so here can be offered no birdes, but in the burnt offering they might: all there was consumed with fire, and in the peace offering but a part.

6 ¶ Also if his oblation be a peace offring unto the Lord out of the flocke, whether it be c male or female, he shall offer it without blemish.

7 If he offer a Lambe for his oblation, then he shall bring it before the Lord,

8 And lay his hand upon the head of his offring, & shall kil it before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and Aarons sonne shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

9 After,

10 Also hee shall take away the two kidneis, with the fat that is upon them, and upon the * flanks, and the kall upon the liver with the kidneis.

11 Then the Priest shall burne it upon the altar, as the meate of an offring made by fire unto the Lord.

12 ¶ Also if his offring be a goate, then shall he offer it before the Lord,

13 And shall put his hand upon the head of it, and kill it before [e] the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the sonnes of Aaron shall sprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about.

14 Then hee shall offer thereof his offering, even an offering made by fire unto the Lord, the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.

15 Also hee shall take away the two kidneis, and the fat that is upon them, and upon the flanks, and the kall upon the liver with the kidneis.

16 So the Priest shall burne them upon the altar, as the meate of an offering made by fire for a sweete savour: * all the fatte is the Lords.

17 This shalbe a perpetuall ordinance for your generations, thoughout all your dwellings, so that ye shall eate neither [f] fat nor * blood.

1 The offring for sinnes done of ignorance. 3 For the Priest, the Congregation, the ruler, and private man.

MOreover, the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, saying, If † any shall sinne through [a] ignorance, in any of the commandements of the Lord, (which ought not to be done) but shall doe contrarie to any of them,

3 If [b] the Priest that is anointed do sinne (according to the sinne of the people) then shall he offer for his sinne which hee hath sinned, a young bullocke without blemish unto the Lord for a sinne offring.

4 And he shall bring the bullocke unto the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord, and shall put his hand upon the bullockes head, and [c] kill the bullocke before the Lord.

5 And the Priest that is anointed, shall take of the bullockes blood, and bring it into the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

6 Then the Priest shall dippe his finger in the blood, & sprinkle of the blood seven times before the Lord, before the vaile of the [d] Sanctuary.

7 The Priest also shall put some of the blood before the Lord, upon the hornes of the altar of sweete incense, which is in the [e] Tabernacle of the Congregation, then shall hee powre * all the rest of the blood at the foote of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

8 And he shall take away all the fatte of the bullocke for the sinne offring: to wit, the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fatte that is about the inwardes.

9 He shall take away also the two kidneis, and the fat that is upon them, and upon the flankes, and the kall upon the liver with the kidneis.

15 And the [g] Elders of the Congregation shall put their handes upon the head of the bullocke before the Lord, and ‖ hee shall kill the bullocke before the Lord.

18 Also he shall put some of the blood upon the hornes of the altar, which is before the Lord, that is in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: then shall he powre all the rest of the blood at the foot of the altar of burnt offring, which is at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation,

19 And he shall take all his fat from him, and ‖ burnt it upon the altar.

20 And the Priest shall doe with his bullocke, as he did with the bullocke for his sinne: so shall he doe with this: so the Priest shall make an atonement for them, and it shalbe forgiven them.

21 For he shall carry the bullocke without the hoste, and burne him as hee burned the first bullocke: for it is an offering for the sinne of the Congregation.

22 ¶ When a ruler shall sinne, and doe through ignorance against any of the commandements of the Lord his God, which should not be done, and shall offend,

23 If one shew unto him his sinne, which hee hath committed, then shall he bring for his offring an ‖ hee goate without blemish,

24 And shall lay his hand upon the head of the hee goate, and kill it in [h] the place where he should kill the burnt offering before the Lord: for it is a sinne offring.

25 Then the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering with his finger, and put it upon the hornes of the burnt offering altar, and shall powre the rest of his blood at the foote of the burnt offering altar,

26 And shall burne all his fat upon the altar, as the fat of the peace offring: so the Priest shall make [i] an atonement for him, concerning his sinne, and it shalbe forgiven him.

35 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the lambe of the peace offrings is taken away: then the Prieſt ſhall burne it upon the altar m with the oblations of the Lord made by fire, and the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his ſinne that he hath committed, and it ſhalbe forgiven him.

CHAP. V.

1 Of him that teſtifieth the trueth. 4 Of him that ſweareth raſhly. 15 Of him that by ignorance withdraweth any thing dedicate to the Lord.

A Lſo if † any have ſinned, that is, ‖ if he have heard the voyce of an oathe, and hee can be a witneſſe, whether he hath ſeene or a knowen of it, if he doe not vtter it, he ſhall beare his iniquity:

2 Either if one touch any vncleane thing, whether it be a carion of an vncleane beaſt, or a carion of vncleane cattell, or a carion of vncleane creeping things, and is not ware of it, yet hee is vncleane, and hath offended:

3 Either if he touch any vncleanneſſe of man (whatſoever vncleanneſſe it be, that he is defiled with) and is not ware of it, and after commeth to the knowledge of it, he hath ſinned:

4 Either if any b ſweare and pronounce with his lippes to doe evill, or to doe good (whatſoever it be that a man ſhall pronounce with an othe) and it be hid from him, and after knoweth that he hath offended in one of theſe points,

5 When he hath ſinned in any of theſe c things, then he ſhall confeſſe that he hath ſinned therein.

6 Therefore ſhall he bring his treſpas offring unto the Lord for his ſinne which he hath committed, even a female from the flocke, be it a lambe or a ſhe goate for a ſinne offring, and the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his ſinne.

7 But † if he be not able to bring a ſheep, he ſhall bring for his treſpaſſe which he hath committed, two turtle doves, or two young pigeons unto the Lord, one for a ſinne offring, and the other for a burnt offring.

8 So he ſhall bring them unto the prieſt, who ſhall offer the ſinne offring firſt, and * wring the necke of it aſunder, but not plucke it cleane off.

9 After hee ſhall ſprinkle of the blood of the ſinne offring upon the ſide of the altar, and the reſt of the blood ſhall be ‖ ſhed at the foote of the altar: for it is a ſinne offring.

10 Alſo he ſhall offer the ſecond for a burnt offring ‖ as the maner is: ſo ſhall the prieſt d make an atonement for him (for his ſinne which hee hath committed) and it ſhalbe forgiven him.

11 ¶ But if hee * be not able to bring two turtle doves, or two yong pigeons, then he that hath ſinned, ſhall bring for his offring the tenth part of an e Ephah of fine floure for a ſinne offring, hee ſhall put none f oyle thereto, neither put any incenſe thereon: for it is a ſinne offring.

12 Then ſhall hee bring it to the prieſt, and the Prieſt ſhall take his handfull of it for the * remembrance thereof, and burne it upon the altar * with the offrings of the Lord made by fire: for it is a ſinne offring.

13 So the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, as touching his ſinne, that he hath committed in one of theſe points, and it ſhalbe forgiven him: and the remnant ſhall be the prieſts, as the meate offring.

14 ¶ And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

15 If any perſon tranſgreſſe and ſinne through ignorance g by taking away things conſecrated unto the Lord, he ſhall then bring for his treſpaſſe offring unto the Lord a ramme without blemiſh out of the flocke, vvorth two ſhekels of ſilver h by thy eſtimatiō after the ſhekel of the Sanctuary, for a treſpaſſe offring.

16 So he ſhall reſtore that wherein he hath offended, in taking away of the holy thing, and ſhall put the fift part more thereto, and give it unto the prieſt: ſo the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him with the ramme of the treſpaſſe offring, and it ſhalbe forgiven him.

17 ¶ Alſo if any ſinne and * doe againſt any of the Commandements of the Lord, which ought not to be done, and know not, and i ſinne and beare his iniquitie,

18 Then ſhall he bring a ramme without blemiſh out of the flocke, in thy eſtimation vvorth * two ſhekels for a treſpaſſe offring unto ỹ prieſt: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his k ignorance wherein he erred, and was not ware: ſo it ſhall be forgiven him.

19 This is the treſpaſſe offring for the treſpaſſe committed againſt the Lord.

7 And the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord, and it ſhall be forgiven him, whatſoever thing he hath done, and treſpaſſed therein.

8 ¶ Then the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

9 Commaund Aaron and his ſonnes, ſaying, This is the d lawe of the burnt offring, (it is the burnt offring becauſe it burneth upon the altar all the night unto the morning, and the fire burneth on the altar.)

10 And the Prieſt ſhall put on his linnen garment, and ſhall put on his linnen breeches upon e his fleſh, and take away the aſhes when the fire hath conſumed the burnt offering upon the altar, and he ſhall put them beſide the f altar.

11 After, he ſhall put off his garments, and put on other raiment, and cary the aſhes foorth without the hoſte unto a cleane place.

12 But the fire upon the altar ſhall burne thereon and never be put out: wherefore the Prieſt ſhall burne wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt offring in order upon it, and he ſhall burne thereon the fat of the peace offrings.

13 The fire ſhall ever burne upon the altar, and never goe out.

14 ¶ * Alſo this is the lawe of the meate offring, which Aarons ſonnes ſhall offer in the preſence of the Lord, before the altar.

15 He ſhall even take thence his handfull of fine floure of the meate offring and of the oyle, and all the incenſe which is upon ŷ meate offring, and ſhall burne it upon the altar for a ſweete ſavour as a * memoriall therefore unto the Lord:

16 But the reſt thereof ſhall Aaron and his ſonnes eate: it ſhalbe eaten without leaven in the holy place: in the court of the Tabernacle of the Congregation they ſhall eate it.

17 It ſhall not be g baken with leaven: I haue given it for their portion of mine offring made by fire: for it is as the ſinne offring, and as the treſpaſſe offring.

18 All the males among the children of Aaron ſhall eate of it: It ſhalbe a ſtatute for ever in your generations concerning the offrings of the Lord made by fire: * whatſoever toucheth them ſhall be holy:

19 ¶ Againe the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

20 This is the offring of Aaron and his ſonnes, which they ſhall offer unto the Lord in the day when he is anointed the tenth part of an * Ephah of fine floure, for a meate offring h perpetuall: halfe of it in the morning, and halfe thereof at night.

21 In the frying panne it ſhall be made with oyle: thou ſhalt bring it fryed, and ſhalt offer the ‖ baken pieces of the meate offring for a ſweete ſavour unto the Lord.

22 And the Prieſt that is i anointed in his ſtead, among his ſonnes ſhall offer it: It is the Lords ordinance for ever, it ſhall be burnt altogether,

23 For every meate offring of the Prieſt ſhall be burnt altogether, it ſhall not be eaten.

24 ¶ Furthermore, the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying,

25 Speake unto Aaron, and unto his ſonnes, and ſay, This is the Lawe of the ſinne offring. In the place where the burnt offring is killed, ſhall the ſinne offring be killed before the Lord: for it is moſt holy.

26 The Prieſt that offreth this ſinne offring, ſhall eate it: in the holy place ſhall it be eaten, in the court of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

27 Whatſoever ſhall touch the fleſh thereof ſhalbe holy: and when there droppeth of the blood thereof upon a k garment, thou ſhalt waſh that whereon it droppeth in the holy place.

CHAP. VII.

1 The lawe of the treſpaſſe offring. 11 Alſo of the peace offring. 23 The fat and the blood may not be eaten.

LIkewiſe this is the lawe of the a treſpaſſe offering, it is moſt holy.

2 In the place b where they kill the burnt offering, ſhall they kill the treſpaſſe offring, and the blood thereof ſhall he ſprinkle round about upon the altar.

3 All the fat thereof alſo ſhall c he offer, the rump, and the fat that covered the inwards,

4 After, hee ſhall take away the two kidneis, with the fat that is on them and upon the flankes, and the kall on the liver with the kidneis.

5 Then the Prieſt ſhall burne them vpon the altar, for an offring made by fire unto the Lord: this is a treſpaſſe offring.

6 All the males among the Prieſtes ſhall eate thereof, it ſhall be eaten in the holy place, for it is moſt holy.

7 As the ſinne offring is, ſo is the treſpaſſe offring, one d law ſerveth for both: e that wherewith the Prieſt ſhall make atonement, ſhall be his.

9 And all the meate offring that is baken in the oven, and that is dreſſed in the pan, and in the frying pan ſhall be the Prieſts that offereth it.

10 And every meate offring mingled with oyle, and that is f dry, ſhall pertaine unto all the ſonnes of Aaron, to all alike.

11 Furthermore, this is the lawe of the peace offrings, which he ſhall offer unto the Lord.

d To offer for the sinnes of the people.

16 Then

16 Then hee tooke all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the kall of the liver, and the two kidneis with their ‖fat, which Moſes burned upon the altar.

17 But the bullocke and his [e] hide, and his fleſh, and his doung, hee burnt with fire without the hoaſte as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

18 ¶ Alſo hee brought the ramme for the burnt offring, and Aaron and his ſonnes put their hands upon the head of the ramme.

19 So Moſes killed it, and ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about,

20 And Moſes cut the ramme in pieces, and burnt the head with the pieces, and the fat,

21 And waſhed the inwardes and the legges in water: ſo Moſes burnt the ramme every whit upon the Altar: for it was a burnt offring for a ſweete ſavour, which was made by fire unto the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

22 ¶ * After hee brought the other ramme, the ramme of conſecrations, and Aaron and his ſons layed their hands upon the head of the ramme,

23 Which Moſes [f] ſlewe, and tooke of the blood of it, and put it upon the lappe of Aarons right eare, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 Then Moſes brought Aarons ſonnes, and put of the blood on the lap of their right eares, and upon the thumbes of their right handes, and upon the great toes of their right feete, and Moſes ſprinkled the reſt of the blood upon the altar round about.

25 And he tooke the fatte and the rumpe, and all the fatte that was upon the inwardes, and the kall of the liver, and the two kidneis with their fat, and the right ſhoulder.

26 Alſo he tooke of the basket of the vnleavened bread, that was before the Lord, one unleavened cake, and a cake of oyled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right ſhoulder.

27 So he put * all in Aarons hands, and in his ſons hands, and ſhook it to & fro before the Lord.

28 After, Moſes took them out of their hands, and burnt them upon the altar for a burnt offring: for theſe were conſecrations for a ſweete ſavour, which were made by fire unto the Lord.

29 Likewiſe Moſes tooke the breaſt of the ramme of conſecrations, and ſhooke it to and fro before the Lord: for it was Moſes * portion as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

30 Alſo Moſes tooke of the anoynting oyle, and of the blood which was upon the Altar, and ſprinkled it upon Aaron, upon his garments, and upon his ſonnes, and on his ſonnes garments with him: ſo he ſanctified Aaron, his garments, and his ſonnes, and his ſonnes garments with him.

31 ¶ Afterward Moſes ſaid unto Aaron and his ſonnes, Seethe the fleſh at the doore of the [g] Tabernacle of the Congregation, and there * eate it with the bread that is in the basket of conſecrations, as I commanded, ſaying, Aaron and his ſonnes ſhall eate it.

2 * Then hee ſaide unto Aaron, Take thee a yong calfe for a [b] ſinne offring, and a ramme for a burnt offring, both without blemiſh, and bring them before the Lord.

3 And unto the children of Iſrael thou ſhalt ſpeake, ſaying, Take yee an hee goate for a ſinne offring, and a calfe, and a lambe, both of a yeere olde, without blemiſh for a burnt offring:

4 Alſo a bullocke, and a ramme for peace offrings, to offer before the Lord, and a meate offring mingled with oyle: for to day the Lord will appeare unto you.

5 ¶ Then they brought that which Moſes commaunded before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and all the aſſembly drew neere, and ſtoode before the [c] Lord.

6 (For Moſes had ſaide, This is the thing, which the Lord commanded that yee ſhould doe, and the glory of the Lord ſhall appeare unto you.)

7 Then Moſes ſaide unto Aaron, Draw neere to the Altar, and offer thy ſinne offring, and thy burnt offring, and make an atonement for [d] thee and for the people: offer alſo the offring of the people, and make an atonement for them, as the Lord hath commanded.

8 ¶ Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and killed the calfe of the ſinne offring, which was for himſelfe.

9 And the ſonnes of Aaron brought the blood unto him, and he dipt his finger in the blood, and put it upon the hornes of the Altar, and powred the reſt of the blood at the foot of the Altar.

10 But the fat and the kidneis, and the kall of the liver of the ſinne offring, he [e] burnt unto the Altar, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

11 The fleſh alſo and the hide he burnt with fire without the hoaſte.

12 After, he ſlewe the burnt offring, and Aarons ſonnes brought unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled round about the Altar.

13 Alſo they brought the burnt offring unto him with the pieces thereof, and the head, and hee burnt them upon the Altar.

14 Likewiſe he did waſh the inwards and the legs, and [f] burnt them upon the burnt offring on the Altar.

15 ¶ Then he offred the peoples offring, and tooke a goat, which was the ſinne offring for the people, & ſlew it: & offred it for ſinne, as the firſt:

16 So hee offred the burnt offring and prepared it, according to the maner.

17 He preſented alſo the meate offring, and filled his hand thereof, and * beſide the burnt ſacrifice of the morning, he burnt this upon the altar.

b I will punish them that serve me otherwise then I have commaunded, not sparing the chiefe, that the people may feare and praise my iudgements.

5 Then they went, and caried them in their coates out of the hoste, as Moses had commanded.

14 Also the * shaken breast and the heave shoulder shall ye eate in a ‖ cleane place: thou, and thy sonnes, and thy e daughters with thee: for they are given as thy ‖ duetie & thy sonnes duty, of the peace offrings of the children of Israel.

CHAP. XI.

1 Of beasts, fishes and birdes, which be cleane, and which be uncleane.

A Fter, the Lord spake to Moses and to Aaron, saying unto them,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say, * These are the beastes which yee a shall eate, among all the beastes that are on the earth.

* Gen. 7,2. Deut. 14,1. Act. 10,14.
a Or, whereof ye may eate.

3 Whatsoever parteth the b hoofe, and is cloven footed, and cheweth the cud, among the beastes, that shall ye eate:

b He noteth foure sortes of beastes, some chew the cud only, and some have only the foote cleft: others neither chew the cud, nor have the hoofe cleft: the fourth both chew the cud and have the hoofe divided which may be eaten.

4 But of them that chewe the cud, or divide the hoofe onely, of them ye shall not eate: as the camell, because he cheweth the cud, and divideth not the hoofe, he shall be uncleane unto you.

5 Likewise the conie because he cheweth the cud, and divideth not the hoofe, hee shall be uncleane to you.

6 Also the hare, because he cheweth the cud, and divideth not the hoofe, he shalbe uncleane to you.

7 * And the swine, because hee parteth the hoofe and is cloven footed, but cheweth not the cud, he shalbe uncleane to you.

* 2 Mac. 6,18.

8 Of their c flesh shall ye not eate, and their carkiese shall ye not touch: for they shall be uncleane to you.

c God would that hereby for a time they should be discerned as his people from the Gentils.

9 ¶ These shall ye eate, of all that are in the waters: whatsoever hath finnes and skales in the waters in the seas, or in the rivers, them shall ye eate.

10 But all that haue not finnes nor skales in the seas, or in the rivers, of all that d mooveth in the waters, and of all e living things that are in the waters, they shalbe an abomination unto you,

d As little fish ingendered of the slime.
e As they which come of generation.

11 They, I say, shalbe an abomination to you:

ye

ye shall not eate of their flesh, but shall abhorre their carkeis.

12 Whatsoever hath not finnes nor scales in the waters, that shalbe abomination unto you.

13 ¶ These shall ye have also in abomination among the foules, they shall not be eaten, for they are an abomination, the eagle, and the ‖ gothauke, and the osprey:

‖ Or, gryphin, as it is in the greeke.

14 Also the vultur, and the kite after his kind,

15 Also the ravens after their kind.

16 The ostrich also, and the night-crow, and the ‖ seameaw and the hawke after his kind:

‖ Or, cuckow.

17 The little owle also, and the cormorant, and the great owle:

18 Also the ‖ redshanke, and the pelicane, and the twan:

‖ Or, porphyrio.

19 The storke also, the heron after his kind, and the lapwing and the backe:

20 Also every foule that creepeth and goeth upon all foure, such shall be an abomination unto you.

21 Yet these shall ye eate: of every foule that creepeth, and goeth upon all foure which ‖ haue their feet and legs all of one to leape withall upon the earth.

‖ Or, haue no bowings on their feet.

22 Of them ye shall eate these, the grashopper after his kind, and the e solean after his kind, the hargol after his kind, and the hagab after his kind.

e These were certaine kindes of grashopp s which are not now properly knowen.

23 But all other foules that creepe and have foure feet, they shallbe abomination vnto you.

24 For by such ye shall be polluted: whosoever toucheth the carkeis, shalbe vncleane unto the evening.

25 Whosoever also f beareth of their carkeis, shall wash his cloathes, & be vncleane vntill even.

f Out of the campe.

26 Every beast that hath clawes divided, and is ‖ not cloven footed, nor cheweth the cud, such shall be vncleane unto you: every one that toucheth them, shall be vncleane.

‖ Or, hath not his feet cloven in two.

27 And whatsoever goeth upon his pawes among all manner beasts that goeth on all foure, such shalbe uncleane unto you: who so doth touch their carkeis, shall be uncleane vntill the even.

28 And hee that beareth their carkeis, shall wash his cloathes, and be uncleane untill the even: for such shall be uncleane unto you.

29 ¶ Also these shall be uncleane to you among the things that creepe and moove upon the earth, the weasell, and the mouse, and the h ‖ frog, after his kind:

h The greene frog that sitteth on the bushes.

‖ Or, crocodile.

30 Also the rat, and the lizard, and the chameleon, and the stellio, and the molle.

31 These shall be vncleane to you among all that creepe: whosoever doeth touch them when they be dead, shall be uncleane untill the even.

32 Also whatsoever any of the dead carkeises of them doth fall vpon, shall be uncleane, whether it be vessell of wood, or raymente, or i skinne, or sack: whatsoever vessell it be that is occupied, it shalbe put in the water as uncleane untill the even, and so k purified.

i As a bottle or bagge.

33 But every earthen vessell, wherein any of them falleth, whatsoever is within it shall be uncleane, and * ye shall breake it.

* Chap. 6. 28.

34 All meate also that shall be eaten, if any such water come vpon it, shall be uncleane: and all drinke that shall be drunke in all such vessels shall be uncleane.

35 And every thing that their carkeis fall upon, shall be uncleane: the fornace or the pot shall be broken: for they are uncleane, and shall be uncleane unto you.

36 Yet the fountaines and welles where there is plentie of water shall be cleane: but that which k toucheth their carkeises, shall be uncleane.

k So much of the water as toucheth it.

37 And if there fall of the dead carkeis vpon any seed, which useth to be sowen, it shall be uncleane.

38 But if any l water be powred vpon the seed, and there fall of the dead carkeis thereon, it shall be uncleane vnto you.

l He speaketh of seede that is laide to steepe before it be sowen.

39 If also any beast, whereof ye may eat, die, he that toucheth the carkeis thereof, shall be uncleane untill the even.

40 And he that eateth of the carkeis of it, shall wash his cloathes, and be vncleane vntill the even: he also that beareth the carkeis of it, shall wash his cloathes, and be vncleane vntill the even.

41 Every creeping thing therefore that creepeth upon the earth, shall be an abomination, and not be eaten.

42 Whatsoever goeth upon the breast, and whatsoever goeth vpon all foure, or that hath many feet among all creeping things that creepe upon the earth, ye shall not eat of them, for they shall be abomination.

43 Ye shall not pollute your selves with any thing that creepeth, neither make your selves uncleane with them, neither defile your selves thereby: ye shall not, I say, be defiled by them.

44 For I am the Lord your God: be sanctified therefore, and be m holy, for I am holy, and defile not your selves with any creeping thing that creepeth vpon the earth.

m He sheweth why God did chuse them to be his people, 1. Pet. 1. 15.

45 For I am the Lord that brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God, and that you should be holy, for I am holy.

46 This is the law of beasts, and of foules, and of every living thing that moveth in the waters, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth:

47 That there may be a difference betweene the vncleane and cleane, and betweene the beast that may be eaten, and the beast that ought not to be eaten.

CHAP. XII.

1 A law how women shuld be purged after their deliverance.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say, When a woman hath brought fourth seede, and borne a man-childe, the shall be vncleane a seven dayes, like as she is vncleane when she is put apart for her ‖ * diseate.

a So that her husband for that time could not resort to her.

* Chap. 15. 19.

3 (* And in the eighth day the foreskin of the childes flesh shall be circumcised.)

* Luke 1. 21. John 7. 22.

4 And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying three b and thirtie dayes: she shall touch no c hallowed thing, nor come into the d Sanctuary, untill the time of her purifying be out.

b Besides the first seven dayes.

c As sacrifice, or such like.

d That is into the court-gates till after fourtie dayes.

5 But if she beare a maid-childe, then she shall be vncleane two e weekes, as when she hath her diseate: and she shall continue in the blood of her purifying threescore and six dayes.

e Twise so long as if she bare a man-childe.

6 Now when the dayes of her purifying are out (whether it be for a sonne or for a daughter) she shall bring to the Priest a lambe of one yeare olde for a burnt-offering, and a yong pigeon or a turtle dove for a sinne-offering, vnto the doore of the f Tabernacle of the Congregation.

f Where the burnt offerings were wont to be offered.

7 Who shall offer it before the Lord, and make an atonement for her: so she shall be purged of the issue of her blood: this is the lawe for her that hath borne a male or female.

† Ebr. if her hand find not the worth of a lambe.
* Luke 2. 24.

8 But if she ‖ be not able to bring a lambe, she shall bring two * turtles, or two young pigeons: the one for a burnt offering: and the other for a sinne offering: and the Priest shall make an atonement for her: so she shall be cleane.

CHAP. XIII.

2 What considerations the Priestes ought to haue in iudging the leprosie. 29 the blacke spot, or scab. 47 and the leprie of the garment.

MOreouer the Lord spake vnto Moses and to Aaron, saying,

2 The man that shall haue in the skin of his flesh a swelling, or a scab, or a white spot, so that in the skinne of his flesh a it be like the plague of leprosie, then he shall be brought vnto Aaron the Priest, or vnto one of his sonnes the Priests,

a That it may be suspected to be the lepric.

3 And the Priest shall looke on the sore in the skin of his flesh: if the haire in the sore be turned into white, and the sore seeme to be b lower then the skinne of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosie: therefore the Priest shall looke on him, and ‖ pronounce him vncleane.

b That is, shrunke in and be lower then the rest of the skinne.
‖ Ebr. shall pollute him.

4 But if the white spot be in the skinne of his flesh, and seeme not to be lower then the skinne, nor the haire thereof be turned into white, then the Priest shall shut vp him that hath the plague, seuen dayes.

† Ebr. in his eyes.

5 After, the Priest shall looke vpon him the seuenth day: and if the plague seeme ‖ to him to abide still, and the plague grow not in the skin, the Priest shall shut him vp yet seuen dayes more.

6 Then the Priest shall looke on him againe the seuenth day, and if the plague c be darke, and the sore grow not in the skin, then the priest shall * pronounce him cleane for it is a scab: therefore he shall wash his cloathes, and be cleane.

c As hauing the skin drawen together or blackish.
* Ebr. shall cleanse him.

7 But if the scab grow more in the skin, after that he is seene of the priest for to be purged, hee shall be seene of the priest yet againe.

‖ Or, be spread abroad.

8 Then the priest shall consider, and if the scab ‖ grow in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him d vncleane: for it is leprosie.

d As touching his bodily disease: his disease was not imputed to him for sinne before God, though it were the punishment of sinne.

9 * When the plague of leprosie is in a man, he shall be brought vnto the priest,

10 And the priest shall see him: and if the swelling be white in the skin, and haue made the haire white, and there be raw flesh in the swelling,

11 It is an old leprosie in the skin of his flesh, and the priest shall pronounce him vncleane, and shall not shut him vp, for he is vncleane.

‖ Or, bud.

12 Also if the leprosie ‖ breake out in the skin, and the leprosie couer all the skin of the plague, from his head euen to his feete, whereseeuer the priest looketh,

13 Then the priest shall consider: and if the leprosie couer all his flesh, he shall pronounce the plague to be e cleane, because it is all turned into whitnesse: so he shall be cleane.

e For it is not that contagious leprie that infecteth, but a kinde of scurfe, which hath not the flesh raw as the leprosie.

14 But if there be raw flesh on him when he is seene, she shall be vncleane.

15 For the priest shall see the raw flesh, and declare him to be vncleane: for the raw flesh is f vncleane, therefore it is the leprosie.

f That is, declareth that the flesh is not sound but is in danger to be leprous.

16 Or if the raw flesh change and be turned into white, then he shall come to the priest,

17 And the priest shall behold him: and if the sore be changed into white, then the priest shall pronounce the plague cleane, for it is cleane.

‖ Or, impudent.

18 ¶ The flesh also in whose skin there is ‖ a bile, and is healed,

19 And in the place of de bile there be a white swelling, or a white spot somwhat reddish, it shall be seene of the priest,

20 And when the Priest seeth it, if it appeare lower then the skinne, and the haire thereof be changed into white, the Priest then shall pronounce him g vncleane: for it is a plague of leprosie, broken out in the bile.

g None were exempted, but if the Priest pronounced him vncleane, he was put out from among the people: as appeareth by Marv the prophetesse Num. 12. 14. and by king Vzziah. 2. Giron. 26, 20.

21 But if the Priest looke on it, and there be no white haires therein, and if it be not lower then the skin, but be darker, then the Priest shall shut him vp seuen dayes.

22 And if it spred abroad in the flesh, the priest shall pronounce him vncleane: for it is a sore.

23 But if the spot continue in his place, and grow not, it is a burning bile: therefore the Priest shall declare him to be vncleane.

24 ¶ If there be any flesh, whose skin there is an hote burning, and the quicke flesh of the burning haue a h white spot, somewhat reddish or pale.

h If he have a white spot in the place where the burning was, and was after healed.

25 Then the Priest shall looke vpon it: and if the haire in that spot be changed into white, and it appeare lower then the skin, it is a leprosie broken out in the burning: therefore the Priest shall pronounce him vncleane: for it is the plague of leprosie.

26 But if the Priest looke on it, and there be no white haire in the spot, and be no lower then the other skin, but be darker, then the Priest shall shut him vp seuen dayes.

27 After, the Priest shall looke on him the seuenth day: if it be growen abroad in the skinne, then the priest shall pronounce him vncleane: for it is the plague of leprosie.

28 And if the spot abide in his place, not growing in the skin, but is darke, it is a ‖ rising of the burning: the priest shall therefore declare him cleane: for it is the drying vp of the burning.

‖ Or, swelling.

29 ¶ If also a man or a woman hath a sore on the head or in the beard.

30 Then the priest shall see the sore: and if it appeare lower then the skin, and there be in it a small yellow i haire, then the priest shall pronounce him vncleane: for it is a blacke spot, and leprosie of the head or of the beard.

i Which was not wont to be there, or els smaller then in any other part of the body.

31 And if the priest looke on the sore of the blacke spot, and if it seeme not lower then the skinne, nor haue any blacke haire in it, then the priest shall shut up him that hath the sore of the blacke spot, seuen dayes.

32 After, in the seuenth day the priest shall looke on the sore: and if the blacke spot grow not, and there be in it no yellow haire, and the blacke spot seeme not lower then the skin,

33 Then hee shall be shauen, but the place of the blacke spot shall be not shaue: but the priest shall shut up him that hath blacke spot, seuen dayes more.

34 And the seuenth day the priest shall looke on the blacke spot: and if the blacke spot grow not in the skinne, nor seeme lower then the other skin, then the priest shall cleanse him, and he shall wash his cloathes, and be cleane.

35 But if the blacke spot grow abroad in the flesh after his cleansing,

36 Then the priest shall looke on it, and if the blacke spot grow in the skin, the priest shall not k seeke for the yellow haire: for it is vncleane.

k He shall not care whether the yellow haire be there or no.

37 But if the black spot seeme to him to abide, and that blacke haire grow therein, the blacke spot

spot is healed, he is cleane, and the priest shall declare him to be cleane.

38 ¶ Furthermore if there be any white spots in the skinne of the flesh of man or woman,

39 Then the priest shall consider: and if the spots in the skin of their flesh be somewhat darke and white withall, it is but a white spot broken out in the skinne: therefore he is cleane.

40 And the man whose haire is fallen off his head, and is balde, is cleane.

41 And if his head lose the l haire on the forepart, and be balde before, he is cleane.

l By sicknesse, or any other inconvenience.

42 But if there be in the balde head, or in the balde forehead a white reddish sore, it is a leprosie springing in his bald head, or in his balde forehead.

43 Therefore the priest shall looke upon it, and if the rising of the sore be white reddish in his balde head, or in his balde forehead, appearing like leprosie in the skinne of the flesh,

44 He is a leper and uncleane: therefore the priest shall pronounce him together uncleane: for the sore is in his head.

45 The leper also in whom the plague is, shall haue his cloathes m rent, and his head bare, and shall put a covering upon his n lips, and shall cry, I am uncleane, I am uncleane.

m In signe of sorrow and lamentation.

n Either in token of mourning, or for feare of infecting others.

46 As long as the disease shall be upon him, he shall be polluted, for he is uncleane: he shall dwell alone, * without the campe shall his habitation be.

* Numb. 5.2. 2.King. 15.5.

47 ¶ Also the garment that the plague of leprosie is in, whether it be a woollen garement or a linnen garment,

48 Whether it be in the warp or in the woofe of linnen or of woollen, either in a skinne, or in any thing made of skinne,

49 And if the sore be greene or somewhat reddish in the garment or in the skinne, either in the warp, or in the woofe, or in any thing of skinne, it is a plague of leprosie, and shall be shewed unto the priest.

o Whether it be garment, vessell, or instrument.

50 Then the priest shall see the plague, and shut up it that hath the plague, seuen dayes,

51 And shall looke on the plague the seuenth day: if the plague grow in the garment or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in the skinne, or in any thing that is made of skinne, that plague is a fretting leprosie and vncleane.

52 And he shall burne the garment, or the warpe, or the woofe, whether it be wollen or linnen, or any thing that is made of skinne, wherein the plague is: for it is a fretting leprosie, therefore it shall be burnt in the fire.

p But abide still in one place: as verse 57.

53 If the priest yet see that the plague p grow not in the garment, or in the woofe, or in whatsoever thing of skinne it be,

54 Then the priest shall commaund them to wash the thing wherein the plague is, and he shall shut it vp seven dayes more.

q But remaine as it did before.

55 Againe the Priest shall looke on the plague, after it is washed: and if the plague have not changed his q colour, though the plague spread no further, it is uncleane: thou shalt burne it in the fire, for it is fret inward, r whether the spot be in the bare place of the whole, or in part thereof.

r Or, whether it be in any bare place before, or behinde.

56 And if the Priest see that the plague be darker, after that it is washed, he shall cut it out of the garment, or out of the skinne, or out of the warpe, or out of the woofe.

57 And if it appeare still in the garment or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in any thing made of skin, it is a spreading leprie: thou shalt burne the thing wherein the plague is, in the fire.

58 If thou haste washed the garment, or the warpe, or the woofe, or whatsoever thing of skinne it be, if the plague be departed therefrom, then shall it be washed f the second time, and be cleane.

f To the intent he might be sure that the leprosie was departed, and that all occasion of infection might be taken away.

59 This is the law of the plague of leprosie in a garment of woollen or linnen, or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in any thing of skinne, to make it cleane or uncleane.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The cleansing of the leper. 34 And of the house that he is in.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 * This is the a law of the leper in the day of his cleansing: that is, he shalbe brought unto the Priest.

* Matth. 8.2. marke 1.40. luke 5.12.

a Or, the ceremonie which shall be used in his purgation.

3 And the priest shall goe out of the campe, and the priest shall consider him: and if the plague of leprosie be healed in the leper,

4 Then shall the priest command to take for him that is cleansed, two ‖ sparrowes aliue and b cleane, and cedar-wood and a skarlet lace, and hyssope.

‖ Or, little birds. b Of birds which were permitted to be eaten.

5 And the priest shall command to kill one of the birds over c pure water in an earthen vessell.

c Running water, or of the fountaines.

6 After, he shall take the liue sparrow with the cedar-wood, and the skarlet lace, and the hyssope, and shall dip them and the liuing sparrow in the blood of the sparrow slaine, over the pure water.

7 And he shall sprinkle upon him, that must be cleansed of the leprosie, seuen times, and cleanse him, and shall d let goe the liue sparrow into the broad field.

d Signifying, that he that was made cleane, was set at liberty, and restored to the company of others.

8 Then he that shall be cleansed, shall wash his cloathes, and shaue off all his haire, and wash himselfe in water, to he shall be cleane: after that shall he come into the hoast, and shall tary without his tent seuen dayes.

9 So in the seventh day he shall shaue off all his haire both his head and his beard, and his eye browes: euen all his haire shall be shaue, and shall wash his cloathes, and shall wash his flesh in water: so he shall be cleane,

10 Then in the eight day he shall take two hee lambes without e blemish, and an ewe lambe of a yeare old without blemish, and three tenth deales of fine flowre for a meate-offering, mingled with oyle, and a pinte of oyle.

e Which hath no imperfection in any member.

f This measure in Ebrew, is called Log, and conteined fixe egges in measure.

11 And the priest that maketh him cleane shall bring the man which is to be made cleane, and those things, before the Lord, at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

12 Then the priest shall take one lambe, and offer him for a trespasse-offering, and the pinte of oyle, and * shake them to and fro before the Lord.

* ¶ Exod. 29.24.

13 And he shall kill the lambe in the place where the sinne-offering and the burnt-offering are slaine, euen in the holy place: for as the * sinne-offering is the priests, so is the trespasse-offering: for it is most holy.

* Chap. 7.17.

14 So the priest shall take of the blood of the trespasse-offering, and put it upon the lappe of the right eare of him that shall be cleansed, and upon the thumbe of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his foote.

15 The priest shall also take of the pint of oyle, and powre it into the palme of his left hand.

16 And the Prieſt ſhall dip his † right finger in the oyle that is in his left hand, and ſprinkle of the oyle with his finger ſeuen times before the Lord.

17 And of the reſt of the oyle that is in his hand, ſhall the Prieſt put vpon the lap of the right eare of him that is to be cleanſed, and vpon the thumbe of his right hand, and vpon the great toe of his right foote. † where the blood of the treſpaſſe offering vvas put.

18 But the remnant of the oyle that is in the Prieſts hand, he ſhall powre vpon the head of him that is to be cleanſed: ſo the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord.

19 And the Prieſt ſhall offer the burnt offering, and make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed of his vncleanneſſe: then after ſhall hee kill the burnt offering.

20 So the Prieſt ſhall offer the burnt offering and the meate offering vpon the Altar: and the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him: ſo hee ſhall be cleane.

21 But if he be poore, and not ‖ able, then he ſhall bring one l mbe for a treſpaſſe offering to be ſh ken, for his reconciliation, and a g tenth deale of fine flowre mi gled with oyle, for a meate offring, with a pinte of oyle.

22 Alſo two turtle doues, or two young pigeons, as he is able, whereof the one ſhall be a ſinne offering, and the other a burnt offering.

23 And he ſhall bring them the eight day for his cleanſing vnto the Prieſt at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord.

24 Then the Prieſt ſhall take the lambe of the treſpaſſe off ring, and the pinte of oyle, and the Prieſt ſhall h ſhake them to and fro before the Lord.

25 And hee ſhall kill the lambe of the treſpaſſe offering, and the Prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the treſpaſſe offering, and put it vpon the lap of his right eare that is to be cleanſed, and vpon the thumb of his right hand, and vpon the great toe of his right foote.

26 Alſo the Prieſt ſhall powre of the oyle into the palme of his owne ‖ left hand.

27 So the Prieſt ſhall with his right finger ſprinkle of the oyle that is in his left hand, ſeuen times before the Lord.

28 Then the Prieſt ſhall put of the oyle that is in his hand, vpon the lap of the right eare of him that is to be cleanſed, and vpon the thumb of his right hand, and vpon the great toe of his right foote: vpon the place ‖ of the blood of the treſpaſſe offering.

29 But the reſt of the oyle that is in the Prieſts hand, he ſhall put vpon the head of him that is to be cleanſed, to make an atonement for him before the Lord.

30 Alſo hee ſhall preſent one of the turtle doues, or of the yong pigeons, i as he is able.

31 Such, I ſay, as he is able, the one for a ſinne offering, and the other for a burnt offering, ‖ with the meate offering: ſo the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed before the Lord.

32 This is the k Law of him which hath the plague of leproſie, who is not able in his cleanſing to offer the vvhole.

33 ¶ The Lord alſo ſpake vnto Moſes and to Aaron, ſaying,

34 When ye be come vnto the land of Canaan which I giue you in poſſeſſion, if I ſend the plague of leproſie in an houſe of the land of your poſſeſſion,

35 Then he that oweth the houſe ſhall come and tell the Prieſt, ſaying, Me thinke there is like a plague of leproſie in the houſe.

36 Then the Prieſt ſhall command them to emptie the houſe before the Prieſt goe into it to ſee the plague, that all that is in the houſe be not made vncleane, and then ſhall the Prieſt goe in to ſee the houſe.

37 And he ſhall marke the plague: and if the plague be in the wals of the houſe, and that there be ‖ deepe ſpots, greeniſh or reddiſh, which ſeeme to be lower then the wall,

38 Then the Prieſt ſhall goe out of the houſe to the doore of the houſe, and ſhall cauſe to ſhut vp the houſe ſeuen dayes.

39 So the Prieſt ſhall come againe the ſeuenth day: and if he ſee that the plague be increaſed in the walles of the houſe, 40 Then the Prieſt ſhall commaund them to take away the ſtones wherein the plague is, and they ſhall caſt them into a ‖ foule place without the citie.

41 Alſo hee ſhall cauſe to ſcrape the houſe within round about, and powre the duſt, that they haue pared off, without the city in m an vncleane place.

42 And they ſhall take other ſtones, and put them in the places of thoſe ſtones, and ſhall take other morter, to plaiſter the houſe with.

43 But if the plague come againe and breake out in the houſe, after that hee hath taken away the ſtones, and after that hee hath ſcraped and plaiſtered the houſe,

44 Then the prieſt ſhall come and ſee: and if the plague grow in the houſe, it is a freating leproſie in the houſe: it is therefore vncleane.

45 And hee ſhall n breake downe the houſe with the ſtones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the ‖ mortar of the houſe, and hee ſhall carie them out of the citie vnto an vncleane place.

46 Moreouer he that goeth into the houſe all the while that it is ſhut vp, hee ſhall be vncleane vntill the even.

47 He alſo that ſleepeth in the houſe ſhall waſh his cloathes: hee likewiſe that eateth in the houſe, ſhall waſh his cloathes.

48 But if the prieſt ſhall come and ſee, that the plague hath ſpread no further in the houſe, after the houſe be plaiſtered, the prieſt ſhall pronounce the houſe cleane, for the plague is healed.

49 Then ſhall he take to purifie the houſe, two ſparrowes, and cedar wood, and o skarlet lace, and hyſſop,

50 And hee ſhall kill one ſparrow over pure water in an earthen veſſell.

51 And ſhall take the cedar wood, and the hyſſope, and the ſkarlet lace with the liue Sparrow, and dip them in the blood of the ſlaine Sparrow, and in the pure water, and ſprinkle the houſe ſeuen times:

52 So ſhall he cleanſe the houſe with the blood of the ſparrow, and with the pure water, and with the liue ſparrow, and with the cedar wood, and with the hyſſope, and with the skarlet lace.

53 Afterward he ſhall let goe the liue ſparrow out of the ‖ towne into the ‖ broad fieldes: ſo ſhall hee make atonement for the houſe, and it ſhall be cleane.

CHAP. XV.

6, 19 The manner of purging the uncleane issues both of men and women. 31 The children of Israel must be separate from all uncleanesse.

MOreover the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, Whosoever hath an issue from his a flesh, is uncleane, because of his issue.

a Whose seede either in sleeping, or else of weaknes of nature issueth at his secret part.

3 And this shallbe his uncleanesse in his issue, when his flesh avoideth his issue, or if his flesh be stopped from his issue, this is b his uncleanesse.

b Of the thing wherefore he shall be uncleane.

4 Every bed whereon he lyeth that hath the issue, shallbe uncleane, and every thing whereon he sitteth, shallbe uncleane.

5 Whosoever also toucheth his bed, shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shall be uncleane untill the even.

6 And he that sitteth on any thing, whereon he sate that hath the issue, shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shall be uncleane untill the even.

7 Also he that toucheth the flesh of him that hath the issue, shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shallbe uncleane untill the even.

8 If he also that hath the issue, spit upon him that is cleane, c he shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shall be uncleane untill the even.

c Of whom the uncleane man did spit.

9 And what d saddle soever he rideth upon, that hath the issue, shallbe uncleane, d The word signifieth every thing whereon a man rideth.

10 And whosoever toucheth any thing that was under him, shall be uncleane untill the even: and he that beareth those things, shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shallbe uncleane untill the even.

11 Likewise whomsoever he toucheth that hath the issue (and hath not washed his hands in water) shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shallbe uncleane untill the even.

12 * And the vessell of earth that he toucheth, which hath the issue, shall be broken: and every vessell of wood shall be rinsed in water.

* Chap.6.28.

13 But if he that hath an issue, be e cleansed of his issue, then shall he count him seven dayes for his cleansing, and wash his cloathes, and wash his flesh in pure water: so shall he be cleane.

e That is, be restored to his old state, and be healed thereof.

14 Then the eighth day he shall take unto him two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and come before the Lord at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and shall give them unto the Priest,

15 And the Priest shall make of the one of them a sinne-offering, and of the other a burnt-offering: so the Priest shall make an atonement for him before the Lord for his issue.

16 Also if any mans issue of seed depart from him, he shall wash all his f flesh in water, and be uncleane untill the even.

f Meaning, all his body.

17 And every garment, and every skin whereupon shall be issue of seed, shall be even washed with water, and be uncleane unto the even.

18 If he that hath an issue of seed doe lie with a woman, they shall both wash themselves with water, and be uncleane untill the even.

19 ¶ Also when a woman shall have an issue, and her issue in her ‖ flesh shallbe blood, she shallbe put apart seven dayes: and whosoever toucheth her, shallbe uncleane untill the even.

‖ Or, secret part.

20 And whatsoever she lieth upon in g her separation, shallbe uncleane, and every thing that she sitteth upon, shallbe uncleane.

g That is, when shee hath her floures, whereby she is separate from her husband, from the Tabernacle and from touching of any holy thing.

21 Whosoever also toucheth her bed, shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe with water, and shallbe uncleane unto the even.

22 And whosoever toucheth any thing that she sate upon, shall wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and shallbe uncleane untill the even:

23 So that whether he toucheth her bed, or any thing whereon she hath sit, he shallbe uncleane unto the even.

24 And if a man lie with her, and the flowers of her separation h touch him, he shallbe uncleane seven dayes, and all the whole bed whereon he lieth, shallbe uncleane.

h If any of her uncleanesse did onely touch him in the bed: for els the man that companied with such a woman, should die. Chap 20.8.

25 Also when a womans issue of blood runneth long time besides the time of her † floures, or when she hath an issue longer then her floures, all the dayes of the issue of her uncleanesse she shall be uncleane, as in the time of her floures.

† Ebr. separation.

26 Every bed whereon she lieth (as long as her issue lasteth) shallbe to her as the i bed of her separation: and whatsoever she sitteth upon, shall be uncleane, as her uncleannes when she is put apart.

i Shallbe uncleane as the bed whereon she lay when she had her naturall disease.

27 And whosoever toucheth these things, shall be unclean, & shall wash his clothes, and wash himselfe in water, and shallbe uncleane unto the even.

28 But if she be cleansed of her issue, then she shall k count her seven dayes, and after, she shallbe cleane.

k After the time that she is recovered.

29 And in the eighth day shee shall take unto her two turtles, or two young pigeons, and bring them unto the Priest at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

30 And the Priest shall make of the one a sinne-offring, and of the other a burnt-offring, and the Priest shall make an atonement for her before the Lord, for the issue of her uncleanesse.

31 Thus shall ye l separate the children of Israel from their uncleanesse, that they die not in their uncleanesse, if they defile my Tabernacle that is among them.

l Seeing that God required of his purity and cleanes: we cannot be His, except our filth and sinnes be purged with the blood of Iesus Christ, and so we learne to detest all sinne.

32 This is the law of him that hath an issue, and of him from whom goeth an issue of seede whereby he is defiled.

33 Also of her that is sicke of her floures, and of him that hath a running issue, whether it be man or woman, and of him that lieth with her which is uncleane.

FUrthermore the Lord spake unto * Moses, after the death of the two sonnes of Aaron, when they came to offer before the Lord, and died:

* Chap.10.1,2.

2 And the Lord said unto Moses, Speake unto Aaron thy brother, * that he come not at a all times into the holy place within the vaile, before the Mercie-seat, which is upon the Arke, that he die not, for I will appeare in the cloud upon the Mercie-seat.

* Exod.30.10. Heb.9.7.

a The hie Priest entred into the Holiest of all, but once a yeare even in the moneth of September.

3 After this ſort ſhall Aaron come into the Holy place: even with a young bullocke for a ſinne-offering, and a ramme for a burnt-offering.

4 He ſhall put on the holy linnen coat, and ſhall have linnen bretches upon his ‖ fleſh, and ſhall be girded with a linnen girdle, and ſhall cover his head with a linnen miter, theſe are the holy garments: therefore ſhall he waſh his fleſh in water, when he doth put them on.

‖ Or, privities.

5 And he ſhall take of the Congregation of the children of Iſrael, two hee-goates for a ſinne-offring, and a ramme for a burnt-offring.

6 Then Aaron ſhall offer the bullocke for his ſinne-offring, * and make an atonement for himſelfe, and for his houſe.

* Hebr.9.7.

7 And hee ſhall take the two hee-goates, and preſent them before the Lord at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

8 Then Aaron ſhall caſt lots over the two hee-goats: one lot for the Lord, and the other for the b Scape-goate.

b In Ebrew it is called Azazel, which ſome ſay, is a mountaine neare Sinai, whither this goat was ſent, but rather it is called the Scape-goate, becauſe it was not offred, but ſent into the deſert, as verſe 22.

9 And Aaron ſhall offer the goat, upon which the Lords lot ſhall fall, and make him a ſin-offring.

10 But the goat, on which the lot ſhall fall to be the Scape-goate, ſhallbe preſented alive before the Lord, to make reconciliation by him, and to let him goe (as a Scape-goate) into the wilderneſſe.

11 Thus Aaron ſhall offer the bullocke for his ſinne-offring, and make a reconciliation for himſelfe, and for his houſe, and ſhall kill the bullocke for his ſinne-offring.

12 And hee ſhall take a cenſer full of burning coles from off the altar before the Lord, and his hand full of ſweet incenſe beaten ſmall, and bring it with in the c vaile, c The Holieſt of all.

13 And ſhall put the incenſe upon the fire before the Lord, that the ‖ cloud of the incenſe may cover the Mercie-ſeat that is upon ‖ the Teſtimonie: ſo he ſhall not die.

‖ Or, the ſmoake.
‖ Or, the Arke.

14 And hee ſhall * take of the blood of the bullocke, * and ſprinkle it with his finger upon the Mercie-ſeat d Eaſtward: and before the Mercie-ſeat ſhall hee ſprinkle of the blood with his finger ſeven times.

* Heb.9.13. and 10.4.
* Chap.1.6.
d That is, on the ſide which was toward the people: for the head of the Sanctuary ſtood Weſtward.

15 ¶ Then ſhall he kill the goate that is the peoples ſinne-offring, and bring his blood within the vaile and doe with that blood, as he did with the blood of the bullocke, and ſprinkle it upon the Mercie-ſeat, and before the Mercie-ſeat.

16 So he ſhall purge the Holy place from the uncleannes of the children of Iſrael, and from their treſpaſſes of all their ſinnes: ſo ſhall he doe alſo for the Tabernacle of the Congregation e placed with them, in the middeſt of their uncleanneſſe.

e Placed amoog them which are uncleane.

17 * And there ſhall be no man in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the Holy place, untill hee come out, and have made an atonement for himſelfe, and for his houſhold, and for all the Congregation of Iſrael.

* Luke 1.10.

18 After, he ſhall goe out unto the f altar that is before the Lord, and make a reconciliation upon it, and ſhall take of the blood of the bullocke, and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the hornes of the Altar round about.

f Whereupon the ſweete incenſe and parfume was offered.

19 So ſhall hee ſprinkle of the blood upon it within his finger ſeven times, and cleanſe it, and hallow it from the uncleanneſſe of the children of Iſrael.

20 ¶ When he hath made an end of purging the Holy place, and the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the Altar, then he ſhall bring the live goat:

21 And Aaron ſhall put both his hands upon the head of the live goate, and confeſſe over him all the iniquities of the children of Iſrael, and all their treſpaſſes in all their ſinnes, putting them g upon the head of the goate, and ſhall ſend him away (by the hand of a man appointed) into the wilderneſſe.

g Herein this goat is a true figure of Ieſus Chriſt, who beareth the ſinnes of the people, Iſa. 53.9.

22 So the goat ſhall beare upon him all their iniquities into † the land that is not inhabited, and he ſhall let the goat goe into the wildernes.

† Ebr. the land of ſeparations.

23 After, Aaron ſhall come into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and put off the linnen cloathes, which he put on when he went into the Holy place, and leave them there.

24 He ſhall waſh alſo his fleſh with water in h the holy place, and put on his owne raiment, and come out, and make his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people, and make an atonement for himſelfe, and for the people.

h In the court where was the Laver, Exod.30.18.

25 Alſo the fat of the ſinne offering ſhall hee burne upon the altar,

26 And he that caried foorth the goate called the Scape-goate, ſhall waſh his cloathes, and waſh his fleſh in water, and after that ſhall come into the hoaſt.

27 Alſo the bullocke for the burnt offring, and the goate for the ſinne offring (whoſe blood was brought to make a reconciliation in the Holy place) ſhall one * cary out without the hoaſte to be burnt in the fire, with their ſkinnes, and with their fleſh, and with their doung.

30 For that † day ſhall the Prieſt make an atonement for you to cleanſe you: ye ſhallbe cleane from all your ſinnes before the Lord.

4 And bringeth it not unto the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation to offer an offring unto the Lord before the Tabernacle of the Lord, c blood shallbe imputed unto that man: he hath shed blood, wherefore that man shall be cut off from among his people.

c I do asmuch abhorre it as though he had killed a man, as Isa.66,3.

5 Therefore the children of Israel shall bring their offrings, which they would offer d abroad in the field, and present them unto the Lord at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation by the Priest, and offer them for peace-offerings unto the Lord.

d Whersoever they were mooved with foolish devotion to offer it.

6 Then the Priest shall sprinkle the blood upon the Altar of the Lord before the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and burne the fat for a * sweet savour unto the Lord.

* Exod.29,18. chap.4,31.

7 And they shall no more offer their offrings unto e devils, after whom they have gone a f whoring: this shallbe an ordinance for ever unto them in their generations.

e Meaning, whatsoever is not the true God, 1.Cor. 10.20. psal.95.5.

f For idolatry is spirituall whoredome, because faith toward God is broken.

8 ¶ Also thou shalt say unto them, Whosoever he be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers which sojourne among them, that offereth a burnt-offering or sacrifice,

9 And bringeth it not unto the doore of the Tabernacle of ỹ Congregation to offer it unto the Lord, even that man shalbe cut off from his people.

10 ¶ Likewise whosoever he be of the house of Israel: or of the strangers that sojourne among them, that eateth any blood, I will even set g my face against that person that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people.

g I will declare my wrath by taking vengeance on him, as chap. 20,3.

11 For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it unto you to offer upon the altar, to make an atonement for your soules: for this blood shall make an atonement for the soule.

12 Therefore I said unto the children of Israel, None of you shall eate blood: neither the stranger that sojourneth among you, shall eate blood.

13 Moreover whosoever he be of the children of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourne among them, which by hunting taketh any beast or foule that may be h eaten, he shall powre out the blood thereof, and cover it with dust:

h Which the law Permitteth to be eaten, because it is cleane.

14 For the life of all flesh is his blood, it is joyned with his life: therefore I said unto the children of Israel, * Yee shall eate the blood of no ‖ flesh: for the life of all flesh is the blood thereof: whosoever eateth it, shall be cut off.

* Gen.9,4.

‖ Or, living creature.

15 And every person that eateth it which dieth alone, or that which is torne with beastes, whether it be one of the same countrey or a stranger, he shall both wash his cloathes, and wash himselfe in water, and be uncleane unto the even: after he shalbe ‖ cleane.

‖ Or, counted cleane.

16 But if he wash them not, nor wash his ‖ flesh, then he shall beare ‖ his iniquitie.

‖ Or, himselfe.

‖ Or, the punishment of his sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The Israelites ought not to follow the manners of the Egyptians and Canaanites. 6 The marriages that are unlawfull.

A Nd the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speake unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, I am the Lord your God.

3 After the a doings of the land of Egypt, wherein ye dwelt, shall ye not doe: and after the manner of the land of Canaan, whither I will bring you, shall ye not doe, neither walke in their ordinances.

a Ye shall preserve your selves from these abominations following, which the Egyptians and Canaanites use.

4 But doe after my judgements, and keepe mine ordinances, to walke therein: I am the Lord your God.

5 Ye shall keepe therefore my statutes, and my judgements, * which if a man doe, he shall then live in them: b I am the Lord.

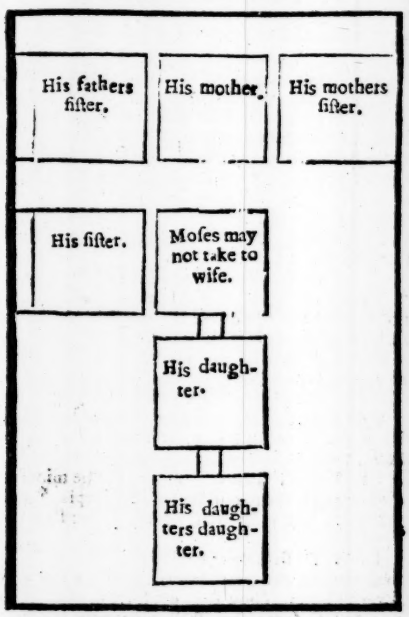
* Ezek.20,11. rom.10,5. gal 3,12.

b And therefore ye ought to serve me alone, as my people.

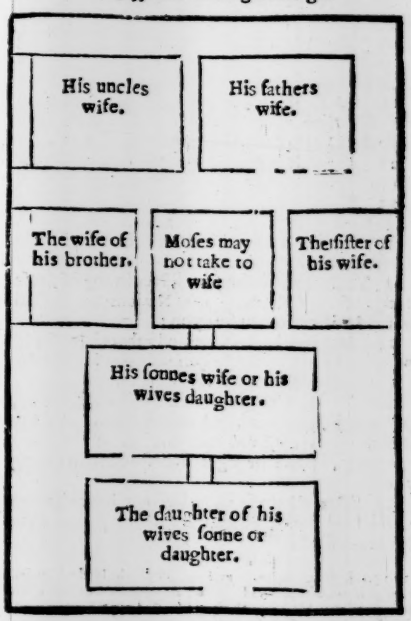
6 ¶ None shall come neare to any of the kinred of his flesh to c uncover her shame: I am the Lord.

c That is, to lie with her, though it be under title of marriage.

Consanguinitie hindring marriage.



Affinitie hindring marriage.



As Moses cannot contract matrimonie with the women that are so of kinne to him as is above specified, so also cannot mary his sister marie with the men that are in like degree. Note also, that besides the persons here specified, there are also meant those that ascend or descend of the same line, be it of blood or kinred.
